TAXES—SEEN AND UNSEEN.
Mark Twain said that everybody talked about the weather but nobody did anything about it. The same is true of taxes—in all forms.

The subject of taxation is a time-worn subject, and the general apathy of those who pay these taxes, has led to what practically amounts to ruthless extraction. And the hidden tax is the most vicious.

Of more than twelve BILLIONS in taxes collected annually by federal, state and local governments, more than seven BILLIONS is made up of HIDDEN taxes. The big fellow passes the tax burden on to the little fellow, and government spends all it can get, and the tax eaters lie awake nights trying to devise further means, fair or foul, to extract more.

As a fair sample of what the taxpayer must endure, Texas taxpayers will have to dig up $825,000 to replace the amount spent by our alleged legislative bodies this session.

Sunday school and church services were well attended Sunday morning and night.

Several Brice families attended the Memphis-Lakeview ball game Sunday afternoon.

FORT WORTH WOMAN HAS LOST TWO HUSBANDS IN SIMILAR WRECKS

FORT WORTH, June 6.—As the Interstate Commerce Commission prepared to investigate the fatal railroad wreck Saturday near Ranger, funeral services for the two railroad men killed were held Monday.

Mrs. L. M. Mann, wife of the engineer killed, has twice lost a husband at the curve where the Texas & Pacific passenger train derailed. Her former husband, J. O. Mann, brother of her second husband, was killed there in 1910. It was the same kind of a wreck, the engine also leaving the track at treacherous Moss Curve.

Both brothers died on duty in their engine cabins. Both brothers were driving west-bound passenger trains. The only difference was that the first wreck took place on April 19 and the second on June 3. The two engines came to rest at spots less than ten feet apart, veteran railroad men said.

Also buried Monday was Fireman Ernest Preston, 50, who died with Mann Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mongole and daughters, Edgar Mae and Mable, visited in Borger Sunday.

Garlic-Parsley an Aid in HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE
Medical reports say that Garlic-Parsley concentrate has a double action in reducing high blood pressure. First, it tends to relax tightened arteries. Second, it checks or inhibits decomposition of waste matter in the bowels, a contributory cause of high blood pressure.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH

By the Apostle

LIVING ADVERTISEMENTS.

To really learn a fellow, take a trip with him. Eat, sleep and live with him. Observe him under conditions where his real character crops out in the little acts as you go along. It's when his inner self comes to the surface that you really can estimate him properly.

NATURE'S BALANCE.

When a fellow gets too blamed lazy to do any "thinking," he does a lot of "talking" for an alibi.

POVERTY'S ASSETS.

Hastoon Yazzie, recently returning from Arkansas, told of the deplorable condition of his kinsmen there in old Izzard county. One of his older brothers had gotten so hard up that he had accumulated 14 bawlin' hounds.

WOMEN ALWAYS LEAD.

With all their gold fish swallowing, the youth of the modern-day colleges has been bested by college girls of Louisiana when they fought duels with chocolate pie. They raked the pie off their faces with a hoe.

GO TO THE DOGS.

Dog racing has contributed over three million dollars to old age assistance in Massachusetts the past year. Why not legalize dog racing in Texas and help the old folks because the state appears to be going to the dogs anyhow, unless the lawmakers decide to "help" Texas rather than "hinder" the Governor.

LIVE STOCK INVENTORY.

Next to John Bull, there is more "bull" shooting in America than any other part of the Globe, but we seem to be short on "corned" beef. Beefing about South American beef evidently got the beef producers of our country exactly nowhere.

SUGGESTION!

So live that when you take your vacation this summer, you would not fear leaving the family parrot with the town gossip.

COURSE IN "HOPOLOGY."

If our West Texas college students want to take up swallowing things, why not sick them on the grasshoppers. It makes little difference to a hopper whether he is swallowed by a turkey or a college student.

BACHELOR BILL AGAIN.

In talking over social conditions Saturday, Bachelor Bill said: "If this keeps going on, every old girl will hold a cup of tea like she was swinging on to a whiskey bottle."

NEXT TO THE CIRCUS.

No, son, the "Greatest Show on Earth," will not be around this summer. They have gone the way of many other American customs since the New Deal has made a zoo out of the whole nation.

THE DILEMMA.

"A person who can write humorous stuff can demand excellent pay," declares a correspondence school. Yes, yes, of course. But can he get it?

ONE REDEMING TRAIT.

The man whose nose is kept constantly on the grindstone, seldom has time to stick his nose into other people's business.

ABOUT 1950.

The weekly session of the Ladies Self Rule club will be held in the cocktail room at Mrs. Jarrold's trailer emporium Tues. evening. Guests are cautioned to bring kimono, cigarettes and aspirin.

ANOTHER 5-CENTER.

A Texas man is said to have learned how to cross a cabbage with an onion, but he failed to say what he would name the cigar.

TWO PROBLEMS.

Poke Jarrod of Caseknife says the two foremost problems of 1939 is to find a place to park, and to know when to jump.

ISN'T IT THE TRUTH.

The man who gets the fewest letters complains the most about the management of the post office; the man who finds the most fault with the preacher pays the least toward his salary; the man without children has the best theory for their bringing up; the bachelor knows the best way to manage a wife and the man who borrows his neighbor's newspaper is the worst critic the paper has.

MOVING ABOUT!

There was a time when half the population of Texas was said to be on wheels. When it got too dry to crop a bit, the family simply loaded into a wagon and moved. Some of them moved so often that when the old man and the boys carried the family cookstove out the door, all the chickens ran up and laid down for their feet to be tied.

HOW SHOCKING!

Once upon a time many years ago, a traveling man promised his wife to "go the straight and narrow," and do at least one courteous deed each day. He left home Monday on his regular run. Friday on the way home by rail - yes, they had no buses then - due to a crowded condition in the sleeper, he gave his berth to an old lady as his "courteous deed for the day." Then he wired the suspecting wife: "Be home tonight. Have given berth to an old lady!"

UNTWISTS TWISTERS.

An Arkansas man claims to have invented a dingus for untwisting twisters. A Kansas man had a similar experience some years ago when he noticed that twisters came thru a cut in the sandhills on the "west 40." Having harvested and laid in his supply of flour, he hauled several barrels of it to the cut, set the barrels a few feet apart and opened the tops. The next day he noticed a white fog at the cut and saw a twister winding dough streaks high in the air. The rain moistened the flour and the electricity cooked it. The twister got tangled up with that dough and fell down in the pasture near the house. The old boy went out and looked at the bread which resembled cordwood as much as anything. Well sir, believe it or not, he hauled in several loads of bread filling his barn and smokehouse. A few days later, clouds thickened and a low hum was heard back of the house. The noise increased until the old man went out to take a look. Just as he stepped out, the barn and smokehouse went in all directions. "Twister seed" in that bread had been brought to action by perfect cyclonic conditions, and small twisters were going in all directions. The family barely made it to the storm cellar, and little remained above ground when they came out next day.

is at Groom receiving medical attention. Her daughter, Almalu Pegram is visiting with her sister at Quail. HORSE IS SHOT There is a growing sentiment against shooting from the highway, and rabbit hunters north of town. A horse was shot a few days ago in a pasture near Goldston. Sheriff Pierce warns against shooting in pastures without permission. To fire a gun from the highway is a serious offense in the eyes of the Texas law.

LUSTY DAYS OF "DODGE CITY" HISTORY RELIVED ON SCREEN

Dodge City, the southwestern Kansas town glorified by the Warner Bros. Studio in its Technicolor production, "Dodge City," which opens next Thursday at the Pastime Theatre, came into existence because its site lay just five miles from Fort Dodge and was just at the edge of the military reservation, so liquor could be sold legally there.

Within two years Dodge City, originally named Buffalo because it was the center of Buffalo hunting activities on the western plains, had mushroomed into the wildest and woolliest town on a steadily advancing western frontier.

Hardly a day passed without its gun battle, and between 1872 and 1878 ninety odd men and two women who came out second best in six-gun encounters on the dusty streets and in saloons and gambling halls were buried in Boot Hill Cemetery, on the outskirts of the thriving little cattle town.

Up to the turn of the century, Dodge City owed its prosperity to two things: it was the shipping point of millions of buffalo hides and then for more millions of longhorn cattle driven north over the Chisolm trail from Texas. Then someone discovered that the soil of Kansas produced the finest wheat in the world and Dodge City became the center of a vast agricultural area.

It is the picturesque period of Dodge City's colorful history before the turn of the century that Warners glorified in their big Technicolor production.

Errol Flynn, the reckless buffalo hunter and cattle train driver who becomes sheriff of Dodge City, might have been any one of half a dozen peace officers who survived solely because of their nerve speed and accuracy with the Colt six-shooter, the universal side-arm of the western frontier.

There were many of them in the old days when justice was carried in a leather sheath on either the right or the left or both hips. Wyatt Earp, who died not long ago in Los Angeles, was one. Bat Masterson, famous of the three Masterson brothers, was another. Fred Sutton was one of them, too, as were Tom Marshall, Pag Suther, Ham Bell, Chalk Beeson and Bill Tilghman, who died in harness only a few years ago after bringing hundreds of outlaws, gun fighters and bad men to justice.

Dora Hand, one of the two women who were buried on Boot Hill because the conservative element of Dodge City wouldn't permit her a Christian burial, has her counterpart in Ann Sheridan, Bruce Cabot's sweetheart and hostess at his prosperous Gay Lady saloon and dance hall.

Little of the pioneer Dodge City remains now. About the only thing left standing to remind the 10,000 citizens of the thriving southwestern Kansas town of its past is the cemetery on Boot Hill. But even that has changed. Once on the outskirts of Dodge City, it has been completely surrounded by the growing city.

ed; and saw no need of a reserve. For this careless way of thinking and acting they have been called the foolish virgins. In this case the coming was delayed, and the oil in lamps had all been consumed, but the wife had only to reach for the extra vessel and refill their lamps and then join the marriage procession; but the foolish began to beg, and hurried out to buy, but it was too late "The door was shut."

The Ashtola people did not begin to beg nor go out to buy. They went to their homes and found the reserve. The lesson we want to impress here is always live close to God's store house which is always filled with oil for every emergency—even death and the judgment.

Report shows that Lelia Lake Sunday school was good. Bro. Mace said all the good looking people were at Sunday school, but told us later that Mrs. Mace was not there. Wonder what Mrs. Mace will say about that?

We go to McKnight next Sunday at 11 a. m. and to Bray in the evening. Think about and pray for us. The Reunion is over. It is surely lonesome on this hill now.
