Meeting Last Week Indicates Greater Interest In Greenbelt Dam

Interest seems to be mounting in the possibilities of the Greenbelt Municipal Dam which is in prospect for this area if continued interest is turned into reality. The meeting at Childress last Tuesday night was most impressive to the group attending as well as encouraging.

Annual operating costs of a proposed dam north of Hedley on the Salt Fork of the Red River would amount to $135,000 by 1965, engineers say.

Representatives from seven cities of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority were told Tuesday that by the year 2005, costs might run as high as $219,000 annually.

"If two other cities are added to the Greenbelt Authority," Si Freese, Fort Worth engineer, said, "the costs would be around $155,200 and $258,000."

Freese, chief consultant for the authority, added that the dam would be "the last possible surface supply (of water) for this section of the country."

"We are mining our water now and gradually mining it out of the ground," he said.

The Greenbelt dam and reservoir would cost an estimated $4,176,000; the treating plant, $1,257,000; and the pipeline system to Memphis, Childress, Quanah, Hedley, Clarendon, Paducah and Wellington, $8,819,000.

Should Shamrock and Crowell join the authority, Freese said pipeline expenses would run another $1,977,300.

Four dam sites were considered, according to feasibility reports compiled by Freese and his assistants and three were rejected because of salt, metals and gypsum deposits hardening the water.

The engineers said a "dependable yield of water of approximately 11,300,000 gallons a day" would be available during the "dry years," and this would double during the "wet years."

The plan is to impound 93,000 acre feet of water behind the dam. The area of the lake formed would be 3,350 acres, and the water would drain into the lake from an area of 508 square miles.

No definite action was taken by the Greenbelt Authority Tuesday. Directors said they planned to meet soon to discuss the financing of the project. Financing construction of the dam has been proposed by ad valorem taxes—77 cents per $100 evaluation—to be sold to private bond houses or to the Texas Water Development Board. Other financing would be through revenue realized from use of the water.

1962 AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM

If you have conservation problems on your farm, we believe the 1962 Agricultural Conservation Program as developed for Donley County can aid you in solving them.

You may remember when gullied hillsides, worn-out fields, and abandoned farms were commonplace . . . when farmers still believed that land "wore out" and the only recourse was to move on to new land. For it was only a little more than a quarter of a century ago that we as a Nation decided that we could no longer afford not to conserve our agricultural soil and water resources. Under the ACP, the Federal Government shares with farmers the cost of applying needed conservation practices on the land. For most practices, farmers pay about half the cost and agree to service and maintain the practices during their normal life-spans.

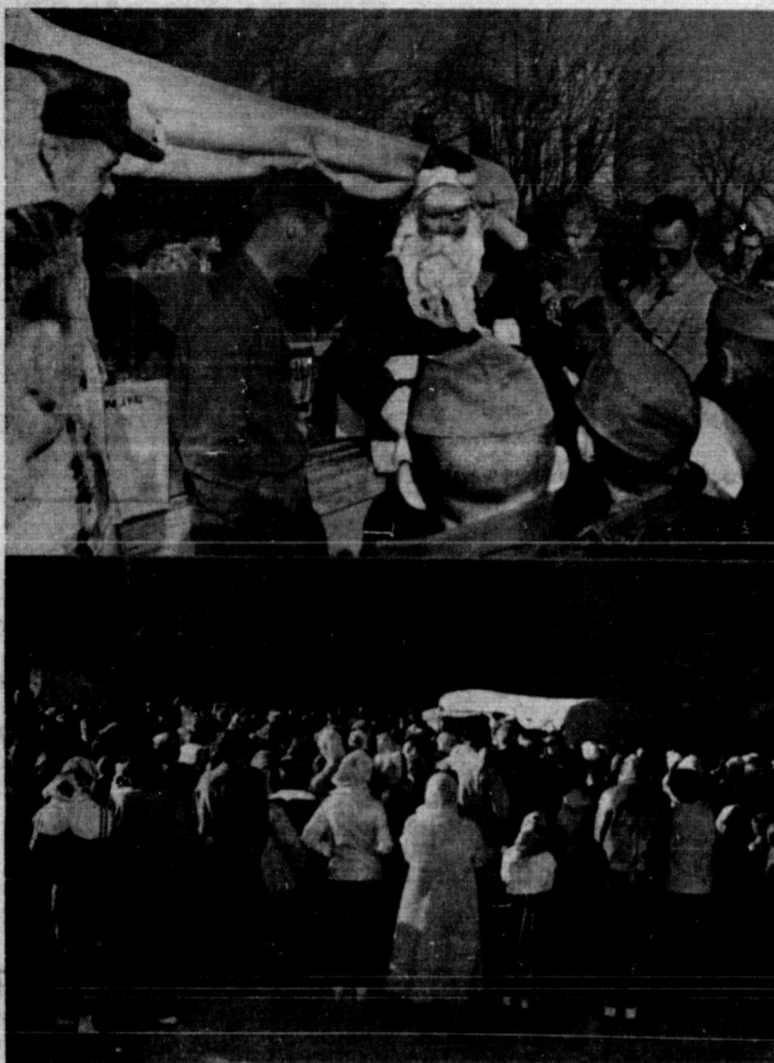

As you drive about the country, you see many farms on which the owners have solved their soil and water conservation problems with the help of the ACP and other conservation services. Generally these farmers are producing more and living better. They are paying more taxes. They are contributing more to make their communities stable and prosperous. All of us are sharing the benefits of continued abundant production that comes from these farms. Of more immediate concern are those other farms you see and know about on which conservation problems still exist. Those are the farms on which the ACP is most needed. Those are the farms where ACP can help the owners to help themselves and their communities and county.

Your advice and encouragement may supply the extra "push" needed to get some of them working on their conservation problems.

REMEMBER . . . A strong county program helps farms establish a system of farming that is best for the farmers, their county, and the nation. ACP promotes lasting conservation, helps farmers do more, and introduces new conservation practices. Encourage the farmers in your community to visit the county office and discuss their conservation needs.

According to Sheriff, Tax-Assessor-Collector Truett Behrens, the number of Poll Tax Receipts issued to date is "way below par for a general election year which is coming up in 1962. To date only 345 receipts have been issued. He is reminding all persons who have paid their state and county taxes to be sure and check to see whether they paid their poll tax or not as the poll tax is not listed on the tax statement and is paid separately.

December 31st is also the last day to pay your state and county taxes and be able to take the 1 percent reduction. All taxes must be paid by January 31st or a penalty will be added.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Anti-Communist Measures

The Congress this year had before it for consideration a number of anti-Communist proposals. Several of these were for the purpose of amending present law to correct defects pointed out by the courts and which had to be corrected in order to bring about future convictions. One of these was H. R. 470 which passed both Houses and is now Public Law 87-366. This particular law was for the purpose of amending the Foreign Agents Registration Act so as to include within the definition of a "foreign principal," domestic organizations which are substantially supervised, directed, controlled, or financed by a foreign government or foreign political party. It also sought to clarify the commercial exemptions of the Foreign Agents Registration Act by providing that a foreign principal, in order for its agents to be eligible for exemption from registering under the act, must be engaged in activities which are either private and non-political and merchantile. It measurably expanded the coverage of the law with regard to individuals and organizations that could have previously technically avoided its requirements. Its effects are already being felt, and its results will be measurable.

There are two other laws that passed the House of Representatives last year but which have not yet passed the Senate that will add measurably to our strength in opposing Communism. One of these is H. R. 3247. It is the result of an extensive study of recent Supreme Court decisions by a special subcommittee of the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives. The particular decision creating the need for this measure was the case of YATES VS. THE UNITED STATES (354 U.S. 298). In that case the Supreme Court of the United States had reversed convictions of several defendants on the charge of conspiring to overthrow the United States government by force and violence and with organizing groups for the same purpose. The Court held that the term "organize" referred only to the official organization of the Communist Party and not to a continuing process of organization. The Court pointed out that the organization of the Communist Party of the United States was in 1945 and that the indictments returned in 1951 were barred by the three-year statute of limitations. Hence, in order to close this technical loophole that was created by the Supreme Court, the House of Representatives adopted H. R. 3247, which reads as follows:

"As used in this section, the term 'organize,' with respect to any society, group, or assembly of persons, includes the recruiting of new members, the forming of new units, and the regrouping or expansion of existing clubs, classes, and other units of such society, group, or assembly of persons."

This Bill, if passed by the Senate and signed by the President as we can expect it to be, will provide another most effective weapon against any possible spread of insidious Communism.

Another measure which was passed by the House of Representatives and which will be of interest to the people on this subject, is H. R. 4469. This measure was considered by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and is for the purpose of amending the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950 "so as to provide that no individual who willfully fails or refuses to answer, or falsely answers, certain questions relating to subversive activities, when summoned to appear before certain Federal agencies, shall be employed on any merchant vessel of the United States or within waterfront facilities in the United States."

This Bill attempts to deal with the problems of Communists on vessels and related areas such as waterfront facilities. The very nature of the waterfront industry makes it most vulnerable to infiltration by subversives. Armed with this legislation, the United States Coast Guard can do a thorough and complete job of screening seamen from merchant vessels. This Bill is patterned after a California statute which has been held valid by the United States Supreme Court. Hence, it is anticipated that once it becomes law, no measurable difficulty will be encountered through the courts. It will effectively break off one of the most important links in the world-wide Communist communication system and will do great damage to many espionage activities.

There are other measures pending, one of which is the prohibition against the shipment in interstate commerce of goods imported from Cuba. It is my hope that these measures will all be passed and implemented in the early days of the coming session of Congress.

Watson-Cole Nuptials Solemnized In Church Ceremony

Miss Jerry Gaylene Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Watson of Clarendon, became the bride of Bobby Neal Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Waldrop, also of Clarendon, in a double ring ceremony read December 15, in the Martin Baptist Church. The Rev. W. R. Lawrence, pastor of First Baptist Church, Clarendon, officiated.

Vows were exchanged before an archway banked with greenery and accented by tiered candelabra. Tapers were lighted by Larry Watson, brother of the bride, and Beth Waldrop, sister of the groom. Mrs. Nat McElroy registered the guests.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Jo Ann Benton, pianist. Mrs. Wesley Mills was her sister's matron of honor and bridesmaid was Miss Lynn Watson, cousin of the bride.

Attending the groom as best man was James Graham. Groomsman was Chester Mann of Amarillo. Ushers were Faylon Watson, brother of the bride, and Tommy Waldrop, brother of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of lace and tulle over satin fashioned with a fitted bodice and a scalloped neckline outlined in iridescent sequins. The skirt was bouffant. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white and pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party was honored with a reception. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth over pink. Miss Norma Self and Mrs. Johnny Davis presided at the crystal service. Miss Beth Johnson provided a soft musical background.

Mrs. Cole is a graduate of Clarendon High School. Mr. Cole is a graduate of Clarendon High School and Clarendon Junior College. The couple will make their home in Clarendon where the groom is engaged in farming.

TRAFFIC DEATH FIGURES CONFIRM HIGHER TREND

The Texas Highway Patrol said today the latest traffic death figures for the state confirm a trend toward a higher motorcade total for 1961 than 1960 when 2,254 fatalities were counted.

Capt. J. W. Blackwell, in command of Highway Patrol, District 5-B, Amarillo area said, "It has become a certainty that the November toll of 1961 is higher than that of last year."

So it is of utmost importance that we further concentrate our efforts along the line of utilizing our Patrol strength as effectively as possible to "bring about the maximum voluntary compliance with the traffic law quickly."

"This is being done," he said, "by having arranged working schedules as selectively as possible in terms of time, location, and violations." He added, "the Patrol Supervisors have been instructed to have their men look for and detect those serious traffic law violations which are causative factors in fatal accidents, giving most attention to high speeds, driving under the influence of alcohol, and other hazardous violations."

"In addition," said Capt. Blackwell, "they have been instructed to utilize radar as much as possible, as well as road checks for Drivers License and hazardous violations in concentrated areas."

"While these measures are being done by the Highway Patrol," he said, "it follows that we must again call upon all motorists to join in this all-out drive for a safer December in 1961, by obeying the laws and rules of safety."

Mrs. A. B. Stephens and girls of Greeley, Colo. visited Mrs. Edith Longan and other relatives thru the holidays.

Berlin: A Lonely Island In A Red Sea

Analyzing events pertaining to our national survival.

"War will not come, Berliners say — but they said it in 1914 and 1939. They worship strength — if the West is weak, won't save them, they'll bow to Reds. Who shouts the loudest, asks the most, and gives the least wins their favor." — Jim Bishop.

Could it be that Jim Bishop is thinking about writing "The Day Berlin Died?"

Focus: Your 1961 World! All eyes are fixed on Berlin — yours probably are; mine are. Yet, we must know that Berlin may be a major diversion, may be a Communist triple play. International Service Information reporters and analysts say this:

"A certain group of ISI cooperators behind the Iron Curtain are not much alarmed by these threats from Moscow. In their opinion, Khrushchev is doing all he can to build in the Russian people a 'superiority complex' and to destroy their 'inferiority complex.'"

"In other words — Khrushchev is conscious of the low morale of the Soviet population, and of their armed forces. . . He tried to repair it by showing them how far he can go in insulting the West without any Western reaction."

"Khrushchev knows that the West will not react to his abuse and, therefore, the whole Soviet propaganda has now been mobilized to throw as much abuse on the West as possible — and especially on the United States. . . You may look for alternate praise of President Kennedy to be followed by insult and abuse — then by 'Big Brother' patronizing."

"The Soviet announcement that their Navy has been ordered to sink foreign submarines in sea areas the Soviets now claim as 'home waters. . . You may soon see the announcement that a U. S. 'spy submarine' has been sunk by 'vigilant Soviet submarine chasers and anti-sub.'"

"To the Soviet population this will be 'proof' that the Americans are aggressive — but cowardly. . . You can kick them in the teeth and all they will do is say, 'ouch—ouch—ouch.'"

"The rescheduling of nuclear tests, a boost to the morale of the Soviet population, a boost to the morale of the desperately worried Red Chinese who have lost 25 million in the current famine — but also a proof that the Soviets know that they are behind the Americans in nuclear weapons. . . So look for — an explosion a hundred miles or more above the globe — a very flashy demonstration calculated to make the Western population shake in its boots. However the Soviets have been testing nuclear devices underground."

"It is well to note this: The atomic rocket technique in the Soviet Union up to now has suffered from unsatisfactory technical control. Soviet rocket forces are shockingly careless. . ."

"This most complicated technique needs frequent control of all details of installation and components of the rockets, launching systems, guiding systems. . . Negligence at one point only will make the whole operation fail. . . Yet, Soviet technicians and engineers are lax and negligent. . . There have been a shocking number of deaths from abortive explosions and the death roll includes a number of general officers and top scientists. . ."

"This has provoked a series of secret instructions on how to eliminate this unsatisfactory state of affairs. . . articles have been published in the Soviet military press. . . the general idea is that 'not only must the fighting personnel be strictly disciplined and conscientious, but also the political personnel — and the technical — engineering personnel too,' because, the secret reports say, some of the most blatant facts of slack discipline and non-compliance with basic technical maintenance instructions have been observed among top technical personnel."

"Perhaps from conviction, perhaps not, Khrushchev stood out against this line for a long time, but is now committed to it. The argument is that the 'dirty wicked capitalists' are determined to destroy Russia at the first opportunity. That chance could come at any moment, because there are many explosive points in the Soviet Empire that could detonate. If the West were to change tactics and concentrate on undermining the Soviet Empire as Moscow concentrates on permeating capitalism, it could happen very quickly. The Russians cannot believe we are as foolish as we are and are unlikely to take advantage of the insurrectionary desires of their enforced subjects. Moscow lives in dread of internal revolt and sabotage fostered and financed from the West. This fear is one of the most serious points to consider when weighing up the prospects of early war.

A Saturday Evening Post Editor, Houser (Sept. 9, 1961), tells of a visit with a thirty year old electrical worker on whom he called in Berlin. This worker lived in a two-room apartment. Laying down a chicken leg on which he had been munching, he set forth his views in answer to Houser's questioning. "It's not a question of just Berlin," he said, "or of West Berliners. If you Americans give way here, you'll lose your friends from Norway down to Italy."

"You won't have an ally left in Europe. And since it is clear you cannot afford to lose your friends, you'll stand up to Khrushchev on Berlin."

The year of 1961 will soon be history and how well you prospered will soon be recorded by tax filings. C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist, suggests that farmers and ranchmen get a copy of the 1962 Farmer's Tax Guide before tackling the tax reporting job. Copies are available from the offices of local county agents and those of the Internal Revenue Service.

CLEAN FENCE ROWS ARE BEST

Winter is a good time to rid your farm of a thief, says Garlyn Hoffman, extension range specialist. This thief is the worthless vegetation growing along the fence rows, which robs cash crops of valuable moisture.

During a wet year, the damage is not so great, but during a dry year, yields can be greatly reduced in a 50 to 100 foot band around the entire field.

On the other hand, if this brush is furnishing good habitat for quail it should be left alone, says Hoffman.

The easiest way to get rid of the fence row thieves is to treat the area with chemicals. Winter is a good time because it is a slack season for labor, you can do a good job of treatment, and good kills can be obtained with no danger to susceptible crops. It is important to apply the herbicides thoroughly, and a follow-up treatment the next winter is usually necessary to keep the brush under control.

Herbicides that can be used are 2, 4, 5-T and fenuron pellets. The 2,4,5-T should be mixed with diesel oil, and the mixture applied liberally to the lower 12 inches of the tree trunk. Fenuron pellets should be applied at the rate of 40 to 60 pounds per acre or 1 tablespoonful per tree.

In most cases, the 2,4,5-T mixture costs less but the pellets can be applied faster and easier, points out Hoffman.

Anyone using these chemicals should be careful to follow the directions on the label of the container. This label will give recommendations for mixing and rates of application.

For more information on how to control unwanted trees and brush, contact your local county agent.

SPOTLIGHT ON NUTRITION

The American Meat Institute has just issued a booklet called "The Spotlight Is On Nutrition." A primary purpose is to encourage retailers to place more emphasis on the nutritional value of meat in their advertising. But, beyond that, the main gainer will be the public at large—and, particularly, those among us who have been led astray by quack diets and food faddism.

This kind of faddism has reached serious dimensions in late years. As leading nutritional authorities warn, it can have serious adverse effects on health and longevity. Additionally, of course, it leads its victims to spend big sums of money on diets and alleged dietary aids which, at best, are valueless and, at worst, are definitely harmful.

A sound diet, save in those comparatively exceptional cases where qualified physicians recommend special diets, is based on the standard items carried in any butcher shop and food store — meats, fruits, vegetables, dairy products, and so on. And meat is certainly one of the most important elements. In no other food has nature placed so much and so many of the proteins, vitamins and minerals we must have to keep healthy and strong. In one form or another, meat suits the requirements of people of all ages. It is essential to mental as well as physical vigor. And, of no small moment, we can eat meat every day without losing our taste for it.

So—the spotlight is no nutrition. And it is really needed there.

"Operation Deathwatch," which began Saturday midnight and ends at midnight New Years Day, is the most urgent business of the Governor's office today.

Gov. Price Daniel has written every Texas sheriff and chief of police, asking each law officer in Texas to help make the State's streets and highways safer for Texas drivers during the 10-day holiday season.

Governor Daniel said the anticipated toll of 88 holiday traffic deaths is the lowest estimate ever made, and stated "it pinpoints the progress of recent years in reducing Texas traffic tragedies during the year-end holiday. However, even more lives can be saved this year if the people obey the laws and drive safely."

Newspaper publishers, the Texas Press Association, broadcasters and billboard owners are cooperating in the campaign, urging Texans to take individual responsibility for traffic safety, and asking drivers to keep headlights burning during daylight hours as a reminder that safe and legal driving is the best way to avoid holiday crashes.

Banks Still Balk Most Texas banks balked at the committee's request that they make their dormant accounts public.

Five of the 38 banks subpoenaed to appear before the committee filled out questionnaires by deadline time. Twenty-two banks were represented at the hearing. Eleven failed to show up.

Houston's City National Bank attorney Raybourne Thompson, speaking on behalf of all 22 banks present, and two others, requested that the committee get an opinion from the Attorney General as to whether it has the power to force testimony "that would destroy banker-depositors' confidences."

Thompson said if the committee refused, the banks would testify "under protest."

Committee had sent questionnaires to 469 national banks in Texas. Only 66 gave some or all information about the number of dormant accounts they hold and the amounts in these accounts.

Out of the 536 state banks queried by the committee, only 100 furnished the information.

Prime reason for the specially called session by Gov. Price Daniel is the enactment of laws to force banks to locate the owners or heirs of unclaimed depositors.

Governor Daniel feels that little effort is being made by the banks to find the rightful owners. He says that more than $3,000,000 is being held unlawfully by the financial institutions. Some banks are even levying charges against the accounts even though the accounts are inactive, he reports.

Few, if any of the banks, have ever advertised to find the right-

FIRE!—A lonely hill on a Wildfleck Range in Germany provides authentic background for the crew of this 106-mm recoilless rifle during a live firing attack on a stationary tank. The rifle mounted on a 1/4-ton truck of the Combat Support Co., 2nd BG, 6th Inf. Div., is manned by the gunner, PFC Gary Laffen (Atwater, Minn.) and squad leader, Sgt. Billy Hardin (Merigold, Miss.). The recoilless rifle can be used against tanks, armored vehicles, concrete emplacements and personnel.

Governor Daniel feels that the banks should exert every effort possible to locate the owners, including advertising, or turn the funds over to the state for the protection of the depositors. Such steps have been taken in a number of other states.

Hopeful Sign

Texas Commission on Alcoholism reports good results in its six-year-old program of rehabilitation for alcoholics in state hospitals, and progress with prison system inmates. But it is still concerned about the estimated 250,000 drinkers in Texas who need treatment.

Commission says 2,334 patients were treated for alcoholism in six state hospitals during fiscal 1961.

Improvement after six months from date of discharge was reported by about 500 out of 1,600 patients released last year.

In less than 18 months, the number of alcoholics participating in prison rehabilitation programs has grown from 800 to 3,000.

Commission now lists councils on alcoholism in 29 Texas cities, working to educate the public to recognize alcoholism as a disease. Their attempts are aimed at the 250,000 ailing alcoholics and their families — as well as the 4,000,000 Texans who use alcohol.

EARLY PLANTED COTTON DOES BEST

Cotton planted on April 3 in field trials at the McGregor Substation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in 1961 produced almost three times as much lint an acre as cotton planted on May 15. O. J. Tippit, farm superintendent, said early planting has proved effective over the years when early insect control is carried out.

In the 1961 tests, two varieties were used with little difference noted between them in yields when planted on the same date. The April 3 planting yielded 452 pounds of lint an acre compared with 158 pounds for the May 15 planting. April 15 plantings produced 342 pounds of lint an acre compared with a yield of 274 pounds for May 1 plantings.

Gross returns per acre based on lint at 30 cents a pound were $135.60; $102.60; $82.20 and $47.40, respectively for the four different planting dates, Tippit said. Hoing costs on the April plantings were 73 cents an acre compared with 55 cents for the May dates. All planting seed were treated with the systemic insecticide Thimet and the April plantings received three spray applications for early season insect control at a cost of $5.25 an acre. The May plantings required only a single spray application at a cost of $1.75 but all received three applications of insecticides for late season control at a cost of $6.75 an acre.

All tests were planted, Tippit said, on nearly, well-prepared seedbeds, and 18 pounds of the Thimet-treated seed were planted per acre. This rate meant that approximately 100,000 seed an acre were planted. The final stand count taken after the last cultivation showed an average of 45,780 plants an acre or 3 1/2 plants per foot in the row, well within the 3-4 plants per foot recommended, Tippit explained.

The 60-acre field on which the tests were carried out was in grain sorghum in 1960 and was fertilized with 100 pounds of 16-20-0 an acre. Tippit said root rot was not a factor in yield as only a trace occurred.

Boys Ranch is growing up . . . This is true in more than one way. Those that attended the Annual Boys Ranch Christmas Party saw this growing up taking place in at least two ways. Here and there on every hand we saw growth in the form of new buildings. This meant room for more boys eventually. The buildings are of lasting material and beautiful design. It meant better care and growth for the boys, both physically, mentally and spiritual.

The beautiful school building that was built by donations a few years back as a result of a drive by the United Peace Officers organization is one example. This was followed by a cafeteria. Dorm after dorm built from money left by families in the Panhandle area made an impressive sight as they were so beautifully decorated by the boys in their traditional contest to take pride in the beauty of their homes each Christmas. Then, the new chapel from which came a repeat performance of a Christmas cantata put on by the boys. Their training and talent was unbelievable.

Then came the time for Santa Claus and this was another time in which we realized the ranch was growing up. All of the boys except the small fry had received their gifts in dorm parties the night before. This trip by Santa was for the little ones, for the children of ex-boys ranchers, and the children of the staff. The boys wanted it this way. Then we realized the Ranch was growing up. It was founded in 1939. Now in 1961 one whole section in the crowd was that of ex-boys ranchers and their families. They had come back home with their children for Christmas. Boys Ranch now has grandchildren. It is growing up.

Last week we heard Tom Anderson, the fiery editor of Farm and Ranch magazine, give one of his hot-off-the-griddle talks. He is not called fiery by the manner in which he says the words but by the stinging straight-from-the-shoulder statements about any subject. It is a mild expression to say that he calls a spade a spade. He has names that are a lot stronger than the original.

Whether we agree with his approach to the problem or not, one is almost bound to come away convinced that we do have a bad situation. We can feel the conviction that America needs to be on its knees in these trying times in search of the truth as to what we should do. As an average layman we don't know much about such things as communist pilots being trained in this country. And when we hear it we think there surely must be some reasonable explanation. With that we dismiss the subject.

At the time we are writing this we hear that a group of citizens in Pampa are organized in an effort to stop the United Nations from shooting the wrong people in Africa. The report is that they are doing this with our money and without any serious objections from us. The world situation has become so complex that we are inclined to lose both interest and concern in it.

We have on the one hand those who seem far to the left who would draw us into one united world, which at the rate the world is going would be socialism. The other a group of strong rightists would take us many steps back from where we have already come. Most of us are in-between and unconcerned about it . . .

"Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers; for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?" II Corinthians 6:14 . . .

This scripture seemed to have a new meaning in the light of the United Nations . . . We had often thought of the wording "Unequally." We had never understood just why the word equally would not have expressed the meaning in which we usually think about being associated with someone in any group. We think of being equal in a democracy . . .

But, think for a minute about the set-up in the United Nations. . . Any little tiny nation has the same right of veto on world policy as does the United States. This nation may be totally communist . . . It may be completely Goddess in its religion. This nation may be no larger than one township and practically uncivilized . . . Does this somewhat clear up the thing Paul might have been talking about when he spoke of being "Unequally Yoked Together."

If, in 40 years more than 40 per cent of the world's population has turned communist . . . If more than half of its area is controlled by this Goddess group, and while we talk friendship with peace-loving Nehru, peace at his price that is, the odds are climbing. If this be true, and Mr. Anderson and others would use much stronger terms . . . If we are sure of this, "We should give Communist China a seat in the United Nations — OUR SEAT."

When properly handled and cooked, venison provides a real taste treat, says Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. The deer should be dressed immediately after it is killed and protected from contamination until placed in storage. Flavor is improved by marination before cooking, Cooper says.

Letter Written In 1903 Describes Local Area

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was written by John P. Foxworth in 1903 giving a pretty good description of this area at that time. Foxworth was one of the founders of the present Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. John Armstrong of Amarillo found the letter recently among the family's keepsakes.

Miss.
Dear Sir:
I have been thinking of writing to you for several days, but somehow I have not been in the right humor for writing and I am not yet, but as I sent you word by Chester that I would write to you, I will comply with my promise. We left Mississippi on the 17th of August and reached this place on the 20th of August. We were detained by failing to make connections or we would have reached here a day sooner. We stopped at this place where the boys will go to school and I reckon we will spend most of our time here so as to be near them.

They started to school yesterday and I am glad of it as they had been doing nothing only frolicking around since the school closed in June. I hope they will go to studying now and I believe they will. My wife was sick when we reached here with cold and was right sick for several days but is better now. The rest of us are doing tolerably well, while I cannot say that I have improved any, yet I feel no worse. So far we do not like the country.

I see but little difference between this country and Mississippi. Only there is no timber here, while they do not claim this for a farming country. Yet they raise everything you do except sugar cane and they raise sorghum in the place of that. They make cotton, kaffir corn, millet, Indian corn or our kind of corn, sweet potatoes. Fruit does well, plenty of peaches here, pears and apples and plums. Water and musk melons in abundance, better and sweeter than yours. We can get a large one, more than all of us can eat for 10 cents. We are boarding out yet and will continue to do so for some time I reckon. We have to pay $16.00 a month a piece for board but it is fine.

horses here. Land is worth from 3 to 10 dollars per acre. One man can cultivate 100 acres here easier than you can 20 acres of your land. The water is good, plenty of rain, crops fine. I sent you word by Chester how I wanted you to do about my part of the cotton. This is one year that I think it will be best to sell as fast as you can get it out. So as soon as you get a bale or even 1/2 bale for me sell it and send me the money for it or check or P. O. order might be best and cheapest. Though it does not make any difference how you send it.

I want you to look after my taxes. I reckon they will be about like they were last year, about $30. I pay taxes on the dry creek land about 520 acres and the Mt. Olive lot 10 acres and 80 acres unless they advertise. They can E half of SE quarter of sec. 35. The Sage co. pay on the other, about 1800 acres. They refused to pay on it at first last year, but I got after them about it and they finally paid it. I guess they will settle it without any trouble this year.

You need not bother to pay the taxes before the 15th of December as there is no damage until then and no damage then like his wildcat ways. I lost all not advertise before the 15th. It is best to pay by that time anyhow. Do you know of anyone that wants to buy me out. Sell me out or buy me out. I am sorry to hear that Vardeman is our Governor. Though I think he will make us a good one. I do not like his wildcat ways. I lost all of my votes.

It is likely I will be back by January 1st. Though I cannot tell yet, if I have my health here I shall remain over here though we will visit Mississippi once a year anyhow. I shall go before long up to where my nephew is about 150 miles farther north though I will not stay long up there before I return here. My kindest regards to Mr. Turnage and everybody.

Yours,
John P. Foxworth

This place, Clarendon, is a nice and quiet little place of about 2,000 people. There are several schools here besides the college. The Methodist, the Baptist, the Presbyterians, the Catholics and Campbellites all have good churches here. They have no saloons here. I have not seen a drunken man nor heard an oath cursed since we have been here. All seem to be clever good people. J. P. Foxworth.

We came by Vicksburg, Shreveport and Fort Worth. Crops were good all of the way.
