NEWS FROM CITY HALL

by R. L. Gilkey, Mayor

There are two words that cause this city a lot of discomfort. They are "Mis-information" and "Mis-understanding." Although similar, there is a big difference. Mis-information is malicious; misunderstanding is accidental.

Our town is continuously besieged with rumors. Most frequently these rumors have little basis in fact and constitute misinformation. It is frequently used as a tool to gain a predetermined end. It just takes a few pieces of "misinformation" to get a real "misunderstanding" in full swing. We have this problem before us now. It is three-fourths misunderstanding and we have no right to become angry about this. I am in no way angry with those citizens who have brought suit against their city. It is certainly their right to do so. However, I believe that we could find that these citizens have been supplied with misinformation.

The solution is very simple. Get the facts! Go to the horses mouth, so to speak, and find out the truth. If you hear a rumor on the street, find out if it's true. If it's just a rumor with no basis for fact, it isn't worth the words to repeat it. If it's misinformation, then correct it. Let's not spread any word of which we are not sure. When misunderstanding is cleared, the air is clear. Let's all be just a little careful when we listen, and not agree with every speaker just to be a little critical of what we hear and ask for facts, not fancy.

I think the air is beginning to clear a little already, don't you?

Hearing On City Suit Postponed 'Til Monday

The hearing on the suit brought against the City of Clarendon which was scheduled for Tuesday, May 17 in District Court.

The suit is in the form of an injunction restraining Mayor Gilkey, City Administrator, M. B. Mitchell and Mrs. Brenda Higley from signing pay checks for the City Administrator and Chief of Police, Gary Gerdes, and is based on an old law around 85 years old which has never been questioned in court previously whereby an opinion has been written.

A majority of towns and cities in the State of Texas have overlooked or by-passed this old antiquated law in hiring city managers, policemen, city lawyers etc. It should have been eliminated from the statutes many, many years ago.

STOCKMEN URGED TO SEND IN SCREWORM SAMPLES

Donley County Livestock Producers contributed $1,566.65 for the screwworm eradication program, during the recent fund raising drive. This exceeded the county goal of $1296. The Donley County Animal Health Committee, made up of local ranchers, served as a collection committee in the county.

Service trades were listed as those providing personal services to individuals, miscellaneous business services, auto repair and other auto services, other repair services. It also included motion picture business, other amusement and recreation services, hotels and motels.

Selected trade establishments employed 30 persons, exclusive of proprietors, and had a payroll for the year of $62 thousand.

The City of Wellington has requested that it be taken out of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority entirely, it was learned Saturday. Wellington was put into the Authority 'state law after the seven towns voted the entity several years ago.

The Legislative bill which has caused considerable concern to local farmers here and which was rewritten to conform to local approval, was passed in the Senate over a week ago but has not passed the house. Senator Andy Rogers said the bill could include the Wellington request before going thru the house and still be amended in the Senate.

As we understand it, Memphis will be left in the Authority but the director from there will not have a vote until a water contract is signed to purchase water from the authority.

W. J. Lowe, attorney for the authority, stated that the Authority was ready to proceed with the advertisement for bids on the Greenbelt dam just as soon as land purchases for the lake and dam site are completed. He said he had made some progress toward land purchases and has been instructed also by the Authority to start condemnation suits where agreement could not be reached in the land purchases.

With only a few stumbling blocks now in the way, actual construction on the dam should not be too far in the distance, Lowe added.

LIBRARY NOTES

EDITH BARNES

Two memorial gifts have been given to the library dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Mae Prewitt who was your librarian for over eleven years.

The "Pathfinder Club" has given their generous yearly check to the library. As usual the ink was hardly dry on it before an order was in the mail for more books. As most of you know this club started the school library program in Clarendon back in 1915. In 1923 the club enlarged the library and made it available to the public. The value of our library to everyone, young, middle and oldsters, over the years since then can never be estimated. Each year more and more readers come to the library, especially those youngsters whose teacher has given them a summer membership.

Quoting from the "Common View." "My wife, who is quite a charming person, contends that one should read solely for pleasure. 'My dear,' she said, after I have been scolding her for reading some particularly light fiction, 'even your old Doctor Johnson admits it.' 'Sir,' said he (here he ruffles her eyebrows together), 'a man ought to read just as inclination leads him; for what he reads as a task will do him little good.' 'At first I was tempted to deny such a statement as heresy, but now I have come to look upon it as wisdom. I think the great Sam was right. Most of us, after all, read for pleasure. A book lover is under no obligation to either publisher or author or the world at large. What he reads and what he gets from reading is between himself and his library. Above all things, books, like people, are friends, and to live among friends is to live a full existence.'—The Piper.

This year's Pulitzer Prize winner for literature "The Keepers of the House" by Shirley Ann Grau is in the library. This will not be news to some of you as you have already checked it out and read it. A memorial gift has been given to the library dedicated to the memory of Jim Warren. Egg prices vary with their size. Here's how a shopper can determine the size best to buy: For medium eggs to be as good a buy as large eggs, they should be priced at 1/4 less. Small eggs should be 1/4 less than the large. If the price spread is greater than this, buy the smaller eggs to get more for the money.

and came out with the latest information on the progress of the program. Finally the first fellow who was apt in several foreign languages couldn't take it any longer. He thought they were kidding and with a big ha-ha went back to work. The ranch raised man couldn't help but closing the conversation with the comment that to be well educated in his opinion one should know about things like the sterilization of the screw worm fly... It does prove that the saying is so true. Seriously, both the Extension Service and the Federal government, along with the thousands of ranchers who had the faith to try out the above program are to be commended... It would be hard to evaluate the worth which this program has brought to the cattleman. Just imagine going all year without even one case of worms to be doctored... Every time we see a rattlesnake in the canyons we wonder if they could be done away with in the same way... Nothing sends chills up my spine like the sing of a snake's rattles... Actually they don't seem nearly so thick the last few years. There are the snake-hunters, and some medicine is supposed to keep them away, and then there is the little Road-Runner Bird that Dan True tells us about. He can lick ten times his weight in rattlesnakes, according to Dan....

Some time back we were given a fancy rain gauge and weather prognosticator to put on our gate post... It would turn certain colors when the weather was supposed to do different things.... Was it Will Rogers who said; "Everyone is ignorant except on different subjects?" Will someone please send me the correct quote and correct me if it was not the all time champion in our books Cowboy Will who said the above....

Something that happened recently reminded me of the above saying. It seemed that several employees were sitting around during a coffee break shooting the breeze about things in general. The subject got around to what would constitute the qualifications of a well educated person. One person sounded off to the effect that in his opinion an educated person should be able to speak more than one language. Most of those present could not do so and there was some feeling of resentment toward the statement....

The above conversation kept drifting from one thing to another until finally they were discussing the sterilization of certain flies in order to control screw worms among the ranch herds. One country grown college graduate was really alive on this subject

The Community Fine Arts Festival last week added a number of interesting and entertaining programs to the college and community schedules. Mrs. Mildred Ritter masterfully held attention of a large crowd of college and high school students and townspeople as well on Monday as she reviewed the book, The Ordways, by William Humphrey. She proved again that people of all ages enjoy a good story and as a storyteller she was excellent. Mr. Gary Barnhill very graciously made the facilities of his downtown theater available on Wednesday for two showings of the film made from Shakespeare's classic, "Julius Caesar." The performances were well attended by students and adults. The program presented by Mrs. Weaver and the Music Department on Friday played to a capacity crowd of high school and college students. The hour's entertainment included numbers by the college choir, the girl's quartet and the girl's trio. James Cooper and Jim Andrews had the audience shedding copious tears during their rendition of "Two Different Worlds", but Jim brightened the atmosphere considerably when he cut loose with his saxophone. Next year's Fine Arts Festival will include a circulation exhibition of original prints from the Sam Houston State College Art Department.

IS DEFERMENT NECESSARY FOLLOWING BRUSH CONTROL?

Many times ranchers have asked why it is necessary to defer a pasture from grazing following brush control. Others have felt that their grass was good enough that they didn't need to defer it and that they would not benefit from deferring. The answer to this problem is not a question of the condition of the grass, but rather how deferring a pasture during the growing season will help make the grass better and the range more productive.

In determining the benefits of deferment following brush control it is essential that ranchers understand how grasses manufacture food and how grasses react under grazing pressures.

All varieties of grass manufacture their entire food supply in the leaves. The food products that are produced in the leaves are transported through the stems and stored in the root system for the following year's growth. The amount of leaves removed by grazing affects the amount of food stored and the depth of the root system.

Because brush uses considerably more water than grass, heavy infestations of brush sap water from the grass causing the grass to be weakened in vigor. By deferring a pasture following brush control the grass is allowed to produce a maximum amount of plant food and develop a healthy vigorous root system.

Research has shown that grasses do not reach their maximum vigor and growth when more than half of the leaf surface is removed by grazing. The more leaves that a plant has the more elements that can be brought into the plant to be turned into food. Since 95 percent of the plant material comes from the air and enters the plant through the leaves, the more leaves the plant has the healthier it will be.

Other benefits of deferment are the better forage plants are allowed to increase, new plants are allowed to establish, plants are allowed to set seed, and forage production is increased. Even though a pasture that is deferred during the growing season furnishes no grazing during the summer, maximum growth is obtained and the pasture will make good winter grazing.

Cattle graze some grasses more than they do other grasses. At different periods of the year some grasses may be highly palatable and at other times less palatable. By deferring during the summer months the highly palatable grasses are given a chance to recover and produce larger amounts of forage.

Grasses growing on brush infested land can be compared to an animal with a disease. The disease needs to be treated and the animal needs proper care and rest.

Grass recovering from the effects of brush control needs deferring so that it may quickly and fully regain its vigor. Even though the grass is good it can be made better by deferring. Soil Conservation Service personnel assisting Donley County Soil Conservation District can assist you in developing a Brush Control - Deferment plan.

Pointers For Proper Grazing

1. Stock on the basis of available forage instead of so many acres per cow.
2. Check the grass crop rather than livestock condition. Animals can live on poor vegetation before they look bad.
3. Provide a forage reserve of cured grass for winter grazing well as hay, silage and concentrated feed.

4. Allow for drouth. They are just as normal a year. If you are stocked on basis of wet years, you will be short of grass more than 50 percent of the time.

5. Check sign for range improvement or deterioration.

6. Remember that pound production rather than number of head count at the market.

John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" is said to be read widely than any book in English language except the Bible.

Retail prices on nearly a fourth of the food used regularly by consumers declined during the past five years. Among these items were choice grade beef, pork, ice cream, frying chicken, eggs, margarine and vegetable shortening. The biggest increases in price were on sugar, oranges and potatoes—and these reflect a temporary situation. The retail price of most other foods is up only slightly, says the U. S. Vinson-Bobbitt Vows Exchanged

In a ceremony read May 7th by R. C. Jones, pastor of the Church of Christ, Clarendon, Texas, Miss Barbara Vinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vinson, of Clarendon became the bride of Leonard G. (Buddy) Bobbitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bobbitt, also of Clarendon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a suit of white brocade. Her only jewelry was a heirloom cameo. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Ava Vinson, sister of the bride.

Emmett Bobbitt of Wellington, Texas was his brother's best man.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a brown linen dress with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a beige dress with pink accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

After a trip to East Texas the couple will be at home in Clarendon where the groom is in partnership with his father in Bobbitt's Repair Shop. The bride is employed at Postex Hall in Memphis. Both are graduates of Clarendon High School. —Rep.

Seniors Enjoy Party At The Canteen Fri. Nite

Members of the Senior Class of Clarendon High School, their parents, and the faculty were honored with a party at the Canteen Friday night, May 7th. The group enjoyed looking over snapshots, group pictures, and annuals that dated back to their first year in school. The seniors enjoyed exchanging name cards and autographing their memory books. Everyone enjoyed visiting and recalling their earlier school days before a meal of sandwiches, potato chips, dips, Fritos, cookies, peppermint candy, bubble gum, Cokes and coffee was served.

After eating, a brief history of the class was read and films were shown. The films started with "Christmas in Toyland," their first performance presented at Christmas when they were first graders, and featured many of their activities through the years ending with "Kid Day" Tuesday of last week.

Seniors were especially proud to have Mrs. C. R. Brown present. She was the first teacher for a large number of the class. A number of other teachers were present including the sponsor, Mrs. Bill Todd, and Mr. Morris Ledger.

Dolls made from styrofoam and wearing graduation caps, and an artificial gardenia, the class flower were given to each senior as favors. They were displayed on a table covered with white, centered with gold, and edged with ice blue, class colors. Above the table was the class motto—"They conquer who believe they can." Besides the many snapshots displayed on the walls, silhouettes of graduates were the only other decor.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McAnear and Freddie McAnear. —Rep.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texans will go to the polls on November 2 to vote on at least six, and perhaps 18 amendments. Six proposals for Constitutional amendments already have cleared the Legislature. Ten to 12 others appear to have a good chance of being approved before the end of the session. Senators and representatives introduced 128 proposals for amendments. Major interest at the Nov. 2 election will be on the proposal to increase to four years the terms of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and other officials elected statewide.

Voters will also approve or defeat amendments to:

- Extend the Veterans Land Program;
- Let the Legislature set the salaries of the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker of the House (at whatever level the Legislature chooses) and raise its own per-diem expense allowance from $12 a day for 120 days to $20 a day for 140 days;

- Allow the state to issue bonds for loans to college students;
- Exempt Hermann Hospital in Houston from payment of ad valorem taxes;
- Permit the teacher retirement system to invest its money in corporation stocks, as well as in bonds.

A seventh Constitutional amendment to go to the voters is a housekeeping item to clear up uncertainty about when members of the House of Representatives take office. If approved, Legislators will take office on the date the Legislature convenes. This amendment proposal, however, will be on the regular general election ballot in November, 1966.

REPEAL POLL TAX, BUT—House has passed a constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax, but it went to the Senate with an amendment requiring annual registration.

Proponents of the poll tax repeal bitterly fought the annual registration requirement. They contend that the states where fraud and political bosses reign are the states with the annual registration requirements.

Resolution proposes a statewide vote in November, 1966.

NYC PROJECT DISAPPROVED — A Neighborhood Youth Corp grant of $381,480 to Texas Farmers Union for summer work projects in 33 small school districts of eight South Central Texas counties was disapproved by Gov. John Connally. Grant previously was approved by the U. S. Labor Department.

Governor said that, while he fully agrees with NYC objectives, he "cannot approve of school districts entering into third-party contracts with quasi-political organizations for work-training programs."

Connally has requested Texas Education Agency to assist the school districts in Bexar, Atascosa, Comal, Frio, Medina, Gaudalupe, Karnes and Wilson Counties to prepare their own individual applications for work projects.

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman expressed disappointment over the governor's action. He said the proposed program for 750 youths would have been a pilot project for rural job training in other areas of the state and nation.

"DRINKERS' RIGHTS" URGED — Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio presented his bill to legalize sale of mixed drinks in Texas before House Liquor Regulations Committee.

Johnson calls his bill a "drinkers' bill of rights." He says it's needed to "bring some sense to the chaotic liquor laws in Texas."

Committee also heard bill to permit families to make up to 200 gallons of their own wine.

Both proposals were sent to sub-committees.

HOUSE LABOR COMMITTEE — A bill to require a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour in Texas was sent to sub-committee.

Committee also sent to sub-panels two other measures:

- Bill which would declare new "right to work" policies in event Congress knocks out open-shop provisions of Taft-Hartley law.
- Resolution which would transfer to Commissioner of State Bureau of Labor Statistics responsibility for determining prevailing wages required on public works projects.

FARM LAND TAX RELIEF — A constitutional amendment to allow a farmer whose property has become urbanized certain tax relief as long as he remains a bona fide farmer passed the House after big-city representatives attacked the measure as a "tax dodge for speculators."

Under the bill sponsored by Reps. Bill Dungan of McKinney, Alonzo Jamison of Denton and Wayne Connally of Floresville, a farmer with land in an urbanized area could pay taxes based on a valuation of the land's worth for farming purposes. When he decides to sell the land, he'll pay the difference between that value and the value of the land for development purposes for three years back.

Measure is now in the hands of the Senate.

FREIGHT CARS, TOO — Passenger trains in Texas will be allowed to carry mail or freight cars if Governor Connally signs a bill which now has passed both the House and Senate. With the exception of the World War II period, mixed trains never have been allowed in Texas.

Bill also provides that brakemen must ride in the car nearest the rear which has a facility for them.

NOTICE

I wish to inform the people of Clarendon that I did not sign or authorize the use of my name on any legal suit against the City.

Furthermore I understand that my name has been removed from the instrument that was filed in District Court May 4th.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

THE PEOPLE'S CHOICE

There are presently pending before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce of the House of Representatives several bills requiring that any shipping container manufactured in the United States from imported steel be marked so as to indicate the country of origin of the steel. One of these bills bears my name and I expect to do everything in my power to see that it is passed. This may be difficult to accomplish, because of the marked opposition by the Administration and the several Departments concerned. A similar bill was before the last Congress and was actively opposed by the Federal Trade Commission, the Department of State, the Department of Commerce, the Department of the Treasury, the Bureau of the Budget, and the Department of Justice. Most of the opposition was based upon the premise that such a proposal would be inconsistent with international trade and would set a bad precedent.

The legislation has two major objectives. First, it would permit buyers of steel containers to know when foreign steel is used in the manufacture of these containers. Secondly, it would serve to promote the use of steel produced in our own country. Until the year 1958 the United States exported more steel than it imported. However, between the years 1958 and 1962 imports nearly tripled in volume, rising to nine percent of world imports, compared to four percent in the earlier period. Although world trade in steel mill products has more than tripled the 1950 volume, U. S. imports continued to rise and approach 5 million tons in 1963. In 1964 steel imports were over six million tons. This means that unless some positive action is taken the position of the American steel industry will be seriously jeopardized in the domestic markets as well as the world trade markets. It has been estimated that if the U. S. steel industry had maintained its average participation in world export trade and had prevented further erosion of its domestic markets by imports, the industry in 1962 would have provided employment for an additional 50,000 workers and paid over $350 million in wages and salaries.

It must be kept in mind that the bills pending before the Congress on this subject do not prohibit the use of foreign steel. These bills simply require that when a steel container is manufactured in this country from foreign steel, this fact be made known. In other words, it provides the opportunity for the purchaser of steel containers or the purchaser of products contained in a steel container to know the origin of the products with which he is dealing. It simply affords the prospective buyer the freedom to make a choice—an old American custom which seems to be fast fading away.

The present law requires that a product imported and intended to be sold at retail in this country shall be identified as to the country of origin. No law presently provides that there be any identification of a product manufactured in the United States, even though the materials used in the manufacture may have come from foreign countries. The boards and bureaus of the Federal government argue that to pass any law requiring these latter manufactured products to be stamped would be to open the door for chaos, and require that the most minute products of all types be so stamped. So far as I am concerned, I know of no reason why the facts as to the origin of manufactured products or materials should not be available. However, the argument of these bureaus and agencies is simply begging the question. Every one of them knows that the steel industry is one of the basic industries upon which the economy of this nation rests, just as is agriculture. Hence, it occurs to me that the people of this country should have the right to make a choice with reference to steel products, and have full information upon which to base that choice.

This choice may not always be in favor of U. S. producers. I have in mind a large rancher in a western state who complained bitterly about the import of foreign eign beef, yet fenced his ranch with imported Belgian barbed wire because it was cheaper. Another example is a businessman friend of mine who is being adversely affected by excessive imports. He told me about it while wearing a pair of Italian shoes and a Hong Kong suit. He is also known as a connoisseur of imported Italian wines. Another example concerns cameramen here in Washington. Recently there were 14 cameramen taking pictures. Thirteen of the cameras were branded with foreign names—I counted them—and the American camera probably had a German lens.

I think it is time to stop talking America, and start buying America.

RUN OFF ROADWAY! WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

Most drivers feel that they know how to handle an emergency situation that might arise. But when suddenly faced with the emergency situation requiring quick action they find they don't know as much as they thought they did.

Here is an emergency situation. Suppose at high speed your right wheels should drop off a pavement that has a low or rough shoulder. What would you do?

Here is what the defensive driver would do. Avoid any quick movements of controls and especially do not attempt to jerk your car back onto the pavement. Maintain control straight ahead and reduce speed, driving to the right just enough to straddle the pavement edge. When your speed is slow enough and there is no vehicle meeting or overtaking close behind, turn back onto the pavement at a place that is not rough. If you cut back before you slow down you may overshoot your traffic lane and turn over trying to recover control. If a vehicle is meeting you, you may cause a head-on collision or cause the other driver to turn over trying to avoid you. If you are on a four-lane road, you might overshoot the first lane and strike a vehicle in the inside lane.

Cutting the wheels at an angle to a pavement edge which is higher than the shoulder enables your wheels to roll up on the pavement without hanging on the edge of the pavement. If the shoulders are low and rough as far ahead as you can see, reduce your speed to approximately 10 miles per hour, shift to second gear, clear traffic and ease back over the pavement edge slowly.

If traffic is heavy or a driver is so close behind you that he may start to overtake and pass you, you should slow down and drive off the pavement. When traffic is clear, make a normal entry onto the road.

FARM NEWS

from County ASCS Committee

PROOF OF PRODUCTION

We are sure you all have been reading and hearing about the new farm omnibus bill. Should this bill pass - and it is anticipated that it will - there will be a change in the wheat, cotton, and feed grain programs. To set up these new programs, the County Committee will need the actual production of all three of these commodities for 1963 and 1964. If you have proof of production for your farm or farms for these years, we would appreciate it very much if you would bring this information in. Acceptable proof will be such items as gin records, loan documents, scale tickets, warehouse receipts, bin measurements, and other reliable evidence.

GRAZING DIVERTED ACRES

April 30 was the last day to graze diverted acres unless you have signed to graze under the Emergency Program. This applies to diverted acres already designated under the wheat program or any you plan to lay out for the feed grain program. Each producer should be sure to come by the office and sign an application before any grazing is started.

This emergency grazing does not apply to land with wheat on it, and all wheat on diverted acres must have been destroyed by mechanical means by May 1. Charges for this grazing will be deducted from the final payment to be made this fall.

CHANGES IN SKIP-ROW PLANTING RULES PROPOSED

The USDA is proposing a change in the rules for measuring cotton when planted in a skip-row pattern. The change if adopted, would become effective for the 1966 cotton crop. Under the proposed rule, not only land planted to cotton but also 32 inches beyond the outside rows next to the idle land would be charged as cotton.

The following example demonstrates how skip-row planting works. A farmer with a 50 acre cotton allotment using the skip-row pattern of 2 rows cotton and 2 rows skipped. Under the present system the farmer would be considered to have 50% of the total area planted to cotton. Under the proposed new rules, 67% of the land would be considered as planted to cotton. More examples and information are available at the County Office.

Whether you like or dislike this plan, you are urged to submit your views and comments to the Director, Farm Programs Division, ASCS, Washington, D. C. 20250 before May 22, 1965.

AROUND THE COUNTY

The office manager was in the Hedley Community last week and observed the portable irrigation system on the Tige Hill farm. This is a fairly new form of irrigation and one that Molly found very interesting.

We understand that there are a few other farm systems of this type in the county, but this is the first one any of the office force has had the opportunity to observe closely.

We would like to be able to watch more of these interesting farming practices in operation.

If you are carrying out any practices which would be interesting to see, tell us about them. Perhaps some of the office force can visit your farm and maybe get a picture or two for display. We mean to get a picture of Tige's irrigation system but, due to being shorthanded and having a busy day in the office, we were unable to do so. Plans are being made to go to his farm next week.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE TO DISCUSS EMPLOYMENT

A Social Security representative will be on the campus of Clarendon College Friday, May 14, at 9:55 a.m. and 10:55 a.m. in the auditorium to discuss employment opportunities with the Social Security Administration, according to Hal Geldon, District Manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

Vacancies exist in the Service Representative position at a salary of $4480 per year. Appointees to this position may be considered along with other qualified employees for promotion to $5000 a year. Geldon noted that the Service Representative performs a variety of interesting and responsible duties involving the public and social security.

Persons in the community who are interested in the possibility of such employment are invited to speak with the representative when he is on the campus. Candidates for the position need two years of business or secretarial school, junior college, or college in addition to graduation from high school. Work experience may be substituted for some of the education.
