Bulldogs Open Basketball Season With Draughans Business College Here Monday Night, 8:00 O'clock

The Clarendon Junior College Basketball team will blast the lid off the 1961-62 season with a game with Draughans Business College of Amarillo here next Monday night. Game time is 8:00 o'clock.

Coach Don Dorman, beginning his first season as coach of the Bulldogs, has been working a squad of 13 boys for the past six weeks in preparation for the coming season. The Bulldogs have scrimmaged a number of outstanding high school teams of the area including Pampa, Palo Duro of Amarillo and Childress.

Coach Dorman has indicated that he will start with a lineup including four sophomore lettermen and a freshman. The sophomores are Ray DeBord, 6-2 of Sunray, Grady (Buddy) Jones, 6-2 of Hedley, Kenneth Martin, 5-7 of Samnorwood and Billy Wiggins, 5-10 of Hedley. Along with this quartet of lettermen will be Alvin Scott, 6-2 freshman from Quannah. Six other boys, all freshmen, will be in uniform and all will probably see action during the game. They are Jimmy Zaring, 6-6 from Adrian, Max Courtney, 6-3 from Wellington, Bill Bentley, 6-1 from Samnorwood, R. E. Butler, 5-11 from Hedley, Eddie Hunt, 5-10 and Joe Lennin, 5-11, both of Dodson. The other two boys who have been working out with the team are sophomores Thomas Phelps from Quitaque and Dee Blevins from Spearman. Phelps will act as manager of the team this year and Blevins will not be eligible until the beginning of the second semester.

Local fans are invited to come out and see the new edition of the Bulldog team in action Monday night.

Peggy Jackson spent the week end in the home of Freda Bourland at Quail.

TIME IS HERE AGAIN FOR SANTA CLAUS LETTERS

Christmas is just around the corner and time for all you youngsters to write those Santa Claus letters and mail or bring them to the Leader office if you want them printed so Santa will be sure to see them.

Due to the extra setting time on the Linotype, we would appreciate receiving as many letters as possible right away. The deadline for getting the letters in is December 9th. Those received by this date will positively be published. Those received after that date will be published only if space permits, and usually as Christmas draws near, our space is limited.

FARM NEWS

from County ASCS Committee

DEADLINE NEARS FOR WHEAT, BARLEY SIGN-UP

Less than two weeks remain in which growers may file applications to take part in the 1962 winter wheat stabilization and the 1962 feed grain program for barley.

The deadline is December 1, 1961, which means that producers may sign up in either program at any time through Friday, Dec. 1. Farmers who take part in the programs will be eligible to receive special payments for diverting a part of their acreage from the production of wheat (or barley, as the case may be) and devoting that acreage to an approved conservation use, and they will also qualify for price support on their 1962 crop.

1962 COTTON

December 12 is the date set for the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1962 cotton crop. At least two-thirds of the upland cotton farmers voting must approve the quotas if they are to be effective. Individual farm allotments will be made available to producers prior to the December 12 referendum.

GRAZING DIVERTED ACRES

You MAY NOW GRAZE the diverted acres under the 1961 Feed Grain Program. The 1961 Feed Grain Program regulations are being amended to authorize turning livestock on diverted acres.

HOLIDAY SAFETY NOTES

Statistics prove that more highway deaths occur on holidays. Don't be one of the statistics! Drive carefully. Show road courtesy to fellow travelers.

Do you concentrate on the job of driving and observe the rules of the road? Most traffic accidents are caused by persons who don't. For greater highway safety, consider these tips.

1. For family safety, determine fitness for safe driving.
2. When driving, learn to control your emotions and practice judgment and common sense.
3. To prevent drowsiness when driving, stop a few minutes every hour.
4. Know what to do if your car develops difficulties on a busy highway.
5. Know your car and how to drive it safely.

The Donley County ASCS office will be closed Thanksgiving, Nov. 23rd.

HUNTING ON CR LAND

There seems to have been some misunderstanding about the article "Commercial Hunting on CR Land" in last week's paper. All CR producers may hunt on their OWN CR land, but be sure that you do not lease the hunting rights to any one or to any group of people. This would constitute a violation.

GERNER ENJOYS TRIP TO NORTHEAST

A. W. Gerner of Lelia Lake is back home after a five week tour of the northeast which included a week's visit in western Pennsylvania, his father's old stomping grounds. From there he went to Washington, D.C. and on to New York City. It was his first trip back to that area in over 30 years and he said the country had changed considerably. He made the return trip home by bus.

California Man Dies In Car-Truck Wreck Thurs.

A Fontana, California serviceman was killed in a car-truck collision four miles east of Clarendon last Thursday morning, and another serviceman was injured.

George Eger, who was currently serving in the Navy, died in the collision and John Viencsek, also a Navy man from Fontana, California, received numerous injuries.

According to Highway Patrolman John Lowrie, the car in which the servicemen were riding was traveling west and the truck was moving east at the time of the accident. The driver of the car apparently went to sleep and pulled over in the south lane where it collided with the gasoline truck driven by Paschal Davenport of Vernon, Lowrie stated. Davenport was delivering a load of gasoline to Hedley.

Viencsek suffered a compound fracture of the left thigh and a broken leg and was listed in fair condition at last report from Amarillo Air Force Base hospital.

700 Letters Mailed Out To Advertise Bull Sale Here December 7th

Flip Breedlove, county agent and secretary of the Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association says that seven hundred letters have been mailed to cattlemen all over the country advertising the 1961 bull sale to be held in Clarendon on the 7th of December at 12:30 noon. The sale will be held at the fair grounds in the new all heated sales arena. The sales catalog is now off the press and are being mailed to cattlemen who bought bulls last year and to all consignors of bulls this year. You can get a sales catalog by contacting Breedlove at Clarendon, Texas. W. H. Cooke III, president of the association says everything at the sales barn is just about completed and the heating units are being installed. J. G. McAnear of the Household Supply is putting in the heating units and is doing a good job. They have furnished the heating for the sale free of charge and it has done a great deal to help out.

The judging of the bulls will be at 2:00 p.m. on the sixth of December at the fair grounds. H. M. Reeves, well known cattleman from Shamrock, will judge the Herefords and Fred Brown, Angus breeder from Groom, will judge the Angus. The Galloways will be judged by Bob Johnstone of Cloverdale, California. There will be fifty Herefords, 20 Angus and 13 Galloways for cow men to pick from to improve their breeding program.

Mr. Cooke says that we plan on a big sale and hope for the weather to be fair. Mr. Cooke also says hats off to the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce for mailing a free meal ticket to all bull buyers of last year and to all consignors of bulls to the sale for this year. They are welcoming the group to Clarendon and encouraging them to be present for the bull sale. Anyone wishing information about the sale should contact Flip Breedlove.

We Need Your News Items Early

We are once more reminding our readers to turn in your news items as soon as possible. There will be many family gatherings and much visiting during the coming holiday week end. You are invited to turn in these items. It only takes a few minutes. Phone Mrs. G. W. Estlack, 3606. Don't wait until Tuesday or Wednesday to do so for it is impossible for everyone to use the phone in such a short period of time and the type setting machine can not turn out such a large amount of type in that length of time. We will appreciate your cooperation.

WINS TURKEY

Guy Mills was the winner of the Odd Fellow Lodge Turkey event. The turkey selected to be given away was scheduled to weigh 25 pounds but weighed 32 pounds the day it was awarded to Mills.

Schools in this area seemed to be the main target for robberies this past week end with the Hedley, Clarendon and Claude schools all being hit Sunday night. The loss in all three robberies was estimated at between two and three hundred dollars.

Sheriff Behrens reported the robbers broke into the superintendent and coach's office at Hedley and took money from Coke and candy machines amounting to approximately $20. They broke into the high school principal's office here and took approximately $160 from two cash boxes. One of the boxes contained petty cash and the other contained student picture money.

Damage to doors and the vault door here amounted to more than the cash taken. The thugs broke two glass doors and then pried open the vault door. This same procedure was followed at Hedley and at Claude which indicates that all three jobs were done by the same party or group, Sheriff Behrens stated.

Morris Ledger, high school principal, reported they apparently were only after money as no other damage to files or records had been found.

Both the local sheriff's office and the Claude sheriff's office are working together on the case and have hopes of coming up with some clues that will lead to the apprehension of the guilty persons.

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Is Set for Monday Night

Asst. Fire Chief Lloyd McCord of the Clarendon Fire Department today announced that his organization of Volunteer Firemen will be participating locally in the March for Muscular Dystrophy. This march has long been a personal project of firemen throughout the nation and the Clarendon Fire Department and Mu Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority in this worthy project.

The disease of Muscular Dystrophy is one of the most mystifying to scientists as neither a cause nor a cure has been discovered. It usually limits itself to children and often strikes only one child out of an entire family. It has been called a "creeping paralysis" which begins in the legs and slowly progresses upward through the remainder of the body. The child remains mentally alert until death ultimately ensues. Thus far science has been unable to provide the answer and those stricken with the malady are hopelessly doomed.

Local funds will be raised both by the use of coin canisters and by a house-to-house march to be held on the night of Nov. 27, 1961. The funds received will be used locally to provide wheel chairs, prosthetic appliances, hydraulic lifts, physical therapy, and related items for the care and comfort of the victims. The balance of all funds will be used at The Institute for Muscular Diseases in New York City. This institute is supported by the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America and is devoted exclusively to the conquest of neuro-muscular diseases.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS CHRISTMAS SEAL DAYS—Governor Price Daniel proclaimed Christmas Seal Days in Texas from November 13 to December 25, and urged all Texans to use Christmas Seals and thus support the TB-control work of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, and support the Christmas Seal proclamation are two brothers who have a real interest in TB-control. They are Albert (right) and Alfred Flores Jr., whose grandmother, Mrs. Hilaria Munoz, has been a TB patient hospitalized in Austin for more than a year. The boys took their grandmother's picture with them to show the governor. They have lived with their grandparents since their mother's death when Albert was born.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

Gerald Green will make no friends among the news-gathering people, with his latest book, "The Heartless Light." The fact that he spared none of them may account for the fact that you have read or heard so little about this fine book.

"The Heartless Light," is the story of how a few people who have no consciences and are so selfish that for the sake of a story or even more sordid reasons place the life of a child in jeopardy.

The following is a quote from a reviewer: "What begins in a small Los Angeles suburb becomes a drama for the nation to look at, and here is the real crisis of Mr. Green's story and the theme he deeply cares about. He shows you what happens to a family, to a whole community, and the workings of the law when the huge machinery of mass communications goes into operation; when newspapers, radio and television assume as their property the agonizing plight of two people whose child has vanished.

Policemen, reporters, prying neighbors, TV personalities and high executives — the Andrus case becomes crucial for all of them; and Mr. Green brings them all to life with bold strokes. It is an exciting, poignant, and disturbing book."

If you have read George Waller's "Kidnap," you will know that author Green did not exaggerate and that real people do act as his fictional characters do.

As all good writers do, he did a lot of research. He could not have used George Waller's book. "Kidnap" was not published until months after "The Heartless Light" was.

As one reviewer said of George Waller's "Kidnap," "This account of the four years in which the Lindberg case was constantly in the minds of Americans is non-sentimental reporting. Mr. Waller himself spent years sifting through the evidence and the trial records."

Before you start condemning bungling, self-important law enforcement officers and members of our communication system, a vicious meddling public shares the blame in what at best can only be called man's inhumanity to his fellow man.

Economic Highlights

"America has not rallied the world. Despite its graceful benevolence toward all peoples, despite its proud reluctance to negotiate on the basis of its overmastering military power, despite its lasting devotion to liberty and peace, America finds itself increasingly reviled, misunderstood and suspected."

Thus opens an article by Prakash C. Jain, an Indian journalist who has contributed to a number of leading American magazines, in the September 23 issue of National Review. He continues: "But the Soviet Union speaks to ever more enthusiastic crowds all over the world, although in fact it is one of the most inhuman tyrannies, one of the most ruthless aggressors, in history."

What is the reason for this grave American failure, as Mr. Jain sees it? The substance of his answer is found in his article's title — "Wanted: A Battle Cry." We have, in his view, failed to understand the historical fact that men and nations are primarily moved particularly in times of crisis, danger, and great change, by idealistic rather than material motives. Whether the motives in question are good or bad is not necessarily a determining factor in what results from them. The point is that "the call to super-human goals always seems to be necessary in order to engage the allegiance of the masses." Mr. Jain cites example after example — the martyrs of the Christian Church, the followers of Buddha, the almost suicidal defense made by the Dutch against the Spanish invaders of the sixteenth century, the Spanish explorations of the same era, and, to choose an instance of the present age, the legion of followers of Gandhi who willingly let themselves be jailed for what they believed to be a transcendent moral ideal.

We, in America, have had battlecries in the past. Mr. Jain cites that of World War I—Wilson's "to make the world safe for democracy." He adds, "There was no such battle cry for the Korean War, and America did not win it. There is no such battle cry in the Cold War, and America is losing it."

It follows that, to Mr. Jain's mind, the Soviet Union has done a far more effective job of pursuing ideological and propaganda warfare than we have. The Soviet spokesmen endlessly pursue the theme that America is a land ruled by ruthless exploiters, interested solely in crass material values, in which there is no hope for such ideals as justice, freedom, peace. In his words, "What then is so astonishing in the fact that a large number of men and women today regard America — the leader of world capitalism—as basically unfree, unjust, warlike and colonialist, while they regard Soviet Russia — the leader of world Communism—as the champion of the poor and oppressed, the scourge of tyrants, and the dream of a new day?"

So much for the problem. Mr. Jain does not believe that it is insoluble. But the solution, he is convinced, must be of a revolutionary nature—a complete new approach, based on spiritual values and philosophies. He ends his article on this note: "America alone seems to have the resources and scholarship and ability to bring about such a revolution in human thought. Will America do it? Much depends on luck, but much also depends on whether America will recognize, before it is too late, the full meaning of the ideological dynamism that has made Communism a worldwide crusade."

CONSULT COUNTY AGENT BEFORE BUILDING

If you are planning any new construction on your farm, you'll likely profit if you check with your county agricultural agent. He can tell you about the farm building plan service that is available from Texas A&M College and can show you what plans are available, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

The plans are for typical farm service buildings and homes which are recommended for the many different farm situations throughout Texas. The plans were developed over many years on the basis of research and field experience.

Agricultural engineers at Texas A&M say most farmers build no more than one building of any type during their lifetime. Therefore, reliable information is necessary to help plan and construct the most suitable building for any one specific purpose.

In selecting plans, the entire farm operation and the probable use of other buildings must be carefully considered. Any building that does not permit the best use of labor and equipment, or that does not do the job for which it is needed, should be remodeled, Allen says. Consideration should be given to the flexibility and possible future needs when selecting a plan for a new building. Also, a visit to another farm where a building similar to that planned is in use would be time well spent.

A catalog of over 500 building and equipment plans is available from your county agent. He can advise on selection of the plan that will most nearly fit your needs. Plans can be obtained by

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

By Uncle Zeb

Denton, Texas . . . Heading deep into East and South Texas we stopped over in this school town to visit with our niece. We think she was happy. Happy, that is, if we remember that women cry for both sadness and happiness. Comment on the campus has to do with the man shortage. The ratio runs five to three. This takes into consideration the all-female Texas Womens University . . . We learned one thing while on the campus, just how out of place one man can be in a woman's dorm. Only in the living room can he even breathe.

One of my hobbies is reading the Burma-Shave signs. This one we liked real special:

We've made Grandpa look youthful— His pension board thought him untruthful. And this one: Use our cream and we'll betcha— The pretty gals will come getcha. If the company should by chance read this, will they please send me my check for making up this one. It wasn't on the signboards we swear . . . If your shaver is on the blink— Try our cream and be in the pink. Or: If your face is rough and stubby, Try our cream and be called Chubby.

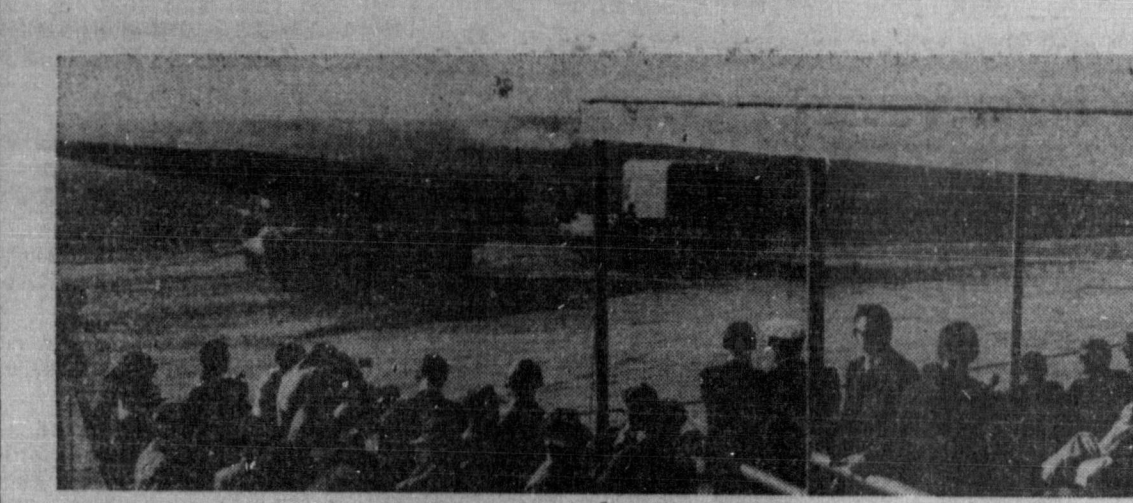

We always get a kick out of the sign over the streets of Greenville which reads: The blackest land and the whitest people. The land is really black but many of their folks are colored . . . Near here we noticed the old time cisterns by the farm homes. No windmills at all. We were told they had bad water in many localities and little wind to blow the mill anyway.

Near Gladewater around the little town of White Lake we saw a most unusual location for an oil well. Right in the entrance to a cemetery almost. We don't mean to criticize because we just can't think of a bad place for a producing well. We just wondered who the owners were—the tenants or the absentees.

Tomorrow we head down through the Big Thicket Country on our way to Galveston. Jefferson, Texas . . .

Wealthy families built large mansions amid the beautiful natural landscapes. Many of these homes still stand and are now showplaces during some of its special days. The Jessie Allen Wise Garden Club along with other civic organizations have worked together to make Jefferson live again because of its past. The museum under the direction of Mrs. B. Koontz has one of the best collections of early day relics that we have seen.

It was in about 1873 when the town had reached more than 25,000 that Jay Gould, the famous genius of railroad building fame visited Jefferson. He wanted to run his railroad right thru the main part of town. The city fathers were proud of the steamboats and a bit skeptical of the power and future of the trains, with this in mind they turned down his request . . . Supposedly in rage he wrote in the hotel register these words: "Jefferson will see the day when bats will roost in the church belfrys, and grass will grow in the streets." This very hotel has been bought by the garden club and they are determined to again fill the town with people. The population had dwindled to about 2500 His curse almost came true . . .

THE U. S. ARMY'S PERSHING MISSILE on its unique transporter-erector-launcher, followed by an M-474 carrying launching equipment, rolls by President John F. Kennedy seated in the reviewing stands. After passing by, the PERSHING was erected for the spectators attending the demonstration of the capabilities of the Army's Ready Forces held at Ft. Bragg, N. C., Oct. 12, 1961. The prime weapon system contractor for the powerful missile is Martin Co.

Sign in a Galveston Hotel: "Pardon us, but a naughty girl named "Carla" checked out and left an awful mess."

Typical of the above sign was the comment by most of the natives here in Galveston . . . Carla will not be forgotten soon. You don't have to drive very far to see what once was a nice building that looks ready to be torn down. The lower floors over such a wide area took a severe beating. With the foundation damaged many buildings will have to be rebuilt.

There may not be another person in the world with our likes in that we like conventions . . . We thought we had a pretty good idea of them, but attending the Farm Bureau State Convention here in Galveston has been a new experience. We should have known that being a farm organization there would be work involved. But, we never suspected that they would be going from a seven o'clock breakfast at breakfast speed from one business session to another until the last speech at ten each night. It is not so much keeping step with my running mate Henry Hamblet but the worst thing is keeping up with his "Staying with 'em" qualities.

One Panhandle rancher remarked as he looked out of the hotel over the high walls that hold back the rushing waves: "I sure hope that tank doesn't run over during the night."

In no group have we heard so much on the conservative side of our problem. More than that definite and positive action has begun to take shape. Keynote of many of the talks seemed to be to search out some way to stop the planners from trying to take over the farmer's business. Most delegates seem to feel that crop control in reality means people control. This they don't want . . .

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Don't Do It Mr. Khrushchev
That is, don't make the mistake of shooting one of your nuclear weapons in this direction.

Many people have been debating the defense policies of this Nation, and I think it would be well in view of certain fears that seem to be gripping people to point out some most important facts. Most of the people writing me about Federal expenditures say that they are willing to spend whatever is necessary for defense but to please cut other expenses. This is sound logic, and I point it out because I think every American fully subscribes to the proposition of billions for defense but not one cent for tribute.

Let us see what is being done with relation to our defense structure. In the first instance, approximately 60 cents out of every tax dollar is allocated directly to major national security. Add to this figure monies appropriated in other segments of the government, but relating to the defense structure, and the cost for defense will approximate 70 percent of the Federal expenditures. Of course, 100 percent of the tax money could be spent for defense and not accomplish the needed result. The point is that the American people are interested in whether or not the money spent for defense is being spent and has been spent effectively. It would be impossible in the short space provided in this newsletter to go into the various expenditures and point out the effectiveness or non-effectiveness in each portion of the defense program. However debatable these expenditures may be, the fact is that this country is the strongest in the world insofar as military preparedness is concerned. This Nation has a nuclear retaliatory force that could and would destroy any enemy making the mistake of attacking us. We have available hundreds of manned intercontinental bombers capable of losing devastation on the Soviet Union or any other nation starting a war. This would include 600 heavy bombers and many more medium bombers. The intercontinental capabilities of these manned intercontinental bombers capable of losing devastation on the Soviet Union or any other nation starting a war. This would include 800 heavy bombers and many more medium bombers. The intercontinental capabilities of these manned aircraft is highly effective because of the in-flight refueling techniques devised in our defense program. Add to these six Polaris submarines at sea carrying a total of 96 missiles. We have dozens of intercontinental ballistic missiles. Our carrier strike forces and land-based theater forces could deliver addition-retaliatory strike could be contemporaneous. However, should we be subjected to an attack, the question would be our retaliatory potential — whether the original attack was a surprise or not. The United States has so deployed and protected the retaliatory capabilities that we could not be effectively disarmed by a sneak attack. In other words, our second strike capability is as extensive, or more so, than the Soviets could deliver by striking first. Hence, it can be presumed that the Soviets will not be in any great hurry to mount an attack—sneak or otherwise.

In addition, there are many other components of our defense structure. Among these is the stepped up strength of our conventional forces. This has been done in order to make it possible for this country to retaliate or take proper action in order to control brush fire or brush war activity without being forced to the use of nuclear weapons under such circumstances, thereby risking the possibility of triggering an all-out nuclear conflict. Also included in the defense program is the Civilian Defense field which is receiving special attention under the guidance of the Department of Defense rather than as a separate uncoordinated agency.

I repeat, "Don't do it, Mr. Khrushchev!"

Farm Journal says: "Our country has become the chief dispenser of the great principles of human liberty: the Judeo-Christian concept of the dignity of man; the right of the individual to choose rather than live under statism; the right of free enterprise; freedom of speech and assembly; the right to vote; the right to own property; the right to worship (and a belief in doing so).

"We've got to lead the fight for these ideas. And we can't do much leading if we don't guard our strength right here at home."

F.H.A. MEMBERS HEAR GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Helen Hartzog, teacher in Junior High School presented the program for our last F.H.A. meeting. She told of her exciting and fascinating trip to Mexico last summer. We learned of the many beautiful places, the wonderful people, and of their traditions and customs. Among many other interesting things she told us about the Mexican foods.

Miss Hartzog said we could learn something from our neighbors to the south, that the material things which we have come to value so highly are not the basis for happiness. We must learn what the Mexican knows, that the simple life based on appreciation of love, personal industry, and love of family and friends is truly the root of all personal happiness.

Fredda Bourland presided at our meeting.

MIDWAY CLUB MET THURS. IN G. D. HILLIS HOME

The Midway Club met Thursday, Nov. 16 in the home of Mrs. G. D. Hillis for an all day meeting. A lovely Dutch Doll quilt was quilted.

Those present to enjoy the covered dish lunch at the noon hour were: Lillie Mae Carmichael, Bobbie Dishman, Lucille Eanes, Ellen Moreland, Jewell Myers, Ida Pickering, Allie Quattbaum, Leona Scott, Pearl Terry, Eddie Williams, Louise Aten, Neg Yoakum and the hostess, Mrs. Loyd Hillis. Beula Sanders came in the afternoon.

Our next meeting will be with Lucille Eanes Nov. 30 for an all day meeting. Everyone bring a covered dish.

Walter Lippman writes: "The Soviet economy, which is progressing spectacularly in industry, rests on an agricultural economy which is extremely inefficient and backward compared with the best in the western world. It is backward as compared with our own, with Canada's, with that of most of Western Europe, that of Australia and New Zealand. This weak and expensive and inefficient agricultural base is probably the underlying reason for the shortage of capital. This shortage of capital is made up of a shortage of labor, which is held on the farms, and of raw materials which are not adequately produced."

Cub Scout News

The Monthly Pack meeting of the Clarendon Cub Scouts will be held at the First Christian Church on Monday night, November 27 at 7 p.m.

Awards will be given to all Cub Scouts who have earned them. The Attendance Tail will be given to the den with the most boys present.

JERRY ELMORE ELECTED STUDENT OF THE MONTH

The Clarendon High School Student Council elected Jerry Elmore as Student of the Month recently. Jerry is an active and popular student. He is vice-president of the Junior class, treasurer of F. F. A., has been chosen one of the "Most Handsome," and is a member of Los Pesadores, the C.H.S. Spanish Club. Jerry was a regular on the Broncho football team and is also on the basketball team this year.

Qualifications for the Student of the Month require that the student hold a grade average of 85 or above with no grade below 80, be outstanding in leadership, character, conduct, and cooperation, participate in school activities, and be just an all-around student. Jerry certainly meets all of these qualifications.

Lamar County Heroes

First Anglo-American settlement in Lamar County, in North-east Texas on the Oklahoma border, was in 1820. It was comprised of the families of J. G. W. Pierson, Luke and John Roberts and the Mason brothers.

Within a year, an Indian raid snuffed out the lives of all the women, children and slaves. Raid took place during the men's absence.

Five of the men pursued the Indians but being outnumbered, they too fell victims to the hostile band.

A highway marker now stands at the site of their settlement, 17 miles northeast of Powderly, Texas. The marker reads, "Be silent, Friend! Here heroes died to blaze a trail for other men."

Economic Highlights

Numerous people and organizations in the community of Tyler, Texas, are mad — good and mad. And the object of their anger is the federal government. The reason is an unusual one. The federal government wants to give the county, which includes Tyler, along with 41 adjoining East Texas counties, money, on the grounds that they are depressed areas.

Tyler doesn't like this one bit, apparently. On the day the news was announced in Washington, a Tyler paper asked "Where can we file suit for slander?" It went on: "We are neither depressed nor distressed economically. The only thing that distresses us is the fact that our Federal Government would be so willing to tap the taxpayers of the Nation to give us help that we don't need. . . it is distressing, indeed, to realize once again in a direct way how little Washington understands true conditions in our own country."

This editor certainly seems to have a point. According to the record, Tyler is moving steadily ahead in the economic sphere. Bank deposits have gone up, and it has been leading all East Texas in retail business activity. Residential building permits have soared, and new major industry is coming in.

This being true, how could it be that Tyler — and many other localities throughout the country which are in a comparable condition—can be labelled distressed areas?

Taxpayer's Dollar, a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, gives the answer, at least in part. Some months ago what is known as the Area Redevelopment Act went into effect, carrying an appropriation of $394 million.

The Act provides a rather complicated formula under which areas will be considered distressed when the Secretary of Labor finds that unemployment reaches a certain percentage figure over certain periods of time. But that isn't the end of it. It further provides that, under some circumstances, the Secretary of Commerce can designate areas as redevelopment areas even when they don't meet the formula. It also states that he "shall endeavor to distribute the projects widely among the several States, so far as is feasible and proper, in order that racial experience with this program may be had in as many States and in as many areas and under as many different circumstances as possible." This language certainly amounts to an encouragement, if not an outright instruction to the Secretary, to designate distressed areas on a wholesale basis, even though the need may be extremely questionable. According to Taxpayer's Dollar, such "economically distressed" or "redevelopment" areas are in 49 of the 50 states.

To so designate an area may actually do it deep and permanent harm. That point was made in the influential Washington Post, which said: ". . . there is ground for offense in the listing of any county as a depressed area without any consultation with its officials, civic and business leaders, or direct surveys of actual economic conditions there. It is by no means improbable, as Senator Tower (R-Tex) pointed out, that the official designation of a county as one in need of economic rehabilitation may frighten away the new industries that it needs." In that event, the area concerned could really become distressed — and entirely unnecessarily.

According to Senator Tower, spokesmen for the agency administering the act have been somewhat sensitive about the use of the words "depressed" or "distressed." They prefer "redevelopment." But this semantical quibble hardly seems to affect the principle at stake.

At any rate, the forces that want some changes made in the present law are growing. The Phoenixville, Pa., Daily Republican made this observation: "The passage of this law points up the necessity of skepticism about new welfare legislation at a time when defense spending must be heavy."

Who Named Baylor University
Baylor University, at Waco, was named for an outstanding Judge. He was Dr. Robert Emmett Bledsoe Baylor. How that came to pass is an interesting story.

The man who placed the Baylor name on this great educational institution was William Melton Tryon. He was the second missionary sent to Texas by the American Baptist Home Mission Society. He was a leader in church and state and was the chaplain in the Congress of the Republic of Texas.

Tryon, who first originated the idea of a Baptist university in Texas, was made a member of the committee appointed to secure the university charter from the Republic of Texas.

Tryon rejected Judge Baylor's suggestion that the school be named Tryon and into the application wrote "Baylor."

Tryon then served as the first permanent President of the Board of Trustees of Baylor University.

REASON GIVEN FOR NOT HAVING WORKED STREETS

So you may know why we have not been working on the streets is because our Maintainer broke down Nov. 8 and we had to have a complete overhaul job. We got the Maintainer Nov. 20th and it will be at work every day possible on the streets. We will also have the boys filling up low places in the streets. If you will bear with us we will get the streets in good shape as fast as we can.

Screwworm Control Program Launched In Texas

A 100-million dollar problem is the immediate target of an aroused group of Texans who recently banded together to form the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation. Though its long range goal is the study of all animal health problems, the Foundation's first campaign will be launched against the screwworm, generally considered Public Enemy No. 1, by livestock producers throughout the southwest.

Incorporated as a non-profit organization by the State of Texas, the Foundation will be supported by voluntary contributions and governed by a 15-man board of trustees.

Foundation spokesmen said they would employ the sterile-fly technique so successfully used in Florida and the Southeast where screwworm control now is almost complete.

County agricultural agents and vocational agriculture teachers have taken the lead in presenting details of the screwworm control program to livestock producers in each Texas county. Action committees have been formed in 10 counties and preliminary meetings are underway in many others. Already, more than 70 percent of the livestock producers in Crockett county have made voluntary contributions totaling $27,346. Wayne West, chairman of the Crockett county committee, said that many retired ranchmen also had contributed.

Complete information regarding the foundation and its objectives can be obtained by contacting any county agent or vocational agriculture teacher, or by writing directly to the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, 546 Rio Grande Building, Dallas 2, Texas.

David Lawrence writes, in U.S. News & World Report: ". . . it's more important to find ways to broadcast across the Iron Curtain and to prevent the jamming of our broadcasts — so that there may be a fallout of facts and truth — than it is to wrap ourselves in the false security of a fallout-shelter system."

We, as Americans, are privileged to enjoy freedom from want and fear . . . Freedom to worship as we please . . . We have freedom to govern ourselves: freedom of speech and press . . . And for all of these, we humbly give
T H A N K S !

We, at the Leader, are thankful to be an integral part of this community. The job we do of disseminating information to the local folks is accomplished thanks to the American heritage of free speech and press.

Have you stopped to consider that these freedoms are "luxuries" supported by free enterprise? That the advertising carried in this newspaper helps make it more complete . . . low in price . . . and keeps it FREE to give all types of information without restriction or censorship?

That's why when we pause to give thanks for our many blessings of good income, good opportunities and good food . . . there's important food for thought in the fact that our free press in so many ways, helps make these good things possible!

Race Is On

Kellis Dibrell of San Antonio told Young Republicans in Austin that the Democratic primary no longer will be tantamount to election, now that the Republicans are gaining prominence in the State.

Dibrell has announced for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket. He predicted that Texas voters will have a problem on May 5 when they're forced to choose between voting in the Republican or Democratic primary.

A Democrat, former Secretary of State Tom Reavley, was first man to announce for the Attorney General's office. Reavley, an Austin attorney, says he considers that office the largest, most varied and most important "law practice" in Texas.

Up To The Courts

The University of Texas Board of Regents has agreed "unanimously" to let the court decide whether they should integrate dormitories.

Judge Thornton Hardie of El Paso, chairman of the regents, says a test case filed by Austin attorney Sam Houston Clinton in behalf of three Negro students has been turned over to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. In a letter to Hardie, Clinton asked the regents to integrate the facilities and escape the suit.

Hardie has accused Clinton of filing the suit for "the purpose of publicity and propaganda."

Regents originally planned to study further integration. Hardie refused to say whether the suit changed their plans.

Students and faculty have asked the regents for dormitory integration, through campus polls.

Integration in athletics also has been at issue. The regents chairman says they do not want to do anything that would disturb the "excellent relations" U.T. has had with other members of the Southwest Athletic Conference.

Textbooks Adopted Three "Texans for America," J. Evetts Haley of Canyon, Dr. Don I. Riddle of Paris and Mrs. Joan Slay of Fort Worth, appeared before the State Board of Education this week to protest acceptance of several textbooks.

Organization had previously notified the Board of objections to 25 books on the State Textbooks Committee's recommended list. They spoke out strongly against two history texts, linking the authors to subversive organizations and charging the publisher of one with cooperating with a "known subversive" in the publication of a World War II booklet, "The Land of the Soviets."

After a three-hour discussion between the "Texans for America" and board members, and statements from publishers denying the charges, Board of Education voted to adopt all books on the committee's list, except four geography books which Commissioner J. W. Edgar asked them to delete.

The Board of Education also adopted a regulation setting 18 semester hours of education courses as the minimum required for a teaching certificate in Texas.

NOTHING TO GIVE—UNTIL! Soaking the rich, via the taxation route, has long been a political technique that has paid off handsomely as a vote getter.

But the fly in the ointment now is, that as the tax boosters run up the total tax take, to the confiscation point, there aren't enough "rich" to meet their demands, so they have to lower their sights and increase taxes on the middle and low income citizens to raise the money to cover their spending projects.

The biggest political spenders, who advocate having the "government" do this or that "free" or "at cost" for the people, are very careful to refrain from saying that the government can provide nothing "at cost" or for "free" until it first takes the money away from them. You don't get something for nothing from government, because it has nothing to give until it first acquires it through taxes.

A friend reports on his experience as a boat owner that he had two happy days, the day he bought it and the day he sold it.

Green Describes Plans For Symphonic Drama

During the past week from Nov. 10 to Nov. 16th the people of the Texas Panhandle had an opportunity to become acquainted with Paul Green, the distinguished playwright who is preparing the symphonic drama for the Texas Panhandle, the great historical play with music and motion which is to be played in the Palo Duro State Park up against a high bluff. Mr. Green spoke to the first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc. the organization formed to put on the drama, and to the general meeting of the Foundation. He also addressed a coffee at the Amarillo Club on Wednesday, November 15, put on for the Amarillo members of the Foundation and for interested guests, and at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Amarillo organized by the Fine Arts Council and presented for the business men of the city.

Mr. Green has spent some time describing the play as it has already formed. He said, "I see people assembling and watching the sunset in the Canyon, that great panorama of color which is more spectacular than anything that man can do. Then as darkness falls, I hear music, music based on the great folk melodies which our Fathers knew and loved. This music will rise and swell until suddenly it will break and high on the cliff, outlined by light will be an Indian, waiting to his God. The light may switch to another pinnacle, where another Indian will answer. Then it may switch to a trail leading down from the plain and pick up a covered wagon slowly lurching down. In this wagon will be a pioneer family, parents and children, and in their experiences in the play, we shall see what our Fathers did, and feel what they felt. Using sound and night, it will be possible for us in the audience to experience the blizzards that they suffered, the sand storms that they faced, and the crashing terror and excitement of a buffalo stampede. They will live in a dug out or a log house and in their lives we will see the humor and love and endurance and religious devotion and stamina which made possible the settlement of this hard land.

"In this drama that I am going to write for you people, there will be some violence. But opening this area of the country up for civilization, there was violence. I will record it because it was there, because the pioneers had to suffer the hardships, the deprivations and the violence because it was worth suffering for.

MASONS LEVEL SCHOOL INFIRMARY CORNERSTONE

Prominent Texas Masons gathered in Fort Worth recently to level the cornerstone for the new infirmary of Masonic Home and School of Texas. The infirmary will have 40 beds and will serve nearly 200 students now at Masonic Home and School, whose enrollment has nearly doubled in the last three years.

Among those participating in the ceremony were: left to right: George R. M. Montgomery of Fort Worth, Past Texas Grand Master and president of the home's board of directors; John G. Kemmerer of Fort Worth, Past Texas Grand Master and president of the Masonic Home Independent School District; William G. Proctor of McKinney, Grand Master; Robert L. Dillard Jr. of Dallas, Deputy Grand Master and president of the Dallas Independent School District; Hugh M. Craig of Fort Worth, Past Grand Master and member of the Masonic Home Independent School District board; John T. Bean of El Paso, Past Grand Master and superintendent of El Paso County schools.

Anything is worth suffering for if the ideal is strong enough.

"The settling of the Panhandle was a risk, but it is the nature of American people to gamble. We are not a nation of people who like to play it safe. Americans are willing to reach dangerously even though there is a threat to personal safety.

"Here in the Panhandle is exemplified the philosophy of America and the exemplification is vivid. The fact that there was nothing here that is spectacular in history, nothing here that was easy or comfortable, out plenty of sand storms, blizzards, livestock losses, cruel winds and loneliness, makes the settling as dramatic as anything could ever be.

"I want to tell about your great Panhandle history. To commemorate the settlers of this area. There is a story to tell and if my drama doesn't stir you, then I have failed."

Last spring Green visited Canyon and Palo Duro State Park at the invitation of Mrs. Ples Harper and a group of Canyon citizens who were interested in the possibilities of a symphonic drama being produced in the canyon. After Green got here he went down into the Canyon only "to be amazed at this wonder of nature." Green asked many questions, "Were there enough interested persons in the area? Could the weary tourist be deflected in his travels to drive down to the Canyon? Was there sufficient interest in drama in the region? And was there a strong enough department at your college?" To these inquiries, Green came up with affirmatives.

Green's assertions are backed by his lengthy credit list of plays and dramas which deal with outstanding events in American history.

He is convinced that he can write a great drama from the material of Panhandle history and has commented in his recent visit, "There is a greatness in America. That's why I believe that Americans should relate their heritage."

Mrs. W. J. Lewis, Jr. and Mrs. Bill Todd are board members from Clarendon of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc.
