CLINT AND CLIFF McDANIEL standing in front of M&M Enterprises

M & M Enterprises is Clarendons newest business

Ron McDaniel sold a very lucrative candy vending business in Amarillo to go into the used car, pickup, motorcycle, jet-ski business with his father.

Preston McDaniel gave up a thriving dirt contracting business to go into business with his son.

M&M Enterprises, located at the corner of Carhart and Highway 287, is off to a roaring start after only a few weeks in business. According to Preston McDaniel, they are sold out of the four-wheelers and have only a very few three-wheelers in stock, although they do have several motorcycles, jet-skis, cars on hand. The McDaniels are not authorized dealers for any single company. They have Honda, Kawasaki, and Yamaha motorcycles.

Make a Wish Tournery will be held May 9-11

The old high school gym will be buzzing with activity Thursday, Friday and Saturday, as teams from around this area compete for winning positions on the bracket for Saturday's play-offs. There will be women, men, and mixed teams playing. So if you're looking for something entertaining to do Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday, come and watch these teams. There are really some good teams in this area, and it's good, clean fun for the whole family. Games will start at 5:30 Thursday and Friday. At the time of this write up we weren't sure about the play-off times for Saturday. The charge will be a dollar at the door for adults and fifty cents for children school age to twelve.

All the entry fees from the teams and the door admission money will be donated to "The Make a Wish Foundation". The trophies for the tournament were donated by businesses and citizens of Clarendon.

We want to thank them for their support for this great organization. They are: Bright Newhouse Insurance, Syd Blues, Floyd's Automotive Supply, Alderson Chevrolet Inc., Clark's Restaurant, Dairy Queen, Evans Fertilizer, Osburn Furniture and Appliance, Stavenhagen Furniture, Appliances and Carpet, Bivens Pharmacy, Knorr Insurance, Texas Saddlery, Terry's Lawnmower Shop, Buster's Exxon, The Grocery Store, Art Studio, Kidd Texaco, The Nook, James F. Hayes & Co., Roger Murphy, James and Opal Evans, Punch and Kay Skelton and Cotton and Miram Sursa and Clarendon Public Schools for the use of the gym. Seven representatives from the Make a Wish Foundation will be here Saturday for the play-offs. They will give out the trophies to the winning teams. So come and join us Thursday, Friday and Saturday for some lively entertainment and help support a great cause.

WTU Summer rates effective this month

The price of electricity to residential and commercial customers of West Texas Utilities Co. will increase slightly this month as the company's summer rates go into effect.

The summer-winter rate differential for the two classes of customers was proposed by the Public Utility Commission of Texas staff during negotiations in WTU's rate case last fall.

Beginning with May billings, residential and commercial customers will be charged 1/4-cent more per kilowatt-hour. Residential base rates rise from 3.22 cents to 3.97 cents per KWh, while commercial base rates rise from 3.43 cents to 4.18 cents per KWh.

Coincidentally, there will be a fuel factor adjustment raising the cost of fuel from 3.14 cents per KWH to 3.5949 cents. This means that residential rates, including fuel costs, will go up from 6.36 cents per KWh to 7.5649 cents, and commercial rates, including fuel costs, will go from 6.5 cents to 7.77 cents per KWh.

The new base rates and fuel cost factor will be effective for bills rendered during the month of May. The summer rates continue through October.

The seasonal rate differential has been used by many companies for many years. The main reason is that

Hayes qualifies for state meet

The Clarendon Lady Bronco track team traveled to Big Spring this past weekend to compete in the Region I-AA track meet. The Lady Broncos competed very well against some of the toughest competition in the state.

Larinda Pettit and Terri Leffew finished ninth and tenth respectively in the discus event. Both girls threw personal bests in this event. Larinda is a freshman while Terri is a senior. Terri has done an outstanding job for the Lady Bronco track team for the past four years.

Kristin Couch suffered a leg injury while competing in the triple jump which kept her out of competition on Saturday afternoon. Kristin is a sophomore and will be counted on heavily next year.

Gayla Clifford finished in a tie for sixth place in the high jump. Gayla is a senior and performed very well for the Lady Bronco team.

The 800 meter relay team of Stefani Graham, Kristin Couch, Tammi Chambliss and Muzzy Hayes ran their fastest time of the year and placed eighth in the event. Stefani, Kristin and Tammi will all return next year.

Janet Risley set a new school record in the 400 meter dash while finishing fourth in the event. Janet is a junior and will also return next year.

The 1600 meter relay team of Janet Risley, Stefani Graham, Kristin Couch, and Muzzy Hayes ran a personal best for the year in the preliminaries on Friday. Following Kristin's injury on Saturday morning, Briggett Spier filled in for her in the finals and ran very well. The 1600 meter relay team ran their second fastest time of the year in the finals.

Broncos fourth at Regional Meet

The Clarendon Broncos scored 38 points at the regional track meet at Big Spring Saturday and finished fourth in the team standings.

Trent Sharp won the 800 in a time of 1:56.09 and will return to the state meet Saturday to defend his title. Sharp set the state record in a time of 1:52.5 last year. The Broncos had some near misses with three third place finishes. Robert Youngblood was third in the 300 I.H. race with a time of 39.66 and ran 39.44 in the prelims on Friday. Russell Alexander threw the discus 148'7" and finished third. The 1600 meter relay ran third both times Saturday. The relay was run twice because of a foul in the first race. The Broncos ran 3:25.9 and 3:29.6 an hour apart. Robert Youngblood, Rodney Smith, Leland Howell and Trent Sharp ran on the team. Dewey Mincey finished fourth in the pole vault with a jump of 11'6".

Muzzy Hayes won the 100 meter low hurdles to qualify for the State Meet in Austin, May 10 and 11. The race was never close as Muzzy easily outdistanced the remaining field. Muzzy will be a definite medal contender at the State Meet. Muzzy is a senior, a very hard worker, and has done a very outstanding job for the Lady Bronco track team the last four years. This is Muzzy's third year in a row to qualify for the State Meet, quite an accomplishment in itself. Muzzy will continue her education at Texas Tech University this fall.

Mitch Johnson wins medal at state

Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27th Clarendon was represented grandly at the State Literary Meet in Austin. Those attending the meet were Lynn Alderson as alternate in Persuasive Speaking, Amy Hancock in Poetry Interpretation, Mitch Johnson in Informative Speaking and Mrs. Fuzz Mooring was sponsor. In the preliminary rounds on Friday, Mitch spoke over the topic: "Where do the farmers stand in their fight for government aid?" With this speech he placed 1st in his round. Amy read her poem "Cotton Candy on a Rainy Day" by Nikki Giovanni in her preliminary round and also placed 1st. In the finals on Saturday, Mitch spoke on the topic: "What has Gorbachev done different from previous Soviet officials?" With this speech Mitch placed 3rd and brought the bronze medal back to Clarendon. Amy read, "The Inconsistency of the Desires and Criticisms of Men Who Accuse Women of What They Themselves Cause" by important New World literary figure Sor Juana Ine's de la Cruz. With Amy's effort she placed 4th in the State. When you stop and think a minute about the size of Texas and the number of schools, it becomes evident as to what an accomplishment it is to make it to State, much less, placing in the top six and even further, medalling at State. Mitch and Amy will be added to the Woody Literary Honor Roll plaque gracing the halls of Clarendon High School. These students should be commended for a great job representing Clarendon High School.

Tray Hermesmeyer top individual in 4-H competition

Tray Hermesmeyer, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hermesmeyer, of Sunray, outjudged all other competitors at District 4-H Livestock Judging contest held in Canyon recently to be named the top individual in that competition open to entrants from each of the 20 counties in this area.

To win that honor, Tray was the top swine judger, and placed well in the lamb judging categories. Tray's performance was instrumental in first place win for the Moore County 4-H junior team. The team was first in cattle judging and third in the sheep classes. Tray is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hermesmeyer.

If you missed "Hank The Cow Dog" Saturday morning on CBS based on the stories by John Erickson it was because you forgot it or because I told you the wrong station. Try one of the books at the library. T.V. is all right but it doesn't do justice to Hank. Hollywood has Hank a little less plain spoken. He is still a ranch dog but is out of Skool. It may make him more acceptable with mothers, Baptists and Kent Hensley. Even some fathers found Hank a little rank, but he seems real natural to dogdom. After all who are we to judge a dog's life?

Veda Mahaffey's sister from Colorado, Hazel Phillips, came last week. She and Frank and Hugh took Veda to White Deer to visit her sister Unice Rapstine and on to Pampa to visit Bea Barnes. The family had dinner together at Country Kitchen in Clarendon Thursday evening.

Hazel, J.R. and W.D. Brandon and Myrl and Frank Reger of Hedley visited Sunday with Jimmy Lee and Don Matherson at Claude.

CHILDREN LEARN WHAT THEY LIVE
Mother's Day always reminds me of my greatest teacher, my mother. I owe so much of my life to MiMi (Mom's nickname).

Whether you realize it or not the responsibility that a mother has is awesome. A child can be a success or failure depending upon the teaching of a mother.

The following article from a source unknown reveals that "Children learn what they live".

If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight.
If a child lives with ridicule, he learns to be shy.
If a child lives with shame, he learns to feel guilty.
If a child lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient.

If a child lives with encouragement, he learns confidence.
If a child lives with praise, he learns to appreciate.
If a child lives with fairness, he learns justice.
If a child lives with security, he learns to have faith.
If a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself.
If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, he learns to find love in the world.

I got lesson number three on the guitar at the Friday night musical jam session on May 3rd. I really appreciate the patience of all the musicians helping me with this task. The desire to learn is still in my head, but I'm not so sure about the cooperation of these sore fingers. Those playing Friday night were: Cecil and Alice Munden, Truett Behrens, Jack Davidson, Wallace Sides, and Fred Fortenberry. We would like to see a lot more of you people that play to come down and join in the jamming. It is for everyone.

Rural Electrification Celebrates 50 Years

Celebrates 50 Years

Saturday, May 11, 1935—just another spring day to millions of Americans. The send-a-dime chain letter craze was at its height. Rear Admiral Byrd returned from another trip to Antarctica, and the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants led the major baseball leagues.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt hurriedly completed work left from the week prior to leaving for a weekend outing at the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club near Hancock, MD.

One last-minute task was particularly pleasurable to the President. He signed Executive Order 7037, creating a federal agency to begin a program of rural electrification.

In creating the Rural Electrification Administration, Roosevelt had hopes of realizing the righting of a wrong he had resented since the mid-1920s and earlier.

He related a few years later that his electricity bill at his rural Warm Springs cottage in Georgia "was about four times what I paid at Hyde Park, New York."

That bill, he said, set him to thinking about a national plan for rural electrification.

This May 11, rural electric systems throughout the nation will be marking the 50th anniversary of that event.

Major events commemorating the anniversary will be held in Warm Springs, GA; Madison, SD; Washington, DC, and at hundreds of local rural electric systems in 46 states.

In 1935 rural America was in the dark—nine out of ten American farms did not have electricity.

FDR's signature and a people-led cooperative crusade brought power, light and economic stability to the countryside after a long and difficult struggle against all odds.

Today, nearly 1,000 member-owned rural electric systems in 40 states provide electric service to nearly 25-million people.

The observance in Warm Springs is in recognition of the fact that when Roosevelt recalled his high light bill there, he went on to say that "a little cottage at Warm Springs was the birthplace of rural electrification."

Bob Bergland, Executive Vice President and General Manager of FDR recounted in 1938 in Barnesville, GA, that he first began thinking about rural electrification while recuperating from polio at Warm Springs, GA.

Radio helped bring the 20th Century into the lives of rural Americans and—next to the iron, was the most popular—and often the earliest—purchase after the lights came on.

the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA), will deliver the keynote speech during day-long ceremonies on the grounds of Roosevelt's "Little White House" in Warm Springs.

In Madison, U. S. Postmaster Paul N. Carlin will officially issue the commemorative stamp in observance of the 50th Anniversary of REA.

The Smithsonian Institute in Washington will conduct a program "Electrifying Change: REA's 50th Anniversary" with displays of rural artifacts and an oral history program on Saturday, May 11.

Bergland says the nationwide observance of the 50th Anniversary is "a recognition of and a tribute to the vision, hard work and dedication to the men and women who helped bring electricity to themselves and their neighbors. Many said it couldn't be done, but they did for themselves what others would not do for them. Against the odds, they brought power and light to the farms and villages of rural America."

Opry with Red Foley and Minnie Pearl or the National Barn Dance with Lulu Belle and Scotty.

Boys raced home from school to try to finish their chores before the afternoon adventure serials. Rural mothers, as did city mothers, despaired of getting the children to the dinner table on those evenings when the announcer asked them to "return with us now to those thrilling days of yesteryear" while "the Lone Ranger rides again!"

Above all, though, they cherished the opportunity to listen to FDR's fireside chats. They had been given the chance to be a part of the political as well as the social life of the day.

RURAL JOBS

Since 1961, REA borrowers have helped start and expand more than 20,500 new commercial, industrial and community facility projects, producing nearly a million new jobs in rural America.

Return With Us to Those Thrilling Days of Yesteryear

When rural people referred to "The Radio," wrote essayist E. B. White, they meant "a pervading and somewhat godlike presence which has come into their lives and homes"

"The day we got our radio," wrote one farm wife, "we put it in the kitchen window, aimed it out at the fields, and turned it on full blast. During the first week, the men hated to be out of the sound of it."

Without doubt, the radio was the most desired and the most influential of all of the wondrous new appliances that came to the country with rural electrification.

"As soon as we got Momma an electric iron, we got a radio" was often heard. Indeed, the iron barely nudged out the radio as the most popular purchase. In home after home, Crosleys or Philcos became not only a center of information and entertainment but a place to proudly display family photos or other mementos.

The Rural Electrification Administration recognized the potential as early as 1936, noting that "the city dweller looks upon radio solely as a means of entertainment; the farmer relies upon it for the betterment of his economic status as well!"

Only two years later, REA reported a remarkable statistic: A survey of co-ops found that 86 percent of their members had a radio—even though the average project had been operating only eight months!

Radio had special meaning for the farm family. Market and weather reports rapidly made it a necessity. Its impact as an educational tool was, said REA, "well-nigh incalculable." The networks, the land-grant universities, the "clear channel" and local stations flooded the airwaves with practical farming advice, market news and—for the homemaker—information on clothes, diet, child psychology, cooking and more.

The thirst for knowledge, and the desire to keep up with their city

The thirst for knowledge, and the desire to keep up with their city cousins, made rural families an important audience. Almost every conceivable subject was offered over the airways. REA reported that even typing had been successfully taught by radio.

The longest-running program in the history of network radio became "The National Farm and Home Hour." It was on the air daily from October of 1928 to June of 1944 and was a weekly program for a time thereafter. Almost every rural American knew the voice of announcer Everett Mitchell and his daily greeting, "It's a bea-u-ti-ful day in Chicago . . ."

Rural families also listened to the same programs as everyone else.

Sunday nights they gathered around to "watch"—they invariably looked at the radio while they listened to it—Jack Benny, Fred Allen and Edgar Bergen and Charley McCarthy. The women followed "Oxydol's own Ma Perkins" and the other soaps. On Saturday night it was the Grand Ol'

WE ARE CELEBRATING 50 YEARS OF PROGRESS

IN THE RURAL ELECTRIFICATION PROGRAM

GREENBELT ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC.

In the '30s, 40 KWH a Month Seemed Like a 'Pipe Dream'

When rural electric cooperatives were first organized, their directors and managers wondered mightily how they and their neighbors were going to use all the electricity the lines were built to carry. Forty kilowatt-hours (KWH) a month seemed impossible.

Their apprehensions were short-lived, as a review of national rural electric growth rates indicates. Ten years after the program "took off" in 1938, the astronomical figure of 40 KWH, thought to be wildly optimistic earlier, had tripled to more than 120 KWH as a national average of on-farm consumption in 1948. And electric consumption in rural areas continued to rise at phenomenal rates for several decades. The accelerating consumption, combined with the millions of farms that were being electrified for the first time made rural electrification the growth industry in agricultural areas for many years—much to the delight of appliance and equipment manufacturers and dealers.

In 1938, when 40 KWH seemed like a pipe dream, the typical rural electric system had built and was operating 250 miles of line with $230,000 the co-op had borrowed from the Rural Electrification Administration. The fledgling electric utility had about 800 consumer-members who had elected directors to govern the affairs of the organization. The co-op staff consisted of a manager, a bookkeeper, a line foreman and crew.

By the time of the bombing of Pearl Harbor in December, 1941, and the outbreak of World War II, there were nearly 775 rural electric systems operating or under development across rural America. The war effort slowed the advance of rural electrification, but at its close, new legislation was enacted by Congress to complete the job. This legislation liberalized interest rates and payback periods for REA loans, making rural electrification possible for even the most remote regions.

By 1947 there were still 2.5-million farm families without light and power, but the period of rural electrification's greatest growth was about to begin. Feverish and fantastic growth followed for electric co-ops all across the nation. By 1948, more than 40,000 consumers a month were being connected to co-op lines. In 1949 alone, 184,000 miles of electric line—more than 15,000 miles a month, or 700 miles a working day, were energized.

By 1953, close to five million farms, or 88 percent, had been electrified and there were 1.2 million miles of electric lines singing along America's rural roads and highways.

By May of 1960, the 25th anniversary of REA, the big push for the construction and development of the local co-op systems had resulted in 97 percent of all U.S. farms being electrified.

But the bringing of light and power over the rural lines to farm families for the first time did not complete the rural electrification program and REA's and the electric co-ops' missions. The growth of electric consumption was pushing upward an average of 20 KWH a year and there was no let-up in sight. That meant new and heavier high-voltage lines had to replace the original system and additional and more powerful substations had to be built, all requiring big capital investments.

Another new challenge confronted rural electric co-ops on the 25th anniversary of REA—the securing of an adequate supply of wholesale power to meet the mounting demands of the distribution systems and its members.

In the first 25 years of rural electrification, the rural electric systems had built a few small generating plants and lines of their own with REA financing, but the majority of their power came from two outside sources—purchases from private power companies and from the federal government's power system of hydroelectric dams. By 1960, rural electric consumption was outstripping the capacity of these sources to provide further power at wholesale for the co-ops.

One response was to create new groups and federations of co-ops to generate and transmit power to several—or many—local distribution systems. Today, these power supply networks reach over vast regions to supply an increasing portion of the power needed by cooperative members.

Early crews, like this one stringing lines in Kansas, built lines on an "assembly line" basis. A succession of workers went along country roads surveying, dropping poles and hardware, digging holes and setting poles, then stringing lines. This REA innovation was one of those which helped cut the cost of building rural lines to a third of what they had been only two years earlier.

Electricity New Helper In the Household, New Hired Hand for the Farm

Washing, ironing, cooking, sewing, preserving foods - a hundred household tasks - were revolutionized for the farm wife.

REA accelerated the use of electric household appliances by educating co-op consumers about electricity and its uses. The agency, in the typical fashion of its early, activist style, took rural electrification on the road with a circus tent and trucks loaded with demonstration equipment not just for the home, but for all the barnyard and agricultural uses that the farmer and his sons were hungering to learn and master.

It didn't take long after the light and power came into the farm home that farmers and ranchers realized its potential for lightening their daily work. Electricity could grind feed, pump water, shell corn and saw wood. Electricity furnished the bright lights in the barnyard, giving precious extra hours to bring in the harvest.

At the heart of all these lightened labors and increased productivity was the electric motor—the new "hired hand."

Before electricity, the farmer's idea of a good hired hand was a "steady worker"—one who was healthy and didn't loaf on the job, who didn't go off on a periodic spree or wander off in the middle of harvest.

Now the farmer had that steady hand. A one-horsepower motor could do as much work in an hour as a man could do in a day. It became the most steady, reliable worker the farmer or rancher had ever known.

The fears that no one would ever use all the electric "juice" flowing through the new co-op's power lines were dispelled as rural men and women flocked to the appliance stores on Main Street to purchase appliances and equipment.

A survey by one rural electric system, only 12 months after it brought in electric service, showed how dramatic the purchase of appliances and equipment had been: 84.3 percent of its member-consumers had electric irons and radios; 63.2 percent had washing machines; 48.2 percent had vacuum cleaners, 35.5 percent had toasters; 27.1 percent had electric motors and 16.2 percent had water pumps.

*FDR lit my front porch door,
And my daddy paid five dollars
To buy that pole and the wires too,
To give my family power.*

It happened quietly. All across the countryside, small groups of people gathered informally to talk about building and owning electric distribution systems... rural electric cooperatives.

These men and women became the pioneers of rural electrification... a program which now serves more than 25 million rural people in 46 states.

And today, rural electric systems still provide essential light and power to the countryside. We still greet newcomers. We still sign folks up like we did 50 years ago, and for the same reason... to give our families power.

U.S. Stamp Honors Rural Electric History

The U.S. Postal Service will observe the 50th Anniversary of the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) on May 11, 1985 with the issuance of a special commemorative stamp.

The first day of issue ceremony will take place in Madison, SD, the headquarters town of East River Electric Cooperative, a generation and transmission rural electric system that provides power to 24 distribution cooperatives and one municipal system. Altogether, the power-supply cooperative provides electricity for nearly 200,000 people in South Dakota and western Minnesota.

Special guests at the May 11 event will include U.S. Postmaster General Paul N. Carlin, who will officially issue the stamp, members of the South Dakota delegation to the U.S. Congress, and Vernon C. Williams, president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Invited guests will include the stamp's designer, Howard Koslow, an artist who also has the Brooklyn Bridge commemorative stamp and the Tennessee Valley Authority commemorative stamp to his credit.

The South Dakota site was chosen for the first day of issue because of the importance of agriculture to the state and because of the emphatic influence rural electrification has had on making American agriculture and the agrarian lifestyle more productive. As with most commemoratives, the Postal Service will print 160 million REA stamps. They will go on sale May 11, the first day of issue, and will be sold for about 60 to 90 days through local post offices. First day of issue postmarks can be obtained at the opening day ceremonies in Madison or through written requests to the Postal Service.

RE ACT

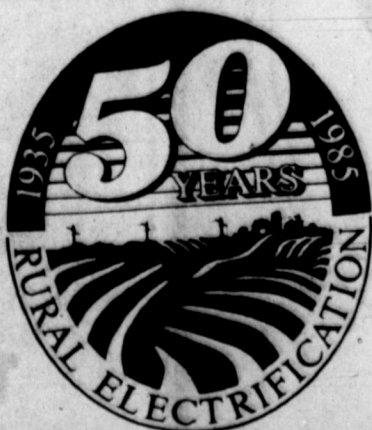

The Rural Electrification Act was passed by Congress in 1936, the year after REA was created by Executive Order. Sponsored by Senator George Norris (R-NE) and Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-TX) it continued the REA and established a loan program to finance qualified entities willing to provide electric service to rural areas. Preference was given to nonprofit enterprises.

Watt's Happening in Hedley

by Peggy Watt

Ernie Houdashell was in town last week. He drove down from Amarillo to bring a letter from Congressman Beau Boulter. He and Bill Hill stopped by the newspaper office in Clarendon as he dropped it off. Ernie is the Area Representative of Congressman Boulter and Bill is the County Campaign manager.

Max and Neva Lewis, Eric and Karah, of Quanah spent part of last week with her parents, Red and Dean Hill.

The family of the late Roy McKee and Ruby Behrens McKee met in the Hedley Lion's Den Sunday, April 28 for a family reunion. Those enjoying the noon meal and visiting were all the living children of Roy and Ruby. They are Leroy McKee of Belview, Washington; Bill McKee of Houston; Betty Conrad and Mary Upton of Amarillo; Mattie Lou Nivens of Quinlin; and Sue Weatherly of Hedley. Ruby was there along with these grandchildren, brother and sister and in-laws, J.C. Upton, Michelle McKee, Casey Jo and Tim Upton, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wayne Linders, James Earl and Kim of Portales; Odell Nivens, Dena (Conrad) Milliron and Jennifer, Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. B.E. Jones and Archie Behrens, Clarendon, and O'Neill Weatherly.

The Hedley Lioness Club met in the Hedley Lion's Den on May 2, for their last meeting until September.

President, Zora, Stephens opened the meeting and the Pledge of Allegiance and prayer were led by Mary Ruth White. A gift from the members to the outgoing president was presented to Zora Stephens. A very enlightening program and film on breast cancer was presented by Onita Thomas and Jo Schollenbarger. Everyone appreciated the program. A delicious meal was enjoyed by 32 members and guests. The Hedley Young Homemakers were special guests. Those attending were Zora Stephens, Helen Lamberson, Dorothy Whitaker, Dorothea Crawford, Mahdeene

Guests were: Jonnie Webb, Norene Powell, Cindy Kirkpatrick, Sondra Layton, Onita Thomas, Jo Schollenbarger, Miss Robin Springer, and the Hedley Homemakers, TimberLee Potts, Carole Ward, Kathi Holland, Becky Hill, and Nancy Stephens.

Everyone who's been sick seems to be getting better. I talked to Mrs. Hayes, and she told me that Floyd Hayes came home Tuesday and was able to be up and around but was still weak. He watched Johnnie Linville plant his garden. He doesn't seem to have suffered any permanent damage from the stroke he suffered two weeks ago.

Geraldine Wiggins went to the hospital Wednesday, and her doctor told her she was doing so well she could come home without having the surgery she expected to have, and he'll watch her for the next few months and see.

Ed Floyd had heart surgery last week, and at last report, he expected to be able to go home later this week. It's amazing to me how the doctors can cut a person open from the waist to the neck, repair damaged heart veins and send a person home in a few days.

Opal McPherson recently had major surgery at High Plains Baptist Hospital, Amarillo. Her daughters, Beverly Ray and Becky Edmondson, Springfield, Mo. and Kathy Richardson, Lawton, OK, came to be with her. Her daughter, Carolyn Kirkland, Amarillo, brought her home from the hospital and stayed several days with her. Opal came through the surgery great and is having a speedy recovery and can't wait to start playing Skip-Bo and visiting all her friends at the Senior Citizens.

Nookie and Geraldine Wiggins, Nell Land and Dorothy Johnson went to Amarillo Sunday and visited Opal McPherson and Ed Floyd in the hospital there.

I've heard people say that the time of miracles has passed, but that isn't true. There are miracles happening around us every day if we care to see them. You pray for a miracle and really expect to get one, and you do!!!

It was good to have Sharon Wheatly back in church Sunday. I expected to see her using a cane, but she managed to climb the steps unaided. She did have trouble reading her music, but blamed it on her glasses. She said she'd broken her regular ones and was using an old pair. Someone told her it wasn't just the glasses that were old. Her granddaughter is named Rebecca Elizabeth.

Lori Ann Yannis spent the week-end getting spoiled by my family. She attended church with us Sunday.

Bob and Cheryl Wiggins have their produce stand open for the summer. Geraldine Wiggins told me she'd been putting strawberries in the freezer.

I talked to Opal Murray and Dannie Bernadin in the grocery store Friday. I don't see Opal as often as I would like. She's busy every day at her fabric shop and I spent a lot of time on the road between Hedley and Clarendon. I'm still using a bed-spread she made for me when she first opened her shop. Of course I see Dannie at church most Sundays.

Kendra Martin was in or will be in a twirling program. She's taking twirling lessons and is the cutest thing. Her little baton is no more than 12 inches long. I asked Sis where she got her quietness, but I don't think she told me the truth. She said Kendra inherited it from her.

Mrs. Virgie Nivens fell Sunday and fractured her pelvis. She's in Hall County Hospital in Memphis.

Terry Long is visiting his parents, Jane and Bob Long.

Juanell Carson made a short business trip to Amarillo Monday. The business might have included a visit with the grandchildren.

The Seniors and their parents were guests of honor at a banquet hosted by the junior class Saturday, May 4. The theme was "Follow your dreams to the end of the rainbow". Miss LaMoss Springer, who is the Senior sponsor sang a song about rainbows. She was accompanied by Mrs. Sheila Wade. After a welcome by Ricky Springer, Ben Clifford responded in behalf of the seniors. Kelley Harmon introduced the guests. Debbie Clubb and Tonya Moore gave a history of the senior class. Stephanie Holland and Jennifer Gibbons gave a class prophecy. The senior will was read by Karon Harmon and Gaylee Osborne. Members of the junior class are Ricky Springer, Stephanie Holland, Kelley Harmon, Jennifer Gibbons, and Tony Monroe. The junior sponsor is Mrs. Cheryl Pickard.

The seniors are Ben Clifford, Carl Cox, Thunder Denton, Karon Harmon, Craig Kennedy, Brent Hall, Tonya Moore, Debbie Clubb, Gaylee Osborne, David Phelps, and Shane White.

The meal was catered by Delores Birkey of Quail.

Mr. Lyndon Messer took his 7th and 8th grade classes in Texas History on a field trip to the JA Ranch Monday. They were accompanied by Mr. Bryan Hill.

The tour started at the Mess Shack where the cowboys have their meals. The class didn't get there in time to eat with the crew but thought they would like to eat cowboy food cooked by the ranch cook.

Guided by Mr. Roger Long and Mr. Tom Blassengame, they saw the herds of cattle and visited Camel Camp, which is the home of Mr. Blassengame.

The old post office was used as a library for the cowboys in the later years when the postal service stopped the post office. In the mess house there are stuffed heads of a long horn steer whose horns measure about 6 feet from tip to tip. There is also a head of a buffalo and a hereford bull.

Mr. Blassengame came to work on the JA in 1916 and has been there since except for about 2 years which he spent in Arizona. He has lived in the same house near Tule creek where the last battle between the Comanches and the Army took place. Everyone enjoyed the trip and wished they had had time to visit the site of the battle.

The JA Ranch covers over 300,000 acres in Donley, Hall, Briscoe, and Armstrong counties.

A MORNING DIP

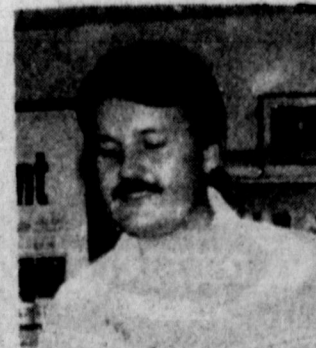

To those who love the water a "morning dip" is a healthful and relaxing swim. But there is a morning dip that may be hazardous to your health. This morning dip, as reported in the medical journal Lancet represents an early morning decrease in the ability to breathe. The so-called morning dip is especially prone to occur in asthmatics and has been linked with an increased risk of sudden death.

Various medicines have been used to prevent early morning decreases in breathing ability in asthmatics. Oral medicines taken during the day and at bedtime often produce side effects and have not been universally successful.

Doctors in London successfully reduced the morning dip in 8 out of 14 patients who were given two medicines by inhalation. These medicines, salbutamol and beclomethasone, provided improvements in breathing that produced a "striking reduction in early-morning symptoms and sleep disturbance." These researchers suggested that, for certain asthmatics, relatively safe inhaled medicines be used in place of more troublesome oral medications.

Letter to the Editor

I just heard and read some of the ridiculous statements by the liberal Democrats in Congress and the Washington News media claiming President Reagan has broken his promise not to cut Social Security benefits. These Eastern liberals, under the leadership of Tip O'Neill and Ted Kennedy, are trying to turn Social Security benefits into a political football.

Since President Reagan took office in 1981, the average American couple on Social Security is receiving approximately $214 more per month than they were before he became President, and don't forget that it hasn't been long since under the President's leadership, the Social Security system was saved from what many of our leading economists said was headed for certain bankruptcy.

The President has not recommended any cuts in Social Security for next year, what he has done, in cooperation with the leadership in the U.S. Senate, is propose a guaranteed annual two percent increase in Social Security benefits regardless of the inflation rate up to four percent and anything above that would increase benefits. However, Congress has killed this proposal along with many of the special interest deficit cutting items in the budget.

My guess is that we will not have any deficit cutting except in defense. There is considerable evidence that a fairly large number of Congressional members who would reduce our defense to the National Guard and Reserve level and use the savings for their own pork-barrel projects and social programs.

Most Senators and Congressmen don't have the intestinal fortitude (guts) to resist the pressures put upon them by the special interest groups, such as Amtrack, college loans, revenue sharing and many others.

There is a saying "we get the kind of government we deserve." maybe our hands-off attitude toward our elected officials should be changed. You can bet the special interest groups tell them how to vote, why don't we?

SPOTLIGHT On Teen's

By REV. TONY COLBURN
PARENTS AND TEENAGERS

When your parents discipline you they are aware of some attitude which might hurt you for the rest of your life if it isn't corrected. These attitudes are the same areas that God wants us to change. Some of these attitudes are: Laziness, Pride, Ungratefulness, Temper, Rudeness.

Selfishness, Sloppiness, an Unforgiving spirit, etc.

You need to realize that God is using your parents to weed out these bad attitudes. If we do not cooperate with God and our parents, He will use another authority figure (teacher, employer, government official, police, warden) to keep working on us. Prov. 15:31-32 says, "The ear that heareth the reproof of life abideth among the wise. He that refuseth instruction despiseth his own soul, but he that heareth reproof getteth understanding."

You need to learn how to cooperate with God by obeying your parents as they love, instruct and discipline you. Remember, when you take discipline from your parents, you are really taking it from the Lord. And, remember that what you are receiving is a form of love. Prov. 3:1-2 says, "My son despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither be weary of His correction, for whom the Lord loveth He correcteth, even as a father the son of whom he delighteth."

Parents, I hope that when you discipline your children you are doing it out of love and not out of anger. It sure makes a difference.

Appraisal District Directors meet

The Board of Directors of the Donley County Appraisal District did hold a public meeting Monday evening, April 29, at 8:00 p.m. in the courthouse annex in Clarendon, Texas.

Minutes of the 2-18-85 meeting were approved.

Chairman Leo Smith opened a discussion with Don Smith about doing an audit of the 1984 operation of the Appraisal District office. Motion passed to hire Don Smith for the 1984 audit.

The order by the District Court to dismiss the lawsuit, the J.H. Spier, Jr. lawsuit was received.

The first quarter 1985 financial report of the Appraisal District was received.

A report of the adjustments to the SPTB appraisal values of 1983 to be used for 1984 was presented. The values will be used by the Texas Education Agency as a basis for state aid amounts to Clarendon and Hedley schools.

Bids were opened and considered for the districts depository. After comparison and discussion, motion passed to award the depository agreement to the First Bank & Trust Co. for two years beginning July 1985.

The board accepted a request by Charles SoRelle to send appraisal notices only to those property owners whose appraised values were increased by $1,000.00 or more by tax code 25.19; this does not change prior year's policy.

An Appraisal Review Board seminar will be held in Amarillo June 14 by the State Property Tax Board; appraisal value bearings are tentatively considered for July 12, 1985.

The date of the next appraisal district board meeting will be called by Chairman Leo Smith.

Pauline Morris receives plaque from CJC

On April 27, at the banquet of the Clarendon Junior College Ex-students Association, Mr. Ken Martin presented Mrs. Pauline Morris with a plaque for her dedication and support of the college.

Three generations of her family have attended the college, and Mrs. Morris has worked tirelessly to aid in its growth.

The plaque, which was signed by both Kenneth D. Vaughan, president, and Ken Martin, Dean of Education, read, "In grateful recognition of her support and dedication to Clarendon College and her tireless effort and foresight in the continued growth of Clarendon College is most commendable and gratefully acknowledged."

Mrs. Morris graciously accepted the plaque from her place at the banquet table.

There were 100,000 fewer American farms in 1979 than in 1978.

The first nation to receive foreign aid from the United States was Venezuela. The money was appropriated in 1812 to help victims of an earthquake.
