The Hangin' Judge

Last Curtain Call For The Hangin' Judge

Well, those of you who attended the play on June 25th found out who the Judge was.

But for you who are going on July 3rd I'll give you a clue. Of course you'll FLIP when you find out.

All the actors are local people. Come and see if you recognize them in their new roles-again you'll probably

There I go again, giving you a clue, so I might as well

tell you that the Judge is none other than your friend friend-FLIP BREEDLOVE.

Now that you will be at the courthouse lawn stay and enjoy the Barbecue and the Arts and Crafts Fair. And get a good place to watch the parade which begins at 2:00 p.m. This year there are so many good entries, it will be a pleasure to be there.

The cast of The Hangin' Judge dedicates the performance of July 3rd to Pete Bromley. He was one of us and we miss him.

Traffic deaths this 4th

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety said, "The most dangerous things the driver of a motor vehicle can do is to speed or drink and drive. Those two violations will account for most of the traffic deaths during this July 4th holi-

The population in Texas is increasing, so is traffic on the highways. More people are expected to be on our highways this 4th of July weekend than ever before.

The department will be conducting "operation motorcide" during the weekend, trying to make everyone aware of the traffic problem every available trooper will be working, trying to help cut down on the needless traffic death but will need the help and cooperation of the entire motoring public to be effective in reducing accidents. "We don't have enough people to stop all traffic violations. We need the voluntary compliance by the motoring public, in obeying the traffic laws, in order to be succissful in reducing accidents, "major stated.

"If people will just slow down and not drive if they have been drinking, many of the deaths that occur on our highways can be pre-vented "Major Bell concluded.

Fiddle around? If you do, why not enter the fiddler's contest to be held Saturday, July 3 at 3 p.m.? If you fiddle better than Charlie Daniels, you are likely to win the first prize of $160 cash and a beautiful silver engraved plate donated by Harvey Price. If you fiddle only as good as the devil himself, you can still carry away $110. The third prize is a $75 purse and even the fourth place fiddler can take home $55 in Been in town long? If you are a resident of the county for 25 years or more, you may qualify to be an "Old Timer" or "Old Settler" and could have a good time at the old settlers reunion at 9:30 a.m. Tunny Kent will host the affair. He is like Jack Benny, Bob Hope, or George Burns with his hosting the reunion. He has had his "absolutely the last year" for several years now. This should be a good "last time I'll do it" year, so plan on being there. There will be some free barbecue tickets handed out then.

The barbecue will be dished out starting at 11 a.m. until the food runs out.

Take your chair, camera and sun bonnet to Kearney or Sully streets to view the biggest, best, grandest parade ever which will begin at 2 p.m. sharp.

Bring lots of money to the crafts fair on the square starting at 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. There are only 15 booths reserved at this time, so please get in your request for a spot now by calling 874-2141. The cheerleaders will have a dunking booth. there will be some ice cream, sodas, ice tea, lemonade. T-shirts, butterfly boxes, antiques, bits and spurs, cakes and the Centennial Tabloid on sale. Bring an idea and rent a space on the square NOW!

Of course, July 1, 2 and 3 will see evening activities beginning with a rodeo each night at 8 p.m. Thursday at 7:30, the kids events will kick the rodeo off. Jackpot steer roping will wind things up Sunday, July 4 at 1 p.m.

After the rodeo, polish the boots, buckles and dust off the hats for a real western dance on the slab. July 1, Tiny Lynn and "True Grit" will perform from 9 until 1. "Wild Turkey" will fill the air with music Friday night and Bobby Hughes will play Saturday.

"The Hangin' Judge", a comedy melodrama will be performed in the old court house Friday evening and Saturday at 10 a.m.

There is something for everyone during this United States Independence Day and Donley County 100th celebration Day, so let's all join in and have a good time.

Centennial Edition

When Helen Woody conceived the idea of building a Centennial Edition for the citizens of Donley County, her intent was to have 196 pages. With that in mind, costs were estimated and plans were made to allow for the cost of that number of pages at the printers in Childress.

However, as you may know, the size of the tabloid has increased to such proportions that it is now a 268 page treasure. The printing costs have also increased in proportion to the paper. These printing costs have already been billed.

Coach in town

Head Basketball

Norman Wright, formerly the assistant basketball coach at Amarillo High School for the past three years, has moved into the head coaching position at Clarendon High. Wright has been coaching and teaching for the past 8 years after receiving his BA degree in English and History, a double major for this talented young man. He later earned his Masters in English, both degrees from Rice University.

"I can't really predict how we will do since I haven't even seen the team yet or any of the kids. Also, this is a new district for me and I don't know the schools we will be competing against." Wright said.

'I expect to work hard and do the best I can and I expect the best from the players as well. Then, whatever that brings us, that is what we have earned."

Juanella and her one year old daughter Jennifer will stay at home and enjoy each others company. The pair will be living at the John Lovell home

COACH NORMAN WRIGHT

"I have met Coach Allen and Mr. Walker and I expect to have a good team there." Wright said. It is expected that, with his major in English and History, that he will be one fine cracker-jack teacher first and foremost and a good, strong basketball coach second. We are excited to have good quality teachers come to our school system to help educate Clarendon's youth. Welcome Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright and Jennifer to CHS and Clarendon.

Dr. Jack Baldwin has retired and sold his practice to two young and very well educated dentists, Drs. Dan Bentley and Dan Desilets (sounds like Chevrolet with a 'D'). The dentists have received their degree this spring from the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio.

Dr. Desilets remarked that he liked the Clarendon area because "There are some very lovely people here," and Dr. Bentley spent a good deal of his childhood in Clarendon as the grandson of Mrs. Elmor Fontaine.

The pair will not be partners, but will share the office spaces formerly operated by Dr. Baldwin. In other words, if you choose one of them as your family dentist, that is who you will always see, there will not be any trading of patients.

They are better qualified in some areas of "new" dentistry than many dentists who may not have kept up with changes in dental theory and practices. They will up-date and change some of the equipment in the old office spaces and will soon have give us a call." Clarendon is excited and pleased to have young dentists interested in opening their practice in our little community. Many people will be greatly relieved of having to make long drives out of town to a dentist. New techniques and the latest in dental sciences will be available to each and everyone of us now, regardless of dental problems or age. Please extend a hearty welcome to Drs. Dan Bentley and Dan Desilets (remember, it sounds like Chevrolet with a "D").

Letter to the Editor

Residents of Donley County: This is a letter of appreciation to those marvelous persons, the Volunteers, without which no small community can function effectively. - - -

In the recent cancer colorectal screening driv e which was so successful, the response to a request of assistance from volunteers was outstanding .- These persons accepted this added responsibility in addition to employment, visitors, Bible School, and the many things all mothers and wives do for their families. In short they donated precious time to help someone who may escape the trauma of cancer diagnosis by enabling the screening here in Clarendon.

I wish to thank Mike Butts. of Mike's Gibson Pharmacy, Paul Bivens of Bivens Pharmacy, Dr. R.L. Gilkey, and all of you who came and served at the two stations giving out kits. Your willingness to help and your prompt arrival for your stint made the project a pleasant one. Thank you for those who volunteered to stay for extra time and for those who did.

To be commended are those persons. who participated in the screening test. This_practice of preventive medicine is the prime factor recommended by the American.Cancer Society to combat

Hudgins receives honor

Tracy Hudgins, a senior at Burns Flag High School, Okla. has been named a 1982 United State National Award winner in leadership by the United States Achievement Academy.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hudgins of Burns Flat, Okla., she is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hudgins and Mrs. Cleo Driver, all of Lakeview.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain, Burns Flat School Counselor Sherri Lemke said. She was nominated for the award by Mrs.

Tracy's name will appear in the U.S. Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other school sponsors and upon the Standards for Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and appitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, ethusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation for a teacher or

Aerobics flaps flab away

Aerobics is an energetic, exciting method to reduce and remove unwanted flab and fat from bodies unused to physical labor. All of the movements are designed to give the ultimate in over-all muscle toning. Everyone comes in with the same problem and everyone works together to achieve the same goal; trimness.

Chriss Cummins originated the program, and now Denise Bertrand and Susie Hall are the leaders of the exercises done to fast-paced music which helps make the night go faster.

The evening exercises begin at 6:30 and only last one hour. There is a young lady, Lori Robertson, who looks after the kids for 50c a head while you work off your

This one dollar is used to pay the rent for the commumity center use, and to, hopefully, sock some away to use toward the purchase of a good sound system for the community center. The cost of the proposed system is $1500 so we really need folks to get out and exercise away to help pay for this system.

Bring your kids, some of them could benefit from the program as well, and plan on two nights a week, Tuesday and Thursday, from 6:30 until 7:30 for $1 to slim vourself and have fun at the same time with friends reaching for the same goal. It's worth it!

MRS. JAMES WOLF nee Ellen Adaire Harris.

Harris-Wolf Nuptials

Lois Perkins Chapel on the Southwestern University Campus, Georgetown, was the setting Saturday evening,June 12, at 7 for the wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Ellen Adaire Harris and James David Wolf.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Harris, 1605 Main Street, Georgetown. She is a graduate of Georgetown High School and is a member of Who's Who Among High School Students. She attended Lutheran College in Austin.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Leon Wolf, Sr., Rt. 3 Georgetown, and is also a graduate of Georgetown High School. He attended Austin community College and Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos.

The Reverand Jay L. Wolf, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, of Montgomery, Alabama, officiated at the double-ring, formal ceremony.

The background in the sanctuary behind the altar was decorated with a large sunburst arrangement of long stem ivory gladioli. This sunburst arrangement was a copy of an original design executed by the bride's grandfather, Dr. Jack T Baldwin of Clarendon, that gown teatured a fitted bodice of heirloom lace embroidered with seed pearls and irridescent sequins. The bouffant skirt was styled with a slight bustle in the back and featured the matching lace and pearl and sequin trim at the edge of the bustle. The long, full skirt terminated in a chapel length train.

Her two-tiered fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was edged with strands of seed pearls, and was attached to a Juliet cap of Chantilly lace that was enhanced with the pearl and sequin trim.

She carried a cascade bouquet of miniature burgandy and ivory rosebuds and baby's breath tied with ivory satin streamers. She wore her mother's single strand of pearls, and carried an heirloom handkerchief that had belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Harris chose a street length two-piece dress of silk embossed burgandy that featured a mandarin collar and A-line skirt. Mrs. Wolf wore a shell pink crepe gown with scoop neck and short sleeves, and they both wore ivory rosebud corsages.

Rebecca Alff, Georgetown, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Kelly Cates, cousin of the bride of Booker; Mrs Donald McLachlan, Fort Worth, sister of the bridegroom; Jana Leschber, Georgetown; and Laura Orgeron of Orange.

The attendants all wore identical long ivory silk brocade gowns designed with high necklines and tucked bodices. Burgandy crushed cummerbunds that formed streamers in the back accented their dresses. They carried nosegay bouquets of pink and burgandy roses and baby's breath.

Serving as best man was David Hays of Austin, and groomsmen were Tol Harris, brother of the bride, Georgetown; Rob Peterson, Houston; Steven Shepherd, Georgetown; and Omar Sanchez of Brownsville.

Ushers were Travis Walden and Greg Sapp, Georgetown; Robert Poe, Jr., Austin; and Craig Burridge, Freeport.

The reception followed at the Bishops Memorial Union ballroom and terrace on the Southwestern University campus. Large white wicker baskets of ivory gladioli were placed on the steps leading to the terrace. Chris Turner played piano selections during the reception.

The bride's table was laid with a white cut work cloth and decorated with garlands of fresh greenery and fresh flowers outlining the table. Centering the table was an epergne holding tall ivory tapers. The bride's cake, a three-tiered ivory confection, was placed at one end of the table. It was decorated with spun sugar ivory swags and scallops and enhanced with miniature burgundy roses and was topped with a nosegay bouquet fashioned of a ruffle of Chantilly lace holding fresh pink and burgundy rosebuds and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's chocolate confection was composed of three large letters, J.D.W., formed in separate chocolate cakes all resting on a mirrored surface. Surrounding the cakes were fresh gardenias, hurricane lights holding ivory tapers, and crystal votive candleholders holding burgundy

All of the members of the houseparty wore corsages of ivory split carnations centered with a burgundy rosebud. Assisting in the houseparty were Mrs. Murry Vinson Jr., Mrs. J.M. Hicks, Mrs. Homer Owens and Miki Loomans, all of Austin; Mrs. Walter Mischer, Jr., cousin of the bride, Karen Friske, and Nancy Neonis, all of Houston; Mrs. John Sapp, Mrs. Harold Burson, Stephanie Mickan, and Felicia Mickan, all of Georgetown; Martha Johnson, Corpus Christi; Chris Turner, San Antonio; and Bonnie Cates and Cindy Cates, cousins of the bride, of Booker.

Assisting with the rice bags were Alicia Huckabay, cousin of the bride, of Amarillo; Ann Redmond, cousin of the bride, of San Antonio; Suzanne Hindelang, niece of the bridegroom, of Georgetown; and Cheree Robertson, niece of the bridegroom, of Taylor. The rice bags were placed in wicker baskets holding Chantilly lace scarfs and were decorated with ivory and burgundy roses and bows.

when Mrs. Wolf left on her wedding trip she was wearing an ivory two piece suit with a sleeveless pleated top and A-line skirt topped with an ivory jacket trimmed in burgundy braid and wore her corsage of burgundy roses. After their wedding trip to Cozumel, Mr. and Mrs. Wolf will be at home in Nacogdoches, where the couple will resume their studies at Stephen F. Austin

University.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay L. Wolf,
Sr., hosted the rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding in their home near

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplíque sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 10 de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas én el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de ésta union se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio tambien afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas tambien afectaria a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

Rain Report

Once again the area was deluged with more than we could handle or want. Howardwick had 2½" of rain combined from Tuesday last week until Friday night. Ashtola had a combined 4" with hail in Goodnight and Washburn that ruined the Larry Green cotton. Goldston had 1 3/10" and no hail, but a nice and steady rain.

Lelia Lake reported a nice, slow drizzle for 1.30" but Herbert said, "I don't need to sweat so much now. Sure hope everybody has plenty of Right Guard for the 4th of July," Windy Valley had 21/4" as reported by Lloyd Molder.

Agriculture is thriving in Texas. Farmers harvested crops valued at 4 billion dollars last year. These crops helped to feed and clothe the entire population of the United States and much of the world. Yet there is a prosperous crop in Texas that doesn't do anybody any good - it's marijuana, and last year alone 8 million dollars worth was seized in our state. Extensive land area, a sunny climate, and rich soil have made marijuana farming in Texas a profitable endeavor.

Former large scale drug smugglers have become domestic growers in Texas to reduce the risks of transporting marijuana across international borders and open seas. In addition, these growers are seeking quality control in nurturing the most potent plants for the best market price available.

After a series of drug raids last year, netting thousands of dollars worth of marijuana, the Department of Public Safety has stepped up its search in isolated areas across the state for the illegal crops, but they can't do it alone.

For the month of June, 1982, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing its statewide "Crime of the Month" on marijuana farming. If you have information on this criminal activity. please call the anti-crime hotline at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of marijuana farmers. Citizens do not have to reveal their name, just their information, and they will be given a unique code number for identification purposes.

Stop marijuana farming in Texas! Call 1-800-252-TIPS today to help rid our state of these criminals.

FREE VITAMIN-RICH VEGETABLES!

There's a world of tasty, free-for-the-picking leaf vegetables to be found in fields, in vacant lots, along streams . . . and even shooting up among your own garden crops!

One of the most common edible wild greens is lamb's-quarters (Chenopodium album). This nutritious relative of spinach (also known as goosefoot and pigweed) has jagged, diamondshaped leaves with powdery-feeling, whitedusted undersides. Remember, though, that you should never eat any wild food until you have positively identified it as edible (NOTE: Three guidebooks to wild plants are listed at the end of this article.) Harvest your "wild spinach" from plants no more than a foot high, or pick the youngest (uppermost) blades from more mature specimens. The delicately flavored leaves can be steamed, or used in most any recipe calling for spinach.

Another "weed" that's earned a lot of names (including careless weed, redroot, and, also, pigweed) is amaranth (Amaranthus retroflexus and hybridus). This extremely common plant has rough, oval-but-pointed leaves that are borne on long stalks, and a crimson-colored root. An excellent hunting ground for amaranth is the space between rows of cultivated crops. The young leaves are favored as salad makings, but the fronds taste even better when fried, steamed, creamed, or boiled and served with a homemade cheese sauce.

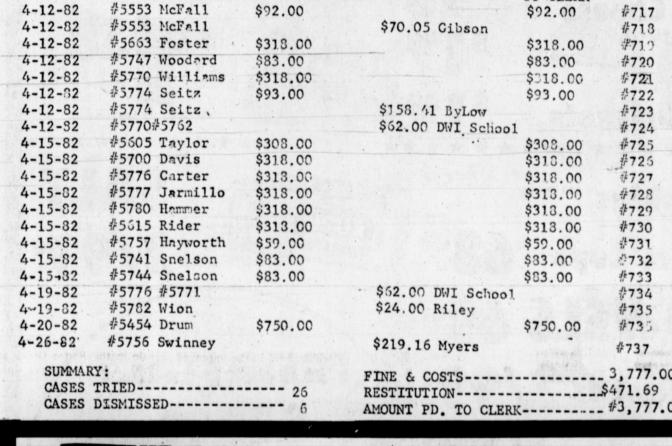

A favorite wild food among foragers is purslane (Portulaca oleracea), better known as "pussley". The paddle-shaped leaves shoot out from a plant that rarely grows over two inches tall but spreads horizontally, on fleshy, reddish-purple stems, with a vengeance. The greens taste good served raw in salads or sandwiches, cooked in meat loaf, fried in an egg batter, pickled, or added as a thickener to soups and gumbos

The most remarkable feature of winter cress is its availability during cold weather Barbarea vulgaris is also called scurvy grass, upland cress, and spring tonic. This fast-growing plant can reach a height of over two feet. The youngest leaves make a crisp and tangy raw salad green, while the more mature blades serve well as boiled or steamed vegetables. In addition, in late spring you can pick some of the unopened winter cress flower buds, boil them for five minutes, and serve up some delicious "wild

There are a zillion other flavorful wild greens: dandelion, curled dock, milkweed. plantain, fireweed, watercress, wild grapes, shepherd's purse, wood sorrel, chickweed. stork's-bill, burdock, chicory . . . and on and on. So gather . . . and enjoy!

NOTE: Lee Peterson's A Field Guide to Edible Wild Plants (Houghton Mifflin. $10.95), Euell Gibbons' Stalking the Wild Asparagus (David McKay, $5.95), and Billy Joe Tatum's Wild Foods Cookbook & Field Guide (Workman, $5.95) are three good references for foraging. the nation whose God is the Lord."Psa. 33:12 Our nation was founded upon the motto, "In God we trust." The signers of the Declaration and the Constitution knew the tiny democracy had to rely on God if it were to succeed. Its whole heritage was rooted in the freedom to worship anywhere at any time without interference from the State.

For more than two hundred years godly men and women have erected churches, opened schools and built hospitals to forward the blessedness of this nation whose God is the Lord. We operate many social programs at home and still give more foreign aid to third world countries than any other nation in the world. We have the highest stan-employment. Americans are famous for their generosity to others regardless of race or creed.

Surely the blessings we enjoy as a nation are related to the deep faith of millions of our citizens. The daily prayers and sincere efforts of so many dedicated people do not go unnoticed by God. It is His intent that we prosper so long as we are a blessing to others. Jesus said His followers are like leaven, making the whole loaf to rise. Our influence is felt quietly, counteracting the impure things about us.

As we celebrate our nation's birthday this July, let us remember that Sodom and Gomorrah could have been spared if ten righteous men had been found there. We have millions of righteous people in our nation. Who have fallen upon the iniquity of our beloved land? Let us give thanks for such divine mercy as we proudly salute the flag on Independence Day 1982.

Round Up

The following poem about the famous J. A. Ranch roundup on November 23, 1895, was written by Miss Gilla Boren and was printed in the Swisher County, Tuilia

The ranch at that time covered many counties in the panhandle and on down past Turkey and Quitique.

Ashel Cross was one of the young cowboys that was working with this roundup in 1895. Ashel was the youngest of the fine Cross Brothers. At one time they were all working for this ranch at the same time. The others were James, William Marion Cross II, John and Joe Cross.

Ashel worked many years on the J. A. and later owned his own ranch in Brisco County near Silverton . His ranch joined the JA Ranch. Ashel Cross married Mary Heckman and they had one child, Dorothy, who married George Martin. They still live on this ranch. They have

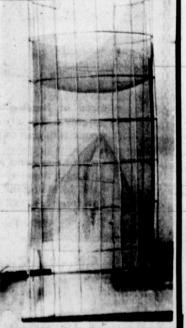

William Marion Cross II worked many years for the ranch and was in charge of East Bitter Creek Camp, which is now known as the Hagey Ranch.

Mr. Cross was newly married to Alice Ray. Their house was a two room log house made from the cedar trees that grew on the ranch. They had four children while living at this camp. Cecil was the oldest boy, then Gordie, and John. They had a baby girl, who died at Christmas time in 1897. Later William Cross and family moved on south and had a small ranch and farm land of his own. This was in Brisco School district. They lived 5 miles east from the school_house.

Their voungest son, William Marion Cross II, was born in 1912 and married Mamie Smallwood. They now live in Denton, Texas. He retired 3 years ago having worked for the Texas Employment Commission 22 years. They have one son, William Marion Cross IV who married, Kathy Russell

They now live in Clyde, Texas. They have two sons, Williams Marion Cross V. now 5 years old, and Josh 2 years old. Their daughter Susan, married Jack Robinson of Clarendon. They now live in Amarillo and have two daughters, Heather, seven

See the Hangin Judge at the Courthouse, Saturday, 10 a.m.

November 1895 By MISS GILLA BOREN

'Twas a misty November morning, The black clouds came and went, While the restless lowing of cattle On the cold, gray day was sent.

On the Burnham Hill in Swisher, What year I do not know. But the coboys at the roundup Rode swiftyly to and fro.

This was the greatest roundup I had ever seen before. The herd covered an area Of five hundred yards or more.

There must have been seventy-five men Ranchmen, and "nesters" all. All laughing, happy and merry, At the roundups that come in the fall.

With their slickers all dripping with rain, Their horses all wet and cold. The hardships of the patient cowboy Is a story that never grows old.

This was a J.A. roundup, They were cutting back steers that day, Intending to ship the largest, As the small ones would not pay.

Bob Bishop was the boss of the roundup, They were c utting back steers that day, Intending to ship the largest. As the smaller ones would not pay.

Bob. Bishop was the boss of the roundup; No cowman more skilled on the plaons. But cold and dreary was today's work On Burnham Hill in the rain.

Bob Christian and Warrener Reed Were holding the "cuts" close by. When a vivid flash of lightning Lit the earth and angry sky.

The red streak quickly vanished, Like a crimson, fleet winged bird, And down fell the boys of the J.A.

Who were holding the "cuts" of the herd. The horses and men fell together. Ten cattle around them lay still. The two cowboys from the J.A. Ranch Lay dead on the Burnham Hill.

That one flash of fiery lightning Was the only one seen that day. But it ook two cowboys to heaven From the range of the wide J.A.

Side by side they fell together, Side by side in some grave they sleep. Many comrades of the J.A. cowboys Were left to sorrowfully weep.

Ah, surely in heaven's bright acres There's cow ranches, long and wide, Where cowboys, on fleet-footed horses, Ride the roundups, side by side.

If in Heaven there be large ranches Where winds scatter wild flower seed, There we'll find the two J.A. Cowboys, Bob Christian and Warrener Reed.

"BAGGIETHERAPY"

The mention of arthritis brings the thought of heating pads and "heat rubs" into the minds of many individuals. A recent report in the Journal of the American Medical Association provides evidence that cold may also be of value in the care of the type of arthritis known as rheumatoid. [Rheumatoid arthritis is the systemic type that produces swollen joints and also affects the muscles. The more common degenerative or osteoarthritis is what most of us experience as we grow older.)

Clinicians in Philadelphia placed six ice cubes in plastic bags and positioned them above and below the knees of 24 of their rheumatoid patients. During the four week study, this was performed three times a day for 20 minutes per setting.

Was this form of care effective? Most of the patients experienced improved sleep and decreased usage of pain medicines. Following the conclusion of the study, it was noted that several of these patients continued to use ice packs to help relieve pain.

Persons having rheumatoid arthritis often use aspirin or a prescription anti-inflammatory drug to control pain and stiffness. Application of heat is ineffective in some patients. "Baggietherapy" appears to be simple, effective, free of obvious side effects, and low in cost.

Sun Dial used by Watts

Edward Watt, came from afar. Born in Prince Edward Isle, Canada he came to this country when a small boy. In 1886, he and Mrs. Watt began their married life together in Navarro County, Texas.

From there, after a brief stay in Childress, they came to make their home in Giles, a mile northof Giles to be exact. To move their belongings from Childress, the Watts chartered a freight car, called in those days an immirgant car. at that time the depot, the pump station, water tanks, the saloon, the little wooden school house, a store, the Willingham and the Rogers houses and The Tucker Hotel was all that was in Giles.

The Sun Dial, was brought to him from his family's home in England by friends, who came to America after the Watt's family. The Sun Dial has been in the Watts family over a hundred years.

Mr. Watt was employed in Childress when he decided the children should be in school. He had heard they were building a new school in Giles so he headed that way. There first school had been wrecked by a bad wind storm and the second one was almost completed when the Watts arrived in Donley County. When he first came to Giles Ed Watt got a job with the section crew on the railroad. At the end of two months a section foreman was needed and Ed took the job. Ed, his wife, Lela and two children, Fred and Rubye lived at the section house until they moved to a farm of their own when Mr. Watt filed on section 84 and built a home there.

Fred Watt and his family still farm and ranch part of the Ed Watt land. The Sun Dial is a family heirloom.

The Watts made history by having a horseless carriage. When he could afford an automobile, Ed called Studebaker Motor Co. in Amarillo and had them send down the latest model.

Mooring-Branigan Saga

Sunday - Feb. 7, 1982 Daddy had a much better night and he was still sleeping, so I had a pot of coffee, hen went on to breakfast. Oh yes, Mrs. Furr gave Daddy a nice cap she had knitted. She has made quite a few during this last month. We were very proud of it. It doesn't point up as high as the toboggan I bought.

Everyone must have slept late as it was after 9 a.m. before most anyone came to breakfast. We enjoy our 'after breakfast" visit in the lobby. M any are still talking about the frightful experience of getting to Athens. Mr. Putman from Odessa told about going down to get their tickets adjusted vesterday. He said no doubt the man helping them was the office manager as he never asked anyone for advice although he could have used some. The man kept calling Mrs. Putman "Madam. It was hilarious to hear him tell it as he hadn't felt well enough to really get into a conversation before. Going home has quite a good psycological effect on all of us. Mrs. Furr has a birthday coming up on Tuesday -- but since so many are leaving Monday morning, her daughter Carolyn wanted to have cake today. Bill Quinn. Nancy Eddleman and her dad, John Henry walked to the bakery and bought 5 or 6 pound cakes made in little tins. Also a candle. We made the rounds telling everyone who wanted to add to a collection for a small bouquet and each one who would like could write a little message on one of the picture post cards for birthday cards. The dining room was full at lunch. After eating, Carolyn and Nancy got behind a pillar and lit the candle on one cake and we all sang "Happy Birthday" as they carried it to Juanita Furr. After a bit. she stood up and said. "Carolyn told me a good many of you had intended to go out to eat, but since this was planned, you had stayed for my birthday. I just love everyone so much." That brought a round of applause. She is such a gracious per-

We also found out Tuesday is the birthday of Helen Maxwell from Pasadena So we are going to have something Thursday. I need more film so I'll see if I can find it and get some cakes. Helen's daughter is very sick. She isn't very old, but one can see she is uncomfortable all the time. Maybe this will cheer both of them.

We had turkey, creamed potatoes and lettuce for lunch. Found out the way to eat the finely shreded lettuce is to first put some creamed potatoes on your fork, then reach into the lettuce and it doesn't fall off your fork.

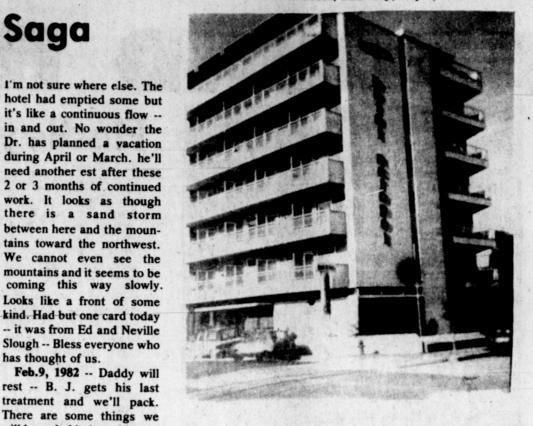

Daddy has been dirinking hot milk and doing much better than with the cold milk--anything for heat is what we have to look for as it is still cold inside. We had quite an eventful evening -there are sixteen leaving in the morning. We were very happy for them but didn't want to say "goodbye" "so long until we meet again" under better conditions. Those from Colorado said they would stop by when they went down Highway 287. There was many pictures taken for last minute remembrances. We seem to be the only one with a poloroid and the only ones not able to buy more film.

Feb. 8, 1982 As to the date, we left Memphis and Clarendon a month ago today -- 31 days ago. Tena said, "Just think, two more days and nights." I can't believe it. It seems a great deal longer than a month -- We are ready. However, we feel we have accomplished a great deal. Tena and I walked downtown--picked up some Lonarid for Gladys Goodwin's daughter, Midrotee for Lydia and Jay Elkins from San Angelo, but no film for the Polaroid 600. They have plenty of SX-70.

There are many new faces this morning. People have come from Wisconsin, Colorado, and in Texas -- O'Donnell, Seminole, Hurst and I'm not sure where else. The hotel had emptied some but it's like a continuous flow -in and out. No wonder the Dr. has planned a vacation during April or March. he'll need another est after these 2 or 3 months of continued work. It looks as though there is a sand storm between here and the mountains toward the northwest. We cannot even see the mountains and it seems to be coming this way slowly. Looks like a front of some kind. Had but one card today -- it was from Ed and Neville Slough -- Bless everyone who has thought of us.

treatment and we'll pack. There are some things we will leave behind -- odds and ends, partial bottles of stuff, etc. We gave the maid some groceries left over and a small bottle of perfume we found in the suitcase. Today is Helen Maxwells birthday. The word got passed around -- everyone who wanted to give me 20 drachmas and we bought some more cakes. The bakery gave us another candle -- so, tonight we sang "Happy Birthday" to her. She needed the lift. Just before supper we found Murphy's Law was going again -- we think we had better have it abolished or something. British Airways called that there was a "minor labor problem in Heathrow in London". We will have to detour toShannon, Ireland to have the plane cleaned and refueled before we would have to spend the night in Chicago. I couldn't believe my ears when they called. Before I said that would be acceptable, I said I would have to call them right after I had a conference with our Chief Navigator, Tena. They were downstairs and about the time I got there, they had a similar call. During a "time-out" while they put her on "hold", we had a very short conference told her whatever she decided, just make it for the

Wednesday night in Chicago -- maybe we can get some of the "Jet-Lag" behind us there and then we will get into Amarillo Thurs. afternoon. Elmonette had called earlier and we were all set for about midnight Wed, night. Due to the change, the Moorings called home and they are to call Elmonette, who we are sure will cake Mike and that will blow every plan the children and family have made to date. Did get all he packing done--now need to call the desk to call Holiday Inn here to callHoliday Inn in Chicago to see if we can get reservations for Wednesday night sleeping. I want to talk to Night-time Johnny, so I'm waiting until eleven o'clock. We have both had our baths -- but will have to pull out one more change of underwear and a clean shirt for Daddy and a top for me. We also have some letters to mail inChicago for several of the people here so it won't take ten days or so to get mail back to their families -maybe just nine days. This has been a long month, but someday we'll look back on it and still be glad we did it.

Feb. 10, 1982 - Athens --Mike called just as we were about to walk out the door at the Acropol. The schedule had been haze through so many calls last night, so we re-affirmed the schedule. We left the hotel at 7 a.m. -eight of us in three taxis. Got to the B.A. terminal about 7:30 or so. Had to have the corrections made on the tickets again. We will leave for London -- checked the baggage with the most wonderful help of a lady at the check-in counter. Had tipped the porter all the money we had left in drachmas. They directed me through customs with Daddy. When I wheeled him to the door, the officer shook his head and made some wild gestures about all I could tell form what he was eylling was that we couldn't go through with the chair. Found Tena and B. J. sitting down, so we went back to the checkin counter and were told to wait until 8:30 before going through customes -we sat down with the Moorings. The men were thirsty and I went to get them some water. The water was free. but the cups cost 2 drachma each. I didn't have anything left, but a couple of young people from Montana going to Israel paid the 4 dr. for me (You never know where you'll meet a friend!) About 8:30 I went to the baggage desk and they sent a a very long way. We had boarded a Trident Two. I wagon. He said he thought they were for sale and he didn't have any money. Also, he couldn't tip the porter-but we got on and took off for London at 9:20 a.m.

We have been in the air an hour and 45 minutes and now we are flying over the Austrian Alps which are all covered with snow. It is 9:05 London time--11:05 Athens time and only 3:05 a.m. Tuesday in Memphis. We are only two hours from London. Landed London 10:40 a.m.

Had a wheel chair and we rode in the top of a vehicle that had a hoist--we rolled straight in from the level of the plan--rode to the terminal with someone driving below us. Then they had the lift in the rear to let us down at the terminal. Practically no walking for Daddy except from the seat of the plane to the door. The service was superb --took us immediately for boarding passes--we entered the main part of the terminal and met with the Moorings, Duvalls and Putnams. There are now eight of us together so far. At the luggage claim area right after going through passport inspection, the friends had already collected our baggage (all four pieces believe it or not!), and all loaded on the trolley, ready to fly through customs. They could tell none of us had enough money to buy went to the counter and picked up the new luggage tags. Since the "slight labor dispute" was still going in London, each passenger is responsible to check in their own luggage directly onto the plane. The porter and wheel chair pusher took us to the dining area nearest the loading gate--they said they would be back in time to 14:15, which in our mind is

Had a change of porter and dy standing to try to get easy and came back to him. He fixed a place to lay down two seats up as no one was sitting there. We gave him an "easy pill" and the stewardess said to "shout" if we needed anything else to make him more comfortable. There are mountains in the clouds up here, rather mountains of clouds with lower clouds around them. Gives the same effect as seeing lowlands and mountains on the ground. We have never seen anything like them and they are beautiful--beginning to get evening in Ireland and we can see a beautiful sunset to the east. We are gaining daylight hours as we travel west. The evening meal is being served and we check the list to see what and what-not Daddy can eat-sure enough this is smoked herring and salty served with tomatoes and lemon. However, that proved to be only the appetizer and later were offered chicken or steak. They brought Daddy a vegetable plate. He feels much better after eating some. After the meal, they use tongs and a tray and serve you a hot wash cloth in lieu of finger bowls--what a luxury! Again, the stewardess tells us to "give a shout" if we need anything for Daddy. They are so nice, I could do most anything but "shout" at them.

confuse me."

. The man whom I would call a Chief Steward asked if he could do anything and if Daddy felt better - I asked for a blanket and he brought one - anything else, just let him know. "Tis the longest sunset I have ever seen -- it is 8:15 London time and realize we seem to be chasing the day light. Time for a movie and the overhead lights go off, but those at the windows will have to pull the shades. Where is my Scott? -- the movie is none other than the incomparable "Zerro" in the "Gay Blade." I'll watch for a while but really should get a nap while Daddy is resting. Not much of the movie had played 'till he came back here and we fixed his head-set. The movie is hilarious and enjoyable. -It is 9:50 p.m. London time, but early in the afternoon at home, still daylight, so to speak. We are going to try to sleep a bit. They'll probably be around to serve another meal in a while -- but we'll get some rest. I guess I'm not a sleeper on a plane or else this writing is getting to me. I can think of so much to say. May I jot some similarities and some _"dis-similarities" (if there is such a word) on this particular part of our journey compared to that of January 8 and 9? This is a might big plane, as was the other one.

The stewards and "esses" still walk heavily though the aisles, making the seats vibrate. This movies is so good -- the other one was boring. This service is good and considerate -- there are not too many on this plane. The one coming over was full due to the weather and delayed flights -- also the strike in Athens. - Also, - so many took the first flight tination. This flight is so smooth -- even over -the Atlantic. We couldn 't keep coffee in our cups in January as the turbulance was terrible. The food was good both ways - we were just hungrier this time. Both of our, patients are feeling so much better than they did going to Greece -- for which we are thankful. The restrooms are the same distance from our seats as before, in fact, I think we have same seats as we had before "15E" for Elmont and "15F" for Florita. And don't let us forget Heathrow_Terminal in London (as if we ever will) what a difference in atmosphere, the weather and the motions of the four of us. Tena is not quite as up-tight as in Jan .. as the situation was more in hand. However, she had read a sign coming into the departure area that said if could be possible for some flights be cancelled due to the "Labor Dispute" and not the weather. She kept asking B. J. as the Chicago flight No. 298 appeared on the computorized board over head was till in the "uncancelled" status and we flew out as scheduled, just a little bit late.

Another big difference was the time of the week - we hit it right_at the week-end in Jan., right at mid-week on the return trip, so the crowd was practically non-existent today. The whole surrounding was calmer, cleaner and more enjoyable.

Tena had wanted one picture of us again at Heathrow --- we were sitting at a table with the other two couples. As I was trying to show Homer Duvall how to use the camera (pull back on this button until the light goes off), he took the camera and said, "you mean like this?" Flash! and the film poured out the front -- we nearly died laughing -- but would you believe, he caught Tena and Elmont without their posing.

Thus ends the comparison, but I though then worth to note -- enough to-say you can't just judge a trip by one way without a return trip. It is 11 o'clock p.m.-on my watch for London time and the sun finally made it down.

Didn't I tell -you - Here comes the snacks at 11:15 -we should gain several pounds at this rate, but we can't keep flying until Daddy gains back what he has lost these past few months. We'll not be able to cook at home that often either.

We are nearing Chicago and there are Custom dedarations to be filled in and the usual Passport information -- Janice Putnan from Odessa came to talk a minute. We each got a good hug and hated to say goodby - had rehashed some of the past month -- told her we would keep in touch. She and Buster, Homer and Evangeline Duvall are going on to Dallas to spend the rest of the night. - Our - number of eight will divide into two sets of four and four as we and the Moorings will stay in Chicago. It was sad to part from each and evey_couple we have enjoyed during our stay in Athens. There are still_about 60 Americans staying in the Acropol when we left. When we get to Amarillo.we will have another split on our ranks to two and two. But our lives have felt an enrichment from the experience. There is some snow on the ground in Chicago. his time, Daddy had to go down the stairs from the plane, then into the wheel chair. The hand-rail is some cold as it is 4 degrees above zero -- then they let me put the quilted zip-up on the chair and they wheeled him to the terminal, just hope he doesn't take cold. We didn't have a connection to make, but they still hurried us through the regular places, customs, passport inspec-

I would rather slow down, at least through one terminal.

We passed through, collected all four of the bags again for us, then two for the Moorings. There is a feeling of Triumph when they all show up--but we're not home yet. The Moorings were paged for a call, so they went one way and we went the other. Before I knew it, the porter had pushed us right out the door to the location where families meet incoming passengers. He unloaded the bags off his cart-told us this way to a hotel and said he needed to take the wheel chair. We unloaded Daddy and since we could not see the Moorings, we parked Daddy on the suitcases, there were no seats. I ran back to The Door we last passed-passed--found out it was a 'one-way operation'. So everytime some one came out, I stretched my neck trying to get a glimpse of Tena and B.J. Finally, went up stairs to Information and asked where one would have to go to take a telephone message, (I supposed they may be there). Since we had arrived by British Airways, the lady told me to go to their desk which was quite a ways around there. I took one more peep to see if Tena and B.J. had found Daddy. He was downstairs and I was upstairs. Went around to B.A. and they said Tena had answered the phone call--so I went back and watched The Door some more. Sure enough I caught that glimpse of them and the next time The Door opened, I yelled at them. They didn't have their baggage when they came though. It had been checked through to Amarillo. Then, it dawned on me that was what we were told to do back in Athens, but we had been propelled through The Door by the porter so fast, I wouldn't have had a chance to tell him if I had remembered.

How to get our baggage back in through The Door was the next problem. I went back upstairs to Information and she directed me back to B.A. Check in desk. Again, it was quite a good way. Tena's message was Holiday Inn confirming reservations which we didn't know had been made from Athens. We both had asked about reservations in Athens and the man redoing our tickets told both of us we would have that done with B.A. when we arrived in Chicago. However, the Moorings were the only ones confirmed, but they could bring the Ranigans's, (that's the way we have been called all month as our names were misspelled on the tickets.)

porter to push daddy. He took his pass-port and boarding pass. That's the last we saw of him for about 20 minutes. We went through customs, then down some marble stairs. Got separated from the Moorings, but finally did find them, but no Daddy. Had to wait till they called out "Gate No. 3" boarding for London. Then we had to stand in line to board a bus. My hand went to sleep hold the strap in the bus, but we did get to the plane. Passed by a little station wagon with the side up where packaged lunches were hanging in plastic containers -- so we each took one, then up stairs to the plane. Finally we got in and there was Daddy -- they had wheeled him all the way across the run way and it was asked him if he had taken one of the lunches from the anything we had to declare-leave (our departure time is 2:15 p.m.).

We enjoyed the rest--had another good visit with the Duvalls and Putnams who will separate from us at Chicago. Had refreshments-since the 4 men couldn't have "ale", we girls decided on a safer drink too.

chair pusher at pick-up time. We were intending to tip the other two when they came back but we didn't get to do so. But, anyhow--here we went to Gate 21 which was a terribly long way for the other men to walk. Daddy had a good ride, but the wheel chair could use a cushion. Tena took care of the tip for the porter after sending the luggage down a very steep chute--I think it all landed at the bottom with only one or two bumps going down. Glad it wasn't too

We were allowed to board first, hence the wheel chair advantage--we were leaving somewhat late on the 747 for Shannon. Really, the plane looks clean to us and we would be happy just to stop long enough to refuel in Ireland-then take off across the Blue Atlantic for Chicago. We are off at 2:50 London time which is nearly 9 a.m. in Memphis. Decided to really look to see if the Life Jackets are under our seats as the hostesses keep telling they are. We are going to be going over the Atlantic later and I don't swim too well in cold weather--Sure enough, the jackets are there.

Now, to get comfortable--Daddy tried stretching out with his head in my lap, but his legs are too long; so now

Mental Health and

Retardation Regional Center

The symptoms of mental illness interfere with daily living and can make our lives difficult. The symptoms of mental illness range in severity from mild to disabling, affect at least 15 people in 100 and create emotional, social and financial problems for the person affected and the person's family and friends

Fred Ponder, Center Director of the Clarendon Family Services Center, said, The symptoms of mental illness, like those of many physical illnesses, may come on slowly, sometimes making it difficult to know that a person is mentally ill, but there are warnings signs to indicate professional assistance is needed."

Some of the warning signs, according to ponder, include: *Inability to cope with changes-loss of a loved one, divorce, retirement, job changes, money problems or other drastic challenges that must be faced.

and behavior-frequent crying, dependence on alcohol or drugs Deep anxiety, which is a state of constant fear-an inability to concentrate or a feeling of impending doom

Abrupt changes in mood

Depression that takes hold and is followed by withdrawal from friends, a loss of confidence, a feeling of help-

Poor work performancedramatic changes in behavior and performance at work or school Hostility and aggression toward others-inappropriate expression of anger

Physical violence in the family

Hallucinations-hearing voices or seeing things that are not there. Some problems, such as chronic bed wetting, and some physical ailments, such as allergies, asthma or headaches, are not usually thought of as signs of emotional disturbance, but they, too, can signal a need for psychological help.

Seek help when symptoms occur. "One of the most widely accepted sources of quality mental health care is a community mental health clinic,"said Ponder, "and the Clarendon Family Services Center, a service of the Amarillo Mental Health Mental Retardation Regional Center, offers a full range of mental health outpatient services and provides neces-ing hospitalization." Ponder emphasized that the individual's right to privacy is of utmost importance

sary information and referral

for severe problems requir-

to Center staff, and many laws protect the right of the client to confidentiality.

He added that fees are based on a sliding scale according to Ponder, include: monthly income and number of dependents, and insurance policies sometimes help cover payment. Services are always available, however, regardless of ability to pay. Call (806) 874-3504 bettween 8 a.m. and 5 a.m. or the toll free number 1-800-692-4039 any time, day or night, for assistance.

Hints for Homemakers TIPS TO HELP YOU

Cooks combining careers with cuisine often welcome recipes for delicious dishes that can be made quickly yet arrive at the table with a gourmet touch.

Pears au Gratin is just such a dessert. Overlap thin slices from six peeled and cored pears in a buttered oblong baking dish. Combine one-third warm, sieved apricot preserves with a quarter-cup white wine. Pour over fruit. Sprinkle with a half cup dry macaroon crumbs and dot with butter. Cook 25 minutes at 400 degrees. Serve warm.
