Work is progressing on schedule at the Lake Creek Diversion operation northeast of Lelia Lake. The work, when completed, will furnish water to Childress and Quanah this summer. This is the first step in the ultimate plan to provide water for Clarendon, Hedley, Childress, Quanah and Crowell by the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority. The sand and mud being dumped here, came from a large trench being dug at the Lake Creek site.

CANCER DRIVE PARTIALLY COMPLETED

The Clarendon Jaycees in cooperation with the American Cancer Society made a door to door canvass of the town Sunday. Only the west half of the city was covered but the east part will be covered in the near future. Jaycees reported a total of $150.48 collected in the canvass. This brings the total collected in the county to $601.82.

Committee To Study Feasibility Of Farm Retraining Program

Seventy-four area farmers and other interested individuals were on hand for the meeting last Thursday at which time representatives of the Texas Education Agency, and Texas Employment Commission explained the Farm Retraining Program of the Manpower and Development Act.

H. M. "Flip" Breedlove was named chairman of a committee to study the feasibility of the program here. This committee will meet tonight in the community room at the Farmers State Bank at 8 p.m. to determine whether a school of this nature will fit our locality.

A report from the Texas Employment Commission indicated a need for trained employees in irrigation and farm machinery operation.

If the program is instituted here, it will consist of a 20 week course of 800 hours available to people in and around Clarendon in sufficient number or the Texas Employment Agency will place applicants here. Tractors and other equipment will be rented from local dealers and Clarendon College facilities will be made available. Each course could mean around $40,000 in revenue to this locality.

1965 ACP

Producers are beginning to make their applications to seed forage sorghums or summer legumes for cover to protect their land from erosion. These practices may be carried out with ACP assistance on diverted acres under the 1965 programs or on other land. When seeded on land other than diverted acres, no haying or harvesting is allowed unless a refund of the assistance is made. Grazing is permitted on this land provided a good stand is maintained through the blow season.

DROUGHT EMERGENCY PROGRAM

The drought emergency program for grazing and/or haying soil bank acreages has been extended until May 31. Prior application must be made for this service. For details, come by the County ASCS Office.

HAIL DAMAGES CROPS AT ASHTOLA MONDAY

The moisture that fell over the area Monday was most welcome but not the hard type and the quantity that moved across the Ashtola area.

The most destructive hail was a streak approximately three miles wide with Ashtola in the middle. Wheat and Alfalfa crops were completely wiped out and a deluge of 2.35 inches of rain accompanied the storm. Traffic at Ashtola was reduced to one lane and highway equipment was rushed to the area to remove the hail from the road. It was reported that the hail was so deep that some of the cars were dragging high center.

Scattered hail was reported over a large area of the county and here in town it was heavier in the west part.

Moisture reports included .90 inch here in town, 2.35 at Ashtola, .50 at the Country Club, .38 at Lelia Lake and .50 at Hedley.

NEWS FROM CITY HALL

by R. L. Gilkey, Mayor

The City Council meeting was held last Tuesday as usual to conduct the necessary business. This included opening bids for a new lawnmower, proposed ordinances, and the need for an accountant. To date no accountant has been hired by the city. The need for better tax assessment and collection was discussed but no action was taken. Review of the financial statement for last month revealed a deficit of approximately $240 which was not considered unusual for the month of April. Cash on hand at the end of the month was in excess of $1,600. The meeting was marred by the knowledge of the lawsuit to be filed by several citizens of Clarendon against their city government. Doubtlessly this action will upset many of the remaining citizens. I can only answer this—your city government is composed entirely of men dedicated to provide as good a government as possible for us. Not one of them is acting for personal gain, not one is being led astray. Each alderman is acutely aware of what we, the people of Clarendon, want. They listen carefully to what we say, and try to act in our best interest at all times. Don't we have faith in our city? In our aldermen? IN OURSELVES?

Lynn Bourland, left is the valedictorian of the 1965 graduating class of Clarendon High School, and Mary Louise Caldwell is the salutatorian of the class. Miss Bourland earned the honor by having an average of 97.17 and Miss Caldwell's average was 96.81.

Church Installs Fallout Shelter

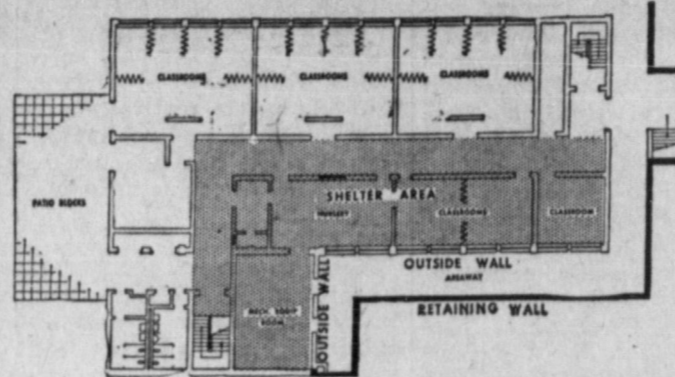

FALLOUT PROTECTION capability designed and built into a new church at McLean, Va., achieves shelter area for 300 persons on part of the first floor (shaded area in drawing at right) by increasing the ceiling slab for the first floor from 2-6 inches of concrete, and other supplementary measures. One of these measures is added radiation protection obtained from the retaining wall which helps to shield the part of the shelter area adjacent to the outside walls.

It's Integral Part Of New Building

Fallout protection features built into the new McLean Bible Church at McLean, Va., are invisible to the untrained eye, as are similar measures built into many new structures springing up across the Nation. They are very real, nevertheless. The church is one of 34 new buildings of various types which are cited in a new civil defense publication as examples of designing fallout shelter into structures at little or no extra cost at the time they are built, and without impairing their appearance or use. The shelter feature added only $900 to the cost of the $217,000 church, or about six cents of the $15.24 cost per sq. ft. of the building. Copies of the publication "New Buildings With Fallout Protection" (TR-27), put out by the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense, are available without charge from the U.S. Army AG Publications Center, Civil Defense Branch, 2800 Eastern Blvd., Baltimore, Md. 21220.

Work there has been slowed down by the excessive amount of water now flowing in the creek.

The Hedley High School girls basketball team will be guests of the Lions at their May 13th meeting.

FERTILITY PROGRAM CAN CUT PRODUCTION COST

A good soil fertility program is one of the best methods for lowering the costs of crop and pasture production. And, points out County Agent Ronald Gooch, the basis for the program should be soil testing.

But, he adds, the soil sample submitted to a testing laboratory must be taken with care and be representative of the fertility conditions which exist in the field.

First, determine where the samples should be taken. Many fields, explain the county agent, have conditions which require more than a single sample, For example, some fields have both creek bottom and upland soils and fertility differences would be expected. Too, the cropping history may be different within a field. Part of it may have been in corn or some other grain crop or cotton and part in a legume crop. Thus, these areas should be sampled separately due to different fertility requirements for these crops.

Even if the field is uniform in appearance and the past treatment, one sample should not represent more than 10 acres, says Gooch. Unusual spots in the field should be avoided when samples are being taken unless they are large enough to justify separate fertilization or liming, he says. Then sample them separately, he adds.

The same care should be exercised when soil samples are taken of pasture lands.

The recommendations from the soil testing laboratory are the best guides available for pointing up the plant food or foods needed

DROPOUT PROBLEM IS CAUSE FOR CONCERN

Three million of the nation's young people between the ages of 16 and 19 have become school dropouts.

Although this alarming number is cause for concern, nevertheless the rate of dropout has decreased from 41 per cent to 30 per cent since 1950, says Patsy Reynolds, Extension Service specialist in family life education.

The term dropout doesn't bring pleasant pictures to mind. Many people often associate the colloquial term with juvenile delinquents. Yet the boy or girl who becomes a dropout may be a nice young person—just bewildered, unsure of himself and his goal in life, the specialist says.

Many youngsters face the decision of whether to leave school or continue before they are old enough or experienced enough to decide wisely. The process which leads to a student leaving school is a long one—and it is affected by the student, his family and his school.

"Youngsters need guidance and encouragement from their families and school officials. Many people must share the blame for a school dropout. We have made much progress in reducing the dropout rate—but 30 percent is still far too high," Miss Reynolds says.

While money to stay in school will help curb dropouts in some instances, yet people who care what happens to a youngster can help even more, the Texas A&M University specialist adds.

FALLOUT SHELTER BUILT-IN EASILY

A new booklet just issued by the Defense Department's Office of Civil Defense (OCD) describes and illustrates 34 new buildings across the Nation in which "slanting" techniques were used to build-in fallout protection at little or no added cost and without affecting the buildings' looks or efficiency.
The publication, entitled "New Buildings With Fallout Protection" (TR-27), also dispels the notion that a fallout shelter has to be single-purpose, underground and unattractive. It points out that all buildings across the Nation provide some degree of radiation shielding, and many of these contain shelter space in above-ground areas. Many other buildings have weak points in shielding which could have been avoided had knowledge of fallout and protection against it been known at the time of design.

Many of the "slanting" techniques of fallout protective design were theoretically proved feasible in two nationwide design competitions, sponsored by OCD in cooperation with archi-

Single copies of a new Defense Department publication, "New Buildings With Fallout Protection" (TR-27), showing 34 new buildings with built-in fallout shelter, are available without charge by writing to U.S. Army AG Publications Center, Civil Defense Branch, 2800 Eastern Blvd., Baltimore, Md. 21220.

COMBINATION FALLOUT and tornado shelter built into the "cafeteria" (left) of the new Lincoln Elementary School at Alva, Okla., is part of the town's response to its perilous position in the center of the Nation's tornado belt and near major military bases. The $201,000 school is built into a slope so that the first-floor cafeteria is underground on one side and windowless on all sides. The room could serve as a shelter for 256 persons, with a 17-inch slab of concrete and masonry walls reducing radiation to a hundredth of that outside. School Superintendent Earl L. Geis says: "Parents of children in this school feel a sense of security, for these children are sheltered in case of storm or fallout disaster before they can be provided at home." It is one of 34 buildings of various kinds across the Nation described in "New Buildings With Fallout Protection" (TR-27), a Defense Department booklet. Single copies are available free from the U.S. Army AG Publications Center, Civil Defense Branch, 2800 Eastern Blvd., Baltimore, Md. 21220.

itects' and engineers' societies. The theories were put into practice in the 34 buildings cited by the OCD booklet.

Following are some examples of "slanting" techniques:

- Reducing or eliminating windows or placing them high up in a room to cut down direct exposure of occupants to outside radiation, which moves in straight lines.
• Filling hollow walls with a radiation-shielding material such as sand.
• Locating baffle walls in front of outside entrances, and placing inner partitions so that shelter areas would not be exposed to outside radiation.
• Arranging rooms to provide a fallout-protected inner core area.

THE MAN ON THE MOON may make this kind of a scene. The astronaut model is standing on a model of the lunar surface based upon the final closeup photograph taken by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ranger VII before the spacecraft hit the moon on July 31, 1964. The surface shown here, as well as the astronaut model and model of the Lunar Excursion Module, were created through a special scaling process, with one inch representing one-and-two-thirds feet. The scaling technique was developed by Dr. E. M. Shoemaker of the United States Geological Survey's Astro-Geology Branch. The area represented is a small region of the moon's surface. The Future Teachers of America met April 29 in the library during activity period. The meeting was called to order by Vicki Sloan, secretary. Guest speaker, Mrs. Jean Moore, was introduced to the group. Mrs. Moore's subject was "Why Be A Teacher." The members were urged to become teachers.

Those present were Ella Just, Vicki Sloan, Mary Martin, Judy Greene, Regina Borden, Frankie Waldron, Melinda Moore, Linda Hill, Lynn Bourland, Sandra Longan, Janice Easterling, and sponsor, Dema Justice.

This past week the Future Teachers have enjoyed the honor of observing the Teaching Profession in action. The first grade was observed by Mary Martin in Mrs. Mears room and Regina Borden in Mrs. Brown's room. Nan Neal visited the second grade in Mrs. Johnson's room. In the third grade department, it was Vicki Sloan in Mrs. Land's room and Ella Just in Mrs. Batson's. Ella Just covered two classes of Miss Mongole's room by going to music in Mrs. Anthony's room. SENIOR PERSONALITIES Brenda Kay Moore was born September 25, 1946 in Clarendon, Texas. She now stands five feet three inches with black hair and brown eyes. Her future plans are to attend NTSU and study business Administration. Her favorite movie star is James Garner. Her favorite song is "I'm So Proud." Her pet peeve is "People who don't give other people a chance." She says that given a choice she would pick television because it is less expensive (on her part). Her favorite recreation is to play basketball or softball. The food she likes best is Bar-B-Q chicken. The colors that she likes best are blue and green. She said that the happiest moment in her life will be when she gets her college degree. Her ideal boy is a tall, fairly attractive, nice Wellington Senior.

MORE FAMILIES NOW HAVE SAVINGS ACCOUNTS
At least two major changes affecting the financial status of many American families have taken place during the past decade: Double paychecks and more family savings.

This observation comes from Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University. Approximately 40 percent of the families with wage earners in 1950 were receiving two or more paychecks, compared with 50 percent of wage earner families now receiving two or more paychecks. The working wife is primarily responsible, says Mrs. Meyer. One out of three married women are now employed.

Average family income in the past 10 years has risen from about $3,300 to just under $6,000. The average is for the nation as a whole. In many instances, two or more paychecks have served to boost family income into the $10,000 or higher bracket.

Naturally, two paychecks and higher incomes have had an effect on savings. The Home Loan Bank Board, a government agency that keeps an eye on the thrift of the nation, reports that total savings of individuals are now approximately $400 billions, or nearly twice that of a decade ago. "This works out to the equivalent of over $7,000 per family as the government measures thrift," says Mrs. Meyer.

ful of challenges before us as to our responsibilities to conservation of our soil and water. A tour is planned for May 17, 1965 for the Ministers to see first hand what the land owners of Donley County are doing to meet the challenges before them. The Clarendon Jaycees will help us feed the Ministers at Mrs. Bromleys.

We ask you to consider these challenges. Growth is a call to leadership and a test of your faith in God. It demands your involvement, for true growth is rooted in people. It exalts freedom, undermines fear, and generates hope. Growth is the evidence of change, which is inevitable. It couples planning and orderly development, to avoid waste. It enlists knowledge, to ac-

Challenges of Growth

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK
MAY 23-30, 1965

comodate rising pressures on the land. Growth is the drive to justice, powered by reason and tolerance. It opposes the persistence of poverty, which denies dignity. It requires understanding, to extend the truth. Growth is the reward of aspiration and effort, fortified by courage. It imposes discipline and asserts the need for balanced progress. It enlarges responsibility, invites cooperation, and reveals opportunity. It can be, if you will it, the avenue to an ever-expanding future. Consider these challenges. Consider them well.

HILLTOP NOTES

News From Clarendon College

THIS AND THAT

Annual Party
Clarendon College students received their annuals Wednesday, April 28th, during a party sponsored by the annual staff. Students and faculty members enjoyed coffee, cokes, and cookies in the lounge while they busily autographed yearbooks for one another.

This year's Bulldog is an exceptionally fine annual. We commend the annual staff and sponsors, Mrs. Lucile Naylor and Mr. Jim Tucker, for the fine work they have done. Jerry Don Snyder edited the '65 edition of the Bulldog, ably assisted by Jeanine Hermesmeier. Gary Campbell, Ann Weatherly, and Larry Neece did a fine job of shutter-snapping and picture posing. Other members of the staff include Perry Gruhkey, Johnny London, Mike London, Sue Tabor, and Betty Sandefer.

Definitions
We made a canvass of the student body this week, asking for definitions of Adolescence. These are some of the answers we got.

A period in which girls try to make little boys stop asking questions, and big boys begin.

A period in which children begin to question the answers.

That period when a boy refuses to believe that someday he'll be as dumb as his father.

COUNTERINSURGENCY—This artist's concept illustrates an amphibious, all plastic airplane for use in counterinsurgency operations. The aircraft is being designed by the Goodyear Aerospace Corporation to takeoff and land in short distances from either streams or narrow roads, and to ferry passengers or supplies comparatively long distances.

That period when children feel their parents should be told the facts of life.

The period in which the young suddenly begin to feel a great responsibility about answering the phone.

The time in life when a girl begins to powder and a boy begins to puff.

When a boy reaches the state when he knows why a strappies gown must be held up, but doesn't understand how.

When boys begin to notice that girls notice boys who notice girls.

When children start bringing up their parents.

WHEN AND WHERE School Drop-Out Film

The college auditorium was the scene of an especially interesting film last Thursday. The problem of school drop-outs were reviewed in the picture, which was produced by the Texas Employment commission and shown by Mr. Bill Cross, representative from Childress.

College Picnic
The Student Senate hosted a picnic at Burson Lakes Thursday evening. Members of the faculty and their families and all college students and their guests were invited to this annual affair. The weather cooperated beautifully, thanks to Steve Richerson who placed an order months ago, for a warm, still afternoon and evening to coincide with the outdoor entertainment. Hot dogs, cokes, and ice cream tasted mighty good after an hour or two of hiking and swimming. A few optimistic souls dangled some fish hooks, but their efforts were rewarded with only a nibble or two. Perhaps denizens of the deep just don't like hot dogs as well as land creatures. Try worms for bait next time fellows.

Approximately fifty people enjoyed the outing and voiced a vote of thanks to members of the Student Senate and their sponsors, Mr. Weldon Day and Mrs. Velma Weaver, for providing a pleasant evening of entertainment. The Student Senate is composed of Steve Richerson, Jeanine Hermesmeier, Tim Ray, Bill Trospier and Jimmy Blackerby.

Awards Day Postponed
Due to an unusually heavy schedule, the Awards Day program, which was originally announced for Wednesday, May 5, has been re-scheduled for Monday, May 17th.

HERE AND THERE

May Day Dance
A May Day dance, sponsored by Phi Beta Lambda organization, was the big social event of the week end on Saturday, May 1st. The Velasquez Brothers, musical family group from Wheeler, provided outstanding dance tunes for a large crowd of college and high school students. The festivities took place in the old school gymnasium.

WHO AND WHAT

Annual TSTA Banquet
The annual Donley County, District Nine, TSTA banquet was held at Hedley Friday evening at 7:30 in the Lion's Den. A delectable meal was served by members of the Hedley senior class and their parents. Mr. Weldon Day, Dean of Clarendon College, introduced Mr. John H. Lovelady of Austin who discussed the Teacher Retirement Law. Mr. Lovelady, a former classroom teacher, coach, principal, and assistant superintendent, is presently serving as the Assistant Director of Field Service for TSTA. He is also a state consultant for the Texas Future Teachers of America and the TSTA staff consultant for the State TEPS Committee. Mr. Lovelady is a graduate of the University of Texas and received a Master's Degree from Texas Western College in 1948.

Other program personalities included members of the college choir and Mr. Paul Hancock, who provided a variety of musical selections. Following the program, Mr. Day conducted a brief business session.

The banquet was well attended by the teachers and their guests from Clarendon and Hedley Public Schools and from Clarendon College.
