SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Midland Bermudagrass
Midland Bermudagrass is fast becoming a fad in our county. Here's hoping it doesn't turn out like some of its predecessors — sorghum alnum and weeping lovegrass. From some of the success stories elsewhere which reflect merits beyond compare, we may have an adapted profitable grass which will solve our one and only problem — cotton. Setting aside sarcasm, this grass does look good for our county. Under proper management this grass will put out plenty of forage. The following reflect some of the better management practices of this grass.

1) Seedbed Preparation — It is very important to have a clean seedbed and to keep it as clean as possible until the grass has had a chance to cover the ground.

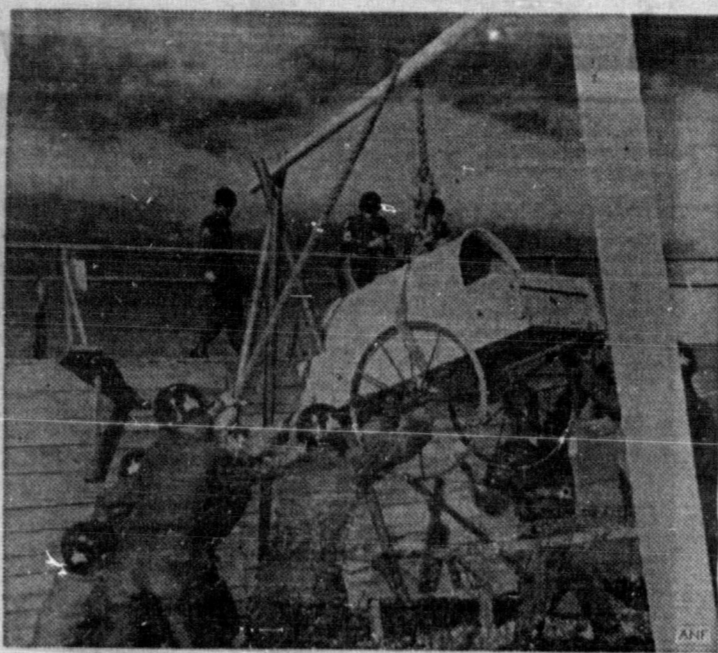

2) Care of Sprigs — Keep the sprigs moist and out of the sun's exposure. Results of an experiment from George McBee, Pasture Specialist, Extension Service reflect the following:

No Exposure — 0.0% reduction in germination

2 hrs. 9 a.m.-11 a.m. — 6.0%
4 hrs. 9 a.m.-1 p.m. — 28.0%
2 hrs. 12 noon-2 p.m. — 70.0%
4 hrs. 12 noon-4 p.m. — 97.0%
8 hrs. 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Shade & Moist — 0.0%

The above data would indicate that we should avoid harvesting and sprigging during the hot part of the day.

3) Fertilization — Many observations this year have shown farmers following sprigging with 70-100 pounds of a fertilizer mixture mainly of nitrogen and phosphorus. This is actually doing the grass some harm due to annual weed competition. Actually the weeds get most of the fertilizer plus offering much a year-around basis. Stubble mulch operations are performed in such a way to keep protective amounts of vegetative material on the surface of the soil until the time of the next crop. There are several purposes of stubble mulching. It provides protection to soil from wind and water erosion. It maintains or improves the physical, chemical, and biological condition of the soil. It improves water intake and, also, catches and holds snow, and it, also, reduces the rate of decline of soil organic matter.

All tillage operations throughout the year will be performed in such a manner as to leave enough residue on the surface until planting of next crop. You should limit the number of tillage operations to be consistent with seedbed preparation and weed control. As much residue as practical should be left on the surface through the planting, cultivating, and harvesting of the succeeding crop.

Several types of equipment are applicable for stubble mulching. Some use large sweeps, rod weeders, and blade type weeders. A cultivator and closed spaced sweeps can be used as well as tandem disk harrows, and one-way disc plow. The home plow is considered by most to be the best stubble mulching plow.

A good, well timed system of stubble mulching should show a definite improvement in your farming income. Your local soil conservation district office personnel will gladly assist you in any problems and questions concerning stubble mulching.

competition to the bermudagrass. A better means of fertilizer application would begin with 25-30 pounds/acre of nitrogen alone to give quick growth, but not offer the weeds so much nutrition. After the grass covers, then apply a heavier application of fertilizer and reap the profits of fertilized grass.

4) Grazing Management — Start grazing the grass at an 8" height and never graze below 4". The best grazing, both from a cattle and grass standpoint, will be between the 4-8" height.

Grazing should be rotated every 12-14 days depending on the watering frequency. This should involve 3-4 plots which will be fertilized and irrigated behind each grazing.

5) Grazing should be controlled so that a height of about 4-5" will remain at the first frost. Also, a key point to consider is having plenty of ground moisture through the winter to prevent winter-killing.

For further information concerning bermudagrass, contact your local Soil Conservation Service Office.

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

By Jack Zeb

Mrs. Dudley Winn, who reads this column in Southwestern Crop and Stock and lives up in Greenwich, Conn., tells us that she sends copies on to friends in Kent, England. This makes us happy. Also, her description of the Connecticut countryside makes us want to make a trip up that way. Her letter sounded for all the world like there was an anxious grandparent back in Lubbock who was always interested in their well being....

Another reader writes in the same mail from Greensboro, North Carolina, to remind us that it is about the same distance from here to his town as the two closest points of Texas and Florida. He is Charles Monnett, sales manager for General Metals, Inc.

Thanks to the many readers who sent along something for the scrapbook of our friend, Miss Diana Balogh of 2713 Winston Road in Oklahoma City.... And thanks to our friend Pat Dnton of KGNC for her kindness in broadcasting about Diana. As a result of the kindness of our readers and Pat's listeners we understand that it took Diana two hours to read one day's mail. It just shows how little things add up, and for a young lady with a broken back and a cast from neck to knees this could add up to a lot of encouragement and pastime. Bless You All.

Speaking of Florida, E. T. Cummings, Box 8414, Tampa, Florida, is retired and likes to get copies of weekly newspapers.

has been spent recently for industrial construction in our service area.

Even today, $28,000,000 is a lot of money. But a survey shows that this vast amount has been spent recently for construction of new industrial plants in our service area, and for expansion of existing ones.

The figure is evidence of two things. One is that our service area is becoming more and more industrialized. The other is that when we say "The Center of the Southwest" is one of the Nation's fastest growing regions, we have the facts to back it up.

The industrial figure is one fact. The commercial and civic improvement figures are others. Day by day we become more than ever convinced that this region faces growth unlimited.

... more proof that the Center of the Southwest is one of the Nation's fastest growing regions.

AXTEC, N.M., INDEPENDENT REVIEW: "The family household in the old days was a busy, happy place, with the big kids taking care of the little kids, mother was kept busy in the kitchen, cooking, ironing, sewing and peeling and cooking vegetables out of the garden or cellar and chopping off a chicken's head and picking it. The old man worked twelve hours a day for three bucks to keep the household going. For some reason in those days folks were paying their bills, the divorce courts had no business, folks were not suing each other for an easy buck, and no one was having a nervous breakdown, and nobody knew what a tranquilizer was. Isn't it odd how they lived."

WEST POINT, MISS., TIMES LEADER: "Taxation is not merely a heavy burden, but also a force which changes the world around us."

Hester-Culbertson Vows Exchanged

Miss Sarah Catherine Hester of Clarendon exchanged nuptial vows with David Alden Culbertson of White Deer in a double ceremony performed Wednesday evening, July 17, at 7 p.m. in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. J. V. Patterson, pastor of First Methodist Church, Clarendon, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hester of Clarendon. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Culbertson of White Deer.

Recorded wedding selections provided a background for the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue suit accented by white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. B. W. Howell of Abilene attended her niece as matron of honor. She wore a black suit complimented by black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Best man was Steve Benno of Clarendon.

Following the ceremony a reception was held honoring the couple. The bride's table was laid with a lace cloth over yellow. An arrangement of yellow marigolds provided the floral decor. Appointments were crystal. The three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was served with punch. Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Hester presided. Belinda Howell of Abilene registered the guests.

After several days in Amarillo the couple will be at home in Pampa where the groom is employed by Shell Oil Company.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. B. W. Howell and Belinda of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Culbertson and Mike, Mrs. G. W. Culbertson, and Glenn Culbertson, all of White Deer.

Accent On Health

J. E. PEAVY, M. D.
Commissioner of Health

(A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health)

AUSTIN — People who suffer with hypertension, or high blood pressure, nowadays have more reason for optimism than they would have had a generation ago.

In itself hypertension is not a disease. It's a sign that something is wrong, like the stuffy feeling that comes with a cold. The danger accrues because of the possibility of stroke or serious heart or kidney damage when blood pressure is consistently high.

But even mild elevations in the blood pressure considered normal for the person involved — if the increase persists — may cause the walls of blood vessels to toughen, exactly as callouses are formed on hands by regular use of an axe or hoe. Research has shown that temporary increases in pressure do not really make much difference.

In the most common type of high blood pressure, called "essential hypertension," the tiny branches of arteries which carry blood to all body tissues (called arterioles) begin to tighten up. Blood passageways become smaller, and the heart has to work harder to push the blood through.

After a time the blood vessels lose their elasticity and the heart muscles thicken with the extra work load. Result: high blood pressure, and ultimately heart damage.

What causes the arterioles to tighten and constrict? No one knows.

High blood pressure sometimes goes up for a period of days or weeks — or even longer — and then drops back to normal. Sometimes it may jump from pure nervousness while your physician is examining you. Perhaps there is a connection between hypertension and the strain of modern life. People who work under constant stress, who worry too much, are often susceptible. Heredity is a probable factor, and the condition occurs most often in persons between 30 and 50.

The thing which will count most in adding years to the life of hypertension sufferers is the willingness to change their living habits, following the rules of moderation in everything. By securing a doctor's care and following a few simple rules for moderate living, they can probably work and enjoy life as long or longer than their next-door neighbors without high blood pressure.

There is nothing to gain from worry about your chances of developing hypertension. Just make it a point to have a physical examination at least once a year. And worry and argue as little as possible.

Low blood pressure, on the other hand, seldom causes trouble. Afflicting relatively few people to a serious extent; the condition is usually a symptom of a specific disease which can frequently be treated successfully.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike McCully and family have returned home after a 10 day vacation at Lake City, Colorado. The return trip was made by way of Silverton and Ouray, Colorado.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Power From Deep In The Earth

Man goes deep in the earth for a great variety of mineral resources. In this country and in others around the world there is growing interest in tapping the earth for, of all things, steam. It is there underground in untold quantity, waiting to be tapped to turn the turbines that generate electric power. Oil wells and gas wells are common sights in the Panhandle; because of the availability and low cost of natural gas burned to produce steam and generate power, we may never see the day in our area when wells are drilled to tap subsurface heat and steam. But in some parts of the United States and many countries of the world, tapping the earth for this so-called "geothermal energy" holds great promise for providing cheap electric power and heat.

An Interior and Insular Affairs Committee subcommittee of which I am a member recently held hearings on bills to permit the leasing of U.S. public lands to firms seeking to drill for geothermal energy and chemical by-products. The subject was most interesting to me because of its potential for enriching man's life by providing a new, inexpensive source of power generation and heat.

Geothermal energy, or earth-heat energy, taps temperatures within the earth — temperatures considerably higher than found at the earth's surface. This difference in temperatures causes heat to flow from the interior of the earth to its surface. There it is dissipated in the air. When ground water is heated by a body of hot residual volcanic rock lying at shallow depth it rises rapidly mixed with hot gases and steam from rock itself. It follows cracks and fissures to the surface. These conditions sometimes produce such phenomena as hot springs and geysers.

Geothermal steam was first developed for generating electric power in the late 1930's near Florence, Italy. Power plants there are now generating more than 300,000 kilowatts from 24 generating units. As a sideline, a chemical industry has been established mainly for the manufacture of boron products. In the United States, deep drilling has been undertaken by private enterprise in Imperial County, Calif., at the southern end of the Salton Sea. The project has disclosed boiling brines containing, in addition to a large quantity of steam, a high content of valuable chemicals. Single wells have a proved steam potential of generating 8,000 to 10,000 kilowatts. More tests are scheduled. In Iceland, steam and hot water from geyser areas are being tapped for community heating purposes.

The possibilities of developing geothermal energy exist extensively on public desert lands. Legislation has been introduced to making the development possible. The existing federal oil and gas lease framework would be suitable if only steam, heat and geothermal energy were to be extracted. But the wells also produce hot brines in which sodium, potassium, calcium, boron, silicon, manganese, magnesium, lead, iron, copper, titanium, lithium and strontium also may be found in quantities of possible commercial value. Therefore, leases for steam, heat and geothermal energy should encompass the production and sale of these by-products.

Geothermal energy development may take place in the United States primarily on public lands, but the government is not otherwise involved. Private enterprise will do the job.

In my outer office here, hanging on the wall, is a large cowhide loaned to me by Frank Carter of Pampa. It's the pelt from a prize-winning steer at a Panhandle livestock show of some years ago. It attracts considerable attention, even from strangers passing by in the corridor. Lately, however, I've come to think it is a grimy harbor for assorted vermin. I determined to have it cleaned. I asked Tommy Ryan of Shamrock, who works part-time in the office while attending George Washington University, to arrange for the hide to be cleaned. He called a large Washington department store and was referred to the Fur Repair Department. The following conversation took place:

"I need a cowhide cleaned," Tommy told the fur repairman.

"What type article did you say?" asked the man.

"A cowhide," said Tommy. "The hide of a Hereford steer."

"Just a moment," said the man. "Is it a rug?"

"No," said Tommy. "Just a plain cowhide."

"Is it a coat?" asked the man.

"No, it hangs on the wall," said Tommy.

There was a long pause. "Okay," said the man. "We can clean it for you."

"How much?" asked Tommy.

"It depends on the size," said the man. "It might be $15, more or less."

"Okay," said Tommy. "Come and get it."

"How much valuation do you place on it?" the man asked.

"Well, to the steer it was everything," said Tommy. "But we figure it at $100."

Mrs. T. P. Lane and daughter of Indio, Calif., visited Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crutchfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Brogdon and children of Amarillo visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Helton Sunday.

Those visiting in the Herman Vinson home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Elam of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Small and children of Amarillo.

TOLEDO, IOWA, CHRONICLE: "Only by our own choice can we liberate ourselves and become again free. It may be, as Aldous Huxley fears, that our time is short; but let us use that time in rebellion. 'Perhaps the forces that now menace freedom are too strong to be resisted for very long. It is still our duty to do whatever we can to resist them.'"

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media.

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people generally do not only do they read; they cut out and send ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples. When people see an advertisement in print, they can compare designs... features... and prices of nationally known products and services. (And people do compare before they buy.) Advertising in print is a handy thing. You can always check back; the message is still there even if your attention is distracted. When you add it up, print advertising—the kind you read in this newspaper—makes sense. And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales.

AUSTIN — A growing toll of accidents on city streets and freeways, heavier damage claims and an act of the Legislature... all have combined to cause insured motorists in Texas a double-dip premium increase during the next five months.

First boost for most drivers will come on policies renewed after August 1, when new auto insurance rates set by the State Board of Insurance go into effect.

Many others face a second increase in liability insurance premiums after January 1. This is effective date of a new law requiring financial responsibility of $10,000 per person and $20,000 per accident.

Present law requires $5,000-$10,000. So those now carrying minimum insurance will pay an average of $4 more after January 1.

Increasing accident losses, mainly in urban areas, forced the Insurance Board to hike liability and collision rates in most sections of the state.

Average premium boosts after August 1 will be 5.2% for bodily injury, 9.7% for property damage and 8.4% for collision. This will cost policyholders a total of $12,000,000. Drivers in some rural areas, however, escaped the rate increase.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION —

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has been asked to come to the aid of hard-pressed physical education departments in the 20 state-supported universities and colleges.

Commission on Higher Education asked Carr for an opinion on the legality of the "rider" in the new appropriation bill, which goes into effect on September 1. Rider declares that state funds for physical education can be used only for mass calisthenics unless the students are majoring in PE. Net effect would be special fees charged by the schools if they wanted to give instruction in games.

Some schools have protested that the rider would seriously curtail physical education programs.

JOBS ASSIGNED — Speaker Byron Tunnell has more than 60 appointments to make on interim study committees. He is making them at the rate of one or two a week.

Reps. George Cook, Odessa; J. Collier Adams, Lubbock; Maurice Duke, Wichita Falls; George Hinson, Mineola; and Ben Jarvis, Tyler, will study the oil and gas industry. Their assignment is no small chore — how to restore prosperity to the Texas oil industry.

Reps. Ben Atwell, Dallas; Dick Cory, Victoria; and David Crews, Conroe, will take up membership on the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith has named Senators George Parkhouse, Dallas; W. T. Moore, Bryan; and Jack Strong, Longview. Balance of the committee will be composed of three citizens to be named by Governor Connally.

Reps. W. H. Miller, Houston; Myra Banfield, Rosenberg; Raleigh Brown, Abilene; Charles Scoggins, Corpus Christi; and John Traeger, Seguin, will investigate public school testing.

Rep. Bob Fairchild of Center has been named chairman of the House General Investigating Committee by Speaker Byron Tunnell.

Other new members are Reps. Ben Barnes of DeLeon, Hudson Moyer of Amarillo, Bill Parsley of Lubbock and James Slider of Naples.

Previous investigating committee's probes ranged from alleged basketball game fixes to the East Texas slant-hole scandal.

MENTAL HEALTH — National Institute for Mental Health has awarded a $302,000 grant to the State Hospital Board for research and training in mental health.

Houston State Psychiatric Institute received a grant of $114,878 for research in early clinical drug evaluation.

Remainder of the funds went to Baylor University College of Medicine for various research projects.

VETERANS LAND BRINGS $$$$$ — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said the sale of 82 tracts of forfeited veterans land (totaling 2,223 acres) was "gratifying," since it brought in more than the state's original investment plus taxes paid since forfeiture.

The block of tracts in Zavala, Maverick and Hidalgo counties brought $211,753.84. This included $155,001 for an 886-acre unit in Zavala County, which Grady Claude Hogue of Cisco won after some spirited bidding.

MIGRANT SCHOOL EXPERIMENT — Five school districts will be able to take part in a pilot program of six-month school sessions for the children of migrant workers during the 1963-64 school year. That is if the Texas Education Agency can find five districts that can handle the program.

San Benito and Edinburg school districts are ready to participate. McAllen and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo districts are readying proposals to submit to the State Board of Education.

Pilot program would be an experiment. Hope is to solve the problem of educating children of migrant laborers who are on the move so much that their youngsters miss almost as much school as they attend.

FARM ROAD MILEAGE EXTENDED — State Highway Commission has approved construction of more than 1,000 new miles of farm-to-market roads in 172 counties at a cost of some $24,000,000.

Completion of the 1963 F-M road program would bring the state's F-M system to more than 37,000 miles. That's just 13,000 miles short of the commission's ultimate goal of 50,000 miles. Most of the farm roads have been built since 1949.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer linked development of the system to burgeoning city growth in the state. "Farms and cities will always be inter-dependent," he said. "... getting goods to market is as fundamental to commerce as is the transaction between merchant and customer."

MORE WORKERS WORKING — Texas Employment Commission reports that 3,567,700 out of the state's estimated 10,317,000 population were employed by someone other than themselves during the month of May.

Number of employed was way up from April's 3,542,200. So too was the estimated population of the state. Population in April was figured as 10,297,000.

Thirty day gain in population was 20,000 persons. Employment increased by 25,500 persons.
