Clarendon Going Dial At 1:01 A. M. Sunday, Sept. 20th

Simultaneous conversion early Sunday morning of two General Telephone Company exchanges to modern dial operation will keep General Telephone Company personnel "hopping" during the coming week-end.

The two exchanges, Memphis and Clarendon, located less than 30 miles apart, are in the same division and same district. Technical experts and telephone officials must be "divided" in order to handle the technical aspects of the cutover and entertain with a dial dinners being held in each town to celebrate the change overs.

Since conversion of the exchanges have been planned for many months, some people might wonder by both cutovers are scheduled at the same time. Roberts explained that every dial conversion in the nation had to be coordinated so long distance operators throughout the nation will know whether to reach a given exchange by dialing or by calling another operator. In order to simplify this fantastically large job of coordination, all telephone companies throughout the U.S. have agreed to schedule conversions at 1:01 a.m. on one of two nights each month.

Roberts emphasized that the local aspects of the change to dial involve a great deal more than merely throwing a switch. First, the lines at the old central office must be disconnected. Coordinated with this step, two "picks," which are used during installation period to prevent the new dial equipment from making contact and becoming operative, must be pulled for every telephone being converted.

One conversion in a division is a big job, Roberts said, and two conversions in the same division on the same night is an even bigger one, but because of careful planning we anticipate no difficulty in either exchange.

HORACE GREEN'S ATTEND GALLOWAY MEETING

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Green left last Tuesday morning to attend the American Galloway Breeders Convention at the Hotel Cornhusker in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Traveling across beautiful corn, milo, wheat and hay countryside, they arrived on schedule with proxies from C. B. Morris, Ed Dishman and Richard Finch, other local Galloway breeders.

Three new directors were elected and when the votes were ready to be collected, Green's hat was called for and passed to collect the ballots. It was the only hat from Texas in the group attending. Directors elected were Charles C. Wells, South Fork, Mo., Alfred Morine, Cincinnati, Ohio and Earl Shoop, Browning, Montana.

Mr. Green has been vice-president of the association for the past two years.

DINNER SPEAKER

Dinner Saturday Night Celebrating Conversion Of Phone System

Business and civic leaders and their wives will be honored guests at a dinner celebrating the conversion of Clarendon from common battery to modern dial operation on Saturday evening at the Donley Hotel Coffee Shop.

Highlight of the program will be a talk by E. H. Danner of San Angelo, president of the company. The Reverend Berkeley Sorelle will give the invocation and H. E. (Tony) Craig from Memphis will serve as master of ceremonies.

Danner is a native of Mt. Pulaski, Illinois, and a graduate of Illinois College. A year after graduation he joined the staff of the Illinois Telephone Company at Jacksonville, as a trainee and worked as a groundman, lineman, cable splicer's helper, switchboardman, combination-man and then became assistant to the plant superintendent. He was plant superintendent when he was transferred in 1934 to the Telephone Management Company in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

In 1946 he was transferred to the Texas Telephone Company in Sherman to become president of that company. He remained in that capacity until the Texas Telephone Company merged with General Telephone Company of the Southwest in 1957. At that time he became operating vice president of the General Company and the same year he became president.

Danner is a member of the board of directors of General Telephone of the Southwest, a director of the Texas Telephone Association and the United States Independent Telephone Association (USITA), Chairman of the Regional Small Company Committee of the USITA, a director of the Texas Research League, and vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He was active in civic work in Sherman and in San Angelo is chairman of the Advancement Committee, Concho Valley Boy Scout Council, and is president of the San Angelo Board of City Development (Chamber of Commerce). He is also president of San Angelo Industries, Inc., a member of the Community Council and chairman of the Community Chest Public Service.

Turn News Copy In Early

Since school has started again and most clubs and other organizations have started meeting again after a summer vacation, we find ourselves overloaded with too much copy for our limited number of pages.

As in the past we will have to limit all copy to current news and abide by our usual deadline which is as follows: All meetings, etc., taking place the previous week must be in by Monday morning and all meetings Monday must be in by Tuesday morning to insure their publication. All late news will go in our WE file regardless as current news demands all available space. We certainly want all current news available and will make every effort to print it when received on time. Our pages will accommodate only a certain amount of type and the linotype machine can turn out only a certain amount of type. All copy can not be set on Tuesday so please turn your copy in early and help us to give you a newsy home-town paper.

Beginning Monday, to phone your news in, please Dial TR 4-2043 for the Leader Office and TR 4-3606 for the society editor. If this latter number does not answer, call the Leader number.

Bronchos Travel To Gruver Friday Night

The Clarendon High School Bronchos will meet their third consecutive District 1-A opponent this week when they meet the fast Gruver Greyhounds at Gruver Friday night. Game time is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock. Also, for the third time this year the Bronchos will be the underdog. Last week, the Broncho's first opponent, Stinnett, took a convincing 19 to 6 win over White Deer. Spearman, last week's opponent, held a 22 to 14 victory over Class AA Wellington, and Gruver has had no trouble in their first two games. They opened with a 26 to 6 win over highly regarded Panhandle, and last week romped over Class B Follett, 57 to 0.

The Greyhounds are not as big as either Stinnett or Spearman, but reports are they are much faster than either of those teams. In quarterback Richie Fletcher and halfback Donnie Prater, the Greyhounds can present two of the fastest backs in the Panhandle. Gruver won District 1-A last year and are co-favored along with Stinnett this year.

Broncho Coach Tom Jinks and his assistant, Mack Choate, were highly pleased with the showing of the boys last week against Spearman. With some improvements here and there the coaches feel the boys will give somebody trouble before the season is over.

The starting line-up for the Bronchos looks like it will be about the same as last week which means that Bill Hermes-meyer and Philip Abel will be at ends; Jerry Gray and Lynn Spier at tackles; Dennis Bradshaw and Charles Percival at guards and Ronnie Tyra at center. In the backfield will be Dwight McAnear at quarterback; Wayne Mann and Jim Robinson at halfbacks and Dewey Wilson at fullback.

Large Crowd Expected To View Biggest And Best Fair In Years

Best Flower Show In Years Anticipated

Plans for the Donley County Flower show are making progress. It will be held in connection with the Donley County Fair at the Fair building on Sept. 18 and 19th.

Three competent judges have been secured and a great deal of enthusiasm is being displayed. Ribbons in the different classes will be awarded early in the afternoon of Friday, Sept. 18.

Exhibits which are not perishable will be accepted the night of Thursday, Sept. 17. Those which are perishable will be accepted on the morning of Friday, the 18th.

It cannot be truly a Donley County show unless every community in Donley County is represented. A great many people have been contacted, but there are some whose telephone lines are in the process of being changed, or who were gone from home, or for some other reason may not know about the flower show.

If you are one of these persons, be sure to bring some kind of exhibit. It may consist of pot plants, ferns, grasses, dried arrangement, special holiday or party arrangements or anything a fertile imagination may think suitable for an artistic flower show. You need not be limited to one entry. Bring several if you can.

Those of you who do not have any cut flowers for the show or any of these other things, are requested to bring cedar, pine or cockscomb to be used as a background to create unity and continuity in the whole picture. Quite a lot of these are needed and the committee would like to have the names of the individuals or communities who bring the cockscomb and evergreen so that credit may be given to them.

Mr. Breedlove says that he will see that there are plenty of chairs for anyone who needs to rest while working with the flower show. A number of people are needed to help put up and take down exhibits as well as to receive, number and label them. If you can help in any way, ask Mr. Breedlove to direct you to Mrs. J. H. Howze or Mrs. John Bass.

PARENTS MEETING CALLED TUESDAY NIGHT

A meeting of parents of Junior High and Elementary school children has been called for next Tuesday night at the Junior High School Auditorium beginning at 7:30.

This meeting is for the purpose of discussing the ability grouping plan which was put into operation this year in the third through eighth grades. Some misinformation has been gathered concerning this plan and all parents interested in the plan, either pro or con, are urged to attend this meeting. School officials will be present to explain the plan and to listen to comments from parents.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Bishop George H. Quarterman of Amarillo will conduct Holy Communion service at St. John Baptist Episcopal Church Sunday at 11 a.m.

This is the regular monthly visit of the head of the Diocese of Northwest Texas to Clarendon. The public is invited.

Luncheon will be served in the Mission Hall.

The Donley County Fair and Quarter Horse Show gets in to full swing this Friday and Saturday at the fair building in Clarendon says county agent H. M. Breedlove, manager of the show.

All committees are at work now and exhibits will be set up on Thursday, the seventeenth, so that they will be ready for the judging to start at ten a.m. on the eighteenth. The quarter horse show will be held at the rodeo arena at one p.m. with judge Johnnie Steven of Matador, Texas, placing the entries. The flower show will be judged around one thirty p.m. with Mrs. Stark of Clarendon, Mrs. Nelson of Claude, and one other judge yet to be selected. The merchants departments will not be judged, but up to this time there are fifteen business firms who have said they will set up exhibits at the fair building. There will be fourteen communities competing for agriculture prizes in the agriculture booth department, this will be judged by Mr. Buford Hancock, Extension horticulturist of the Texas A&M College.

Extension Service and the judging will start at ten a.m. The poultry department will be housed under the new addition to the fair building and Mr. Burleson of Littlefield, Texas, will judge the poultry. Judging will start at ten a.m.

One judge, Mrs. Elizabeth Litsch, home demonstration agent for the A&M College Extension Service at Wheeler, Texas, will judge the following departments: Home Economics Department, judging to start at ten a.m.; Needle Craft Department, judging around ten thirty a.m.; Fine Arts Department, judging to be around 11:30 a.m.; Canned Goods Department, judging to be 2:00 p.m.; County Home Made Baking Department, judging to be at three p.m.

All departments will be judged on the eighteenth. Breedlove will select agricultural commodities from the community agriculture exhibits in the county fair to be shown at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. Breedlove will leave for Amarillo Saturday night right after the county fair is over. Everyone is urged to attend the county fair and if you desire to make entries in any department you can check a catalog to get all the requirements. Catalogs have been distributed to business firms in town and can be secured there or by calling at the county agent's office. The county agriculture display will be on exhibit for one full week at the Tri-State Fair and everyone who visits the fair is urged to go by and see it.

FAMILY FALLOUT SHELTER — WHERE BASEMENTS ARE NOT AVAILABLE

For Family Protection in Nuclear War

PRE-SHAPED corrugated metal sections or pre-cast concrete can be used for shelters either above or below ground. They form effective fallout shelters when mounded over with earth as shown here. Materials would cost about $700. A contractor probably would be required to help build it. "The Family Fallout Shelter," published by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, contains building plans for five basic fallout shelters. Copies may be obtained by writing: Box Home Shelter, Battle Creek, Mich.

Hope they do better next year. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Davis and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis and children, all of Amarillo spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Davis and Johnny.

GET EXEMPTIONS TO HUNT AND FISH

AUSTIN — Exempt fishing permits are not required of all fishermen under 17 and over 65 years, according to the fiscal director, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "These are only courtesy cards, more or less," said the director. "Certified drivers' licenses or other legal documents are just as valid."

With the exception of deer hunters, the same holds true for exempt hunting licenses. Anyone in the same age group must have exempt licenses when hunting deer because of the license tags that must be fastened on the deer kill.

Persons residing on their property who wish to hunt on this property must have an exempt license. This license is not valid for any other piece of property, however. If you do not reside on the property, you will need a regular residence license. Persons under 17 and over 65 need only the one (age exempt) license in all cases, but only if they hunt deer. Otherwise, any valid identification will do just as well.

It is not necessary to send applications to the Austin office. All regional offices, which are located in our larger cities, can provide exempt hunting and fishing permits. "To save time," said the director, "send your applications to the nearest regional office, or contact the local game warden. In every case provide valid identification with your request." Donley County Leader, $3 a year in county.

MOTORISTS SHOULD WATCH FOR CHILDREN

Texas' largest transportation system is now in full swing — the State's fleet of more than 8,000 school buses. Furthermore, for the next nine months, these buses will carry the bulk of nearly 2,000,000 pupils to and from school each week day.

It is truly a Texas-size task to transport all these pupils — it is an even greater task to transport them safely. No one will deny the school bus driver has a tremendous responsibility.

But, says the Texas Safety Association, motorists are also charged with the safety of our school bus riding pupils. The State law is very precise on this point and reads as follows:

Sec. 104. OVERTAKING AND PASSING SCHOOL BUS:

a. The driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of the limits of any incorporated city or town upon meeting or overtaking from either direction any school bus, which has stopped on the highway for the purpose of receiving or discharging any school children shall stop the vehicle immediately before passing the school bus, but may then proceed past such school bus at a speed which is prudent, not exceeding ten miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children.

b. Every bus used for the transportation of school children shall bear upon the front and rear thereon a plainly visible sign containing the words "school bus" in letters not less than eight inches in height.

c. The driver of a vehicle upon a highway with separate roadways need not stop upon meeting or passing a school bus which is on a different roadway or when upon a controlled-access highway and the school bus is stopped in a loading zone which is a part of or adjacent to such highway and where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadway.

"SAY, WHO'S RUNNING THIS THING?"—U.S. Army Photographer PFC Dale Colton knew that German Shepherds were plenty smart but when he saw "Sergeant Rex" apparently operating this huge tracked vehicle at Fort Belvoir, Va., he investigated. Sergeant Rex was just along for the ride on the remote-controlled equipment being demonstrated by SP4 Merritt D. Shippe (at extreme left) to M/Sgt. Howard A. Sager, Rex' master. Under test at Belvoir, the earth-moving machine can be controlled from a helicopter, from a moving vehicle or from a fixed position up to 10 miles away.

NEW EXTENSION PUBLICATION

College Station — If you are an average homemaker, you spend about a third of your time in planning, preparing and serving meals. Of course, some homemakers spend more time on food preparation than others. Size of the family, elaborateness of meals and the convenience and use of kitchen equipment influence the time spent on meals.

You can have colorful, appetizing meals in minimum time and with less energy if you plan and manage them properly, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists. To help homemakers with the job of meal planning and management, specialists have written a new bulletin entitled, "Quick Meals."

The specialists give four pointers as to what makes a good meal. They are: use foods that vary in flavor, color, texture, size and shape; they should be of good quality, appetizing and prepared so as to save food value; foods should be served attractively; and a pleasant atmosphere should be present to help the family enjoy meal time.

Better use of time by menu planning is discussed. Some suggestions are: serve fewer and well-prepared foods in generous amounts, use foods that can be cooked together, such as pot roasts and vegetables, and plan dishes which require few ingredients.

The bulletin contains many menu plans for quick meals, such as oven meals, one-dish meals, broiler meals, top-of-the-range meals, and meals from the freezer. All these recipes have easy to follow directions.

Contact your local home demonstration agent for a copy of the bulletin. Or write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. Ask for B-927.

More lives were lost in the Civil War than in any other war in which the United States has been engaged.

DROWNINGS INCREASE IN RURAL AREAS

College Station — The purpose of swimming and boating is to have fun and relaxation, not to drown oneself as over 1100 rural residents of the U. S. do every year.

The large majority of these drownings could be prevented by observing simple safety rules, says Edwin H. Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. When you are boating, observe ten simple precautions and come back alive—not much of a hindrance to your pleasure considering you have your life to lose.

Cooper lists ten rules for water safety. Always find out how many passengers a boat can safely carry, and never exceed this number. Always carry an extra paddle in the boat, in case one is broken or lost. Before leaving shore, be certain you ask an informed person about hazards in the lake or stream, such as location of swift water, whirlpools or hidden obstructions. Always wear shoes and clothing that can be removed easily in case the boat sinks or capsizes. Have a life preserver for each person in the boat, particularly non-swimmers.

When using a motor, make sure it is the proper size or horsepower for your particular boat. Be as cautious when steering a boat as you would when steering a car, and learn and observe the rules of the water such as speed limits, yielding right of way and forbidden zones. Don't stand in a boat unless necessary and then be careful of your balance. Always wear clothing that will protect you from sunburn, since sunlight is intensified by reflection off the water. And lastly, never go boating when warnings of high winds or severe weather have been issued, Cooper says.

These are simple rules, but their observance could have your life, Cooper concludes.

A new study, reported in a publication of the American Medical Association, shows that nearly as many Americans die from bee stings as rattlesnake bites. Over a five-year period rattlers killed 55 people in this country, and bees 52.

BACK TO SCHOOL PICNIC

Approximately one hundred and twenty-five F.F.A. and F.H.A. boys and girls enjoyed a "Back-to-School Picnic" in the City Park at Memphis this afternoon of September 8. Hot dogs, potato chips, tea, and watermelon were served to the group. Following this feed the group went to the "Old Swimming Pool" and Skating Rink west of Memphis and really had a wonderful time. 1926 BOOK CLUB

The Book Club began the 1959-60 year with a dinner at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Patching Club House. The dinner was prepared and served by the ladies of the Lelia Lake Methodist Church. The hostesses, Mrs. W. C. Thornberry, Mrs. Clyde Hudson and Mrs. Frank White Jr., used a transportation motif in table decor. A miniature train formed the centerpiece for the dining table, from which a fried chicken dinner was served buffet style. Toy horses, cars and planes were used on the quartet tables. The place cards were tiny covered wagons. The napkins displayed early model cars. Mrs. A. J. Garland gave the invocation. The president, Miss Inez Blankenship, greeted the guests and members and at the conclusion of the meal introduced Mrs. L. N. Cox, the program chairman. "Travelogue" was the theme selected for the evening. Mrs. Cox read the following quotation written by Donald Culross Peattie:

"No matter how widely you have traveled, you haven't seen the world if you have failed to look into the human hearts that inhabit it." Then she presented Mr. L. Wallace who with his movie projector showed pictures in natural color of their travels this summer through the scenic northwestern states, including New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho and some of the Canadian provinces. Mr. Wallace gave an interesting explanation of the beautiful and colorful scenes shown, and as Mrs. Cox indicated in conclusion those present were made to realize more than ever that God's world is indeed a pretty world.

Mrs. L. L. Wallace and Mrs. Carl Gilliam of Lubbock were also guests of the club.

Other members present were Mesdames Loyd Johnson, W. M. Grain, Axford Jay, Walter Clifford, J. R. Brandon, R. C. Bryan, Otis Naylor, J. R. Gillham, C. B. Morris, Joe Ritter, Nelson Seago, Bill Poole, W. E. Ray, Homer Bones, Elba Halkew and J. R. Porter.

DISENCHANTED CITIZENS

You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink. And you can raise the gasoline tax to any figure, but you can't stop people from using less and less gas.

That point, in substance, is made by a marketing representative of the Sun Oil Company. He illustrates with an interesting example — the strong consumer trend toward small economy cars. It is estimated that 1959 sales of foreign and domestic small cars will reach the million mark. And that is exclusive of the new "compact" models that are scheduled to come out of Detroit in the fall.

Thus, in this spokesman's view, one effect of rising gasoline taxes has been the setting in motion of a "vicious cycle" in which the lowered fuel consumption of smaller cars yields reduced tax money and ultimately prompts another round of tax increases.

The motorist has been taking a severe beating. Since World War II, there have been 70 increases in state gas tax rates. During the 10-year period ending in 1958, combined state and federal taxes have increased six times as much as the national average retail price of regular grade gasoline, exclusive of taxes.

Higher federal gasoline taxes are urged on the grounds that the highway trust fund is in the red. But that condition can be cured by halting the diversion of federal highway user taxes to non-highway purposes, or by stretching out the highway building program over longer period of time. To quote the spokesman directly, "The average citizen is becoming disenchanted with grandiose interchanges, extravagant clover leaves and a mounting tax load."

NEW LICENSES FOR HUNTING AND FISHING

AUSTIN — "Don't ruin your hunt by overlooking the game laws," warned the Director of Law Enforcement, Texas Game and Fish Commission. "Before taking your gun from the rack, be sure you know all laws concerning game in your particular area."

"Old hunting licenses expired August 31. Be sure to have your new licenses on you when you go out to hunt. Check your gun for a plug. Only three shells, including one in the chamber are allowed in it by law."

"Don't hunt on a piece of property unless you have permission from the owner or person in charge of it. Don't fire near a home or in a direction that might endanger some person, house, or even livestock."

"Hunting from a public road is prohibited by law and it's illegal to shoot from a moving vehicle. These are laws that have been in existence for quite a long time," said the director.

He then reminded hunters that many of the birds taken during the hunting season will have tags on their legs. "These tags should be returned to the Game and Fish Commission with information telling when and where the bird was killed."

He then warned hunters not to forget the changes in the waterfowl regulations. "If they can't be found in print," he said, "check with the warden in your area; he'll be more than happy to help you."

Two eggs in the daily diet will supply the following percentages of needed food elements: vitamin A, 22; thiamine or B1, 7; riboflavin or B2, 16; vitamin D, 24; protein, 17; iron, 22; phosphorus, 13; calcium, 5; and for good measure the old hen adds some vitamin B12. Eggs are considered a complete food points out Marshall Miller, extension poultry marketing specialist, and suggests that homemakers become more familiar with this tasty and nutritious food.

LOCAL STUDENTS TAKE PART IN DRIVING TEST

Safe driving must be made a personal habit of every motorist if the slaughter on America's highways is to be curbed, Vernon Gayle Safety Director of the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department, declared Tuesday as he spoke prior to conducting driving tests at Clarendon High School and Junior College.

"Excessive speed is the greatest single cause of automobile accidents," Mr. Gayle said. In the demonstration which followed, he pointed out the conditions under which even 20, 30 or 40 miles per hour can be excessive.

The Safety Director added: "When drivers know the true facts and base their driving on those facts, highway accidents will drop sharply."

Students and teachers took part in the tests which were conducted in a specially equipped car. The test driver was signaled to stop by an electrically controlled detonator. As the shell was fired, the street was marked with yellow paint. A second bullet was fired as brakes were applied and a third after the car came to a complete stop. Distances between the spots were carefully measured to determine in feet and inches how far the car traveled before the driver applied the brakes, or the reaction distance, and how far it traveled after the brakes were applied, or the braking distance.

Mr. Gayle emphasized the fact that a driver who observes the speed laws carefully is not a safe driver if he neglects many other items such as proper signaling for turns, approaching an intersection in the proper lane for a turn, the proper way to turn around, and many other things which he demonstrated in the test car.

Tuesday's safety demonstration which was brought to Clarendon Donley County Farm Bureau is under the sponsorship of the part of a long range program of traffic safety now being conducted by the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

NOTHING FUNNIER THAN THE TRUTH

In last week's newsletter I discussed the attempts of the federal government to dictate the design and operational features of automobiles. In the last paragraph of that letter I called attention to an observation by one of my colleagues who has an excellent sense of humor. I quote the paragraph referred to:

"One Member was heard to observe that the next thing we know, rural mail carriers will be driving foreign-made cars, and some bureaucrat in Washington will require all of the farmers to shorten the posts supporting their mailboxes so the mail carriers will not have too much difficulty in delivering the letters from their low-slung automobiles."

Another Member of Congress read this newsletter and told me that this was not so far-fetched, because it had already happened in his district. He offered to let me have a copy of the letter he received concerning it, and I was very pleased to get it. I will not use the name of the Congressman or of the letter writer for obvious reasons. Here is the major portion of the letter received by the Congressman:

"The other Day I got a note on a U. S. government slip to lower my mail box to three feet it has been a little higher all the time I don't think you know why I will tell you.

The mail man has bought a new car and it is one of those little cars of a farm make and the box is to hy for that make he is working for U. S. A. gets his money from same he has stoped the sale of the American car Our workers are lade off, is he a Real American Stop this in our government." The Congressman took the matter up with the Post Office Department and was advised that it would be the policy of the particular region in which this was located not to require the raising or lowering of rural boxes to conform with changes in the mode of travel of the carrier. The flaw here lies in the fact that the Post Office Department has been divided into regions throughout the country and the "region" referred to here is not located in the Southwestern part of the United States. I sincerely hope that the region in which Texas is located does not permit any "notes on U. S. government slips" to be sent out in our area.

that need renovating, insofar as this type of property is concerned, but I do not feel that it is the responsibility of the general taxpayer in the United States to pay a large portion of this bill. Public housing has been highly controversial at all times. I sincerely wish it were possible for those people, who find it necessary to occupy public housing, to be able to finance and purchase a home of their own. However, it appears that point in our economy has not yet been reached, when housing facilities in many areas can be offered to the low income group of our society at a price they can afford to pay, nor on a credit program acceptable to money lenders. That is the reason there is such a hue and cry from most of the large city areas for public housing — city areas that have many Members in the National Congress. The same problem is present with regard to the aged, although it is not a problem of the tremendous size as that of the general public housing problem. Unless dwelling accommodations can be made available to the aged at price within their economic range, the demand for public housing, or low-cost money to build this type of housing, will increase measurably in the very near future.

THE SECOND VETO OF THE HOUSING BILL

At the time this letter is being written, word has just come to the office that the President has vetoed the second Housing Bill sent him by the Congress.

I can appreciate the attitude of the President with relation to certain features of the bill, to wit, urban renewal and public housing. As to urban renewal, I do not feel that the federal government should be required to pick up a sizeable portion of the tab to renovate commercial and semi-commercial property that has been milked for profits year after year. Certainly there are many portions of many cities that need renovating, insofar as this type of property is concerned, but I do not feel that it is the responsibility of the general taxpayer in the United States to pay a large portion of this bill. Public housing has been highly controversial at all times. I sincerely wish it were possible for those people, who find it necessary to occupy public housing, to be able to finance and purchase a home of their own. It has always been my contention that one of the greatest blunders this country has against Communism is home ownership—the right and privilege of private ownership of real property that one can call his home. It is this basic principle that has led me to continue to support the FHA programs. These programs have made it possible for thousands upon thousands of Americans to own and establish a home in the early years of their lives — a privilege that was denied many of our ancestors. Home ownership has gained such wide acclaim and approval that it is wholly inseparable from our general economy. It affects everyone from the man who chops down the trees to the last clerk in the bank and money institutions who puts the stamp of approval in closing the final loan. The Donnybrook between the President and Congress on the housing issue has created a situation that is causing the government to be writing "hot checks" or "hold checks" in issuing commitments incidental to the federal guaranty of housing loans. This has created a situation that has enabled the large money lending institutions of this nation to reap a tremendous profit at the cost of the contractors, the builders, the smaller money lending institutions, and John Q. Public. I sincerely hope that this controversy can be resolved because I would hate to see this fore this Congress adjourns, a situation of permitting these unconscionable profits to go on until the first of January.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Fredonia, New York, The Censor: "It is difficult to see how an artist's political coloration could sensibly be used as a basis for deciding whether his work was good enough to represent the United States in an art exhibit

"The judgment of art and literature by political standards — by the criterion of how well they conform to government views — is a Soviet trick, one we would do well not to emulate. Anyone who doubts that the Kremlin goes in for this sort of judgment need only view the art displayed at the Soviet exhibit in New York"

National Review says that Khrushchev didn't believe a Nixon statement that there are more than 60,000,000 cars in this country. The statistical fact: World car population is 111,000,000 of which 67,000,000 are ours.

Grass Roots Opinion

Omaha, Neb., Public Ledger: "Federal aid to education is on the prowl again — bigger and bolder than ever."

"H.R. 22 . . . reported out by the House Education and Labor Committee calls for $4.5 billion of tax money in Federal grants over the next four years. These funds would be used for school construction and for teachers' salaries. But after four years, what? 'Human Events', in reporting on the measure, notes that 'The bill fails to include, however, any provision for ending the program — so like price supports, the grants would probably continue on and on'."

Spearman Beats Bronchos 14 To 8

The light and inexperienced but never-say-die Clarendon Bronchos threw a real scare into the big Spearman Lynx here last Friday night before going down to a 14 to 8 defeat. The Bronchos almost pulled into a tie and possible victory late in the fourth quarter when end Bill Hermes-meyer dropped a pass from quarterback Dwight McAnear.

The Lynx, outweighing the Bronchos 25 pounds per man, dominated all but three minutes of the first half. The Bronchos stopped several drives deep in their own territory before Tom Madden, Spearman's 178 pound fullback, crashed over for the first touchdown midway of the second quarter. The extra point try was no good and Spearman led, 6 to 0. Spearman kicked off to the Bronchos and Wayne Mann fumbled the kickoff and Spearman recovered on the Broncho 30 yard line. From there the Lynx drove for their second touchdown with Willard Garnett going over from the two yard line. This time Sam Cornelius went over for the extra points and the Lynx were ahead, 14 to 0. The Bronchos took the kickoff and with Dewey Wilson, Wayne Mann and Jim Robinson doing the damage, marched down to the Spearman ten-yard line before time ran out in the first half. Mann made the longest run of the night in this drive, a beautiful 35 yard left end run which put the Bronchos deep into Spearman territory.

The Bronchos outplayed their heavier opponents during the second half. Late in the third quarter they started a drive on their own 34 yard line which ended in their only score which came early in the fourth period. The last 17 yards were covered or a pass play, McAnear to Hermes-meyer, for the score. Robinson punched over the extra points which ended the scoring for the night. Following the touchdown, the Bronchos executed a beautiful on-side kick. Philip Abel, kicking off for Clarendon, kicked the ball only about 12 yards and the Bronchos recovered giving them the ball on the Spearman 48 yard line. They marched to the Spearman four-yard line before being stopped. The feature play of this drive was a quarterback-keeper play by McAnear in which the freshman field general faked the ball to his fullback; then hid the ball behind his back and ran left end for 20 yards. Following this drive, Spearman took the ball and marched out to their own 30 yard line where their quarterback threw a long pass that was intercepted by Wilson on the Lynx 46. The Bronchos put on another drive but could not go over.

The statistics of the game were in Spearman's favor due to their almost complete domination of the first half. Spearman made 212 yards rushing to 145 for Clarendon. The Lynx completed three of five passes for 45 yards and the Bronchos completed four of nine for 36 yards. Spearman also led in first downs, 17 to 13. Defensive standouts for the Bronchos were Abel, Hermes-meyer, Jerry Gray, Lynn Spier, Dennis Bradshaw, Charles Percival, Wilson, Robinson and Mann.

New Telephone Numbers Become Effective Sept. 20

All new telephone numbers become effective in Clarendon at 1:01 a.m. September 20 with the conversion of Clarendon to dial operation.

"That means that with the conversion, subscribers should discard their old directories and begin using the new ones they received recently in the mail," said Roy Brewer of Memphis, District Manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

All new Clarendon numbers begin with TR for the prefix Triangle and have five digits. Brewer listed the following information with the reminder that it can all be found in the front "Instructions" section of your new directory:

Fire TR 4-2131
Sheriff TR 4-2233

To reach the nearest FBI agent, dial "Operator."

When making emergency calls, it is important to stay on the line until you are sure that someone understands the address where help is needed, emphasized Brewer.

The following is a list of telephone service calls:
For Long Distance, Dial Operator.

To report a telephone out of order, dial "Operator."

To obtain assistance in securing a desired connection, dial "Operator."

For information relative to bills, moving a telephone, etc., dial TR 4-3556.

To call another party on your line, dial "Operator" and ask for instructions.

Brewer also explained the operation of pay phones. Dial your desired number, and when the called party answers, deposit a coin promptly to clear the line for talking. Do not drop the coin until you hear the voice at the called number answer. On long distance calls, do not deposit the money until the operator tells you to do so.

Only one mail pouch was ever lost by the Pony Express.

LONE STAR AGRICULTURE

Texas Dept. of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner NEEDED: PUBLIC RELATIONS IN AGRICULTURE

Agriculture's greatest need today is understanding.

This means understanding among those directly engaged in farming and ranching; understanding by those who provide services and materials to the farms and ranches; understanding by those who transport, process and distribute the plant and animal products coming from farms and ranches; and above all, understanding among the great majority of our people who live in towns and cities and who are the principal consumers of the products of our agricultural industries.

Those of us engaged in agricultural endeavors have tended to take for granted that people generally and naturally understand their basic dependence on agriculture for food, feed and fiber. In recent years we have been rudely awakened, in cotton, for instance, by the advent of synthetics.

American agriculture is thus being forced to become public relations conscious. We now must seek consumer acceptance not only of our products, but of our services, of our policies and of our true place in the total economy of the nation and the world.

Here are several avenues of attack on public relations for agriculture:

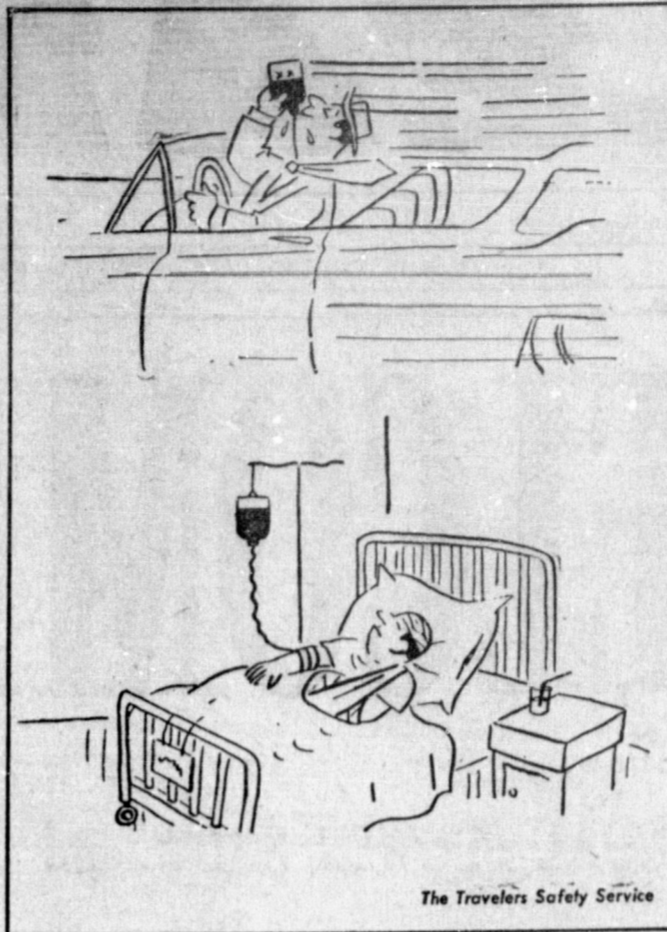

1. Corrections of the misconceptions the average urbanite has about us; especially let them understand their foods, feeds and fibers are not expensive, and producers, processors and distributors are not and will not be "rolling in wealth" at the expense of food consumers.

2. Seek to reverse the rising trend of "going to Washington" for funds or legislation on state and local agricultural problems, in the belief that it costs us less. We positively must accept more responsibility at state and local levels.

3. Clearing up the confusion between politically designed and directed policies relating to the

A drink at the wheel makes an expensive cocktail.

We must tell the great story of modern agriculture again and again to the general public. It's dynamic and it's basic. Everybody benefits.

We need to mobilize all of our resources promptly back of an effective public relations program.

"farm problem" on the one hand and the necessity for even stronger programs of research and education in agriculture.

4. Modern and future agriculture may merit a new tag — one that may overcome the popular concept that agriculture and farming are synonymous.

GIVE ANSWERS ON POULTRY BUYING

College Station — When it comes to buying chicken, housewives are very color conscious. Skin color of broilers was either the first or second consideration of nearly half the supermarket shoppers interviewed in a study conducted in Houston by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. A yellow-colored bird was preferred by about the same number of shoppers as a light colored one.

In order of importance, the factors looked for in selecting chickens were: skin color, plumpness, weight, freshness, cleanliness and brand name, says H. V. Courtenay, assistant professor, Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A & M College System.

When buying fresh chicken, only five percent of the shoppers considered brand name. More attention was paid to brand on cut-up pre-packaged chicken. When buying frozen chicken, brand name was important to 3 out of 10 shoppers because the chicken was packaged and could not be seen.

Courtenay notes that two-thirds of the shoppers interviewed buy chicken about once a week. One in six buys oftener than this and only one in five buys monthly or less frequently.

The survey showed that low-income shoppers, as well as Negro and Latin-American families, buy more frequently than other shoppers because of limited refrigerator space and the economy of poultry meat prices. Courtenay adds that high income shoppers are more particular about plumpness in chicken, and can afford to buy more at a time, and they store it longer.

According to the survey, half the shoppers that had recently bought frozen chicken said they were dissatisfied with it. The main complaint was that it was flavorless. This could probably be eliminated if stores would not keep their stock of frozen chicken more than one or two months before sale. According to consumer panel taste tests, meat flavor decreases noticeably after 90 days.

Courtenay adds that a recent survey among Dallas housewives indicates that broilers cut-up into 10 or 13 pieces are preferred by many shoppers over the more common retail store method of cutting for only 6 pieces.

For a copy of the publication which contains detailed results of the survey, write the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. Ask for MP-348.

AUSTIN — People who have been writing Gov. Price Daniel in the past few weeks say "no more taxes, please."

In mid-August the governor announced he would call a special session to raise money for higher teacher pay only if the people demanded it. He said he also wanted to find out how legislators felt after they had had a chance to be home a while and talk with the folks in their districts.

cial session to raise money for higher teacher pay only if the people demanded it. He said he also wanted to find out how legislators felt after they had had a chance to be home a while and talk with the folks in their districts.

In the weeks that have transpired, there has been a heavy volume of mail running strongly against the special session idea. Lawmakers also are taking a dim view of being called for a fifth round of money hunting.

Whether this means that prospects for a teacher pay session are out remains to be seen. It could mean only that the teachers, their families, friends and other school-minded people have been too busy with "back to school" work to get their letters off to the governor.

On the other hand, it could mean that the people are getting tired of taxes, and spiraling wage scales.

PINCH ALREADY FELT — Perhaps the reason many Texans weren't eager to have another tax session was that they were beginning to feel the bite of new taxes already passed this year.

State Treasurer Jesse James' report shows that many stocked up on cigarettes and liquor during August, before higher taxes on these items became effective in September.

Sale of liquor and cigarette tax stamps soared to $5,227,642 in August. This is $1,093,496 higher than sales for August, 1958.

No statistics are available for the pre-tax selling of items which got hit for the first time. But heavy advertising campaigns indicated that merchants hoped buyers would clear their stores during August of such items as air conditioners in order to avoid the 3 per cent sales tax.

GOVERNOR DEFENDS VETO — Governor Daniel's office has suggested that the State Hospital Board raise its $1,200,000 emergency fund to eliminate any fire hazard to the 800 oldsters housed in the Confederate Home in Austin.

Governor Daniel vetoed a legislative appropriation to build new quarters for these patients. His action brought some reactions of surprise and criticism.

State Hospital system's safety officer was quoted as labeling the 50-year-old frame buildings as "definite fire hazards."

A spokesman for the governor retorted that the appropriation the governor scratched would not have emptied the Confederate Home. He said it would have provided quarters for only about 300.

He suggested the State Hospital Board use its emergency funds to re-double safety precautions for the old folks.

LONG TIME, NO PAY — Legislative employees will have to wait until Nov. 4 to get their next pay check.

In its last special session the Legislature approved a $330,000 fund transfer for these between-sessions expenses by voice vote. But all bills not passed by a two-thirds record vote cannot take effect until 90 days after the session ends. Hence, the November date for this action.

Legislature also appropriated $1,000,000 for legislative expenses, but this was vetoed by the governor. He said he felt they could get along on the $330,000.

Arrangements were being made for some 20 House and Senate employees, who've missed two pay days now, to get low interest loans from loan companies.

ATTENTION, ALL BOAT OWNERS — State Highway Department has announced that registration and licensing of boats under the new water safety act will begin next month.

Boat owners will have until March 1, 1960, to get their certificates and identification numbers.

Forms now are being printed and will be distributed to boat dealers, county offices, Highway Department Offices and other public offices.

Cost of the licenses will vary with the size of the craft. Here is the scale: Boats under 16 feet in length, $1; 16 to 26 feet, $5; 26 to 40 feet, $10; 40 feet or more, $12.50.

Boats, regardless of length, if equipped with a 10 hp motor or less, will be exempt from the tax as well as the numbering provision of the law.

The Highway Department will deal only with the registration phase of the new law and not with safety enforcement.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS — Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center has been appointed chairman of the Senate General Investigating Committee.

Others named to the committee by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey are Sens. A. M. Aiken Jr. of Paris (reappointed), Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and R. A. Weinert of Seguin.

This committee succeeds a panel headed by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin which collected reams of material on the ICT Insurance Company, the state insurance liquidation division and tax collecting procedures in the state comptroller's office.

COST OF CITIFYING — In the past ten years Texas prison population has rocketed from 5,000 to 11,000.

Some might wonder if the state is reverting to the lawless ways of the Old West. Not so, according to O. B. Ellis, general manager of the Department of Corrections. Seemingly, it's "progress" — or at least a parting with old ways — that's causing the trouble.

In citing what he feels are the reasons more Texans are getting behind bars, Ellis put "urban movement" at the top of the list. "A good old country boys moves to the city," Ellis explained, "has a 40-hour work week and doesn't know how to use his time."

Ellis also blamed no jobs for youngsters and misplaced values — "too much emphasis on the big home, the big auto."

First American troops to land in Cuba during the Spanish-American War were U. S. Marines who established a beachhead at Guantanamo Bay in June, 1898.

Army civilian space electronics engineer Andrew Herchakowski holds two rings of solar converters (sun batteries) in the approximate position they will occupy on Army-launched satellites. The rings, powering the satellite's instruments and radios with a full five watts, were developed by Herchakowski and George Hunrath of the Army's Signal Corps research and development laboratories, Fort Monmouth, N. J.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS — Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center has been appointed chairman of the Senate General Investigating Committee.

Others named to the committee by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey are Sens. A. M. Aiken Jr. of Paris (reappointed), Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and R. A. Weinert of Seguin.

This committee succeeds a panel headed by Sen. Charles Herring of Austin which collected reams of material on the ICT Insurance Company, the state insurance liquidation division and tax collecting procedures in the state comptroller's office.

COST OF CITIFYING — In the past ten years Texas prison population has rocketed from 5,000 to 11,000.

Some might wonder if the state is reverting to the lawless ways of the Old West. Not so, according to O. B. Ellis, general manager of the Department of Corrections. Seemingly, it's "progress" — or at least a parting with old ways — that's causing the trouble.

In citing what he feels are the reasons more Texans are getting behind bars, Ellis put "urban movement" at the top of the list. "A good old country boys moves to the city," Ellis explained, "has a 40-hour work week and doesn't know how to use his time."

Ellis also blamed no jobs for youngsters and misplaced values — "too much emphasis on the big home, the big auto."

First American troops to land in Cuba during the Spanish-American War were U. S. Marines who established a beachhead at Guantanamo Bay in June, 1898.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

The Younger Generation takes the spotlight right now as the opening of another school term rolls around. Parents may be wringing their hands in despair over the many problems of getting Junior ready for school, but their hearts are bursting with a mixture of pride and hope as they look forward to the new year.

The children may outwardly seem to dread the sudden change but mostly they, too, are thrilled with the prospects of new things to learn, new experiences in a higher grade, and the thrill of seeing old friends again and of making new ones. While it is passing we doubt that any stage of life holds the degree of importance as that of our School Days.

Anyway you look at it the younger generation becomes the most important thing in our life, and in our world. They are our fondest memories of the past, the source of our pride in the present, and our only hope for the future.

About the worst thing wrong about the younger generation is the fact that we don't belong to it anymore.

It has been wisely said that if you want to stay young in your thinking spend a lot of time with young people. Also, that if you want to be old before your time try staying up with them for a while. Once we get to thinking about how important children are in each of our own lives, we can understand more fully what the Greatest of all Teachers meant when He said: "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Probably about the least profitable thing in the world is an argument. . . Not only does it cost us valuable time, but if we should by chance win the argument we would likely lose a friend in the transaction.

But some folks just like to argue; they will argue about anything that comes along. For instance, take religion; folks will argue about, write about, fight over it, even some die for it, and it is almost impossible to get anyone to live by it.

On top of that most arguments are sound; that's right, just sound and nothing else.

We have heard it said that of all things we should never argue with a fool because the folks that are listening in may not be able to tell which one we are.

Arguing is poor business. I doubt if anyone ever won out in the long run. . . The Bible puts it this way; "But foolish and unlearned question avoid; knowing that they do generate strife."

Then James Russell Lowell put it this way; "There is no use arguing with the inevitable. The only argument that will avail against an East wind is to put on your overcoat."

Speaking of arguing: We can be so dogmatic in our stand for the right that we are wrong. Someone has put it this way, we can stand so straight that we bend over backwards.

The best argument is to quietly stand on strong convictions.

If we cannot break ourselves of our bad habits, then likely before we realize it our bad habits will break us. In the early stages of our life we think that it will make us look more grown-up if we will take on some of their bad habits. Later on we think that we seem a bit more like one of the fellows if we do as the others do. Then in even the later ages or stages of life we often think that it makes us look younger and be younger if we latch on to a few bad habits. It all adds up to the fact that at any age outside temptation and personal desire sort of gang up on us to make yielding to bad habits a very easy thing to do.

Habit is like a soft bed, easy to get into but hard to get out of.

A few drinks makes one see double and think single.

Mistakes are not haystacks, if they were we would all have fat horses.

Speaking of habits, my wife's grandmother used to say; "A whistling woman and a crowing hen, will always come to some bad end."

It's not that we get worse in our behavior as we grow old, it's just that we get to acting more like what we really are.

We don't get habits, habits get us.

How Dial Telephone Gets Your Number

Have you ever wondered how a telephone call gets through to the person you are calling, without the help of a switchboard operator?

Many people have, so R. L. Brewer of Memphis, district manager of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, was asked to explain just what happens. "The most important element in the automatic switching of a telephone call," Brewer said, "is the selector switch." Basically this switch consists of the following:

First there is a vertical shaft carrying a set of connecting 'fingers' known as 'wipers'. Second, a 'contact bank' of 100 sets of metal contacts stacked in 10 rows or arcs, each having 10 sets of contacts. Each set of contacts represents the terminals of one line or trunk.

Third, there is an electromechanical device that raises the shaft vertically any number of steps from one to 10, and then rotates the shaft horizontally any number of steps from one to 10, thus causing the wipers to connect to one particular set of contacts in the bank.

Finally, there is a release mechanism by which the shaft may be permitted to drop back to its original position.

Brewer then went on to point out that this basic selector mechanism can be set up to perform any one of the following functions:

As a Linefinder: In this case the bank contacts are the terminals of subscribers' lines, and the switch operates automatically when the calling subscriber lifts his handset to make a call. The shaft and wipers lift and rotate until the wipers come to rest on the terminals of the calling line. This action takes place in a fraction of a second — before the subscriber has a chance to operate his dial.

As a Selector: In this case, the vertical motion is controlled by the dial at the calling station, and the rotary motion, which is completely automatic, serves to select an idle trunk to the group of lines represented by the particular figure dialed.

As a Connector: This switch is the last in the train of switches used in setting up a connection, and both vertical and rotary motions are controlled by operation of the dial. After the connector reaches the terminals of the called line, it tests that line for busy condition. If the called line is busy, the switch returns "busy tone" to the calling station. If the line is idle, the switch sends out a ringing signal, and when the called station answers the two stations are connected for conversation.

When receivers or handsets are placed back on the hook after a conversation, the shafts and wipers of all the switches in the train drop back to their original positions, and the same switches are then available to other subscribers.

Brewer explained step by step just how a telephone call actually is switched.

Assume you are calling The Donley County Leader whose new number under the automatic system will be TRiangle 4-2043. The TR-4 part constitutes what is known as the nationwide inter-toll dial code for the exchange and the distant operator, in Seattle, Washington, for example, dials this as part of the process of obtaining the subscriber in Clarendon.

When you pick up your receiver to make a local call, instead of an operator saying "number please," the linefinder switch locates the terminals of your own telephone, connects you with a selector switch, and you hear a dial tone.

Then you proceed by dialing the letters T and R followed by the five numerals composing the rest of the number — 4-2043, if the number is busy you will hear a buzzing sound at intervals which indicates you should hang up and dial again in a few minutes.

GEORGE'S WIFE

By "Sarah"

With fall in the air and school just starting our thoughts turn toward the classrooms of our schools. We read of happenings in far off New York, of Mr. North Callahan asking Mrs. John L. Howell about her reading class there. She says the average child can't read because he finds nothing in his home interesting or wholesome enough to inspire him to like reading. All too often his domestic reading fare is the title on a TV screen or the wording on his parents beer cans. Then he is hustled off to school with little or no food in his stomach. More food for thought and tummy would help greatly says Mrs. Howell.

School Supt. Charles Whittington of Bushland asks, after seeing Dr. Gallop interviewed on TV recently about no provision being made for a single book in new homes being built, if we are entering a new era, where TV will replace reading altogether? We don't think so around here any way. In this paper our librarian said at the beginning of summer, that some of the grade school teachers were paying library fee for a three months period for their students. We checked and were told about 50 per cent took advantage of that privilege. That's real good. George says it's a good thing we have TV this time of year, otherwise he would be more illiterate than he is already.

SOIL FERTILITY NEEDED FOR TOP CROP YIELDS

College Station — You wouldn't run your automobile until it is out of gas, says Dr. W. F. Bennett, extension soil chemist, so why keep cropping your land until the plant food runs out? To maintain profitable yields, he adds, additional fertilizer should be applied to cropland before the plant food gives out completely.

To know exactly where your land stands in regard to the amount of plant food available, take soil samples and send them to the state soil testing laboratory at College Station for analysis, he recommends.

Soil samples should be sent to the lab several weeks before planting season so the lab will have sufficient time to test them.

Among the crops generally planted in the fall are alfalfa, early small grains, clovers and other legumes. Many of the soils on which these crops will be grown will need lime, and if this is the case, the lime should be applied before planting, making a soil test now doubly important.

Soil testing is a tool you can use on your farm to help determine the level of fertility in your soil and how much fertilizer you need to add for most profitable production.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

ONE FORM OF ETERNALISM

Last week the House of Representatives, over my vigorous protest, passed a bill requiring the Secretary of Commerce to prescribe safety devices to be placed on all government - purchased passenger vehicles. This legislation was widely advertised as a "Safety Bill". I am sure many people were misled by this questionable title and did not fully realize the serious import of the measure. There has been great alarm, and properly so, in this country over the fact that 40 thousand people lose their lives on our highways each year, many people receive injuries and much property is destroyed. However, this most grave problem is not going to be settled by the passage of a bill which could very well be the forerunner of complete government control as to the design of an automobile — both body structure and motor capacity — and required accessories and devices. The bill which passed applied only to government-purchased vehicles, but it was openly admitted in the debate that it was intended as the opening wedge to subsequently include all automobiles under the supervision of the Secretary of Commerce. Those of us who have wrestled with this problem for the past several years are well aware that unsuccessful attempts have been made in the past to obtain the passage of legislation subjecting all automobiles, government and otherwise, to requirements set up by a Board or Bureau here in Washington. When these attempts failed, the proponents of that theory simply changed their approach and decided to obtain passage of a bill applying only to government automobiles. This would enable them to get their foot in the door so the law could be expanded later to include all cars.

The reason more deaths have not occurred on the highways and more accidents and more loss of property, is because the automobile manufacturers have constantly maintained a research program seeking and developing safety measures and devices for passenger cars. It was private enterprise that developed door locks which prevented the door from flying open on impact, deep dish steering wheels to lessen injuries to a driver in the event of collision, padded cowling and dashboards to soften the blow to the passenger in case of accidents, to name a few. The engineering of the automobile, itself, has been the result of wide research in the safety field to make a safer car for the people to travel in. This is a subject on which many reams could be written. Had it not been for the great advancements made by the automobile industry in these areas, the death toll on our highways may very well have been doubled or tripled. As the matter now stands, only a very small percentage of the accidents are caused by defects in the machine or the highways. The overwhelming percentage of accidents is the result of human error. Until these are corrected, we can expect to continue to have accidents and the resultant tragedies therefrom. These human errors can only be corrected by proper education, proper observation of the traffic laws, uniformity in the traffic laws of the states, and by courtesy on the part of vehicle drivers. The death toll and the incidental losses cannot be cured by putting the automobile manufacturers under the edicts of bureaucrats in Washington. To follow such a policy would be an imposition on the American taxpayer and could cause serious damage to the economy. It is estimated that if all government cars were required to be equipped with substantially all the devices contemplated, regardless of where the car was to be used, the additional cost would average in the vicinity of 7 hundred dollars each. Since the government maintains a fleet of passenger automobiles of approximately 225 thousand, you can see how much more it would cost to require heaters and snow tires to be placed on cars operated in Miami, Florida, while cars in Alaska could be required to have not only the heater and the tires, but also an air conditioning system. If the bureaucrat decided that everyone should have a seat belt, whether he wanted it or not, all government cars would be so equipped. One fellow observed that he didn't like seat belts because they were too uncomfortable to sit on. It might also be added that an electronic device to dim the lights of other cars would be installed on all government cars even though many are never used at night. In other words, it would be open season for the gadgeteers to sell the American taxpayer a lot of gimmicks.

PLANNED HUMBLE BUILDING IN HOUSTON — This model shows Humble Oil & Refinery Company's proposed 44-story office building to be located in downtown Houston. Morgan J. Davis, president of Humble, said the building will enable the company to bring its 5300 home office employees together in one central location. Present plans call for a building with approximately a million square feet of usable space. Initially, Humble expects to use more than half of the building for its offices and to sub-let the remaining space to other tenants.

Economically, it could mean the beginning of a greater demand for foreign cars, not manufactured in this country. There has been considerable alarm about the tremendous increase in the imports of these foreign-made cars. Automobiles in this country are already too high priced, and to add more to that price would be an invitation for people to start buying the cheaper foreign-made models.

One member was heard to observe that the next thing we know, rural mail carriers will be driving foreign-made cars, and some bureaucrat in Washington will require all of the farmers to shorten the posts supporting their mailboxes so the mail carriers will not have too much difficulty in delivering the letters from their low-slung automobiles.

ELECTRONICS GET INTO AGRICULTURE

College Station — Farmers hold of electronic agriculture, may be standing on the thresh- thinks Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist. Don't look for electronics to take over the plowing and milking just yet, the specialist explains, but it might perform an even more vexing chore — the complicated brainwork necessary in modern agriculture.

"Electronic computers, through a technique called 'linear programming', can give a more precise and accurate answer to many farm management problems than the most experienced farmer in the country," he says. "A typical farmer must choose between many crop and livestock combinations. When all the possible variations between crops and livestock are considered, with the mass of different management practices, there are thousands of possible combinations," Parker adds. "Yet only one of these thousands of combinations will bring the highest net profit."

Since it might take months—or even years with ordinary pencil methods — to compute the point of highest profit, farmers have been navigating by sight instead of by instruments, so to speak. Now, says Parker, we can feed our problem into an electronic computer which makes 4000 multiplications a second. Almost instantly, the machine spells out the exact crop acreages, the number and type of livestock and the management practices that will give the one highest possible profit.

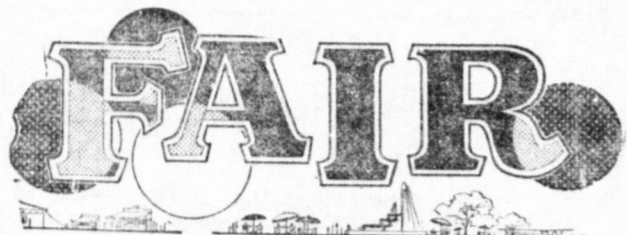

As yet we don't know how this linear programming technique can be brought into practical use for the individual farmer, but the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is now using the A & M College computer for family sized farm result demonstrations and we think farmers will actually be using electronic computers in management decisions in the not-too-distant future, said the specialist.

Don't go shopping for one of these electronic wizards, Parker adds, as they cost about $2 mil-

Radio in the Wheat Fields . . .

Golden grain funneling from two combines at once into one of custom combiner Earl Estill's radio-dispatched grain trucks symbolizes the modern efficiency of today's mighty mechanical assault that reaps the wheat of mid-America.

Modern wheat harvesting has come a long way from the days of the big threshing crews and horse-drawn harvest wagons. Today big combines, fast hauling grain trucks and huge storage elevators reap the harvest of America's grain belt in record time.

And during this summer's wheat harvest another modern innovation speeded the harvest for one custom wheat combiner with even more efficiency.

That innovation was the use of a two-way radio communications system.

Custom combiner Earl Estill of Carrier, Okla., who has been cutting wheat by contract for 15 years across the Great Plains, is one of the first combining outfits to use radio to speed the harvest.

He has two-way radios in his pickup, his two grain trucks, one of his three Gleaner-Baldwin combines built by Allis-Chalmers and in the house trailer from which his 18-year-old daughter, Judy, prepared all the meals for the hungry harvesters.

His radios are 100-watt transistors set up on 43-10 megacycles with a 40-mile range. They are licensed by the Federal Communications Commission on an industrial band.

The progressive Oklahoman feels his two grain trucks with radios can do as much work as three without radios. The major purpose of the communication system is to dispatch trucks to waiting grain elevators and return, find out if the elevators are full and what the moisture content of the wheat is when it arrives at the elevator.

Another important role, says Estill, is to "tell Judy where cutting through South Dakota. Sometimes Estill's crew has gone through Montana almost to the Canadian border.

Through all these states this summer radio speeded the harvest for this wheat harvester and it could mean that someday soon most of the wheat of mid-America will be cut by radio instructions.

"Blue to red. Take your next load to the elevator," says custom combiner Earl Estill as he gives one of his truck drivers hauling instructions over the two-way radio system installed on all his grain trucks, his house trailer and pickup.

"White to blue, where shall I bring dinner, Daddy?" asks Judy Estill from the house trailer that serves as the "cook shack" for Earl Estill's custom combining crew. An immediate reply over Estill's two-way radio system will tell Judy the location of her "Daddy's" harvest operations.

These nine big silver combines—aided by a two-way radio system tied into the lead Gleaner-Baldwin combine, the grain hauling trucks, the "cook's" trailer and information dispatching pickup trucks—worked with precision efficiency as they moved in tandem formation across vast wheat fields in southwestern Kansas this summer.

Long Distance Calls To Be Handled By Memphis Operators

After conversion to dial, all long distance calls from Clarendon will be handled by the operators in Memphis, according to Mills Roberts, Northern Division Manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

He explained that when Clarendon has dial operated telephones it will be uneconomical to keep a switchboard here to handle only the 250 long distance calls which are placed each day. Under the manual type operation the operators handled 7500 local calls as well as the long distance calls, but now the equipment will make all local connections automatically.

The dial equipment will also automatically flash a light on the switchboard in Memphis when a subscriber dials "Operator" for long distance, Roberts continued. The Memphis operator will then handle your call in the usual manner.

He pointed out the fact that although the switchboard was being closed here as of midnight Saturday, all of the operators will not be without jobs. They have known for some time, he said, that we were converting to the dial type of operation and each operation was given the opportunity of transferring to an exchange where a vacancy existed. Two of the operators, Ruth Kay and Chief Operator, Andra Allred, are transferring to Seymour, Roberts stated, and Eulanda Goad is moving to Ralls. The girls who did not wish to transfer will be given termination pay based on net accredited services with the company. We sincerely believe that this changeover to dial will furnish the people at Clarendon with a much faster and more economical telephone system than they have had in the past, Roberts concluded.

"Frustration and Desperation"

A brief article in the July 20 issue of Time magazine gives an insight into public feeling about the tax problem.

The president of the board of trustees of a mid-Western suburban town says: "There's a feeling of frustration and desperation among the taxpayers I meet . . ."

The president of the Massachusetts state senate says: ". . . all I hear is 'cut that budget!'"

A member of the Illinois legislature says: "Even parents of schoolchildren come to me and say, 'No more tax increases, please, not even for schools!'"

The mayor of San Francisco says: "It used to be a simple matter for a petitioner to get people to sign a petition for a new park. Today, I don't get these petitions any more."

The Los Angeles, California, Times urged its readers to write their Congressmen and protest against inflationary federal spending. More than 30,000 did just that.

The people are sick of the ever-increasing tax load, and of the governmental waste and non-essential spending — national, state and local — which is its cause.
