Board Considers Greenbelt Water Funds

the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority has tentatively scheduled a called meeting January 27 to consider the fiancing and engineering on a $1,454,700 improvement project.

The proposed improvement package, which includes seven different projects, would transform the Authority's water supply system from gravity flow to a pressure-pumped system in order t, continue to meet the demands of the panhandle area, to meet the needs of a thirsty land and turn it into a 'greenbelt.''

Greenbelt Lake is located seven miles north of Clarendon in the resort area of Howardwick, Sherwood Shores and the Clarendon Country Club, and Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority serves the member cities Childress. Clarendon, Crowell, Hedley and Ouanah.

In addition, the Authority is the sole source of water for Red River Water Authority. which serves 60 ranches from the main Greenbelt line and has water lines running to the following rural areas: northeast of Memphis, Harrell's Chapel, Newlin, Turkey-Estelline, Tell-Cee-Vea, Route 5 of Childress, Kirkland, west of Goodlett, north and south of Quanah, west of Crowell, Medicine Mound, Jugoe Public Construction, Crisp Pump Station southwest of Quanah, Burg's Community, Tabor Pump Station, Carey and the Childress Country Club.

Although Greenbelt Water Authority has a permit to pump 8.5 million gallons per day on a yearly average, manager Jimmy Kuhn said, the yearly average is presently only 2.5 million gallons per day.

But during peak water usage in the summer months, the Authority pumps 6.5 million gallons per day from the lake, 100 per cent of capacity under the present gravity flow

Although there was talk of building a lake at the present spring-fed site since the 1920's, and legislation authorized it in 1954, Greenbelt Lake was not built until 1966. Due to the recent droughts, it is still not full.

The lake level now 60.40 feet deep, 13.60 feet below the service spillway, which will come into use when the lake passes 84 feet deep. Now holding 25,000 acrefeet, the lake will fill an expanded basin when full, spreading some distance from the present shores. The surface area will then be 1,900 acres, and it will hold 60,000 acre-feet.

'The Governor's Water Resources Office says we need to make our projections 50 years ahead," Kuhn said. Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, he said, has a permit to build that will be 15 or 20 years in the future.

With the present system already inadequate for present needs, much less for future growth, Kuhn said that the capacity has got to be increased to get more water through the lines than is available under the present system to meet the needs of Red River Water Authority and the towns on the lower end.

"Even if we get (the proposed project) approved." Kuhn said, "it will take about two years to get it completed because it will take that long to get the materials in.

"You've got to stay three or four years ahead in the water business, or you will come up short one day," he continued. "It takes longer to get through the government red tape than it does to build anything.'

Kuhn said the Authority has been trying to get a FHA grant for $700,000, nearly half of the cost of the project, working through U.S. Rep. Bob Price. Price wrote in a letter to Kuhn last August 19 that Texas State FHA Director J. Lynn Futch had informed him that the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority Charter would have to be amended in the state Legislature before it would be possible to enter into a financial agreement with the federal government.

Price strongly recommended that the Authority "seek the appropriate change in (the) charter, as this step is apparently essential before the federal government can be of assistance in (the) project." He promised further cooperation at that time, as did Futch. Authority board president R.A. Yarborough of Childress has contacted state congressmen about the needed change, which will be considered this year, Kuhn

Greenbelt Water Authority was set up under an Act of the 1954, 53rd Legislature, which declared an emergency and set up the Authority to serve the member cities, as amended, well, Hedley and Quanah. That Act forbids the Aughority to enter into any contract with the federal government or any of its agencies or instrumental-

The bill before the Legislature would change Section 24 of Chapter 35 to permit such contracts, including the acceptance of grant monies, as deemed advisable by the board of directors (Section 28).

"This would permit the Authority to accept grants," Kuhn said. "A FHA grant would finance $700,000 of the improvements project, which is not yet in blueprint form because we thought it not advisable to proceed any further and incur any more expense until the necessary legal changes are made."

Kuhn said that if the Authroity does not get the grant money, then the farmers and ranchers watered by Red River from have their needs met either. Red River serves the counties of Hall, Childress, Hardeman, Foard, Cottle, Knox and a few ranches in Donley County. They have expansion plans for Knox, Collinsworth, Wilbarger and Donley counties, Kuhn said. Of course, one of the major expenses of any water system is for the water lines, which will be used at a greater efficiency under the proposed pressure-pumped flow than under the present gravity flow system.

Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority has the power to tax upon authorization by local referendum, but all debt obligations thus far have been met solely through revenues on water sold, Kuhn pointed out.

"The more water you can sell," the Authority's manager said, "the cheaper it is. As long as we can sell it, there is no need to tax."

Authority's Board of directors requests that the Texas Water Development Board. which hold all its special obligation bonds, assist the Authority in the proposed project by refinancing the Authority's outstanding revenue project by refinancing the Authority's outstanding revenue bonds, totaling about $8,000,000. Additionally, the Texas Water Development Board would allow the Authority to purchase its interest in the water storage capacity of Greenbelt Lake.

The Authority has met all interest payments since the date of bond issuance promptly at maturity, according to Doshier, Pickens and Francis, CPA's, Amarillo, all present debts of the Authority would be serviced under the present payment schedule within 30 years.

The improvements project proposed would include the following: a $120,000 reserQuanah; a $486,600 elevated tank at Medicine Mound: $34,200 worth of temporary work at the Greenbelt Lake filter plant, to be done as soon as possible, perhaps next summer; a $37,600 Pease River pump station; a $49,400 raw water pump station at Greenbelt Lake; $154,200 worth of permanent filter plant improvements; and a reservoir and pump station at Childress, to cost $572,700.

Cost estimates were done this month by Freeze and Nichols consulting engineers of Fort Worth. They ordered the projects according to priorities. The 1-million-gallon Quanah reservoir and pump station, the elevated tank at Medicine Mound and the temporary filter plant work received the highest priority and would be done first. The cost of this first phase would be $640,800.

The second priority would be for the Pease River Pump station and the premanent filter plant improvements, costing a total $241,200.

The third priority would be for the 4-million-gallon Childress reservoir and pump station, $572,700, for an overall $1,454,700 total.

Each member city's council appoints one member to serve on the board of directors of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority. They are: chairman R.A. Yarborough of Childress, Howard Stanley of Quanah, Carroll Korpp of Clarendon, Henry Black of Crowell and C.L. Johnson of Consumption records of the member cities for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1973 were: Childress--353. 358,000 gallons, or 40.53 per cent; Quanah--162,904,000 gallons, or 18.68 per cent; Clarendon--126,059,000 gallons, or 14.46 per cent; Crowell--111,510,000 gallons, or 12.74 per cent; or 2.18 per cent. All other users, including Red River Water Authority, which increased its consumption by 76.32 per cent in 1974, used 99,027,000 gallons, or 11.35 per cent.

The proposed resolution was brought up at the board's January 16 meeting, but Johnson moved to table it for further consideration. Kuhn said that even though a majority of the board members favored the resolution, "You like to be unanimous when you ask for grant money."

"The refinancing of the bonds was a subject that was brought up right quick," Johnson said in a telephone interview Monday. "Nobody had a chance to think about it. The first I heard about it was last Thursday night. When refinancing $10 million, it takes a lot of consideration. Therefore I put foreward the motion to

Firemen Answer Three Alarms In Four Days

The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department responded to three alarms in the past week, two house fires and one at the new Dairy Queen.

Clarendon Police Chief Gary Gerdes and Donley County sheriff's deputy Steve Vines extradited James Corbin, 21, from California late last week.

Corbin was charged with jail escape after he disappeared from the county jail on November 10, Gerdes said. He was originally charged with the November 8 burglary of the local Coca Cola Bottling Plant, in which the master keys to all the Coke boxes in town were taken.

Several boxes were opened and the coins taken, and Corbin, who had worked for the Coca Cola plant for a short while, was arrested by Gerdes and Vines left Wednesday morning, January 15, took custody of Corbin on Thursday and returned Friday evening from the 2,400-mile drive.

Pedestrian Is Hit, Has Minor Injuries

A pedestrian was struck by an auto in an accident at 9:45 Monday morning at the corner of Kearney Street and Hwy. 287 in Clarendon.

Shep Jones, 72, of Clarendon was taken to Adair Clinic by Associated Ambulance Service with minor injuries to his left knee and a knot on his head.

The driver of the car, John Allen, 74, also of Clarendon, was making a left turn with the light red and reportedly did not see Jones, who was walking with the light also, in time to stop and struck him.

Clarendon College's Buildogs lost a barnburner to Amarillo College at Amarillo Tueday night 73-71.

The Badgers, averaging three or four inches taller in a game where height is a premium, ranked two places above the Bulldogs in the conference with a 10-3 mid-season record.

The Bulldogs held their own till shortly before halftime, when Amarillo slipped to a five point lead 38-33.

Amarillo's Badgers continued the trend, pushing their lead to 12 points with 13 minutes remaining in the second half, with the help of shooting set up through 6'8' Campbell.

Clarendon coach Gene Davis called a timeout at that point, and the Bulldogs returned to play with a vengence.

The game was paced much faster than most throughout, and it seemed that some of the Bulldog starters would burn themselves out before long into the second half.

But the tighter the time limitation and the more frenzied the pace, the more determination they showed. They trimmed the Badgers' lead down with the aid of rebounding by Blanks and some *fine outside shooting by Hughes till they were tied up with 1:47 remaining.

Clarendon College took the lead when Archie Hughes was fouled and got two shots from the line. Hughes hit seven of seven free shots that night.

During those final minutes the Bulldog defense was a sight to behold. They were all over the Badgers, who turned over the ball again and again without scoring. Through the final minute and a half, Amarillo was able to score and bring up a tie situation, followed by the Bulldogs recapturing their lead, then another tie.

With 19 seconds on the clock, the Badgers got the ball out of bounds, brought it in and stalled. Not taking any chances, the coverage was such that they couldn't shoot, and the Badger in possession was pushed back into a corner by the sideline.

When he did pass it out, the buzzer sounded just as Campbell put the ball in the air. It went through the net, and after some discussion the officials decided to count it, giving Amarillo the win.

It is a shame that statistics columns list only wins and losses, that there is no room in the statisticians books for games played with the spirit and determination shown by the Bulldogs at Amarillo.

But that is one loss that they have no reason to be ashamed of, as everyone who witnessed will agree. Such a game would have to be witnessed to appreciate the Archie Hughes was high with 17 points, followed by Terry Blanks and John Hagans with 15 points each, Davy Graham with 10 points, Donald Warrior with eight and Charles Quisenberry with six. The Bulldogs hit 17 of 19 free shots, better than 89 per cent, compared with three of six of Amarillo.

Clarendon College will host Frank Phillips Junior College from Borger tonight, January 23, at 7:30.

LEGAL NOTICE

Close-

The Commissioners' Court in and for Donley County Texas, will receive bids for the county, school and trust funds in regular session of the Commissioners' Court on February 10, 1975, at 1:00 o'clock p.m., in the County court room in the court house. The court reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Each bid must have certified check.

Mike Boothe, who was listed on the Clarendon signed College Dean's Honor Roll inthe January 9 Clarendon Press, is a sophomore, not a freshman as reported.

Community Action Center

A clinic at the Clarendon Community Action Center will offer immunization against several childhood diseases on January 27 from 10 a.m. till 2 p.m.

The clinic will offer free of charge vaccines for protection against polio, diphteria, tetanous, whooping cough, measles and rubella.

The clinic is sponsored by the Texas State Department of Health, which took the lead in lowering the incidence of these childhood diseases to an all-time low in

Public health facilities throughout the state provided more than three million immunizations during the year, and private physicians added a great contribution to this effort. Texas schools continued to report 95 per cent or more immunizations among pupils for the childhood diseases, and a sizable increase in pre-school immunizations also was reported.

Day Care Center

Anyone interested in their child being in the new Day Care Center please drop by the Community Action Center and fill out an enrollment form on this child. One of the requirements for day care is a T.B. test.

There will be a lady in the Community Action and Planned Parenthood offices from 10:30 until 12:00 on January 24. The test will be given free and any child who will be utilizing the Day Care facilities, anyone wishing to be a worker or a volunteer must have this T.B. test.

All classes offered by CAP and Planned Parenthood offices are progressing nicely. The nurses aide class will be graduating the middle of February and all members of these graduates, families and their friends are invited to see these ladies receive their nurses' aide certificates and pins. Anyone interested in typing or shorthand, these classes are just now starting and there is still time to enroll and start class before you miss too many classes.

Welding class, bookkeeping, and carpentry classes are also meeting. And CAP and interior decorating class ready to start. If you are interested in anyone of these please call Robbie Hill, CAP director, at 2573 or Eureda Mays of Planned Parenthood at 3613 and you will be

Saw Dust Diet

Tests have shown that the coarse sawdust can be used as a roughage substitute at levels up to 15 per cent with not substantial loss in animal performance.

And a side benefit of special interest is that the sawdust may reduce cattle liver absceses commonly associated with high concentrate feeding. Research so far has indicated a significant reduction of liver abscesses.

Youths Will Collect Papers

The young people of the Episcopal, Presbyterian, and Methodist Church will pick up papers Saturday, January 25, from 10 a.m. until noon.

Please place your papers so they may be seen from the street and they will be picked up. Be sure to have them bound so they will not be blown by the wind or scattered by animals.

Due to the uncertainity of the paper market this will be the last collection until further notice. At the present we don't have a market for the papers and prospects of the market opening up is not too good.

We wish to express our appreciation to all of those who have helped in this effort by saving papers for us. We are sorry that it has become necessary for us to terminate our collection. If in the future, a stable market for papers should open up, it is our hope to resume collections. However, at the present time that hope is quite dim.
