The Jaycees will be conducting their annual Christmas Projects again this year. The Toys For Tots project is a project whereby the Jaycees ask that you give them new or repairable toys and they will see that they are repaired, and the Ministerial Alliance will see that the needy children within the county receive a toy for Christmas. ## Local Lions Club Plans Community Auction Sale

The Clarendon Lions Club will sponsor a Community Auction Saturday, December 7, at 1:00 p.m. The auction will be held at the Donley County Fairgrounds in Clarendon.

Everyone is invited to bring items to sell. A commission of 5 per cent will be charged on all items selling for $50.00 or more and 10 per cent will be charged on all items selling for less than $50.00.

All items to be sold should be at the fairgrounds by 10:30 a.m. the morning of the sale. If you can not get your items to the fairgrounds, call Ronald Gooch, sale chairman or Boss Lion Carl Nunn in Clarendon and arrangements will be made to pick your items up. Also call and let us know what you will consign to the sale so these items can be advertised.

All items at the sale will be sold. Clovis McCary, local Clarendon Junior College Student, and a licensed auctioneer, will donate his services to call the sale. Proceeds from the auction will go for Lion's Club projects for community betterment.

Everyone is invited to bring items to sell and to come and buy.

Majority Of Voters Turn Down Airport Referendum Saturday

Farm News

from County ASCS Com.

1969 COTTON PROGRAM — If marketing quotas are approved in next week's referendum, a cotton program will be in effect for 1969. Provisions of the program have been announced.

There will be no diversion and no diversion payments for 1969. Cooperators will not be required to reduce their acreage below the farm's allotment. The price support payment rate to participants will be 14.73 cents per pound. This payment is in addition to the price support loan and will be paid on the acreage within the domestic allotment which is 65 per cent of the total farm allotment. The 1969 rate compares to a 1968 rate of 12.24 cents a pound.

Farms with allotments of 10 acres or less or with a total projected yield of 3,600 pounds or less may plant the entire farm allotment, and in addition to the price support payment on the domestic allotment, receive payment of 11.26 cents per pound on the projected yield of 35 per cent of the farm allotment.

The county projected yield for 1969 is 332 pounds as compared to the 1968 yield of 310 pounds. Notices of allotments and yields will be mailed on Nov. 27. Appeals must be filed within fifteen days from that date.

Other program details, including sign-up information, are being developed. They will be announced later.

COTTON REFERENDUM — Ballots and instructions for voting in the referendum will be mailed on November 29 to eligible voters. Don't fail to vote. Ballots will be counted publicly on December 11, 1968, at 8:00 a.m. here at the county office. Everyone is invited to witness the vote tabulation.

HOLIDAY — This office will be closed Thursday, November 28, in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

STAINED OR OTHERWISE DAMAGED COTTON — We have been advised by the Texas State ASCS Office to promptly notify cotton producers and ginners of the following:

A — Take precautions to keep bales of cotton dry and deliver them to the warehouse in a good dry condition.

B — If cotton is represented by warehouse receipts showing the cotton to be stained or blue or of any other similar condition, but otherwise in good condition, a CCC price support loan will be made only if a review classification is obtained from the applicable C&MS classing office based on a sample currently drawn by a sampling agent approved by the C&MS cotton division. Any class card previously issued for a bale must be returned to the classing office with the new sample. (The bale may be reconditioned and reweighed before sampling.)

C — If the review classification shows the cotton to be of an eligible grade and staple length, the loan will be made on the basis of:

- 1 — The class card issued for the bale as a result of the new sample.
- 2 — The reweight of the bale if the bale has been reconditioned before resampling.

PLAYING WITH POWER WINDOWS HAZARDOUS

Playfully closing a power window in a car can result in death or serious injury, the Texas Safety Association said today in warning parents not to leave small children unattended in cars with such automatic devices.

In spite of extensive publicity given in the past to incidents of strangulation, loss of fingers and other injuries to children and adults from automobile power windows, tragedies of this kind are being reported in increasing numbers, the Safety Association noted.

The greatest hazard from power windows is to small children as they often play with the switches if left alone in an automobile and usually cannot operate the window if they are accidentally caught.

Some car models are designed so that the power windows cannot be operated when the key is in the "off" position, but most cars don't have this feature. The Safety Association suggests that if your car's power windows operate when the key is "off," have a mechanic or dealer adjust the wiring so that the windows cannot operate unless the ignition switch is "on." This is a fairly simple modification.

As with other motor vehicles, cars with power windows should be left completely locked when not in use. This not only greatly reduces the chances of theft, but also prevents inquisitive children from injuring themselves with power windows, cigarette lighters and other dangerous equipment or by releasing the brake.

Medical Insurance Under Medicare

Persons over 65 and enrolled for medical insurance under Medicare are sometimes not familiar with the procedure for filing their claims.

Many eligible persons who had doctor bills of more than $50 last year have still not submitted a claim. They should do so as soon as practical for more reasons than just immediate reimbursement.

Travis Briggs, district manager of the Amarillo office, explained that any part of the $50 deductible amount which may have been incurred in October, November or December may carry over into the following year and be counted as part of the deductible amount for a second time. Briggs cited an example or two concerning this last quarter. For instance, suppose a person had only $35 in doctor bills in 1967 and these were incurred in November. He would have to have only $15 in 1968 before the deductible would be met. Or if the bill in November had been $135, there would be no deductible in 1968. Persons having Medicare questions or problems should contact the social security office in Amarillo or meet with the representative who visits Clarendon regularly. His schedule is available at your post office.

SELECT THE RIGHT ELECTRIC MOTOR

A few extra dollars spent initially for the right electric motor for a given job may pay off many times in trouble-free operation and long motor life, says W. S. Allen, Texas A&M University Extension agricultural engineer.

There are 18 different types of cases or enclosures for electric motors and at least four of them are suitable for farm use, he points out. The way a motor is enclosed determines its ability to withstand moisture, dust and explosive gases, he adds.

The four types which cover most farm uses are:

1. Open drip-proof — A general purpose motor used in dry locations, relatively free of splashing liquids and dust particles. It is the most common and least expensive of the four types of enclosures.

2. Splash proof — For use out of doors, if covered when not in use, and in installations where washing down of equipment causes water to be directed toward the motor.

3. Totally enclosed — For use where dust and foreign particles are in the air, such as outdoor operations on augers, elevators, etc.

4. Explosion proof — Designed to prevent ignition of any explosive gases which may collect around the motor. It also keeps out dust and dirt and is the most expensive of the four types.

A qualified dealer, electric power supplier representative or an engineer can advise on the right motor to use, says Allen.

Fresh fruits and vegetables in good supply at most economical prices include apples by the bag, bananas, Tokay grapes, oranges by the bag, potatoes, celery, carrots, cabbage, dry yellow onions, tomatoes, collard greens, sweet potatoes and radishes.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is making arrangements to take office as governor on January 21. He already has selected some of his official family. Jim Oliver of the Legislative Budget Board, which Smith now heads, will become director of the executive budget office. Oliver is working on the budget which the new governor will recommend to the Legislature.

Jerry Hall, chief of the Capitol Bureau for Newspapers, Inc. — the Austin, Waco, Port Arthur and Lufkin dailies — will become Smith's press secretary. Certain to have a top job, either as secretary of state or as chief administrative assistant, will be Harold Dudley, who managed Smith's campaigns.

SCHOOL — New members of the Legislature came to Austin for two days to learn the ropes about the legislative process.

Speaker-to-be Gus Mutscher of Brenham, with the help of the Legislative Council, arranged the orientation sessions. Freshman legislators will thus have an insight into how the legislative process works when they start the 140-day session on January 14.

Turn-over in the legislature this year was low. Only 30 new members were named to the 150-member House, and only three new senators among the 31-member Senate. Two of the senators have been in the Legislature before, so there are only 31 in all who have not had legislative service. POVERTY — With 28.8 per cent of the Texas families having incomes under $3,000, well above the national average of 21.4 per cent, Gov. John Connally feels that Texas should continue to make every effort to find and cure the cause of poverty.

In his report on operations of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, the governor said that $113,038,642 in Federal money was allocated to anti-poverty programs in Texas during the year ending August 31. Grants ranged from the $18,055-$46 used to operate the three Job Corps centers at San Marcos, McKinney and New Waverly to the $8,345,358 allocated to 94 colleges to provide campus jobs for 28,073 college students who needed jobs to stay in school.

COURTS SPEAK — On January 8 the State Supreme Court will review an Amarillo man's suit against a TV station which identified him as a robbery suspect after he had been released as blameless by police. Lower courts held for the station.

High court will hear arguments January 15 in a suit wherein Ford Motor Company is charged as negligent in manufacturing a brake assembly on a new Ford truck that hit an Amarillo couple's car.

Trinity River Authority was loser in its effort to enforce a condemnation award for property it sought in San Jacinto County. Supreme Court overruled the application for mandamus.

Another loser was a Lubbock man trying to collect damages for arm cuts suffered when he accidentally rammed a fist through a liquor store glass door. Supreme Court declined to reverse the Tyler court of civil appeals rejection of a jury award of $2,524.

High court refused to order District Judge Woodrow Laughlin of Alice to throw out pretrial findings of a retired special judge in a South Texas couple's suit against an Alice hospital.

Secretary of State Roy Barrera recommended that Governor Connally deny a request for an extradition warrant for Paul Amos Sandblom, one-time Corpus Christi financier, paroled to Arizona after serving a federal prison sentence for selling securities without a license. Barrera argued that the state has no right to prosecute Sandblom further on state charges.

OIL YEAR BRIGHT — For the fourth straight month the Railroad Commission left the allowable unchanged at 41.3 per cent of potential, permitting a December maximum production of 3,027,299 barrels daily.

December pattern will average out the year at 44.9 per cent of potential which (by the old standard) means 164.3 million flowing days — highest since the 171-days of production during the 1956-57 Suez crisis.

Five of 14 major Texas crude oil buyers asked bigger allowable, three less and six the same. LAND ROOM — Buyers a plenty showed up at the Veterans Land Board's sealed-bid sale at which 233 repossessed tracts were offered to high bidders.

Total number of bids was 898, and the Board accepted the high bids on all the tracts except four. One 74-acre farm in Guadalupe County drew 99 bidders. High man was Marion A. Coulter, who bid $22,502.

Board even managed to sell a 350-acre tract in Maverick County on which no bids were received the first four times it was offered. It was one of the "block deals" from the veterans land scandals of the 1950's, and this time it drew 10 bidders.

WELFARE — Social workers for the State Department of Welfare soon will begin to spend their time trying to help solve problems of people on welfare, instead of checking on their income.

A new policy was announced by State Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney, after the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare decided to try the new system nationwide.

Persons applying for federal-state grants because they are needy will merely fill out a declaration form, and they will be accepted. Hackney said states that have tried this system, and then tested it by spot-checking, have found that very few people give untruthful information.

So the time of the highly-trained social welfare workers can be spent trying to arrange job training or other programs to help get recipients off the welfare rolls. In the past, much of their time has been spent in a "policeman's role", checking to make sure that those who get old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the needy blind or totally disabled, did not have hidden sources of income.

Medical certification from a doctor still will be required on those claiming benefits as being totally disabled.

A pilot program has been under way in the Austin, Nacogdoches and Houston areas. It will be expanded statewide by July 1. Connally named Judge James F. Parker chief justice of the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals in Beaumont and picked Beaumont attorney Quentin Keith as an associate justice of the same court.

Glenn Biggs, former Abilene businessman, has been named president of National Western Life Insurance Company of Austin and chairman of the board of Mid-West National Life Insurance Company of Tennessee. Biggs served for two years as executive assistant to House Speaker Ben Barnes.

TELESCOPE DEDICATED — Ceremonies were held by the University of Texas Tuesday (Nov. 26) for the new 107-inch telescope at UT's McDonald Observatory on Mount Locke near Marfa in West Texas.

Built for the University by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation, the huge telescope is expected to play an important role for NASA in investigating atmospheres of Mars and other planets. Previously the main instrument at McDonald was an 82-inch reflector installed in 1939 when the observatory was dedicated.

AIR CONTROL STANDARDS — Air Control Board has suggested new regulations to ban industrial smoke which would cut visibility to less than three miles. Rules on light-blocking characteristics of pollutants would prohibit emissions of greater than 40 per cent density.

SCREWORM INVESTIGATION ASKED — A Rockdale lawmaker, Rep.-elect Don Kubiak, has called on House Speaker Ben Barnes to order an investigation of the screwworm spread in Texas. Kubiak claimed steps must be taken to eliminate the screwworm fly, which he said has returned to menace Texas cattle with a vengeance after a seven-year effort to stamp out the disease-causing pest. Kubiak said 5,000 cases reported last month are more than when the anti-screwworm program began.

HEALTH SURVEYS SET — U. S. Public Health Service will conduct health surveys of 12-17 year olds in Cameron and Harris Counties early next year. Cameron County visits by PHS teams will begin January 22 and last for three weeks. Harris County survey will begin February 24. About 8,000 youngsters will be given complete physical examinations.

SHORT SHORTS — Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has asked the U. S. Corps of Engineers for a permit to build an artificial reef seven and a half miles southeast of the Port Aransas jetty.

State Health Department purchased six porta-mobile radios to provide communications in disaster areas, such as it faced in the Hurricane Carla situation.

Two state agencies are wondering which one should regulate the sale of cooperative or "condominium" apartments: Texas Real Estate Commission which has jurisdiction if the agents sell the apartments as real estate or State Securities Board which has jurisdiction if the sale is of stock in the apartment house corporation.

TEXAS GETS RECREATION FUNDS — Texas is due to get $1.7 million of $45.7 million in funds for acquisition and development of outdoor recreation facilities approved by Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U. S. Department of Interior.

Allocations are made largely on basis of population, federal resources and programs and out-of-state visitor use. States must match the grants 50-50.

LOAN BONDS SOLD — Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System sold $12 million in student loan bonds to Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago at 3,8673 interest. Money provides assistance to needy students. So far, 29,480 have benefited from it.

Board also approved fine arts programs at nine schools and administrative reorganization of arts programs at the University of Texas at Arlington and West Texas State. Construction of a $1.5 million physical education complex at San Angelo State College got authorization, as did the plan for participation in federal aid to campus building.

On December 3, Board will make key decisions on dental education, medical education and North Texas higher education needs.

COTTON GIN RIDER DUMPED — controversial appropriations bill rider twice vetoed by Gov. John Connally was stricken from a budget draft on motion of Lt. Gov.-elect Ben Barnes.

Barnes got some opposition from House Speaker-designate Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham and Rep. W. S. Heatly of Paducah, but Gov.-elect Preston Smith held his motion carried on voice vote.

Rider sought to keep funds from being spent to police air pollution by cotton gins. Mutscher said the problem is insignificant and is used by politicians to "demagogue." Connally has maintained that the problem caused by gins is major. Barnes argued that the rider is unnecessary and is simply a "political factor."

"Plenty of time during the legislative session to work it out," Smith said in sustaining the vote on deletion.

Rural land is the source of all our food and water as well as most of our shelter and recreation.

But one million acres of this land is going into urban developments every year. That's why conservation of our remaining land is more important than ever before. This message by the Soil Conservation Service.

Here are some second thoughts:

work truck We could add hobby hauler to the list. Chevy trucks are great for rock hounding. Collecting antiques. Etcetera. The point is: They're as versatile as anything on the road. Or off. Especially, four-wheel drive versions. They go anywhere.

Prepare Machinery For Winter Weather

Whether the machine is a two-horse power lawnmower or a 20-foot combine, a good job of preparing it for winter storage will pay off in longer service and lower repair bills.

Parking the machine in a building is only a small part of good winter storage. You need to make sure it will not rust or deteriorate during storage, says County Agent Ronald Gooch.

No matter what kind of machine you store, Gooch says there are at least three things you need to do to get it ready for storage. Clean it. Lubricate it. And eliminate any stress on parts.

The cleaning job means the removal of trash, lint, dirt and dried grease. It can be done by washing the machine with kerosene or steam. After cleaning, the machine should be lubricated and run for a few minutes to distribute the lubrication. Chains and adjustment bolts should be coated with a rust preventive oil.

The county agent suggests these steps for preparing a motor for winter storage. Clean the air cleaner and fill the oil cup to the proper level with new oil. Change the oil and filter; then idle the engine for a few minutes. Drain the engine block and radiator or add permanent anti-freeze to protect them. If the motor is drained, the radiator cap and drain plug should be left open to drain away moisture from condensation. Better tag the machine with a "Don't use . . . Cooling system drained."

Drain the fuel system to prevent a buildup of gum and residue. Flush diesel tanks with a diesel flushing oil and white kerosene. All fuel tanks except LP gas should be left empty during storage. Remove the spark plugs and put two tablespoons of oil into each cylinder. Crank the motor several revolutions to coat the combustion chambers with oil. Clean and replace the plugs.

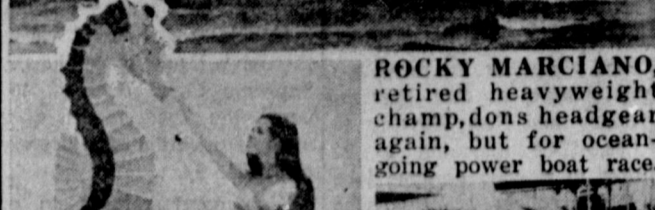

Seal the exhaust, air cleaner intake and crankcase breather to prevent the entrance of moisture, dust or other foreign matter. If the motor has a clutch, depress the pedal and fasten it to keep the clutch plate from sticking to the fly-wheel. Store the battery in a cool, dry place, where it will not freeze. Take Cookies and cakes which are long-lived and can stand a few knocks can be mailed with confidence, regardless of distance, says Elizabeth Barnard, foods and nutrition specialist.

Soft drop cookies, chewy bar cookies, squared and filled cookies travel well, according to the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Applesauce, molasses, oatmeal and mince-meat cookies are good packers. Cookies flavored with honey and fruit improve with age. If cookies are too rich, they may crumble or turn rancid, warns Miss Barnard. Cakes are difficult to ship successfully because they dry and break. Syrups substituted for part of the sugar help to prevent rapid drying. Fruit cakes and those made with applesauce remain moist for some time.

The Extension specialist recommends sending cup cakes baked in fluted paper cups. Or, she says, cut a square cake and frost pieces on all sides, wrapping each piece individually.

To send pie, Miss Barnard suggests tarts or individual pieces. They pack better. Adding all-brain to the pastry dough helps prevent the crust from breaking up, she says. Firm fillings are less apt to soak through the crust. Miss Barnard recommends mince-meat and fruit thickened with cornstarch. Custard fillings spoil too rapidly to be safe.

Ground-Water Study In Hall and Eastern Briscoe Counties

The U. S. Geological Survey, in cooperation with the Texas Water Development Board, is conducting a ground-water study in Hall and eastern Briscoe Counties. These investigations are part of the continuing assessment of water resources in Texas.

Most of the ground water in Hall and eastern Briscoe Counties comes from sands that overlie the gypsum-rich red beds. Water is also produced from sands in the red beds. The Survey hopes to test large capacity wells to determine the water-bearing properties of these sands.

The investigation in Hall and eastern Briscoe Counties is under the supervision of Barney P. Popkin, U. S. Geological Survey Hydrologist, whose office is in the Lions Club Complex in Clarendon, Texas. During the investigation, well owners will be contacted for information concerning their wells and for permission to measure water levels, pumping levels and well yields, and to collect water samples for chemical analyses. Restaurant Ramblings

By Jake Lamberth

When Hernando Cortez invaded Mexico, he came across Aztecs drinking an unfamiliar beverage. It was called cocoaquahil, brewed from the seeds of a tree. The same seeds supplied a richer drink as well as confections, which was known as chocolate. Deciding that both names were too difficult to pronounce, the conquering Spaniards revised them into "cacno" and "chocolate", which are the names in use today. Cocoa, however is spelled cocoa.

Cocoa is the third most popular food beverage used throughout the world, surpassed only by coffee and tea.

Cocoa pods sprout directly from the bark of the tree. These pods are filled with a slimy material enclosing numerous large seeds or beans. The beans are dried and the processing eventually converts them into cocoa cream, then into cakes of chocolate.

Proper Harvesting Essential For Quality Cotton

With so much emphasis these days on the production of quality cotton, farmers in Donley County should take a close look at their harvesting operations, says Ronald Gooch, county agricultural agent.

The agent lists the following pointers as key factors for a proper harvest:

1—Lint moisture should be down to about eight per cent. This point is reached when the relative humidity in the field is 60 per cent or below. Moisture can also be checked by collecting a few locks of cotton and squeezing them together in the palm of the hand. If the cotton balls up, it is too moist. If it fluffs out, harvesting can begin.

2—Harvest - aid chemicals permit earlier harvest of mature cotton. For defoliation, at least 60 per cent of the bolls should be open and a minimum of 80 per cent or more should be open when desiccants are used. Use of these chemicals before enough bolls are open will result in reduced micronaire and lint yields and lower seed quality.

3—Proper timing of the harvesting operation after the use of harvest-aid chemicals or after frost also insures maximum lint quality. Cotton is at its maximum quality level as soon as bolls are open. Any change in quality will be in only one direction — downward — with delay in harvesting.

4—Strippers should be checked carefully to assure that they are properly adjusted and green boll separators should be operating efficiently.

5—Careful operation of the stripper is important. Driving the machine off-center on a row often results in skinning pieces of bark from the base of stalks. Excessive stripping roll pressure or too much speed can cause the same problem. "Barkly grades" will generally result and cotton so classed is automatically reduced a full grade under USDA cotton classing rules.

6—Seed cotton should not be stored on trailers if the moisture level is above 12 per cent. Seed quality will also be reduced drastically if stored with a high amount of trash.

7—Seed cotton should be grouped or separated when any difference in quality is suspected.

ed. Grouping should be based on variety, irrigation or dryland, disease or insect damage, hail damage, lint moisture and planting date.

All these items make for more orderly, efficient ginning as well, points out Gooch. Such problems as mix-packs or two-sided bales, over-drying and ginning at improper moisture levels can thus be minimized.

All in all, with farmers and ginners working closely together, the outlook for quality cotton production in Donley County looks promising, contends Gooch.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM FOR CHILDREN 6-12

The Amarillo Symphony Orchestra will present a concert for young people 6 to 12 years of age Saturday afternoon, December 14, at 3:30 p.m. in the Civic Center Auditorium. Elves and Christmas trimmings will lend a festive background for the holiday music.

Tickets for the event can be purchased in grade schools during the week beginning December 2nd. Admission for the concert will be fifty cents. Parents and teachers are invited to attend.

Fireplace Equipment Will Be Common

Fireplace equipment will be common and popular in the home furnishings market this winter, predicts a Texas A&M University housing specialist.

One reason, explains Bonny Lay, Extension specialist, is that more new homes are being built with one to three fireplaces. People like the warm feeling associated with fireplaces.

Fireplaces are again becoming functional instead of decorative, says Miss Lay, who cites as evidence the decline in imitation log sales and the increased sale of screens.

Fireplace equipment is available in many styles, Mediterranean, Spanish, Early American and Colonial are the most popular. These styles are closely related to other furnishings, says the specialist.

The most popular materials will replace highly polished brass because brass requires more care.

Fireplace sets are available at many prices, ranging from about $25 to $300 for custom made, hand crafted sets.

1968 Can Have Record Quail Harvest

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is urging landowners and hunters to join forces this year for what could be a record quail harvest.

"The conditions are right. High quail populations have been reported in most areas of the State and each county has a season ranging from 20 days to three months," says Robert G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Department.

Statewide, the quail population is a little below that of 1966 which is considered a record year. However, Department biologists say several areas of the State actually have a higher population this year than they did two years ago.

Quail is the one wildlife species that dramatically points out that wildlife cannot be stockpiled or "saved" from one season to the next. Game managers of Texas have been saying this since the first research on quail began in the late 1930's.

Research over the years has always pointed to "hunt 'em when you have 'em."

Attempts at stockpiling or increasing quail populations by restocking, killing predators or closing seasons have all failed. Game biologists stress that a quail population is determined by habitat — food, water and cover.

"A landowner who wants to hunt should not be concerned about over harvest of his quail. There are thousands of acres of good quail country in the State that never have a shell fired on them. If a quail population is heavily harvested on one farm or ranch then quail will move in from adjacent areas if the habitat is adequate. "This intermingling of hunted and non-hunted areas leaves brood stock in practically every area of the State," says Horace Gore, wildlife supervisor in Waco.

When Thanksgiving was celebrated at Plymouth in 1621 there were plenty of spectators to watch the carving of the turkey.

"You can't find an example where last year's hunting has hurt this year's quail crop," long-time Biologist Dan Lay of Nacogdoches says.

Statistics gathered over years of research show only 20 out of every 100 birds at the beginning of the hunting season will survive until the spring mating season. The other 80 birds die from lack of food, freezing weather, and other natural causes. The hunter's gun — either hunting or locked in a gun cabinet — has little influence on the carryover quail population.

"We've found that the same number of birds survive through the winter whether they are hunted or not. All the hunter does is harvest what would have been lost anyway," says E. A. Walker, director of wildlife services.

"Birds trapped on unhunted areas show the same ratios of young to old as those from hunted areas, indicating that the process of reproduction moves along in normal channels regardless of hunting," Biologist Lay wrote 15 years ago.

Some game managers say that half of the quail population can be harvested safely without any danger to the breeding stock.

Home Loans For Low Income Rural Families Available

The dream of home ownership can become a reality for low-income rural families through federal interest supplement allowances on home mortgages, according to Claude Moore, the Farmers Home Administration supervisor in Donley County.

Moore said the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, recently signed into law by President Johnson, makes it possible for the federal government to apply an interest supplement payment to rural housing loans made to low-income families that will lower the cost of buying a house.

Interest supplements on rural homes will be administered through the Farmers Home Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In Donley County, applications for rural housing loans are being accepted at the Farmers Home Administration office in the Agriculture Building at Clarendon.

Under the interest supplement plan, Moore explained, families earning as little as $3,000 annually could possibly qualify for as much as an $8,000 loan to buy a site and construct a house.

The new program allows for interest supplements to reduce the rate of interest on monthly notes to as low as 1 per cent.

"This program will enable a great many otherwise unqualified low-income families to become homeowners," Moore said. "The interest supplement is a strong effort to put adequate and decent housing within the reach of low-income families by substantially reducing their monthly loan payments."

The actual supplement will depend on the owner's income and the size of the family.

A minimum requirement is that a borrower who does not have enough to pay his loan installment in full will pay at least the amount that would be due if the interest rate were 1 per cent.

For example, a family with five children, and an annual gross income of $3,000 would receive an interest supplement of $222 a year based on an $8,000 rural housing loan.

The family would receive an interest supplement the difference ($222) between their an-

FIRST THANKSGIVING AT PLIMOTH PLANTATION

THE FIRST THANKSGIVING celebrated at Plymouth in 1621 was a harvest festival, a gathering of family, friends and neighbors, and a time of games and feasting.

Almost half of the original 102 Pilgrims had survived the first winter. They had labored long and hard to build a village and plant crops. When their harvest was gathered, they celebrated.

In writing to a friend in England describing the First Thanksgiving, one of the Pilgrims said: "Our harvest being gotten in, our Governor William Bradford sent four men on fowling; so that we might after a more special manner, rejoice together, after we had gathered the fruit of our labours. They four, on one day, killed as much fowl as, with a little help besides served the company almost a week."

"And among the rest, their (the Indians) greatest king, Massasoit, with some ninety men, whom for three days, we entertained and feasted, and they went out and killed five deer; which they brought to the Plantation and bestowed on our Governor, and upon the Captain (Myles Standish) and others."

In describing this Thanksgiving, which set the pattern for the traditional American celebration, other writers tell of foot racing, wrestling, exercising arms (infantry drill) and pitching the bar.

These scenes were acted out by citizens of Plymouth, Massachusetts, many of whom are descendants of those who celebrated the First Thanksgiving. Appropriately enough, the setting was at Plimoth Plantation, an outdoor museum where the first Pilgrim settlement is being re-created.

Progress Makes Walls Possible

A newly-developed electrostatic fiber finish now makes an elegant and durable velvet-surfaced finish water proof, flame proof and resistant to dirt and stains, reports Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist. The finish provides special insulation and sound absorbent qualities to any surface to which it is applied.

The velvet-like effect on the fiber finish is achieved by a process similar to that used in flocking. Individual fibers are bonded individually, end-first, into a special adhesive through the electrostatic process. The resulting installation is completely free of seams and overlaps, she explains.

Electrostatic fiber finishes can be used over masonry, plaster, wood, concrete wallboard, metal, plastic, paper, fabric and a variety of other surfaces, adds the Extension specialist at Texas A&M University. The finish may be as short and soft as suede or as plush and resilient as heavy carpeting, depending on the aesthetic and functional purposes to be served.

Several natural and synthetic fibers may be used in the process. A special nylon fiber is recommended for areas of heavy wear, while polyesters are preferred for installations receiving exposure to the elements.

The electrostatic fiber finish is available in a complete line for colorfast fibers, says the specialist. Special color blends are possible by intermixing fibers of different colors.

Mrs. Berry recommends an occasional vacuuming or sponging with soap and water. Stubborn spots and stains usually can be removed successfully without damage to the finish, she says.

America's Farmers Can Meet Challenge

"Today one farm worker in the United States provides the food for himself and more than 42 others," said John G. McHane, Extension economist at Texas A&M University.

It is estimated that the last third of this century will add another 100 million Americans to today's population. But McHane feels that through the combined efforts of all those associated with agriculture, the challenge to provide an agricultural abundance for this expected large population increase can be met.

The United States has had a strong agricultural economy for many years, and through efficient agricultural production, has been able to release workers to other industries in order that they might produce the other needs and wants of our people, he explained.

Farmers and ranchmen today look to machinery and fuel producers for their power rather than raising work animals and feed as they did years ago. This is only one example of how people in towns and cities are handling more of the jobs that once were done on the farm or ranch. These people are also a part of the agricultural industry, he emphasized.

The annual value of total agricultural production in Texas, he said, exceeds either the total manufacturing payroll, the total construction awards, or the total retail trade payroll.

Our efficient agricultural industry has been the foundation of our economy and has helped Americans to have the highest level of living in the world concluded the economist.

Every human enterprise is a mixture of a little bit of humanity, a little bit of soil, and a little bit of water.—Gean Brunhes

ETIQUETTE IN FIELD A MUST FOR HUNTERS

If hunters will remember to mind their manners in the field, their hunting trips will be happier and safer, according to R. G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Mauermann says etiquette is important if the hunter wishes to keep in the good graces of his companions and the landowner, and it may even save his or someone else's life.

"Foremost of any rules of field etiquette are those dealing with firearms safety," says Mauermann. "With firearms, a breach of etiquette has deadly implications. Anyone who uses firearms should know and obey the Ten Commandments of Shooting Safety."

A hunter not only owes courtesy and consideration to his hunting companions, but to the landowner as well. The hunter must respect the property rights of the landowner and remember that he is a guest. He should remember to leave gates as he found them and not to shoot near livestock, houses, or barns.

Fire is always a hazard, and littering can make an enemy of the landowner in a short time.

The hunter should know the boundaries of the land on which he hunts, and he should cross fences in a safe and proper way. As an act of courtesy and a gesture of good will, the hunter should offer to share game with his host if he is hunting free.

A hunter who forgets his manners may find his hunting grounds closed to him next season.

NEW FIBERS ADD SPARKLE TO CARPETS

A new fiber which adds silky luster to carpeting has been developed by an American chemical company. Commonly called "Source," it is the first new man-made fiber in seven years, reports Extension housing specialist Bonny Lay.

The fiber's official name is AC0001 until the Federal Trade Commission assigns it a generic name.

The fiber appears to have a sparkling, silky luster with a dramatic light and dark interplay of color, says Miss Lay.

Because of appearance, the fiber presently is found mostly in luxury lines of several carpet manufacturers.

Miss Lay predicts it will be available in other home furnising items in the future.

"Source" is a biconstituent fiber made of two fiber-forming chemical compounds, a polyamide and a polyester. The percentage of these two polymers can be alternated to obtain the properties desired for a certain use, says Miss Lay.

ZINC COATING DETERMINES USEFUL LIFE OF WIRE FENCING

A 30-year experiment at Texas A&M University has demonstrated that farmers and ranchers would do well to determine the amount of zinc coating on wire if they are interested in more permanent fencing.

Results of the trial brought a conclusion that was suspected all along: The more zinc or galvanized coating on a wire, the longer it will resist rusting.

But Project Leader Lambert Wilkes of the A&M Agricultural Engineering Department said sometimes questions with seemingly obvious answers have a strange way of backfiring.

For example, it was once thought that steel fence posts would easily outlast wooden posts. Yet, another long term experiment at A&M has shown that good quality wooden posts will do a better job than steel in high rainfall regions or in industrial areas where fumes cause corrosion.

The 30-year fence wire testing actually had several goals. These were to tabulate information on materials generally used in farm fencing and help set up national standards for fence wire to give consumers a reliable buying guide.

A&M's Agricultural Experiment Station cooperated with the American Society of Testing Materials. College Station was one of 12 sites with a variety of conditions throughout the United States.

Wilkes says results should prove valuable to wire manufacturers as well as farmers and ranchers. Here are some of the questions that have been answered.

What is the relation between zinc coating weight and service life? Does method of zinc application (electroplating and hot dip galvanizing) affect service life? Does wire diameter affect the life of the zinc coating? What is the service life of wire after the zinc has weathered off?

In test results, thickness of the zinc coatings was expressed as weight in ounces per square foot of surface area of the base metal.

Oklahomans Nominat 'Favorite Son' As National March of Dimes Child

Tracy Greenwood, March of Dimes Poster Child for 1969, sounds much like any other 5-year-old boy. He puts on a cowboy hat when he climbs up on his father's tractor at their home in Oklahoma. He wrestles with his older brother, Jamie, and takes care of his menagerie of pets.

None of this is easy for Tracy. Born with an open spine and hydrocephalus (water on the brain), the handsome, impish youngster is encumbered by full leg braces and wooden crutches. Yet, as any visitor to the Greenwood's neat home in Velma can see, Tracy has conquered the heavy equipment with humor, determination and the constant encouragement of his family.

Doctors were pessimistic about his chances for survival when Tracy was born. They feared permanent brain damage if he lived and doubted whether he would walk at all.

At 3 months, he was taken to Children's Memorial Hospital in Oklahoma City where the March of Dimes supports a Birth Defects Center, and has undergone major surgery five times.

For Tracy, the March of Dimes program of comprehensive care consists of regular checkups by an orthopedist, neurologist, urologist and physical therapist. His mother helps him with daily exercises at home.

Today, he is a symbol of the quarter of a million babies born every year in the United States with birth defects. As National Poster Child, he will represent them in cities and towns across the country during January for the annual fund-raising appeal by the March of Dimes.

The voluntary health agency is now in its second decade of leading the fight to prevent birth defects. In this period, it has established a nationwide network of 103 birth defects centers where outstanding teams of medical professionals search for the causes of these tragedies and provide the most modern treatment and rehabilitation.

Tracy Greenwood is an example of the progress they are making. His pretty young mother, Betty, says, "We wouldn't have Tracy today if it weren't for March of Dimes research. They came up with the answers needed for our son and children like him."

Although he has been singled out for national attention, he is still called "Hound Dog" at home. Bright, happy and well-adjusted, his full day begins at 7 a.m. He spends as much time as possible playing outdoors with his brother, Jamie, who is 7 and in normal health.

Tracy is developing extra strength in his upper body as a result of his exercises. He puts this advantage to work during wrestling matches with Jamie and proudly announces the news when he "gets" his brother.

Tracy is an avid television fan whose tastes run to cartoons. His favorite books are animal stories and he lavishes attention on his rabbits, Hoppy and Freckles, his cat, Prissy, a Welsh Terrier named Susie, and Puff, a German Shepherd.

The Greenwoods drew the notice of fellow "Sooners" after local news stories appeared about the tragedies they had faced and overcome. Mr. Greenwood suffered near-fatal injuries three years ago when the gasoline truck he was driving exploded. Betty Greenwood carried on courageously and has been rewarded by the excellent progress that both her husband and son are making.

As a result, the March of Dimes was bombarded with petitions on Tracy's behalf from thousands of Oklahomans, including U. S. Congressman Carl Albert (D., Okla.), House Majority Leader.

12.9 years. Wires coated with 0.35 ounces began rusting in 10.8 years and were entirely rust-covered in 17 years. After 20 years of exposure, wires with less than 0.8 ounces began to rust or were completely rusted. All samples above 0.8 ounces of zinc or more were free of rust.

Wilkes said that once the coating broke down, corrosion rate was similar to that of unprotected metal.

Rusting was less in all cases with electroplated wire compared with other application processes. Corrosion rates were independent of the base metal wire diameter.

Wilkes recommended that farmers and ranchers in East Texas and along the Gulf Coast buy the heavier coated wire for permanent fencing, such as along highways and property boundary lines. But in West Texas, with its sparse rainfall, the lighter zinc coated wire should be entirely satisfactory and less expensive.

Crop Residues Are Valuable

By TOMMY POWELL, Soil Conservation Service

When the last load of grain leaves the field, the harvest is over. Or is it? There are still tons of stubble standing in the field and surely this remaining portion of the crop has some value.

Indeed it does. When left on the soil surface it is a very effective insulator. It insulates the soil surface from drying winds, sun, and driving rains. Crop stubble keeps the soil cool on hot days by shielding the ground from the sun. In wintertime, a good stubble crop catches blowing snow and holds it on the fields to melt and soak into the land.

At any time of the year, stubble protects the soil from drying winds. It breaks the force of raindrops, thereby allowing moisture to penetrate the soil rather than packing and sealing the ground from further water intake.

In short, a good stubble crop increases water intake into the soil and reduces evaporation. Stubble management, therefore, might be worth the same amount as a good rain the next season.

While performing all of these functions, crop residues are also insulating the soil from wind and water erosion. They are protecting an investment in land.

The local Soil Conservation Service employees can furnish guidance concerning residue amounts needed for specific soils in this area.
