We hope to have some information for you on the 1971 farm program in the near future. You will be notified at the earliest possible date.

Production Records

Remember, the years needed are 1967, 1968 and 1969. Since there is a chance that 1970 records will be used in determining 1971 yields, you should bring in your 1970 records also as soon as they are available.

If you do not intend to harvest a part of your 1970 cotton crop, you may want to come to the office and talk with us about a measurement service so that your records in this office will show the actual acreage of cotton which was harvested.

Holiday

This office will be closed on Thursday, November 26, in observance of Thanksgiving.

Plans Progress For Christmas Decoration

Plans for an Old Fashioned Western Christmas decoration throughout Clarendon proposed and sponsored by Les Beaux Arts Club have been met with much interest and enthusiasm. A number of members of the club and interested individuals met Monday of this week at Odd Fellow's Hall to begin work.

Anyone having any Old Fashioned items to loan for decoration may bring them to the Odd Fellow's Hall or contact a member of Les Beaux Arts Club. At present the following items have been loaned to contribute to the decoration program: a set of children's antique wrought iron table and chairs, an old-fashioned minute school desk and cane bottom chair (children's), a wagon wheel, small windmill, and chaps of leather and angora. Old-fashioned toys (dolls, rocking horse, furniture, tea set, doll bed, etc.) will be appreciated. In addition such articles as large coffee cans, lariat ropes, western props, and large cardboard cartons are needed. Search your basement and attics for usable antique WESTERN articles.

There are many vacant store windows in the process of being cleaned for decorating. Join in the fun. Please Note: The Lodge door will be left open until Christmas for bringing decorations and for working.

A Note Of Appreciation

The coaches, the football team, and fans are to be commended for a wonderful season, winner of the District 2-A championship and, in everyone's opinion, giving their best in the Bi-District game. We are all proud of our coaching staff, our fine players and our community support, stated Superintendent Arling Cordell this week.

Now let's begin to support our boys and girls in their basketball program.

Our thanks for the programs, to the many who assisted in gate-keeping, to all of the news media for their fine coverage of the games and team in general, photographing the games, driving busses for the Band and Drill Team, the Telephone Company people, the Light and Power people, and those who provided ambulance and medical services for the team. These people serve many hours freely without any thought of pay, and help to make our games enjoyable for you and me.

School will be dismissed for Thanksgiving day and Friday; the tax office will also be closed.

Visit your school, know your teachers, and your children better.

Legislation Outlined To Aid Hospital Nurse Problem

Texas hospitals which have faced possible loss of Medicare certification due to the scarcity of registered nurses may have additional time to solve their problems if tentative approval by the Senate Finance Committee of a relief-granting proposal is accepted by both Houses of Congress.

The office of Congressman J. (Jake) Pickle of Austin, Texas, advised the Texas Hospital Association in Austin that tentative approval of legislation introduced by Congressman Pickle and United States Senator Ralph Yarborough, is the first step to help many of the smaller hospitals of Texas which need more registered nurses to meet current medicare requirements. Similar legislation had also been introduced by U. S. Senator John Tower and Congressman Omar Bursleson of Texas.

The amendment, which would change medicare hospital requirements, would authorize the Secretary of Health - Education, Welfare to waive the requirement calling for Registered Nurses to be on duty 24 hours per day in hospitals providing service to medicare patients. The requirement for 24-hour Registered Nurse coverage could be waived annually for one year at a time until January 1, 1975. The amendment would affect approximately 140 Texas hospitals. Hospitals would be required annually to:

1. Demonstrate they have made an effort to recruit Registered Nurses needed for around the clock coverage.
2. Show that there is a shortage of Registered Nurses in the geographic area served by the hospital.
3. Show that there is no other Medicare certified hospital in the immediate area or nearby.

In waiving the 24-hour requirement the hospital will still be required to have Registered Nurses on duty during daytime working hours.

Mr. O. Ray Hurst, Executive Vice President of the Texas Hospital Association said "Hospital Administrators recognized in 1964, that registered nurses would be in short supply if medicare requirements were to be met. To meet the need, the association organized the Texas Health Careers in the health field. Since 1965 full time members of the Association's staff have encouraged Texas young people to explore health career interests. In 1969-70 over 220,000 young people were contacted."

"The Health Careers Program has helped to increase nursing school enrollment since 1965 when more than 50% of the student nurse chairs were vacant. Not only has enrollment increased, but a number of new schools of nursing have opened, and existing nurse programs have increased, the Texas schools of nursing are unable to meet the continued demand for trained registered nurses. In a survey conducted by THA in 1969 over 2500 budgeted nurse positions were vacant. In the Spring of this year (1970) over 1000 nurses were graduated; yet in June of this year, 2100 registered nurse positions remain unfilled in Texas."

Federal Gun Law Aimed At Criminals, Not The Hunters

Hunters from the Southwest have been contacting Internal Revenue's alcohol tobacco and firearms division in trying to find out how the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968 affects them.

"Apparently many hunters are under the impression the gun control Act seriously restricts their right to hunt," said Bill L. Gaunt, ATF assistant regional commissioner. "The primary purpose of the law is to disarm criminals, not regulate sportsmen," he said.

Gaunt said ATF investigators are being asked a great many questions about the Law, especially during the current hunting season.

"Here," he said, "are some of the questions we have been asked, and the answers we give."

Q—My neighbor has asked me to go quail hunting with him this fall. This means that I must buy a shotgun. Under the 1968

Gun Law, how do I go about buying this gun?

A—Go in person to an authorized gun dealer, identify yourself and sign a form stating you are not prohibited by the federal gun control act from receiving guns and ammunition in interstate commerce. Federal law states that guns and ammunition cannot be sold to individuals who are under indictment for or convicted of a felony, or fugitives from justice, or unlawful users of drugs, or persons who have been adjudged mentally defective. Also included are those who have been dishonorably discharged from the armed forces, aliens who have illegally entered the United States, and persons who have renounced their American citizenship. Of course, if you are under 18 years of age you cannot buy guns or ammunition at all. If you are between 18 and 21 you can buy shotguns, rifles, and ammunition for them, but not handguns or handgun ammunition.

Q—I'm from North Texas and plan to hunt deer in Colorado. Can I buy ammunition there or should I take what I need with me?

A—You can buy ammunition in another state as easily as you can in your own. Just go to a dealer and identify yourself. You are not required to sign anything. This assumes, however, that you are not prohibited by federal law from receiving guns or ammunition in interstate commerce.

Q—Several of us will be flying on a commercial jet to the Dakotas to hunt pheasants. Can we take our shotguns with us?

A—Yes. If you plan to personally carry your guns aboard the aircraft, notify the airline of this fact before boarding and turn your gun and ammunition over to the crew. However, if you plan to ship your guns and ammunition as baggage, you must notify the airline in writing and state exactly what each package contains. You do not have to mark the package as containing firearms or ammunition.

be the same as if your daughter were buying the gun direct from the dealer.

As a concluding statement, Gaunt said it is important that hunters and sportsmen check on local and state laws, such as game laws and state firearms control laws, which may also affect their hunting activities.

Genetic Trait Found In Grain Sorghum

Grain sorghum, a crop marked by news-making scientific advances in the past 20 years, has another major discovery in the offing.

The new find is known as apomixis, or seed production without fertilization by pollen.

Apomixis in itself is not a recent revelation. Scientists have observed the process in some forage grasses, such as buffel, for many years. New interest is created though when it turns up in a possibility for a commercially grown grain crop like sorghum.

The phenomenon is reported in a current issue of "Science" magazine by geneticists of Texas A&M University, a center of apomictic research. The work is a cooperative program of the Soil and Crop Sciences Department, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and U. S. Department of Agriculture, Crops Research Division.

The scientists, W. W. Hanna, a former graduate assistant at Texas A&M, and K. F. Schertz and E. C. Bashaw of the USDA point out the potentials of this discovery. They say it could revolutionize the grain sorghum industry.

Why is seed production without fertilization so important? The geneticists say apomictic grain sorghum could make available to the farmer maximum yielding, true-breeding hybrids of high purity.

When properly manipulated, it will permit the use of hybrid vigor without repeatedly producing new hybrids," Schertz explained. "Superior hybrids can be maintained generation after generation because the offspring are exactly like the plant from which the seed was harvested."

BIG LIFT—Sp5 Charles Boss wheels a front loading machine into a shipping position during reconstruction of a seminary at Vinh Sang, Republic of Vietnam. Specialist Boss, 402d Transportation Company, is one of many soldiers from the 4th Transportation Command who have given their off-duty time to help Vietnamese seminary and high school students improve their school area.

Apomictic sorghum would simplify hybrid seed production, the scientists believe. They point out that for the commercial seed producer, it would simplify stock maintenance. No crossing fields would be needed, thereby reducing problems of pollen contamination.

For the farmer it should mean a larger selection of superior hybrids of high purity. These advantages would be accentuated in developing countries.

But like many new scientific developments, apomictic grain sorghum isn't something that will be available to the industry within the next few years. Much research remains to be done.

The researchers emphasized that the advantages will be realized only when the apomictic tendency is developed to a high level and in a line devoid of undesirable characteristics. It can then be transferred to other lines in a breeding program.

The total impact of this discovery will be known only with time, but in grain sorghum, where hybrids are already used, apomixis should be of extreme importance, Schertz said.

"The organization of our press has truly been a success. Our law concerning the press is such that divergencies of opinion between members of the government are no longer an occasion for public exhibitions which are not the newspapers' business. We've eliminated that conception of political freedom which holds that everybody has the right to say whatever comes into his head."—Adolf Hitler.

With Gratitude for Freedom . . . We Honor Our Forefathers on

Thanksgiving

PILGRIMS LANDING AT PLYMOUTH ROCK DECEMBER 21, 1620
350 YEARS AGO, The Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth Rock — and a new way of life began. On board the Mayflower, the little band of Pilgrims signed a compact, agreeing to form a local government for the new town of Plymouth, Massachusetts, and to abide by its laws. In the Mayflower Compact, we see the early flowering of democracy in America. As we observe Thanksgiving Day — yet another legacy from our Pilgrim forefathers — we can indeed be thankful for our proud heritage, for our American way of life, for freedom and its blessings. Let us then be humbly grateful, and let us reaffirm our faith in freedom, with our determination to preserve and cherish it, forevermore.

Things Are Changing

In recent weeks, the Chicago Stockyards have closed and many people are asking why.

"Relatively large numbers of cattle no longer go through this type of terminal market," Dr. William E. Black Extension economist at Texas A&M University, says. "Although the number of large farmers are relatively few, they produce about half of all the calves sold, and they are the ones leaving these markets. These stockyards represent the 'old system of marketing cattle' and are the first victims of a new and more efficient system which is emerging."

There is an increasing realization that the old system is inefficient and causes consumers to pay more for beef than they otherwise would if a new system was developed, the economist said. The beef industry, if it is to prosper and grow, can't live with the inefficiencies. It must eliminate them if the beef industry is going to meet the competition from other foods and synthetics in the years ahead, he said.

In a recent study, U. S. Choice beef carcasses hanging in a Chicago supermarket cooler were traced back to a Montana ranch where the cattle were born. The study showed that these cattle had changed hands 14 times from the ranch to the supermarket cooler.

"The worst part is that these animals had spent 45 percent of their lifetime regaining losses in weight and condition from these moves," Dr. Black said. "Shots, changes in feed and ownership and other factors had taken

Stitch A Sampler

Holiday decorations that mean the most are the ones made by a member of the family or a friend. Used year after year, they become a part of the traditional observance of the Christmas season.

One that will add to your own decorations or make a handsome gift is a holiday needlework sampler. Samplers have a history dating back to Colonial days, and mention of them can even be found in wills and literature of the early 1500's. They were originally done by young girls learning to sew. They made them for practice or to show their skill.

The holiday sampler above, an original design by Coats & Clark, is worked on cotton monk's cloth with six-strand cotton embroidery floss. The design calls for nine basic embroidery stitches, and the finished size of the sampler is 15 by 19 1/4". Easy for beginners, it's an inexpensive but rewarding project for holiday needlework.

Free pattern for the sampler can be obtained by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope to the National Cotton Council, Dept. PR, P. O. Box 12285, Memphis, Tennessee.

their toll."

Many farmers and ranchers say there's not much room for improvement in the present system, but the fact is, the present method of marketing is changing. The larger producers are beginning to sell their livestock directly to feedlots through contractual arrangements or are retaining ownership and contracting for their animals to be fed in the commercial feedlots.

According to the economist, there are so many inefficiencies in the present system that retail prices of beef could be reduced, yet returns to beef producers significantly increased if they were overcome.

"In order to do this, there must be a coordinated marketing system that provides a number of alternative ways to market livestock," Dr. Black said. "The central question now is whether the leadership for improved coordination in marketing of livestock will come from within or from firms outside the livestock industry."

"If the coordination comes from within, it can either come from farmers and ranchers who join together and form their own marketing associations, or from feedlot operators, meat packers or both who 'reach backward' and integrate producers into the system. However, once there is a high degree of backward integration, producers will have lost their opportunity to organize their own marketing organizations."

The other alternative is for firms presently outside of the livestock industry to move in with organization, capital and management to do the coordinating job which producers should be doing, the economist added.

"Society at large doesn't care who's going to be the coordinator," Dr. Black said. "They just want a high quality product put on the counter as cheaply as possible and an assurance of supply. It does, and should, make a difference to those who are now in the livestock industry, however."

Some feel they have the answer to the question of who will coordinate the marketing system of the future. Dr. Black concluded, adding however, that as of now, it remains to be answered.

SENIORS SPONSOR AFTER-GAME SOCIAL

The Seniors sponsored a social in the Cafeteria after the football game Friday night for all the high school students, their dates, teachers, dips, chips, cookies, and Cokes. Everybody was hungry and seemed to enjoy all the good eats.

Those who wanted to, danced to the record music provided by James Shadle and Jay Lamberth. Others visited, listened to the music, and watched the dancing. The good mood and participation of everybody present evidenced a very enjoyable and successful party for the student body.

Thanks to the Senior Class for sponsoring such an enjoyable evening of food, music, dancing, and visiting.

OUR THANKS TO LEE ANN MCCrackEN

The entire student body and teachers would like to thank Lee Ann McCracken and her parents for taking the responsibility of transporting the Victory Bell to the football games this season. We are sure it required extra time, patience, and effort on the part of each member of the McCracken family and we all do appreciate this contribution.

The purchasing of the Victory Bell was sponsored by last year's Senior class with the understanding that each succeeding Senior Class would be responsible for transporting it to the football games and for ringing it when the Bronchos make touchdowns and other outstanding plays.

Therefore, the ringing of the bell serves a two-fold purpose. In addition to ringing for victory and encouraging the Bronchos on, it also symbolizes the excellent school spirit of the preceding Senior Class, the present present Senior Class, and all of the Senior Classes to follow, plus the whole student body of Clarendon High School and all others who helped to purchase the bell last year.

Yes, we all do thank Lee Ann and her parents for seeing to it that the Senior Class fulfilled its duty and responsibility this year. Lee Ann is an excellent example of the outstanding 1971 Senior Class of good old C.H.S.!

CHS LIBRARY CLUB

The Clarendon Library Club attended the 1970 District Teen-Age Library Association meeting held at Palo Duro High School in Amarillo Saturday, November

21. The meeting began at 9:30 a.m.

The group served refreshments and each was presented an orchid to accent the Hawaiian theme, "Off The Island, Into The Current." After refreshments, the group attended the first general assembly and retired for group discussion. Ideas were exchanged about display cases, membership drives, programs, parties, and fund raising projects.

Lunch was served in the Palo Duro High School Cafeteria where the Hawaiian theme was again emphasized. Cuttings from the musical "Oliver" were presented by the Palo Duro Choir and Drama departments.

During the afternoon sessions, a talk on "Launching Library Careers" was given by Frank Blackburn, West Texas State University, Elizabeth Crabb, Amarillo Public Library, and Ethel Bonham, Amarillo College. Officers were elected and scholarship corsages presented.

The group reported an enjoyable meeting. Attending were Mrs. Oressa Delaney, sponsor, and Geneva Molder, Penny Maxcy, Janice Hamilton, and Fern Ashcraft.

Q—My wife hired a cleaning woman last month. Where can I get information about the social security tax that has to be paid for this help?

A—Send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for a copy of Form 9542, Employer's Quarterly Return for Household Employees. It has the information you will need to fill out the form.

The deadline for filing the return and paying taxes due for the July, August and September quarter is November 2.

Q—Are strike benefits taxable? A—Yes, in most cases they are unless the facts show that they were intended as a gift. A gift would be indicated where the benefits are paid to nonunion as well as union workers, on the basis of need, in situations where unemployment and public assistance programs are not available.

Q—I bought a lot of raffle tickets that my church and the volunteer fire department were selling at the county fair. Can I add these to my other charitable contributions?

A—No, they are treated as gambling losses under Federal tax law. If you itemize deductions, losses may be deducted but only to the extent of winnings. This would reduce the tax due.

A car or other merchandise won in a raffle must be included in income at its fair market value.

Q—Where can I get help with my taxes? I just opened a business of my own.

A—Contact your local IRS office. They have a special publication "Mr. Businessman's Kit" designed especially for you. They will arrange to meet with you to present your kit and to explain your obligations under the tax laws.

Q—I just got a letter saying my 1968 return is being examined. How far can you go back?

A—IRS generally has three years from the date a return is due to assess additional taxes. However, under special circumstances the general rule may not apply. For example, in fraud cases there is no time limit.

"Why should freedom of speech and freedom of the press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal things than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinion calculated to embarrass the government?" — Nikolai Lenin.

Highlights and Sidelights

From Your State Capitol

By Vern Stanford

AUSTIN, Tex.—Freshman state legislators received some sobering news in their first orientation conference before the legislative halls open on January 12.

About 30 legislative newcomers turned out for the two-day schooling in the capital city. Major state officials and agency heads functioned in the role of professors.

In addition to warnings that money and legislative redistricting problems lie ahead, young lawmakers got word that welfare cuts are virtually certain early next year.

Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney reported this grim news on the plight of his agency. He announced that "unless an emergency appropriation is made early in the upcoming legislative session, we still face the prospect of cuts in Aid to Families with Dependent Children and/or medical assistance in the first few months of 1971."

Commissioner Hackney added that "even with an appropriation that would take us up to the annual ceiling on state money for public assistance, we can predict the need for a cut in AFDC grants by June if the rolls continue to grow as they have."

Texas' constitution sets a ceiling of $80 million for financial assistance to welfare beneficiaries. Hackney said he has asked $96 million for fiscal 1972 just to cover the present level of public assistance checks.

House Speaker Gus Mutscher urged the freshmen to utilize the formula of "knowledge, cooperation and understanding" in the work ahead.

Further schooling for lawmakers is ahead at a University of Texas special orientation program.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. Preston Smith named District Judge Clarence A. Guittard of Dallas as associate justice of the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals, effective January 1. He succeeds Judge Williams who moves up to chief justice of the Fifth Court.

Smith designated Dallas attorney Fred S. Harless to succeed Guittard as 14th district judge.

Memphis attorney Robert E. Montgomery was picked by the Governor as judge of the 100th district effective January 1. He replaces Judge Charles L. Reynolds, who was elevated to the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals.

Rep. Charles Patterson of Taylor and Round Rock was selected by the U. S. Department of State to participate in a North Atlantic Treaty Organization briefing conference in Brussels, Belgium, on November 23-24.

Smith appointed Dallas F. Jordan of Dallas, who is a Rear Admiral in the U. S. Naval Reserve, to the Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Memorial Museum Commission.

M. A. Genaro of Dallas was elected president of National Beer Wholesalers Association.

COURT APPOINTMENTS DUE — Gov. Preston Smith soon will have two appointments to make to the state's highest courts.

Judge Clyde E. Smith, 73, of Woodville has announced that he will resign his seat on the State Supreme Court on December 31.

In his letter of resignation,

BIG BOOMER—Designer Raymond Hammond sights in on a plastic model of a .45 caliber automatic pistol at the Training Aids Center, Ft. McClellan, Ala. The model is 42 inches long, 10 inches high and weighs more than 40 pounds. It can be field stripped and reassembled in the same manner as the actual weapon. The giant replica is used as a training aid for instructors on the care and maintenance of the real weapon. (U.S. Army Photo by Pfc Rose A. Grzebyk)

Judge Smith urged state constitutional revision of the judiciary system — or at least thorough overhaul — to make it possible for a central authority to force under worked judges to go where they are needed to equalize caseloads.

After January 1, the Governor also must name a successor to Judge John F. On'ou Jr. of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Next year the San Antonio judge moves up to presiding judge of the Appeals Court, vacating the seat he held as a regular member since 1967.

Two years remain in the terms of both these judges.

ALTERATION TAX POSSIBLE — You can be taxed for alteration charges on clothing where the charge is made at time of purchase, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has held.

However, Calvert said, charges are not subject to sales tax when they are not part of the sale.

"If the alteration is made on a garment prior to acceptance by the customer, the alteration charge is considered a service which is part of the sale and the charge for such alteration is taxable to the customer," said Calvert in an interpretation of sales tax provisions. "Alteration charges on clothing are not taxable when not a part of a sale."

On December 31, all men in 1-A, 1-A-O or 1-O with numbers lower than the highest reached during the year by their own local boards will be assigned to an extended priority selection group for call during the first quarter of 1971. Those with a higher number than the highest reached will be assigned to the second priority group for 1971.

SCHOOL FOOD PROGRAMS NOTED — Governor Smith notified 1,182 school superintendents that he wants all Texas pupils to have full access to food programs.

He called attention to food services and equipment made available through the National School Lunch Act as mandatory on Jan. 1, 1971. Smith said that hungry children are vulnerable to malnutrition's effect on growth, ability to learn and general intellectual performance.

NEW JOBS ASSIGNED — Marvin F. London of Montague was named by the Governor as district judge of the 97th judicial district, succeeding Louis T. Holland, resigned.

Governor Smith appointed Dr. David Wade of Austin, commissioner of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, as administrator of Interstate Compact on Mental Health.

Evergreens Need Winter Care

Weather injury, especially during the winter, can inflict serious damage to Agricultural Extension Service.

Evergreens are particularly susceptible to winter drying in areas such as West Texas where the relative humidity is low, says Janne. This damage occurs in late winter or early spring before new growth can get started. Strong winds and low humidity desiccate the foliage because the plants are unable to replace the moisture given off by the leaves through excessive transpiration.

According to the horticulturist, visible symptoms of winter drying depend on the severity of the injury. Sometimes only the branch tips will be dead; at other times entire branches or even the whole tree or shrub may turn brown and die. In wintertime, dead plants are often found next to apparently healthy ones.

Janne explains that the best precaution against drying of evergreens this winter is to plant them in a well-drained, fertile soil. Since this isn't always possible, the next best thing is to provide adequate soil moisture.

Homeowners and gardeners often store the water hose at the same time they put away the lawn mower for the winter, points out Janne. Landscape plants still require moisture even though wintry weather has made the scene.

To prepare evergreens for the winter and reduce weather damage, Janne outlines these steps: 1. Water trees and shrubs thoroughly at regular intervals throughout the winter, especially where they are protected by wide overhangs on homes.

2. Use a mulch to protect surface evaporation and to keep the soil warmer. Evergreens have difficulty taking up moisture when the ground is cold.

3. Maintain a fertile, well-aerated soil to encourage deep root growth. Compacted soil hinders good root growth.

Evergreens display a beauty all their own and add much to the winter landscape. They can maintain this beauty only if they are cared for properly, adds Janne.

Body Weight Can Affect Laying Hen Performance

Body weight can have more effect on laying hen performance than rations, according to recent research at Texas A&M University.

The findings came out of A&M's 500-day, second genotype environment performance test.

Bill Doran of the Poultry Science Department said the trial was designed to study effects of body weight at hatching (150 days of age) and type of diet on various strains of egg production-type birds. Test birds came from United States and Canadian breeders.

Three weight classes (light, medium and heavy) and three rations were tried. Ration 1 contained no Gallimycin, an antibiotic in the diet. Ration 2 contained 20 grams of Gallimycin per ton fed continuously.

Ration 3 had 100 grams of Gallimycin per ton fed the first five days of each 8-day period. Birds receiving Ration 3 were fed Ration 1 after the first five days.

Doran said the light weight birds had the highest mortality, smallest egg size, poorest hen-day egg production, and they matured later than did the medium and heavy weight birds. The heavy weight birds laid the largest eggs but had the poorest feed efficiency.

"Rations had little or no effect on mortality, rate of lay, average egg size or feed efficiency," the poultry scientist pointed out.

He said details of the tests can be obtained free by writing to the Poultry Science Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas, 77843, and asking for the "Final Report of the Second Genetic Environment Performance Testing Program (1969-70)."

The publication covers brooder and laying house mortality, sexual maturity, rate of lay, egg quality, weight classes by periods, and average egg size by body weight classes and rations.

QUALITY JOB PRINTING AT THE LEADER

DON'T BLOW IT NOW

DRIVE FRIENDLY has made a difference. In 1970, Texas can experience an annual decrease in the number of deaths on streets and highways. As of now, the number of traffic deaths is below that of a year ago. If this trend continues, there will be an actual decrease in the number of Texans killed in traffic—this despite one-half million more licensed drivers than a year ago.

This is practically unheard of. The traffic death trend during the past decade has been almost consistently up . . . 2,254 deaths in 1960; 2,314 in 1961; 2,421 in 1962, and so it has gone, almost without exception, right up to 3,551 in 1969.

But 1970 has been the year of DRIVING FRIENDLY. This has meant obeying traffic laws, planning travel to avoid rushing, not driving and drinking. In other words, maintaining a friendly driving attitude toward others.

Yes, 1970 has been the year of DRIVING FRIENDLY. It can also be the year the relentless trend of more and more highway murders was reversed. But there are still five weeks to go. This Thanksgiving weekend, think of your responsibilities every time you take the wheel.

We're ahead of 1969 now, and we can finish that way. So, DON'T BLOW IT NOW!

This Thanksgiving, Keep DRIVING FRIENDLY . . . it works

Good Handling can Save the Venison

So the fun part is over. You've shot your buck deer. What now? Proper handling of a deer carcass can mean the difference between an assortment of tasty chops in the freezer or a total loss of valuable meat. So with the deer season's opening day — which is in mid-November in most Texas counties — coming up soon, prospective deer-layers should bone up on deer skinning and processing procedures.

Two Texas Parks and Wildlife Department publications are available to help deer hunters. The 1970-71 Hunting Guide will tell what the seasons and bag limits are in all 254 counties, and the illustrated "Now That You've Killed It" leaflet written by Game Management Officer Grover Simpson tells how to go about the field dressing job.

Simpson says the first thing the successful hunter should do after shooting a deer and making sure it's dead is to tag the animal. Then, without delay, the deer should be field-dressed. One important note: Contrary to popular belief, there's no need to cut the deer's throat to bleed it. The bleeding will be accomplished during the field dressing process.

The deer is propped on its back and an incision is made from its pelvic bone clear through the rib cage and as far up the neck as possible, with care taken not to puncture the entrails. The windpipe is cut as high up the neck as possible and is pulled downward.

The carcass is then rolled onto its side, and the layer of meat which is holding the entrails to the ribs is cut all the way down to the backbone. The deer is rolled over and the process is repeated on the other side. The entrails then can be pulled from the body cavity.

Then the deer is lifted by the hind legs and propped up on its back with rocks or some other suitable object, so a knife can be used to separate the bones of the pelvis. Then the carcass should be hung by the antlers or head for about 20 minutes to allow blood drainage. If no tree is handy, turn the deer with the chest cavity down in a clean place and allow it to drain. The skinning can begin at once. (If the deer is to be mounted, it should be hung by its hind legs. The skin comes off more easily while the deer is still warm, so the animal should be skinned with two hours.

To remove the skin, cut it down the inside of each leg to the middle of the body. Then the skin is cut around the neck as close to the head as possible.

Then the skin is pulled away from the neck. A knife must be used to separate the skin from the legs and other places the skin sticks tightly to the meat. The deer should then be taken to camp and hung in a tree by the hind legs for four or five hours. This allows the tiny blood vessels to drain back and out toward the heart region.

The carcass should be wrapped in a sheet or cheesecloth and kept hanging up until cool. It may then be cut up as desired.

A fuller explanation of the process, with accompanying illustrations, may be obtained from the Department's headquarters at the John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas, 78701.

When To File Your Income Tax

April 15 is the deadline for filing your income tax return. If you owe additional taxes, waiting until April 15 might be good business. However, on January 1 about 2/3 of the taxpayers have a refund coming to them from Internal Revenue. The taxpayer can't file until January 1 and Internal Revenue can't send out his refund until they get his tax return. Form 1040. The taxpayer must also wait until he receives his Form W-2 from his employer. It is usually good business for all taxpayers to get their records and figure their income tax as soon as possible after January 1. Even if you owe money and don't have the money to pay, you need to know. If you know on January 2 that you will owe a lot of money on April 15 you can come a lot nearer raising the extra taxes owed than the fellow who waits until 11:59 p.m. on April 15 to figure his tax. It is always good business to find out where you stand as soon as possible.

NEW CONSUMER PROTECTIONS PROPOSED

Consumers buying products from door to door salesmen may be granted a three-day cancellation period by the Federal Trade Commission for purchases of $10 or more, announces Bonnie Lyerly, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

A door to door salesman, according to the FTC proposal, must give the buyer a "Notice of Cancellation," effective any time within three business days after signing a contract to purchase goods.

The buyer may use any reasonable method to notify the salesman to cancel the contract. He may mail or deliver the signed notice, or telephone or verbally inform the seller of his desire.

After a cancellation notice the salesman must return any payments made or goods traded by the consumer within 10 business days. He must pick up the item being returned within 20 business days.

The consumer should return the products in their original condition.

A public hearing for the proposed FTC rule will be Jan. 19, 1971.

Veteran News

Q—Can I borrow on my GI insurance policy?
A—Yes, after the policy has been in effect one year, with the exception of 5-year level premium term policies which have no loan value.
Q—Who is eligible for educational assistance under the current GI Bill?
A—Veterans with active duty for a continuous period of 81 days or more, any part of which occurred on or after Feb. 1, 1955. If less than 181 days, must have been discharged on or after Feb. 1 because of service-connected disability.
Q—I'm a WWII veteran who has never received benefits from the VA. May I get a free examination from the VA for a potential employer?
A—No, the VA is not allowed to give a free medical examination for a private purpose.
Q—I attend school under the G.I. Bill, and my wife has given birth to a son. How do I notify VA of this additional dependent?
A—Forward immediately to your VA regional office a copy of the child's birth certificate. Write your VA file number on the document and attach a note stating that you are training under the G. I. Bill.
A new law removed the "inability to pay" requirements for all veterans 65 years of age or older having war or peacetime service, and for veterans who receive VA pensions.
The number of veterans taking police, fireman and other "protective service" training under the G. I. Bill increased by 90 per cent during FY 70. Police and fire departments interested in setting up a program should contact their nearest VA office; interested veterans should apply at local police and fire departments.

The help and encouragement from members and other fans throughout the football season has been greatly appreciated. We are proud of the Broncho team and congratulate them on winning District. Now we urge everyone to back the Broncho Basketball teams.

It was decided that we would not meet regularly now that we will have no films to show; however, watch the paper for the next meeting time and join us.

Social Security

Q—My husband and I have been receiving a single monthly check with both our names on it. He died before endorsing the check. What must I do with the check?

A—You can return the check to be re-issued in your name. If you have an immediate need for the money, visit your social security office, and they will stamp the check so you can cash it without your husband's signature.

Q—I have contributed to social security for ten years. How much will I get when I retire?

A—That depends on your earnings. The amount of your social security checks will be figured at the time you retire on the basis of your average earnings over a period of years. But your contributions over the past ten years ensure that you have enough work to qualify for retirement benefits and Medicare.

Q—When I started working, my social security contributions were very small. They have increased a number of times since then. Have benefits gone up, too?

A—Yes. The average monthly benefit for a retired worker has increased some five times since payments first began in 1940. The average retirement check in 1940 was $22.60. Today, the average is $116. Not only has the benefit amount increased, but health insurance and benefits for survivors, dependents, and the disabled have been added over the years.
