ONLY NINE DAYS LEFT TO BUY LICENSE PLATES

Sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector Truett Behrens announced yesterday that every indication pointed to a long line of customers to purchase license plates the remaining nine days before the deadline March 31st as only 1200 sets of plates have been purchased up until Wednesday morning. This is approximately half of the usual number sold.

He stated that it would be absolutely necessary that you bring your car title and last year's registration slip to be able to purchase your new plates. If you fail to bring them with you it will mean an extra trip home and the loss of your place in line. Your cooperation will certainly be appreciated by the tax office force, he added.

Sheriff Behrens stated that for the convenience of the public, the tax office will remain open all day this Saturday and next Saturday in order to accommodate as many license plate customers as possible.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson and with the E. C. Antrobus were James Williamson of Hobbs, N. Mex., Sarah Antrobus of Canyon, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Ledbetter and Gary of Amarillo, and E. B. Antrobus of El Paso.

Famous Harlem Stars to Play Jaycees Friday Nite

The hilarious Harlem Stars are coming to town. Advertised as the greatest and funniest basketball team in the country today, the Stars are a combination of Negro Stars who tour the world making fans laugh.

When the name Harlem Stars is mentioned, hoop fans get ready for an evening of entertainment. Fans will see a fancy exhibition—Razzle Dazzle ball handling, Intricate Routines, both planned and impromptu comedy and all sorts of 'shenanigans.'

The Harlem Stars are unique in the fact they never try to run up a huge score against opponents. It is their policy to keep the game close devoting much time to comedy stuff. Their opponents here will be members of the local Jaycee basketball team. The Harlem Stars enjoy playing basketball every day even if they have to travel hundreds of miles to do so. The Stars begin their season in Alaska the last week in September and will hit between thirty-six and forty states and the following other countries Mexico, Canada, Australia, Japan and some parts of Europe. The round horse hide is the magic carpet that has taken these basketball jesters to all parts of the world.

Magicians is what owner, Boyd Buie calls them. Referring to his Harlem Stars when they begin their zany antics on the basketball court. Razzle dazzle ball handling, intricate pass patterns, trick shooting, marathon dribbling and impromptu comedy antics all go to make this the greatest show in the business. "Go Man Go" really describes the Harlem Stars when they are on the court.

Our policy is that, "The World is our Audience; Send Them Home Laughing" and we can continue to return for years to come. When we have done this we feel we have accomplished a little something in life.

The game will be played in the College Gym, Friday night, Mar. 23rd at 8 p.m. Admission will be $1.50 for adults, $1.00 for students and youngsters under 10 will be admitted free if they accompany their parents.

Week after week carefully tabulated figures published in "Automotive Market Reports" show that Chevrolet trucks are worth more in resale value.

why?

If you were a professional used truck buyer, why would you pay more for one make than another?
 There may be several reasons, but among them would be:

1. A greater demand for the product
2. A more desirable product for resale

So if used Chevrolet trucks consistently bring higher prices at auctions all over the country, it means that their quality features pay off for you not only as long as you own them but also when you are ready to trade them—double-wall cabs, doors and side panels, roof insulation, select wood floors, reliable and economical engines, real rugged tailgates, a suspension system that helps prolong truck life.

See your Chevrolet dealer for a quality '62 Chevrolet Jobmaster truck.

"Automotive Market Reports" is a weekly authoritative wholesale publication which reports the average prices paid for used trucks and cars by professional buyers at auctions all over the U.S.

The above little poem from Nancy Morchel's Column makes us think of our own boyhood. How we used to hunger after the baked yam potatoes we used to get at Grandma's house. Also, the sausage hot with pepper and with the skin around it. We wonder yet how they kept it so late in the spring without any kind of refrigeration.

My mother never went in for fancy cooking, but nothing ever tasted better than the kind of plain sugar ones she used to make without even a written out recipe. Some time during our boyhood we ate a certain kind of breakfast food. It happened that years ago before we had it again and during that time we had thought many times how good it tasted. Then, one morning we had it again after we were grown up. We didn't care about it at all.

Perhaps the above poem is more truth than poetry. The things just beyond our reach are often those we want the most. Someone has said that pursuit is better than possession. Be that as it may it is our looking forward to something wonderful to come that makes life worth all the battle.

Brother James Todd uses a thought about the past, present and future that we like, "I am not afraid of tomorrow, because I have seen yesterday, and I love today."

We are still getting comment on the lines, "God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform." . . . No one has found it in the Bible in these exact words, even though many times the poets use a thought from the Bible as the heart of their poem. However my preacher uncle writes me that it is in a song book used by the Primitive Baptist Church with the song arrangement by Liverpool.

One of our friends insists that he is an optimist. It is his opinion that no matter if Attorney General Bobby decides we did actually mistreat Old Mexico and that Texas should be given back to them that all would not be lost. According to this so-called optimist prediction we could then declare war on the other states, and with Mexico to hold our coat we could lick the rest of the country. But he doesn't stop there with his optimism. It seems that should we lose that war things would grow even brighter for Texas. As a conquered enemy we would have no trouble at all becoming a foreign country and thereby qualifying for U. S. aid. We would get a bonus by having been a conquered enemy and would be established into a model economy.

The more I thought about his prediction the more basis we could see for this line of thought but somehow nothing about it seemed to cheer me up.

One cheerful note came from the news as we read that Mr. Freeman is advising Russia to give their farms back to the Farmers. Could this mean a slowdown in the trend to take the farmer from the farms in this country?

It's nice to help folks out of trouble — Some of them will remember you, especially when they get in again.

We never get eye-strain looking on the brighter side of things. One advantage of being bald, is that when callers come unexpectedly all you have to do is straighten your tie.

The Northern Star Seed Farms Has broken all of their previous records in cotton production this year.

The Northern Star No-5 has produced up to 2½ bales per acre. With restrictions off on skip row planting and with the high price on cotton it will be wise for the farmer to plan to plant the latest improved Northern Star No-5 cotton. No 5 is strictly a variety for machine stripping and hand snapping. All operations in connection with planting and harvesting this cotton can be done with machine.

Northern Star No. 4-11 is a variety recommended for spindle picking or hand pulling.

All seed were stored early. They are well cured and high in germination. They will be on hand at the gins and C. W. Bennett in your vicinity. It pays to plant good seed — Book your order now.

TEXAS DRIVERS HAVE ONE MONTH TO HAVE VEHICLES INSPECTED

Texas drivers have approximately one month in which to have their vehicles inspected before the April 15 deadline.

"After that date," said Captain Alan Johnson, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the Texas Department of Public Safety, "enforcement officers will begin to issue tickets to those drivers who fail to display the new 1962 safety stickers." There are over 325,000 vehicles in the Northwest Texas Region of the DPS that must be inspected before the April 15 deadline. Although there are 611 approved inspection stations in this 60 county region, these stations will be hard pressed to finish the job before the deadline, unless the motorists start having their vehicles inspected now.

Johnson stressed the importance of car owners having their annual safety check at a licensed inspection station as soon as possible. The DPS captain cautioned that motorists are likely to experience last minute traffic jams at inspection stations if they don't move without delay.

DONLEY COUNTY HAS TWO RURAL ACCIDENTS DURING FEBRUARY

The Highway Patrol investigated 2 rural accidents in Donley County during the month of February according to Sergeant J. W. Wilson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for one person injured and an estimated property damage of $290.00.

The rural traffic accident summary for Donley County from January through February of 1962 shows a total of 5 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were 4 persons injured with an estimated property damage of $845.

"Defensive driving is one of the keys to traffic safety," the sergeant added. "If all motorists were alert when driving and knew the defensive procedures used by a professional driver, the number of monthly traffic accidents would drop sharply."

mester. Beth plans to complete the requirements for her American Dietetic Society License with a year of internship, in either the University of Oklahoma's Medical College Hospital at Oklahoma City, or at the Veterans Administration Hospital in New York City, starting in September.

Beth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillham, spent the weekend with her at Morton, where she is completing her nine weeks of practice teaching in the home economics department of Morton High School, and attended the recognition services in Lubbock Sunday afternoon. The Gillhams also visited a number of Mr. Gillham's former students one of whom is an administrative official and one of whom is a board member of the Morton Schools.

Mrs. Claude Darden spent last week with her daughter, Miss Chloe Darden, in Pampa.

Visiting Scientist Discusses Atomic Nucleus with Interested Students

A full day with visiting scientist Leo L. Baggerly in informal discussion of the microphysics of the atomic nucleus, climaxed by a formal address on nuclear structure as shown by neutron scattering, was made available to all interested students of Clarendon Public Schools last Thursday, March 15. "Standing room only" was the order of the day in a series of group discussions centered about questions raised by students themselves meeting in mathematics and science rooms of the new Junior High and High School buildings and in the laboratories of the Junior College.

"Microscopic Marbles," Dr. Baggerly's final address, open to the public in the college auditorium the last hour of the day, was remarkable for the clarity with which he gave a comprehensive picture of the basic experimental approach devised by Rutherford for determining the differing natures of atomic nuclei.

Most Clarendon High School students, as well as many Junior High and Junior College students, spent part of their day with Dr. Baggerly and got to talk to him personally about their individual interests in his field and about their future plans of research and study.

Dr. Baggerly, a nuclear physicist and graduate of the California Institute of Technology, is Assistant Professor of Physics at Texas Christian University. Although a modern physicist by training, Dr. Baggerly teaches and has an avid interest in classical physics. At the invitation of the Mathematics Department of Clarendon Public Schools, Dr. Baggerly spoke under the auspices of the Texas Visiting Scientist Program and, despite a night-long ride on the train from Fort Worth, gave freely of his time to any and all who wished to talk about the formulations and implications of modern science during his visit here. Equally at home in the Junior High and Junior College Class room, Dr. Baggerly used the Socratic method to develop discussions with students, listening quietly but intently, and responding to questions directed to him with a relaxed and familiar simplicity that reflected the assurance of solid scholastic attainment, even when on several occasions he unhesitatingly explained he did not know the answer. Recalling his visit many students were surprised to find that he left them with many questions they wished to research for themselves.

What makes tornadoes? Why when playing "whip" on skates does the man on the outside have to work harder? What is the Law of Conservation of Angular Momentum? Do you favor the "big-bang" theory or "steady-state" theory of the evolution of the universe? Why are there no pentagons among natural inanimate forms? What forces hold matter together? Such were the questions which Dr. Baggerly faced throughout his day at Clarendon. His responses varied from counter-questions about whether a floating balloon tied to the seat of a car will go forward or backward when the car starts abruptly to explanations of such grand deductive principles as the Law of Conservation of Energy, which, incidentally, he pointed out under the laws of probability could be broken without being detected by any means of measurement we now have at hand.

Ideas and computations are not enough: theories and the mathematics that support and elaborate them do not of themselves lead to scientific knowledge. Dr. Baggerly repeatedly pointed up to his audience, unless the investigator continues to look to nature for the facts. Thus, Dr. Baggerly, with a conservatism becoming to his own youth, rendered an age-old warning to young scientists who are inclined to become engrossed and even lost in the philosophy and mathematics of modern science. Basic research is essential to science. Does water go down a drain in only one direction in our hemisphere as asserted and explained by a science textbook in the Fort Worth schools Dr. Baggerly asked his Junior High audience. Does what we are attempting to explain need to be explained? Are our problems based on realities of nature or inventions of mind, on research? he questioned. However, he added, that which actually ought to happen but does not happen is always worthy of explanation.

Junior High contestants in the Clarendon Public School Science Fair got special attention from Dr. Baggerly who maintains active interest in Fort Worth Science Fairs. With Mr. John Leathers, Junior High Science Instructor, he spoke most favorably of the work of Miss Marsha Maxey and Miss Judy Greene whose study of the absorption of solutions by radio-tracer techniques, using radioactive phosphorus and iodine, took a first at the Science Fair here and will be entered in the competition at the Science Fair in Amarillo. Especially did Dr. Baggerly enjoy a conversation with Miss Sharon Henson in which he found out about a working model mass-spectrograph that she and her brother, Wes, are building to exhibit at the Amarillo Science Fair. In the High School itself, Dr. Baggerly was elated to find students such as Clayton Ferris who is taking Advanced Science in the new accelerated science program here and to whom he could explain meaningfully that angular momentum in the nucleus, unlike angular momentum in everyday world, may be merely a function of the algebra we employ in describing the nucleus.

A select group of High School Advanced Science students, Junior College Chemistry and Physics students and their faculty advisors entertained Dr. Baggerly Thursday evening with a dinner at Miss Bromley's Dining Room. Afterward, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Reed for coffee and enjoyed an evening in conversations that ranged from considerations of the wave and particle aspects of matter to accounts of science fiction and descriptions of basic but home-spun experiments.

Those present for the dinner and late evening discussion with Dr. Baggerly were: Clayton Ferris, John Longan, and James Bates, Advanced Science Students; Eugene Smith and Phillip Abel, apprentice instructors in the Junior College Science Department; Miss Connie Sue Martin, who accompanied Mr. Abel; Miss Virginia Sue Denney, head of the Biology Department of Clarendon Public Schools; Mr. Keith Reed, instructor in high school physics and mathematics; and Mr. Joe T. Preston, Chairman of the Science Department, Clarendon Public Schools.

Current Superhighway Project Abounds with Graft and Fraud

The current superhighway project is the greatest public works project ever undertaken in this country. It was a "must" proposal of President Eisenhower's who laid special stress on its military significance. It includes 41,000 miles of the most advanced type of high-speed highway. The cost, originally estimated at $27.5 billion, has been upped by about 50 per cent to $41 billion—and there is every likelihood that it may soar again before the completion date is reached 10 years from now.

Yet, writes Jack Anderson in Parade, "Investigators are finding graft and fraud, bribery and embezzlement around every curve. They are learning that the broad new highways are paved with waste, inefficiency and boondoggling. More pathetically, they are discovering that many property owners have been cruelly victimized and virtually robbed of their homes by ruthless and unfair condemnation procedures."

Mr. Anderson, who is Parade's Washington correspondent, does not, of course, pull such harsh indictments out of his hat. He bases his article on an all-out investigation of the highway program being conducted by a special House committee headed by Representative Blatnik of Minnesota. What has been unearthed so far can be summed up in a statement by the committee's chief counsel: "Throw a dart at a map of the United States. Wherever it sticks, we can find something wrong with the new highways."

Some of the waste, no doubt, can be attributed to the eagerness, inexperience, or incompetence of local officials who had never seen such a wonderful flood of money before and wanted to use it as quickly as possible. But outright thievery and dishonesty have been rampant. Mr. Anderson cites, giving chapter and verse, incident after incident. Among them:

An operator of a sodding company admitted to having committed perjury before a grand jury, by hiding the fact that a state highway commissioner was his secret partner. He then asked police protection, claiming that he had been warned: "I can get anyone killed for $500 to $1,000."

The wife of an engineer received similar threats, in an effort to force her husband to go light in testimony concerning contract violations on a $2.5 million stretch of highway.

In one state, close to $75,000 in gifts was traced from contractors to highway engineers.

A highway engineer collected $27,000 a month rent on two tractors bought for $8,900. In another case, a highway engineer managed to take in $4,613 in rent for a water truck that didn't even exist.

These are obvious instances of graft. As Mr. Anderson points out, such bigger operations as bid-fixing and hidden interests are harder to run down. But there seems no doubt that these, along with the appraisal racket, which enables those with the right connections to get out-of-this-world settlements, have robbed the taxpayers of huge sums of money. As an odd little example, the people of a town rejoiced when a new highway cut through a bawdy house on the outskirts. But the madam received such handsome damages that she was able to open a far fancier establishment. On the other hand people without pull have been bluffed and bulldozed into selling their property for a fraction of the value.

Then there are the costly and elaborate installations that almost no one has any use for. Mr. Anderson cites this as an example: "An elaborate clover-leaf . . . has been constructed in the wilds of Montana. It has 24 signs which tell a farmer and his family (the only people who use it) how to go places they have been going for generations."

What can be done about this enormous graft and waste? Representative Blatnik says: "The public can help most by getting mad. In too many localities, the people take a politicians-will-be-politicians attitude. In a democracy, nothing curbs corruption as effectively as an aroused citizenry."

RECENT STUDY OF CRIME SHOWS COMMITMENT RATE

A recent study of crime in Texas, conducted by Dr. Rupert C. Koeninger, Director of the Department of Sociology, Sam Houston State College, shows a rate of commitment of persons to the state prison for each county in the state for the years 1920 to 1960.

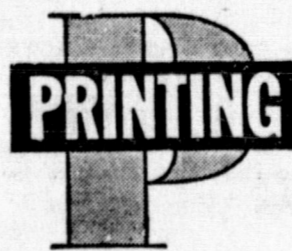

The sociologist and criminologist doubts the political significance of one of his findings, but admits it is interesting in view of the international situation. Kennedy county Texas did not show any commitments to prison during the 40 year period, while commitments for Castro county increased 600 per cent in the ten year period just ending.

Daphna Golde, San Francisco high school student, used her Junior Red Cross membership card to save a life. While she was at the home of friends, another girl rushed in and begged for help — her father had collapsed at his desk. Referring to the first aid instructions on the back of her membership card, and remembering what she had learned in a Red Cross first aid course, Daphna knew the man was in shock when she saw him. She gave the appropriate care, and got her reward when the doctor arrived, diagnosed the sick man's illness as a heart attack, and told Daphna she had done the only right thing — to keep him still. "Moving him might have been fatal," he said.

A serviceman's wife, flying west with three children under 5 to join her husband in Japan, became suddenly ill before her plane landed at Jackson, Miss. She refused to leave the airport for a hospital until she could be certain her children would get proper care. The Hinds-Rankin Red Cross Chapter was called and two staff members came to the airport. One took the children to the chapter where other staffers were ready to give them breakfast and other care. The chapter nursing director accompanied the mother to the hospital. After rest and treatment there, she was able to resume her journey.

If I Had Any Say-So - (A Safe Driver's Creed) I've seen a lot of country in my time behind the wheel. I've seen a lot of drivers, too—and here's the way I feel: If I had any say-so, then I'd set me down a code. A guy would have to learn by heart before he took the road. I'd start it out: "I'll mind the law, and all the traffic signs; I won't exceed the limit, and I won't cross double lines. "I'll slow 'way down with kids around—there's no predictin' kids. I won't drive fast on rainy days — there's no predictin' skids. "I'll cut my speed when dusk begins, or driving after dark. And times when I get tired, I'll get off the road and park. No weaving in and out of lanes; no sudden stops or swerves. No pulling out to pass a car on hilly roads or curves. "I'll always stay a ways behind the driver up ahead. I'll never gun through yellow lights, and never jump the red. "I'll try to mind my manners, and I'll signal lefts and rights; When other cars are coming by, I'll always dim my lights. "I'll never take a silly chance, or run a risk 'for kicks'—I'll keep in mind that alcohol and drivin' never mix." And when the thing is written, and I'm back upon the road, I'll drive as if the other guy has never read the code.

FISHERMEN WARNED TO BUY LICENSES, BARGAIN IN TEXAS Spring weather has kindled the urge to fish, and fishermen are reminded that a fishing license is required in most instances, according to J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission. This applies to both resident and non-resident fishermen, fishing in fresh water or salt water, except for persons fishing within their own country with an ordinary pole and line, or persons under 17 or over 65. Persons fishing within their own country with any type of winding device are required to buy licenses, also. The Texas license fee, at $2.15, offers an inducement to non-residents, because it is the only fishing license in any state available to non-residents at the same price as to residents. All other states charge additional fees for non-residents.

Fish Pond Fertilization

This bit of information can be beneficial to all of you who like to fish, swim and participate in various boating activities. Fertilization of farm ponds and small lakes is a large factor in maintaining clean weed-free water.

Fertilization of farm ponds is usually necessary for maximum fish production. You may want to try it if your fish production is low in your own pond or if you need to control underwater weeds.

A highly fertile pond will support more pounds of fish than one of low fertility. Experiments in the South show that unfertilized ponds support less than 100 pounds of fish per acre, average ponds support 150 pounds, highly fertilized ponds support 400 pounds.

Fertile water shades out submerged weeds. It is greenish in color and sunlight does not go any deeper into such water than you can see. Weeds cannot grow without light. Although some people object, it is perfectly safe to swim in the colored fertile water.

Fertilizing costs money — $10 to $30 per acre per year. It will pay you dividends only if you fish the pond heavily or if you need to control waterweeds.

If you plan to use fertilizer, you should apply it at 7 to 10-day intervals beginning early in the spring. Once begun, it must be continued because the fish quickly put on weight when fertilizing is started. If fertilizing is stopped the amount of fish food is sharply reduced, then the fish must lose weight in order to live on the smaller amount of food available. Continue to apply it until the water becomes so cloudy that you can't see a bright object 18 inches below the surface. Check cloudiness of water at weekly intervals. Additional ap-lications of fertilizer should be made whenever the water begins to clear.

Use a low analysis fertilizer. You need nitrogen and phosphorus in about equal parts. Potash may not be needed in areas where this nutrient is plentiful in the soil. Desirable formulas are 8-8-2 and 8-8-4. Each application should consist of 100 to 200 pounds per surface acre. Completely soluble fertilizers are available in such formulas as 20-20-5 and 16-20-0. These should be applied at the rate of about 40 pounds per surface acre. Your local Soil Conservation Service can advise you.

Brush Control and Deferred Grazing

In about six more weeks it will be time to start brush control in this area by means of chemical control. For each dollar invested you can expect more return on brush control than any other practice you can carry out on grassland. If you plan to do spraying this year you should make arrangements before the rush season gets here. Chemical spray is effective on sand sage brush, shinnery oak, and mesquite. One application is usually adequate on sage brush, but shinnery oak requires one application two years in succession.

Grassland should be deferred through the growing season after spraying to allow grass to regain vigor and make seed. The chemicals used on brush control stimulate the grass to grow and give it a sweet taste that cattle like, therefore they are inclined to over-graze it if they are allowed to run on freshly sprayed grassland. By deferring you really don't lose any grass since you can graze it and rake on it during the winter months.

Some persons like TV violence; some don't. It's a black and white situation — sometimes in color.

have a permitted acreage for corn and grain sorghum after the farm operator decides on how many acres he wants to divert from corn and grain sorghum production. The permitted acreages become the largest acreage of corn and grain sorghum that can be produced on the farm in 1962 if the producer is to receive the maximum payment under the program.

An acreage equal to the acreage diverted from corn and grain sorghum, in addition to the acreage diverted from barley and wheat, must be devoted to approved conservation uses. In addition to the acreage on the farm normally devoted to conservation uses, summer fallow and idle land must be maintained.

The diverted acreage may be devoted to the following conservation uses:

1. Permanent-type grasses and legumes.
2. Temporary cover of grasses, legumes or small grains.
3. Cropland in volunteer natural cover or in protected summerfallow, if approved by the County Committee.

The County Committee will approve ACP cost-share assistance on these acres, if we have enough money in the ACP Budget to cover such practices.

Remember, March 30, 1962 is the last day to sign Form, Intention to Participate in the 1962 Feed Grain Program.

Information may be obtained from the county office.

DATES TO REMEMBER

- April 13 — Release of unused cotton acreage.
- April 13 — Request for additional cotton acreage.
- April 27 — Reapportionment of cotton acres.
- May 1 — Final date for grazing diverted acres.

HEARING SCHEDULE REVISED FOR PROPOSED NATIONAL POTATO ORDER

The session of the hearing concerning this area has been rescheduled as follows: Auditorium, Public School Administration Building, 910 W. 8th Street, Amarillo, Texas, beginning April 12 at 9 a.m. Each session will continue as long as necessary and instead of specific termination dates as previously scheduled, will be terminated as determined by the presiding officer.

Flag Golf Tourney Is Big Success

A flag golf tournament was featured here the past week end by the Donley County Golf Club and before the week end came to a close 28 golfers had entered and played their handicap rounds. The players were allotted a certain number of strokes and when he completed that number, he drove his flag in the ground.

The first place winner was J. B. Melton; 2nd, John Bob Butler; 3rd, Gayle Pyeatt. Others finishing in a tie on the 18th green were Jerry Allen, Robert Mills, Shelby Bell, Rev. W. R. Lawrence, and Guy Mills.

One of the highlights of the tourney play was Robert Mills hole-in-one on number eight when he had only three strokes left. Dr. J. G. Stewart came up with an eagle on No. 5 hole which is quite unusual also.

A number of players failed to turn in their score cards and in the future players will be required to turn in their signed and attested cards for players to qualify.

During regular play, members of the club are urged to place their score cards in the metal box at the course entrance so more sensible and legitimate handicaps can be arrived at for future tournament play. Without your scores to work with, it is hard to figure any kind of handicap which will give more even pairings of players.

Considerable interest has been taken in the ladder arrangement of players which is posted at Phelps and Hicks Barber Shop. Players down the ladder can contest those above for their position.

The ladder standing at present for the top nine players is J. B. Melton, Gayle Pyeatt, Robert Mills, J. B. Butler, Bill Williams, Jerry Allen, Roddy Seago, Claude

Moore, and Ray Palmer.

There were more players on the golf course Sunday afternoon than has been witnessed in quite some time which is a good indication of more interest in this outdoor sport for residents of this community.

Local Students Attend TSEA Meeting

The State convention of the Texas Student Education Association was held in Corpus Christi March 16-17 with headquarters in the Driscoll Hotel. Members of the local chapter and their sponsor attending were Betsy Chamberlain, Joann Wood, Martha Hanna, Pauline Gillean, Wilburn Butler, Jo Bob Browning, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Seago.

The group left Clarendon Thursday morning stopping in Austin where they visited the State Capitol, the senate and house of representatives.

The convention was officially opened Friday morning and reports heard from the state president and officials of TSEA. Saturday meetings were informative and helpful and we hope that we were able to bring back some information to be used in our chapter. Concluding the meeting was a banquet Saturday evening. Several awards were made at this gathering and new officers installed.

Enroute home Sunday the group stopped in San Antonio, visited the San Jose Mission, the Alamo, and the Sunken Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. David's oldest daughter, Mrs. Delmar D. Thaden, left Thursday, March 15, for overseas where she will join her husband, A/C Delmar D. Thaden of Libbiya, North Africa. She traveled by plane and plans to be gone 2½ years. A/C Thaden is stationed at Wimbus Air Base.
