ROD KEOWN AND DONALD BROGDON

Keown & Brogdon play All-Star ball

Coaches on the winning team from the area Little League teams chooses the players for his All-Star baseball team. This year, Coach W.H. McCloud from Panhandle won the tournament games and chose Rod Keown to play left field on the All-Star team. The league consists of teams from Shamrock, Lefores, Panhandle, Skellytown, Claude and Clarendon.

The All-Star team played double elimination against North Randall County teams and won those two games handily. They ran into trouble with Borgers team. The team lost the first game 8-2, won the second game 12-12 and lost their third game 6-5.

Coaches Bob Hayworth and Arlis Thomas coached Rod with results that he was chosen out of scores of other good ball players for this honor.

Donald Brogdon was likewise chosen to play first base and pitcher for the All-Star team of 13 year old ball players. Coach Hermesmeyer from Panhandle chose Don for this double honor. Mrs. Brogdon remarked that Don also played third base and short stop.

"Baseball is my one main sport," Don told his grandmother. He has been playing ball five years here in Clarendon, and played one year of softball in Amarillo. His coaches were Hayworth and Thomas as well. The thirteen year old helped his team take second place in Borger.

Rod played pitcher and catcher on his hometown team. During the regular season, he pitched a no hitter game against Skellytown in the Lefores tournament. Rod managed 16 strike outs during that game to help his team win second place.

These are some of the achievements that set Rod apart from all of the other ays.

Weatherton football hero

Bobby Weatherton had an outstanding game Friday night in the Houston Astrodome as a member of the North squad in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star game. The North came from behind with 7 minutes left in the fourth quarter to win 7-3. Bobby played fullback and was on the offensive team during the winning drive. During the night Bobby carried the ball 4 times for 21 yards and had one carry for a fine 15 yard gain that was nullified by a penalty. He also played on the kick-off return team.

Bobby represented his school, community, and family with an outstanding effort. Those from Clarendon who enjoyed the game were Ted and Brenda Allen, Dudley Kelm, new Broncho coaches Norman Wright, Sam Haynes and Ted Wiley. Also Bobby's parents Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Weatherton, and several members of his family were there to back Bobby.

Once in a while, everything doesn't go quite right for a growing town. Early Clarendon had a tendency to flood at times, and this is what the town looked like when it did flood.

Public meeting on flood hazard study

Three years ago Clarendon was turned down for insurance against flood and the Soil Conservation Service is trying to plan enough flood prevention measures to satisfy requirements and to make the area safe against the possibility of floods to the more than 100 homes and business affected by the flood area.

This flood plane extends from the gin to the south side of Highway 287, and includes Kearney and homes along the path of the creek and its tributaries.

Jim Donaho with the SCS office, is working with the tax appraisers to determine a value of the property in this area to be included in a feasibility study with the state offices.

Flood retarding structures will be reinforced or rebuilt on the main creek and along the tributaries. There are hopes that a cost sharing plan may be awarded to Clarendon for this plan.

In the late 1920's Clarendon was flooded and much of downtown was under several feet of water. It was AFTER that flood that the existing dams were built upstream to slow the water down. Clarendon came very near to being flooded last August and again these recent deluges.

Rain Report

Lake depth has gone up considerably, in fact, it is almost 70 feet deep now. Herman says that the temperature probably hasn't been affected by all of the recent rain, so the 80 degrees is still pleasant swimming temperature.

Ashtola reported 7 1/2 inches of rain. Windy Valley had 5 1/2 inches and Lelia Lake reported close to 5 inches. Goldston had a big rain Wednesday that left a total of near 5 inches as well. Howarwick matched Clarendon with a total of 6 1/2 inches and Brice held it's own with 5 1/2 inches as well.

The rain has come at a time most crops can use it. No fields were reported damaged or washed out nearby, but over toward Hedley, some of the unplanted fields sure have moved locations and several county roads have been washed out with some culverts washed away.

Heading & Heeling team goes to Nationals

No little heifer is safe from the dazzling roping team of Junior Crump and Ray Crump of Clarendon. The boys have been roping since they were little britches big enough to straddle a horse. They own their roping horses and, with a little prodding from Mama, take care of the chores that entails.

Junior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Crump and Ray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Finch and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Crump. They won first place in the heading and heeling at the Little Britches Rodeo in Tulia July 17. This means that they will be eligible to go to Colorado Springs, CO. August 16-21 to compete in the National Finals.

These roping fools learned all they knew from their dads and from long hours of practice. Ray has entered 4-H rodeos, the Tri-State rodeo, and others and competed in ribbon roping, and bread-away roping.

Ray will team up with Roy Dee Thompson from Happy and go to the Junior World Champion Roping at Colorado Springs, CO August 6, 7, and 8. Ray met Roy Dee in the Tulia rodeo and teamed up there to win the calf roping, the event they will even united in wedlock, they sang and played. Cecil's father played fiddle and taught him to play guitar. Alyce played the piano and organ. When the two met, there were no flats on their sheet music! Life for the Mundens has been one sweet melody ever since.

They formed a little combo of five people, a steel guitar played by Cecil, Alyce played the accordion; a rhythm guitarist; a fiddler and a mandolin player completed the band. They played old fashioned western music for the Boy Scouts Gold and Green Balls, for western dances and even on radio station KGHF in Pueblo, Co. From 1947 the "Saddle Pals" played strictly for their own fun and amusement and to entertain others with the music they created. Then the Mundens moved to Arizona in 1956.

Dude ranching is big business in Arizona. Cecil taught dudes to ride and the Fred Astair and Ginger Rogers of Clarendon taught them how to square dance and do western swing steps at the Dude ranch they worked on for several years.

Cecil had a beautiful horse named Tango that delighted visitors and old hands as well. Tango would play dead, roll over, kneel, bow and do many assorted tricks on voice command. Cecil learned some fancy riding tricks to amaze the "city slickers".

CECIL on Tango and Alyce Munden

The pair of cowboys spent their winters on the Lake Pleasant Dude ranch in Arizona and then up to Idaho Springs, CO for the summer dude ranching. All in all, a very idealistic type of life for born entertainers like the Mundens.

After a brief interlude doing custom hay cutting work around the Peoria area, Cecil and Alyce traveled to Texas where Cecil became foreman for the LX Ranch north of Amarillo. He did some of everything and Alyce did all of some things. They shared the heavy work load as they have been doing all of their married lives.

The first time Cecil told Alyce that she needed to fix lunch for fifteen men, he brought 21 hungry mouths! "I always fixed alot more than Cecil said to fix because I knew there would be more men than he thought," she said wryly.

In 1973, the ranch changed hands and Cecil began doctoring calves around the Channing area. He knows enough bovine and equine veterinary medicine to hang half of a shingle over his door.

After buying the Conoco station in August of 1975, the Mundens found themselves in high demand as local entertainment again. "I had made some tapes of our little band and was playing one when someone came in, liked it and found out it was us. Next thing you knew, we were asked to play at the Senior Citizens dances." Cecil said with only a touch of humility.

Alyce played organ, Cecil guitar. Truett Behrens played piano and Al Lawns played guitar once in awhile with the trio. Jam sessions are a frequent Saturday night occurrence at the Munden home. Jimmie Adams, Woody Argo, Jerry Chambliss, Truett Behrens, brothers Fred and Forrest and sister-in-law Elenor would join in the fun and play for hours on end. "We would play until two or three in the morning and never repeat ourselves," Cecil said with justified pride.

If you want to hear some old fashioned western music to start those weary toes tapping, stop by the Conoco station and listen to a tape or two, look at some unique 3-D slides of Cecil and Tango and notice that Alyce and her husband of 41 years look strikingly similar; a result of being so much in love, so close day by day that they have developed facial features and mannerisms that mark them as truly a married couple!

"SADLE PALS" Cecil and Steel Guitar and Alyce with accordion Ridin' Singin' Gas pumpin' Mundens

Alyce and Cecil Munden have only been in Clarendon since 1970 when they bought the Conoco gas station, commonly known as "Skinneys" on highway 287 east of town. Before they came to Clarendon to help Cecil's brother Fred build his house, they lived a life of high adventure, music, horses and Cecil was often in...the police station!

Cecil was in the law enforcement profession for many years in Colorado and in Peoria, Arizona, where he was chief of police. That particular experience led Cecil to develop a firm belief in dog control, criminal control and a need to maintain a well-coordinated police force. Cecil lost one of his best men to an armed criminal and has a very firm belief in a strict law concerning armed criminals.

Alyce and Cecil are both from Colorado. She was born in Pueblo and Cecil hails from Walsenburg. Mountains, streams and cold winters are a familiar part of living to the Mundens. These Rocky Mountain children were married in December of 1941.

Cecil was in the Air Force and was stationed in San Francisco where he never left the ground. "Cecil was attached to the headquarters because he had bad eyes and bad feet," said Alyce with a little grin.

Bad eyes and feet didn't stop the Mundens from pursuing their greatest love: music! Before they were

Johnson bridal shower

A very lovely Bridal Shower was given for Susan Johnson, bride elect of John Hall Sunday afternoon Aug 1.

The multitude of gifts were displayed on two tables accented with the brides colors of burgundy, pink and gray.

The serving table was accented with a cake decorated like the couples wedding invitations and accented with a bouquet of pink carnations. The punch bowl was decorated with a bouquet of silk burgundy and pink flowers. All of this was on a beautiful white lace table cloth.

The cake was decorated by Mrs. Pat Archuleta, who also made corsages for the bride, bride's mother, and groom's mother from a very clever idea of pot holders, dish cloths and small kitchen items.

Miss Melanie Hansard registered the guests. Mrs. Cheryl Hall registered the gifts. Servers were Mrs. Karen Trivitt and Miss Janie Hall.

Hostess gift was a lovely Hamilton Beach Processing Center. Hostesses were: Mrs. Carol Hall, Mrs. Karen Trivitt, Mrs. Margaret Murdock, Mrs. Chloe Ann Newhouse, Mrs. Naomi Green, Mrs. Joan Carothers, Mrs. Barbara Cosper, Mrs. Lucille Watts, Mrs. Frances Sullivan, Mrs. Opal Thomas, Mrs. Billie Bumpus, Mrs. Thelma Rudder, Mrs. Helen Welch, and Mrs. Ellen Patterson.

- And, if you're 72 or older, there's no dollar limit on what you can earn.

Fish Tales

By KATIE DVORAK

Herman Mooring went to Dallas for a new shipment of live and wiggling minnows for bait. But two men from Pampa found waterdogs better bait for cat fishing. They caught 6 whoppers of rod and reel for a total bag of 63 pounds!

Some youngsters caught 25 white bass early in the morning. Walleye have been at it, 5 were caught on minnows this past weekend.

Fishing seems to be pretty good off of the bank. Some nice pan sized catfish were caught in the little cove near the marina and some near the docks. The better catfish, of course, come off of jug and trot lines.

Duck stamps and the new fishing and hunting licenses will be available at most locations around the first of next month. The duck stamps are beautiful this year, a real collectors item.

Resident fishing licenses from Sept. 1, 1981 thru April 30, 1982 show that sales were more than 32,000 ahead of the first 8 months of the previous year. This could be due to the increased public interest in fishing and vacations spent on nearby lakes rather than sightseeing tours.

How big are bass? A San Antonio man caught the 4th largest bass ever taken in Texas at Lake Calveras. It weighed 13 pounds, 9 ounces! It was caught with a 6" black and yellow plastic worm.

Victor Brauning lake also produced a big bass, 10 lb. 8 oz. It was taken on a black and chrome crankbait.

Lake Welsh near Mount Pleasant produced two bass over 11 pounds just in a daily creel census!

Lake Nacogdoches produced a 12 pounder as have lakes Fayette Power Project, Calaveras, Monticello, Welsh, Livingston, Houston County and Echo.

I don't say let them eat cake; I say let them eat anything they can acquire through honest labor-theirs, not mine.

Human nature being what it is, we ought to devise ways to make it tougher on The Poor instead of easier. As Brother Dave says, when a man is down, kick him and you'll give him an incentive to get up.

I think, for example, we ought to take the vote away from The Poor. They can't pay for government, so why should they have a voice in running it? We ought to levy a special tax on cheap wine and on low rents. We ought to tax the unemployed, and if they can't pay it, put them in public workhouses to work it off.

When I was a member in good standing of The Poor I couldn't wait to get out. Now, too many people are enjoying poverty. We should see to it that poverty is once more the miserable state it should be.

big on families

Mormons believe that families are the most important institution on Earth. As God is a loving Father to His children, we should also be loving parents to our children. Mormon families are happy (divorce rates are well below the national average), healthy (death rates from all major diseases are also significantly below the national average, because Mormons don't smoke or drink), and eternal (Mormons believe that worthy families can be reunited in heaven and live together forever).

Suncoast News editorial

(Editor's Note: The following column, "To Heck With The Poor," by Charles Reese, which first appeared in the Suncoast News and has been reprinted to a considerable extent, was handed to this editor for publication. Reese's opinions are not necessarily shared by us or anybody else in particular; they are presented here as an example of how not to gain public office.)

The Poor. Don't you get sick of hearing liberals talk about "The Poor" as they were some special species of human being with inherent virtues the rest of us don't have? I do. To heck with The Poor.

I have been poor and I can tell you there is no virtue in it. Poor people are a liability. They don't invest in the country, they don't pay their fair share of the taxes, and they consume a disproportionate amount of the public benefits. They are parasites.

Some people are poor through no fault of their own, just bad luck, but some people are poor entirely because of their own fault. They deserve no sympathy whatsoever. Their poverty is a form of justice. People who are lazy, dishonest and irresponsible deserve to be poor forever. It's insane to believe, as liberals do, that the situation they themselves created and deserve confers on us an obligation to take bread out of children's mouths and give it to them, less a deduction for the bureaucrats in the poverty industry.

Every decent poor person I've known hoped fervently that his poverty was a temporary condition. He certainly didn't go around bragging about it and labeling himself "The Poor". His goal was to become part of "The Rich", instead of a permanent lobbyist for "The Poor".

I'm sick of this inverted system liberalism has imposed on us. You hear people complain, "well the poor can't go to college." The poor aren't supposed to go to college, just like the poor aren't supposed to go to the Riviera. Being poor means not having enough money to do much more than just get by, so where does some poor person get off claiming he has a right to all the things he can't pay for?

Poor people, like rich people, have their rights enumerated in the Bill of Rights. Nothing in the Bill of Rights says that those who work are obligated to support those who don't. Nothing in the Bill of Rights says that those who are lucky are obligated to support those who are unlucky.

If a poor kid wants to go to college, then he should do the same thing millions of other poor kids have done: work his way through. If he can, great; if he can't, too bad. There is nothing in the Constitution which guarantees that everyone will be able to do exactly what they would like to do. A man's goal ought to be to go as far as he can within the limits circumstances imposed on him. That's better than sitting around bawling the circumstances.

People used to be ashamed of being poor, but now some poor people are arrogant about it. To heck with them.

Cards and table games, tennis, horseshoes and volleyball will be available at all times.

Evenings will be filled with such social activities as sing alongs, dances and a cabaret where camp participants present their talents.

Each camp is limited to 100 participants, so contact your County Extension Agent for details now!

Plant materials field day

Congressman Jack Hightower of Vernon will be the principal speaker at a field day to be held at the USDA Soil Conservation Service Plant Materials Center at Knox City on August 25, 1982.

Congressman Hightower serves on the conservation, credit, and rural development subcommittee within the Committee on Appropriations. He will speak about 12:30 p.m.

Jim Donaho, district conservationist for SCS at Clarendon, said the public is being invited to the event. The center serves both Texas and Oklahoma.

Guided tours will be conducted through the 90-acre center from 9:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The center is located on FM 1292, 2 miles north and 2 and a half miles west of Knox City.

A barbecue lunch will be available on a prepaid basis at $4.50 per plate. Payment should be sent to Ms. Doris Crowner, Chamber of Commerce, Box 91, Knox City, Texas 79529 by August 20.

Seed or rootstock from native plants that show potential for solving specific soil and water conservation problems are collected, then grown and evaluated at the Knox City Center. The more promising ones are then tested under field conditions by farmers and ranchers cooperating with local soil and water conservation districts. Selections which prove superior to commercial varieties are then released to seed growers. These producers then grow seed and sell it to the public.

Several hundred strains of grasses, legumes, forbs, and woody plants are being tested at Knox City.

SCS also operates a plant materials center at Kingsville in cooperation with the Caesar Kleberg Wildlife Research Institute, Texas A&M University, and the South Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The center was established in 1981.

Knock-Out Pesticide

Farmers being solicited by telephone to buy Knock-Out pesticide are warned to be aware that the product may be grossly misrepresented, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said today. "We have received several calls from scattered locations in the state from farmers who have purchased the pesticide after telephone solicitations and have found that it does not live up to the sales pitch," Brown said.

The telephone salesmen have stated that it is as good as or superior to another well-known, commonly used herbicide (Roundup). The most recent telephone solicitation have been from Alpine Farm Products in Long Island, New York.

Knock-Out is registered for sale with the Texas Department of Agriculture with a label specifying a 1.8 percent active ingredient. "There is nothing illegal about selling this product, but its performance is being misrepresented. The pesticide being compared contains 41 percent active ingredient."

Brown urged farmers before ordering such pesticides from out-of-state firms to compare the active ingredient percentage on products formulated for the same purpose. "There is still no assurance that the contents meet label specifications on purchases resulting from such telephone solicitations."

Brown advised farmers to buy from dealers they know, "ones that they can complain to if the product does not work as it should."

If farmers have purchased pesticides from this company and still have the containers, they are requested to notify the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Disaster payments temporary relief

Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller said Monday, July 19, the proposed 1983 wheat set-aside program proposed by the Reagan Administration "is telling the cancer patient to take two aspirin to cure the disease." Moeller said that while the disaster payments to producers who have been hard hit by natural disasters will be beneficial, "it is only temporary relief. It treats the symptoms of low prices but provides no actual cure for the economic depression of the farm sector."

"For the fourth year in a row, farmers are being told they are going to lose money on their wheat crop as well as on other commodities," Moeller stated. "Instead of having a good farm program which provides incentives to producers, we are going to see another year of low commodity prices, continued high interest rates and escalating production costs. Disaster payments were definitely needed this year, but what is really needed is a legitimate farm program," the TFU President said.

The TFU and the bipartisan Farm Crisis Group in Congress are supporting a mandatory set-aside with paid diversions following approval in a nationwide referendum. This would reduce the existing large surpluses while helping to drive up prices on commodities. According to the Congressional Budget Office, such a plan would actually save the government over $900 million over the next four years.

Unless major changes are made in the farm program this year to reduce surpluses and increase the prices farmers receive for their crops, "We are going to see a record number of family farmers forced into bankruptcy or simply out of business," Moeller stated.

Block's conservation plans

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced the final conservation program this week as a result of the Soil and Water Conservation Resources Act (RCA) of 1977.

Jim Donoho, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Clarendon, said the Secretary told 13 Midwestern governors that "state and local governments must take greater initiatives in soil and water conservation especially as we struggle in Washington to hold down the growth of Federal spending."

Other features of the Secretary's blueprint for action include:

*A national conservation strategy that focuses on solving two priority needs. First priority is to combat soil erosion in high-production farm areas. Second priority is water problems, with water conservation the goal in the arid West and prevention of damage from upstream flooding in other areas.

*Targeting of an increasing share of USDA conservation funds and personnel to areas where "the need for conservation is critical in nation terms."

*Continuation of a "base program" that will keep in place the technical and financial help that USDA has been providing for local conservation programs. The base program will receive 75 percent of all USDA technical and financial assistance funds; targeted areas will use no more than 25 percent of total funds by 1987.

*Matching grants to conservation districts, through state conservation agencies. Grants are authorized by the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 and Block said they will encourage "more state and local initiative in conservation."

*Redoubling of efforts among farmers to promote conservation tillage, which saves fuel, labor and soil.

*Finally, a survey of all USDA farm programs to find any that, unintentionally, may be working against good soil and water conservation. The new plan will require borrowers in two Farmers Home Administration loan programs—farm ownership and soil and water loans—to have conservation plans.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

OUR KIDS DESERVE SUPPORT

AUSTIN — One of the unfortunate facts of family life is that it does not always last. Divorce is all too common in today's world, and Texas is no exception. Children many times are the victims of the breakup in families. Generally, one parent or the other gets custody of the children of the failed marriage, and many times raising those children is a financial burden on that parent.

It is also a fact of life that mothers are more likely to gain custody, and that women generally don't make as much money as men. This puts a double burden on these mothers, and on their children.

There is no alimony in Texas, but one parent can be made to pay child support to the parent who is raising the children. About 600,000 children in Texas are eligible for child support. Four out of ten of these children don't receive any support from their absentee parents. Only two out of ten receive the full amount to which they are entitled.

Aside from the moral and ethical grounds for requiring these parents to support their own children, there are financial reasons as well. The Texas Department of Human Resources estimates the state could save about $60 million a year if we could enforce our child support laws. The reason for this is obvious. If the parents don't support their children, the state has to do it for them.

The Senate Subcommittee on Public Health and Welfare is conducting an interim study now to try to deal with enforcement of child support decrees. In addition to having public hearings, the subcommittee would like to receive ideas from people who have experienced problems with child support in the past.

One big problem is visitation. The parent who has custody sometimes makes it hard for the other parent to see the children. Consequently, the absentee parent stops paying. Remedies for nonpayment of child support and for violation of visitation agreements are both enforced in the courts. While we feel the utmost respect in our judicial system and for our judges, there may be a better way to deal with these problems. Judicial remedies are slow and expensive. The subcommittee is looking at faster, cheaper ways to solve these disagreements between former spouses.

We want to do the right thing for these children and for the state, but we realize there are always two sides to every story. That's why we would like those of you who have experienced child support problems to write us and tell us what we should do to get this system on the right track. Write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

Heat's On

By KATIE DVORAK

Really good sauerkraut has a tart and tangy flavor, it's crisp, firm and has a bright creamy-white color. Use only high-quality products and ingredients and follow a recipe carefully. Here is a great US Dept. of Agriculture Sauerkraut recipe.

Sauerkraut
50 lbs. cabbage
1 lb. (1 1/2 C) salt, pure granulated

Remove outer leaves and any undesirable portions from firm, mature heads of cabbage; discard. Wash and drain remaining cabbage.

Cut into halves or quarters; remove the core. Use a shredder or sharp knife to cut the cabbage into thin shreds about the thickness of a dime.

In a large container, mix three TBS salt with 5 lbs. shredded cabbage.

Let the salted cabbage stand for several minutes to wilt slightly. This allows packing without excessive breaking or bruising of the shreds.

Pack salted cabbage firmly and evenly into a clean, 5-gal crock or jar.

Use a wooden spoon or tamper with your hands, press down firmly until the juice comes to the surface.

Repeat until the crock is filled to within three or four inches from top. A five-gallon crock will hold about 35 pounds of prepared, salted cabbage.

Cover the cabbage with a heavyweight, water-filled plastic bag that fits snugly against the cabbage and against the sides of the container to prevent exposure to air. Store at room temperature, 68-70 degrees, for three weeks while cabbage ferments.

To process: Heat sauerkraut to simmering (185) do not boil. Pack hot kraut in clean, hot jars and cover with hot juice to 1/2" from top of jar. Adjust lids. Process in boiling water bath 15 min. for pints, 20 min. for quarts. Complete seals.

Signs that sauerkraut has spoiled include off flavors, off odors and undesirable color and soft texture. A pink color is caused by a yeast on the surface of the kraut. The yeast grows if there is too much salt or if the salt isn't evenly distributed. Improper covering or weighting can also cause the yeast growth.

Dark-colored kraut is another spoilage problem caused by exposure to air and high temperatures during fermentation, processing and storage, along with too long storage.

Another good use for cabbage, high in Vitamin C, might be this recipe.

Sausage, Apple and Cabbage Medley

1 large onion, cut in 16 thin wedges
3 TBS oil
4-5 carrots, cut in julienne strips, (2 C)
1/2 C water,
1 medium head red cabbage, thinly sliced
1 large apple, shredded
1/2 tsp salt
1/2 tsp thyme
1/8 tsp coarsely ground pepper

1/4 C brown sugar
1 TBS cornstarch
1/4 C cider vinegar
4 fully cooked bratwurst or other sausage
4 fully cooked smoked sausage links

Cook onion in oil in large frying pan 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in carrots and water. Cook slowly 10 minutes, tightly covered.

Add cabbage, apple and seasonings, stirring lightly until cabbage is coated with cooking liquid. Continue covered 5 minutes.

Combine sugar and cornstarch with vinegar; pour over vegetables and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Place sausages on top of vegetables; cover tightly and cook slowly 15-20 minutes or until sausages are heated through.

Zucchini Fritters
1 to 2 zucchini, unpeeled

1 C cold water
1 1/2 C biscuit mix
1 egg
1 TBS grated Parmesan cheese

1 tsp garlic salt
olive oil or vegetable oil
Slice zucchini on a diagonal into long, thin ovals. Add water to biscuit mix beating with a fork. Add egg and continue beating until smooth. Add cheese and garlic salt. Heat oil in deep saucerpan, or use deep fryer. Dip zucchini into batter and fry on both sides, sprinkle a little more salt on top and serve at once.

Try this batter with other cooked vegetables, cauliflower, celery, broccoli or try using 1 pressed garlic clove or 1/2 C parsley to batter.

Winning the war against fleas

Over the last five to seven years, fleas seem to have become more and more of a problem, particularly in urban and suburban areas.

Cat fleas which infest dogs or cats and readily attack humans are the most common, says an urban entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

Flea bites are extremely annoying and generally become increasingly sore and irritated over a period of a week or more, explains Dr. John M. Owens. Fleas most often bite people about the legs and ankles.

A small red spot with a light colored center appears where the mouthparts of the adult flea enters the skin. Applying cooling preparations such as carbolated vaseline, menthol, camphor, calamine lotion or ice will help relieve itching. Severe allergic reactions or infections should be treated promptly by a physician.

Although fleas can transmit bubonic plague and murine typhus, these diseases are rare.

How do you control these irritating pests? Flea control must include treatment of the pets and thorough treatment of the entire premises indoors and outdoors. These three areas should be treated simultaneously to break the "flea cycle" and get effective control, emphasizes the entomologist.

Insecticides containing carbaryl (Sevin), dichlorvos (DDVP), pyrethrin, rotenone malathion, methoxychlor or propoxur (Baygon or Sendran) are labeled for use on animals. Dusts or powders are generally preferred over sprays for treating pets and should be used at three to four-day intervals when infestations are heavy.

Rub the dust into the animal's fur by hand. Be especially thorough around ears, nostrils. Flea collars which only contain dichlorvos. Be sure to read the label before using any of these products and consult a veterinarian if questions arise.

Spray all infested outdoor areas such as the yard, porches, gazebos and out-buildings with chlorpyrifos (Dursban), diazinon, propoxur or carbaryl. Be sure to treat areas used by pets, and let the spray dry before pets or children are allowed to use treated areas, says Owens. Repeat the spray at two-week intervals until fleas are controlled.

Inside the home, begin control measures with thorough cleaning. Vacuum all floors and upholstery and dispose of sweepings immediately to prevent flea escape and subsequent reinfestation. Also, launder all pet bedding. Apply an insecticide spray of chlorpyrifos (such as "Rid-A-Bug" or Raid "Home Insect Killer") to all floor areas, under and around upholstery cushions, and to pet bedding areas. Also spray moldings, baseboards and draperies to a height of one foot above floor level. Try to avoid further vacuuming and cleaning for 10-14 days after treatment.

While this insecticide should give three to four weeks of effective residual indoors, it will not rapidly knock down adult fleas. In conjunction with the residual spray indoors, homeowners might also use a nonresidual insecticide applied as a total-release aerosol or fogger, suggests the entomologist. Products containing pyrethrin, resmethrin (SBP-1382) and dichlorvos are available to provide quick relief from indoor fleas. Again, be sure to read and follow all label directions and precautions with these products.

One final place which may require insecticide treatment is the family car, especially if your pet is a frequent rider, adds Owens.

Closing Loopholes In Your Will

Benjamin Franklin once said that death and taxes are inevitable. While this may be true, it doesn't mean that we shouldn't prepare.

If you don't have a will, have one drawn up. If you don't have a lawyer, the referral department of the local Bar Association will give you the name of one.

If you already have a will, make sure it's up-to-date. Circumstances that may affect your will, say the people at Colonial Penn Insurance Group, are: a move to another state, a change in your financial status, or a marriage, birth, death or divorce.

A "MITEY" BITE

During the summer months in most parts of the United States, tiny parasites called redbugs or chiggers can be found in thick vegetation such as weeds, shrubs, and thickets. Harvest mites, as they are properly called, may be bright red in color and no larger than one millimeter in the adult stage.

Harvest mites find and attach themselves to the ankles or legs of adults and children. They then crawl to areas of the body where clothing seems to fit the tightest (such as the top of the socks or at the waist line under the belt). After they bite into the skin, an enzyme is released and is thereby injected into the body. This enzyme helps produce the red, itchy bump that is a characteristic of the animal's presence in the skin.

A quick bath following attachment of mites may remove many of them from the skin. The best protection, however, is protection before entering areas that one suspects as being infested. Several of the commercial repellants are effective in preventing attachment of the mites. They may be applied to the skin as well as sprayed on the clothing...especially the socks, shoes, and cuffs of pants. To relieve itching once bites occur, there are available a number of products that contain a variety of "anti-itch" ingredients.

Prevent Hypertension

Are you on speaking terms with your blood pressure? If you are overweight, use a lot of salt or tend to be "up tight," you could be headed for a close encounter of the worst kind.

High blood pressure, or hypertension, is a major killer in the United States. And more than 90% of hypertension cases are caused by one or more factors which only you can control. To help prevent hypertension, say the folks at Colonial Penn Insurance Group:

- Stay away from salt.
- Stay slim and keep moving.

TV and Your Child Tips From TSTA

The Texas State Teachers Association wants to be your "partner" in helping you to improve your child's learning skills. National studies show that too much television has an overwhelming effect on children's reading abilities and ultimately, test scores. Television also influences children's development of social interaction and creativity.

If your child watches too much TV, we urge you to use the summer months ahead to read-just his/her viewing habits so they will not be an influence on studies during the school year.

This is the beginning of a four part series on "Television and Your Child."

Is TV Harmful to Children?
Examine these facts. The average child sees 11,000 television murders by age 14. Violent behavior on TV may cause aggression in children and horror movies can be damaging. Children "ape" what they see or hear. They don't know real vs. unreal, violent vs. non-violent, or bad vs. good behavior. They become confused and some have been hospitalized after trying to imitate TV characters.

Children eat too much junk food while watching television and don't get enough exercise.

Television takes time from other activities that are very important to a child's development, such as homework, physical activity, creative expression, and learning individual skills.

All of these activities are critically important to your child's total development. Because you care, you will want to discourage too much television.

Your caring makes a teacher's caring mean so much more. Caring is more than a matter of love and dedication. Your children's teachers have plenty of both. But a teacher's caring alone is not enough. Your children should know you care, too.

Daze of Our Lives

by Jean Burchett
I seem to be losing control. I'm not sure whether it's me or the people I run into. This morning I stopped by the store on my way to work to buy some Twinkies. Two women waited in line ahead of me. "I heard they are having poor Joe Blight's funeral at two this afternoon," one said. The other slapped her hand against her breast and gasped, "Oh, did he DIE!"
"Shot," the other nodded firmly.
"Wee-ith a GUN?"
A loaded toothbrush. I thought, as I dug in my purse for my billfold.

I went on to work and about mid-morning remembered I had meant to tell Hubby to run by the store. I called him and when he answered I said, "Honey, I want you to go to the store and buy some..." and whatever it was left me. "Well," I said, "I forgot..."
He waited a second or two and said, "Forgot what?"
After work I went for a short visit with my neighbor, Peg. "I'm worried about me and everyone else. I think we're all losing our marbles."

She picked up a Neiman's catalog. "You're worried. I've never gotten a catalog from Neiman's before. But in the recesses of my mind it seems I ordered something from them during the summer, but I can't remember what it was or whether I paid for it or not."
That brought her husband out of his chair. "How much did it cost?" he wanted to know.
Later, Tracey called and told me granddaughter, Andi, wanted to ask me something. "As long as it's an easy question," I warned. "I'm not too sharp today."
Andi came on the line. "Mam, if hearts make valentines why do they have rabbits at Easter? Can rabbits lay eggs?"
See, these things are out to get me. Naturally, I couldn't answer that, but I got to thinking about it. They dye chickens, they dye eggs, but at Easter they major on rabbits! "I'll have to think about it," I told her. "Call me next week."
The whole night went like that. Hubby stuck his head in the refrigerator and said, "Am I hungry or not?"
"Not," I said. "You ate enough at supper for four people."
He said, "Now how would you know if I'm hungry!"
I was going to settle down to watch TV, but I couldn't find my glasses. "What are you looking for?" Hubby asked as I searched all over the house. "I've lost my glasses," I felt over the top of the mantle.
His reply was typical of the day: "Well, WHERE did you lose them?"

Preventive Maintenance Cuts Home Cooling Costs

With even minor repairs of air cooling systems taking a big bite out of beleaguered budgets, smart homeowners are practicing preventative maintenance which will rack up real dollar savings every summer.

If you have a service contract with a local heating and air conditioning dealer, now is the time to schedule that check-up of your central cooling system.

Your dealer will clean the unit's condenser, wash or replace the air filter if dirty, check the wear on belts and fans, and oil the motor. Tackling these critical maintenance steps, while fairly simple for a professional, would be unwise and possibly costly for an inexperienced homeowner.

It's far less expensive to pay for the annual service check-up now than to wait for something major to go wrong later in the season.

If you don't already have a maintenance contract, check the Yellow Pages for a heating and air conditioning dealer in your area. He'll be glad to give you the details of his service contract over the phone.

While you're lowering the temperature of your home, you also can be cooling off the energy costs on your monthly utility bills.

One smart way to save money while cooling is to install a Coolpak Precooler™ on your central air conditioner. It will increase the cooling efficiency of the system, while lowering your operating costs by as much as 20 percent.

Attached easily to the condenser cabinet, it reduces the temperature of the outside air by passing it over a unique water panel. As the water evaporates, the air is cooled on its way to the condensing coil. Your air conditioner won't have to work as hard to cool your home because head pressure is lowered. This reduces compressor failures.

Ask your heating and air conditioning dealer about the Coolpak Precooler. There are sizes to fit nearly every condenser model, including those for commercial refrigeration and air conditioning systems.

Maintaining your cooling equipment properly, coupled with simple conservation measures, will help guarantee that monthly utility bills won't send your own temperature skyrocketing this summer.

Keep your air conditioner fan set on high except in humid weather when a lower fan speed will help remove moisture from the air.

Setting your air conditioning temperature lower won't cool your home any faster. But each degree you lower it from the recommended 78 degrees will add between 3-5 percent to operating costs.

Stay cool all summer long with more efficient use of your air conditioning equipment and lower energy costs.

CRIME STOPPERS

There is a wholesale business in Texas these days, where items of your choice can be purchased at tremendous discounts. Fencing of stolen property is on the rise in Texas.

The professional fence is the most vital and least prosecuted link in a chain of transactions through which property passes from the time it is stolen until finally sold. A fence provides an immediate market for stolen items and in doing so, disposes of evidence which incriminates the thief.

Since public attention usually centers on the actual crime of stealing, the fence's part in the support and maintenance of thievery is underestimated and relatively unnoticed.

Operation I. D. is one effective way to fight fencing operations in Texas. Less than 10% of all property recovered in "sting operations" bears owner identification. Marked goods provide risk and difficulty in reselling so criminals try to avoid households that have taken the time and care to identify their valuables.

For the month of August, the Crime Stoppers Advisory Council is focusing the statewide "Crime of the Month" on fencing. Any citizen having information regarding the fencing of stolen property is urged to call the Crime Stoppers hotline at 1-800-252-TIPS. Cash rewards are available for information leading to the arrest and indictment of these criminals.

Your local Police Department will be happy to supply you with equipment needed to identify your belongings. This step toward crime prevention could be the deciding factor for a thief. Call 1-800-252-TIPS and help stop this lucrative business in Texas.

The long-range outlook for a child stricken with cancer has changed dramatically in the past two decades, according to a recent broadcast sponsored by the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center and The Prudential Insurance Company.

Dr. Giulio D'Angio, director of the Children's Cancer Research Center at Children's Hospital in Philadelphia, said, "There is now more than a vague hope of control. To achieve this result, however, parents must immediately consult with a center dedicated to the management of malignant disease in children."

The tremendous advancements in cancer treatment are largely responsible for the much-improved survival of childhood cancer patients. "We have a multitude of new approaches that can reverse a seemingly discouraging situation," said Dr. D'Angio. These approaches, though not foolproof, do provide parents with a reasonably optimistic outlook.

Dr. D'Angio points out that doctors now have the opportunity to consider the future of the childhood cancer patient. "It's only a partial success for the cured child to become a chronically ill adult because of treatment he or she received for cancer," said Dr. D'Angio. "We are now focusing more not only on the cure, but also the quality of life which they will lead."

Can Way break in

On July 28th, the Can Way in Hedley was broken into by person or persons unknown. The break in was investigated at 6:50 a.m. the following morning by the Donley County Sheriff's Department. The back door had been pried open and the floor safe had been attacked.
 Thanks to a sturdy safe, the dial was knocked off but the suspects were unable to gain entry. Nothing seemed to have been taken and no vandalism was done.
 Investigation is still being conducted to determine the identity of the person or persons responsible for this illegal entry offense.

Mobile/Manufactured Homes Capture 36% Of 1981 Single-Family Home Market!
 By Lisa Drake
 Consumer Affairs Advisor
 Manufactured Housing Institute
 According to recently released U.S. Department of Commerce figures, 666,000 new single family homes were sold during 1981. Of these, 240,000, or fully 36%, were mobile/manufactured homes — built inside factories, then transported to the home sites.
 The average price of a new mobile/manufactured home was $19,400, according to the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI), based in Washington, DC. By contrast, the average "site-built" house sold last year for more than $86,000, according to Commerce Department statistics.
 MHI President Walter L. Benning sees mobile/manufactured homes capturing an even greater share of the new home market this year.
 "We expect sales of about 265,000 mobile/manufactured homes in 1982," he said.
 "At current site-built house prices, less than four percent of potential home buyers can even qualify for the loan to purchase a new home. Mobile/manufactured homes offer an attractive, quality built, and — most important — an affordable alternative for the hundreds of thousands of American families that have been effectively locked out of the housing market!"

Olympic Records

The record for winning the most Olympic medals was set by swimmer Mark Spitz of the United States. He won a total of 11: nine gold, one silver and one bronze.
 A record for enthusiastic Olympic memorabilia collecting is probably being set by sports historian Jim Jacobs. He's looking for old Olympic programs, home movies shot at the Olympic Games, medals, cups, plaques, posters and other Olympic memorabilia. If you have any such items and would be willing to trade or sell them, you can write Jim Jacobs at Nine East 40th Street, New York, NY 10016, or call (212) 532-1717.
