FARM NEWS

from County ASCS Committee

ACP Program The Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) is a partnership between farmers and the general public. Through it, the public shares with farmers the cost of conserving our soil and water.

The Nation recognizes that we must protect and conserve now the resources we will need in the future. Yet farm and resources can be conserved only by farmers and ranchers who use them. Through ACP, the Government on behalf of all the people joins with farmers and ranchers to insure that the needed conservation measures will be carried out both adequately and in time.

Practices are selected to promote soil and water conservation measures — to meet local conditions. If a practice benefits people locally, and would not be used to the extent necessary without cost-sharing, it can be selected for ACP. On the other hand, a practice that farmers or ranchers are using, to the needed extent, would not be included in ACP.

Your ASCS County office will be glad to furnish you information about your ACP, including eligible practices, rates of cost-sharing, and specifications for each practice. Take along any farm conservation plan you have and visit the County Office.

Applications are being accepted for diverting 20 to 50 percent of your 1963 Wheat Allotment.

Payments and additional price support are being offered to producers (See Farm News — page 8)

Bronchos Meet Wellington 'Rockets Friday Night In Last Home Game

Changes Announced For Sterile Fly Release Areas

Extension of the sterile fly release area and changes in the fly release rates were announced by officials of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program last week.

An additional 10,000 square miles are being included in the fly release area in western Texas and the number of flies released will be stepped up in some areas and reduced in others. While definite release rates have been designated for all areas, this will tend to vary according to the number of confirmed screwworm specimens sent to the Mission laboratory for identification.

This new release area will receive 600 sterile flies per square mile per week. The Edwards Plateau and surrounding territory where native flies still exist in large numbers will receive 1,000 flies each week.

Program officials will be watching the number of specimens confirmed as screwworms which are sent in to the laboratory each week by livestock producers and livestock inspectors.

The strong Lefors Pirates handed the Clarendon Bronchos their worst defeat of the season here last Friday night. The score was 35 to 0.

CJC Bulldogs Getting Ready For First Game

The Clarendon Junior College Bulldogs, under the direction of Coach Don Dorman, have been working hard for the past few weeks getting ready for their tough basketball schedule which starts on Nov. 17 with a game against Sayre, Oklahoma, College here.

Coach Dorman started the year as head of the Bulldogs last year but was called into the service on Dec. 1 and never got to see his team play a game.

The Bulldogs, who compiled a record of only four wins against (See C. J. C. Bulldogs — page 8)

The Clarendon High School Bronchos will close out their home schedule here Friday night against the strong Wellington Skyrockets. Game time is slated for 7:30.

The Wellington team has had a so-so season this year and now stand at four wins and four losses. They have had good and bad nights so it is hard to figure what they will do in any given game.

The Skyrockets and Bronchos have met three mutual opponents so far this season and the results of those games should establish the Skyrockets a slight favorite over the Bronchos in the game Friday night.

The Bronchos, who lost their first conference game last week to Lefors, are still crippled with injuries for the Wellington game. Jerry Elmore is still out and in all probability will see no action Friday night.

Coach James was pleased with the play of the boys in the second half of the Lefors game. In the second half the Pirates only outgained the Bronchos 69 to 54 in rushing yardage.

Dwight McAnear played a good offensive game and Robin Green, Larry Gray, Billy Hearn, David McBrayer and Charlie Slavin did acceptably well on defense.

Lefors Pirates Hand Bronchos 35-0 Defeat

The strong Lefors Pirates handed the Clarendon Bronchos their worst defeat of the season here last Friday night. The score was 35 to 0.

The Pirates, exhibiting a rough and aggressive type of football, scored two touchdowns in each of the first two quarters and one in the third. By defeating the Bronchos, the Pirates established themselves a prohibitive favorite to take the District 2-A championship. They have only Memphis and McLean left to play. This was the Bronchos first conference defeat.

The Pirates lost little time in taking the lead in the game Friday night. They received the opening kick-off and returned the ball to their own 47 yard line. They marched for a touchdown with their great fullback, Rodney Arrington, making the score from three yards out. Don McCool kicked the first of his five extra points and the Pirates were on their way to the decisive win.

Coach Dorman started the year as head of the Bulldogs last year but was called into the service on Dec. 1 and never got to see his team play a game. C. R. Brown took over and directed the team through the season. Dorman is back this year and is looking forward to coaching the Bulldogs for the entire season. (See Lefors — page 8)

AUSTIN — Tuition for Texas' 20 state universities and colleges may be doubled by the time members of the 1964 high school graduating classes are ready to enroll.

Texas Commission on Higher Education decided to ask the Legislature to double tuition — from $50 to $100 a semester — and increase appropriations by 55 per cent during 1964-65.

Commission approved a $4,000,000 boost in the previously recommended biennial budget of $162,000,000; agreed to raise college presidents' salaries; and ordered its staff to look into the elimination of remedial writing and reading and tours from college curriculums.

Request for more money came after it was noted that this fall's enrollment of 110,000 students in 19 colleges was an increase of 9 per cent over last year, and the "war babies" will soon be knocking at the doors.

DEFICIT RISES — Deficit in the State's General Revenue Fund increased by almost $13,000,000 during mid-October, ac-ording to a report from State Treasurer Jesse James.

On October 9, the State was in the red to the tune of $41,250,349. By October 24, the deficit was $54,074,283.

MAP PROJECT PUSHED — Absence of topographic maps of the entire state may be holding us back in the nationwide race for new industries.

At a meeting of the Texas Mapping Advisory Committee, Harry Clark, director of the Texas Industrial Commission, said that topographic maps are very necessary to industries considering sites here. Chairman John J. Vandertulp said the maps are essential to industrial and agricultural planning.

Topographic maps are those that show the physical features of a region in minute detail.

When a mapping program of 73 counties is completed, Texas will be half-mapped.

ATTRACTIVE NUISANCES — State Health Department officials issued a warning against the use of arsenious acid containers for water bottles.

Field engineers recently found about 40 of the one-gallon size containers along the highway in Collin County. One had about one and one-half ounces of arsenic left in it — enough to kill more than 100 people.

Death of three members of a Josephine farm family was attributed to accidental poisoning caused by drinking water out of a container which had been used for cotton defoliation.

"These plastic bottles are attractive nuisances . . . and deadly," an official said.

RADIATION DETECTION PLAN — An officer of the Texas Department of Public Safety soon should be able to help out at the scene of a radiation accident or incident anywhere in the State in about 30 minutes, Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., announced.

A stepped-up training program in radiation detection which began on October 29 is expected to provide enough trained men to handle any emergency.

Officers who have completed the course already are driving vehicles equipped with a Geiger Counter to measure very low amounts of radiation, a mid-range survey meter, and a high-range meter.

Men also carry personal "Dosimeters" on their persons so they periodically can determine the amount of radiation they have been subjected to during the survey of an area in which radioactive spillage has occurred.

Department's also helping to train members of city police departments, sheriffs' departments, rescue squads and other groups.

HIGHWAY HOME HELP — Property owners and tenants who become displaced by state Highway right-of-way acquisition now are entitled to help from district engineers of the State Highway Department.

In compliance with the 1962 Federal Aid Highway Act, people who must give up their homes or property because of right-of-way acquisition can get relocation assistance. Assistance will include listings of available rental and sale properties, referrals to services such as local housing bureaus and chambers of commerce, and similar advisory aid.

MOST SCENIC — Two Texas highways are finalists in Parade Magazine's Scenic Highway Award contest, and rank among the 20 "most scenic" in the U.S.

One is Interstate Highway 45, "The Way of the Pines," which runs through a wooded area southeast of Huntsville. The other is a section of F.M. Road 170, "El Camino del Rio," which traverses rough country along the Rio Grande between Lajitas and Redford.

A-G RULINGS — Sen. Louis Crump of San Saba asked the attorney general whether newspaper publication of a new State Constitution would be required before on could be adopted. "It would not," says Wilson.

A male juvenile, between 10 and 17, or a female juvenile, between 10 and 18, cannot be tried in a county court for negligent homicide in the second degree, Wellington County Attorney R. L. Templeton was informed. A county court cannot commit a person to a mental hospital for temporary hospitalization for any longer than 90 days.

A school district which does not teach high school grades cannot cancel or annul the transfer of one of its resident scholastics to a school district which provides high school grades.

JOB TRAINING OFFERED — A plan to discourage high school "drop-outs" and retrain adult workers was implemented when the Texas Employment Commission and the Texas Education Agency appointed an advisory committee to assist in carrying out the terms of the 1962 Manpower Development and Training Act.

Act, which became effective on August 1, was designed to provide occupational training in skills which can be learned in 52 weeks. Adult students who show satisfactory progress may be entitled to unemployment compensation while attending classes.

State Vocational Agency will arrange for facilities and instructors for local schools, but training will be under the complete direction of local educational systems.

Training programs for household appliance repairmen and for auto mechanics already are in operation, the former in Corpus Christi and the latter in El Paso.

CODE REVISIONS — Texas State Bar officers and directors have selected revisions in the Code of Criminal Procedure as number one on its 12-point legislative program for 1963.

Bar president Leon Jaworski said "There is particular need for criminal procedure reforms in our State."

Other proposals will include a statute regulating the execution of bail bonds in Texas, a Uniform Commercial Code, a Uniform Arbitration Act, and amendments to the Texas Securities Act.

Bar also will propose a constitutional amendment calling for the local option abolition of justice of the peace courts and replacing them with courts of record.

Legislature also will be asked to repeal acts of its last regular session making jury finding, instead of court findings, conclusive in custody cases.

ENFORCEMENT FUND — Railroad Commissioner Bill Murray says an enforcement tax of 1c per barrel of oil is not needed. According to Murray there would be enough money for oil and gas law enforcement if the Legislature would allocate all the funds collected for the purpose.

His comments were inspired by the enforcement tax of 1c per barrel of oil recommended by the Gregg County grand jury.

Legislature authorized the commission to take $300,000 a year from the gas utilities fund to supplement oil enforcement tax income.

Chairman Murray feels that the commission's main need is for 15 more inspectors, to supplement its staff recently bolstered by 15 men.

MILITARY DUTY RULING — State employees requesting another year of active duty with the 49th Armored Division can have their jobs back when they get out.

So says Attorney General Will Wilson.

He held that those staying on for another year "are entitled to restoration of state employment."

Many members of the 49th Division were recalled to active duty when the Berlin situation became tense last year. Most of the men were released in August.

Some requested and were assigned another year of active duty.

NO WAITING — There is no longer a waiting list of applicants for land purchase under the veterans' land program, says Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

Sadler said that 70,000 veterans were given land-buying opportunities the past 21 months.

Commissioner reported a backlog of 40,672 veterans on January 1, 1961. Many of them had been waiting their turn for three years.

A total of 116,885 applications have been received since the program began operation in 1949.

VALUABLE MARKERS — Historical markers are worth their weight in gold according to the Texas Highway Department. Three tourist markers recently erected to mark significant historical sites are proving this.

THD says each of the markers earns nearly its original cost in added tourist revenues each month. Original cost was about $630 each. They will earn this cost ten times in a year. Each marker is credited with earning an average of $17.55 per day.

Markers — first of 25 to be erected during the next year — are at Camp Ford near Tyler; at Meteor Crater near Odessa; and at Castle Gap in Upton County.

LIBRARY NOTES:

EDITH BARNES

Most of you know by now that John Steinbeck won the Nobel Prize for literature this year. His book "The Winter of Our Discontent" cinched it for him.

The Nobel Prizes were first given in 1901. No writer from this country won until 1930 when Sinclair Lewis won with his "Arrowsmith." Others were: Eugene O'Neal, Pearl Buck, William Faulkner, and Ernest Hemingway.

We have certainly lagged in the literature department but it is good to know that in the fields of peace, physics and physiology or medicine we have lead all other nations of the world.

"The early 1940 years presaged the beginning of my death as a salesman of public health."

So ended almost twenty years of battles Paul De Kruif had fought for more and better life giving health measures for all people.

Folks every where should be forever grateful to him for the articles he wrote for popular magazines exposing quacks, worthless medicines and vaccines alone. Not even counting his readable books he wrote which make everyone, who was interested enough to read them, familiar with old and new developments in medicine, doctoring etc. Yet how many even know the name Paul De Kruif?

From the encyclopedia: "He brought many new discoveries and back found facts to the public. In a breezy and informal style, he often expressed a viewpoint different from the accepted one and stirred up much excited controversy."

After reading his memoirs "The Sweeping Wind" you will agree that this is the understatement of the year.

He was hated by doctors, drug manufacturers, his fellow scientists on one hand; on the other he numbered some of the leading figures in these and other fields among his most ardent friends.

He collaborated with Sinclair Lewis on "Arrowsmith", and received 25% of the royalties. He said this made him a 1/4 winner of the Nobel Prize. As this was the book that won the prize of Mr. Lewis.

Paul De Kruif, like all of the dedicated people he wrote about, is away ahead of his times.

GOOSE SEASON NOW OPEN

AUSTIN — Get out your shotguns and ammo, the goose season is upon us. Shooting hours for this favorite of the waterfowl hunters are from sunrise to sunset on all days including opening day.

Hunters who have been disappointed over the near loss of their duck hunting should be cheered that the goose season, Oct. 31 through Jan. 13, is 15 days longer than last year's season.

The limits for geese will be the same as for 1961 with a five per day daily bag limit, and five in possession. Native LAMBS are now being processed in the Center of the Southwest

Here, in the very heart of the Nation's largest sheep-producing area, a famous packer has established a lamb processing plant.

Any new industry contributes to the economy. But a new industry which processes a product of the area is doubly important.

We are convinced that this is a growing trend. It has become an important part of our continuing efforts to inform America's business leaders about our industrial advantages.

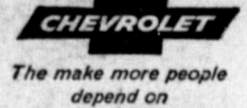

It is another reason why we say that we face GROWTH UNLIMITED here in the Center of the Southwest.

CLARENDON, TEXAS

For several years, at the beginning of school, we have written something special for the occasion. This year we forgot.

We remembered it only this week when we received a heart-warming letter from our good friend John T. Morris, of the White Deer Schools. In addition to counting him among our friends we also count Mr. Morris one of the finest school men in the Panhandle. Along with his letter came the following article that we think mighty good. It is called:

TEACH HIM GENTLY, if you can. . . .

My son starts to school tomorrow. It's all going to be strange and now to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently. . . .

You see, up to now, he's been our little boy. He's been boss of the backyard. . . . His mother has always been around to repair his wounds, and I've always been handy to soothe his feelings. . . .

But now, things are going to be different. This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure.

It's an adventure that will probably include wars, tragedy, and sorrow. . . .

To live his life in the world he will live in requires faith, love, and courage. So, World, I wish you would sort of take him by the hand and teach him the things he will have to know.

Teach him, but gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true. But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero, that for every selfish politician, there is a dedicated leader. Teach him that for every enemy, there is a friend. . . .

It will take time, World, I know, but teach him, if you can, that a nickel earned is of far more value than a dollar found. Teach him to learn to lose, and to enjoy winning. . . .

Steer him away from envy, if you can and teach him the secret of quiet laughter. Let him learn early that the bullies are the easiest people to lick. . . . Teach him, if you can, the wonder of books. . . . But also give him a quiet time to ponder the eternal mystery of birds in the sky, bees in the sunlight, and flowers on a green hillside. . . .

In school, World, teach him that it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat. . . . Teach him to have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone tells him they are wrong. Teach him to be gentle with gentle people, and tough with tough people. Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone else is getting on the band wagon. . . . Teach him to listen to all men, but teach him to filter all that he hears on the screen of truth and take only the good that comes through. . . .

Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he is sad. . . . Teach him that there is no shame in tears. Teach him that there can be glory in failure, and despair in success. . . .

Teach him to scoff at cynics and to beware of too much sweetness. Teach him to sell his brawn and brains to the highest bidder but never to put a price tag on his heart and soul.

Teach him to close his ears to a howling mob, and to stand and fight if he thinks he is. . . . Treat him gently, World, don't coddle him, because the test of fire makes steel. . . .

him have the courage to be patient, and let him have patience to be brave. Teach always to have sublime faith in himself. Because only he will be always have sublimely faith in mankind.

This is a big order, World, see what you can do. . . . He's a fine little fellow, My son. . . .

Note. The person who is us the above was our great school principal when My son waved goodbye and went off to school for the first time. . . .

You don't need big water to catch big fish.

In fact, some of the most consistent fishing to be found in Texas is in the stock ponds located on the farm and ranches throughout the state. Many small ones are less than five acres in size. The big ones run 10 to 20 acres.

You may not catch any record-breaking fish in these ponds, but you'll make a lot fewer water-hauls than you do out on the big, wide open lakes.

Getting to fish the farm tanks—as they are popularly called—means making friends with the landowners.

With a courteous approach, that's easy. But don't wear out your welcome by scattering trash around the pond, building fires, destroying property or worse yet—inviting the gang to "come along."

Tank farm fishing is rather specialized. Actually it calls for several types of fishing, a wide assortment of lures—and just in case, some live bait.

In farm tank fishing many anglers use baitcasting reels, spinning reels, and fly-fishing tackle—all three types of gear—since this kind of fishing calls for a lot of experimenting.

Fly-fishing the tanks is most effective in the early morning and late evening hours. That seems to be the time when the fish rise best to flies and popping bugs.

Spin-fishing is preferred at night because you don't have to worry about backlashes. For one reason or another one seems to get the messiest of backlashes at night.

Baitcasting tackle, or fairly heavy spincasting gear, is preferred for mid-day, farm-tank fishing. The fish generally are down deep in the heat of the day, and you need a stout rod to work your lure through the snags and moss at the bottom of the pond.

A wide assortment of lures is a must. It seems that within the confines of a small pond, fish will become accustomed to lures and shun them if the same one is used too often. This is particularly true on ponds of less than five acres in size.

For example, you might score well on black bass with a red and white diving plug. Then suddenly action will stop. By switching to a gold spoon, you may pick up three or four more fish before the action stops again. Next producer might be a black floating plug with a pork rind attached.

You can't tell what they will hit, or how long they will hit it. But when they're not hitting, you might as well change lures.

When you find a small pond that is fished unusually hard, often you have to resort to live bait, if you're to net any fish.

In fishing a farm tank, work all the way around it. Don't remain in one spot. Avoid wading out in the small tanks. You'll only spook fish that way. However, it's okay to wade-fish in the big 10 to 20 acre tanks. They're just small lakes.

Stand far enough back from the edge of the water so no shadow is cast over the water. Make as little noise as possible and move slowly from one spot to another.

The small size of the farm tanks is one of the keys to good fishing.

Take a five-acre pond, for example. You can work the entire pond—and at all depth levels—in the space of a morning. So you're bound to find fish some place.

A farm tank with a good water supply, plenty of cover and natural forage will yield something like 500 pounds of fish per surface acre per year. Obviously on the large tanks you can see that "fishing out" the hole isn't a problem.

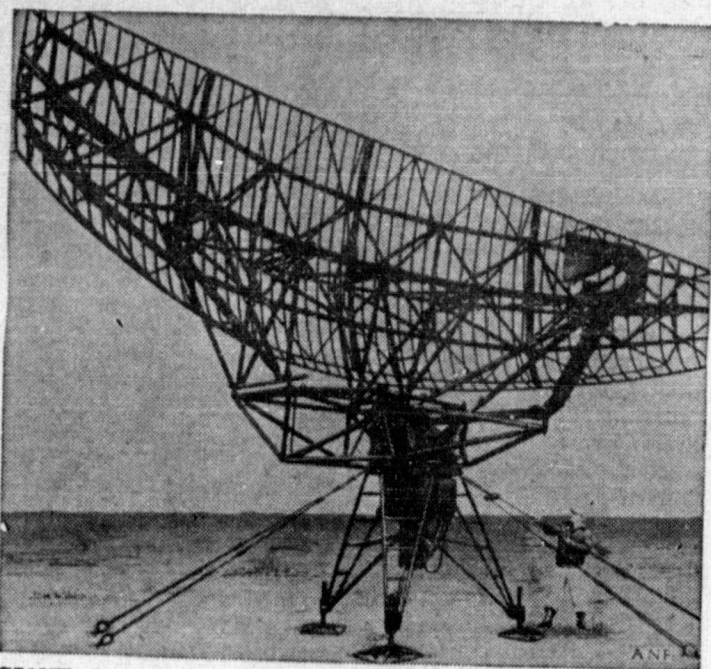

Usually the real problem with farm-tank fishing is the lack of enough fishing pressure. If you catch a lot of small and stunted fish, you can bet that the pond is overpopulated. Only remedy is to increase the fishing pressure. If that doesn't help, then you'd better contact the Game and Fish Commission for assistance.

In addition to some choice fishing, farm tanks also offer sporty hunting, in season. These tanks are ideal spots to hunt doves when the birds fly in to get water.

You can pretty well control the flight of the doves by putting a few decoys on tree limbs. Or if there is a sandy shoreline, place some decoys there.

During the waterfowl season you can score well on ducks—provided you don't over-hunt the tank.

A tank of less than five acres shouldn't be hunted more than GIANT RADAR ANTENNA—The first of a quantity of giant radar antennas, produced for Army Signal Corps, have been delivered for use in Missile Monitor air defense installations. With a reflector measuring 40 x 11 feet, it is the Army's largest portable tactical antenna. Capable of being segmented and transported by truck or flat car, it can be set up in four hours by eight men. According to Army test reports, radar performance has greatly improved as a result of using this antenna. A high gain results from the narrower beam of the antenna. Produced by the Hazeltine Corp., the antenna is adaptable to any radar in its frequency band.

two or three times a week, and never two days in succession.

On the big 10 to 20 acre ponds you can hunt every day, if the blinds are spotted at opposite ends if the lake.

But—we repeat—don't hunt the same blind twice in succession.

In the business session officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. A. J. Garland; Vice-President, Mrs. Bill Williams; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. N. The outcome was that he went to a college to enroll and was made to wait, finally being asked to do some cleaning. He was so thorough that he was allowed to enroll at the college. The underlying theme of the story brought out the influence one has on another.

HINTS OFFERED ON CARE OF GAME AFTER THE KILL

COLLEGE STATION — What kind of reception do you receive, 'Mr. Hunter,' when you take home your bag of game? Does your wife throw up her hands in disgust?

If she does, says Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, the fault may rest with the hunter. The mishandling of game after the kill often makes impossible a tasty preparation job in the kitchen, and the putting of meat on the family table as you would like it.

Immediate and proper bleeding of game animals is most important in improving meat flavor, points out Cooper. The same is true, he adds, for ducks and geese and most other game species. This practice will do much, Cooper says, to remove the strong, gamey flavor which some people dislike.

The specialist recommends field dressing immediately after the kill especially if the weather is relatively warm. The sooner the animal is dressed the better for immediate dressing means fewer chances for meat spoilage or undesirable flavor or odor.

Keep the game clean, advises Cooper. Avoid letting hair, feathers, dirt or other trash or debris come into contact with the meat. Before the blood dries, wipe the body cavity clean with either a dry or slightly moistened cloth rather than by washing with water, explains the specialist.

If the weather is warm, game should be put into cold storage as soon as possible. If it is held just above freezing for several days, the meat will become more tender and have less of the undesirable 'gamey' flavor. A deer, adds Cooper, should be aged in cold storage much the same as the carcass of a beef animal. Omit the aging process, he says, and your wife will have good reason for hoping you don't bag a deer this year.

Cooper suggests that hunters contact their local county extension office for a copy of B-987, "Game Care and Cooking." Copies are also available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. It's chockful of helpful hints for hunters and wild game cooks.

The meeting at Center was well attended Saturday night, and all enjoyed the very inspirational program. Rev. Paul Hancock led the group in an old fashioned Sing-Song; everyone getting a chance to sing their favorite hymn. Mrs. Van Kennedy, at the piano, made the evening even more enjoyable, and everyone has many words of praise for both of them for the very fine program. We appreciate them coming so much, and invite them back anytime they have any free time. Everyone likes to sing. Other guests were Mr. Van Kennedy and Miss Ruth Justiss, who lives in Claude, but is attending Texas Tech College in Lubbock, a very gracious guest, who we welcome back anytime. All who missed this program was the loser. Pie and coffee were served, and no plans were made for a Thanksgiving program as yet. We hope Mr. and Mrs. Jess Nelson and Mrs. T. A. Nelson will come back again too, and of the others who came, including Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Higgins, and all others.

22 losses last year, seem to be in for more of the same this year. They are almost starting from scratch this year. Four lettermen are returning from last year's team, but none of them were consistent starters. Lost from last year's team are such performers as All-American Ray DeBord, All-Regional Kenneth Martindale, Billy Wiggins, Dee Blevins and Jimmy Zaring.

Returning lettermen this year are Max Courtney, Alvin Scott, Bill Bentley and Joe Lennon. Courtney, a 6-8 stringbean from Wellington, played well in spurts last year but was far from the consistent performer his coaches had hoped for when the season started. Scott, 6-2, from Quanah, was a reserve last year and saw a lot of action. Bentley, 6-2 from Sannorwood and Lennon, 5-11 and Randall Murry, 5-10, Sannorwood.

Several of the freshmen boys have good backgrounds as high school players. Johnston was All-State Class B last year and Starkey was All-Regional. Both these boys sparked the Quitaque team to the state tournament in Austin last year. Allen was voted the outstanding player in District 2-A last year as a member of the Clarendon team. Garrett, the giant, 6-4, 240 pounder from Channing, was all-district last year as was both Lancaster and Murry.

Coach Dorman was asked to name his best seven or eight boys and he stated that he could hardly do that since all were hustling and working hard, but that he certainly would have to include such boys as Bentley, Lennon, Scott, Boyd, Murry, Allen, King and Starkey.

However, a job is confronting the coach when he has to replace such boys as Ray DeBord, who was perhaps the best outside shooter in the history of Clarendon Junior College, and Kenneth Martindale, the mighty mite who won the hearts of the crowd with his spectacular dribbling, passing and ball handling.

score. This made the score 28 to 0 at the half.

The Pirate's final tally came in the third period when Arrington scored on a 21 yard run.

Actually, the second half was a close game. The Pirates only scored once and the Bronchos scored once only to have their touchdown called back because of a clipping penalty. The Bronchos brought their supporters to their feet when Quarterback Dwight McAnear tossed a short pass to Fullback Teddy Graham and the fleet-footed junior fullback raced 77 yards for the score only to have it nullified by the penalty.

Because of their tremendous first half surge, the Pirates rolled up a big edge in the statistics. They made 17 first downs to Clarendon's 7, and made 291 yards rushing to 111 for the Bronchos. However, 222 of their 291 yards rushing came in the first half. Lefors completed one pass in six attempts for eight yards and the Bronchos completed two of seven for 11 yards. The rough and aggressive play of the Pirates cost them 110 yards in 10 penalties and the Bronchos lost 45 yards in five penalties.

Mrs. Homer Mulkey had as her house guest last week Mrs. William R. Lewis of Fort Worth.
