Lone Star Card Coming To Clarendon

"Food stamps will go out of business in Clarendon on August 1," State Comptroller John Sharp announced today. "Donley county is included in the largest expansion of the Lone Star card in Texas, and with this roll-out, the Texas attack on bureaucratic bloat and welfare fraud moves into high gear."

"In just four weeks, food stamps will virtually disappear from another 90 Texas counties, in the San Antonio, El Paso, Lubbock, Amarillo, Victoria, and Beaumont-Port Arthur areas, along with portions of East Texas," Sharp said. "And retailers who prepare early should be ready to accept the card without a hitch."

The Lone Star card is the cornerstone of Sharp's wide-ranging welfare reform plan, which was approved by the Texas Legislature and recently signed into law by Governor George W. Bush. The card was first proposed in 1991 by Sharp, who created a task force to oversee its development.

The August 1 implementation will affect 300,000 families and 4,000 retail grocery locations in 90 counties.

"This security card will hold accountable both the bureaucrats and the people who depend on temporary public assistance," Sharp said. "It will save tax dollars, reduce fraud and boost grocery sales."

"That's why I urge all retailers that accept food stamps who haven't yet signed up for the Lone Star card to do so immediately so they don't lose business or leave their customers hanging."

Sharp said that retailers who accept the Lone Star card reported an immediate increase in food sales after the program was first implemented in February in the Houston area.

"Between February and March, food sales rose by $4.5 million, because benefits can be spent on food and food alone, not on crack cocaine or other illegal activities in the food stamp black market," Sharp said.

"Since June 1, when the program expanded throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex and along the Gulf Coast, the Lone Star card has been working so smoothly that retailers have rung up food stamps sales totaling nearly $65 million," Sharp said.

"But these benefits will bypass retailers who don't soon take steps to accept the card," Sharp said. "Because of the vast geographical logistics of this expansion - which includes the San Antonio, El Paso, Golden Triangle, and Panhandle regions - it's critical that retailers make arrangements now to install the necessary equipment."

Slightly more than 50 percent of the 4,000 retailers in this 90 county area have already signed agreements to prove food stamps and Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) payments with the Lone Star card.

"We need the remainder of the retailers in these areas to contact Transactive Corporation, the Austin-based operator of the Lone Star card and make arrangements to come on-line by August 1. They can contact the company toll-free at (800) 418-8000," Sharp said.

Food stamps benefits issued in the 90-county expansion area represent nearly $50 million worth of food sales per month, and the AFDC grants represent some $15 million worth of cash payments.

The Lone Star card is the largest electronic benefits transfer program in the country and is administered by the Texas Department of Human Services. The system's expansion into the San Antonio, El Paso, Beaumont, Victoria, Lufkin, and Panhandle regions will reach some 300,000 households in about one-third of the counties in Texas. It is scheduled to expand statewide by early 1996.

"This card will trim the national costs of the old food stamps stem by $45.4 million for shipping and storing, and $23.1 million for the final processing and destruction of the paper coupons at the Federal Reserve," Sharp said.

Sharp said the Lone Star card is already proving successful in reducing food stamp fraud throughout the state.

"Just six weeks into the new system, $1 million was taken off the black market in Houston in one of the largest food stamp busts in that city's history," Sharp said. "These were taxpayer-funded benefits that previously had disappeared into the black hole of the black market."

"By the end of this year, we will have abolished paper food stamp coupons in Texas," Sharp said. "We are returning the program to its original purpose - feeding hungry children, not feeding a bureaucracy and a black market of fraud."

Funding Doubled For TDA Water Program

A Texas Department of Agriculture program that supports research on water conservation and semi-arid agricultural production has received a commitment for another $500,000 in funding over the 1996-97 biennium, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said.

The funding is part of a contingency rider to House Bill 1, the state appropriations bill. The Texas-Israel Exchange Program was established to support agricultural research and development as well as improve trade and business relations between Texas and Israel. The program is a joint effort between TDA and Israel's Ministry of Agriculture. Texas and Israel each contributed $250,000 the past biennium to fund research projects with a high potential for commercialization. The research will be conducted simultaneously by teams in Texas and in Israel.

"The Legislature and Gov. Bush have shown that they are preparing Texas for the economy of the future by recognizing the importance of innovative agricultural research and by fostering international relations," Perry said. "This program provides a win-win situation for both Texas and Israel by giving each more resources to gain a global competitive edge in agricultural production."

However, TDA received grant proposals totaling more than $1.2 million in requests. By this fall, TDA plans to begin accepting applications for research proposals. The TIE program also encourages private sector involvement in bringing successful research to the marketplace.

Letters To The Editor

Sheriff Thompson,

The McLean Fire Department would like to thank you and your Dept. for the help you gave us on June 8, 1995. Your warnings helped to track this storm all the way to our area. Had the tornado hit McLean, we would have needed all the help we could get.

I did not get the name of your Deputy that was here, but I would like for you to thank him for us. He helped my people a lot until it was over.

If we can ever do anything to help you or your people, please let us know.

Clifford McDonald, Chief McLean Fire Department

Dear Editor,

On July 7, the State Board of Education voted to apply for Federal funding under the controversial Goals 2000: Educate America Act.

Goals 2000, called by some Congressmen "a Federal takeover of education," requires participating states to submit a state education improvement plan to the Federal Secretary of Education. If the Texas plan called Academics 2000 is acceptable to the Secretary, Texas may receive approximately $27 million for which local school districts may apply in competitive sub-grants.

In my opinion, Goals 2000 oversteps the bounds of jurisdiction of the Federal government. Education is not among the enumerated powers assigned to the Federal government by the Constitution, and is, according to the Tenth Amendment, reserved to the states and to the people. Never before has the State of Texas had to submit lesson plans to the Federal Government for approval.

Ironically, on the same day that the State Board in Texas voted to apply for Goals 2000 money, the California Assembly (legislature) voted to Reject Goals 2000 funds for their state. It is regrettable that Texas did not join California in sending a message that the two largest states will make our own decisions and not have educational standards dictated to us from Washington

Richard Watson State Board of Education, Dist 14

Write a Letter to the Editor

The Clarendon News welcomes letters to the editor. However, there are some principles that will make such letters more effective.

First, concentrate on the issue and avoid name calling. Calling Senator So-and-so "a fat, stupid SOB" may be purgative for the writer, but it will not change anyone's mind.

Second, be factual. Do your homework. Facts are much more persuasive than opinion.

Third, sign your letter. Unsigned letters will not be published. The person who is too cowardly to sign his or her name is not worth anyone's attention.

Finally, be timely. If your letter comes in after the deadline, it will not appear until a week later—or it may be too late to be relevant.

The Clarendon News publishes most letters that come in, regardless of the writer's position. Publication does not mean that the newspaper agrees or disagrees with the writer. It does not even mean that the paper considers the issue important. Letters to the editor are a public forum.

The paper has confidence that its readers can sort through material for what is informative, what is entertaining, and what is worthless.

New Bill Enhance Safety For Battered Women

Battered women and their children should be a little safer and have a few more options available to them as a result of the advocacy efforts of the Texas Council on Family Violence (TCFV) this legislative session.

"It was an extremely productive session. With domestic violence receiving so much public attention this year, there was strong bi-partisan support for legislation, led by the Senate Interim Committee on Domestic Violence, that addressed domestic violence issues," says TCFV Executive Director Debby Tucker. "As a result, battered women will be safer and lives will be saved."

Below is a summary of domestic violence bills passed by the Legislature. The bills would:

- Create an arrestable temporary protective order that is good for 31 days and is immediately criminally enforceable.
• Strengthen the current stalking law - Removes the requirement that two reports must be made to law enforcement before action can be taken against the perpetrator, provides for the victim to be notified immediately upon the release of a perpetrator from jail, prison, or a holding facility, and allows the stalking victim to hold the stalker civilly liable by suing for monetary damages in civil court.
• Provide enhanced penalties for repeat violations of family violence and protective order offenses as defined in the Penal Code - First violation, up to one year in jail and/or a fine up to $4,000; Second violation requires 90 days in jail and may require up to one year in jail and/or a fine up to $4,000; Third violation requires 180 days in jail and may require up to two years in jail and/or fine up to $10,000.
• Require statewide law enforcement training to include information about appropriate documentation in domestic violence cases.
• Require the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services to document the abuse of battered women while investigating child and elderly abuse.
• Authorize jails and holding facilities to notify victims of family violence immediately upon the release of the perpetrator.
• Allow an officer to provide standby safety assistance to victims of family violence.
• Require medical professionals to provide suspected victims of domestic violence referrals for shelter and safety assistance and requires that they document this referral in their records.

"We got the idea from many of these bills and provisions by talking to battered women and learning from their experiences," explains Tucker. "For example, we collected incident reports for over a year on the current stalking law and victims and law enforcement recited horror stories about their experiences. These reports were the major reason we advocated so strongly for the removal of the requirement for a second report."

With these bills, additional training and education will be necessary to make sure they are implemented across the state by law enforcement, prosecutors, judges, advocates, and other professionals. "TCFV anticipates playing a pivotal role in this area as well," says Tucker. "We forged many new alliances with associations and organizations this session and will be relying on these relationships to provide training and generate awareness of these new provisions."

The Texas Council on Family Violence is a membership organization of the shelters and battering intervention and prevention programs in Texas working to end violence against women. TCFV's complete legislative agenda is attached. For additional information, contact Christina Walsh at (512) 794-1133.

Soup to Nuts

As promised, here is the recipe for Meg and Steven's wedding cake. I thought all Red Velvet Cake's were the same and that everyone on earth knew the secrets. Anyway, the recipe we used is one I have had for years. The best thing about it is the frosting which is like whipped cream, but is not as heat sensitive.

Harlan's did a great job of decorating our cake with fresh flowers for the out-of-doors reception. Thank goodness the weather cleared from the night before's hail and rains and gave us a beautiful day.

Red Velvet Cake

- 1/2 Cup Shortening
- 1 1/2 Cup Sugar
- 2 Eggs
- 2 Oz. Red Food Color
- 2 tsp. Soda
- 1 Tbs. Vinegar
- 1 tsp. Vanilla
- 2 Heaping Tbs. Cocoa
- 1 Cup Buttermilk
- 1 tsp. Salt
- 2 1/4 Cups Flour

Cream shortening, sugar and eggs. Make a paste of cocoa and the food color. Add to the first mixture and blend. Continue to beat, alternately add flour and buttermilk. Add vanilla. Mix Soda and vinegar in another bowl and then add to the batter. Bake in 2 9" round or heart shaped pans at 325 degrees until layers test done with a toothpick. Cool completely before frosting.

Ermine Icing

- 3 Tbs. Flour
 - 1 Cup Milk
- Cook until slightly thick stirring with whisk to prevent lumps. Cool to lukewarm.

2 Sticks Butter

- 1 Cup Sugar
 - 1 Tbs. Vanilla
- Beat until light.
- Add top mixture and beat until frosting looks like whipped cream.

If you are looking for a special recipe or would like to see one of yours in print, drop by the newspaper or write to Lynne Williams, Box 807, Clarendon, TX 79226.

The final date to certify and/or request measurement service for spring seeded crops in July 17, 1995. Please remember that an accurate acreage report is required. All farms are subject to spot check. The CFSA will be taking certifications by appointments to assist their office and to serve the producers more efficiently. Please call the CFSA office when you are ready to certify.

To maintain maximum benefits and program options, producers who wish to destroy crop acreage without harvesting should notify their insurance agent and the CFSA office prior to destruction of the crop. If the crop was affected by a natural disaster, a notice of the loss should be filed with the insurance agent within 15 days of the disaster.

Producers are reminded of the rules for Ghost Crop planting. If you are going to plant a ghost crop you must plant back in the same patterns. Beginning in 1994, producers were allowed to block the idle rows in the original planting pattern. For example; a field of 100 acres was planted in a 2X1 pattern. 66.7 acres were considered planted and 33.3 acres were idle (not devoted to the crop). For the ghost crop the producer wants to plant solid. The producer may do so provided that a 33.3 acre block in the field is left unplanted. If the entire 100 acres were planted, 33.3 acres would count as program acreage and could cause a program violation. Remember, unless the failed crop appraises less than 50 percent of the APH, the crop is not considered failed; thus, ghost acreage would not be applicable.

Non-Insured Assistance Program (NAP) applies to crops for which federal crop insurance is unavailable. To be eligible for NAP protection the crop must be reported to the CFSA office by July 17. Producers who fail to report, will be ineligible for NAP payments. NAP provides protection similar to that provided by catastrophic insurance against crop losses.

Future payments from the CFSA office will be on new designed checks. They are bluish in color and considerably different than the old green ones. The brown envelope has not changed, so please be careful not to destroy these new checks by accidents.

Producers are reminded that all farms are subject to spot-check, including farms that requested measurement service.

Thornberry Supports Bill Cutting Congress Down To Size

Congress made another installment on its promise for real change recently by cutting legislative branch spending, U.S. Rep. Mac Thornberry said. The first-term Republican from Clarendon, voted for H.R. 1854, which reduces funding for Congressional operations by $155 million below current levels.

The bill passed the House on June 22, 1995 by a vote of 337 for and 87 against.

"Congress can't have it both ways," Thornberry said. "We can't call for reducing spending to eliminate our deficit but refuse to cut our own budgets. The legislative branch appropriations bill makes real cuts in spending to guarantee Americans we are serious about putting our financial house in order."

The Fiscal Year 1996 appropriations bill that was voted on streamlines many internal function of Congress, eliminates unnecessary programs and privatized others. Key savings in the bill include:

- $22 million by eliminating the Office of Technology Assessment, which duplicates technical support provided by several other Congressional research agencies.
- $620,000 by shutting down the Congressional print shops and folding rooms, services which can be privatized.
- $40 million by reducing committee staff by one-third, an action that occurred when the 104th Congress convened in January.
- $9.9 million in cuts to the Architect of the Capitol's office for maintaining House and Capitol office building grounds.

Thornberry said the bill also privatized the House barber and beauty shops, the television and recording studios, and the flag office. This will allow private business to provide these services to Congressional offices in a competitive manner that will ensure taxpayer dollars are spent wisely.

H.R. 1854 also specifies that all unspent funds from a Congressional office are to be returned to the Treasury to be applied toward reducing the deficit. Currently, unspent funds are returned to a general account and not applied to the deficit.

The appropriations bill is one of many steps the 104th Congress has taken to curb the perks and power of members of Congress, Thornberry said. On the first day of the session, the House approved a bill that limits the number of terms a committee chairman may serve and requires Congress to comply with the same laws that apply to the private sector. Furthermore, the House Oversight Committee has reduced each Congressional office's mailing budget by one-third.

"Finally, we are putting our money where our mouth is," Thornberry said. "I can vote for this bill and tell the folks back home that Congress, for once, really is serious about how it uses hard-working taxpayers' money."

The Lions Tale

By Gene Alderson

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday at the Lions Hall. Thirteen members and five guests were in attendance. Those who arrived early enjoyed a delicious barbecue dinner. Late comers had cold fried chicken. They will be arriving earlier next week!

Boss Lion Garland called the meeting to order and led the Pledge of Allegiance. Lion Bernabe led the prayer. Guests present included Greg Collins and Chuck Robertson who were the guests of Lion Delbert Robertson; Russell and Roger Estlack who were the guests of Lion Allen Estlack and Taylor Shelton who was the guest of Lion Jim Shelton.

Following a report and a lengthy discussion, the club voted to discontinue Bingo EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY until further notice. One other item of business was handled in regard to insurance on the roof and the meeting was adjourned.

LEGAL MATTERS

BY ATTORNEY GENERAL DAN MORALES

AUTO INSURANCE: GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

When you buy liability insurance for your car, you expect to be covered in case of an accident — and you should be. Every day, hundreds of Texans see an agent or a broker, write a check, and drive home safe in the knowledge that they have valid automobile insurance. But for a few drivers, that sense of safety is an illusion.

The overwhelming majority of insurance agents are honest and provide a necessary service to their customers. However, a few agents and brokers simply pocket the premiums or they issue a policy on a company that just does not exist. After stealing from as many people as possible, the dishonest agents disappear, only to set up business elsewhere and start their sharp practices all over.

Here at the Office of the Attorney General, we are committed to doing everything in our power to stop these practices. The consequences of being scammed can be catastrophic — if you are at fault in a serious automobile accident, you could be liable for personal and property damages totaling hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Protect yourself

What steps can you take to protect yourself? Knowing your agent, and his or her reputation, is a good first step. Ask your friends and family to recommend an insurance agent with a proven track record.

You can also call the Texas Department of Insurance. Ask if your agent is certified and licensed to sell insurance, what line of insurance (auto, life, etc.) he or she is allowed to sell, and if he or she is authorized to sell a specific company or policy. You may also ask if there are any complaints on file against a specific agent.

When paying for insurance, never pay with cash. Instead, pay by check, money order, or cashier's check, and get a receipt. That way you establish a paper trail and documentation. If your agent or broker tells you he or she needs cash to bind the company to your risk, find someone else.

Financing a car?

Not all insurance problems are the result of illegal practices. When you finance a new or used car, the creditor will normally require that you have comprehensive insurance. It's a reasonable requirement — after all, they want to protect their investment in your car.

Under normal circumstances, the financial institution cannot tell you where to buy your insurance. The only exception is if you let your insurance lapse for any reason. In that situation, the bank or other financial institution will purchase insurance on your behalf from a company of their choice, at a cost which can range up to $300 a month. It's called "force-placing," and it is entirely legal under these circumstances.

When you get valid insurance again and notify your financial institution, it will stop the force-placed policy. But you will still owe your creditor for the period when you did not have insurance. Refuse to pay, and the premium can be added to your loan amount. The financial institution may even repossess the vehicle if the premium amount, added to the loan, is never repaid.

The lesson? When financing a car, make sure you have comprehensive insurance, and that it does not lapse. Contact your financial institution and insurance agent for further information.

For more information

To obtain information about your insurance agent, call the Texas Department of Insurance at (800) 252-3439. If you wish to file a complaint, you should know that all complaints to TDI must be in writing. Call the toll free number to get the proper complaint form or write to: The Texas Department of Insurance, Consumer Protection, P.O. Box 149091, Austin, TX 78714-9091.

WTU Helps Install Energy Efficient Coil

An innovative "heat pipe coil" design may make the new McDonald's in Shamrock, Texas more comfortable for the customers and more energy efficient for the franchise owner.

"In restaurants, high humidity not only affects comfort and energy costs, it can also contribute to interior fixture and building material wear and tear," said Joe Mac Johnson, national account executive for West Texas Utilities Co.

To control high humidity, franchise owner Ronald McVean and McDonald's Corporation joined with WTU and its sister company, Central and South West Services, Inc., to install and test heat pipe technology. The McDonald's in Shamrock is one of several across the southern United States testing the new humidity control.

The coil is a simple device requiring no energy source. It consists of sealed tubes filled with an environmentally safe refrigerant. The tubes cool return air before it reaches the air conditioning unit. This helps dry the air while reducing the amount of energy required for additional cooling.

In addition to the heat pipe coils, this total electric McDonald's restaurant also uses the latest in electric appliances for cooking, heating, and air conditioning needs. Data collected from several different energy monitoring devices in the store will prove McDonald's with valuable information to assist them in developing even more efficient restaurants. Monitored items include store temperature, humidity, kilowatt-hour usage, kilowatt peak demand and operation of specific appliances such as fryers, griddles, water heater, and heating and cooling equipment.

For more information about new energy efficient devices, call West Texas Utilities.

THE NEW ELECTRIC MCDONALD'S in Shamrock has installed new energy saving devices. West Texas Utilities participated in the testing of the new devices.
