Paul Harvey Speaks To Farm Bureau Group At Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ayers and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Estlack were privileged to hear the address made by Paul Harvey, national news commentator, when he addressed Farm Bureau members at the Southern Farm Casualty Insurance Company Convention held at Koko Convention Center in Lubbock Wednesday evening.

The address was one that every American could well benefit from. Mr. Harvey stressed the need for Americans to return to the mop, the broom, and the hoe—a process of self discipline and self improvement. He stated that it is no wonder that there is so much unemployment with all of the government programs swelling the welfare rolls. We preach free enterprise but vote otherwise presenting somewhat of a circle with hands in each other's pockets attempting to all get rich.

Mr. Harvey reminded those present that America was once a nation of Cross carrying Christians. With the new days we must do what we can with the tools we have to make a better world. People get lazy and refuse to do for themselves. When a nation's resources are exhausted that nation faces annihilation. Through history great nations have spent themselves poor. Problems are no worse now than before but people are more aware of these problems. Americans must not lose their perspective and he urged that we not sell the United States short. We have tremendous natural resources from the past, and intelligence. And in conclusion he stated that there have always been horizons to conquer and there will continue to be until the end of time. He challenged everyone to pick up the broom, the mop and the hoe and get to work at the job to be done.

AGRICULTURAL BRIEFS
EARLY FERTILIZATION FOR PASTURES — Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist, advises early fertilization for pastures. He says the abundance of soil moisture will be better utilized by pasture plants if they are fertilized early and that moisture will be conserved. To say nothing of increased production and improved forage quality.

PLANT GOOD SEED — No crop at harvest time can be better than the planting seed used. Agronomists at Texas A&M University say the best planting seed available should be planted. Select the variety or hybrid best adapted to your area and watch out for the "miracle varieties" that often appear just prior to planting time.

MINNOW PRODUCTION — The production of minnows for fish bait can become a source of income for pond owners who reside near or on highways leading to favorite fishing lakes. Wallace Klussmann, Extension wildlife specialist, says thousands of bait minnows can be produced annually in a small farm pond. He suggests a visit with the local county agent for more information on the subject.

Reports in on 1967 CALF CROP — The Texas calf crop in 1967 was up 4 per cent from the year before and totaled 4,876,000 head. According to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, the nation's crop was up 3 per cent and totaled 43,647,000 head. Expressed in terms of per cent of cows and heifers 2 years old on Jan. 1, 1967, the calf crop for Texas was 86 per cent and for the nation 87 per cent.

TRUDAN 2 IS HERE!

Trudan 2, Northrup King's true hybrid sudangrass, is an exciting forage. Unlike sorghum-sudangrass hybrids, Trudan 2 produces fast growth without coarseness... the fine-stemmed, highly palatable plant yields high TDN. Trudan 2 grows back fast with lower prussic acid content. Great for grazing, hay or haylage. Trudan 2 can mean more beef or milk per acre. In tonnage trials, Trudan 2 has out-yielded sorghum-sudangrass hybrids.

It doesn't help so much to be better than the person across the aisle. It does help if we are better than we formerly were.

The best way to make a joy last all day is to share it with some- one along the way.

Not all rich men are happy, I grant you this— But rich is the man who has found happiness.

Thank Goodness we still live in a country where a man can say what he thinks—that is, if he isn't afraid of his wife, his neighbors, or his boss, and if he is sure it won't hurt his business or his reputation.

The above possibly sounds a bit ridiculous but we sincerely believe that in this wonderful coun- try of supposed freedom we do need to encourage each other to express ourselves more freely. It has become more and more impossible for people to be dif- ferent from the majority. The fact remains that it is most gen- erally a dedicated individual or a small minority that first begins plugging away, and what we often call crusading for some great cause. Finally, the masses jump aboard. Even mos great inventions were first scoffed at by those supposedly in the know.

Life is what happens to us while we are busy making our plans to really live.

Seems like that just about the time we get through paying off one fiddler another one is tun- ing up.

Women who are very unselfish make the best wives no doubt, but just think what they make out of their husbands.

A good education may not insure a fan complete success in the world, but it will help him to find ways to get along pretty well any- way.

The quiet man can make a real problem. It takes us so long to find out what is wrong with him.

CORRECTION

Forage sorghums established for summer protection from erosion must be planted between March 1 and August 1 to be eligible for ACP cost-shares. In last week's article, we gave the dates as March 1 and July 1.

SIGNUP ENDS

The signup for the programs ended last Friday. 505 cotton farms and 345 feed farms signed up to divert 24,112.2 acres from production. 158 wheat farms are signed up to receive wheat certificate payments.

GRAZING WHEAT ACREAGE

Several producers are interested in grazing their entire wheat acreage and not harvesting any wheat. This was not permissible at the beginning of the year if you wished to receive wheat certificates. We have been informed that instructions are being changed and you will be permitted to graze your entire wheat acreage and also receive your wheat certificates.

Instructions have also been changed to permit excess wheat to be grazed after May 1 provided it is grazed down where it cannot mature.

CONTAMINATED FOOD POSES HEALTH PROBLEM

A major health problem in the food area relates to the contamination of products introduced into the market place — where bacterial contamination poses a health problem to the ultimate consumer. A major health hazard is that of Salmonella contamination." Bill V. McFarland, Regional Assistant Commissioner for the Food and Drug Administration, in speaking before the Texas Public Health Association assembled at Houston, Tex., said that greatly increased attention is being given to the problems of contamination of non-fat dried milk, eggs and other dairy products, drugs of animal origin and certain finished products such as custard mixes which themselves may have been made with contaminated raw material.

"If discussions with firm management plus educational efforts and seminars of both a National and Regional scope are not getting the job done we are and will continue to apply appropriate legal sanctions — injunctions, seizures and/or prosecution."

Assistant Commissioner McFarland spoke at length on FDA-State program coordination. "Traditionally, the relationship between the states and the FDA in conducting consumer protection programs for the most part has been predicated and conducted on an intrastate-intrastate approach, the states having sole responsibility for products in intrastate commerce with FDA taking primary responsibility for products in interstate commerce. Through the years, state and local agencies have carried a major burden for consumer health and economic protection activities with emphasis on foods, including milk and meat, animal feeds and more milk recently in hazardous substances programs. Today, the states still do these things but FDA has become more and more involved in recent years in the very areas where the states are most active..."
