Veterans News

Q-I returned from Vietnam recently, and was separated from active duty after serving 21 months. As I plan to apply to the VA for educational assistance to attend college, could you tell me how many months of entitlement I will have?

A-You will have 20 calendar months of entitlement. Any veteran with an other than discharge-able discharge who has served at least 18 months on active duty is entitled to the maximum entitlement.

Q-I am a World War II veteran with service-connected 20 per cent disability. The VA doctor who examined me recently said I must be hospitalized for this condition for about six weeks. I have no disability income insurance, and my employer does not have a sick plan. What can I do to provide for my family while I am hospitalized?

A-Any veteran who is hospitalized by VA for a service-connected condition for 21 days or more is automatically rated 100 per cent disabled, and you should make sure that record of your earnings and birth certificates for your children are in your VA records.

Q-I am a World War II veteran, and a widower. I am planning my insurance estate, and have heard that some type of death pension is payable by the VA to my children which I die. Does this pension depend on the child's income?

A-Yes, it does. It is the type of your death you have a minor child or one who has not yet attained age 23 and is attending school, the child must possibly be entitled to death pension benefits if income limitations are not exceeded. You should arrange for some responsible adult relative to contact the VA after your death.

NOTICE OF HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION

The Texas Highway Department is planning to proceed with the development of the proposed highway construction on F. M. Road 1260, extending from the end of F.M. Road 1260, 5.0 miles North of U. S. Highway 287 — East and North, in Donley County.

Since the Administration of the Highway Department has approved the route and design proposed for development of this project, work will begin on the next phase of engineering necessary for the development of this project.

The proposed design will provide a 20-foot roadway surface and a 28-foot crown width, with a 26-foot roadway width bridge on the Salt Fork of the Red River. The right of way width on the proposed project will be a minimum of 100 feet. There will be no displaced persons or businesses required by this project.

Maps, drawings showing geometric design, and all other available data concerning the development of this project may be inspected at the Resident Engineer's office at Clarendon, Texas. (25-c)

AG OPINIONS — Person who faces drivers license suspension as a result of refusing to submit to chemical breath analysis is entitled to have his hearing in the county of his residence, Attorney General Martin says. Martin held that county attorneys can, but don't have to, request the state in such proceedings.

In other new opinions, Martin ruled that

Special option purchase agreement between the State Department of Agriculture and International Business Machines Corporation on data-processing equipment is constitutional, since there is no obligation to spend money beyond revenues available at the time the debt is due.

Legislature left to Commissioners Court determination as to whether office space should be furnished by the county for its home demonstration agent and county farm agent. In the absence of contractual obligation, says the AG, the office isn't required to provide offices but has authorization to do so.

Sixteen of the 175 known water users on the Rio Grande from Amistad Dam to Falcon Reservoir have failed to file their water claims by the adjudication date and thus become first to have their water rights adjudicated.

Most observers think motorists are in for another increase in their premiums after the main August 17 rate hearing, regardless of whether the Board determines that investments should be figured in the base.

Study committee, headed by former Gov. Price Daniel, noted that North Carolina rates appear to be consistently low, although it also has mandatory liability coverage, Massachusetts and New York, other mandatory auto liability insurance states, have higher rates.

Committee recommended that the Legislature look into ways to stop "excessive charges being made on repairs of insured automobiles" which, in turn, lead to escalating rates year after year.

Insurance industry is expected to ask new increases as high as 15 to 20 per cent at the August hearing.

Smith may ask Daniel's committee to examine the Board's final recommendation, as they did in 1969 (when rate adjustment was 9.9 per cent upward instead of 11.4 as originally recommended by the Board). However, the majority of the committee is cool toward going into more extended hearings like those required by their study last year.

CAPITOL ADDITION ASKED — An important part of state government may be going underground if a Building Commission proposal is approved.

Commission, in new budget requests, laid out plan for a 45,000 square-foot, $2.5 million underground addition to the capitol building, providing office space for legislators. Enlargement would be in a natural depression to the west of the present historic structure.

Commission also proposed these new projects:

$1.26 million on revamping of the North approaches to the capitol.

$5 million parking facility for 320 cars.

$215,000 renovation of the old Highway building for use by the Parks and Wildlife Department.

When Highway Department's new headquarters is completed,

$200,000 face-lifting of old Parks and Wildlife offices in the virtually new John Reagan State Office Building — for use by the Welfare Department when P&W moves.

AG OPINIONS — Person who faces drivers license suspension as a result of refusing to submit to chemical breath analysis is entitled to have his hearing in the county of his residence, Attorney General Martin says. Martin held that county attorneys can, but don't have to, request the state in such proceedings.

Most of us need a few lessons in how to read the handwriting on the wall.

The politicians share the wealth plans mean in the long run that the average person winds up sharing the poverty.

The trouble of being a leader these days is that it is hard to tell who is following you and who is chasing you.

Part of the people are worrying because things won't get back to normal. The rest are fussing because it already has.

The thing that worries most employers is the number of unemployed people still on the payroll.

A good example of minority rule these days is when there is a baby in the house. This is also true when a grandchild is present. We love to spoil them.

AUSTIN, Texas — A blue-ribbon insurance study committee has recommended exploring Texas' compulsory auto liability coverage and a careful look at allegations that garages charge more for policy covered repairs.

Report went to Gov. Preston Smith prior to the State Insurance Board hearing July 14-15 on inclusion of insurance company investment income in the auto rate-making formula.

Smith indicated that the Board may not be ready this soon to evaluate the full effect of the formula change which also is backed by the study committee he named last summer after an auto policy rate hike was recommended.

Most observers think motorists are in for another increase in their premiums after the main August 17 rate hearing, regardless of whether the Board determines that investments should be figured in the base.

Smith may ask Daniel's committee to examine the Board's final recommendation, as they did in 1969 (when rate adjust-

CAPITOL ADDITION ASKED — An important part of state government may be going underground if a Building Commission proposal is approved.

Commission, in new budget requests, laid out plan for a 45,000 square-foot, $2.5 million underground addition to the capitol building, providing office space for legislators. Enlargement would be in a natural depression to the west of the present historic structure.

Commission also proposed these new projects:

$1.26 million on revamping of the North approaches to the capitol.

$5 million parking facility for 320 cars.

$215,000 renovation of the old Highway building for use by the Parks and Wildlife Department.

When Highway Department's new headquarters is completed,

$200,000 face-lifting of old Parks and Wildlife offices in the virtually new John Reagan State Office Building — for use by the Welfare Department when P&W moves.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q—I just got my refund. Does that mean my return was OK?

A—The fact that you have your refund means your return contained all the information required to process it. Later, you may be asked to verify the accuracy of an item on your return, but it is not IRS policy to hold up refunds until a decision on whether to examine a return is made.

As a rule, tax may be assessed anytime within three years from the date the return was due to be filed. For this reason, keep your records on your 1969 tax return for at least three years.

Records on stock purchases, property acquisition and the like should be kept longer.

Q—Shouldn't my employer reduce my withholding now that I've had my 65th birthday?

A—You are entitled to an extra exemption for age which will reduce your tax withholding. To make this change, fill out a new withholding certificate, Form W-4, and give it to your employer.

Even though you became 65 after the start of the tax year, you are entitled to the entire amount of the exemption allowed for age on your next tax return. Exemptions are not prorated.

Q—Will profits from a sale of stock be taxed higher this year under the new law?

A—The alternative capital gains tax has been increased. However, up to $50,000 ($25,000 for a married person filing a separate return), capital gains will be taxed at the same 25 percent alternative rate as they have in the past. Gains over $50,000 will be taxed at a 28½ percent rate for 1970. In 1971, the alterna-

Bagworms Are Now A Problem In Area

Bagworms, damaging insect pests of evergreens and occasionally of broadleaf plants, are beginning to make their appearance.

Evergreens should be closely examined, advises County Agent Ronald Gooch, and if newly hatched bagworms are found, control measures should be applied.

The worms immediately spin a bag of silk around themselves and attach bits of foliage to the outside of the bag as they feed. The larvae carry these bags wherever they go only the front part of their bodies protruding for feeding movement. The bags enlarge as the bagworms grow. A heavy infestation, warns the county agent, can completely strip the plant of its foliage. When this happens, the plant can be lost.

The effective "camouflage" presented by the bags makes the insects hard to detect and damage may be extensive before they are noticed. They are much easier to control while they are still young.

If bagworms were present on a particular plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good, says Gooch, that an application of insecticide will soon be needed.

For the spray applicator, malathion, Sevin, toxaphene or lead arsenate insecticides are effective. These chemicals are available from feed and seed stores, nurseries and garden supply stores under several trade names.

Details on bagworm control are available from the county agent's office, Gooch said.

Insecticides Control Livestock Horn Flies

Horn flies are a continuous problem on beef animals in Donley County during the warm months; says County Agent Ronald Gooch. These blood-sucking parasites frequently develop large populations in county beef herds, he advises. In addition to the direct damage through blood losses, horn flies cause tremendous annoyance and irritation to animals. The constant attempts to fight the flies is a continuing drain on the animals' energy and nutrition, and the cattle may be unable to graze normally. Days and weeks of such attack results in immeasurable losses by the animals, Gooch points out.

Horn flies are easily controlled with modern livestock insecticides, Gooch says. Numerous insecticides and methods of treatment are effective and the producer has a wide range of choices to fit his individual operation. Gooch invites all producers to call or drop by his office where a complete listing of horn fly control recommendations can be obtained.

Before purchasing and applying livestock insecticides, carefully read the label and pay particular attention to precautions and restrictions listed. Observe strictly the slaughter intervals as clearly stated on the label.

IS DEFERRMENT NEEDED AFTER BRUSH CONTROL

Many times ranchers have asked why it is necessary to defer a pasture from grazing following brush control. Others have felt that their grass was good enough that they didn't need to defer it and that they would not benefit from deferring. The answer to this problem is not a question of the condition of the grass, but rather how deferring a pasture during the growing season will help make the grass better and the range more productive.

In determining the benefits of deferring following brush control it is essential that ranchers understand how grasses manufacture food and how grasses react under grazing pressures.

All varieties of grass manufacture their food supply in the leaves. The food products that are produced in the leaves are transported through the stems and stored in the root system for the following year's growth.

The amount of leaves removed by grazing affects the amount of food stored and the depth of the root system.

Because brush uses considerably more water than grass, heavy infestations of brush sap water from the grass causing the grass to be weakened in vigor. By deferring a pasture following brush control the grass is allowed to produce a maximum amount of plant food and develop a healthy vigorous root system.

Research has shown that grasses do not reach their maximum vigor and growth when more than half of the leaf surface is removed by grazing. The more leaves that a plant has the more elements that can be brought into the plant to be turned into food. Since 95 percent of the plant material comes from the air and enters the plant through the leaves, the more leaves the plant has the healthier it will be.

Other benefits of deferral are the better forage plants are allowed to increase, new plants are allowed to establish, plants are allowed to set seed, and forage production is increased. Even though a pasture that is deferred during the growing season furnishes no grazing during the summer, maximum growth is obtained and the pasture will make good winter grazing.

Cattle graze some grasses more than they do other grasses. At different periods of the year some grasses may be highly palatable and at other times less palatable. By deferring during the summer months the highly palatable grasses are given a chance to recover and produce larger amounts of forage.

Grasses growing on brush infested land can be compared to an animal with a disease. The disease needs to be treated and the animal needs proper care and rest. Grass recovering from the effects of brush control needs deferring so that it may quickly and fully regain its vigor. Even though the grass is good it can be made better by deferral.

New Grain Loan Structure Described

No longer is there a terminal loan rate system for "terminal price oriented grains." The old system has been replaced by a more efficient, more economical county loan rate structure, John J. Seibert, Extension grain marketing specialist, said.

The new system eliminates terminal loan rates and establishes county rates that consider terminal market price relationships, cash prices received by farmers, export marketing patterns and other factors which involve grain marketing.

The system will be in effect for the 1970 crop of grain sorghum, wheat, barley, rye, and flaxseed.

Such a system will have the concept of "county plus" with respect to determining loan and settlement values for grain. This is in contrast to the "terminal minus" previously used, the specialist said. County loan rates are available through the county ASCS and county agents.

A USDA release on grain sorghum stated that in past years, county price-support rates for grain sorghum were established by subtracting from the applicable terminal rate the domestic interstate rail freight rate or export freight rate and truck receiving and loading out charges listed under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement (USGA).

Changing conditions in marketing, transportation and international trade have made the terminal-based rate obsolete. Under the new system, grain sorghum moved by rail to warehouse storage will be subject to the freight paid-in plus USGA truck-receiving and rail loading-out charges which will be added to the rate for the county of origin. When it is shipped by truck or barge, the loan will be based on the county rate where stored; and, when shipped by truck or barge to a designated terminal warehouse, the rate will be that of the county in which the warehouse is located plus seven cents per hundredweight.

The revision in the seven cent minimum price markup will bring the minimum resale price for grain sorghum and corn more nearly in line with the anticipated future relationship between the national average loan rates for those two crops.

Adjustments of county loan rates from the 1969 level were made to more nearly reflect historical price relationships, to minimize sharp price breaks between counties, and because of various freight rate changes. For the most part the 1970 county loan rates are unchanged from the 1969 rates in the major producing areas of Nebraska and Texas, while some county rates are decreased one to two cents in Oklahoma and Kansas, and increased one to six cents in California.

Social Security News

Q—I know some people over age 72 who are getting a special social security check, although they never worked under social security. My father was 72 last month but has never worked under social security. He was told that he does not qualify for these payments. Why?

A—Under a special provision of the law, persons who were age 72 before 1968 could be eligible for Special Age 72 Payments without any work under social security. However, persons reaching age 72 after 1967 must have some work under social security in order to be eligible for benefits. Since your father became 72 in 1970 he would need 2 1/4 years of work under social security to be eligible.

Q—When my father died I paid all of his funeral expenses. When I asked about the social security payment to help towards these expenses, I was told that this lump sum payment had to be paid to his wife (my stepmother) even though she did not pay for the funeral expenses. Why shouldn't I receive this payment?

A—The law provides for the lump sum death payment to be paid to the widow if she and her husband were living in the same household when he died, regardless of who pays burial expenses.

Report Boat Crashes Are Up In Texas

The President of the Texas Safety Association says boating accidents in Texas are becoming a problem of major concern.

Dallas attorney George William Perry said, "Texas now ranks second in the nation in the number of fatalities that occur as the result of boating accidents. Only California has a worse record."

The leader of the statewide safety group said that during 1969 alone, the Water Safety Services Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department recorded 204 boating accidents in which 99 persons were killed.

The TSA President called attention to the fact that Texans are taking to the water for recreational activities more and more each year. Perry said that nearly a quarter of a million pleasure boats have been registered in Texas this year.

Perry stated that the three summer months were the most dangerous time of the year for boating, but also stressed that most weekends are also high hazard periods.

Through May 1 of this year, there were 88 boating accidents on Texas waterways in which 27 persons lost their lives.

Perry said the loss of life from boating accidents could be reduced dramatically if Texans would follow a few simple rules of safety while afloat.

The Texas Safety Association leader said there is one general rule of boating safety, "It is as simple as A.B.C., 'Always be careful'."

Perry also outlined what he called some other basic rules for safer and more pleasurable boating activities.

1. Always provide required life saving equipment for boats. Under state law there must be an approved flotation device for every person aboard.

2. Be prepared to fight fires. State law also requires each powered boat to be equipped with a fire extinguisher.

3. Take no chances with rough weather. Respect wind and storm warnings. The best policy is to stay ashore if bad weather threatens. If caught out in rough weather, don't life saving devices, head for the nearest sheltered shore, and above all keep calm.

4. Always observe the capacity rating of the boat. Overloading creates a greater danger of capsizing.

5. When waterskiing, consideration for others is a must. Don't speed past anchored or docked boats. While towing a skier there must be at least two responsible people in the boat, a pilot and an observer who can watch the skier. Never water ski at dusk or after dark.

If your boat capsizes or is swamped, stay with the craft. Help is usually not long in coming.

6. Keep boats clean at all times. Oil soaked rags and waste should not be kept on board, as they increase the dangers of fire.

7. Always stay seated in small boats. Persons standing in small boats change the center of gravity and reduce stability.

8. Know the distress signals. By day, in a small boat, signal distress by slowly raising and lowering outstretched arms. On larger craft, give four blasts on the horn, fly the National Ensign upside down, or use smoke. By night, flash lights, flares, rockets, or controlled fire should be used to signal problems.

Cattle Grubs Cost Livestock Industry

Cattle grubs cost the Texas livestock industry several million each year. Losses to this pest are an important problem in Donley County, according to Ronald Gooch, county agricultural agent.

Losses occur at all levels in the production and marketing chain, he says. The cow-calf producer is concerned about the reduced milk production by mother cows and resulting reduced weaning weights of calves. The feeder suffers profit losses as a result of reduced gains and a lowered market price for grubby animals. The packer who buys and slaughters grubby animals realizes hide losses, carcass trim, increased handling costs and lowered carcass value. Consequently, cattle grub control deserves the attention of the entire beef cattle industry, Gooch points out.

Cattle grubs can be effectively controlled through the proper use of systemic insecticides, Gooch advises. Depending upon the operation, systemics can be administered as dips, sprays, backline pour-ons, mineral mixes or feed additives. Cost of these treatments vary with the method and chemical selected, but generally, ranges less than 50 cents per animal in most instances.

Gooch has a complete listing of chemicals and methods of treatment for systemic cattle grub control. He urges beef cattle producers to call or drop by his office for the recommendations.
