State Capitol Highlights and Sidelights

By BILL BOYKIN

New federal revenue sharing funds totalling $294,045,044 will be distributed to state, county and city governments in Texas during the next fiscal year.

This is $9 million more than allocations for the current year which amount to $285,228,345 for all units of government in the state.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe reported state government will get nearly $3 million more for the 1974-75 fiscal period beginning July 1 than the 1973-74 allotment.

State government's cut is $38,081,488 compared with $35,283,690 for this year.

An overpayment of $108,711, due to an Office of Revenue Sharing mistake in Washington, will be deducted from next year's funds sent to Texas.

The allocation is based on a formula including consideration of population, per capita income and tax effort.

Under next year's formula, hospital district taxes will be considered in the total county tax effort. Hospital taxes previously had been considered a city tax effort.

Six Texas counties will get larger revenue sharing allotments while some cities within the counties will get smaller amounts.

Harris County, which now receives 6.87 million, will get $9.65 million for 1974-75. Houston will receive slightly less—$17,366,889 as compared with $18 million under current formulas.

The Dallas County total will increase from $3.58 million to $5.2 million. Nueces County's share will increase from $1.7 million to $2.3 million. Bexar County's from $2.6 million to $5.2 million. El Paso County's from $1.8 million to $3.25 million.

The city of Dallas will get slightly less — $13.1 million, as compared with $13.6 million. Corpus Christi's total will decline from $3.66 million to $3.4 million. San Antonio's from $9.6 million to $9.3 million. El Paso's from $6.1 million to $6 million and Fort Worth's from $5.26 to $5 million.

DROUGHT DECLARATION SOUGHT — Governor Briscoe has requested U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz to declare Coleman County a disaster area as a result of drought conditions in the county. Briscoe requested the disaster declaration provide low interest loans and other assistance to farmers and businesses that suffered wheat crop losses from the drought.

The Governor informed Secretary Butz a number of other Texas counties have been affected by prolonged dry weather and high winds and similar requests for supplementary Federal assistance may be received from other county officials in the near future.

State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said estimates of wheat losses due to drought conditions in 47 Texas counties run about $160 million.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — Under most circumstances submission by State Welfare agencies of basic information concerning the identity of welfare recipients to a centralized computer does not violate any Federal or State common law statutory or constitutional right of privacy, Atty. Gen. John Hill has ruled.

In an opinion requested by Governor Briscoe, Attorney General Hill noted there would be no public disclosure of the information hence no violation of law. The Governor had noted that the centralized computer list would eliminate the need for welfare recipients to fill out applications.

Hill also issued an opinion saying it is a legitimate expenditure of campaign funds for "publicity" purposes to furnish transportation to members of the press to accompany a candidate on campaign travels.

"If paying for the transportation of newsmen is a means of securing publicity, and we think it is, then we cannot say that it is an unreasonable one," Hill said in his opinion.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Briscoe has named five Pilot Commissioners for the Port of Galveston and Texas City. Each will serve a two-year term expiring April 15, 1974.

Appointees from Galveston are Sam Tramonte, William Sprull, Leroy Brown and J. C. Seiffert. Fifth appointee was Allen D. Wilkenfeld of Texas City.

HOST COMMITTEE NAMED — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has named the following four state senators to serve on an ad hoc host committee for the Southern Legislative Conference in San Antonio, July 16-19: Sens. Nelson W. Wolff and Glenn Kothmann, both of San Antonio; John Traeger, Seguin; and Grant Jones, Abilene.

RIGHT TO READ MEETING — Dr. Ruth Holloway, U. S. Office of Education director of the nationwide "Right to Read" program, will speak at the conference of Texas reading coordinators in Austin May 13-14.

Sponsored by the Texas Education Agency, the conference will be held at the Thompson Center on the University of Texas - Austin campus. Eighty additional schools will be added to the program in September. The program is designed to match learning needs of every student with special training for reading teachers and supervisors.

HUD AGREEMENT SIGNED — Governor Briscoe has entered into an agreement with the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development transferring administrative responsibilities for HUD's 38 neighborhood facilities to the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

The facilities, which are located in 32 Texas communities, have been built under terms of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965. Under terms of the Act, ownership of the centers is vested in the community with HUD remaining responsible for administering use of the centers.

Under the new agreement, the Department of Community Affairs will assist local governments and local service agencies in developing and implementing programs to more fully utilize the neighborhood facilities. At present, HUD officials say, there is gross under-utilization of space and equipment at many of the facilities.

NEWS FROM

Congressman Bob Price
13th District, Texas

WORLD GRAIN PRODUCTION ESTIMATES UP

The Foreign Agriculture Service of USDA now estimates world grain production for 1973-74 at some 15 million tons more than earlier expected, an increase of one and a half percent, due mostly to improved crop outputs in the Southern Hemisphere and an 8.3 million ton upward revision in the estimate for the U.S.S.R. crop.

World production and consumption will have an effect on prices for U. S. crops and Texas producers should keep world as well as local developments in mind as they plan their own crop production.

The FAS also estimates that stocks of major grain exporting countries will be more this coming June 30 than the previous year. World grain stock is estimated at 112 million tons on that date, and could increase by 26 million tons by June 30, 1975.

World grain production estimate for the 1974-75 season are up even more, some 31 million tons. The U. S. itself is expected to account for most of this increase with U. S. grain acreage expected to grow by some 15 million acres, the FAS reports.

World grain consumption is also on the increase. Over recent years, world grain consumption has risen an average 28 million tons annually, with well over half the increase going to feed animals.

Shortages of fertilizer and fuel, not just in the U. S., but elsewhere in the world as well, could have some effect toward holding down the expected rise in world grain production. These factors, together with a potential desire for traders to build grain stocks, could result in a very tight supply - demand situation in world grains during the next year or two, the FAS reports.

In Northwest Texas, the lack of moisture has crippled wheat production and is threatening to delay cotton planting. Dryland farmers should ask their local ASC offices to inspect any drought out wheat in order to be eligible for disaster provision payments under the 1974 Farm Act.

During my last visit, I could see plainly that much of our dryland wheat is lost. I found considerable dissatisfaction concerning a lack of inspectors and the methods being used to measure partial crop yields. In Washington, I met with USDA officials who promised to send more inspectors into Texas quickly and that current inspectors would be directed to work overtime hours, including weekends. I stressed the importance of farmers being able to get a quick assessment so they can graze the partial crop, if desired, before it deteriorated.

PLANTING TIME FOR COTTON in our area is later this month and whether we get some moisture in time to facilitate the planting will be important to our crop this year. Some producers have already forward contracted this year's crop.

If we do get good weather conditions again this year as we did last, we should find ourselves with another record cotton crop, which would be an economic boost to cotton-producing areas. USDA crop intentions reports show some 14.8 million acres will be planted to cotton in the U. S. this year. If these intentions are realized, it will be an 18% increase over last year's 12.5 million acres.

Fuel and fertilizer shortages, again, may have a dampening effect on production; but the shortage of petrochemical feedstocks means less competition for cotton from synthetic fibers in the marketplace this year and probably next. Also, the USDA and the International Institute for Cotton are working to broaden overseas demand for U. S. cotton.

In Texas, plans to locate new denim producing plants near to our upland cotton fields mean nearer markets for cotton producers, and more jobs and more income for local economies.

ENERGY BILLS passing the House this week included the compromise bill officially creating the Federal Energy Administration. It requires energy producing firms to give the FEA full supply, cost and pricing information; and also gives the FEA authority to impose gas rationing.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a special $2.2 billion appropriations measure to fund energy research and development.

A significant threat was posed this week for oil producers and royalty owners when the House Ways and Means Committee approved a new tax bill which will phase out the depletion allowance and impose a "windfall profits tax" on crude oil sale prices of more than $45 a barrel.

Producers will be able to take advantage of "plow-back" provisions in the bill designed to encourage re-investment in more energy production. But it is a realized fact that most royalty owners, including farmers, doctors, lawyers and anyone owning even small royalties, will be unable to qualify for "plow-back" incentives since they are not involved in actual drilling and production operations. This feature of the bill would prove costly to every lease holder.

The profits would impose a tax of 67.5 cents a barrel on the first two dollars above the $4.50 base price in the bill, and 85 cents on each dollar above $6.50. This means a royalty owner selling a barrel of oil for $8.50 ($4 a barrel more than he got a year ago) would net only $1.625 more.

This kind of legislation won't bring us any more energy. Instead, it will contribute to stifling incentive for the increased production this nation needs to help us attain energy self sufficiency.

Fun After Fifty Club Meet Held Saturday

The Fun After Fifty Club (Senior Citizens) met Saturday, May 4, at Lions Club Hall. Since May has been proclaimed Senior Citizens Month, this was a special meeting.

After the meeting was opened with prayer by O. C. Watson, special recognition was paid Mrs. Paul Shelton and Mrs. Walter Taylor, members, who were called to the front to occupy seats of honor. Mayor H. M. Breedlove made them presentations of awards recounting the many years of faithful and devoted community service and the contribution these two ladies have made to make this a better place in which to live and enjoy, not only for themselves and families but for all who were to follow.

The Clarendon Lions Club presented a corsage to each of these ladies as an expression of the high esteem and appreciation for their constructive contributions to our community. The Senior Citizens Club also provided a special certificate of award to each lady. Mrs. Clarence Hamilton was presented a corsage for her work.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill Attorney General

Several cases involving the use of coupons or coupon books in promotional campaigns or to interest consumers in dealing with certain shops or businesses have recently come to the attention of attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division.

In one case, books of coupons good for a dinner in some of a city's "finest restaurants" were offered for sale. The coupons supposedly would allow one free meal with the purchase of another at regular price.

As some purchasers found out when they tried to use the coupons, however, there were a number of strings attached to them. For one thing, no more than one coupon per group would be honored. Some consumers who had planned parties, intending to use their coupons as partial payment, found they had a much larger bill than anticipated.

Another case involved a sewing machine distributorship operating from within Texas but doing business in other states as well. The company was sponsoring a simple puzzle contest in which virtually all entrants were notified that they had won second prize.

The "winners" received coupons resembling checks for $200. These "checks" were so realistic that a Texas bank even cashed one. A letter accompanying the coupons stated that they could be applied to the purchase of various models of sewing machines costing between $250 and $300.

It turned out that the same machines were being sold for $200 less by other dealers, so the winners' coupons were actually worthless. Consumers who had purchased sewing machines as a result of these sales tactics were taken in by a promotional "come on."

Under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices - Consumer Protection Act such practices are prohibited. Our Consumer Protection attorneys were able to get a permanent injunction against the company's further use of any contest or puzzle that makes prospective customers think they've won something of value when they haven't, against the use of coupons that make prospective customers think they have received legal tender or a negotiable document, and against several other practices. Other states report that promoters are selling coupon books based on an appeal for charity.

These operators are offering consumers the chance to buy books of coupons that can be redeemed at local business establishments for merchandise that usually is worth much more.

Most of the solicitations, they tell us, are made by telephone. The caller gives the impression that part of the proceeds from sale of the books will go to a charity, although only a very small percentage of the money is ever received by any charitable organization.

Consumers should check with local businesses listed as participants in any such promotion to be sure that the terms of the offer are accurate. They should also check all coupon books for the name, address, and telephone number of the promoter of the offer.

If you're uncertain about a company, or if its sales tactics seem questionable, my assistants advise that you check with your local Better Business Bureau before doing business with them. If there are complaints on file with the BBB, you will be alerted to the fact that some persons have been displeased in their dealings with the company.

If you have a consumer problem, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division or your local district or county attorney for assistance.

Supplemental Social Security Income

By TRAVIS C. BRIGGS

Q-How do I apply for the Supplemental Security Income?

A-Visit or telephone your nearest Social Security Office to file a claim. Q-My wife and I receive social security of $158.00 per month. We own our home and we have some lake property which is worth about $3,000.00. Could we qualify for Supplemental Security Income?

A-Normally, a couple could not qualify when they have property or other sources worth more than $2,250.00. However, if you are willing to make a valid disposal of the property, you might qualify on a conditional basis pending sale of the property.

Q-I have a mentally retarded son who is 5 years old. Is it possible that he can qualify for the Supplemental Security Income?

A-The new Supplemental Security Income program provides for payments to disabled persons in financial need regardless of their age. The parents' income has to be taken into consideration. You should contact your nearest social security office to see if your son can qualify.

Q-My mother receives social security of $130.00 per month. I let her live in one of my rent houses which normally rents for $40.00 per month. Can she qualify for the Supplemental Security Income?

A-Generally, a person cannot qualify for Supplemental Security Income if his unearned income exceeds $160.00 per month. The fair rental value of the house would be considered income for your mother and would mean that her total income each month is $170.00 per month. Therefore it appears she could not qualify.
