CLARENDON JAYCEES TO SELL POLL TAX

The Clarendon Jaycees will conduct a "Pay Your Poll Tax" campaign on Friday and Saturday, January 26-27 in an effort to promote a greater voting strength in our county.

At present only 583 poll tax receipts have been issued which is only about one-third of the possible total in the county.

The Jaycees will set up a booth in the local post office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the 26th and 27th where poll tax will be sold. If you would like the poll tax receipt delivered to your home by one of the Jaycees, call 874-2233.

A booth will also be set up at the Cherry Drug on Saturday, January 27th for the benefit of the people at Hedley. If you would like your receipt delivered at Hedley, call 856-2551 on this date. The cost of the poll tax is $1.75.

Calvary Baptist Church Calls Pastor

Having been re-organized into an Independent Baptist Church, the Calvary Baptist Church of Clarendon has called Billy G. Hill to serve as pastor.

Bro. Hill comes from the Fellowship Baptist Church in Pampa where he has been a very active member for three years. While he was in the church in Pampa he took full advantage of serving the Lord. He worked with the Young People, taught the 13-14 year old boys Sunday School class. He was also a member of the Choir and was active in the Visitation program. Too, he preached every opportunity that was given him.

He has served as supply preacher for the Independent Baptist churches of this area. Bro. Hill has preached in jail services and in street meetings. He has preached several times on the street in Clarendon. Bill believes in doing what Jesus said to do, "go into the highways and hedges and preach the Gospel to every creature."

Hill has served two years in the Army. He attended Hardin-Simmons University and Wayland Baptist College. He is a graduate of White Deer High School and calls White Deer home having lived there for the past 16 years. Calvary Baptist Church is his first pastorate and Bro. Hill wishes to extend an invitation to all who don't have a church home and to those who don't attend church anywhere to come and visit the friendly Calvary Baptist Church.

The church will fellowship with Independent Baptist churches of the Baptist Bible Fellowship. Through the leadership of the pastor the church will support missionaries that are in the Baptist Bible Fellowship, Springfield, Mo. A missionary will be speaking soon with the announcement to be made later.

Youth Have Narrow Escape As Plaster Falls

A number of youth attending a Methodist Youth Fellowship meeting at the Methodist Church, along with Rev. J. V. Patterson, narrowly escaped possible injury Sunday evening when a large section of plaster fell from the ceiling of Fellowship Hall.

The plaster made a ripping sound moments before it fell which gave those attending an opportunity to reach a safe place. The falling plaster damaged partitions and chairs underneath.

Twenty-two members were present for the meeting Tuesday night of this week at which time James Gouddy was the guest speaker and who spoke on the F.H.A. and its operations in Donley County and surrounding area.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, under the laws of the State of Texas all citizens desiring to vote in elections held in the year 1962 must qualify by paying the poll tax or obtaining a certificate of exemption from the poll tax by January 31, 1962; and

WHEREAS, it is the patriotic duty of every citizen to participate in the processes of self-government by meeting his obligations to his government and preparing himself to vote; and

WHEREAS, our right to vote is the most basic of our constitutional freedoms, secured in battle by our forefathers and defended in every generation by brave men willing to shed their blood to protect this right, which is the cornerstone of our liberties and is now under attack by ruthless communistic society which has never permitted free elections; and

WHEREAS, the widest possible participation in elections is a proud sign of civic health and of a citizenry dedicated to the defense and the exercise of our American way of life.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Judge of the County of Donley do hereby proclaim the week January 24 to January 31, 1962, as and urge that all our citizens who are eligible to vote proceed promptly to pay their poll taxes or obtain their certificates of exemption in order that they may be qualified to vote. A people that does not exercise its rights stands in danger of losing them. I hope, therefore, that every eligible citizen of the County of Donley will be a qualified voter and will cast his vote in 1962.

R. E. DRENNAN,
Judge, County of Donley

The parking lot at the new gymnasium is now available for use, according to an announcement by Supt. J. R. Cox this week.

Supt. Cox urges that all visitors at the game here next Tuesday night, and at all future games and public events at school, that the new parking lot just to the north of the new gymnasium be used. There is a convenient entrance to the gym on the north.

Highway officials have warned that no parking will be allowed on 5th Street; the street just to the south of the new building. They have allowed parking on that street during the construction period, but now that the new parking lot is finished, they will enforce the regulation of no parking on the farm to market road.

High School Teams Defeat Quail

The Clarendon High School basketball teams again came out victorious last Friday night in a pair of games here with Quail. The girls took a 47 to 24 win and the boys followed with a 61 to 42 victory.

The boys held leads of 13 to 7 at the first quarter; 27 to 15 at the half and 43 to 27 at the third quarter.

Paula Adams again paced the girls to their win with 24 points; Dorothy Richey scored 10, Judy Castner, 9 and Brenda McAnear, two.

In the boys game, Bill Spier poured in 25 points, James Allen, 12, John Cearley, 11, Jerry Elmore, 9 and Herman Vinson and Dwight McAnear two each.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Patients as of Wed., Jan. 17—C. C. Carter, Lula Budd, John Rhodes, Bessie Broome, and Mrs. W. M. Pickering.

The first semester of the 1961-62 school year for Clarendon Junior College comes to a close with the last of the mid-term examinations scheduled for Friday of this week.

Registration for the second semester will begin at 9:00 o'clock on Monday, Jan. 22. There will be an assembly at nine o'clock for the purpose of instructing students how to proceed with their registration. All students who plan to be in school the second semester are urged to be on hand Monday morning as that is the only day set aside for the purpose of registration. Students may register late as they have in the past, but it puts a hardship on both the students and the instructor.

Classes will begin on Tuesday, January 23.

High School Teams In Estelline Tourney

The Clarendon High School basketball teams will play in the Estelline Invitational Basketball Tournament this week-end.

Four teams have entered in each division and each team will play each of the other three teams. The girls division will have Estelline, Lakeview, Quitaque and Clarendon and the boys division will have Estelline, Quitaque, Childress "B" and Clarendon.

The Clarendon girls will open the tournament today (Thursday) at five o'clock against the host team, Estelline. The Bronchos will meet the Estelline boys at 6:20. On Friday the boys will play Quitaque at 6:20 and the girls will follow with Quitaque at 7:40. On Saturday the boys will meet Childress "B" at 6:20 and the girls will play Lakeview at 7:40.

The Clarendon girls are rated heavy favorites to win this tournament as they have already defeated Estelline and Quitaque without a great deal of trouble and Lakeview is not very strong. The boys, however, will not be expected to cope with the strong Quitaque boys. Quitaque has one of the outstanding boys teams in the area this year and holds a win over the Bronchos in a game played here before Christmas. The score was 69 to 55.

The local teams are slightly hampered physically this week with Dwight McAnear still a doubtful starter although he will probably play some. Also reserve forward, Sharon Williams, is still unable to play due to illness. Otherwise the teams are physically sound with the starters for the girls due to Paula Adams, Judy Castner, and Dorothy Richey at forwards and Peggy Jackson, Molly Floyd and Jeanette Rumpy at guards. For the boys it will be Bill Spier, James Allen, Jerry Elmore, John Cearley and Herman Vinson.

Economic Highlights

"The art of prophecy has a long history, which is replete with those who failed to foresee the future because they were blinded to the past and did not understand the present. Thus, let us — before we attempt to gauge the political winds—glance backward at the recent past, and try to comprehend the present. What do we see? The growth of government—bigger government intervening in every facet of our lives, at a steadily accelerated pace." These are the opening sentences of a speech recently made by Aled P. Davies, vice-president of the American Meat Institute. It bears the title "The Changing Complexion of the Political Scene." And it deals with matters which — whatever one's views may be as to the rights and wrongs involved — affect, and will continue to affect, perhaps ever more strongly and directly, the lives of us all.

At the beginning, Mr. Davies deals with the situation of the food industry in general, and of the meat and livestock industry specifically. In his words, "Let me say . . . that no one can tell you categorically that without war there will be no price controls . . . We will have controls, unless the political forces opposed to controls prevail." Then he makes this significant, often-overlooked point: ". . . we are now living in a complex, highly industrialized and urbanized society, but we are still going through the pains of a transition, politically and economically, from a system and a people geared to the kind of government set up when this nation was largely agrarian." In other words, the political power of the farmer, once the most dominant force in the whole American political scene, is waning. Less than 10 per cent of the population now lives on farms — and American political representation is a reflection of that fact. A result, as Mr. Davies sees it, is to add "to a political climate hostile to all those who are tied to agriculture," and to bring on, in some instances, demands for controls and regulations of many kinds.

So much for this problem. Mr. Davies also deals with some of the governmental actions that may — but not necessarily will — come in the future. His list includes: An important central agency, perhaps at Cabinet level, representing the consumer; expanded activity in anti-merger regulation and anti-trust harassment of industry; stand-by over-all controls, urged and passed in the name of defense and stabilization of the dollar; more intervention in agriculture, with special emphasis on livestock agriculture; more federal social welfare spending and activities, including medical care for the aged, federal aid to education, slum clearance, and so on. The result, he says, on top of an increased military budget, could increase federal spending by as much as 50 per cent in a decade. And, he aptly warns, "these and many other ideas are far beyond the blueprint stage. The political forces pushing for them are already important factors in the political climate in both parties."

But Mr. Davies is not a pessimist. He has not surrendered. His big point is that government is now the most important partner in management decision, and that this fact must be recognized and wisely dealt with. He concludes: "What I am trying to express . . . is that we need to understand the political climate and participate in it, because, thank God — at least in this country—government is still responsive to the political forces of an informed people. If we want to have a voice in the political climate which operates government, we had better get busy."

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

The Purple Curtain

Much of the criticism that has been directed against the Department of State since the formation of our country has been generated by the lack of information available to the general public on many of its activities and operations. Some have argued that the State Department as an entity considers itself separate and apart, and in some instances over and above, the other departments of government whether legislative, executive, or judicial. That it occupies the position of royalty in the framework of our government, is therefore scarosant and should be above suspicion. This criticism has not been unjustified, and a complete and searching look into the workings of that department is long past due. This is not to say that every individual associated with the State Department is under a cloud of suspicion. However, unless more information is given to the public generally and a different attitude is assumed by those who staff the State Department, clouds of suspicion will begin to gather and the resulting storm will not be a pleasant one. Everyone realizes that since the State Department is involved in international affairs and is dealing in most sensitive issues with other sovereignties that there are many areas in which secrecy is absolutely necessary in serving the best interests of this country. They realize that many of the countries with which relations are constant do not have freedom of speech, freedom of the press, or a representative form of government. They realize that quick changes in policy can be made by those governments and that such policies will be made to our detriment unless a certain degree of secrecy is maintained in handling our international affairs. However, this does not mean that a purple curtain should be drawn around the operations of the Department of State to hide from the people all of its activities and its operations.

The Department of State of the United States of America is supposed to reflect this country. It should be the showcase of America in advertising in other countries what we in this country are, what we believe in, and what we stand for. This cannot be accomplished if a large majority of those who enter this service must have a stereotyped background of an Ivy League college education and the ability to adopt a British accent in order to pierce the purple curtain. It has long been my feeling that there has been too little of the "Main Street" of America in our foreign service. Relatively speaking, we are a new and a young country, less than 200 years old. We are considered novices in the field of diplomacy by many other countries. Frankly, I do not care what the other countries think, and I do not believe that the practices and formulas adopted and utilized by those other countries in the past should constitute a diplomatic yardstick which must be strictly adhered to. It is time for this country to take a new look in the international relations field and the place to begin is with the State Department.

It was with this thought in mind that several of us Members of the Congress introduced a resolution a number of years back providing for a study to be conducted to determine ways and means of expanding and modernizing the foreign service of the United States. It was our thought that the doors to the foreign service division, as well as other divisions of the State Department should be opened to the brilliant young men and women all over this country. It was our thought that there was a possibility for the creation of a foreign service academy similar to the academies maintained for the Army, Navy, and the Air Force. It was our thought that it was time in the history of America to draw back the purple curtain. This resolution has been re-introduced by me at each session of Congress, and I sincerely hope that action on it or a similar piece of legislation will be forthcoming this session.

In addition, I have also introduced a resolution for an investigation of six principal matters; mainly, (1) to investigate the personnel of the Department of State of the United States of America; (2) to investigate the practices and procedures of choosing personnel in all divisions of the Department of State; (3) to investigate the methods, practices and procedures in assigning personnel for both routine and special work or assignments; (4) to investigate the background and capabilities of all personnel with relation to the particular duties and assignments of the individual; (5) to investigate any and all personnel, whether directly assigned to or employed by the Department of State of the United States of America who have duties or assignments directly or indirectly connected with the operations of the Department of State in any manner whatsoever; and (6) to formulate recommendations concerning future adherence to or future changes in the methods, practices, procedures, and policies with relation to the staffing of the Department of State and any agencies, bureaus, boards, or other components of the Federal Government associated with the fulfillment of the duties of the Department of State.

If the purpose of these two resolutions can be carried out, it is my firm belief that much headway can be made toward the solution of many of the problems presently creating criticism, and also in maintaining the primary concept of self-government.

"Great as our need is today for timber, water, meat, and minerals, the need will be far greater tomorrow, for the jobs as well as the resources themselves. We can get ready for that only by continuous development, conservation, and search. We cannot get ready by fencing off parts of the domain, by hamstringing true multiple-use.

"Instead, our role must be encouragement to the timberman, the stockman, the developer of water, and the prospector. Beautiful as a few million untrammelled acres may be to the occasional seeker of solitude, the resources of the areas involved can be far more beautiful, and to far more people, if developed into pay-rolls, tax installments, useful articles of manufacture, and greater national strength and status."

We have all heard stories about the absent-minded professor. The following incident along that line should send someone to the head of the class. During the recent ice storm in the eastern Panhandle, most of the electric lines were down. Many homes were without electricity for several hours. On a certain morning this family arose to find no lights. They hunted up some candles and proceeded to have breakfast and prepare to go to work. Sitting around the breakfast table all lighted up with candles, they plugged in the electric percolator and sat waiting. After some minutes they realized their absent mindedness.

One hundred years ago our forefathers crossed the vast wide open plains by wagon train. Today our sons whirl around the earth at 25,000 miles per hour and scarcely anyone is even watching. The trouble is—everyone today is watching Wagon Train.

We heard of a fellow who would drive around town with the windows up on his car even during the hottest days in order to impress his neighbors with the idea that he owned an air conditioner.

Marriage is said to be a union of two people, but the man is supposed to get the bill for the union dues. Whoever first thought of this expression must have lived before the days of labor unions because nowadays almost as many women hold down jobs as men. Many of them belong to a union.

We may be sort of outdated if we can remember when "fall out" meant a slight rift between a boy and his girl.

Every little girl wants to grow up in a hurry. She wants to wear shoes like the ones that almost kill mother, and to have a lock of gray in her hair. All this, Mother should consider a compliment. Not too many short years ago boys looked forward to their first pair of long pants. Wonder what boys do now to prove they are growing up? What a thrill it was after many months of shaving off practically nothing to be able to let go a bit of stubble over the weekend. Then to have that fresh-shaven look was a record achievement.

We rarely get anything we don't ask for, even trouble. When we stick our neck out there is always someone willing to use the hatchet... A fellow who is itching for a scrap will most always get scratched. If we get our feathers ruffled easily we are more likely to get plucked. To get all steamed up is a good way to fly the track. Blowing one's stack is the quickest way to get the wind let out of us. Flipping our lid is sure to lead to a noisy fall.

Speaking of little boys, at first they are only babies and all the relatives toddle them on their knees and kiss them tenderly. Then they grow up a bit and put off the long dresses and the triangles. They put on freckles, pants, and a bit of dirt on their face. They begin to frown on the practice of kissing by the kinfolk and we know for sure that we now have a boy.

It is rumored that it may be easier to get a man on the moon during 1962, than for the New Frontier to get a bus load of colored people through Alabama. In one town the courts ordered the airport rest rooms integrated. The air terminal came back with an order doing away with the rest rooms. We feel sorry for the filling station down the street.

The response was far more than we deserved from those who wish copies of our new book. We are anxious our own self to see the finished product due out sometime around Feb. 1. To all those who have ordered the 3 copies for $2.25 we say a big Thank You, and we will mail to you as soon as possible. This way you can have one copy to keep and two to give away. The bright red copy containing 64 pages of the best little "Pickins" from this column should be something you would enjoy. But, if for any reason anyone should be disappointed we will so very gladly refund their money.

A doting Grandfather to his neighbor:

"Did I ever tell you about my new grandson?"

"No, and I appreciate it more than words can express."

This would be a real heart-breaking experience, even if it happened to the other fellow...

IS SOMETHING HAPPENING TO OUR YOUTH OF TODAY?

It is a known fact that the Mistaken forces have placed a definite accent on youth. And unless American patriots are as diligent, as determined, and as dedicated as their enemies, our children and young people are in great danger.

The seriousness of the attack against American youth has been stressed by various leaders of our country, including FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. In America today our freedom is in danger—a danger which grows out of our own action or our own lack of action. If our freedom is to be preserved, it must be preserved through the efforts of responsible adults and responsible youth.

For countless centuries, parents and elders have asked, "What is this younger generation coming to?" As we grow older, we tend to forget the energy, the restlessness, and the seeking of our early years. However, there are too many examples of overindulged youth among us today, many of whom by their complacency, indifference and inactivity in patriotism do little to promote hope for the future.

Reports tell us that teenage crime and arrests have doubled in the past ten years; we know that something is happening to the younger generation. When mobs of young people will seriously clash with police trying to halt their dissipated brawls, something is happening to this country. The alarming part is that it is a something which endangers our freedom — our way of life.

Many young people would answer quite earnestly and truthfully the question so often asked, "What is wrong with today's youth?" They would answer concisely but with strong conviction, "Parents." And there may be a great deal of truth in that answer, whether we like it or not. Boys and girls of today have problems to face unlike those of young people in the past. They have an astounding amount of pressure on them. Many of their actions and comments reflect these pressures, but that still does not make them exempt from the authority of parents, teachers, and the laws of decent behavior.

They want to conform and their resistance to interference in their conformity is natural. When Junior is told he cannot have the car tonight or Mary is told she may not go unchaperoned to a party, they believe the protest, "Everybody else does it," is adequate justification. We should pay tribute to the parents who know how to deal wisely with these problems, who have taught sound rules of conduct to their children and who refuse to be permissive or compromising in the principles and high ideals by which they have stood. These same parents dare defy a society which further confuses young people by saying, in effect: "Dirty books are not dirty; swear words are not profane; pornography is art; promiscuity is liberalism; nihilism is courage; agnosticism is open-mindedness or tolerance."

The pressures on our young people do exist. The pressures are active and they are insidious. It is our job to set standards of personal conduct which will lead our youth to be accepted by their contemporaries without exhibitionism, conformity or precocity. Those particularly in a position to influence young people, in addition to parents and relatives, are high school principals, class sponsors, coaches and other leaders who are highly respected by the boys and girls for the qualities which they most admire. If we can teach boys and girls to be themselves, to know what is right and to dare to do it, they will find acceptance coming as a by-product. And they will not need to find false, showy, or rebellious ways to attain it.

If we can find good reasons for doing ourselves what we insist our young people do; if we can be consistent and mean what we say, if we can be companions and not merely disciplinarians, we will have gone a long way toward responsibly guiding our children. We will have proved our respect for them and not merely have demonstrated an insistence that they respect us. We need to show them that an adult's life is not very different from their own and that they have a definite place in it.

Young people today are eager for faith. They are eager to serve. And they seek that which is new and dynamic. Wanting to "be-long" is both normal and commendable when the group operates on a healthy foundation.

Separate and distinct from the youth's desire to conform is another necessity — exploration of the newly-widening portions of his mind. He wants to know what "self" is, where he fits into the pattern of the universe, and what is his unique purpose or reason for being. It is important that he be able to draw on a background of discipline and Christian beliefs, on a solid confidence that individual and national freedom form the only atmosphere in which man can seek the better life.

The parent who neglects the area of understanding, who fails to explain and demonstrate what loyalty, self-government, and belief in God really mean to us in this world, is failing not only himself but his children as well. In this age of the specialist a parent can lose sight of the varied responsibilities involved in equipping children to face life. Often they actually communicate less with their offspring than the school teacher does. Many parents concentrate so much on maintaining or elevating a "standard of living" that they lose sight of the basis of fulfillment.

When a religious faith is lacking — when true values, moral principles, and self-discipline are unknown, a youth is in much greater danger than he would be if he suffered from economic deprivations. We must realize the importance of teaching our young people all phases of character and spiritual growth. We must demonstrate by example the principles and ideals which we cherish. Such demonstration of our beliefs is certainly the most effective way to teach these standards. This means we must spend more time together as a family to explore and answer questions, for when such time is used for the sharing of thoughts and ideals, the family becomes a more closely knit unit.

Adolescence and the first years following this age are of utmost importance in forming an adult character. Truth is our means of training our children in the way they should go. Truth is our means of defeating the Mistaken enemies of freedom who want to rob us of our children's minds and our structure of freedom as well.

Our forefathers have given us a system of government under which we may govern ourselves through representatives of our own choosing. It is a system which depends upon us for its very life. Because it is government by the people, it can be no better than we, the people, are willing to make it. It is important that we plan ahead and work toward preparing our young people today to be leaders tomorrow. We must work to make democracy work, to make democracy live.

If the world of the future is to be a free world in which the word "justice" has meaning, we must implant sound ideas, uphold high standards, and develop the ideals essential to the preservation of freedom. We owe it to our young people to teach them by example true values, principles and disciplines. We owe them all the help we can give in order that they may live up to, and preserve, the spiritual heritage which is the birthright of every American.

GREEN COLOR IN HAY MEANS GREENBACKS

What color hay do you have for your cows? If it's any color but green, you'll be losing money when you feed it. Cows will eat yellow or brown hay, but they won't pay as much in return as they would for green hay, says U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman.

Here is how hay color affects the pocketbook of the person feeding it. The greener the hay, the higher the quality. Quality hay contains several essential nutrients, including protein. Protein supplements such as range cubes, cottonseed cake or protein blocks can be quite expensive, but if high quality hay is available much of this expense can be cut out. There are several things to member about hay, whether feeder buys it or produces it, says Thompson. Hay crops that are allowed to grow and produce make inferior hay. The best is found in the leaves, and more mature they are the food they contain. A yellow brown colored hay may have about 4 per cent protein, but the same crop properly harvested and stored might have as much as 20 percent protein—same amount as many range cubes. It would take only pounds of 20 percent hay to meet the daily protein requirement of a beef cow, but it would take 20 pounds of the 4 percent hay.

Tonnage per acre is also very important, but more effort should be made to improve the feeding value of what is produced. In some cases the food value is low the cow loses rather than gains energy by eating the hay. These cows lose weight unless supplement is fed. If the necessary food was in the hay in the first place, this additional cost could be avoided, points out the specialist.

It is also well to remember that green colored hay will aid in getting a higher percent calf crop, healthier calves at birth and heavier calves at weaning. The next time you buy some hay notice the color. If it's green then it's a good bet the hay is of good quality.

Substantial progress has been made by the Legislators toward enactment of Gov. Price Daniel's program.

Lawmakers seeking re-election this spring are diligently at work. They want to be home by the filing deadline . . . Feb. 5.

Loans: House of Representatives sent a much-amended loan regulatory bill to the Senate. Bill would set up tight supervision over those who lend in amounts less than $1,500. Exceptions are banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations and various kinds of cooperative credit groups.

Those exempt from the regulatory bill to the Senate Bill would set up tight supervision over those who lend in amounts less than $1,500. Exceptions are banks, credit unions, savings and loan associations and various kinds of cooperative credit groups.

Those exempt from the regulatory law would be limited to 10 per cent interest per year. All loans over $1,500 would likewise be held to 10 per cent.

House bill allows a 3 per cent per month charge on loans under $100 . . . 2½ per cent on the part of the loan from $100 to $200 . . . 2 per cent on $200 to $500 . . . and 10 per cent on the part of the loan between $500 and $1,500.

When interest allowed on a loan over $20 is less than 4¢, the lender can charge 4¢ in lieu of interest.

Rural Roads: Senate passed the proposal by Sen. Neveville Colson of Navasota to cut the spending on farm-to-market road construction-improvement by $17,500,000 a year. This amount will be used for construction of secondary and primary highways.

A House rural bloc on the Agriculture Committee favored a smaller reduction. They preferred a ten year graduated cut . . . to reach the goal set by Governor Daniel, Texas Farm Bureau, the County Judge and Commissioners Association and the Texas Good Roads Association.

Tourism: Large crowds turned out for the Senate and House committee meeting on these bills: (1) to appropriate $300,000 for advertising for tourists; (2) for expansion of the juvenile parole system; (3) and for repairs to the San Jacinto Monument.

Opposition came largely from advertising people who felt the Highway Department isn't the proper supervisor of an advertising program.

Attorney General's race begins — Former Secretary of State Tom Reavley of Austin was the first candidate for Attorney General to pay the $1,000 filing fee at State Democratic Executive Committee headquarters.

This is Reavley's first statewide race. The former Nacogdoches County Attorney was appointed Secretary of State in 1955. He now practices law in Austin. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, two term Speaker of the House of Representative already has announced as a candidate.

Although Carr lost the 1960 race to Will Wilson, he polled a half million votes.

The Lubbock lawyer says his platform has one basic plank, "strengthening our legal framework where needed, and more vigorous enforcement of those laws, once enacted."

Les Procter of Austin, who resigned his office as District Attorney, is expected to make a strong bid for the Attorney General's job.

Procter won prominence as prosecuting attorney during the veterans land scandals.

Rep. Tom James of Dallas, the fourth announced candidate for Attorney General, is busy with legislative duties.

"Tourists' Ready To Travel — Formation of the Texas Tourist Council became official at a luncheon here which honored state representatives. Council urged appropriation of $300,000 for out-of-state advertising.

Speaker James A. Turman told the 500 luncheon guests that the old joke "it is easier to pick a tourist than a bale of cotton" is about to go stale. He said Texas must let the rest of the nation know what it has to offer.

Texas Called Book Desert — University of Texas Chancellor Dr. Harry Ransom told members of the Texas Commission on Higher Education that the State of Texas is laboring under the label of "the book desert of the United States."

Dr. Ransom made the statement in support of a plea from Dr. F. L. McDonald, President of Lamar State College of Technology, for a more realistic appropriation recommendation for libraries in Texas' 19 state colleges.

Free Vacation in Texas

Texas is praised throughout the nation as one of the most ideal vacation lands.

Most vacationers, in praising Texas, have in mind the good highways, healthy climate, modern accommodations, friendly people and inexpensive cost of living—rather, cost of playing.

Many of the vacationing tourists also praise Texas laws that allow them to fish for just $2.15 per year, at the same rate as native Texans. Texas is unique in this respect as most states penalize tourists with excessive fishing license charges.

Some ingenious tourists have learned how to make Texas' "ideal vacation land" into a "free vacation land." They simply pay an extra 85¢ for a commercial fishing license and then sell their catches to pay for their stay in Texas.

All this time they get to do what they want — fish in some of the most productive fishing waters in the nation.

Smith-Bain Nuptials Solemnized In Groom Service

Miss Susie Smith of Groom, Texas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Smith of Clovis, New Mexico, became the bride of James Sandlin Bain, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Bain of Clarendon, Texas, Saturday, January 13. Double ring vows were read at 4 p.m. in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Groom, Texas. The Rev. J. Arnold Carlson was officiant.

The altar area was adorned with vases of white carnations and white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white wool suit with white fur trim. She wore a white fur hat and white accessories and carried a bouquet of a white orchid and white fringed carnations with seed pearls atop a white Prayer Book.

Attending the bride was Susan Homer of Groom. She wore a turquoise velvet sheath dress, matching hat, gold gloves and shoes and carried a bouquet of fringed carnations in turquoise and white.

Cub Scout News

Bad weather has prevented many den meetings since Christmas, but it is hoped that the dens can meet regularly now.

February is a big month in Scouting. The Scout Movement birthday is celebrated in February with several special events. Mark these on your calendar: Scout Uniform Day, February 8, when all Scouts will wear their uniforms to school; February 11, Scout Sunday, when Clarendon Cubs will attend services at the First Christian Church, their sponsoring institution; and the Blue and Gold Banquet, sometime during the last week of February. For Scout leaders there will be the Round-Table meeting on February 20.

The Adobe Walls Council will kick off its development campaign for expanding Camp Kiowa during Scout Week. Parents of Cubs should take interest in this program and contribute generously. The funds collected will be used to develop new campsites, build a trading post and office storage building, shower facilities, a handicraft and recreation pavilion, purchase additional camp land, and construct a new Council service center at Camp Kiowa near Canadian, Texas. This is a Boy Scout Camp, but these boys who are Cubs will be among the first to enjoy these new facilities in two or three years. Frank Phelan is Campaign Chairman for this district.

OPERATION DEATH-WATCH CLOSES WITH 11 FEWER DEATHS THAN PREDICTED

Sergeant J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol Supervisor for this area stated, "That the Texas Department of Public Safety closed its Operation Death-Watch holiday period of ten days at midnight January 1, 1962, with 77 traffic deaths, 11 fewer than the predicted 88 traffic deaths."

The veteran patrol supervisor said there was "No doubt in my mind but that the massive education campaign undertaken so willingly and wholeheartedly by the news medias of the State, the exceptional cooperation of law-enforcement agencies and the willingness of hundreds of thousands who drove legally and defensively brought about this reduction of lives lost. I am sure this particular campaign and its results are clear and factual evidence of what can be done to save lives and reduce injuries in traffic."

Army Lab Tests Possible New Radar Device

TELESCOPIC "RADAR"—LASER (Light Amplification by Standard Emission of Radiation) light is tested for radar application by this dual-telescopic device designed at the Army Signal Research and Development Lab, Ft. Monmouth, N. J. A pencil-thin beam of ruby-red light is fired at a distant object from one of the telescopic tubes and the reflection is registered in the other. The device, operated by Sp6 Eugene Medcalf of Seattle, Wash., could be a forerunner of an extremely compact device to enhance the capabilities of future defense radars.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

A friend of the library brought in seventy paper-back Western stories. A lot of our readers will be happy about this.

The magazine readers are grateful to another library friend who brings in a big stack of current numbers every month.

Still another, every few weeks gives money for new books. The library needs more friends like these.

The television program "Bonanza," was taken from the book of the same name, by Clarendon's own Noel Loomis. That is he lived here at one time. In his book "Bonanza" he created the Cartwright family, and their ranch, the Ponderosa. Wonder how many fans of this particular program knew this.

One reviewer of Morris West's "Daughter of Silence" said, "It will be on the best-seller list before you have a chance to recommend it to your friends. First of all, it's by Morris L. West, author of 'The Devil's Advocate.' Second, the deft writing and suspenseful plot make this novel oh, so readable. A wealthy family become involved in the murder trial of a beautiful young woman who has lived a tragic life. Mr. West's setting is in an Italian hill town . . . the author is an Australian who writes about Italy with the passion of one who has discovered a second home."

Morris West may not have found a second home in Italy but he has spent enough of his time there to learn a great deal about the Italian people, their customs, etc. He uses this knowledge of real people, real places and actual happenings in his books. Although it was four years before he wrote, "Daughter of Silence." His interest in the methods used in Italian courts, accounts of two or three spectacular murder trials and a clipping his wife saved for him gave him the idea for this book.

The library has all of the books chosen by the Reader's Digest for a recent condensed book. They are: Harper Lee's Pulitzer Prize winner, "To Kill A Mockingbird," Ernest K. Gann's "Fate Is The Hunter," John Steinbeck's "The Winter of Our Discontent," and Irving Stone's "The Agony and The Ecstasy."

It is hoped that among your New Year's resolutions, and one you will be sure and keep is the one to read more yourself and read to the children.

Don't forget that when you instill the love of reading in your child you are doing something for him that will pay big dividends as long as he lives!

FARM NEWS

from County ASCS Committee

PLEASE RELEASE UNUSED COTTON ALLOTMENT

If you do not intend to plant all of your 1962 cotton allotment, please release it to the county committee and it will be reapportioned to other farms in the county. This will not only help the farmers temporarily that receive the additional allotment, but it will help you in the future by maintaining the cotton history for your farm at its maximum. The final date for releasing cotton is APRIL 13, 1962. To be eligible to share in any cotton acreage released, you must make a written application in this office not later than April 13, 1962. The released acreage will be reapportioned not later than April 27. DETERMINING COTTON ACREAGE FOR 1962

Beginning with 1962 crop cotton, the acreage of cotton will be that devoted to the crop. This will afford each producer the opportunity of planting cotton in the manner best suited to his particular operation. To be eligible for deduction, acres within a field not devoted to cotton must be at least one normal row width and otherwise meet the minimum deduction requirements. You must plant in uniform, regularly shaped and readily measurable patterns. For example: a regular skip-row pattern of two normal width rows in cotton and one normal width row out will be considered to be two-thirds cotton. In connection with this new method of determining skip-row cotton acreage, please keep in mind that at least 75 per cent of your cotton allotment must be planted, or considered as planted, in order for your cotton history to be maintained at its maximum.

RATES FOR DETERMINING ADJUSTED ACREAGE

The rates determining adjusted acreage of Wheat diverted acreage, Barley and other Soil Bank base crops will be $4.00 per farm, plus $2.00 for each plot over one. If your designated diverted acreage measures less than the acreage shown on your intention to participate, you will have only 15 days from the date of your notice of measurement in which to request and pay the necessary charge for any upward adjustment you might wish to make. At least the required minimum diverted acreage must be met in order for the farm to comply. If you wish to reclaim any designated acreage you must request a downward adjustment, and pay the necessary charges.

No harvesting of any kind from designated acreage may be done in 1962. Land designated as diverted acreage CANNOT BE GRAZED AFTER MAY 1, 1962. CHANGE IN FARM OWNERS AND OPERATORS

All producers are reminded to notify the ASCS office of any change in farm operations, so that we may change our records.

TIME TO REQUEST CONSERVATION HELP

Farmers who are interested in establishing soil and water conservation practices on their farms under the 1962 ACP program should file their requests as soon as possible.

Requests to participate in the program must be filed at this office before work is begun.

Under the 1962 program, farmers may get help averaging about one-half the cost of carrying out such conservation practices as establishing and improving vegetative cover of grasses and legumes for soil protection, installing erosion control structures, and practices for the conservation or more efficient use of water.

The ACP program is designed to encourage farmers to protect soil and water resources by sharing the costs of needed conservation measures.

Without this assistance, most farmers simply couldn't afford to make this needed investment, particularly since the majority of these practices provide little or no immediate returns.

ASCS CLERKS

Gene Davis, our ACP clerk has resigned to join her husband Don, who is in the Navy and stationed at San Francisco.

We will miss Gene and we know that all of you producers will miss her too, because she has not only been a most efficient clerk but she has been pleasant and considerate to all of you who have been to the office.

We have two new clerks who have just started to work in our office. They are Charlene Glass (Mrs. Jim Glass) and Virginia Jones (Mrs. Billy Jones). One of these girls will be the ACP clerk and the other will help with the planimetry of wheat acreages. Both are just learning our programs and will appreciate your understanding if they don't know all the answers just yet.

Amarillo Badgers Defeat Bulldogs

The Amarillo College Badgers outscored the Clarendon College Bulldogs, 80 to 71, in a thriller at Amarillo last Friday night. The game was a see-saw affair for the first 15 minutes with the lead changing hands four times, but the Badgers jumped ahead near the end of the first half and the Bulldogs were never able to catch up.

Clarendon's Ray DeBord, sophomore all-stater from Sunray, kept the Bulldogs in striking range most of the game with a sensational display of outside shooting. He netted a total of 33 points on 12 field goals and nine free throws to top all scorers for the game. Kenneth Martindale scored 16 points, Billy Wiggins, 11, Jimmy Zaring, 6, Max Courtney, 4 and R. E. Butler, one. Mike Sims scored 18 for the Badgers and was closely followed by Bob Dibley and Victor Coats with 17 each.

The Bulldogs, trailing 39 to 31 at the half, made a bid for their first conference win of the season in the second half and at one time early in the period cut the Badger lead to 41 to 39. At this point the Badgers forged ahead and at one time held a 14 point bulge, 59 to 45. The Bulldogs came storming back to cut the lead to 75 to 69 with a little over two minutes left in the game but the Badgers maintained the edge to win their second conference game against two losses. The Bulldogs are 0-3 for the season in conference play.

"The old philosopher who claims we would be a stronger nation if we went without a few more meals and enjoyed fewer luxuries, may have been wiser than the present generation of Americans seems to think."

Pay Water Bill Or Be Cut Off

In accordance with a city ordinance and a note at the bottom of your water statement, water users in the city of Clarendon are required to pay their water bill by the 20th of the month.

This requirement in regard to paying water bills has been ignored by too many customers which necessitates strict enforcement of the ordinance.

Pay your bill by the 20th or be cut off. This will be strictly enforced. If you have not paid by the 20th your water service will be shut off and you will have to pay a $2.50 service charge to have your water turned on again. Signed: City Commission, City of Clarendon.
