CLARENDON METHODIST CHURCH DIAMOND JUBILEE

Methodist Church To Observe 75th Year Sunday, November 17th

The local Methodist Church will observe a 75th anniversary celebration Sunday, November 17, with former pastors of the church assisting with services for the day. Dr. E. D. Landreth of Amarillo will bring the message for the morning worship service, and he will be assisted by other former pastors in attendance.

All former choir members have been invited to sing in the choir for the service. A Thanksgiving theme will be used when dinner is served in the fellowship hall after the morning worship service. The afternoon service will begin at 2:30 p.m.

The congregation will join in the singing of old hymns, and each former pastor present will make a short talk on the highlights of his ministry in Clarendon. The afternoon session will close with a Communion service.

The church here lacks only about 10 years being as old as any church in the Northwest Texas Conference. In 1887, the circuit rider from Vernon, the Rev. J. T. Hosmer, preached at Clarendon. The next year this church was organized by another pioneer preacher, the Rev. Isaac L. Mills, with 15 charter members. All the charter members are now deceased.

The Rev. Mr. Mills served the Clarendon Mission until 1890 when the first church building was erected. It was used 20 years until 1910, when the present building was constructed during the pastorate of the Rev. O. P. Kiker at a cost of approximately $40,000. The debt was paid 10 years later while the Rev. C. N. N. Ferguson was pastor, and Bishop W. F. McMurry dedicated the building.

The church here has been prominent in the work of the Northwest Texas Conference since the organizing session of the new Northwest Texas Conference was held in the new building. Three other sessions of the Conference have been held at Clarendon, 1915, 1920, and 1933.

The Rev. J. V. Patterson, present pastor here, says that the church at Clarendon "cherishes fond memories of the Clarendon college which has contributed greatly to the ministry of the Methodist Church down through the years. It was the sincere dedication of the loyal people of Clarendon that made it possible to have a college in the community and to give through the church religious training which made for better qualified young men and women to go out and take their place in cities throughout the plains."

Rev. Patterson is urging all persons who have been members of the congregation to come and share in the celebration Nov. 17.

Dr. John English is Childrens District Superintendent. The Clarendon Church has about 500 members and property valued at $135,000.

Miss Inez Skinner attended the three-day session of the Texas Nursing Home 13th Annual Convention which was held at the Pioneer Hotel at Lubbock Nov. 7th, 8th, and 9th.

Cotton Quotas Up For Vote December 10

The cotton quota vote coming up on December 10 will mark the eleventh consecutive year in which growers have voted on marketing quotas for their upland cotton crop. W. H. Cooke, III, Chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

"Beginning with the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1954 crop, growers have approved quotas for each year's cotton crop," he stated. "In the vote last year, on quotas for the 1963 upland cotton crop, 93.7 percent of the growers voting approved the quotas."

By law, quotas must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture in years when the cotton supply exceeds normal. The estimated 1963-64 total supply of upland cotton exceeds the estimated normal supply by 7.8 million bales.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve quotas for the 1964 upland cotton crop, price support at a level within the range of 65 to 90 percent of parity will be available to growers who comply with their farm allotments, and marketing quota penalties will apply to any "excess" cotton produced on a farm.

More than one-third of the voters oppose quotas for the 1964 crop, the allotment program will remain in effect, and price support will be available to cooperators at 50 percent of parity, as provided by law.

All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1963 are eligible to vote in the Dec. 10 referendum.

Clarendon High School Exes To Convene Here Saturday

A big crowd of ex-students of Clarendon High School is expected to gather in Clarendon this week end for the annual ex-student reunion. Festivities get underway with the Clarendon Broncho-Memphis Cyclone football game in Broncho Stadium Friday evening, November 15. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Registration will begin Saturday morning at 9:30 in the High School and continue until 3 p.m. when a business meeting will be held. Class meetings will be held and visiting enjoyed throughout the day. Details may be learned at the registration desk.

The banquet this year will be held in the Cafeteria at 7 p.m. Saturday evening and will be followed by a dance at the Legion Hall. The only change in the program as announced will be in regard to the dance. Music will be furnished by The Melloaires of Pampa.

Free baby sitting has been arranged. Classes to be honored this year are those of 1919, 1929, 1939, 1949, and 1959. Members of these classes will be recognized at the banquet and may register free.

An ex-student queen is to be chosen this year from the honor classes. Voting boxes will be placed at the school Saturday and voting for the candidate of your choice may be done throughout the day. The winner will be announced at the banquet. Candidates will be Sallie Davis Benson, class of 1919; Jane Killough Bownds, class of 1929; Minnie Belle Spurgeon Hicks, class of 1939; Mary Neal Davis Risley, class of 1949; and Beth Lamberth Carter, class of 1959.

Also held in conjunction with the ex-student reunion will be a Kappa Tea and Style Show in the home of Mrs. Glenn Wallace at 1 p.m. Saturday.

We are hoping to see all of you exes in Clarendon Friday and Saturday. If you find it impossible to attend all of the activities, plan to be present for those you can.

The Clarendon Bronchos will be hosts to their old rivals, the Memphis Cyclones, here in Broncho Stadium Friday night. This will also be the last game of the season for the Broncs. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

This is the game of the season when the outcome may go either way regardless of team strength or past record as both teams always seem to play a different brand of football. Coach Jack James, who will be fielding a bruised team from the Wellington affair last Friday night, is making no predictions but says the Broncs will be contending with as much or more speed than any other time this season.

The Broncs will be playing minus the services of John Grady who received a broken collar bone in the Wellington game, but Longan and Shelton who received leg injuries are expected to be in their starting positions.

Coach James' starting line-up for the Broncs Friday night will be Longan in the fullback slot, Richard Bell at right half, Graham at left half and Mooring at the quarterback position.

His probable starting lineup for the line will be Dennis Stewart and Lester Welch, ends; Douglas Bradshaw and Larry Gray, guards; Ronnie McAnear and Steve Shelton, tackles; and Kenneth Price at center.

County Commissioners Vote For Western Route RM Road 2695

In an open session of the Donley County Commissioners Court in the District Court Room before a large delegation from Hedley, a delegation from McLean and representatives of the local area, County Commissioners voted unanimously for the western route of Ranch to Market road 2695 from McLean to Hedley.

W. P. (Red) Doherty, spokesman for the Hedley group asked that minutes of a previous called session of the court be read which stated that the court voted at that time to set November 11 as the date for all easements for right-of-way to be signed and in the Donley-Collingsworth line. It was pointed out that all the easements had not been signed and some parties definitely would not sign.

The Hedley group asked the court to ask the Highway Commission to issue a minute order to survey the westerly route since the right-of-way easements on the easterly route had not been completed by the set date. It was stated that all easements for the Westerly route could be provided without cost to the county.

Boyd Meador, spokesman for the McLean group stated that the McLean road committee was in favor of the westerly route which was the more feasible and less costly route to take and would serve better all communities concerned.

A motion was made by Commissioner Frank Murray and seconded by Com. H. C. Reynolds that the Commissioners Court of Donley County notify the State Highway Commission that Donley County can not furnish right of way via easterly route as surveyed and requests the State Highway Commission to enter a minute order for the construction of Ranch to Market road 2695 in a more direct route to Hedley, Texas, commonly known as the westerly route as formerly surveyed by State Highway Engineers. The motion carried unanimously.

The Donley County Commissioners Court is to be commended for their unanimous action on this hotly contested issue regardless of the outcome. It takes full cooperation and lots of hard work to complete any project.

LITITZ, PA., RECORD-EXPRESS: "There are indications that the banning of books is on the increase in the United States. This apparently reflects the growth of a widespread but mistaken idea that someone ought to be telling others what to read. In 1954, for example, Hans Christian Anderson's beloved fairy tales were stamped in red ink, 'For Adult Readers Only,' by order of the Illinois secretary of state. Mark Twain's 'Huckleberry Finn,' possibly America's greatest novel, was banned in New York because an influential organization disliked one of its characters. Other examples, involving even such masterpieces as plays by Shakespeare, are numerous."

A Communist is a fellow who is always yearning, for equal division, and unequal sharing. He is always ready to jump up and holler. He thinks up his penny and also your dollar. . . .

Back in the days when Eugene V. Debs was going strong with his Socialist theory, one of the main selling points for government ownership was the beautiful way in which the post office system had worked. They would show how much you could get in the way of service in that you could send a letter all over the country for two cents and a postal card for only a penny. . . . Some say that even Mr. Debs would be shocked if he knew just how far beyond his theory we have gone today. . . . And he would really be surprised that today one has to squander a whole nickel to mail a letter. . . .

Once we had a little nest egg— It was our hope and stay. . . . And we never knew exactly when— It hatched and flew away. . . .

All of a sudden I started having all manner of trouble with my feet. Just barely could last out the day. . . . Anyhow, I asked everyone I knew about a good doctor for such ails and seemingly I came up with a good one. . . . In his diagnosis he went into great detail and used very pleasing words to give me the Whys and how-comes of my problem. He was very complimentary, kind and used very doctorish words to explain the cause of my trouble. . . . I tried to relate it to the person who recommended him in the first place. . . . Finally, I gave up and said: "Oh, he just said I was too fat."

This week's mail brought a letter from a lady who used to write regularly to this column. She is Mrs. Olja Long of Box 72, Porter, Texas. For some time she has both been pressed for time and almost physically unable to write to her friends. But she would like to receive some letters and will answer all she possibly can. Please write to her. . . .

Another letter came this week from Geathel D. Cochrum, Box 68, Enid, Oklahoma. You will remember him as the traveling salesman who sat in Bumper's Cafe in Shamrock, Texas, and almost read our book from cover to cover and then ordered one after he returned home. He travels for a wholesale dry goods firm. Didn't we call them "Drummers" in the years gone by? The following are a few of his favorite quotes.

"A minister usually don't mind folks looking at their watch, during the sermon, but it gets rather insulting to see them give it a shake to see if it is still running."

"A gentleman is a neighbor who can play a piccolo but doesn't."

"The only people we should try to get even with are those that have done us a favor."

"You don't become an adult until you stop growing on both ends and start growing in the middle." I'll tell my doctor this one. . . .

"Happiness is not given, but exchanged."

If tomorrow ever comes it will sure be a busy day for a lot of folks. . . .

Prosperity doesn't always work out to the good. For instance, the fattest hog always goes to the butcher first. . . . One thing they never taught most of us in school was to read the handwriting on the wall. . . .

LIBRARY NOTES:

EDITH BARNES

Two memorial gifts have been given to the library to be dedicated to the memory of Mrs. C. B. Morris.

The early Western Americana buffs will be glad to know that "Gold Strikes and Ghost Towns" by Todd Webb is in the library. Webb is one of the most distinguished photographers in America today. You will agree after seeing some of his pictures. If the text, which accompanies the pictures, is ghost written, no pun intended, he made a good choice. To have covered as many towns as he did the histories of course are brief but they are so good the reader wishes there was some where that had more detailed data on each one of them.

It is surprising to learn that there are still dozens and more dozens of these towns scattered over the West. Many of them can not be reached by car. That is one of the reasons that we still have so many. It is a sad commentary on our regard for preserving the historical that some of the old towns which were easy for tourists to reach have completely disappeared victims of souvenir hunters or vandals. One wonders just where vandalism ends and souvenir hunting begins, who either destroyed or right or carried them off literally board by board brick by brick etc.

Quoting: "Gold Strikes and Ghost Towns" is a photographic tour of many of these Western mining towns as they appear today. Mr. Webb has delved into the towns themselves, the history of the people who lived there, and the events which took place during that racous took brief—period of gold mining."

It is hoped that we will not have to have an atomic bomb dropped in our laps before we become concerned about the growth and spread of communism.

How many of us can give intelligent answers to the following questions? "What is communism? What gives communism its dynamic characters? What have been the contributions of Marx, Engels, Lenin, Stalin, and Khrushchey to the development of world Communist movement? How does communism come to power? How has the Communist empire expanded? . . . Why is our free society inherently superior to communism?" If you can answer all of these and many more you probably don't need to read and study J. Edgar Hoover's latest book, "A Study of Communism."

We all know that the fight against communism means more than calling anyone who happens to disagree with some of our pet prejudices and bigotries a communist.

ing. They came from the Congress, the FCC, and the broadcast industry. (Among the broadcaster witnesses was Ken Duke of Dumas, the owner and manager of KDDD Radio.)
My proposal did not involve the question, "Are there too many commercials on radio and television?" Tastes differ. It's possible that some listeners actually prefer the commercials to some of the programs sandwiched between them (their objection being, you might say, to "over-programmization").
The vital question is this: "Does the FCC have the power, under authority granted to it by the Communications Act of 1934, to regulate broadcast advertising?" I am convinced that Congress made no such grant of authority in the Act.
FCC Chairman E. William Henry and other members of the seven-man Commission believe that the FCC does have such authority, under Section 303 (b) of the Act. This section reads: "Except as otherwise provided in this Act, the Commission from time to time, as public convenience, interest, or necessity requires shall — Prescribe the nature of the service to be rendered by each class of licensed stations and each station within any class." While some members of the FCC feel that the public interest demands that less broadcast time be devoted to commercials, it was admitted that the FCC has made no determination as to how many commercials are too many, hasn't calculated the economic effect on broadcasters of a rule limiting commercials, can't estimate the additional workload that administering such a regulation would place on the Commission and its staff — and, anyway, hasn't decided that it really wants to impose such a regulation. The thought being father to the deed, my position is that Congress should tell the FCC, "Don't do it."

Advertising or its lack means financial life or death to a broadcast station. Under our free enterprise broadcast system, in contrast with foreign government-subsidized and controlled broadcast systems, the success of American broadcasters is determined by advertising sold and the appeal of program content. Sponsors and the listening audience provide, in my view, a most effective check on commercial and program abuses.
As I told the Texas Association of Broadcasters in a speech October 21 in Dallas, "If the situation is so acute that some action must be had to place limitations on the quantity and frequency of advertising, certainly there must be some very strong supporting facts and justification. If such is the case, then I would ask, 'What is wrong with presenting the matter to (the Congress)? Have we reached the point that representative government has become so top-heavy and complex that it remains only in name, and the vital decisions must be by appointed officials?' One of my subcommittee colleagues, Congressman John Bennett of Michigan, put the point this way to Chairman Henry: 'If it is necessary in the public interest for the number of commercials or for the amount of advertising over a radio and television station to be limited, then it seems to me it is the function of Congress to do it, not your function, any more than it is your function to fix or decide to control programming, for example.'

The issue goes to the heart of our governmental system. I refuse to concede that the powers to write substantive law have been transferred to independent agencies and the Executive Branch of our government. The hearing this week into H.R. 8316 should serve to alert many Members of Congress to the need for halting further transfers of legislative powers. In my view, the larger problem is not "over-commercialization in broadcasting — the larger problem is "over-bureaucratization" in government.

One of the most dangerous maneuvers on the road is the left hand turn, warns the Portland, Oregon, Traffic Safety Commission. Make certain the other drivers know what you are about to do, and remember, the car approaching you in the opposite lane generally has the right-of-way.

Hearings On A Bill To Prohibit A Proposed FCC Action

How many commercials are too many commercials? This was one of the interesting but irrelevant questions posed before the Subcommittee on Communications and Power as it conducted a hearing this week into a Federal Communications Commission proposal that it regulate broadcast advertising by limiting air time devoted to it. No one seemed to know how many are too many, or how much advertising constitutes what the FCC likes to call "over-commercialization." For that matter, no one seemed to have a very clear idea about how many television Westerns constitute "over-Westernization."
The question of over-regulation is more to the point.
The Subcommittee of which I am chairman was considering a bill I introduced, H.R. 8316, to prohibit the FCC from making rules or regulations relating to the length or frequency of broadcast advertisements. Several other members of the House had introduced similar bills, and more than 30 witnesses appeared to testify during the three-day hearing. They came from the Congress, the FCC, and the broadcast industry. (Among the broadcaster witnesses was Ken Duke of Dumas, the owner and manager of KDDD Radio.)

My proposal did not involve the question, "Are there too many commercials on radio and television?" Tastes differ. It's possible that some listeners actually prefer the commercials to some of the programs sandwiched between them (their objection being, you might say, to "over-programmization").

After the group captain's report we made plans to meet all day, Tues., Nov. 12, to clean and paint the kitchen at the church.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Lola Ragan brought the devotion and program. For her scriptures she read from the 8th Chapter of Psalms. She also read two appropriate readings, one entitled "Prayer" by Mary M. Baker, the other was "Chain of Time" by Margaret Fraiser. She also read a poem by Dr. J. A. Odem of Memphis. For the program she told a very interesting story about the origin of the Gideons. We learned they were organized in Philadelphia in 1899, and have placed the Bible in more hospitals, hotels, and motels than any other organization in the world. Meeting closed with prayer led by Mrs. Mary Myers.

Delicious refreshments were served to 14 members. They were Mesdames Mary Myers, Loise Moore, Daina Naylor, Lola Ragan, Mona Churchman, Maude Palmer, Aline Neighbors, Leona Scott, Nora Leathers, Cecil Cook, Annie Leathers, Lillie Knox, Grace Leathers, and the hostess, Louise Aten. —Rep.

F.H.A. CHAPTER ENJOYS HYPNOSIS PROGRAM

The Clarendon Chapter of Future Homemakers met in regular session November 11th in the school cafeteria. Melissa Patterson brought the meeting to order. Dr. George Smith spoke to us about hypnosis.

Jill Benson introduced Dr. Smith to our group. Hypnosis is an important thing in medicine today, yet there are dangers. He urged us not to subject ourselves to stage hypnosis. In medicine it is used mainly for symptom removal and as a pain killer. There are many levels of hypnosis and doctors use it very often.

Everyone enjoyed the program very much. Approximately 65 girls were present and a few mothers attended the meeting. —Rep.

HOLIDAY CORNER—Create a festive look with coordinated table setting and window treatment. Bright green cotton makes a floor-length cover for the small round table, seat covers, and tree-shaped back cushions for the chair. Singer sewing experts suggest you make a paper pattern of tree before cutting fabric. Trim cushions with contrasting fabric-covered buttons to simulate tree ornaments. Repeat tree motif on window shade. For sparkling accent, apply white upholstery fringe to hem of cloth with narrow zigzag stitch and also to shade border.

COMMON SENSE MUST BE USED WHEN HUNTING

AUSTIN — The editors of TEXAS GAME AND FISH, the official publication for the Parks and Wildlife Department, have some excellent advice for hunters. In the November issue an editorial reads, "Texas is a land of outdoor-loving people, and each new season with its repetitious sounds and scents reminds us of a season past." They also remind us that it's time to review the past and some of the lessons we have learned that will help us enjoy a safe and pleasant fall season.

"Many may be able to know a season with just his ears and nose, but he cannot depend on just these two senses while in the brush, midst the tall pines or

Bronchos Defeated By Skyrockets, 54-8

Perfect football weather prevailed in Powell Field in Wellington Friday night, but the Bronchos suffered their worst defeat of the season as the Wellington Skyrockets were able to score 54 points while the Bronchos scored 8. The Bronchos appeared to be a completely different team compared to their brilliant performance against the Lefors Pirates last week.

The Skyrockets outweighed the Bronchos 15 pounds per man. This may have accounted for a part of the scoring margin.

The Skyrocket's methods of tackling were largely responsible for a number of Broncho injuries. They lost two starters for the remainder of the season and possibly two more. The more serious injuries were received by John Grady and Steve Shelton. Grady suffered a broken collar bone and Shelton received a twisted knee. Starting halfback, Ronnie Longan, received a badly sprained knee as he was brought down by a number of Skyrockets on a pass play. Richard Bell sustained a kidney injury under a pile of Rockets.

The Skyrockets intercepted a Broncho pass and scored the first touchdown within the first two minutes of the game. Skyrocket touchdowns were achieved in every quarter of the game.

Trailing 54 to 0 with one minute on the clock, most teams would have lost all hope, but not the Bronchos. Operating from the Rocket varsity's 25 yard line Mooring completed a beautiful pass to Bell for the Broncho touchdown. The conversion was good as Mooring completed a pass to Cain.

County Voters Approve Two Amendments

Donley County voters went to the polls last Saturday with a majority approving two amendments, numbers two and four, but went against numbers one and three. Statewide only one amendment passed, number two, a plan to increase welfare payment to the aged.

Latest returns from the semi-official Texas Election Bureau showed 303,763 against abolishing the 61-year-old poll tax, and 237,524 for the proposal.

The voting in Donley County for the amendments were as follows: No. 1, 92 for and 428 against; No. 2, 288 for and 192 against; No. 3, 119 for and 294 against; No. 4, 253 for and 223 against. A total of 528 votes were cast which is pretty good for an election of this nature.
