College Bulldogs Beat Sayre, 81-62

The Bulldogs of Clarendon Junior College took an 81 to 62 decision from Sayre, Oklahoma, Junior College at the local gym last Monday night. The fighting Bulldogs led from the opening minutes of play and built up a 38 to 27 halftime lead. They had an advantage of 74 to 50 with four minutes to play when the reserves entered the game. Nine of the 11 players in uniform scored for the Bulldogs. Ray DeBord led the scoring with 18 points and was closely followed by Kenneth Martindale and Grady Jones with 16 each. Billy Wiggins had 10 points, Max Courtney 9, Eddie Hunt, 5, Alvin Scott, 4, R. E. Butler, 2 and Bill Bentley, 1. Jimmy Zeiring and Joe Lennon played but did not score.

The Bulldogs played a spirited game from start to finish and earned their victory. Little Kenneth Martindale, 5-7 sophomore co-captain from Sannorwood, put on a dribbling show in the last half that brought the cheering fans to their feet. DeBord sparked the offense with his outside shooting and Grady Jones played a great game on both offense and defense. Another bright spot in the game was the sparkling defensive play and rebounding of Max Courtney, a 6-8 freshman from Wellington. Alvin Scott also played well on defense and Billy Wiggins turned in his usual dependable game.

This game was a reversal of form from the results of the Odessa tournament last weekend. The Bulldogs played three strong teams in the tournament and failed to nail down a win. They were defeated by the conference favorite, the Howard County Jayhawks, in the opener by a score of 81 to 55, then lost to Frank Phillips, 87 to 65, and to Lubbock Christian College, 72 to 57.

The next home game for the Bulldogs will be against Lubbock Christian College on Jan. 5.

All consignors of bulls have arrived and all bulls have been groomed for the sale. Consignors have been complimenting the Chamber of Commerce for mailing out free meal tickets.

Col. Walter Britten of College Station will sell the Herefords and Holland Jester of Ardmore, Okla. will sell the Angus and Galloways. If you have never seen or heard a sale of this nature conducted, you will find it interesting to drop by during the sale this afternoon.

Results of the judging and the sale results will appear in the Leader next week.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

If most folks are not going to take the time to read and learn how to effectively and intelligently combat Communism, it might be well for them to have some idea of what the explosion of only ONE 20-megaton bomb would be like.

The December 5th issue of "Look" magazine gives the following description of its power of destruction, "At the instant of detonation, pressures at the core leap to millions of pounds per square inch. In a few millionths of a second, a great fireball, many times brighter than the noonday sun, bursts forth. So intense is this light that it can be seen up to 400 miles away. Temperatures inside the inferno soar to several million degrees.

The fireball, a hell above earth, spreads in a flash to a diameter of more than four miles, incinerating every living thing beneath it. A cloud begins towering, eventually to reach a height of more than 22 miles. A giant shock wave races out from the glowing sphere.

Pressures with the force of 10 hurricanes slam outward, crushing buildings, toppling poles and hurtling great chunks of concrete through the air. Even human bodies become lethal missiles.

Although the windlike force decreases in velocity as it shoves outward, it still moves at 670 miles an hour at one and a half miles out. As far out as 10 miles, it still acts with the power of a 160-mile-an-hour typhoon.

Skyscrapers buckle and crash to earth, demolishing what is left of any small buildings beneath them. Water mains burst. Power stations are battered into debris. Almost all fire-fighting equipment disintegrates in crumbling firehouses.

... at the heart of the city, concrete buildings tumble in devastation, but even as far out as 11 miles, wooden-frame houses are leveled. Locomotives are wrecked as far out as 8 miles, telephone and power lines come down out to 10 miles, and a TV tower topples 12 miles away. Windows shatter as far away from the explosion as 81 miles. Skin-charring heat kills an unprotected person standing 29 miles from the blast; blisters are raised on a man 32 miles away."

This makes for nightmare reading but failure to face up to facts these same truths go away or vanish into thin air.

The directors of the Farm Bureau gave the library a copy of their book, "Your Farm Bureau."

Mrs. M. C. Goodner of Amarillo was a week end guest in the home of Misses Edgar Mae and Mable Mongole.

Editors have to make choices as to what will appear regularly on the pages of their paper. To do this wisely they like to know what you the readers think. On the other hand few readers take the time and trouble to write in. Some editors figure that less than one person in one hundred will ever tell them what they think about any certain feature. Because of this fact cards and letters become very important. This is true both to the editor and to those who write. If you read this column regularly in this or any other publication we would appreciate your telling the editor what you think about it — especially if it is good . . .

"I haven't gotten anything yet."

Back to our problems we have had many requests for a book containing some of the things we have kept from the column over the years. We are planning to go ahead with the printing in the next few months. If all goes well it will contain 64 pages paper bound and sell for one dollar. Don't send your money because we might not make the grade but if you would like to have from one to a dozen copies please send us a card with your name and address, and number of copies wanted. They won't be ready before February, at the least . . . A post card would fit the file we have started.

Tantrums are for the small fry, and for the adults who for one reason or another have failed to grow up. "Acting like a two year old" has long been a popular comparison. No matter how we express it an uncontrolled temper is a sign of weakness, not of strength.

Temper is a good thing. An ax without temper wouldn't cut at all. Neither would an ax be very useful without a handle. Our own temper can be helpful and useful if we use the proper handle on it. Self control is that handle.

Temper tantrums are in reality a sign of weakness . . . It has been said that a glove fits a hand, a shoe the foot, a hat, the head, and that a big temper fits the little man. One of the first persons to come to our mind in thinking along this line would be Adolph Hitler. Revenge, persecution, and cruelty spewed from the urge in his heart to become superior. Hit hot-headed outbursts of temper tantrums must have seemed to cover up his inferiority complex.

We may use our temper to cover up our true weakness and may even fool our own thinking at times. But it is easy for others to see through the sham. Tears are often used as a cover-up for one's weakness. Even in it is mighty easy to tell when the flow is real.

Self control is to our temper what the handle is to the tempered ax. One without the other would be a fit subject for the scrap heap.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Radioactive Fallout

Many questions are being asked and much concern is being evidenced with relation to the fallout from a nuclear explosion. The people should be given every possible bit of information on the subject. Hence, I have tried to gather together a few facts to pass on to you concerning the problem.

It appears that radioactivity comes from two sources: the explosion of a nuclear bomb, or the explosion of a thermonuclear weapon or hydrogen bomb. Both create radioactive fragments. The most important, or perhaps the most dangerous, are Strontium 90, Cesium 137, and Iodine 131.

The thermonuclear weapon adds another radioactive element, to-wit: Carbon 14. When such an explosion occurs at or near the earth the dust particles are of course made radioactive. If such a weapon is exploded high in the air, the radioactivity of ground dust is minimized.

Radioactivity can give you cancer, shorten your life, make your hair fall out, give you anemia, make you sterile, or affect heredity so that you or your offspring will produce malformed children. Such tragic results, however, depend entirely upon the dosage absorbed by the individual. Although the overall amount of radiation one gets from fallout is less than four percent of the natural radioactive dose absorbed day in and day out from cosmic rays, water, bricks, rocks in the ground, and so forth, this does not mean that there is no danger from fallout. It is here that the four elements, to-wit: Iodine 131, Strontium 90, Cesium 137, and Carbon 14 become important.

Fallout radiation, although no greater than natural radioactivity, insofar as dosage is concerned, should contain more concentrated amounts of one or all of the elements referred to, which would increase the danger. In other words, Iodine 131 could be taken into the body by drinking contaminated milk. Although milk presently contains Iodine, it is the position of one group of scientists that the Iodine content would need to be increased approximately 1,000 times that which has been detected in the past before serious worry should be indulged. It has been suggested that since radioactive Iodine has an average life of about twelve days, the use of aged or powdered milk would measurably minimize any possible danger.

Strontium 90 can cause bone cancer or leukemia. There is a continuing controversy between scientists as to the dose of Strontium 90 necessary to produce either. It has been concluded by tests that the average American carries approximately 2.5 micromicrocuries of Strontium 90 for every gram of calcium, a micro-microcurie being one millionth of a millionth of the radiation given out by a gram of Radium. The worry level has been set by the International Commission on Radiation Protection as between 200 and 2,000 micromicrocuries. We in this country as a whole are a long, long way from any worry level or likely worry level at the present time.

Carbon 14 affects the genes, the heredity-controlling units inside your germ cells. Linus Pauling, a Nobel Prize chemist, has estimated that there will be 100,000 genetic deaths throughout the world in the next few generations as a result of Carbon 14 from tests up to 1958. It was also estimated that Carbon 14 has a life expectancy of 8,000 years. It is not like Iodine 131. It doesn't go away.

Cesium 137 also produces genetic defects. But it would appear from the information I have that the possibility of damage from Cesium 137 is much more remote than the other elements above named.

I pass this information on as scientific data that has been produced by scientists and translated by able newspaper people. Personally, I am in somewhat the same position as the President of the Pampa Rotary Club in the early days of the Atomic Age. He had procured the services of a scientist to address a dinner meeting of the Rotary Club. The scientist warned us of the top level secrecy of atomic information, but proceeded to outline in such detail the intricacies of the science that only Einstein could have understood him. When he had concluded his long dissertation our President hastened to thank him for his time and effort and to assure him that none of our members would reveal the secret of how to split the atom.

NATIONAL DEFENSE FOOD POLICY ANNOUNCED

A realignment of its defense planning organization to help American agriculture be prepared for any foreseeable emergency need for food and fiber has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Robert S. Reed as special assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture will be responsible for directing the total defense planning program for the USDA.

When the realignment was announced, Under Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy said, "At President Kennedy's direction, the Department is developing a National Defense Food Policy through which agriculture can strengthen the nation's defense capabilities and create a deterrent to attack through knowledge that we are prepared to withstand any assault." By executive order, the President recently assigned to the Department the responsibility for strategic food stockpiling.

The Department continues to have the assigned responsibility for defense food production, the management of food stocks in the hands of processors and wholesalers, fire control in rural areas, radiological monitoring in rural areas, and for a program of information and education to help farm families protect themselves, their crops and livestock from radiological, biological and chemical attack. During an emergency, the Department is responsible for the domestic distribution of farm equipment and fertilizer.

The USDA is also responsible for helping farmers and agricultural industries obtain the production resources required to meet the nation's food and fiber needs. These resources include machinery, repair parts, fertilizers and other chemicals, containers, construction material, fuel, labor and transportation.

"Government statisticians show concern over the fact that 25 percent of American families live beyond their incomes. Look who's talking!"

Economic Highlights

Free trade — or protectionism through high tariffs?

This, to say the obvious, is a question which has engaged the minds of businessmen, labor spokesmen, consumers and the officials of government for generations out of mind. It has been a political issue of high magnitude in this country as in others. Our own approach to a solution has been highly varied. We have gone through periods of extremely high tariffs, which all but excluded foreign products competitive with ours. More recently, tariffs have been reduced and in many instances eliminated, and mutual agreements have been made with numbers of friendly nations in the interest of stimulated trade.

Now, abroad, we are witnessing the expansion, on a great scale, of a concept that could change the economic thinking and doing of the world — our own included — in basic respects. This is the common market, formally known as the European Economic Community. Six nations started it, in 1957 — France, West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg. Now Great Britain is to join — and, if plans go through, so will an impressive list of smaller but highly advanced nations, including the Scandinavian countries, Ireland, and Switzerland. Before long, it is expected, still more nations outside of the Iron Curtain will apply for membership.

The common market idea, while complex in detail, is simple in principle. The participants — over a period of time — will operate on a free trade basis among themselves. Economic cooperation will be complete, even though political identities will be maintained into the foreseeable future. And these participants, let it be noted, are, in the main, the countries which have been most successful in postwar development and rebuilding and which are really important factors in world production and trade.

There are opponents of the common market. In Britain, for instance, some of the traditional groups fear that it will, ultimately lead to undesirable political alignments. And in Canada, according to C. Norman Senior, an informed writer on Canadian affairs, powerful groups both within and without the government, think that it may destroy the British Commonwealth by first destroying the existing Commonwealth preferential tariff system. But, whether that view is right or wrong, the tide is moving, and it will not be stopped.

What about the United States in this situation? The problem is clear. As Walter Lippman puts it, "... we shall find that we have to live with and trade with and negotiate with an economic and indeed political bloc which will in a few years have a common tariff against all the rest of the world and free trade internally among its members." But, as he sees it, there is another side to this coin: "... the solitary American preeminence in the non-Communist world was not a normal and healthy thing. It was the reflection of the sickness of Europe. Morally and politically the dependence of Europe upon the United States was unhealthy for them and unhealthy for us. Now Western Europe has recovered, and we may be glad that we started the recovery... We are now long past the time when we need to worry about the economic health of Europe."

What it all adds up to is the longest step toward free trade yet taken in the world. Economists think this is all to the good — and, also, that U. S. policy must adapt itself to an irrevocable trend.

Episcopal Church Has Service of Witness

Episcopalians of this area were afforded an opportunity to worship together Sunday in a huge "Service of Witness" in Lubbock's Municipal Auditorium. Six Bishops from several states participated in the service.

More than 3,000 worshippers attended the service at which luncheon was served in the adjoining coliseum and approximately 100 young people of the church concluded a three-day winter rally led by the Rev. Corwin C. Roach, S.T.D., Fargo, N.D. School of Religious Education director.

The Rt. Rev. Gordon V. Smith, S.T.D., Bishop of Iowa, who gave the sermon had this to say about the Church. "I am of the conviction that we need a better understanding of the life and mission of the Church, a clarification of the role of the clergy and the laity, a deeper comprehension of what the central focus of our work should be, and a wider vision of our place in the total life of the Church."

Attending from Clarendon was the Rev. Charles C. Carman. About 30 Episcopalians from here journeyed to Lubbock for the service, church leaders said.

No Episcopal services were conducted Sunday in the diocese of Northwest Texas in order that church members could come to Lubbock for the unique service.

The service of witness was held on the occasion of the 15th anniversary of Bishop George H. Quarterman, Amarillo, Bishop of the Diocese of Northwest Texas.

In the procession were more than 100 youth delegates, and 200 choir members from various diocesan choirs plus the participating Bishops, the Rt. Rev. Chilton Powell, Bishop of Oklahoma, who read the Epistle, The Rt. Rev. C. Avery Mason, Bishop of Dallas, who read the Gospel, the Rt. Rev. Gordon V. Smith of Iowa, who preached the sermon, and the Rt. Rev. Edward C. Turner, Bishop of Kansas and the Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Harte, Suffragan Bishop of Dallas, who was the assisting Bishop.

About 32 Episcopal clergy from over the Diocese of Northwest Texas came to Lubbock to take part in what was the largest meeting of Episcopalians ever held on the South Plains.

Explaining the four points of his sermon, Bishop Smith said: "What we need today is what the business world is now calling a new 'image' of the Church. For too long we have referred to the Church, consciously or unconsciously as 'Mother Church.' . . . 'The Church's work is not a mothering operation, but the People of God rendering service to men and society on behalf of Christ."

half of Christ.

"We also need clarification of the role of the clergy and the laity. I would like to suggest an ordering principle which I believe would eliminate much of the confusion over the role of the clergy in the Church. The role of the clergy is to help the laity catch a vision of what they are meant to be and do, and provide the training and support in fellowship for the doing of God's work in His world. The clergyman's role is not to be doing things that the laity should be doing, but helping them to discover and undertake their own tasks."

As to the role of the layman, Bishop Smith said: "Because of a lack of understanding of the word 'layman' both clergy and laity too often think of the layman as only the clergyman's 'helper'. . . The good laymen may do this, but primarily he is to be a person who is acting on God's behalf by showing Him forth in his home, business life, social life, community life, or wherever he may be."

As to a consideration of what the central focus of the church should be, the Iowa Bishop said: ". . . In other words, the central focus of our Church work is not the gathering of people for fellowship, but to recruit, train, support, and move them into the world to be God's life-giving stream."

Concluding his sermon, the Church official said: "You are engaged in a glorious adventure . . . which God initiated. Your responsibility is to be sensitive to the work of the Spirit and faithful to His renewing activity in the Church — the Body of Christ."

HUNTERS WARNED OF RESIDENCE, LICENSE RULES

Landowners must reside on the property before they will be eligible for hunting license exemption because of ownership, it has been announced by J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

On the other hand, ownership of the land is not required where the person actually lives on land which might be leased or rented. This precludes a landowner who lives in another area from hunting on property he owns, because of ownership, according to Phillips. "The law is very plain in requiring residence on the property before deer or turkey can be hunted on it legally without a purchased license," he said.

Persons who are entitled to hunt under exemption requirements because of being over or under age, are required to have an exempt license with deer tags, because these tags must be attached to the animal when it is killed.

Phillips also warned persons to securely attach properly filled in deer tags to a deer as soon as it is killed, and not attempt to transport it without a license tag. To do so would make the hunter subject to violation and the possible revoking of his hunting license.

Where antlerless deer are legally killed, it is necessary also for the hunter to obtain a doe permit from the authorized landowner, and this permit must be attached to the carcass of the deer.

It's hard to realize these days that this country was founded partly to avoid taxation."

Delta Kappa Gamma Meeting Is Held In Todd Home

Members of Delta Kappa Gamma were entertained in the home of Mrs. Bill Todd Saturday afternoon. Meeting was opened with the initiation of new members Virginia Denny of Clarendon, Margaret McElreath of Memphis, and Lela White of Childress were initiates.

During a short business session it was reported that $28 had been sent to the Carla Fund. Tops Gilreath reported for the Legislation committee and Hazel Brandon led Club Collect. Lynn and Beth Bourland entertained with three selections: "Silver Bells," "May There Be Peace On Earth This Christmas," and "Sing at Christmas" written by Esta McElrath of Memphis, a club member.

Marguerite Goodner was leader of the program, "Talents for Useful Living." This program concerned the "new" in various fields. She was assisted by Brunetta Morris who discussed and displayed samples in "Manufactured Products;" Dora Diggs, "What Is Being Done for the Mentally Retarded;" Esta McElrath, "What's New In Space Today;" and Betty Welch, "What's New In Art." Concluding the program the group sang the Delta Kappa Gamma song.

Gifts were exchanged from a beautifully decorated tree.

The Clarendon members were hostesses for the afternoon and served a Christmas plate decorated with a spray of holly.

Thirty-four members were present.

RESEARCH AIDS IN DEVELOPING HOUSE PLANS

Extensive research has been done in recent years on Southern housing. Researchers have been trying to find out what people want in housing, why they want it, how much space is needed and how to plan for it. They have also considered the materials, type of construction, details of construction, soil, site and numerous other factors related to housing.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service have begun a series of joint publications designed to give these research findings to homemakers and home builders.

First in this series is a plan for a moderate-sized home. Three bedrooms, living room and bath were planned around the needed storage units. Space in this house was planned for moderate clothing needs with two persons per bedroom. Central linen storage was placed at the end of the hall servicing the three bedrooms and a bath.

For the kitchen, a U-arrangement was selected. A dining area, laundry area and children's play area were selected to go with the kitchen arrangement.

The purpose of the plan is to show the contractor or home builder how research data may be

"New Era" of Tax Collecting

Want to know "What the Tax Collector has in Store for You?" U. S. News & World Report tells the story, under that title, in its issue of November 20. It is based on interviews with officials of the Internal Revenue Service. And the gist of it, as a subhead says bluntly, is that "a real crackdown is coming on the man who fails to report and pay taxes on all his income."

In Secretary of the Treasury Dillon's phrase, we are on the verge of a "new era" of tax collecting. And a major reason for it is that modern miracle — the electronic computer. These machines can be arranged to practically anything in the realm of mathematics and analysis — and now, it seems, they are going implacably to work on the taxpayer who chisels, practices fraud, or simply "forgets." In U. S. News' words, taxpayer's reports will be instantly "matched with other reports received on taxpayers' incomes. Offenders will be trapped — automatically."

This automation of the tax payer will come into being on a gradual basis. First in line will be those in the Southeastern states, where machine processing will take effect next year. By 1966 the system will be extended to the entire country. So the big questions, as the magazine puts it, are these: "What kinds of unreported income will be found? How many taxpayers will be caught? What will happen to them? Will thousands go to jail? Would it be wise to check for omissions on past returns and pay up now?"

The answers to these questions run about like this: First of all, unreported income consists primarily of dividend and interest payments. Under the law, a firm paying you $10 or more in dividends or $600 a year in interest must report it. The new machines will keep track of these payments, as well as others. According to one survey, more than half of the taxpayers involved had failed to report bank interest on their tax returns.

If you get caught for failure to report income, the minimum cost will be the tax owed, plus a 5 per cent negligence penalty, plus 6 per cent annual interest. From there on, it depends on your degree of culpability. What it known as "civil fraud" brings a 50 per cent penalty. And you can be heavily fined and sent to the penitentiary. But criminal charges are brought only in flagrant cases.

As for the number of delinquent taxpayers the machines will reveal, comparatively few, says U. S. News, will be hit with serious charges. Most will be guilty of small offenses or unintentional oversights.

Finally, if your income tax reports have been less than adequate or honest can you clean the slate by confessing? As the magazine explains, if it's a borderline case, and the delinquent taxpayer voluntarily discloses his error prior to an official investigation, and if he has the proper records, IRS will probably go easy. That is, he'll just have to pay the overdue taxes, plus the standard penalties and interest. In extreme cases, of course, he can, so to speak, be given the works.

To sum up, we live in the electronic age. And those buttons and bulbs and computers are going to be giving your tax returns a swift, cold, and critical eye.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ernest Herndon of St. Louis, Mo. visited the past week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Herndon.

Mrs. Billy Jack Jordon of Amarillo visited last week in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Cowboy Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pittman.

With nearly 30 per cent of the state's population over 65 years old, the State Welfare Department's tandem medical care program for Old Age Assistance recipients will be a significant solution to the problem of providing nursing service and medical treatment for all ailing oldsters.

Welfare Department institutes its program of nursing home care for OAA recipients January 1. Program will affect every old person who has to rely on nursing-home care, whether he be indigent or self sufficient. Rating of nursing homes which apply for payments under the plan should result in a general upgrading of nursing home standards.

Despite efforts of nursing home operators' associations and Health Department officials to define this difference, there has been some public confusion about the difference between nursing care and custodial care. Relatives seeking homes for old folks are not always able to determine whether nursing care offered is sufficient for their kin's needs.

Introduction of state and federal money—about $8,000,000 a year — is certain to result in more and better homes for the aged.

The $23,000,000 Blue Cross policy for Texas' 220,000 OAA recipients — also effective January 1—may pave the way for more thorough medical protection for old folk.

Policy sets a precedent, as no other insurance company has ever provided such extensive coverage for people over 65. If it does not prove too costly, other companies may offer similar coverage for elderly people on an individual basis.

More Mileage from Tourists
Gov. Price Daniel's "Texans for Tourist" group will get together to discuss passage of a legislative appropriation for advertising the State's numerous attractions. Although the Legislature passed a voter - approved Constitutional amendment to allow for tourist promotion in 1953, no funds were allotted for this purpose.

While the Texas Highway Department distributes attractive brochures through its eight state border stations, nothing has been accomplished on a national basis.

Meanwhile the state is losing money on tourism. The 8,600,000 out-of-staters who came here last year contributed $23,000,000 to the state's tax till. They spent $427,000,000 while here. This was a drop of one million visitors from 1960 and a drop of almost two million from 1959.

Other states consider tourist advertising a sound investment—figuring they get hundreds of dollars in return for each dollar spent on advertising.

Chest or Escheat
Governor Daniel told the special House Committee investigating escheat laws that emphasis in his fight to include banks "has been in the wrong place."

He said that instead of battling to get banks to turn over money in dormant accounts, emphasis should be on passing legislation to help find unknown heirs of missing depositors.

Statement was made after State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner testified that dormant and inactive accounts "make it easier" for would-be embezzlers. He said it's easy for bank officers or employees to manipulate dormant accounts. Falkner stated that "a few" state banks have even tried to make charges against dormant accounts, converting the money to profit, but that his department has been successful in stopping such procedures.

The State Commission has no jurisdiction over the practices of national banks within the state. It is his understanding, however, that many national banks do make service charges against inactive accounts.

Falkner estimates that between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 lie dormant in state banks, and from $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 in the national banks located in Texas.

Building on the Rise
Residential permits issued in October ran 42 per cent above the 1960 figure for the same month.

Apartment construction is largely responsible for this rise.

A total of 101,079 construction permits was issued last month: 60,658 for residential; 40,421 for non-residential, and 10,496 for alterations and repairs.

Alterations and repairs on residences were up 19 per cent.

Cattle Disease
Texas Animal Health officials feel that the Federal inspectors at the border are not using tight enough controls to be absolutely certain that no diseased cattle enter Texas.

Fever tick, long ago eliminated in Texas, is the big fear of cattlemen. Last month, 17 herds of Mexican cattle were held up by Federal inspectors for dipping when they were found to have ticks upon arrival at the export pens.

NO SMOKE WHEN LEAVES COMPOSTED

There is a safe and practical way to handle the leaves which are now falling and cluttering lawns and gardens. Why smoke up the neighborhood and create a fire hazard by burning the leaves? asks W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, when a compost pile will solve the problem.

Making a compost pile is a simple operation, explains Bennett. Scrap lumber or a few feet of net wire and four posts are the only materials needed. Start with a six inch layer of leaves and for every four square feet of enclosure, sprinkle one-half cup of commercial fertilizer, such as 8-8-8, over the layer of leaves. In areas where soils are acid, the chemist suggests adding a cup of lime to the fertilizer.

After the fertilizer is added, apply a 1/2 to 1 inch layer of soil then continue adding layers of leaves and soil until the pile reaches the desired height. Bennett explains that the top layer should be left somewhat saucer-shaped so it will hold water. In three to four months, the leaves will decompose and become excellent material for use next summer to increase the organic matter in flower or vegetable garden soils or as a mulch for flowers, shrubs or vegetables.

Heavy accumulations of leaves left on the lawn, Bennett points out, can damage the grass especially when they are wet. They may also be responsible for more disease problems. Leaves should be removed and the extra time required to put them in a compost pile will return big dividends, concludes the chemist.

"One of the less commendable acts of Congress was its last minute passage of legislation that will give senators and representatives almost unlimited free mailing privileges. As a result of this provision, members of Congress will be able to deluge voters with a greater flood of electioneering propaganda than ever before—at the voters' expense."—Boone, Iowa, News-Republican.

I would like to take this means of thanking my friends and neighbors for their cards, visits, calls, flowers and many kindnesses during my illness. Your thoughtfulness was sincerely appreciated.

FERTILIZER USE BEST DETERMINED BY SOIL TEST

Ever wonder how a soil test can help you? W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, says that adding commercial fertilizers to any soil without first determining its fertility and acidity level through a planned soil-testing program is unsound, uneconomical and frequently wasteful.

Unless the acidity level of a field is at a certain point, most plans won't respond to their fullest regardless of how much fertilizer is applied. The acidity level is controlled by liming, and here's where a soil test this fall will be helpful. It will tell you what the acidity level is, thus showing whether or not you need to lime your soil.

Then, with properly limed soil, the fertilization program will be able to do the job it is supposed to, points out Bennett.

The acidity level is controlled by liming, and here's where a soil test this fall will be helpful. It will tell you what the acidity level is, thus showing whether or not you need to lime your soil.

Then, with properly limed soil, the fertilization program will be able to do the job it is supposed to, points out Bennett.

High School Teams Win From Estelline

The Clarendon High School basketball teams, both boys and girls, won from the visiting Estelline teams last Friday night. The local girls won their game by a 46 to 24 score, and the boys followed with a 46 to 38 victory.

The girls had no trouble at all with the smaller and more inexperienced Estelline girls. They ran up an 18 to 0 first quarter score and Coach Williams sent in the reserves and they played the rest of the game. The score at halftime was 25 to 7, and it was 36 to 16 at the three-quarter period. Dorothy Richey scored 10 points, Paula Adams, 8; Brenda McAnear, 5; Judy Castner and Jeannette Rampy, six each; Sharon Williams, five, and Connie Martin, three.

The boys had a little more trouble with the visitors, although they led all the way. They had a 11 to 6 first quarter lead; 24 to 16 at the half and 36 to 29 at the end of three quarters. James Allen paced the Clarendon boys with 16 points, followed by Bill Spier with 15, Jerry Elmore with six and Dwight McAnear and Herman Vinson with four each. Sharpshooting Teddy Barnes made 20 for Estelline.

These were the second wins this season over the Estelline teams. A week ago last Tuesday night, the local teams visited Estelline and the girls won by a 57 to 17 score, but the boys had to go into an overtime to win their game, 59 to 53.

As of Tuesday of this week, both the boys and girls teams are undefeated. The girls have won four and the boys three.

FARM BUREAU BOOK IS RECOMMENDED READING

A book titled "Your Farm Bureau" by Alice Sturgis, also author of such books as, "Sturgis Standard Code of Parliamentary Procedure" and "Learning Parliamentary Procedure" has been placed in the Clarendon High School and Junior College Library, also in the Gabie Betts Burton (city-county) Library; by the directors of the Donley County Farm Bureau, that you may know and understand more clearly the procedure and action of Farm Bureau.

I believe that all who would endeavor to seek her cause and inspiration for writing such a book would be staunch voluntary subscribers to membership in Donley County Farm Bureau. I recommend "Your Farm Bureau" as good reading for leaders of any organization as well as individuals, interested in the welfare of our future.

It's jam-packed with action in leadership—I dare you to read it. It will clarify Farm Bureau's importance to every citizen of Donley county, as well as every citizen of America.

If you get from it what I did, you will encourage your friends and neighbors to read it also. If you can read it and not voluntarily contribute in some form to Farm Bureau, then I am sure I must be just a little prejudiced. Lee Shaller, president, Donley County Farm Bureau.

STAYING POWER

Read any good books lately? If you haven't you're out of key with the times, as an article in The Exchange magazine which is published by the New York Stock Exchange, makes clear.

The book business, despite television and other competitors that seek the public eye, has been booming. In 1959 sales topped the billion dollar mark for the first time, and last year they came close to $1,130,000,000. That's more than double the 1952 figure.

A steady 10 to 12 per cent sales increase for the industry has been registered every year for the past decade. Three major book publishers have been listed on the exchange's "big board" since June alone. The largest single factor in the industry's growth, it seems, has been the advance in textbook and encyclopedia sales — these two categories alone accounted for 60 per cent of the industry's 1960 revenues. Other stimulating elements are listed as the fast-growing school population, expansion of the young children's book field, and the success of the paperbacks. The paperbacks have been a revolutionary force — one reason being that they have 90,000 or so outlets in this country, as against a mere 8,500 for the traditional hard-cover books.

This speaks well for the staying power of the written word—whether in a book, a newspaper, or a magazine. The other and newer media of communication, education and entertainment serve their valuable purposes, but they can't supplant it.
