108 Berry, Stillwater. Okla. 74074 Calling the faithful to worship and the reluctant to reading, writing and arithmetic, it is not likely that ever the bell summoned anyone to a meeting of the Shakespere Club. As the town was small, the Club could not have been large, but certainly there was no such. Membership and meeting agenda are long and regretably lost. It is even doubtful there lives in New Clarendon anyone who knew a dues-paying member of the Old Town Shakespere Club. Culture so widespread hard-to-avoid now-a-days, was then difficult to attain. To anyone who has looked over the site of Old Clarendon, it seems incredible and impossible that a place so remote from every other, did in truth contain three pianos. Shipped to Wichita Falls and thence slowly by wagon to Clarendon, it is certain they were treasured by their owners: Mrs. White, Mrs. Allen and Katie Lewis (later Mrs. Ben Chamberlain).

Arrival of mail was more frequent than arrival of pianos by far. It came from the same place, (Wichita Falls) and every Tuesday by stage.

It is ambition and optimism that leads a family to the frontier. It is faith and hope that sustains them there. Those in Clarendon had all four. It is unlikely there is another settlement west of the Mississippi which, mapped in its fourth year of existance, would show acreage set aside for a College and an Academy. The map of Clarendon shows that acreage. Sixteen years later, at a new location, Clarendon had the land, the Academy and the College.

The first wedding in Clarendon was that of Ed Carhart to Estelle Brewer. The second: Stella Phillips to Albert Gentry, one-time sheriff. The sturdier houses of Clarendon were of dense white limestone, the Caprock of the plains that almost everywhere outcropped in a thin layer near the top of the slope up from Salt Fork. Less durable but just as serviceable were homes of adobe brick. The less desirable but certainly the cheapest were those of stakes, pickets, usright in the ground, laced by rope and plastered with mud. In a dry climate they would do. All merchandise, goods of every kind, came from the end of the railroad at Wichita Falls, later Herold, and still later from whatever was the terminue of the railroad building north. From whence came the people? Not much is known. Ralph Jefferson, first postmaster, was from Washington, D.C. W.A. Allen, ex-minister and school teacher in the new town, was from lows. William Jessie Grant, editor of Clarendon Chronicle (printed in Sherman) was an easterner and a courie of 11 S. Grant. President of the United States. Bruce and Stanhone a cousin of U.S. Grant, President of the United States. Bruce and Stanhope McClelland were Virginians. So, too, were their relatives J.B. and T.S. McClelland. The latter was a surveyor and both were in the realestate business in the new settlement.

Bronchos down Rattlers 21-6

Volumn X

By SPENCER HAYES Brad Thompson rushed for a carrer-high 161 yards and John Braxton's bone-crushing hits anchored the Clarendon defense as the Bronchos drilled the Stinnett Rattlers, 21-6, boosting their undefeated record to 3-0.

Thompson led an offensive attack that rolled up 411 total yards, including 337 on the ground. He was given support in the rushing department by Weatherton, who went 90 yards in 15 carried. Weatherton, however, had touchdown runs of 53 and 66 vards called back becasue of penalties.

The Broncs started the scoring on a 20-yard TD run by Weatherton. Junior Crump caught the PAT pass from Thompson to make the score 8-0 only seven minutes into the game. That drive was set up by a 36-yard Thompson to David Weatherton pass play on a fake punt.

Clarendon held solid against the Stinnett offense. Braxton slammed Rattler Ball-carriers by a whopping 21 Tackles - 17 of them unassisted - as the Rattlers had to punt away to open the second quarter. Clarendon took posession and drove the distane. Bob Weatherton ran over a would-be Rattler defender for a three-yard touchdown. Stinnett came back with the halfback pass on their next posession and drove to the Bronco 30-yardline, where a stingy defense stopped them on four straight downs. David Weatherton made a key tackle to stop the Rattlers. D. Weatherton had his best defensive game of the season, getting in over 12 tackles and 2 sacks. But after the defense stopped the Stinnett offense cold turkey, the Bronco offense gave them new life by coughing up the pigskin on the first play. The Broncs then allowed a forth-and-15 pass completion to sneak into the end zone to narrow the scoring opportunities but still hold on to a 21-6 truimph. Overall, the Broncs showedtheir usual sparks of brilliance, coupled with earlyseason mistakes. But the general confidence seems to be that the Bronco fans will be seeing more and more of the brilliant side, and less and less of the mistake laden side of this great team. They will face the toughest foe of the young seson tomorrow when they travel to River Road. The Broncs and Wildcats tied last year Clarendon's homecoming and both teams will be going for blood. It should prove to be a close match since River Road is coming off a hot win over Dimmitt. RUSHING

With a strong intent on shuting the Bronchos down on the wide phase of their offense and a hearty flag from the officias, the Stinnett Rattlers gave a strong showing against an offense that was extremely impatient with themselves. In a 21-6 victory, the Bronchos rushing and passing had the first game gitters, dropping passes, flumbling, and 113 yards in penalties. Then on top of all this, it was Homecoming.

These are allout of the way, the Bronchos are looking at the biggest game on their schedule so far this season - the Amarillo River Road Wildcats. The Cats are 2-1 for the season with the lone loss to Panhandle 14-0, while the wins have been 13-8 over Gruver, and 35-7 over Dimmitt.

Clements said in a memorandum issued this week that hunters and fishermen were among the nation's first environmentalists. "They have, through purchases of hunting and fishing licenses, contributed millions of dollors for programs benfiting fish and wildlife, including nongame species," the governor said. "Texas has a record unsurpassed by any other state for restoration of wildlife species which once were threatened with extincition; its lakes and streams offer some of the finest fishing opportunities anywhere for native fish and introduced species," said Clements. 'All these accomplishments are a direct result of financial support rendered by sportsmen.' Texas Parks and Wildlife Commissioners have established a few new game laws and changes. Some of them include an adopting of a proclamation for managment of the American alligator in Texas. Elk were redefined as game animals only in a few counties, with the season remaining closed. The hunting of animals not classified as migratory from boats and floating devices on private waters will be allowed state

ESTATE PLANNING SEMINAR

The most sweeping tax legislation in U.S. history has been enacted. As Sidney Kess states in ESTATE PLANNING REVIEW:

"Every estate plan, every will, every trust, every existing form of co-ownership of property, every designation of life insurance beneficiaries or of qualified plans, every buy-sell agreement, every gift program and indeed every estate and personal financial planning arrangement and instrument will have to be re-examined and re-evaluated and possibly revised to reflect these changes."

The Donley County Program Building Committee and Agricultural Extension Service is sponsoring a seminar to be conducted by an estate planning firm based in San Antonio, Texas.

The seminar will be held in Clarendon at Clarendon College in the Administration and Classroom Building, #102, on Tuesday, September the 29th from 6:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m. . Attendees are requested to notify Ronald Goochs' office in Clarendon at PH. # 874-2141 by September 22nd.

Community Center Building proposed

The big livestock barn at the rodeo arena is only a proposed location for the Clarendon Community Center that the Outdoor Entertainment Association has considered for its project. The Association may decide that it is too involved of a project to renovate the building. It may also decide that it is the perfect choice of location and availability, too. In any case, it is not yet decided that this building is definitely the choice. We can hope something similiar to it may be chosen and what better location than near the dance slab?

Parker Jr. carried the mail to baths; hair cuts were 35c and the J.A. Ranch for 12 years. B.J. (Slats) Parker stayed in Clarendon until 1938. Some of them went to school at Bairfield School on the Bairgricultural lenders in rrower's re ability, according to Ben A. Jordan, Jr., Regional Direcor of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. He notes that wheat growers who carry insurance at least equal to their debt obligations are in the strongest position to obtain the credit they need.

"There are a number of reasons why applications for loans are receiving closer scrutiny this year," Jordan says. "One of these is the generally tight credit situation. Antoher is the combination of increased production costs and high interest rates. the more a farmer must borrow and the higher the interest rate he must pay, the higher the yield he must have in order to be able to repay his loans.".

Having an insurance policy can make a big difference when it comes time to borrow money, according to the FCIC Regional Director. He notes that most lenders today carefully analyze prospective borrowers' cash flow projections and insurance can eliminate up to three-fourths of the income uncertainty associated with such projections. In fact, if he wishes to do so, a farmer can actually assign his insurance indemnities to the leander as loan collateral.

For information on this year's wheat insurance program, its benefits and the cost, contact the local FCIC representative or a private insurance agent who is handling FCIC insurance before September 30.

There are thousands of square miles of natural gas formations in these nine basins. Industry experts estimate that these basins hold 50% of the nation's remaining onshore reserves. Lone

Duck season still open in Texas

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has announced that they have no plans at this time for closing the waterfowl season in Texas. The recent furor over the waterfowl infestation in Eastern Montana has raised this question.

Some of the waterfowl in Eastern Montana were contaminated with Endrin, a chemical pesticide. A very small sampling of the waterfowl in that area was made and they did contain amounts of the pesticide higher than acceptable for human ingestion.

Before the waterfowl season can be closed in Texas, however, the Federal agency will have to close the season. They will not close the season unless there is conclusive evidence that enough waterfowl contain enough Endrin in high levels to still be hazardous for human consumption.

If this is found to be the case, there will be further news and announcements made.

Wildlife Biologist Dave Dvorak suggested that hunters wait to hear this announcement from the Goodnight St. became part of the city of Clarendon by ordinance in 1922.

The South end of Sully St. was closed off to build the school house in 1922.

A $75,000 bond election was held in 1922 for city water works improvement. The election supported the bond and a tax of 20c on the $100 valuation of all taxable property within the city limits was assessed.

The $75,000 bond was repealled nine days later because the ordinance failed to fix the proper date for maturity and didn't reserve the right to the city to redeem the bonds after 10 years and because the ordinance failed to levy a sinking fund.

Lawyers quickly worked up a new ordinance that evening to remedy the erroneous ordinace and the city water improvement bond for $75,000 was passed.

Butler St. North of Henderson St. and North to the South line of 3rd St and all of Henderson East of Thurman St. was closed because it was on a farm that was not part of the city and there were no residences on the street.

Upon sounding the fire alarm, the driver of any vehicle shall drive as closely as possible to the right hand curb and stop and not follow within 600 feet after the fire truck. A fine of between $5 and $100 is provided for violation of this ordinance.

Stretch your energy dollarsinstall an energy-efficient electric heat pump

A heating system that's more than 200% efficient may seem like something out of the future, But it isn't. It's yours today, with the electric heat pump. Because when correctly installed in a properly insulated home, the heat pump produces two units of heat for each single unit of electricity it uses. It transfers heat that's always present in sun-warmed outside air into your home during the winter. And reverses the process, pumping heat outdoors during the summer.
