VOTERS TURN DOWN AIRPORT REFERENDUM

A large number of Clarendon voters went to the polls Saturday and cast their ballot in the Airport Referendum Election which was defeated by a majority vote of 301 against as compared with 243 for. A total of 544 votes were cast Saturday and by absentee.

A number of voters cast absentee ballots due to the Regional basketball tourney at Lubbock Saturday.

The total vote was considered exceptional since this was an off-election year and expressed the opinion of a majority in not constructing a new airport at this time.

The first good snow of the winter started falling here Sunday morning and by Monday morning it was six inches deep and measured out .72 moisture up until Tuesday morning. An additional .23 was measured Tuesday night and the snow was still coming down at press time.

This being a wet snow, it was much more beneficial as very little drifting was in evidence.

YOUNG PEOPLE TOP THE LIST

In this day and age everyone hears so much about the bad that is being done every day and little note is made of the good. Your editor and his wife had a unique experience in their life and would like to share it with you.

We left Lubbock about 10 o'clock Saturday night following the presentation of the Class A Basketball trophy, stopped in Canyon to visit a few minutes with our children and traveled on homeward. We encountered a terrible snowstorm that slowed progress until just out of Goodnight.

We thought we had it made when the right rear tire blew out. It was terribly cold and the change was just about to get underway when a cool little sport car pulled up in front of us, came to an abrupt halt and out climbed four young men in shirt sleeves. They took over the job, changed the tire, would accept no pay, announced that it had been a long time since they had been able to do a good deed and that this was their opportunity. They were off and gone.

The young men were from Amarillo, just larking around, early in the morning. But wouldn't you know it—That is our young people today! No, we don't know their names but we will always remember their kindness.

The public is invited to see these events free of charge. Fishing starts at 8 a.m. and continues until noon. Skiing starts at 1:30 p.m. Should high winds prevail events will be called off until a later date.

Mrs. U. J. Boston of Amarillo visited with Mrs. Edith Longan Saturday afternoon.

A big crowd was on hand for the Pep Rally and Send-Off Tuesday morning when the Bronchos left for Austin to play in the State Basketball Tournament for the first time in the history of Clarendon High School. The Bronchos won the right to play at Austin by winning the Regional Championship at Lubbock Saturday.

Fans and students gathered in the high school gym at 9 a.m. Tuesday. The Rally got underway with the wedding of the Bronchos to Miss State Champion which was quite clever, colorful and enjoyable for all in attendance. Following the rally, the Bronchos boarded their bus for the trip to Brownwood where they were scheduled to work out Tuesday afternoon.

The Bronchos will open the state tourney at 9:45 this morning (Thursday) with Friendswood as their first opponent. After they win this game they will meet the winner of the West Sabine-Detroit game at 8:20 Saturday night. Just in case they should lose their first game (we don't think so) they will play for third place Friday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Both games that the Bronchos play will be broadcast over Radio Station KGNC for the benefit of those left at home.

The games will be played in Gregory Gym about 15 blocks north of the State Capitol on the University of Texas campus.

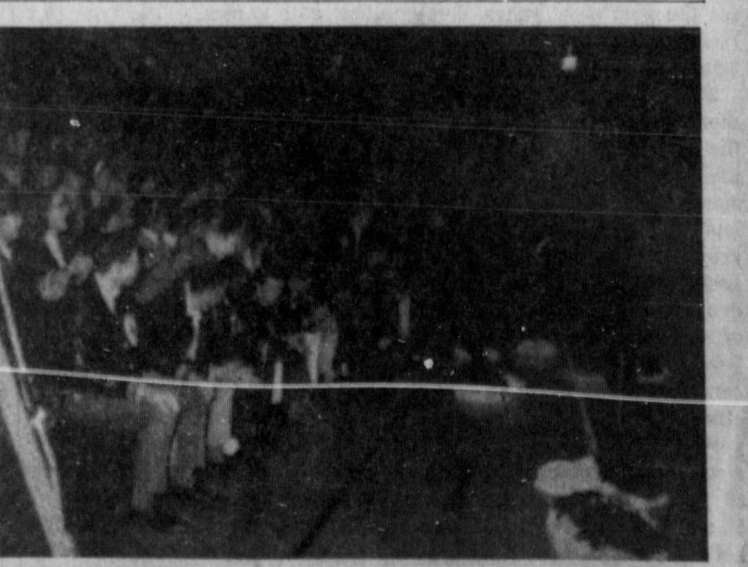

A chartered bus of local fans was scheduled to leave Clarendon at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon and hosts of other fans going in private cars were leaving all day long or planning to leave after work hours Wednesday night just as long as they could arrive at the State Capitol in time for the game Thursday morning.

LEADER OPERATOR'S MOTHER IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Altie Hoggard, mother of Gene Hoggard who is Linotype operator at the Leader office, fell Saturday morning breaking her hip. She was entered in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Monday morning and underwent surgery to pin the hip Tuesday morning. At last report she was doing as well as could be expected. However, doctors reported it would be some 24 to 48 hours before much change could be expected.

Congressman
Bob Price

18th District, Texas

In his budget message to Congress before leaving office, President Johnson included a warning that "it may be necessary within the next few months to raise the present debt limit." President Nixon found when he took office that the public debt subject to limit was $364.2 billion—only $800 million below the statutory ceiling of $365 billion. Present estimates now indicate that borrowings needed to provide the Government with minimum cash balances essential for its operations will place the debt subject to limit at or above the legal ceiling by mid-April.

In a recent message to Congress, President Nixon said that these projections have been reviewed and updated on the basis of the latest revenue and expenditure flows but there was still inadequate leeway under the debt limit to meet all anticipated cash requirements through the middle of April. Therefore, the President said he would ask Congress to revise the debt limit before mid-April and provide a reasonable margin for contingencies.

All department and agency heads, he said, are now reviewing their programs in a determined effort to reduce costs. "But we should not let our hopes for success in this effort deter us from the necessary action on the debt limit," the President said. "Such cost reductions can have only a minor effect on expenditures in the next month or two, and it is in early March and again in early April that the treasury will be faced with the heaviest drain on its resources."

During both sessions of the 90th Congress — my first term — I supported all efforts to reduce Federal spending including my vote against establishment of the Kappel Commission whose recommendations resulted in the recent pay increases for members of Congress, Supreme Court Justices, Cabinet Secretaries, and other high-ranking Federal officials. I also opposed the 10 per cent surtax which the President now says must be extended in his fight against inflation. When the so-called Revenue and Expenditure Control Act of 1968 which included the 10 per cent surtax was passed, I said that I had opposed the bill because I believed — and still do — that our problem is, as it has been for the past eight years, Government overspending, not under-taxing.

The deficit for Fiscal 1968 was more than $25 billion and since the last balanced budget of 1960, the Federal Government has spent $60.6 billion more than it has taken in. The 1970 budget proposed by President Johnson and now under study by President Nixon predicted a surplus of some $3.4 billion. But this was based on extension of the 10 per cent surtax and income from other proposals yet to be approved by Congress. The surtax alone would produce an estimated $9 billion so, obviously, without it there would be a substantial budget deficit.

A former White House assistant made the observation that one of President Johnson's defenses of the high spending outlays of his Administration was "carrying on a commitment made by President Eisenhower and continued by President Kennedy."

"Eisenhower got credit card, Kennedy made a few purchases with it, and the big bills came to LBJ," he said. He didn't mention, however, the mass of domestic and other non-military spending legislation that was railroaded through the lopsided Democratic 89th and 90th Congresses by LBJ.

President Johnson insisted on guns and butter as he pushed his Great Society programs through Congress and refused to heed the warnings of inflation. So, more accurately, the big bills are coming to President Nixon who has inherited the mess but has made it clear that he will do whatever is necessary to halt inflation and stabilize prices.

Like the withdrawal agony of a dope addict, the process will be painful. Until the economy can be brought under control and meaningful reductions in Government spending for non-military projects can be made, the "pain" will probably include a boost in the public ceiling, continued high interest rates and a temporary extension of the surtax. If successful, these measures, as distasteful as they are, will certainly be preferable to a continuation of cost-of-living increases which ran at a rate of almost 5 per cent last year.

HABITS

We form our habits while we're young, And keep them all our days, A leopard can not change his spots, Nor an old dog his ways. . .

We grow more set in that we da More difficult to bear, We expect folks to understand— Lend a sympathetic tear.

So spare the rod, and spoil the child Like twig is bent, so grows the tree Spells out each life away.

Middle age is where we think of resigning from the Jet Set, and joining up with the Set Set.

The search for truth is so difficult that even the preachers argue about it.

We send best wishes to you all— To each dear friend we know, The year will bring the best to you— If wishing can make it so.

If we give the other fellow a chance to talk he will appreciate, we stand a good chance of learning something . . .

Some folks are so busy learning the tricks of the trade, that they never do learn the trade.

Our success in life is given a good shove by good judgment.

Dear God we need Thy tender care To keep us day and night, We cannot make our way alone We need Thy guiding light.

No one would buy a frown at any price, No one would question the worth of a friendly smile.

WHAT TO EXPECT IN FOOD PRICES FOR 1969

Retail food prices in the first half of 1969 are likely to average close to current levels.

According to Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, prices will be lower on many fruit products, fresh and processed vegetables, fats and oil products and pork.

Eggs, turkey, dairy products, potatoes, candy and other chocolate products and soft drinks will be higher than in 1968, she says.

Prices will stay about the same for beef, cereal and bakery products, sugar, tea and coffee, says Mrs. Clyatt who works with Texas A&M University.

On the average, about 17.2 per cent of after-tax income was spent for food in 1968, down fractionally from 1967. Americans will continue to eat more meat and other high protein foods and less carbohydrates such as potatoes and cereals, she predicts.

Urban Youth Like 4-H

4-H is no longer an organization strictly for farm youth, according to Tom Davison, assistant state 4-H leader at Texas A&M University.

Davison says that only 34 per cent of the state's 4-H members live on a farm. Thirty per cent of the members are rural non-farm, and the other approximately 36 per cent have urban addresses.

4-H was originally a program to assist farm youth who were not receiving an adequate education in agriculture and home-making skills. Then, as families migrated to urban areas, the 4-H program went with them.

4-H moved to town in the memories of parents who wanted their children to have the same experience they had as 4-H members on the farm, said Davison.

There are 2,493 4-H Clubs in Texas, with 83,167 members between the ages of 8 to 19. Adult leaders number 13,410, and junior leaders total 5,614. In the nation, there are 26 million 4-H alumni.

New projects are added and traditional ones revamped. Projects such as photography, electric, woodworking, entomology, and knitting have shown an increase in popularity. Davison emphasizes the value of 4-H demonstrations as a skill useful in the educational process.

Reading, citizenship, and the new science projects are popular as well as practical for youth living in urban and suburban homes, he noted.

4-H programs and experiences have helped many youth to establish careers in agriculture and related fields, says Davison.

This spring, footwear is in soft pastels such as apricot, yellow, aqua and dawn pink, and in light neutrals such as champagne, wicker beige, mushroom and straw-colored leghorn, reports Dr. Graham Hard, Extension clothing specialist.

Of all pursuits from which profit accrues, nothing is superior to agriculture, nothing more productive, nothing more enjoyable, nothing more worthy of a free man.—Cicero

Words fail to express our deep appreciation to each one who helped us during the illness and death of our Mother. Each prayer, visit, flower, card, and the many kindnesses done in the hour of sorrow were so comforting to the family. May we say God bless every one.

The Family of Mrs. W. I. Rains

If it were possible to thank all of our many friends personally, that would be our desire. Since it isn't may we take this method. Words can not express our thanks and gratitude for the many years of friendship and kindnesses extended to our parents in times past. Especially do we thank each of you for the flowers and kind words of sympathy to us in the death of our mother.

The Dodson Family

The recent bereavement which has visited our home has brought to us an even greater appreciation of our friends. The beautiful service, floral offerings, memorials and other kindnesses for which we are so deeply grateful, will always remain with us as a precious memory.

Farm News

from County ASCS Com.

RYE ON DIVERTED ACRES — Rye on diverted acres does not have to be destroyed. It may be left on the land for reseeding. However, this must be reported to the county office no later than May 1.

BARLEY BASES — Producers who have barley bases must report by May 1 any acreage of barley seeded or no barley seeded. This is very important in determining the amount of grain sorghum which can be planted. Producers who fail to make the report will be considered out of compliance and ineligible for feed grain program payments.

ACP — The ASCS State Committee has again reinstated the policy that deliberate burning of any crop residue violates reasonable conservation principles and will be considered a practice tending to defeat the purposes of the Agricultural Conservation Program. This is a change from last year, when in certain instances with prior approval of the County Committee, stubble could be burned. Please remember, deliberate burning of crop residue will result in loss of ACP cost shares received throughout the year.

SIGNUPS — Signup for the 1969 farm programs is well underway in the county office. Approximately 50 per cent of the farms are now signed up with only two weeks remaining.

Let us urge you to come on in now and avoid a last minute rush.

LAST CALL!!! March 10 is the last day to release or request extra cotton.

The new conservation is work not for some Americans — but for all Americans. All will share in its blessings — and all will suffer if the work is neglected. —President Lyndon B. Johnson

A&M Scientist Scores Again

A USDA biochemist at Texas A&M University has developed an artificial diet for mass rearing of aphid lions, a big enemy of many insect pests.

Dr. Erma S. Vanderzant has successfully raised 10 generations of the little predators on a water solution of amino acids, sugars, vitamins, salts and other nutrients. Best results were had by feeding the lions twice daily on tiny cellulose sponges saturated with the diet.

Aphid lions are the larvae of the green lacewing (Chrysopa carnea). The larvae have a hefty appetite for insect pests of corn, cotton, tobacco, tomatoes and other crops. Research at A&M is aimed primarily at bugs that feed on cotton.

Aphid lions gave promising results against insect pests in previous tests at College Station, but a suitable mass-rearing method was not available. Large numbers of the beneficial little hunters are needed for big-scale testing to see if this biological, non-chemical approach is practical.

The artificial diet, of course, beats the old laborious and costly system of feeding the aphid lions on other insects. The biochemist got a 76 per cent emergence of adult lacewings from cocoons in tests with the new diet. A generation can be raised in about 32 days.

Dr. Vanderzant is widely known for her work with artificial insect diets. Several years ago, she made biochemical and entomological history when she developed a laboratory diet for mass-rearing pink bollworms and boll weevils.

QUALITY HAY NO ACCIDENT

Hay quality, reminds Dr. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist, is largely determined by the fertility of the soil on which it grows and the stage of growth at harvest time. A soil test now, he adds, will provide the information needed for determining how much and the kinds of plant food needed while observation of the growing crop will determine when it should be harvested.

HURRICANE TRAGEDIES

Eighteen Americans lost their lives in hurricanes in 1967, the Insurance Information Institute reports. Hurricanes have killed more than 5,000 persons in the last 50 years, including 1,836 in 1928, the worst year on record.
