Second Row, left to right: D. E. Hessey, 88 of Alanreed, was among the Old Timers present. He came to Clarendon in 1903. The children love riding in Sid McElroy's cart. Pictured with him are his grandchildren Bryant, Mitch and Wade McElroy and Ricci and Kelly Tunnell. To the background in this same picture can be seen Bill Lane with his two grandsons, Mark and Gary Lane of California. It was a hot job—the barbecuing. Flip Breedlove is shown checking the meat. It is hard to tell just who these fellows are with their backs turned but that tall fellow to the back favors Gooch. Could it be? Rodeo officials get ting ready for the afternoon performance of the July 4th Rodeo from left to right are Bill Todd, secretary, Frank Wootten, Johnny Bill Hermermeyer, and Pete Borden, president. A young Hermesmeyer stands by. It's a tough looking bunch at the gate. Guess they mean business!

Third Row, left to right: The Model A Car Club of Amarillo won first place in Civic and Community groups. Though antique, that car perked along pretty fine, or was it the side attraction that caught the eye? The four candidates for Rodeo Queen were Sherol Shelton, Janny Robinson, Cheryl Hardin, and Phyllis Glass. The Young Homemakers float placed second in the Civic and Community division. Cathy Hommel was judged to have the Best Child's entry in the parade. It took some fancy maneuvering to get the bike down the street with all of that fancy decoration. Got pretty warm under all that cover too!
