Donley County Hospital District And Bond Election Sat. March 14

Donley County voters are expected to turn out in full force Saturday, March 14 to cast their ballot in the Hospital District & Bond Election. A strong indication of this was the strong turnout of absentee votes cast — a total of 71 by the deadline.

There will be only one voting box in the county at the County Court House. Voting hours will be from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. All registered voters in the county will be eligible to vote in this election.

There will be two propositions listed on the ballot, a sample of which is published in another place in the Leader.

This is an important issue for this community and every qualified voter should certainly make every effort to cast their ballot.

Five counties in the Panhandle reached agreement Monday to band together to reduce the cost of instituting a federal food stamp program. Officials of Briscoe, Collingsworth, Hall, Armstrong and Donley Counties were represented.

The action was in compliance with a December 30 order by U. S. District Judge W. M. Taylor of Dallas to the U. S. The program will function under the Department of Welfare.

Further details will be published as plans are completed for instituting the program, reported Judge R. E. Drennan who joined Judges from the other four counties in a recent meeting at Memphis.

The Clarendon High School Bronchos, coached by Carl Irlbeck, played two of their finest games of the season to win the second place trophy in Class A Basketball at the State Tournament held in Austin the past week end.

The Bronchos lost out to Kennard by a score of 64-72 in the finals Saturday night. This was a heart-breaker for the Bronchos and their coach who were returning to the State Tournament for the second straight year.

The Bronchos are to be commended for their fine play and good sportsmanship, a topic of conversation in the crowded stands which were filled with spectators from over the entire state. The Bronchos were defeated by a team from a school that sponsors and supports only one sport throughout the year—Basketball. Under these conditions perfect performance should be expected from these young people who have an entire school year to perfect their game. Two such hard fought games in such a short period of time is too much for any team.

Clarendon's opener in tournament play was against Itasca. The game was tight throughout and only in the fourth period of play did Clarendon manage to gain a sizable lead. By quarters the tallies were Clarendon 13-Itasca 14, 27-27, 50-48, to the final 78-64. Charles Louis was high with 21 points; Jim Moore dropped in 19; Wayne Carter hit 17, Bennie Reese 12, and Steve Adams 9. High for Itasca were David Plumlee and Tom Bowman with 20 points each.

There were 27 turnovers for Itasca compared to 12 for Clarendon. The game was tied 12 times and the lead changed seven times.

In the finals Saturday night Clarendon was defeated by Kennard 64-72. The Bronchos maintained a close lead until in the third period when a 9 point deficit developed. The first quarter of play ended with a tied up game 16-16 and at halftime the Bronchos trailed 30-25. That deficit was increased to 48-57 in the third period and to 64-72 for the final score. Wayne Carter was top man for the Bronchos with 19 points. Steve Adams hit 14, Charles Louis 11, Bennie Reese 10, and Jim Moore 8. Lester Hutcherson was high for Kennard with 33 points.

Clarendon recorded 14 turnovers to Kennard's 10. The game was tied six times and the lead changed 13 times throughout the game.

Coach Carl Irlbeck, in commenting, praised the efforts of teammates and the fine performance of each player.

We, along with your many fans, salute you, Bronchos and Coach Irlbeck, for your clean play, fine sportsmanship conduct, ability, and continued drive throughout every game, your enviable record, and another season of fine Basketball.

DO WE VOTE A HOSPITAL?

(AN EDITORIAL)

The time has arrived when a definite decision must be made by the voters of Donley County. Do we vote for a hospital NOW or pass up this opportunity for a year or longer and place our county in jeopardy as far as medical and health services and facilities are concerned.

If we are going to be a part of a community or county, it is our obligation to provide the essentials that are needed to keep a community healthy and in the category of progress.

The cost of a modern hospital facility will actually be very little when compared to other expenditures that are detrimental such as a pack of cigarettes a day for a year ($140). Most smokers exceed this amount. Then there are other activities (Let's do something different—pleasure jaunts or shopping trip to Amarillo — sport events etc.) that would amount to, or exceed a hospital bond tax real quick. The majority like expensive automobiles for added comfort and pleasure. You could get along with something much less expensive or drive the old one a few more years. It would get to the point where it would become outmoded. It would need to be replaced and the cost would be high, but you would still need a conveyance.

Our community needs a new hospital to replace the one that folks were really proud of 60 years ago.

Don't be counted as a voter that might cause a youngster to say one day "My daddy or mother" might still be here today if you had voted for an adequate hospital facility. "Were you considering me and my future and the other less fortunate people when you voted No?"

In regard to the letter signed A Taxpayer, Groom, Texas, printed in the Amarillo News Golden Spread Forum, March 7 issue, we have this to say: Donley County folks can still take care of their own affairs. Our county may not be the richest in dollars, but we are wealthy in the kind of people we have living here and I believe that the letter writer would be excluded from this group. Apparently the writer was ashamed of what she had to say or otherwise would have had guts enough to sign her name. You will note in the Leader this week that we have lots of proud people here (In all categories) who were not ashamed to sign their names in stating their feelings for the hospital.

Though there are facilities around and about us, hospitals everywhere are overcrowded, even to the extent of halls filled with occupied beds. All are short staffed. Let us stop to consider that Clarendon now has 4 registered nurses, 6 Licensed Vocational Nurses, and one GVN who live here. For a community of this size, how fortunate we are. Many of these people will be relocating in other areas if we have no hospital facilities here for their employment. In an emergency, are you going to depend on these over crowded - under staffed facilities. A few minutes might mean the difference between life and death for you. How much is life worth to you?

The voting of a hospital district and bond issue for Donley County is not an issue, it is a must. Sit down a moment and take full inventory of yourself and then go vote your honest conviction in the election Saturday. If you can Vote No and still live with your conscience, then all power to you.

Regardless of your feelings, don't be among the uncounted. Go Vote!

SP Cottons Do Well In Stiles Farm Tests

SP strains of cotton, derived from selections for disease resistance and cold tolerance by Texas A&M researchers, held their own with standard varieties in 1969 demonstration plots at the Stiles Farm Foundation near Thrall, Texas.

Even though a wet spring delayed early planting and July and August were exceptionally hot and dry, the SP strains were equal to or slightly better than the variety, Lankart 57, reports Dr. L. S. Bird, A&M cotton researcher. Lankart 57 usually performs well in a year like 1969, but SP strains do better when planted early.

Using stripper harvested cotton weights converted to yield per acre, Bird made these comparisons. In pounds of lint per acre, SP 37 yielded 497, SP 21 made 366, and Lankart 57 totaled 384. Yet, in value per 100 pounds of lint, SP 21 moved ahead of Lankart $20.00 to $19.45. SP 27 was tops with $21.40.

SP 37 was far ahead in total value per acre at $106.36. SP 21 and Lankart 57 were close with $75.76 and $74.69 respectively. Also, seed of the SP strains had higher percentages of oil, nitrogen, amonium and protein in comparison with Lankart 57, Bird said.

These tests were conducted on plots from a half to one acre in size. This was the first year of comparison for SP strains at the Stiles Farm; however, these selections have been in demonstrations and formal testing for a longer period, said Calvin Rinn, farm manager.

SP strains differ from other cotton varieties in that emphasis in genetic selection is practically the reverse of classical concepts, Bird explained. To develop these strains, first priority was placed on resistance and escape from five major diseases, seed and seedling cold tolerance, and resistance to seed deterioration.

Although these traits were given first consideration, strains having poor yielding ability and low fiber quality were eliminated, Bird emphasized. In fact, fiber on SP strains is as good as some selected for improved fiber quality, he added. Researchers have been pleased with machine picking and stripping of SP strains and note that harvesting losses are less, too.

Demonstration results in various counties and at Stiles Farm have been crucial in helping researchers realize just what they had with the SP types. Studies at Stiles Farm have been on a somewhat larger scale than other tests.

Thirty to forty-acre blocks of SP strains are planned for demonstration at Stiles Farm this coming crop season. Some foundation seed will be produced this year, but no substantial amount of seed will be available for producers until around 1972, Bird estimated. SP 21, SP 23 and SP 37 are ones likely to meet standards for eventual release, he said.

The Stiles Farm Foundation strives to demonstrate the value of research-proven practices, said Rinn. The farm operation is self-supporting and is under the trusteeship of the Texas A&M University Board of Directors. It was established in 1961.

DISCIPLINE VERSUS FREEDOM

A child needs discipline yet he also needs freedom to grow. The trick for parents is to balance the two so the child can learn and develop self-control.

Both parties can often grow together in the experience, says Jane Fleischer, Extension family life specialist at Texas A&M University.

A child needs encouragement as he grows, discovers for himself and becomes independent. Parents can help by looking at him as a person, being sensitive to what he is ready for and letting him explore his world and experiment with many kinds of activity and ideas at his own pace.

A two way communication about what the child sees and does may help, Miss Fleischer suggests.

Yet, the child needs to know that there are limits to what he can do and why limits are necessary.

With encouragement and direction, children can accept the standards parents have set for them and gradually take over these standards as their own.

Market Report

During Lent, food shoppers for many families will emphasize meat alternates, such as eggs, fish, dried beans and peas, milk, dairy products and cereal foods, in their meals.

Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist for Texas A&M University, has good news for these shoppers. The supply and price of meat alternates is good.

Egg prices have been a bit high in recent weeks but eggs still are a good protein food.

Ample supplies of dried beans and dried peas make them economical. The 1969 dried bean crop was six per cent above 1968 and 25 per cent greater than two years ago; dried pea production was 30 per cent more than 1968.

Cereal products, such as macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, rice and cereal grains, are important meat alternates. But since the protein in cereal foods is not complete, cereals should be used with milk, cheese, fish or eggs, Mrs. Clyatt says. These products will supply the needed complete protein.

However, if meat is on your shopping list, markets this week will feature various cuts of beef at special prices, Mrs. Clyatt says. In general, look for the best beef values on chuck roasts and steaks, short ribs, ground beef, round steaks and liver.

Pork prices are at about the same relatively high priced level. Good values may be found on picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks and end cut loin roasts.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include oranges, grapefruit, apples, bananas, pears, potatoes, head lettuce,

Three organizations have joined in providing funds and livestock for a special research program with Texas A&M University. The study involves the effects of energy and phosphorus on beef cattle reproduction.

Dr. A.M. Sorensen of the A&M Animal Science Department, project leader, said the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo is providing feed and labor. Chance Farms of Bryan is supplying livestock and hay, and Fair Foundation of Tyler has given funds for research facilities at the East Texas Research and Extension Center near Overton.

Sorensen said the project is investigating the problem of delayed re-breeding of first-calf heifers. The trouble is primarily in the East Texas and Gulf Coast regions.

"The problem is apparently one of nutrition, with phosphorus deficiency strongly suspected," the animal scientist explained. "In the research, different levels of phosphorus and energy in a complete feed are being supplied to determine the best levels for optimum reproduction."

Dick Weekley, general manager of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, said results of the research should prove valuable to the livestock industry. Jim Eller, Chance Farms manager, said the study will help him develop better methods of breeding and raising calves for sale as crossbred replacement stock.

The Fair Foundation is interested in improving overall livestock production, especially in East Texas.

Ed Fugger, associate agricultural agent in Smith County, is conducting the actual research at the Overton station.

Fugger said the study is unique in that it is an "on location teaching demonstration" at the headquarters of Extension Districts 5 and 9. It also affords off-campus projects for A&M students working toward advanced degrees and professional improvement.

Sorensen said the program will act as a basis for future research projects and provide feeding management practices information in East Texas.

Artificial Breeding of Beef Cows Gain Favor

Is artificial insemination (AI) profitable for the beef cattle producer?

Figures released by John R. Beverly, Texas A&M Extension animal reproduction specialist, seem to indicate that AI is not only feasible but also profitable for the beef producer.

Factors such as type of semen used, existing facilities and availability of extra labor can cause variations in cost. However, the best approximation of cost comes from a recent survey of 43 ranchers presently using AI. These ranchers are either using only AI or using it in conjunction with a natural breeding program.

Total average cost for each AI calf born on these ranches was $7.92, while total average cost of a calf born from natural breeding was $9.78.

"The cost range when using AI was $4.00 to $19.00," Beverly said. "The range showed a spread of $5.00 to $18.00 when using natural breeding."

Only four of the 43 ranchers used technicians to artificially inseminate their cows, Beverly continued. The other ranchers did their own insemination or utilized personnel which seems to be the most practical and popular concept, he said.

According to Beverly, research reports indicate a cost of $8.84 a calf when the sire costs $65 with a $1.12 per calf additional cost for each increase of $100 in bull cost.

"All recent reports show that artificial insemination equals and in some cases, under good management, even exceeds the conception rates obtained through natural breeding," Beverly said. "The average conception rate for both is 70%."

The advantage of breeding artificially is that the rancher can utilize the service of a $30-35,000 bull, which would be economically impossible with natural insemination, he explained.

"A bull can conceive only about 200 calves by natural service in a year," Beverly said. "However, with the use of AI a bull can produce approximately 5,000 calves in the same period."

Nearly all companies selling semen now offer schools for training producers and includes instruction in semen handling, the insemination technique and thorough explanations on initiating AI programs, he said.

"The instruction is generally over a three to five day period and costs approximately $75 to $150," Beverly concluded. More information concerning AI may be obtained by calling the local county agent.

KNOWING FORAGE QUALITY IMPORTANT

Many Texas dairymen have seen small differences in both feeding and management take their toll in lowered milk production. A. M., Meekma, Extension dairy specialist, Texas A&M University, suggests that if the dairyman does not know the nutrient value of his forages he can't do much about making the necessary adjustments in his concentrate feeding program. Thus, the dairyman stands to lose dollars as a result of decreased milk yields or as a result of feeding excessive nutrients — especially protein.

For many years dairymen were confronted with the problem of getting a reliable estimate of the feeding worth of their hay and silage, the specialist pointed out. This problem, he continued, has been eliminated by forage testing. Chemical analysis, which is available to all dairymen from several sources, will allow him to feed his dairy cows what they need for top production and will change his dairy management practices from just milking cows to a scientific enterprise.

However, Meekma pointed out, forage testing results are only as reliable as the sample submitted for analysis. He urges all dairymen to take a truly representative sample of the forage to be fed for testing purposes. Also, since the moisture content of silage is extremely important, care must be taken to assure that the samples submitted for analysis contain the same amount of moisture when received at the laboratory as when taken from the silo. If the silage sample is allowed to dry on its way to the lab, the analysis reported by the lab and consequently the feeding recommendations offered by the Extension dairy specialists will be inaccurate.

A core sampler for sampling hay is available for the dairyman's use at many local county Extension offices. The county agent can also provide shipping containers, report forms and information sheets necessary for mailing forage samples, Meekma said.

One inch thickness of lumber, according to the Texas Forestry Association, gives the same insulation as six inches of brick or 12 inches of concrete.

McCrary-Knox Vows Solemnized in Church Ceremony Saturday, March 7 In Clarendon

The First Baptist Church Chapel, Clarendon, Texas was the setting for the double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Kathy Ann McCrary and Ricky Allen Knox Saturday evening, March 7, 1970. Robert C. Jones, minister, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary McCrary of Lubbock, Texas and Calvin McCrary of Clarendon, Texas. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Knox of Clarendon, Texas.

The couple exchanged vows in the chapel which was decorated with two gold candelabras, each holding seven white wedding candles. Surrounding each candelabra were sprays of greenery and small white pom mums. Pews reserved for the family were marked with orchid and white bows.

Tapers were lighted by Mark Topper and David Holland.

Pianist was Mrs. Jim Glass. Music chosen for the wedding included "Web of Loveliness" and "Twelfth of Never."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Jimmy McCrary, wore a floor length A-line gown of white satin and lace fashioned with long, bell sleeves of scalloped lace and a cathedral train of satin accented with lace flowers and sequins. Her mid-length veil of illusion was attached to a pearl tiara and was trimmed in scalloped lace. She carried out the traditions of something old, new borrowed, blue, and a penny in the shoe. Her cascade bouquet of white pom mums was centered with a white orchid and showered with streamers and small pearl rings of love.

Miss Cheryl Hardin attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Karen McCrary, sister of the bride, Claudette Kamp, and Mrs. David Holland. Attendants wore dresses in an A-line design of orchid peau de sole and matching headpieces. Each carried a nosegay of orchid and white pom mums. Miss Kay Greer registered guests.

Kent Rattan attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Chuck Adkins, Donald Shields, and Glenn Judd. Serving as ushers were Mark Topper and David Holland.

Mrs. Mary McCrary, mother of the bride, wore a light blue shift dress complimented by white accessories. Mrs. Knox, mother of the groom, wore a pastel pink and orchid two-piece suit accented by black accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony. The table was laid with an orchid satin cloth and appointments of crystal and silver. An arrangement of orchid and white pom mums in a silver vase centered the table. The cake was a three-tier and was decorated with cupids, pairs of doves, and gold wedding rings.

Assisting with the serving were Cindy Anglin and Kathy Mears. As a traveling costume, the bride wore a pastel pink sleeveless dress with a matching pink and tan long sleeved coat and tan accessories. The couple will be at home in Amarillo.

The bride is a graduate of Clarendon High School and has previously been employed at Gloom Memorial Hospital. She is presently enrolled in a business college in Amarillo. The groom is also a graduate of Clarendon High School. He was recently enrolled at Clarendon College and is presently employed in Amarillo.

Among the out-of-town guests who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stoner of Ft. Worth; Mrs. Judy McCrary, sister-in-law of the bride, and daughter, Jodi, Mrs. Wanda McDonald and Debbie, Suel Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lancaster, Linda and Lyndol, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Word,

Accent On Health

Are the so-called "childhood diseases" limited only to children and do adults have an immunity to them?

Not, so says the Texas State Department of Health.

The childhood diseases are a myth. The fact is that these diseases are so contagious among children that most people have them by adulthood and thereby have developed immunity. But adults can and do catch them, and when they do they are sometimes much sicker than children. Two of these so-called childhood diseases — mumps and German measles (rubella) — have special dangers for the adult patient. Mumps can be damaging to adult men and women. And German measles, when occurring in the early part of pregnancy, can result in damage to the unborn child. A new vaccine may eventually lead to the eradication of German measles, but there is a danger until all women in the child-bearing years have been immunized against it.

So, if you are exposed to any "childhood" disease and believe you have never had it, ask your doctor what you can do to protect yourself.

It is extremely important that you and your children keep protection against smallpox up to date. True, the absence of smallpox in this country has led to a lack of public concern about this serious disease, and large segments of the adult population are unvaccinated or require boosters. In some part of the world smallpox continues to be a serious problem. If just one single undetected smallpox case should be introduced into a U.S. community, it could touch off a serious epidemic.

Is it true that a baby is protected by his "natural immunity" acquired from his mother? Some of a mother's natural or acquired immunities, if any, can be passed on to her unborn infant as her blood courses through the placenta that nourishes him, but this inherited immunity remains effective for only a short time.

In the case of whooping cough, a highly contagious disease that is especially dangerous and often fatal for small babies, there is evidence that immunity is only occasionally passed on.

Every parent, advises the State Health Department, should plan an immunization program beginning at six weeks of age against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, poliomyelitis and smallpox. Booster shots to maintain complete protection should follow at prescribed intervals throughout childhood and, in the case of certain diseases, well into adult life.

Can we, the taxpayers, afford to obligate ourselves for $1,090,000.00 in a county of 4,000 people? This bond issue is to be secured by a lien on our homes and farms for a period of 40 years bearing interest, tax free, at 6.5 percent. Conditional Program, Rural Home Builders The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced start of a conditional commitment program that will permit it to finance small subdivision-type housing developments in the nation's small towns. Previously, the Department's Farmers Home Administration could finance the building of the new homes only on a single-unit-at-a-time basis. The conditional commitment does not reserve funds for a loan nor does it provide for construction financing. The FHA will issue a commitment on each proposed house, but will hold builders to 15 commitments at any one time. The commitment will be effective for 12 months unless extended. The application fee for a commitment on a new house is $45 and $35 for rehabilitation of an existing house. Experienced builders, including

TO ABAFT THE BEAM IS BOAT DANGER ZONE

Keep an eye on the weather, be shipshape and stay afloat to sail again is good advice to boat owners and pilots from the Texas Safety Association, which adds that knowing water rules will help sportsmen run a trim ship and perhaps save a boatwreck. TSA suggests these boating rules to help Texans stay out of troubled waters:

- A. The danger zone for all craft is from dead ahead to two points abaft, or aft of, the starboard (right side when facing forward) beam. All pilots must yield to vessels heading toward them in this 112 degree danger zone.
- B. Unpowered boats and sailboats have the right of way.
- C. Boats being overtaken have the right of way.
- D. Each pilot is responsible for any damage caused by his boat's wake.
- E. Keep to the starboard when meeting another boat head on, or when sailing along a narrow channel or canal.

Strong winds and high waves have sunk many seamen, which prompts TSA to say that preparations should always include checking forecasts for wind velocities, swelling tides, possible storms and sudden changes. A good portable radio will take most of the guesswork out of weather forecasting when on the water, and it is well to listen frequently.

Wind warning flags are another weather aid to boaters. One red triangular pennant is enough to signify that winds may gust up to 40 mph. Two pennants signal a gale.

If a boater does get into trouble, daytime distress signals include waving outstretched arms up and down, smoke devices, and waving an article of clothing on an oar or fishing pole. At night, a red flare or waving light should attract help.

While most tax practitioners are competent and honest, Mr. Campbell alerted taxpayers to these potential danger signals: Never sign a blank return; Do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil, it can be changed later; Avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and Be on your guard if it is suggested that your refund check be mailed to the advisor.

Mr. Campbell said a professional advisor should sign the tax return he prepares on the line provided and you, the taxpayer, should record his name and address for future reference.

Need help with your income tax return? If the answer is yes and you seek professional help, be sure to select only qualified and reputable advisors, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

A taxpayer can have someone else prepare a return, but it is the taxpayer who is responsible for the accuracy of the data entered and for the full payment of any additional tax, penalties, and interest charged, IRS District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., said today.

Have you signed up? If not, only a few days are left until the last day to do so, March 20th is the last day. There are a great number of farmers who have not been in to sign their "Intentions to Participate." No doubt about it, there is sure to be a last minute rush. Keep this in mind; program participation is not automatic; you must sign up in order to be eligible for program benefits.

Wheat & Barley Certification

The final date to certify 1970 wheat and barley acreage is May 1. Producers whose feed grain bases include barley must make a report even if no barley is seeded. We are ready to accept your reports any time between now and May 1. When you certify, be sure the acreage you report is correct because an incorrect report could cost you your entire payment.

If you are not sure of your acreage, it might be to your advantage to use our measurement service. This service is available upon request and payment of the necessary costs.

Producers participating in the wheat but not the feed grain program must designate their diverted acres.

Rye or oats may be left as cover on diverted acres, provided you file an intention by May 1 to leave these crops as cover.

Guar and castor beans may be planted for harvest on diverted acres.

A per-acre reduction will be made at the rate of 50% of the applicable payment rate for additional diversion times the number of acres planted to these crops.

Deadline Near For Vehicle Inspection

"With the April 15 motor vehicle inspection deadline five weeks away, only about 50 percent of the registered vehicles have been inspected," stated Captain Alan Johnson, Motor Vehicle Inspection Supervisor of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Unless there is a rapid increase of inspections, it appears that many vehicles will not be inspected before the April 15 deadline. Any driver operating a vehicle displaying an inspection sticker on the right-hand side of the windshield after April 15 will be operating in violation of the inspection law," Johnson added.

Johnson noted that this will be the last April 15 inspection deadline, because on September 1, 1969 the Texas Legislature adopted a year-around inspection program. Inspections will come due one year after the current month of inspection. This will establish an anniversary month for each vehicle to be inspected and prevent the log-jam of over six million vehicles to be inspected at one time.

The new inspection sticker will be placed on the left-hand side of the windshield. The number of the current month of inspection will appear on the sticker.

HOSPITAL DISTRICT AND BOND ELECTION
Donley County, Texas
March 14, 1970

NOTE: Voter's signature to be affixed on the reverse side.

POLICY STATEMENT

The Temporary Board of Directors of the Proposed Donley County Hospital District feel that it would be appropriate to issue a policy statement in regard to the tax rate and the amount of bonds to be voted in the election this coming Saturday.

The Temporary Board of Directors of the Proposed Donley County Hospital District have obtained the services of experts in the field of financing, and it is upon their financial advice that the method and procedure of the amount of bonds is being voted. Changes in Federal governmental policy obviously will have to be followed at the time the proposed loan is obtained from the department of Housing and Urban Development for of $590,000 of hospital bonds to be issued by the Hospital District, but out of the $590,000 bond issue, it is hoped that approximately one-half of the authorized bonds need ever be issued. The citizens of Donley County can be assured that the Hospital District certainly will not issue tax bonds more than is absolutely necessary.

As to the proposed loan obtained from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, such loan will be repaid out of operating income, most of which will be from Medicare receipts. It can not be repaid from taxes. In effect, the government will be repaying its own loan.

As to the tax rate, the law creating the Hospital District provides that a minimum tax rate of 75c per $100.00 valuation must be authorized by vote. This does not mean that the Hospital District must collect such amount of tax. It will only be necessary to collect a sufficient amount of tax to retire the bonds and for the maintenance. According to the opinion of the financial advisors, it will require only approximately a 40c tax rate to support an entire $500,000 bond issue. Consequently, if the bonds that are issued are only about one-half of what is being voted, then the effective tax rate could likewise be proportionately reduced.

The residents of this County are already paying the equivalent of a 10c tax rate that was voted in 1948, and it is felt that the increase in tax will be modest in comparison with the medical and extended care facilities which the residents of this County will have.

It is not the intention of this Board to saddle a heavy burden of taxes on its residents. We feel that we are your representatives, and that it is our responsibility to have the least tax burden possible commensurate with the necessity of furnishing adequate medical and extended care facilities for this County. We will strive to do the best job possible under all circumstances as they may arise.

Respectfully submitted,

M. M. McCully
President Donley County Hospital Board
Clarendon, Texas

Dear Mr. McCully:

You have requested that, as financial adviser, I advise you of the amount of tax that would have to be levied by the Donley County Hospital District to pay the interest and principal on $590,000 of hospital bonds.

In January when the Schedule of Maturities was prepared, it was shown that a tax of 40c on each $100 of assessed valuation would retire the issue over a period of 28 years. Since that time the bond market has shown considerable improvement and we have every reason to believe that an interest rate lower than the one we used at that time will be received by the District for their bonds. In other words, the tax would probably be less than 40c.

The reason that the citizens are being asked to authorize a tax of 75c on the $100 valuation is to comply with the special Act creating the District. This does not mean that the 75c must be levied, but only authorizes the Board to levy up to this amount if needed.

As you will recall, it was the desire of the Hospital District to issue only $250,000 to $300,000 of tax bonds with the balance of the necessary funds to be borrowed from the Department of Housing and Urban Development as Revenue Bonds. However, to evidence good faith with HUD, it was decided to ask the citizens to authorize as much as $590,000 of bonds.

I trust this answers your question and if I can be of any further assistance, do not hesitate to call upon me.

Sincerely,
Shearson, Hammill & Co.

NEWS FROM Congressman
Bob Price
18th District, Texas

President Nixon made a long overdue move last week when he sent to Congress the Federal Economy Act of 1970. The President noted in his message accompanying the bill that, "no government program should be permitted to have a life of its own, immune from periodic review . . ."

"Too often in the past, 'sacred cows' that have outlived their usefulness or need drastic re-vamping have been perpetuated because of the influence of special interest groups. Others have hung on because they were too small to be worthy of attention," the President said.

While I may disagree with the priority of some of these proposals for reductions, I am quite concerned about the seeming "untouchability" of government programs once they are begun.

A small item may be termed a "drop in the bucket" of a $200 billion budget, but these drops add up. Every one of these dollars was sent to the Government by people like you and I, and we have a right to demand that they be well spent.

As the President points out, the government has a Board of Tea-Tasters since 1897. At one time, there may have been a reason for tea-tasters, but that reason no longer exists. The general attitude was: It did not cost much, so why upset the teacart?

That attitude should have no place in government. The taxpayer's dollar deserves to be treated with more respect.

The President proposed 57 savings actions for the fiscal year beginning this July 1. Forty-three of these can be taken by the President and 14 others require Congressional action.

Some of the President's proposals include:

1. Refrom of assistance to school districts in Federally - impacted areas — Originally, this type of aid went to school districts where parents of school children lived on Federal installations and, therefore, paid no school taxes.

During its 20 years of existence the program has been twisted to also include payments to districts where there are many Federal employees, but they do not live on Federal property and, consequently, they do pay local school taxes.

The President noted that returning to the original purpose of this act will save taxpayers $392 million in 1971 alone.

2. Medicaid — The original purpose of this program was to provide medical treatment to all persons, regardless of age, who could not afford such care. This has been enlarged to include long-term care in nursing homes and mental hospitals. The Federal Economy Act redirects the use of Federal matching funds toward medical care and provides new incentives for states to emphasize more efficient forms of extended care. Estimated savings for 1971 would be $235 million.

3. Space Research — Reduction of the number of manned expeditions to the moon, which will result in a $417 million savings for 1971.

Above is the Architects drawing of the Proposed New Hospital for Donley County

4. Duplicated Veterans Benefits — Medical insurers should be required to pay policyholders who choose to be treated in Veterans Administration hospitals for non-service connected disabilities. This would mean a savings to the taxpayers of $40 million in 1971.

5. Other Items — The $84 million per year spent to subsidize the purchase of milk for school children benefits a great number of children who are not poor. These resources should be re-allocated to more effective programs to benefit poor children; The Federal government should sell the Alaska Railroad to private enterprise or the State of Alaska;

Taxpayers will be saved $65 million if a Nixon Plan to replace grants to hospitals for construction purposes with loans from private sources guaranteed by the Government;

A program to sell materials which have been stockpiled by the Government will produce about $750 million.

In these times of high interest rates and a rising cost of living, the need to curtail unnecessary government spending is overwhelming. In this fight there is too much that needs to be done for all the people to permit special benefits to be conferred unfairly upon some of the people.

I plan to continue my efforts to reduce unnecessary government spending and will assist President Nixon in every way possible.

Sincerely,
Bob Price

MEATS FOR THE SEVENTIES — FROZEN?

Two recent experimental programs in merchandizing frozen meats have pointed up both potentials and problems, reports Frank Orts, Texas A&M University Extension meats specialist.

A Philadelphia firm for the past two years has been merchandizing 17 different frozen meat cuts from chopped beef to roasts. These products are packaged in a special wax-plastic hot melt process which seals frozen meat in an attractive high gloss carton.

The package, explains Orts, does not show the raw product, but rather how a discriminatory hostess might serve it to her family and guests. This firm has reported substantial growth in the sale of frozen meat from coast to coast in addition to a strong international market. They have found that shoppers associate the idea of frozen meat with convenience, says the specialist.

A Wisconsin firm has introduced a frozen meat bundle containing 14 cuts. Some problems have occurred such as lack of freezer space in the market and of visibility of individual cuts in the bundle.

Some housewives, notes Orts, have the idea that frozen meats in the meat counter are of sub-par quality; however, this was quickly changed after trial usage. They said the meat was very fresh even after it had been in their home freezer several days.

One of the major problems which must be overcome with frozen meat, explains Orts, is the acceptance of the product by Mrs. Homemaker. In the long run, he adds, the marketing of frozen meats has many efficiencies such as eliminating perishability and can lead to many economies for everyone.

LITTER CRITTER COST STATE $2 MILLION

AUSTIN — The Litter Critter, the Texas Highway Department's stompin' mad pomoter of the clean scene along Texas highways now is appearing on large colorful posters.

The Litter Critter has been prominent on the face of Official State Highway Maps issued by the Department for several years. He also has made "guest" appearances in public service features in newspapers and magazines throughout the state, in addition to appearing on other Departmental publications.

His message is simple: Help stomp out Litter! The Litter Critter is riled up at the annual $2 million cost of cleaning up after careless motorists who strew trash and litter along the 69,000-mile Texas Highway system.

The colorful new posters measure 17 x 22 inches and show the Critter, bitter about litter as

Tribute To Hospital Board

Donley County residents owe a real vote of thanks to the Board of Managers of Adair Hospital. These citizens serve without pay, after appointment by Commissioners Court and City Council. A majority of these members have served continuously since the hospital was reopened as a City-County Institution in 1956.

Consider their accomplishments. They sought to reopen an old, outmoded physical plant, constructed in 1910, which had been closed. For six years Donley County had had no hospital whatever, after several brief and unsuccessful attempts at reopening.

With a very minimum of tax support, they have provided thirteen and one-half years of continuous, successful operation. In addition to patient bed care, the emergency facilities have been in 24 hour service, and a licensed staff physician has been available at all times. In this county, it is a rare family which has not required a service from this hospital at some time.

Successively, it has been required that they maintain, at all times, approval as a Blue Cross institution, State Health Department licensure, compliance with Medicare and Medicaid, and continuing approval of various public and regulatory agencies. They have constantly upgraded and increased their personnel. When their licensed nursing school became fully accredited by the state, Adair Hospital was likely the smallest Texas institution to ever accomplish this.

Despite soaring costs of every nature, including application of new Federal wage and hour requirements they have kept the hospital continuously "in the black", have never asked for additional taxes or other sustentation, and yet have maintained a rate structure lower in overall cost to the patient than any hospital in the area.

The seven members of the Board of Managers are named below. They are conservative, substantial people and include some of Donley County's largest tax-payers. They started years ago planning a means to provide needed health care facilities. Unanimously they petitioned the State Legislature to provide the bill to create a county-wide district, and unanimously they petitioned the Commissioners Court to call the election for March 14th.

Support them. The next time you see one of them, thank him. Ask him how you can help.

Dear Lord please wipe away each tear

In Case of Fire

If you smell smoke at night, don't rush from your bedroom to investigate, warns the Texas Safety Association.

Place your palm high against the bedroom door. If its hot, don't open it. The hall outside is a deadly trap of superheated air and gas and can kill almost instantly.

If the door doesn't feel hot, brace your body against the door and open it a crack, ready to shut it if there's air pressure or the draft feels hot.

Get members of the family to safety quickly and don't waste time getting dressed or picking up valuables, urges TSA.

Catfish Farming Is Booming In Texas

Catfish farming is booming in Texas, a recent USDA Soil Conservation Service survey indicates.

The study reveals that 128 people are now raising catfish com-mercially in Texas on 3,500 acres.
Monty Sowers, district conservationist for SCS at Clarendon said, This is an increase of 1,000 acres over last year.

Sowers said that of the state's 128 catfish products, 42 sell fingerlings, 21 sell broodstock, and 62 sell market-size fish. Others sell fish from fish-out ponds where people pay a fee for the fish they catch.

About 60 percent of the catfish farmers have 5 acres or less in fish ponds while only 15 percent have 20 acres or more. SCS biologists believe that most producers with less than 5 acres will expand their operations as soon as they gain experience in catfish farming. On well managed farms, one acre of water can grow a ton of catfish.

"One reason for the increase in fish farming is that catfish have an extremely high growth-to-feed ratio," Sowers pointed out. "Catfish that are properly cared for often gain a pound of weight for every 2 pounds of feed. That compares with a pound of gain for every 5½ pounds of grain fed to beef cattle."

SCS has published a new booklet on catfish farming which tells how to get a catfish farm going, Sowers said. High quality water, of course, is vital and it should be above 70 degrees at least 7 months each year. The booklet outlines methods for com-mercially producing and harvesting channel, white and blue catfish.

Sowers said a well-designed farm includes separate ponds for breeding, rearing and holding fish and at least one holding vat.
Help in pond design and location is available for SCS offices. Since there are several hazards to raising fish, producers should plan their operations carefully, he said.

Copies of the new catfish booklet are free at SCS offices. Sowers said he also has a list of catfish farmers showing names and addresses if anyone wants to see it.

Don't Let It Happen!

The Hospital Issue Will Pass Because -

1. The majority of Donley County residents still possess pride and are willing to take care of their needs.
2. Most are not interested in driving "30 miles in any direction" to buy food, gasoline, clothes, cars, homes and many other items. I am personally proud for the fact of not having to leave the county to send my children to school or to attend church.
3. Most prefer Doctors to "First Aiders".
4. Most are not going to BE TOLD by OUTSIDERS how to operate the county affairs. (Groom Letter Writer).
5. Most believe that it is right and a responsibility to care for our own.
6. To survive as a community requires adequate facilities in the area of HEALTH - EDUCATION - WELFARE. We can push this responsibility off on other communities or let the government do it.
