ACREAGE REPORTS — As soon as your cotton and feed grain crops are planted and up to a good stand, you should come by the ASCS Office and file your report of acreage. August 15, 1969, is the final date to report these crops and diverted acreages.

It is very important that each producer has enough land which will meet the eligibility requirements to be designated as diverted acres as this could be an important factor in your program payments.

Let us remind you once again that if you are not sure of your acreages, a measurement service is available upon request and payment of the charges.

NEW STATE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR — Mr. D. W. McElwath of Harlingen, Texas has been named State Executive Director of Texas State ASCS. He replaces Mr. W. Lewis David who has held this position for several years.

NEWS FROM Congressmen Bob Price 18th District, Texas

The House of Representatives passed and sent to the President Monday, May 19, 1969, Bill 10595. This bill, which sponsored recently with members, if enacted will extend for 10 additional years the Great Plains Conservation Program.

The legislation will extend for 10 years the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture to share cost-sharing soil and water conservation projects with farmers in the Great Plains states.

Created by Congress the Great Plains Conservation Program was designed to assist ranchers in applying conservation programs to their land. Special emphasis is placed on converting land unsuitable for sustained crop production to permanent grass.

The critical conservation needs of the program areas in the ten Great Plains states cannot be met by the end of 1971. The Great Plains Program, with adequate financing, will help meet the problems of protracted drought which undoubtedly will arise in the future as they have in the past.

The bill provides an authorization of $150 million for the ten tion payable in excess of $25 million.

also expanded the water conservation project measures to include fish, wildlife, and resources of the Great to reduce or control, and air pollutants.

nesday, May 21, 1969, H. R. 11547 to amend consolidated FHA Act of 1962, to increase the amount of the loan to any one borrower from $75,000 to $100,000. It would increase the loan limit for farm loans from $50,000 to $75,000. I am also preparing legislation which would provide for increasing the amount of the loan in the same manner as the program.

high interest in this matter, I believe everyone understanding of this note the following.

ack on the oil industry taxation has been particularly emotional. The time is at hand for sobriety of judgment in this matter rather than additional excesses of argument based on emotional sentiment.

In reviewing the record now before the Ways and Means Committee, the evidence clearly reveals and is confirmed by my colleague, Congressman George Bush, who is a member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee that: (a) on total taxes, the oil industry does pay its share of taxes, (b) the oil industry is not disproportionately profitable. Using return on invested capital as a yardstick, the industry ranks right in the middle of all other industries. It is not more profitable than most manufacturing enterprises. (c) the price of petroleum products has not risen nearly as fast nor gone nearly as high as products of other industries. (d) there is an acute need to find more domestic reserves; the ratio between proved reserves and consumption has declined rapidly. (e) the gas industry picture is exceptionally perilous in terms of long-range supply and consumption. These points were not substantially challenged in the Ways and Means Committee, and yet incessant emotion prevails—the myth continues of the "rich oil man" getting fat at the expense of other taxpayers.

The House of Representatives passed the Agriculture Appropriations Bill for Fiscal Year 1970 last Tuesday, and in so doing, attached a rider limiting the amount of payments under the cotton, feed, grain, and wheat payments in 1970 to $20,000 per farmer. This amendment was subject to a great deal of debate and is very important in its application to west Texas farmers.

"I opposed the amendment together with the Leadership on both sides of the aisle in the House, in the Appropriations Committee, and in the Agriculture Committee. I felt this was not the time nor the place to attach the amendment of such importance to farmers throughout the District and our State.

Since the limitation would trigger debate, I think you will be interested in some of the ramifications of the House action. When the bill is considered in the Senate, the effect of the so-called 'snap-back clause' will be of prime consideration.

The 'snap-back clause' is Section 103, D12 of the Agriculture Act of 1949, as amended in 1965, and in essence, it states that the House limitation on payments (such as was done by the House on Tuesday) enacted through low price support programs on upland cotton will snap back and revert to a different type of price support. The snap-back clause says that in such event the Secretary would support upland cotton by loans and purchases at a level somewhere between 65 per cent and 90 per cent of parity. The 65 per cent parity figure is 31.7c per pound on middling inch cotton. The snap-back clause goes on to say that the Secretary may accomplish this support either through a device called 'simultaneous purchase and sale' whereby the Government would buy the cotton at a high price and sell it

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Facts of interest to outdoorsmen:

You nearly always see turtles in water or on dead stumps or tree limbs extending out over the water. But they lay their eggs in the sand on the shore and beach.

It is interesting to watch chipmunks gather food. This tiny little animal, about six inches long, can carry a tremendous amount of food in the pouch of its elastic cheek.

The horseshoe crab is classified as a true living fossil. It crawls around on the beaches and in the edge of the water. But it has been found on the ocean floor at times indicating 400 million years as a true living fossil.

Flounders are plentiful along the Texas coast, but none is as large as the 21-pounder caught in Chile, said to be the largest on record.

Texas has splendid pronghorn antelope range. But according to license reports Wyoming issues more permits than any other state in the Union.

Reason Texas and other Central Flyway states have an early teal season is that teal migrate south ahead of other waterfowl.

South Texas bobcats have much smaller paws than the Canadian lynx, which often must tread on snow.

We constantly fight mosquitoes although scientists say there are more than 2,500 species which do not prey upon humans.

Little frogs are subject to greatest predation. They are eaten by fish in the water, animals on land, and birds from the treetops.

A little field mouse can consume its weight in food every 24 hours.

The ant is a good neighbor — for other ants. It has two stomachs, one for storing its own food and the other for storing food it shares with other ants.

When you look across a meadow on a frosty morning and see beautiful and artistic spider webs glistening in the sun, remember that as many as two million individual spiders may be living on each acre of ground.

Fertile soil works wonders because one spoutful may contain more tiny plants and animals than there are people in the world. So say scientists.

Ancestors of present-day goldfish were originally green in color. But it is also true that when goldfish are liberated in streams they may soon resort to early characteristics and become carp.

Situation Favorable For Chemical Control Of Mesquite

With all the moisture we've had this spring, the situation is real favorable for mesquite control, says B. J. Ragsdale, Extension range specialist at Texas A&M University.

Mesquite is the most troublesome brush on some 56 million acres of rangeland in Texas. It invades abandoned cultivated fields rapidly when the area is not seeded and maintained in high-producing native grass. Ragsdale noted that it is also increasing in density at a rapid rate on areas already infested with the plant.

Until chemical control methods were developed, mesquite had to be controlled by mechanical methods which generally were costly and disturbed the native turf. Grass recovery usually is much slower on mechanically controlled areas than where mesquite is controlled with chemicals.

For control of the tree-type mesquite, all trees should be at least four feet tall or more, and four to six years old with dense foliage. The chemicals should be applied as a foliage spray in the spring, 40 to 90 days after the first green growth appears at the bud. Ragsdale suggested mixing one-half pound of 2, 4, 5-T to one gallon of diesel oil and water to make four gallons of solution per acre.

For running-type mesquite or if weed control is necessary, the best mixture would be two-thirds pound of 2, 4, 5-T, with one gallon of diesel oil and water to make five gallons of solution per acre.

ACCURATE RECORDS

Farmers are advised that the Department of Labor requires the keeping of accurate records covering farm workers under the minimum wage requirements. The same is true, points out James I. Mallett, Extension farm management specialist, for employers who may be covered under the minimum wage in the future.

Ragsdale also emphasized following the directions on the USDA approval labels on the containers. If this precaution is observed, there should be no danger from chemical residues, he said.

Miss Sarah Ann Antrobus Weds Mr. Sam Kendall In Church Ceremony Wednesday

In a candlelight ceremony Wednesday evening, June 4, at the First United Methodist Church, Clarendon, Texas, Miss Sarah Ann Antrobus of Odessa, Texas became the bride of Mr. Sam A. Kendall, Jr. of Plainview, Texas. The Rev. Carl Nunn, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. B. C. Antrobus and the late Mrs. Antrobus of Clarendon. The groom is the son of Mrs. Sam A. Kendall, Sr. and the late Mr. Kendall of Otton, Texas.

The bride and groom knelt in front of an arched candelabra with votive candles flanked by two candelabra also holding white votive candles. A spray of white carnations centered the arched candelabra in front of which was a satin covered kneeling bench. Pews were marked by white ribbons entwined with ivy. The use of greenery and white votive candles carried out the bride's chosen colors of green and white.

Mr. Robert Leathers, organist, presented a nuptial prelude "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Because," "Panis Angelicus," "Serenade," "Intermezzo" and a special solo "Traumerel."

A ribbon rope placed on the aisle down which the bridal party passed was clipped by Master James Matthew Semrad prior to the entrance of the bridal party and specially seated guests included Mrs. Sam A. Kendall, Sr.

of Otton; Mrs. Jolly Johnson of Beaumont, Texas, Mrs. Ora Nunnally of Hereford and Mrs. Eleanor S. Griffin of Plainview.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie fashioned with an empire bodice and slightly laced skirt, long bell-shaped laced sleeves, and a cathedral train. Her floor-length veil of imported illusion extended to the end of the train and was attached to a double tiara of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white gardenias atop a New Testament given to her by her maternal grandmother. Tucked within the bouquet was her mother's wedding rings. She wore a single strand of pearls given her by the groom and carried a handkerchief that had been carried by her aunt, Mrs. O. C. Watson, almost sixty years ago.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. C. E. DeBord of Pantex. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William H. Gray of Amarillo, Mrs. J. V. Semrad of Lubbock, Miss Norma Self of Canyon, and Miss Fredda Bourland of Whiteface.

Attendants wore formal dresses of lime green moire designed with a sleeveless bodice, and headpieces featuring blush veils to the front extending to the waistline at the back attached to a bow of fabric matching that of the dress. Each carried a Texas lawmakers have written the record of the 61st regular session, but their toughest job—levying the taxes to pay for what they have ordered—remains to be done.

In adopting a $2.8 billion one-year state budget (for 1970), they invited a special session to complete appropriations for 1971 and to decide on the inevitable major tax bill, Legislative leaders, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher, claim the latter will be smaller if the finance showdown can be delayed until next year.

Gov. Preston Smith, who holds the key to the timing of the special session, has made clear from the start that he feels the Legislature should face up to a biennial budget and the raising of needed revenue. He could veto the single-year bill and call another session immediately—or accept it and schedule the remaining financial work whenever he pleases.

Many all-time legislative records have topped at this session. Certainly, the first session passed more legislation than any before it, and it was committed in advance to spending more money.

A multitude of laudable ends were attained. Giant strides were made in the field of education. Teachers got a $61.9 million pay raise. Overhauls were ordered in the field of vocational and technical education. Three new medical schools, a dental school and two new nursing schools were authorized. Also, three new universities, plus an experimental upper level branch college in Laredo. Never have so many new higher educational facilities been launched in a single session.

A master water plan got all the legislative support it could expect. Workmen's compensation laws were updated. Sweeping controls were approved over air and water pollution. A constitutional amendment to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink was submitted, along with many other proposed changes in the constitution. State employees got a 6.8 per cent pay raise.

Texas' 61st Legislature was a busy, productive session. It was a liberal-spending one with the bills yet to be paid.

"The citizenship of Texas will applaud our work at this session and give us their full support when we return to appropriate and finance the second year of the biennium," concluded Speaker Mutscher.

Texas' new State Criminal Justice Council has recommended a comprehensive $1.1 million law enforcement plan that covers a wide scope of activities. Governor Smith will analyze it before it goes to the U. S. Department of Justice for approval and funding under the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Funds for a two-year operation must be committed by June 30.

Texas received $234,000 for riot control and $830,350 in planning money six months ago.

Council voted priority funding to these programs: Prevention of juvenile delinquency, education and training in all elements of the criminal justice system, regional and statewide information and communication systems, community relations programs, experimental and demonstration projects to test and evaluate new approaches to solving problems in criminal justice system.

Approved funds will be disbursed to 21 geographical planning regions of the state. Congress now is considering funding which would provide Texas more than $71 million in action money, plus planning aid for next year to develop a long-range plan and begin putting it into effect.

An order by the Midland District Court to jail nine union members for picketing the Texaco plant at Port Arthur was invalidated by the State Supreme Court. House of Representatives followed up in a matter of hours by passing a bill directing that lawsuits to halt picketing and strikes must be filed in the counties where the labor dispute arises.

Supreme Court ordered an Austin trial before August 1 of Clyde Durbin Jr. charged with

A WORD FROM AUSTIN

By Senator J. P. Word

A $2.8 BILLION, 1-YEAR APPROPRIATIONS BILL was passed in the Senate by a vote of 30-1, then approved by the House, 124-24, late last week. Lt. Gov. Barnes said the adoption of the 1-year spending bill written by the House-Senate Conference Committee could give the taxpayers a year and a half moratorium on $300 million in new taxes. If Gov. Smith does not veto it and call for a two-year appropriations bill, the State's anticipated growth can cut the size of the tax bill that will have to be written next year. If the governor vetoes the bill, the Legislature will be forced to go into a special session this summer to prepare a two-year appropriations bill and a tax bill.

THE SPENDING BILL CALLS for expenditures in the coming year of $370 million from the General Revenue Fund, which is included in $2.8 billion spending from all funds, most of it dedicated to special purposes such as highways. Items included in the budget are a 6.8 per cent pay raise for state employees, planning money for a series of new state colleges and medical schools, college faculty pay raises and, in general, the necessary house-keeping functions of running the state.

"INSUPPORTABILITY" would be new ground for divorce under the proposed bill to amend the Family Code which I sponsored in the Senate. Presently, a divorce may be decreed because of cruelty, conviction of a felony, abandonment, living apart, or confinement in a mental hospital for at least three years. Many of these grounds for divorce is the fault of both persons. "Insupportability" would allow a divorce to be granted, without regard to fault, if the marriage has become unworkable because of discord or conflict of personalities. Another provision of the bill to amend the Family Code would reduce the age at which a male may marry without parental consent from 21 to 19. The consent age for women would remain at 18 years.

LEGISLATIVE ETHICS — The Senate passed and sent to the House a Code of Ethics bill that would require members of the Legislature to report their financial dealings with firms regulated by the state and to report when they are representing a client before a state agency for a fee.

Texas Foundation School Fund Budget Committee must include cost estimates for the school program training all prison system inmates over and under 21 years of age who are not high school graduates.

A bill providing for private road construction and maintenance in counties of 10,000 to 10,500 population is unconstitutional as a local and special bill. Bexar County is required to advertise for competitive bids on all purchases including road machinery, although some emergency buying is expected.

State funds cannot be used for payment of group insurance policies for legislators and their dependents.

An act to prohibit corporations from engaging in farming or ranching (allowing a 10-year-period to sell interests) would be constitutional.

State treasurer must publish information on unclaimed funds over $50 held and owing by life insurance companies. Davis W. Tees, assistant city manager of Arlington, is now with the Institute of Urban Studies of the University of Texas System.

Major General Max H. Specht of New Braunfels assumed command of Texas State Guard, replacing Maj. Gen. Harley B. West of Dallas. Musicians Bob Wills, Tex Ritter and Ernest Tubbs were named "country music ambassadors of good will from Texas," after being honored by the Legislature.

Texas Ranger Captain James M. Ray of Lubbock is the new chief of Criminal Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Public Safety. Follow Through Head Start grants have been extended to seven Texas school districts by order of the governor.

Districts benefitting are Corpus Christi, Dimmitt, Fort Worth, Houston, Rosbud, San Diego and Uvalde. Follow Through program will carry benefits of pre-school Head Start training into primary grades of public schools to make sure children maintain their gains.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jacobs of San Diego, Calif., visited a short time Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Estlack.

Some people are so grateful Say Thank You every day, To God for daily blessings, That always come their way.

Most folks do always seem grateful for the good blessings of life but a few, and it is a small minority just seem to take things for granted. Just sort of sponge their way through life.

Someone noticed this sign in a nearby hospital Maternity Ward — No Children Allowed. The sign had been read thousands of times but this person saw the funny side.

In this same hospital one fellow thought the chicken soup was mighty week. He told the nurse that it had been made from the shadow of a poor chicken that had starved to death. My Uncle Fud used to say that if he went to church spiritually hungry and came home spiritually fed that he never worried so much whether the air conditioning was working or if he got there in time to get one of the specially cushioned pews.

My lower forty neighbor must have been listening to Dan True's Coyote Whisker Weather Reports. After approaching his banker for a loan he commented: "That Little Dude really set off a heavy Trough Line between me and him. His Altitude left me high and dry, and his Humidity was as cold as one of those Blue Northerners leaving out of Dalhart for Amarillo."

It is not mine to know Dear Lord Which paths our feet must go. But if we place our trust in Thee We know our faith will grow.

You've admired it long enough from the outside. Now find out what it's like inside with a Command Performance Drive.

This is your finest opportunity to fulfill that ambition to get behind the wheel of a new Cadillac. It's the one way to satisfy yourself that only Cadillac offers the luxury, comfort, driving pleasure and pride of ownership you have a right to enjoy in an automobile. And there's no obligation. Once inside a Cadillac you'll discover even more than you anticipated: elegant fabrics, beautiful appointments and considered comforts that match the distinctiveness of Cadillac's styling. Perhaps more impressive—only because you tend to think first of Cadillac's luxury—is its performance. Cadillac's big 472 V-8 engine is spirited in its response to every driving command, yet so quiet you'll scarcely hear it. And as you drive, you'll note how deftly you can handle a Cadillac in any kind of traffic, in any situation. Your authorized Cadillac dealer is eager to show you how much more a Cadillac offers... that it costs no more to own and operate than many cars of lesser stature. Now is a particularly advantageous time to see him for a Command Performance Drive. You'll be glad you did.

do they really "go to school" BEFORE JOINING the church?

As much as anything else, Confirmation (or Inquirers') classes are for the "joinee's" own protection... so that he knows exactly what he's getting into. This simple, interesting set of instructions from the minister assures complete understanding the church's tenets. It carries no obligation to become a member.

Episcopalians don't discount the sudden revelation of God's presence. (Some call it "seeing the light.") They do, however, believe that a more deliberate initiation into church membership is less likely to "wear thin" in subsequent years.

They have some pretty good reasons for believing theirs is a "thinking-man's religion." Christ, they say, demanded simple faith—but not blind faith.

Periodically, your nearest Episcopal church offers a series of Inquirers' classes. Here's an excellent opportunity to learn, without obligation, if the Episcopal Church offers something you've found missing in your previous religious experience. The minister—if you call him—would be delighted to discuss it with you.

One of a series presented by "Those Crazy Episcopalians" in your area.

National Little League Baseball Week June 9 - 14

Two million youngsters, their parents and leaders of more than 6,000 communities will participate in the observance of National Little League Baseball Week, June 9-14, 1969.

Originally set aside in Presidential proclamation by the late Presidents Dwight Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, Little League Week calls for nationwide attention to the Little League movement as a wholesome, beneficial experience carried on in the public interest for boys throughout the world. Local communities conduct special events during this period to highlight the activities of the program and to encourage support and interest.

In announcing plans for Little League Week, President Peter J. McGovern said the occasion of an annual observance serves to re-affirm the dedication of thousands of men and women volunteers to the achievement of beneficial goals for the nation's youth. He emphasized that Little League is the only sports agency in the United States to hold Federal charter of incorporation and its role in cultivating a climate of decency, discipline and teamwork is vital to the preservation of American ideals.

McGovern also pointed out that the Little League Foundation, which supports the work of the program, conducts its one-time-a-year drive for funds during Little League Week. As a deficit activity, Little League is dependent on the charitable interest of thoughtful citizens who recognize its values. These are translated annually to two million youngsters without resort to the tax dollar. All contributions to the Foundation are deductible, McGovern said, and he urged all who can do so to help in the 1969 drive.

New Rules For Employing Youth Under 16 Years Old

Summer months are here and many farmers and ranchers will be hiring boys and girls to fill in for the critical labor shortage during the summer months. But before employing such youth, certain requirements must be met under the Fair Labor Standard Act as amended in 1966.

Employers must abide by the Agriculture and Child Labor Requirements when hiring youth under 16 years of age other than the owner's or operator's own children.

The law states briefly that youngsters under 16 cannot be hired to operate or ride on tractors (over 20 belt horsepower) or self-loading wagons or hoist wagons; operate or unplug combines, field balers, hay conditioners, forage harvesters, corn pickers, roughage blowers or crop dryers; operate post-hole diggers or power driven saws; or work inside a gas-tight forage or grain inclosure or in a yard, pen or stall occupied by a dairy bull, boar or stud horse. These standards do not apply when a youngster under 16 is employed by his parent on a farm owned or operated by such parent. Also those youth under 16 who have completed a bona fide cooperative vocational training program are exempt from the provisions of the act.

Many county agricultural agents in the area are conducting such training programs at the present in order to prepare youngsters between the ages of 14 and 16 for summer employment.

This training mainly involves the safe operation of tractors and farm machinery. Identification cards are issued after successful completion of the training program, and employers should make sure that youngsters have these cards before hiring them.

An employer can be fined up to $10,000 for willful violation of the Labor Act.

Check with your county agricultural agent for additional information on Child Labor if you have plans to employ youngsters on your farm or ranch this summer.
