FARM NEWS

from County ASCS Committee

Cotton Release
As we have told you before, we had 757.1 acres of cotton released in our county to be reapportioned to other producers who requested more cotton.

On Wednesday, March 11, a total of 670.3 acres of cotton was given our county making the acreage to be reapportioned 1427.4. This is not as much as we had last year but we are always pleased with any amount we are able to get.

Revised notices of allotments will be mailed very soon to all farmers who requested additional cotton.

Feed Grain Program
Let us remind producers with barley, grain sorghum, and corn bases that March 27, 1964, is the final date to sign up in the program.

Several producers have inquired about the possibility of planting castor beans on diverted acres. Castor beans can be planted and harvested on diverted acres with a reduction in the diverted acres payment. You must state your plans on the "Intention to Participate" as to whether or not you will plant any of the approved substitute crops.

If you are thinking of planting castor beans or any of the approved substitute crops, please do not fail to come in before March 27 and talk with us about it.

ACP News
We would like to pass the following information to producers who have carried out an ACP practice during this year. Payments cannot be made to a producer who has done his own work until July due to the fact that money for this purpose is not appropriated until that time. When a producer hires a vendor who has been approved to furnish conservation service to do his work then payment can be made to the vendor in behalf of the farmer soon after work has been completed. This is for the convenience of both farmer and vendor. The following services can be performed under CMS (Conservation Materials and Services) and payment made to the vendor: Materials in Place—Irrigation pipe, pipe drops; Services—Constructing terraces, diversion, and standard farm, necessary grade, shape and fill under practice C-1, Constructing permanent soil waterway, deep plowing, land leveling, constructing earthen dams, pits or ponds, controlling competitive shrubs, and installation of pipe drops, drop spillways and drop inlets. We have a list of the approved vendors on the bulletin board in the County Office. Anyone desiring to become an approved vendor is welcome to inquire. Remember, if you don't know the program provisions, or if you have any questions, don't hesitate to ask. We will be glad to talk with you.

Say, it's grass seeding time, deep plowing time, terrace building time, and tank building time—it's CONSERVATION TIME!

Chamber Of Commerce Names Top Member

Clarendon Chamber of Commerce's first annual banquet in several years was attended by approximately 150 members and guests. The school cafeteria was the site of the very successful occasion, and a goodly portion of the entire chamber membership were present for the banquet.

Jack Springer, executive vice-president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, was the principal speaker for the occasion. He outlined the problems of the various chamber of commerce organizations and the various plans and programs that were being used to solve these problems. He gave a very excellent discussion of the general programs of both the local and regional chamber of commerce organizations. Jim Covell, Industrial and Economic Adviser for the General Telephone Company, gave a brief but very interesting discussion of the possibilities of industrial development of the smaller towns in West Texas.

C. A. Pitts was announced as the top chamber of commerce member as selected by ballot by the entire chamber membership and will wear the title of "Mr. Chamber of Commerce for 1964." Beth Bourland, Lynn Bourland, and T. Rose Stepp, accompanied by Melissa Patterson rendered several vocal numbers for the group. The girls in the home economics department under the direction of Mrs. Fred Bourland did a very fine job of decorating for the banquet and they also served the delicious meal which was prepared by the school cafeteria staff under the direction of Mrs. Ferral Floyd.

J. R. Gillham, local chamber president, served as master of ceremonies, and the entire program was well received by those attending the annual event.

Majority OK's Change In City Form Of Government In Special Election

In what was termed a comparatively light vote, a majority cast their ballot to change the City form of government in a special election held here Tuesday, 219 voted for the change to Aldermanic type of government with 140 casting their ballot against the change. A total of 360 ballots were cast with one ballot mutilated.

Comparing the turnout of voters Tuesday with last City Election at which time the Mayor was chosen, the vote was some 200 votes less with the total in that election counted at 542. Apparently a number of voter-residents were not interested or figured their vote would not be needed to pass or defeat the issue. The vote to change the form of city government was by 79 vote majority.

Since a majority did vote for the change, all Clarendon residents, whether for or against the issue, should extend every effort to cooperate and assist the new government when it is formed.

According to City Attorney Bill Lowe, after a quick check of the law, the present City Commission has five days to canvass the election and declare the issue passed, the present form of government null and void and set up a new form of government composed of a Mayor and two Aldermen to serve until another election is called to elect Aldermen to serve the new government and they are duly installed. No decision has been made in regard to the three vacancies on the council.

The Leader will have all detailed information regarding the change by next week.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Excise Taxes

Excise taxes affect the pocket-books of each of us. They add to the cost of a long, long list of goods and services we buy. They swell the Federal treasury by billions of dollars — by an estimated $10.2 billion in the current fiscal year. And excise taxes — by which the Federal government "excises" (or slices out) its share of the purchase price — constitute a problem for consumers, retailers, and manufacturers, as well as the tax collector who is faced with a jungle of complex regulations.

The focus of Congressional effort to bring new sense and balance to the nation's tax structure likely will fall next on excise taxes — and, in my view, a sweeping review of the subject is long overdue. Congressman Wilbur Mills, the chairman of the

House Ways and Means Committee, has announced that public hearings will be held later this year on excise taxes. The purpose of the hearings, he said, will be similar to that which led the Committee to give thorough review to the income tax structure. That study directly resulted in the recent enactment of the income tax reduction and revision bill.

My prediction is that from the hearings to be held will emerge a major revision — if not an outright repeal — of the excise tax structure. Certainly there will not be time this year to complete hearings and committee study in the House and Senate, drafting of bills, debate and decision on the floors of both Houses of Congress. Possibly the matter will come to a decision next year, in the First Session of the 89th Congress. I'd expect that certainly before the end of 1966, major changes — if not repeal — will have been enacted. Aside from the time-consuming aspect of Congressional procedure on this kind of very involved matter, an important reason why action will not be taken swiftly is because the Congress and the country will want to judge the effects of the income tax reduction bill signed by the President last month. If the income tax reduction measure lives up to its promise to give the nation's economy a major boost, justification will be strong for a similar action affecting excise taxes.

telephone calls, tobacco, travel tickets. On some items, such as light bulbs, the tax is levied on the manufacturer. Because the manufacturer has paid the tax, the fact that it is taxed is not as apparent to a purchaser as is the fact that he must pay a Federal excise tax when he purchases a suitcase. But the tax is there — although hidden — on light bulbs and many other items you wouldn't suspect would carry a "luxury" classification.

I've heard that some retailers refuse to handle articles on which an excise tax must be collected directly because they wish to spare themselves the expense of being tax collectors. Many retailers can't avoid the chore. A jeweler, for example, must levy the tax of 10 percent whether the sale is 10 cents or $1,000. His advertising must carry the notification that jewelry is taxed. He must make separate book-keeping entries for taxes collected. He must make separate tax reports and remissions each quarter. He must make periodic tax audits. The excise tax for the jeweler is indeed a real cost of doing business. Many other retailers are similarly affected. Drug stores, luggage and leather shops, department stores, camera shops, grocery stores which sell many of these taxed products — all of them are deeply concerned with the matter.

Consumers, however, as taxpayers, have the most direct interest. It is money that, if diverted from taxation, would be returned to the mainstream of the economy through the purchase of a larger volume of goods and services and be reflected in a higher living standard for Americans.

To American cowboys spurs were a necessary implement when mounted, a social requirement when dismounted, and used for everything from a branding iron to a tombstone.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

NATURAL RESOURCES

... basic factor in economic development

Many industries are established close to natural resources. One is pictured above — the Bestwall Gypsum Company near Quanah, where gypsum wall board and allied products are made. It is near Quanah because of large gypsum deposits there, and is a perfect illustration of the economic value of a natural resource to a community.

Employing 200 people, it adds payrolls, increases consumer sales, builds deposits in banks such as the one pictured left, and is a major factor in the Quanah economy.

This is a PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

It is because here is a manufacturer using a natural resource. National studies show that each 100 new factory workers in a community increase local personal income by $660,000, bank deposits by $229,000, and create 65 new nonmanufacturing jobs, besides increasing all types of consumer sales.

The manufacture of natural resources pays big profits to a community, and almost every community has natural resources subject to development. WTU urges every community to assess and evaluate its own natural resources as a basic step in economic development.

WTU is proud to be a part of your community

MAYOR & COMMISSIONERS MAKE RETRACTION

We would like to make a retraction of a statement that appeared in last week's paper under the accomplishments of the city during the past year. The retraction is from item No. 2 where it was stated that the city purchased a 3/4 ton fire fighting truck, etc.

This statement was in error and is corrected to read as follows.

The city in order to assist the members of the fire department obtain a grass fire fighting truck signed a note for $4,000.00. All the money that has been applied to the note was contributed by farmers and ranchers and the various communities plus what the fire department itself has put into it. The balance of the note is now $1,511.09.

We certainly hope that the citizens of Clarendon were not misled into thinking that the city has put money into this truck. Also we want to assure the various ones who have contributed most generously that all contributions have been applied to the note.

March of Dimes Plans to Double Birth Defects and Arthritis Centers

Announcing plans to double the present number of March of Dimes birth defects and arthritis centers in the nation, the world's most successful voluntary health organization this week launched its traditional January fund-raising appeal.

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which financed development of both polio vaccines, said the goal this year would be $45 million, "a sum our medical and scientific advisers agree we can wisely use to combat the ravages of these cripples. This sum would apply to patient care, research, professional and public education."

The March of Dimes now supports some 77 birth defects and arthritis treatment centers across the country. According to Dr. William S. Clark, director of the medical department of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, the national dimensions of the health problems posed by birth defects and arthritis "have grown to a point where this nation requires at least 100 centers for birth defects and 50 for arthritis."

Mary Lou Graves, the 1964 National March of Dimes Child

"Through the generosity of the American people, we will build up our chapter and center programs across the United States to meet their needs. Our offensive against both these crippling afflictions will be re-doubled in 1964."

Leading in this offensive will be the members of the 3,000 March of Dimes chapters in the nation plus the volunteers they enlist—an expected army of two million people. The campaign continues throughout January and culminates with the "Mothers' March" during which some 15 million homes are visited from coast to coast. In addition, a total of 36 million "mailers" are distributed nationally to inform families of the health aims of the March of Dimes and they also serve as a means of returning contributions to local chapters. The herculean task of addressing these envelopes regionally is unselfishly assumed by volunteers—thousands of teenagers, homemakers, grandmothers. Helping to dramatize the campaign will be the cross-country tour of winsome Mary Lou Graves, 5, of Flint, Mich., who was born with an open spine, since repaired, and who developed excess water on the brain, another birth defect which has now rectified itself. Mary Lou, however, is paralyzed in the legs but moves with surprising alacrity with leg braces, crutches and her wheelchair. In addition to vivacious Mary Lou as the National March of Dimes Child, many states, counties and municipalities across the country designate their own March of Dimes Child symbolizing the aims of their local campaigns.

In her travels this month, accompanied by her parents, Mary Lou is scheduled to call upon President Lyndon B. Johnson at the White House and has already visited with many Senators, Congressmen, Governors and other high officials. The pretty five-year-old has "interviewed" the heads of such influential national organizations as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Elks, Rotary, Kiwanis and other service clubs including the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Catholic War Veterans, Jewish War Veterans and others.

An estimated total of 250,000 infants are born each year in the United States with serious birth defects. This is equivalent to one in 16 births, or 700 children a day. Of the quarter million total, more than 20,000 die, including stillbirths. As to arthritis, the other major health area in which the March of Dimes leads the attack, fully 11 million Americans are tormented by one or another form of this, the Nation's No. 1crippler.

Castor Bean Industry Discussed At Meeting

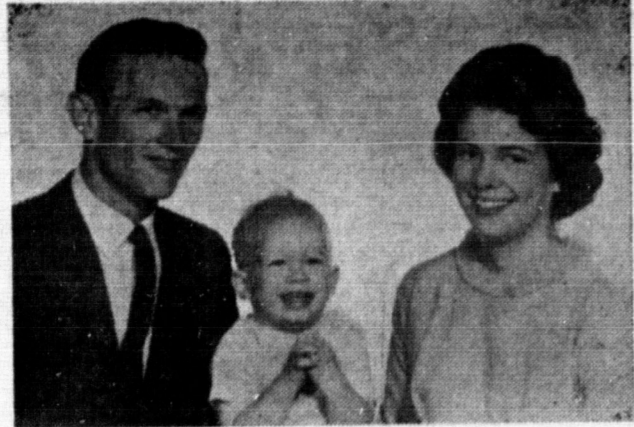

Fifteen farmers attended the castor bean meeting on the night of March 9 at the Farmers State Bank Community Room. Flip Breedlove, County Agent, was in charge of the meeting and introduced Mr. Anderson, representative of the Baker Castor Oil Company.

Mr. Anderson gave a complete history of the castor oil industry and the prospects of its future. He stated that in order to have a shipping point in this area that he must have contracts covering around 1500 acres. This could be in parts of Donley and Hall Counties. The minimum price that will be paid in 1964 for castor beans is $4.65 per hundred weight of clean seed. Mr. Anderson stated that under irrigation with proper fertilization and good watering, production of an excess of 2,000 pounds per acre could be expected. Dryland production would, of course, depend on the weather but from 800 to 1,000 pounds per acre.

Mr. Anderson also pointed out farmers could plant castor beans on diverted acres from feed grains. Farmers who divert 40 percent or more of his base acreage could plant his diverted acreage to castor beans and collect one-half the normal payment rate. This should be discussed with your local ASC office before planting of the castor oil crop on diverted acreages.

Interested farmers needing more information can contact County Agent Flip Breedlove.

NORWALK, CONN., HOUR: "Automation has been called many things, from the prime mover of civilization to job scourge, but a University of Pennsylvania professor has added another euphemism to its collection. It is, says Dr. James Charlesworth, a generator of barren boredom. Perhaps utopia has indeed arrived when political scientists fret over the effects of too much leisure on the public, but the fact remains Americans and members of other advanced societies have given the appearance in recent years of children lost in a department store toy department."

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Excise Taxes

Excise taxes affect the pocket-books of each of us. They add to the cost of a long, long list of goods and services we buy. They swell the Federal treasury by billions of dollars — by an estimated $18.2 billion in the current fiscal year. And excise taxes —

by which the Federal government "excises" (or slices out) its share of the purchase price — constitute a problem for consumers, retailers, and manufacturers, as well as the tax collector who is faced with a jungle of complex regulations.

The focus of Congressional effort to bring new sense and balance to the nation's tax structure likely will fall next on excise taxes — and, in my view, a sweeping review of the subject is long overdue. Congressman Wilbur Mills, the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has announced that public hearings will be held later this year on excise taxes. The purpose of the hearings, he said, will be similar to that which led the Committee to give thorough review to the income tax structure. That study directly resulted in the recent enactment of the income tax reduction and revision bill.

My prediction is that from the hearings to be held will emerge a major revision — if not an outright repeal — of the excise tax structure. Certainly there will not be time this year to complete hearings and committee study in the House and Senate, drafting of bills, debate and decision on the floors of both Houses of Congress. Possibly the matter will come to a decision next year, in the First Session of the 89th Congress. I'd expect that certainly before the end of 1966, major changes — if not repeal — will have been enacted. Aside from the time-consuming aspect of Congressional procedure on this kind of very involved matter, an important reason why action will not be taken swiftly is because the Congress and the country will want to judge the effects of the income tax reduction bill signed by the President last month. If the income tax reduction measure lives up to its promise to give the nation's economy a major boost, justification will be strong for a similar action affecting excise taxes.

Excise taxes are a legacy of World War II. Billed as "luxury taxes," they were first enacted into law in 1941. Congress stated as its objective in imposing them that they were for raising revenue and for "other purposes." The "other purposes" were, in some instances, to discourage the production and sale of items whose components consisted of vital war materials. Luggage and jewelry were two such products. The excise tax was employed not only to raise revenue but also to control, retain, and divert the use of supplies needed in the war effort. Obviously this purpose, if not that of raising revenue, has outlived its original intent.

telephone calls, tobacco, travel tickets. On some items, such as light bulbs, the tax is levied on the manufacturers. Because the manufacturer has paid the tax, the fact that it is taxed is not as apparent to a purchaser as is the fact that he must pay a Federal excise tax when he purchases a suitcase. But the tax is there — although hidden — on light bulbs and many other items you wouldn't suspect would carry a "luxury" classification.

I've heard that some retailers refuse to handle articles on which an excise tax must be collected directly because they wish to spare themselves the expense of being tax collectors. Many retailers can't avoid the chore. A jeweler, for example, must levy the tax of 10 percent whether the sale is 10 cents or $1,000. His advertising must carry the notification that jewelry is taxed. He must make separate bookkeeping entries for taxes collected. He must make separate tax reports and remissions each quarter. He must make periodic tax audits. The excise tax for the jeweler is indeed a real cost of doing business. Many other retailers are similarly affected. Drug stores, luggage and leather shops, department stores, camera shops, grocery stores which sell many of these taxed products — all of them are deeply concerned with the matter.

Consumers, however, as taxpayers, have the most direct interest. It is money that, if diverted from taxation, would be returned to the mainstream of the economy through the purchase of a larger volume of goods and services and be reflected in a higher living standard for Americans.

To American cowboys spurs were a necessary implement when mounted, a social requirement when dismounted, and used for everything from a branding iron to a tombstone.

NATURAL RESOURCES

... basic factor in economic development
Many industries are established close to natural resources. One is pictured above — the Bestwall Gypsum Company near Quanah, where gypsum wall board and allied products are made. It is near Quanah because of large gypsum deposits there, and is a perfect illustration of the economic value of a natural resource to a community.

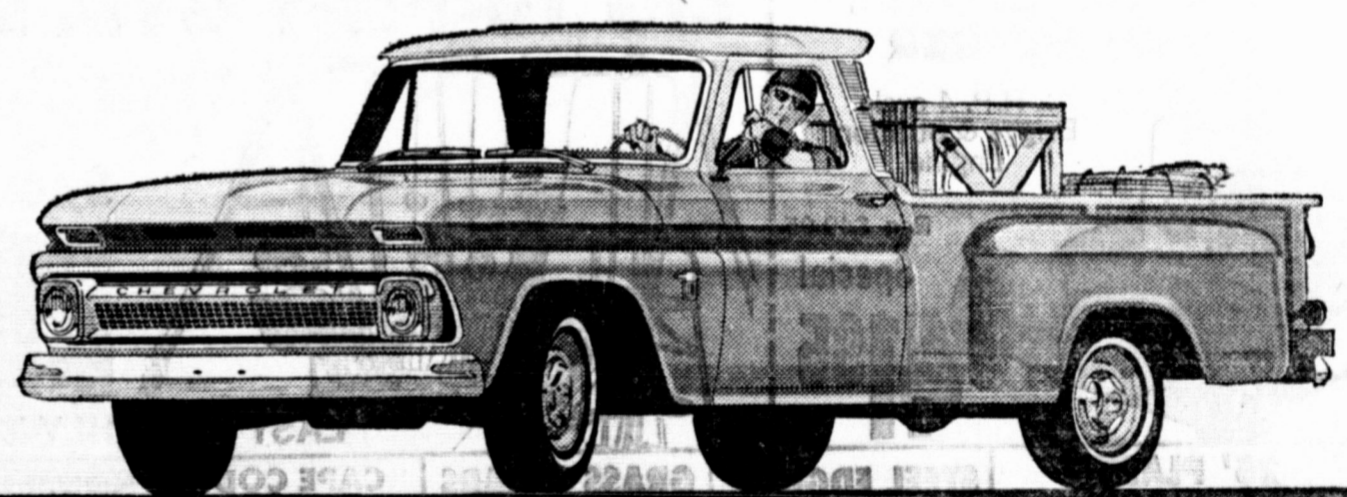

Employing 200 people, it adds payrolls, increases consumer sales, builds deposits in banks such as the one pictured left, and is a major factor in the Quanah economy.

This is a PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.
It is because here is a manufacturer using a natural resource. National studies show that each 100 new factory workers in a community increase local personal income by $660,000, bank deposits by $229,000, and create 65 new nonmanufacturing jobs, besides increasing all types of consumer sales.

The manufacture of natural resources pays big profits to a community, and almost every community has natural resources subject to development. WTU urges every community to assess and evaluate its own natural resources as a basic step in economic development.

Those who read The Claude

News from "Kiver to Kiver" last week must have noticed the new top-dressing on this column. It was also the editor said new even to Uncle Zeb. Those who read this column in other papers may see this new heading later. The title Uncle Zeb doesn't depart from our original entirely but the picture looks for all the world like my mother's firstborn. If we do make a change in the heading for this column we would like to have the readers express their opinions first. This drawing along with the first one was made by Hut Hutson of Amarillo, Texas. Speaking of Hut, it is doubtful if you have picked up any newspaper in the entire Panhandle area without seeing a drawing from his talented pen. In a recent letter he expresses his idea of a small part of man's problem. Quoting from his logic: "The cranium is hood around the brain, although protective it adds to the difficulty of reaching the organ by penetration of the skull." We might inject here that this could be why folks are often called hard-headed. Quoting further from our friend: "So, any assistance in reaching the brain of man would be more quickly the sight, secondly through sound with a pondering message. Although a sharp stab or pain to the anatomy gets prior attention." End of quote. Moral of the above is that Hut has more talent for writing than Uncle Zeb has for art. Thank you, Sir. When I was a boy we never thought of doing some of the things young people do now, and that is the only reason we didn't do them. A grandmother seemed shocked at the length of today's dresses. "In my day," said grandma, "We may have set our cap for a certain young man, but not our knee-cap."

Readers of this column in Southwestern Crop & Stock and who live in the vicinity of Lubbock can now find our book in The Baptist Book Store, 1212 Avenue Q. In the Plainview area at The Book Store. The Federal Income Tax has just passed its half century birthday. When the law became effective under President Woodrow Wilson in 1913 the per capita burden on every man, woman and child at that time was $3.50 per year. In 50 years this figure has grown to $530 annually. This getting something for nothing just ain't necessarily so. Most folks enjoy being caught in the act when they are doing good. Automobiles continue to be driven at two speeds — the lawful and the awful. Husband looking over bills remarked: "Well, we're at the bridge we were going to cross when we came to it." It is said that "Idleness is the devil's workshop," and when we let him put us to work we are in for trouble. People who make a habit "Spilling the beans," usually have their container all set to catch another batch. Talking through one's hat means that the by-product is lighter than hot air.
