As we drove along God had provided the same thing for the fields of farmer after farmer from His superb sup-

One farmer was told after he had fought johnson grass and other noxious growth out of a piece of land that he ought to thank God for such a pretty field. He answered, 'you ought to have seen if when the Lord had it by Himself." But he should have realized that until he started to using with his curse of, "the sweat of brow" the devil had it under the curse of the land. For the First Book of the Bible says that the earth would bring forth thornes and thistles and by the sweat of his brow would man eat. So if the man watered it from his own underground water, he still must thank God for putting the water down there and giving him the ability to get it and have the means to get it. So, even the man who had done much and many have still must thank God for His part in their success.

Art amazes me and I can look at good art in lots of places, but I have not seen anyone paint the kind of pictures in the spring as God does as He mixes His flowers in a profusion of colors. The bluebonnets by the acre mixed with other flowers of different colors are evidences that God has a good paintbrush and uses a masters stroke to get the attention and admiration of men.

Some people say, "I can worship God out in nature" and it is true, but how often do you bow down and out there and thank Him for what He has done. Church is a place of Thanksgiving. Praise and worship as we adore Him together.

If it has been a long time since you have thanked Him for His Providence and goodness to you, it would be easy to close up that part He has reserved for you. Like the sinner who continues to harden his heart against His call "Will suddenly be destroyed and that without remedy".

If you haven't thanked Him recently why don't you do it now after He sent the good rain last week.

The Lions Tale

By GENE ALDERSON

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday at the Lions Hall. Twenty-two Lions, Lion Sweetheart Viola Graham, and four guests were present. Johnny Floyd, with Eddie Floyd's Shop, was the guest of Lion Allen Estlack. Athlyn Estlack was a guest of the club, and Lion Max Hennigh was a visitor from the Howardwick Club. Following the regular opening ceremonies, Boss Lion Davidson introduced Lynn Cherry, District Governor of our own District 2T-1. The District Governor in his opening remarks mentioned that two new clubs had been chartered in our district this year and twenty new clubs had been chartered in the state. He also urged any local Lions who could to attend the District Convention in Amarillo this weekend. The main speaker will be W.R. (Dick) Bryan from Doylestown, Ohio, who is a Past President of Lions Interntional.

District Governor Cherry then announced that his main reason for visiting our club today was to bestow a very great honor on one of our members. At that time he presented Lion Homer Estlack with the "Key of Nations". This key recognizes Lions who have sponsored 100 new members. Out of 1,300,000 Lions, Lion Estlack is the 152nd to receive this award. Following the presentation, Lion Estlack received a standing ovation from the members and April 16th and came with another trophy. Of course this trophy reprented the sweetest victory of the year since it read: District 2-AA Boys Track Champions 1981. This is the fourth consecutive year that the Bronchos have captured the team title. It is the fifth meet out of seven that the Bronchos have won this year. The Bronchos scored 160 points to win the meet. Wellington was runner-up with 152 while the other team totals were as follows: Wheeler 127, Memphis 57, Shamrock 15, Canadian 13.

The Bronchos proved once again that team championships require the efforts of all members of the squad. The Bronchos combined several winning efforts with points from 2nd through 6th places to secure the championship. It was truly a team effort as depth in all events and the never-say-die attitude of the Bronchos once again proved what we've known all along. THE BRONCHOS ARE CHAMPIONS.

Do they really "go to school" before joing the church?

As much as anything else, the Confirmation (or Inquirers') Classes are for the "joinee's" own protection... .. so that he knows exactly what he's getting into. This simple, interesting set of instructions from the minister assures complete understanding of the church's tenets. Attendance at these classes carries no obligation to become a member. Episcopalians don't discount the sudden revelation of God's presence. They do, however, believe that a more deliberate initiation into church membership may be less likely to wear thin in subsequent years.

They have some pretty good reasons for believing the Christian faith involves both the heart and the head. They don't mind being joshed abut their "thinkingman's religion." Christ, they say, demanded simple faith-but not blind faith.

If these articles have struck your imagination and you think you might be interested. Please contact the Vicar at 874-2231. He will be starting an inquirers class April 28, 7:00 p.m. at the Mission Hall of St. John the Baptist Episcopal Church, 3rd and Park St. No downpayment required.

JV Bronchos bring home district title

The Clarendon Broncho J.V. Boys Track Team captured the District J.V. Track Championship at Canadian last Thursday. It was an exciting team effort and the victory was not secured until the final event of the day when the Bronchos won the 1600 meter relay. The J.V. Bronchos who have competed against varsity competition for over half of the season used the J.V. meet to show just how good they are when competing at their own level. This group of young men show great potential for future varsity teams and figure in the plans of the Bronchos as they strive to extend their consecutive district championship string to five. J.V. The shallow and slightly murky lake is not a largemouth bass hot spot since it lacks the type of cover required to support them. But it ranges from good to outstanding in production of blue, flathead and channel catfish and the highly popular crappie are in abundance in those murky waters.

fishing is difficult in some areas because most of the shoreline is private property. This sounds like a good place to visit, but I wouldn't want to stay there. To reach Lake Houston, take 59 to Humble, then FM 1960 to the Marina.

It's time to be getting your fishing gear in the water. Some people in town have been cleaning their boats, checking out their motors and straightening out their tackle boxes. It is a good idea to begin to save plastic jugs so you can set out trot lines, too. From the reports of those who run trot lines, the rewards are worth the daily effort.

I'm sure you were aware that the Broasted Chicken concession at the lake has been re-opened. This means that you can make a big day of it, boating, fishing, swimming, or just watching swim suits walk by and not have to pack in your lunch. The advantages of having that concession open will be readily seen this summer when families want to spend the day away but Mom doesn't want to spend the night fixing a lunch and packing it, cooking it and bringing home dirty things to clean. Hurray for Jack Daniel and the Broasted Chicken stand!

If you own a boat and trailer, remember that you must get your trailer tags renewed a the tax office. You can't pull your boat trailer with an expired tag and expect to get away with it every day. Be sure that your lights and signals work as well. What a shame it would be to make that right hand turn into the lake and have someone smash your boat from the rear because they didn't know you were turn-

Be sure your fishing license is current and that all members of your party have licenses and life jackets. It wouldn't hurt to review the lake rules as well. There are some things we tend to forget from season to season. Why not buy a family ticket to use the lake for a year? I think that is one of the best buys you can make for summer family fun. Use the lake, it is our own civic duty! Teach the kids to swim and learn and use wise boaters safety. If you don't know boating safety rules, contact Gary Hunt, the Game Warden for information concerning the rules and regulations of safe boating.

Let's keep Greenbelt's record clean this year and not have any accidents or foolish loss of life because of stupidity. Fishermen are NOT exempt from these rules, either. In fact, since a fisherman tends to lie more than the average man, it might be a good idea for fishermen to be given an oral test over boating safety just to be sure tney really do know the

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION AG USE VALUE FOR SCHOOL TAXES

259-3384

The Clarendon C.I.S.D. hereby announces that all persons are entitled to receive an exemption of $5,000 from the market value of their residence homestead for the purpose of school taxes. In addition, all persons who are 65 or older or under a disability for purposes of payment of disability benefits under Federal Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance are also entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 from the market value of their residence homesteads for the purpose of school taxes. Also all persons owning land that is currently devoted principally to agricultural use for at least five [5] of the preceding seven [7] years may file an application of agriculture land use. The application classifies the value of land considering the agricultural use to which the land is principally devoted and the average annual net income derived from its use.

To qualify for these exemptions, an application must be filed with the school district tax office by April 30, 1981. Application forms are available at the School Tax Office.

E. V. Dorsey - roper, champion, instructor

B- IRANICE WRATHERL

E. V. DORSEY a prefessional cowboy, instructor, and goodwill ambassador for Texas Saddlery Co. taught a reping class for the Clarenden College Redeo Club at the Clarenden Redeo grounds last week.

Twenty one persons attended the roping clinic sponsored by the Clarendon College Rodeo Club April 14, 15, and 16 and taught by internationally known roping champion and instructor, E.V. Dorsey.

E.V. Dorsey, who began cowboying in Colorado as a young teenager, was a professional rodeo contestant, top horse trainer, roping horse trainer, and tough contest roper.

A business associate said of him, "E.V. Dorsey, represents the finest traditions of rodeo performance and high ideals of personal living." It takes a special individual to warrant that kind of statement.

Born in San Diego, Calif., June 10, 1917, Dorsey was orphaned at an early age. He was fortunate for he went to live with an aunt, Maggie Hood, who loved him like a mother.

E.V. attended grade school in Delta, Colo. and left school after the eighth grade to do cowboying, which he continued for several years. It was at the 40,000 acre Grant Ranch in California, with 2,000 head of cattle that he really began to develop his roping.

In World War II Dorsey saw service with the U.S. Army in the North Pacific and Germany before returning to roping and horses.

His favorite horse was one called Little Chigger, a quarter horse and the best he ever had, according to Dorsey.

The name Dorsey earned the respect of both rodeo contestants and spectators in the United States and abroad as he worked to perfect his roping and the training of his horses.

He married and is the father of a son and daughter, now grown. He followed his rodeo contesting for many years and as the years grew in number decided a less active life was desirable

Although now less active, his life is set at a pretty rapid pace for most persons of any age. His roping clinics are much in demand. One of his most impressive courses of instruction was for the 500,000 acre Parker Ranch in Hawaii. The ranch ran 60,000 head of cattle, 1,000 horses and employed about 70 cowboys, supervisors, managers etc.

For the past eight years Dorsey has been going to Hawaii and the islands of Oahu, Maui, Kauai and Hawaii with his roping clinics. The rewards must be double, satisfaction of furthering his profession, and the bonus of lovely Hawaii.

Numbered among the 21 persons who took advantage of the roping clinic last week were a young woman, Joda Cope, and a fifth grader, Blake Seiler.

Dorsey explained the advantage of proper roping as applied to ranch and stock-farming. Correct procedure in the use of a rope when handling cattle allows the handler to rope an animal for examination or treatment with a minimum of physical stress to an animal which may be hurt or sick. Such treatment may mean the life of an expensive animal for the owner.

For the member of a roping club or contest roper the turning of a wrist, dropping of a rope or other deft moves cause less physical strain on the animal to be roped and less wear and sey has been contacted for a number of clinics here in our area and will return to Clarendon College next year. The teaming of a professional of high moral standards, young persons who work with and enjoy animals, and an educational institution make for a happy finale. New Cars 1981 Chevrolet El Camino purchased by James G. DRUGS AND HEARING PROBLEMS

It has been known for many years that drugs can affect our hearing. Damage to the hearing apparatus is referred to as ototoxicity. Changes in hearing may be as minor as a ringing or buzzing sensation or as severe as permanent hearing loss. Fortunately, the great majority of drugs do not affect our hearing. The three main groups of drugs that have caused problems are:

ANTIBIOTICS-A specific type of antibiotics called the aminoglycosides (streptomycin is an example) is capable of destroying the fine sensory hair cells in the inner ear. These hair cells are necessary for normal hearing. Loss of hearing...particularly high-pitched sounds...can result from use of the aminoglycoside antibiotics.

salicylate and may produce ringing or buzzing sensations... usually when large doses are given for several days. When the dosage of aspirin is reduced, hearing usually returns to normal. Some physicians use ringing in the ears as a guide to giving arthritic patients high doses of aspirin.

ANTIMALARIALS - The antimalarials (quinine or chloroquine as examples) can produce hearing loss. Fortunately, hearing usually returns to normal when doses are reduced or drug discontinued.

From 1953 through 1976, killer tornadoes occurred in 36 states with the maximum threat area east of the Continental Divide. They occurred in every month and during both day and night. The greatest potential for casualties from tornadoes is not necessarily where the greatest number of tornadoes occur, but where there is a high tornado incidence, a dense population, and many mobile homes or poorly constructed wood frame houses without basements. Mississippi with only 3.1 percent of the tornadoes and a moderate population density, has experienced the second greatest percentage (10.8) of the total tornado-related deaths. Oklahoma's 7.9 mean annual number of tornadoes per 10,000 square miles (25,900 square kilometers) is the highest.

Toranadoes occur in all 50 states

TORNADOES OCCUR in many parts of the world and in all 50 States. But no area is more favorable to their formation than the continental plains and Gulf Coast of the U.S., and no season is free of them. Normally, the number of tornadoes is at its lowest in the United States during December and January, and at its peak in May. The months of greatest total frequency are April, May, and June.

In February, the center of maximum frèquency lies over the central Gulf States. Then, during March this center moves eastward to the southeast Atlantic States, where tornado frequency reaches a peak in April. During May, the center of maximum frequency moves to the southern plains States, and in June, northward to the northern plains and Great Lakes area as far east as western New York State. The reason for this drift is the increasing penetration of warm, moist air from the Gulf while contrasting cool, dry air still surges in from the north and northwest; tornado frequency is greatest where these air masses wage their wars. Thus, when the Gulf States are substantially "occupied" by warm air systems after May, there is no cold air intrusion to speak of, and tornado frequency drops. This is the case nationwide after June. Fall and winter cooling permits fewer and fewer encounters between warm and overriding cold systems, and tornado frequency returns to its lowest level in midwinter.

The mathematical chance that a specific location will be struck by a tornado in any one year is quite small. For example, the probability of a tornado striking a given point in the area most frequently subject to tornadoes is 0.0363, or about once in 250 years. In the far western States, the probability is close to zero.

But tornadoes have provided many unmathematical exceptions. Oklahoma City has been struck by tornadoes 32 times since 1892. Baldwin, Miss., was struck twice by tornadoes during a 25-minute period on March 16, 1942. A third of Irving, Kans., was left in ruins by two tornadoes which occurred 45 minutes apart on May 30, 1879. Austin, Tex., had two tornadoes in rapid succession on May 4, 1922, and Codell, Kans., was struck three times, in 1916, 1917, and 1918—each time on May 20.

Individual Safety Tips

- When a tornado threatens, your immediate action can save your life!
- STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS, DOORS, AND OUTSIDE WALLS! PROTECT YOUR HEAD!
- In homes and small buildings, go to the basement or to an interior part of the lowest level—closets, bathrooms, or interior halls.
   Get under something sturdy.
- In schools, nursing homes, hospitals, factories, and shopping centers, go to predesignated shelter areas. Interior hallways on the lowest floor are usually best.
- In high-rise buildings, go to interior small rooms or hallways.
- In mobile homes or vehicles, leave and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or culvert with your hands shielding your head.

(NOTE: The Defense Civil Preparedness Agency has several publications on shelters for nuclear blasts and fallout protection. Some of these could serve as tornado shelters. To request information write DCPA, Washington, DC 20301.

SEVERE LOCAL STORM WARNING SERVICE

Severe local storms are tornadoes, and severe thunderstorms which are accompanied by very strong winds. (More than 58 miles per hour—93 kilometers per hour) or large hail (¾ inch—1.9 centimeters diameter or larger). Heavy rainfall and dangerous lightning may also be associated with these storms. They are small, short lived and the most difficult weather phenomena to forecast precisely. Even so, it is possible to predict general areas where severe thunderstorms and tornadoes are most likely to occur.

This very important forecasting function is performed at the National Severe Storms Forecast Center (NSSFC) in Kansas City, Missouri. This facility is operated by the National Weather Service, a major element of NOAA, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce. The NSSFC meteorologists monitor conditions in the North American atmosphere, using surface data from hundreds of locations, radar information, satellite photographs, meteorological upper-air profiles (obtained from sounding balloons) and reports from pilots. From these thousands of pieces of information, forecasters determine the area(s) in which severe local storms are most likely to occur. Information on the area(s) is then issued to National Weather Service offices and to the public in the form of a watch bulletin.

The severe thunderstorm watch or tornado watch bulletin states approximately where and for how long the severe local storm threat will exist. It doesn't mean that severe local storms will not occur outside the watch area or time frame. The watch is only an indication of where and when the probabilities are highest. Watches are usually issued for areas about 140 miles (225 kilometers) wide by 200 miles (322 kilometers) long. Persons near the watch area should also be on the lookout for threatening conditions.

When designated forecast offices receive the Watch Bulletin, they prepare and issue redefining statements which specify the affected area in terms of counties, towns, and locally well-known geographic landmarks. These statements are disseminated to the public by all possible means, and their primary use is to guide the activities of local government, law enforcement agencies, and severe local storm reporting networks in preparing for severe weather.

Watches are not warnings. A watch means severe thunderstorms or tornadoes are possible. During a watch situation, persons should watch for threatening weather and listen to NOAA Weather Radio, commercial radio, or television for further information.

Local National Weather Service offices will issue warnings whenever a severe thunderstorm or tornado has actually been sighted and reported in the area or indicated by radar. Warnings describe the "downstream" area that could be affected. This area is determined from the location, size, direction (which can be erratic) and speed of movement of the storm. Since tornadoes and severe thunderstorms are not always sighted or indicated by radar, warnings may not always be given. So persons should be on the lookout for the possibility of such storms whenever threatening conditions are approaching. If time permits, before taking shelter, notify the police.

When a warning is received, persons close to the storm should take cover immediately. Persons farther away from the storm should be prepared to take cover if threatening conditions are sighted. Even though a mobile home is tied down, persons living in them should seek substantial shelter elsewhere anytime threatening conditions are approaching.

Severe weather statements are prepared by local offices of the National Weather Service to keep the public and all other interests fully informed of all current information on severe local storms. Statements are issued at least once each hour, and more frequently when the severe weather situation is changing rapidly. In this way, the latest weather developments are made available to those who need them.

Remember, severe thunderstorms and tornadoes can, and sometimes do, occur est of these storms—the mini-tornado. In most cases watches and warnings are issued for the more dangerous medium—and maxitornadoes. However, it is nearly impossible to issue warnings with any reasonable degree of accuracy before a tornado is sighted or indicated by radar. Research efforts show promise for eventual issuance of warnings prior to occurrence of the tornadoes.

without either a watch or warning being issued. This is particularly true of the small-

Tornadoes Are Only One of a Thunderstorm's Killer Elements

- LIGHTNING IS A MAJOR KILLER. Stay indoors and away from electrical appliances when storms are nearby. If you are caught outside, stay away from and lower than high or conductive objects.
- THUNDERSTORM RAINS cause flash floods Be careful where you take shelter.
- WINDS. Very strong straight-line winds can cause great damage.
- LARGE HAIL. A rare killer but very damaging.

LIGHTNING SAFETY RULES

If you plan to be outdoors, check the latest weather forecast and keep a weather eye on the sky. At signs of an impending storm—towering thunderheads, darkening skies, lightning, increasing winds—tune in your radio or television for the latest weather information.

When a thunderstorm threatens get inside a home, a large building, or an all-metal (not convertible) automobile. Do not use the telephone except for emergencies.

If you are caught outside, do not stand underneath a natural lightning rod, such as a tall isolated tree or a telephone pole. Avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape, for example by standing on a hilltop. In a forest, seek shelter in a low area under a thick growth of small trees. In open areas, go to a low place such as a ravine or valley.

Get off or away from open water, tractors and other metal farm equipment, or small metal vehicles such as motorcycles, bicycles, golf carts. Stay away from wire fences, clotheslines, metal pipes, rails. Put down golf clubs. If you are in a group in the open, spread out, keeping approach yards spart several yards apart.

If you are caught out in a level field or prairie far from shelter, and if you feel your hair stand on end, lightning may be about to strike you. Drop to your knees and bend forward putting your hands on your knees. Do not lie flat on the ground.

Persons struck by lightning receive a severe electrical shock and may be burned, but they carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely. Even someone "killed" by lightning can be revived by prompt action. When a group has been struck, the apparently dead should be treated first.

The American National Red Cross says that if a victim is not breathing, first aid should be rendered immediately to prevent irrevocable damage to the brain. Give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation once every five seconds to adults and once every three seconds to infants and small children, until medical help arrives.
