LEADER CHRISTMAS EDITION NEXT WEEK

The annual Donley County Leader Christmas Edition will be published next week. It is at this time that the hundreds of Santa Letters and greetings from local business firms will be published.

Due to our press moving melee, we are running behind schedule and this means more long and late hours. All news and advertising copy for next week is being requested just as early as possible and certainly will be appreciated. We are still printing on the old press across the street and anticipate getting the other roll-fed press tuned up and in operation sometime the first part of January.

BOBWHITE QUAIL ON UPSWING NOW

Bobwhite quail counts throughout the Panhandle and the Lower Plains are higher than last year except in the vicinity of Childress where rainfall has not occurred regularly, according to Chief Weldon Fromm of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Fromm reported exceptionally good hunting in the Panhandle during 1966 and said "the 1967 quail crop will be even better."

High quail numbers are attributed to timely rainfall throughout the summer nesting season which kept vegetation lush and food abundant for nesting bobwhites.

Washington Report

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1225 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 205-3776

Substantial cuts and important amendments were made to the Economic Opportunity Act during several days of debate on the poverty program.

A Republican amendment cut $460 million out of the Administration request for $2,060,000,000. The $1.6 billion House bill is $360 million less than the amount voted by the Senate. The bill will now go before a House-Senate Conference Committee which will attempt to resolve the differences. Such conferences usually compromise about half way on such bills.

But this is only an authorization bill and even though the House conferees concede some of the cuts in the bill, the actual appropriation is still to come. And I believe House Republicans and conservative Democrats will stand firm for $1.6 billion or less.

I am certainly not opposed to the concept of a war on poverty, but I am opposed to the reckless waste and inefficiency of the program as it has been administered.

I agree that we need an effective program to help the poor. But the OEA's "war on poverty" has failed in too many instances to meet the real needs of the unemployed and underemployed for decent jobs.

In too many places the program has been bogged down in partisan politics, and much of the money has gone for grossly inflated administrative expenses and high salaries.

At least some of this will be eliminated by Republican amendments. One will restrict the number of super-grade employees—those in the $20,000 and above bracket. Another will prohibit the hiring of "consultants" at $100 a day. Other amendments, which I supported, prohibit the use of OEO funds to defend persons involved in civil disturbances and riots, exclude known Communists from administrative positions, limit OEO participation in non-partisan elections, ban picketing or participation in or inciting of any civil disturbance or riot by OEO employees, and prohibit employment of anyone who has been convicted of any such offense.

Republican attempts to substitute an "opportunity crusade" under which the community programs (CAP) would be continued were defeated. "The opportunity crusade" would have been directed toward helping the poor obtain decent jobs by established training programs through existing public and private agencies, by encouraging employers and unions to participate in training programs by making health and vocational rehabilitation services available and by assistance in other ways. Through the enlistment and cooperation of private enterprise, more money and money that didn't come out of the taxpayer's pocket would have been used in the program. The HEW vocational education program and out-of-school work activities in the national manpower program of the Department of Labor would have been strengthened and duplication eliminated.

A start, at least, was made to change the war on poverty into a program under which the poor will have priority over politics and a return to some semblance of sanity and efficiency in this incredibly inept and mismanaged effort.

BETTER BOOKS— BETTER CHILDREN

When children grow up with books, books become their friends, and important to them.

Parents can't begin too early to think about books for their children. A one-year-old child delights in recognizing familiar things in books.

This week, National Children's Book Week presents a good time to begin, suggests Jennie Kitching, Extension family life education specialist at Texas A&M.

Selection of books for preschoolers depends on their age. For example, two and three year olds need clear, simple pictures and stories geared to his interests and to activities he knows and enjoys.

At this age, he begins to gain a liking for literature Miss Kitching says, and stories should have good plots and reasonable characters.

Four and five year olds are becoming increasingly imaginative and curious about the world around them. Their attention span lengthens from about 15 minutes and their vocabulary is increasing.

Thus the book can be longer and the story more complicated with special interest in adventure, animal and nature stories; stories about activities like his own and those of people he knows; and books about the way things work, Miss Kitching says.

For all preschoolers, books should be of good paper and strong binding. Colors should be clear, intense and pleasing.

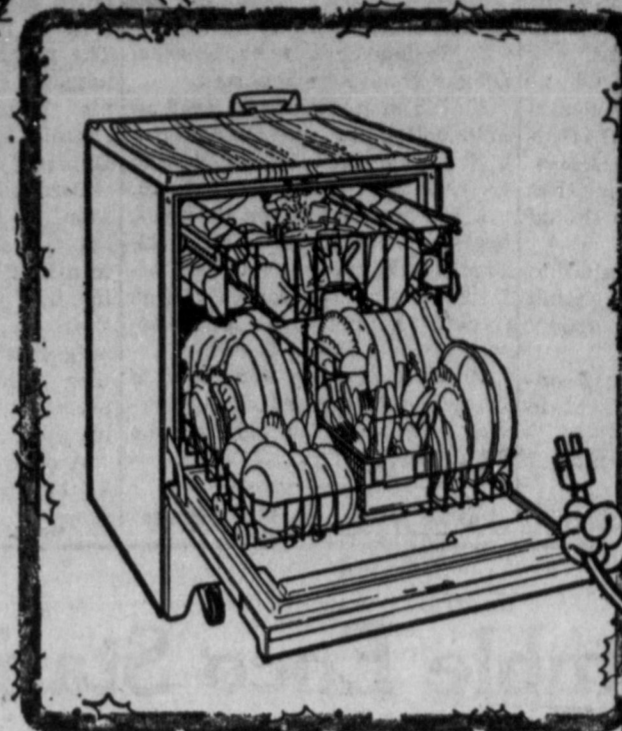

Books influence a school-age youngster and are important to him. From kindergarten to adolescence a child's taste and interests mature and become more defined.

Books for school youngsters, says Miss Kitching, should meet this criteria adapted from the Child Association of America: sincerity, authenticity, credibility, emotional impact, good and effective writing style, reader interest and age suitability.

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of 10 short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

The draft law requires every man registered with a local draft board to report any change in personal status to his board.

"Young men have asked us just what changes they should report," Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state draft director, says. "Generally, anything which has a bearing on classification should be reported."

The state director pointed to the following things which should be regarded as change of personal status:

1. Current change of mail address should always be sent to the board.
2. Marriage should be reported at once.
3. Pregnancy, births, dependency, and additions to the man's family must be reported.

4. Any and all deaths in a man's family should be reported.

5. If a man and wife are divorced or they no longer live together, this must be reported.

6. Permanent change of job should be reported.

7. Serious injury or physical defects should be reported.

8. If a man becomes a student in a college or university, or a high school graduate intends to go, this fact should be reported.

9. If a man enters the Reserves, National Guard, or ROTC, he should ask his commanding officer or other officer in charge to notify his board. He should assure himself that it is done.

10. If a man has attempted to volunteer for armed forces service and has been rejected, he should advise his local board.

Leader Classifieds Get Results

IT TAKES 70 YEARS PER FOOT

Leading foot doctors and members of the National Foot Health Council says it takes twenty years to grow a foot. Most babies are born with perfect feet, but by the time they reach their first birthday 8 percent of them have foot defects. The percentage rises as children advance in age, says Miss Fannie Brown Eaton, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University.

Permitting children to walk too soon, or develop poor walking habits starts them on their way to a lifetime of foot trouble. Buying the wrong size and kind of shoes or letting a child wear outgrown or ill-fitting shoes further increases the possibility of permanently injuring a developing foot.

A child first needs shoes when he begins to stand. High laced shoes are best, because they provide ample toe room and have flat pliable soles made of leathers. The material from which children's shoes are made should be porous enough to allow perspiration to evaporate, and flexible enough to allow the foot to bend easily.

Summer shoes or play shoes should provide the same support as shoes worn to school or for dress wear. Sneakers and canvas shoes, which do not give as much support as other shoes, can be worn for short periods of time.

As every parent knows, young feet grow rapidly. The National Foot Health Council recommends that new shoes should be provided for youngsters often.

To insure a correct fit, have both feet measured for length and width, with each foot bearing weight, each time a pair of shoes is purchased. Straighten the child's toes and socks. The correct size should fit the larger foot. Allow 1/2 to 3/4 inch between end of the toe and end of the shoe.

The widest part of the foot should fit into the widest part of the shoes. The arch of the shoe should fit well under the arch of the foot. The heel counter should hug the heel. It should not slip up and down when the child walks.

The toe boxing should be high enough to clear the toes, and the shoe should be rounded. Take your time selecting your child's shoe. Consider fit before style and appearance. A good fitting shoe does not have to be "broken in."

The nuclear powered aircraft carrier Enterprise, from keel to masthead, is as tall as a 23 story building. It is powered by eight nuclear reactors and propelled by four screws, each as tall as a two story building.

SIDEBAR TO TOY STORY— FASHION DOLLS

Before you buy your pre-school youngster a fashion doll—wait! Think why the child needs dolls—to love and hug. But can they baby a fashion doll which seems much older than themselves?

As little girls cuddle baby dolls, they learn how to be a girl, they identify with their mother.

Children like to pretend. This develops their imagination and creativity, says Miss Jennie Kitching, Extension family life education specialist at Texas A&M University.

They pretend dolls are their babies. They love them, spank them, restrict them, bathe them, and talk to them.

But a fashion doll is too grown up to be a baby. Her features are too small for clumsy pre-school fingers to dress.

"With baby dolls, girls can play at being active, nurturing mothers and housewives," said Dr. Alan Levertown, director of Pediatrics Health Unit, University of California Medical Center, San Franciaco. "With fashion dolls girls learn to expect to be valued by an ever increasing wardrobe and their ability to manipulate their fathers and later husbands into buying clothes and more clothes," he said. So consider these points about fashion dolls, advises Miss Kitching: can they be mothered, are they easily managed by small hands, do they encourage pretending (and can you afford their ideas?)

HUNTER CASUALTIES ON INCREASE NATIONALLY

A four-year summary of the National Rifle Association's Uniform Hunter Casualty Reports from 46 states and seven Canadian provinces shows a steady increase in the number of outdoor accidents involving firearms.

The report attributes the rise in hunting accidents to the increasing number of hunters.

During the 1965 survey period 825 reported casualties were by rifles and 1,347 by shotguns. The three major causes of injuries were reported as "victim out of sight of shooter, victim covered by shooter swinging on game, and shooter stumbled and fell," in that order.

According to the four-year study, 1,729 of the victims were reported hunting rabbits, 1,450 were hunting deer, and 957 were hunting pheasants.

According to the data the time of day 2 p.m. through 4 p.m. would be the most dangerous hours in the field.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department advises all hunters to have fun but to observe the gun safety rules.

SCREWWORM ALERT

The number of screwworm cases in Texas continue to increase and stockmen are urged to check their livestock for wounds and submit samples of any worms found to the Mission Laboratory for identification. The rains and floods brought on by Hurricane Beulah have been a contributing factor in the increase.

Swinging Son of Sunny California Is National March of Dimes Child

Timothy Faas, a 4-year-old California swinger who likes his music loud and fast, has been chosen as the 1968 National March of Dimes Child for the 30th Anniversary campaign.

Despite a leg-paralyzing birth defect, Timmy thrives on the up-tempo of California living. A problem he still must solve is finding the hours for all he wants to do. There are games to be played outdoors and books to be colored inside, visits to Sunday School and Disneyland, Beale records for dancing and favorite television programs to watch.

But Timmy's mental go-power is sometimes slowed down by his physical handicaps. His active routine must stop every day for physical therapy at home as well as regular visits to a March of Dimes Birth Defects Treatment Center in Los Angeles.

Timmy, who has been an outpatient at Orthopaedic Hospital since infancy, represents the quarter of a million children born every year in this country with a birth defect. The March of Dimes supports nearly 100 research and treatment centers in its campaign to overcome the tragedies of birth defects.

The handsome, outgoing little boy has never known a world without doctors, hospital waiting rooms and heavy leg braces. Timmy was born with club-foot and open spine, a spinal disorder which caused paralysis of his legs. Hydrocephalus, "water on the brain," developed later but was arrested spontaneously.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Faas of Whittier, began bringing Timmy to the March of Dimes Center at Orthopaedic Hospital when he was five months old. They were living in Miami, Fla., when he was born, but returned to southern California to be near their families.

Timmy already had undergone successful surgery to repair his open spine, but doctors in Florida doubted that he would ever walk and gave him a 50 per cent chance of leading a normal life.

Through the efforts of his medical team, Timmy walks well today with the help of full leg braces, wooden crutches and a body corset with a back brace extension. At night he must wear a spread-a-bar on his feet, although casts have helped the clubfoot condition.

None of this seriously impedes Timmy's pursuit of the good things of life, as seen through the eyes of a small boy. Even though he must move slowly across a playground, he has never been allowed to think of himself as "different." Nor do his parents treat him any differently from his brother, Mikey, a normal 6-year-old in the first grade.

Timmy enjoys announcing that he wants to be "Tarzan" when he grows up. By way of emphasis, he pounds his chest and gives the ape-man yell. He also likes to swing into the "Jerk" with his aunt, Vicki, and the two of them have worked out a special arrangement. His musical loyalties are divided between the Monkees and the Beatles.

In quieter moments, he likes to color, be read to, or play with his black poodle, Touche. Timmy and his brother were baptized in the Mormon Church and he attends primary class at the Fifth Ward on Santa Fe Road in Whittier.

His favorite foods include hot dogs, chocolate milk, tacos and anything sweet.

Young Timmy will bring experience to his role as Poster Child for the coming year. In 1967 he was named Poster Boy for Los Angeles County and learned to shake famous hands with ease.

When the March of Dimes campaign opens in January, Timmy hopes to visit the White House and meet President Lyndon B. Johnson as part of a month-long tour of cities around the country.

The tour will emphasize the continuous work carried on by the March of Dimes to rid society of birth defects—the Great Destroyer. The voluntary health organization has devoted its resources and energy to this fight since the polio vaccine halted the menace of infantile paralysis. Its national program provides for medical care, research and education to combat the hundreds of kinds of birth defects.

Most highly developed rural highway system in the United States is completely paved, 38,000-mile Texas farm to market road network.

There were 134,098,114 pounds of commercial marine products valued at $52,613,036 taken off the Gulf Coast in the fiscal year of 1966-1967. This total includes fish, shrimp, crabs, oysters, and squid.

HINTS ON SUPPLEMENTAL FEEDING FOR BEEF CATTLE

Supplemental feeding of range beef cattle is an important consideration of most Texas producers.

Liquid supplemental feeding is receiving more and more attention, says U. D. Thompson, Extension animal husbandman at Texas A&M University, and research has proven that it is feasible. Water soluble nutrients are available and special formulations, even for individual cattle-men, can be prepared, says Thompson.

Molasses is the basic material used and is the readily available energy source required when feeding non-protein nitrogen (urea) materials. Mineral phosphorus is known to be deficient in dry roughage and mature pasture forage and this may be added in the water soluble form, adds the specialist. Vitamin A, sometimes a problem, can also be added in the liquid mix.

The combination of molasses and urea automatically limits consumption to approximately two to four pounds per head per day to mature cattle, depending on quality and quantity of forage. This self-limiting amount, preferred by producers, also will help cut feed costs and permit all cattle in the same pasture a more equitable share of the feed.

Piano Lessons

Classes For Beginning Piano Students Will Start January 4, 1968.

5 Year Olds Accepted Monthly Rate Reasonable

Mrs. Carl Nunn Call 874-3565

explains Thompson.

The animal husbandman advises that equipment costs and services should be considered in the appraisal of this feeding method. These can be relatively inexpensive or very expensive, he says. This factor alone may sometimes cause liquid protein supplements to be more expensive than oil seed protein feed.

Thompson believes liquid supplemental feeding has a place in the present and future cattle industry. It is expected to gain a more prominent place when the ingredient prices become more competitive with presently used feed supplements.

Give The Leader For Christmas

CHILDREN'S TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS

Dad sits on the floor altering tracks and thumbing switches, maneuvering the electric train around the living room floor. And Junior sits watching Dad.

Recognize the scene? It is too often a common one.

Parents tend to buy Christmas presents for themselves rather than for their child. They buy what they want, for status or to impress others, says Lucille Moore, Extension recreation specialist at Texas A & M University. The child is being cheated when the toy is for the parent.

Toy gifts should fit a child's need, and a child is not nearly as hard to please as adults believe, Miss Moore says.

The activity instigated by the toy should meet the needs of each age group. The recreation specialist recommends:

- Pre-schoolers—activity for developing large muscles, using the hands and imaginative play.

- Young elementary — developing large muscles, social development such as stories, dramatic plays, parties and trips and coordinating fine muscles such as arts and crafts.

- Older elementary — gang development such as team sports, acquiring skills through hobbies, painting, music, swimming and individual and social development.

This fills a primary prerequisite for a child's gift—the need.

The toy should give the child a feeling of adequacy, suggests Jennie Kitching, Extension family life specialist. Give him something he can do and something which sets the appropriate standard for physical and mental development.

For example, many mechanical toys may be too intricate for children under four years old.

A toy should be complicated enough to intrigue and interest, yet not too complicated to bore or discourage.

Give toys which are not too restrictive, advises Miss Kitching, and toys with several uses. This encourages the child to use his imagination and to be creative.

The two specialists recommend building blocks, clay, paints, books and puzzles. Big crayons are easier for the youngster to manipulate. They prefer opaque paint because it is more colorful than water colors.

Above all, recognize individual differences, says Miss Kitching, and develop them in a child with hobbies, musical toys, toys for dramatic play such as puppets, doll, dress-up clothes, house-keeping kits and other equipment. This dramatic play is important to the child, says, Miss Kitching, because from it, they learn roles. They identify with their parents, the policeman on the corner, with the shop keeper.

It is especially good for boys, who need to identify with men and men's occupations, according to the specialist. Boys don't know what Daddy does today. He leaves the house and goes to an office unlike past years when the son followed his father and was familiar with what Dad did.

Most important, the toy should be safe. The National Safety Council recommends that parents consider the following safety factors:

1. Good construction with no items which can be pulled off and swallowed, broken off, leaving sharp edges to cut.
2. Non-toxic paint and strings of a non-conducting material such as cotton. However, any string will carry electricity when wet.
3. Securely fastened handles on hammers and mallets and wheels on wooden toys, fastened preferably with screws.
4. Keys of toys which do not revolve when the toy is working.

If ever in question about a youngster's toy, buy him a book, says Miss Kitching.

High School Teams Split Quail Games Here

Coach Carl Irlbeck reported basketball games with Quail were split in play here Tuesday night.

The boys held a lead throughout their game with a first quarter score of 9-4. At halftime the lead was stretched 23-16 and by the third period 35-33.

The girls trailed in the first quarter 12-17 and were unable to rally throughout the game. By halftime the score stood at 18-26 and in the third quarter 24-38.

Both the boys and girls played in the Canyon Tournament over the week end, and both teams seemed to be experiencing an off streak.

The Clarendon girls played Canyon for their first game. In the first quarter the score stood at 8-18 and by halftime 14-30. In the third quarter the margin was even greater 16-42 and the final score stood at 20-50.

The Clarendon boys won their first game but lost the last two. Canyon was their first opponent. The Canyon group couldn't get started and in the first quarter Clarendon led 16-2, by halftime 28-16, and in the third quarter 38-26.

The Clarendon girls played Canyon for their first game. In the first quarter the score stood at 10-11, 21-30, and 32-46. Charles Louis was high for Clarendon with 24 and Rickey Culp 21 for Happy. The locals led McAdoo in their final game until after the halftime period.

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL TEAMS PLAY HEDLEY

The Clarendon College Bulldogs travelled to Lamar, Colorado for their fourth encounter with the tremendous Antelopes and returned home, disappointed in their fourth loss, 73-62.

The Bulldogs played well, shooting thirty-three per cent from the floor. Tom Byrd did a fine job in handling Maberry, holding Lamar's big gun to only 9 points while Tom himself shot 10.

The Bulldogs should be well primed for their first conference game with Howard County in Bulldog Fieldhouse at 9:00 Friday night.

B

By Vern Sanford

Texas needs to buy another quarter of a million acres of land for its wildlife program before prices get out of reach.

This word comes from the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Today the State of Texas already owns 146,000 acres of land, scattered around its various ecological areas. It is estimated that the 233,000 acres needed under the proposed program would cost approximately $23,000,000, to be paid for with $7,000,000 in funds now on hand and the remainder from unappropriated Federal funds, which must be used within a two-year period.

Federal funds are a part of the excise tax on hunting and fishing equipment, which reverts to Texas and other states each year.

This proposed purchase is for wildlife only. It does not include the more than 100,000 acres needed for park and recreation development within the state.

Funds for the wildlife purchase come from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

Park funds come from the general revenue, use fees and concessions.

Space problem is growing. A half-century ago, with only 4,000,000 population, wildlife had been greatly reduced in the state because of over-kills, illegal slaughter and lack of game management.

Today Texas has nearly 12,000,000 population — but more deer and turkey than any other state. Deer are so plentiful in many areas, the bag limit is three. This liberal bag has been set to improve the ration and keep the deer herds in balance.

This year deer and turkey face serious depredation problems. There is a severe food problem. Today, most of the ranchers who charge a fee for hunting must feed the wildlife on their property.

Wildlife range has been continuously reduced. Texas reservoirs of more than 2,000 acres each have taken 680,000 acres of land that might otherwise have been wildlife habitat. Of course these lakes provide fishing and other recreational features. It is estimated that the new lakes now under construction and planned before 1990 will cover another 1,000,000 acres of land.

In addition, more than 5,000,000 acres of brush land on the Rio Grande plains of South Texas have been lost by heavy brush control aimed at increasing livestock production.

Many thousands of acres of land in the South Plains and Texas Panhandle now are cotton or grain farms, with no cover at all for wildlife.

P & W department says that game management research studies on private lands are not possible. Suitable studies of big game require several years of uninterrupted work. During that time, privately owned land can change ownership, or even its stock management practices may be changed because of weather or market conditions.

Land now owned by the state, not only has been turned into an outdoors laboratory, it also has provided free hunting for control of surplus. There are several such areas.

In the Hill Country, for example, is the Kerr area. Here a management program has been in progress for something like 10 years. Here, as in many other areas of the state, one can see wildlife management first hand. It would be well for every hunter to visit the refuge in his area. He would give better support to wildlife management.

There is no doubt about it, the old Game and Fish Commission instituted a program that will last for years. But it must be augmented for the ever increasing population and growing number of hunters and fishermen.

Perhaps the plan now at hand will do just that.

Good Ideas are seldom "Worth a hoot" — Unless we get behind them "Lickety scoot."

Why should the skeptic doubt that a Great God who made everything out of nothing, can in this day make anything out of everything.

Tranquilizers don't really relax us, they just make us enjoy our tensions.

The theme song of the modern politician along with many of the rest of us could well be "How Great I Am."

Mrs. Beck of Clarendon, one of our readers through the years reminds us of this great truth: "A dwarf standing atop a giant can see farther than the giant"

This also brings out a spiritual meaning; when we as human beings, dwarfs by comparison place our trust, our hopes, and our future in our Great Creator then we can know and see things which no other human could see standing alone.

There is nothing wrong with not having anything to say unless we forget and say it out loud.

One good thing about buying the twist records of this modern day is that when they are worn out no one will know the difference.

Some folks pay their debts when they are due, some when they are over-due, others never do.

Man is the only animal that spends most of its life trying to understand it.

55 Persons May Die In Holiday Traffic Mishaps

Col. Homer Garrison Jr. director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that DPS Statistical Services has estimated 55 persons may die in traffic mishaps over the Christmas week end.

Garrison said that the combined efforts of state and local police agencies and private traffic safety support organizations will be directed toward keeping the traffic toll below the estimate.

"Operation Deathwatch will be in effect from 6 p.m. Friday, December 22 through 11:59 p.m. Monday, December 25," said Garrison. "During this period we will make every effort to inform each motorist of the need for attention of safe driving. For the first time in many years the uniformed services of the Department are at almost full strength, and every highway patrolman will be on duty as much as possible. In addition, we have about 250 men from other uniformed services of the DPS who will supplement the highway patrol force doing patrol duty.

Traffic deaths will be tabulated and the totals announced three times daily to the news media from DPS headquarters in Austin.

It has also been estimated that 45 persons will be killed in traffic accidents over the New Year's week end. The "Deathwatch" will resume at 6 p.m. Friday, December 29 and continue through 11:59 p.m. Monday, January 1, 1968.

Last year 50 persons lost their lives in traffic over the Christmas week end, and 39 were killed over the New Year's week end.

Cooperating with the DPS in its efforts to hold down traffic mishaps are the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Highway Department, the Texas Motor Transportation Association, the Texas Railroad Association and the Texas Association of Broadcasters.

"Traffic deaths are terrible tragedies at any time of the year," Garrison said, "and they are even more terrible by the fact that they don't have to happen— at Christmas or any other time. We can each do a great deal toward cutting down on the number of mishaps by using a little common sense in our driving and showing a little courtesy.

"We issue each driver a challenge at this special time of year. This Christmas let's all go out of our way to show a little consideration for our fellow man, both on and off the road. We can prove in a short while that traffic tragedies can be avoided."

STUDY SHOWS LIVESTOCK, MEAT INDUSTRY CHANGES

Definite changes in the livestock and meat industry have resulted in growth of cattle feedlot facilities and specialized slaughtering plants in the Southwest, according to a research report just completed at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Raymond A. Deitrich, USDA economist assigned to the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, said the report traces adjustments which have affected the live marketing systems of the livestock and meat business.

Development in food retailing, meat packaging, transportation, communications and cattle feeding have influenced the livestock and meat marketing picture during the past two decades, the report shows.

Large volume retail establishments, which generally feature fed beef, and a growing population with rising per capita incomes are important factors that have encouraged the surge of highly specialized, large-scale feedlots.

Deitrich said feedlots with a capacity to handle 1,000 or more cattle have more than tripled in Texas and Oklahoma from 1955-66. And indications are for cattle feeding to continue increasing in these states.

"Another interesting change is that the slaughtering industry is becoming more decentralized with more specialization and a movement toward areas of concentrated livestock production," the economist pointed out. "These actions are taken to cut procurement costs and to obtain adequate supplies of slaughtered animals."

Federally inspected slaughter plants which specialize in cattle and calf slaughtering more than doubled in Texas and Oklahoma in the past 70 years, Deitrich added.

Dr. Tyrus R. Timm, head of the A&M Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, said the study is part of an expanding market research program being conducted at the university with the USDA.

"This research, like that with other major food items, is aimed at staying abreast of marketing changes so that the overall efficiency of the market system can continue to improve in all segments of our economy," Timm said.

CYCLISTS TO WEAR APPROVED HEADGEAR

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reminded motorcyclists that the requirement of wearing safety approved headgear becomes effective January 1, 1968.

"Standards have been established," Garrison said, "and many manufacturers have submitted their product for testing. Those which meet the standards have been approved and lists of approved headgear may now be seen at any DPS office, police departments, sheriff's offices and at stores retailing headgear."

Garrison added the reminder that both the operator of a motorcycle and any passenger must wear the approved protective headgear.

Approved headgear can be identified by the manufacturer's identification mark on the back of the helmet. Each helmet will also have a minimum of four inches of reflective material on each side.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

TERRACES

George W. Williams has rebuilt 50,211 linear feet of terraces, and T. E. Naylor, L. D. Moore, and R. L. "Bob" Ayers are planning to install Parallel Terraces in the near future.

Most of the terrace work is done in the winter months. Now is the time to start planning and making arrangements to get the work done.

The type of terrace system needed will depend on your soil type and how steep your land is. Level closed end terraces are usually suitable for soils that are moderately sandy and those that are on fairly flat to gently rolling slopes. For those that want to irrigate and farm with big machinery, parallel terraces may be the answer to saving your soil, increasing production and making the job of farming easier. Parallel terraces can be laid off to fit four and six row equipment. Construction cost is greater but there will be four hundred fewer point rows. For tight soils terraces with a slight grade are desirable. These may be parallel or conventional contour type. For those graded terraces to work satisfactorily they must have a grassed outlet.

If anyone is interested in constructing a terrace system the Soil Conservation Service personnel offers their technical assistance in getting this job done.

You may also contact any member of the Donley County Soil and Water Conservation District. They are T. C. D'Spain, Harold White, John Knorpp, J. C. Shields and Bud Hermesmeier.

STATE Capital NEWS

Texas will almost double its population—to nearly 18,000,000 by 1990—and residents will have more money to spend, if not as much room to live in.

These are among predictions for the not-so-distant future contained in a new forward look at the state's economy prepared by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Their publication, Texas 90: An Economic Profile to 1990, includes these highlights:

- New factory growth will bolster the Texas economy more powerfully than any other factor between 1967 and 1990, as the state becomes constantly more dependent upon manufacturing. Value added by manufacture (a measure of the difference in value between the raw materials that flow into a factory and the goods shipped out) will increase to $37,500,000,000 a year. It is now less than $10,000,000,000.

- Due for rapid expansion is the work force—although not uniformly in all industries. Most dynamic employment growth will be in the service industries: laundries, barber and beauty shops, auto repairs, transportation, hotel management, recreation, professional services, etc.

- Texas agriculture will approximately double its output (cash receipts from farm marketings are seen as reaching nearly $5,000,000,000 in 1990.) although farm employment probably will decrease.

- Texas cities will lead the population growth trend. By 1990 both of Houston and the combined Dallas-Ft. Worth metropolitan areas will have populations of more than 3,300,000. That nearly equals the entire U. S. of 1790. All seven of the state's biggest standard metropolitan statistical areas will see massive growth.

- Negro population, while increasing in numbers, now represents less than 13 per cent of the total, compared to 25 per cent a century ago.

- Spanish-surname population is increasing rapidly and now makes up 15 percent of the Texas total.

HE'S GOT 'EM GUESSING AGAIN—Once more Gov. John Connally's plans are the No. 1 topic of state capitol speculation.

In a press conference here, Connally vigorously denied rumors he may be the next U. S. Secretary of Defense. He plans to serve out his term as governor.

But less than 12 hours later in Washington, he acknowledged the secretary's job "would be very difficult to turn down" if offered. With the rumor mill still buzzing, he flew to France on a promotional mission for HemisFair '68, the world's fair in San Antonio next year.

Before he left Texas, Connally had kind words to say about two men who have been mentioned as prospects to succeed him: former Congressman Frank Icard of Wichita Falls (who states he does not intend to run) and Secretary of State John L. Hill (who indicates he plans to announce by mid-January).

Actual declared-candidate list picked up one new name: State Rep. Don Gladden, Fort Worth liberal, announced for lieutenant governor against House Speaker Ben Barnes. Gladden said he would like to run on a ticket headed by Sen. Ralph Yarborough as a candidate for governor. Houston attorney Don Yarborough, another likely gubernatorial candidate, said he wouldn't seek the governor's office if the senator does.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held that telephone companies owe sales tax on electricity used to perform their operations. Decision means about $400,000 in revenue to the state.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

- School board vacancy positions must be specifically designated on ballot.

- To qualify under "grandfather clause," for permit a corporation need show it was engaged in the legal alcoholic beverage business in the State under a charter or permit prior August 24, 1935.

- University of Texas may enter interagency contracts with Coordinating Board, College and University System to furnish it, at cost, data processing equipment and services.

- Firemen in certain cities are entitled to refund of paid-in contributions to retirement fund on separation from service, notwithstanding prior payment of disability benefits.

- Harrison County commissioners may approve purchase of equipment, supplies or material for road and bridge work though purchase was made by someone other than county engineer.

- Children under 15 can be convicted only for perjury under

James E. Riddels of Austin was elevated to Texas Ranger Captain, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Jim Paulk of Lubbock earlier this year. Lt. C. L. Russell of Beaumont replaces Browning as highway patrol captain.

TSPE HITS WATER REQUIREMENTS—Texas Society of Professional Engineers has joined in the attack on federal agency in-latitude on storing substantial quantities of water for "flushing" streams as "completely unrealistic".

TSPE President H. E. Bovay Jr. said the policies of the Federal Pollution Control Administration and the U. S. Corps of Engineers would seriously affect future Texas water development. He said their position fails to recognize more effective treatment for waste will be discovered in the next century.
