THE REST OF THE RECORD.

The Haskell Free Press is now the sole publication in its field, the Haskell Leader transferring its activities to O'Donnell. The new development is one upon which the community is to be congratulated. Not that The Leader was not a creditable publication. Quite the contrary, and in a field that would justify two papers it would have done fine. But two papers trying to occupy room enough for only one was a sort of slow suicide for both. The community will be quite as well served by one paper, and at less expense. Another consideration is that Publisher Sam A. Roberts is entitled to a greater support than probably could have been given him indefinitely with two papers in the field. Mr. Roberts has made a hand in community affairs, and will be able to serve in this capacity more acceptably when his own business affairs are in the right sort of shape.—Baylor Co. Banner.

From what we have seen of Haskell and O'Donnell, we would much prefer the former as a two-paper town. Haskell is a county seat town and much larger than O'Donnell. This is not saying that O'Donnell isn't a good town. It is a fine little city and is already being served by a paper that is well representative of the town, the O'Donnell Index.—Brownfield Herald.

TOMORROW'S FARMER.

Present-day farm youths have opportunities unknown to their fathers at their age. He knows more about livestock, plant life, seed selection and pest control. He has more and better tools with which to work. Consequently he can accomplish far more with less labor, leaving him time to study and plan.

The remarkable development of the 4-H club and the F. F. A. organization has made it possible for hundreds of thousands of young men and women of our nation to work along scientific lines, and to earn generous rewards for work well done.

Through these groups our youth learn the advantages of cooperation. They take an unremitting interest in governmental affairs. They keep abreast of the times. They have the advantage of leadership that is competent, loyal and enthusiastic because they are getting a big job done.

The Leader rejoices with our young folks in their accomplishments. In this particular phase of life we find pleasure in backing them to the limit because they will be the backbone of the nation within a few years, and are being prepared to cope with the responsibilities that will be theirs. The full "crop" sown by this fine work will be harvested in the years to come.

The Austin Press
 By The Friendly Texan

Joachim Besen, poet-philosopher of Austin and Boerne, declares "Too Many Advisors Spoil the Idea".

He said that before the trip last week to Washington made by delegations representative of the executive and other administrative departments. The conglomerate collection was composed of Gov. James V. Allred, Attorney Gen. Bill McGraw, General Land Com. Bill McDonald, Ghent Sanderford of Austin, a member of the state school board and others. Already there to look after the interests of the state were 21 congressmen and two U. S. senators,—known as the strongest delegation in Washington. A resolution has been introduced in Congress to have the federal Government take charge of the submerged coastal lands of Texas which will cost the school children of Texas,—if passed, a hundred million dollars. The seriousness of the situation "was marred only by the humor of the assembled hosts."

During the few months Texas took to hoes' racing, the state bought studs and stallions for the promotion of better livestock on Texas farms and ranches. When the "sport of kings" and kingfishes was outlawed, these studs and stallions were leased out to individuals in 180 counties of Texas. The Commissioner of Agriculture, J. E. McDonald, daily receives words of appreciation from farmers and stockmen because of this service. That was perhaps the only good derived from race horse legislation in Texas and those who saw the gambling and drinking going on around race courses are glad that Texas has gone out of the business.

March Second celebrations were held all over Texas. Richard Ellis, presiding officer at Washington on the Brazos on March 1-2, 1836 was again properly glorified. Ellis, for whom a country was named, was a great judge, a great patriot, a man of intellectual attainments of a high order, a Christian of courage and character. He was born in Virginia, later moved to Alabama, thence to Red River county Texas, where he owned a large plantation. He was a close friend of Sam Houston and Ben Milam. Gov. Allred spoke at Washington on the Brazos 102 years after the deliberations on that sacred spot,—that is he delivered the address this year. Texans are proud of their history.

During February a fourth of the counties of the state sent delegations to Texas Highway Commission hearings. The commission is composed of R. L. Bobbitt, chairman of San Antonio, Harry Hines of Wichita Falls and John Wood of Timpson, senior member. Comm'r Wood declares that never has he observed such widespread interest in road development as at present. The commission is aggressive in the promotion of its huge spring program.

Local Lady Pays Tribute To Phebe K. Warner
 By Mrs. C. A. Burton

(EDITORS NOTE: The following article is written by a very close friend of Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, Mrs. Gable Betts Burton, who speaks for the Panhandle Plains in a tribute to the woman who championed West Texas. Mrs. Burton, by her close relationship with Mrs. Warner, is considered an authority on the biography of the woman who dedicated her life to this section of the country.)

The dedication of the Phebe K. Warner Home Management House on the campus of West Texas State College on next Friday will be a fitting recognition of one of the most loyal of the women of this great plains country of ours. For many long years, in the forefront of every advance movement especially of every movement which had to do with the well-being of women and children, could be found Phebe K. Warner. A speaker of unusual originality, a writer of unusual versatility, she never wearied in the use of her gifts for every good cause, and for her beloved Panhandle country.

She was essentially an optimist. No cloud but had a silver lining. I well remember that when the Interscholastic League was in its infancy, Armstrong county, under the leadership of Mrs. Warner, held the first meet that was held in the Panhandle. She invited me to come as one of the judges in the contests. I went up to Claude on an early morning train and scarcely had I arrived when a down pour of rain began—and continued. Phone calls came from all over the county deploring the condition. But her invariable answer was, "Yes but how wonderful for the wheat. Come on if you can." Never a complaint, though she had spent weeks in preparation for the great event. Many came and her spirit of optimism and cheer have remained my outstanding memory of the day.

In Mrs. Warner's understanding heart was a keen realization of the fact that the life of the farm woman, especially in this western country, was necessarily isolated and often hard. Out of this realization came her activity in club work, particularly clubs for the rural women, many of whom all over Texas will continue to bless her memory because of the broadening lives which are theirs because of her efforts.

All of these things make it seem very fitting that this first building in Northwest Texas to be dedicated to a woman who lived and worked here should be dedicated to Phebe K. Warner.

* TEMPLE OF TRUTH *
* By the Apostle *

"As cool as a prep shave at Bob McGowan's barber shop," is the way several describe the weather the past two weeks.

A slogan suggested for this column reads: "Cussed by a few, discussed by many and read by all."

Hastoon Yazzie claims to have been stung by a "sewing bee." He says that when the ladies met at his home Monday, they ripped up his best suit, put it into a quilt to be shipped to the heathen Chinese.

Believe it or not, there is a prominent family in this Panhandle that had a very humble beginning. When the old boy was trying to court the girl who afterward became his bride, the girl's uncle would not allow the young man on the ranch, much less permit him to talk to the girl. They all resided on ranches way, way out from canyons. Well sir, these young folks began to write notes. The mail box was the first of its kind, though typical of the wind-swept plains. The old boy would write a note, hide it under a large cow-chip near a certain corner post. She would reply by note and leave it under the same place. This kept up until they finally eloped, got married and have now reared three boys and two girls, and have lived happily ever afterwards.

Call From Swamp Belt.

West Texas may lack moisture at times, but it does offer good health. We often do not stop to appraise our natural assets. Here is an advertisement in the Republican, Linn, Mo. last week:

"DOCTOR WANTED — At a thrifty county seat town. Death and fatal illness of three physicians has caused this vacancy. If interested, address Medicine, 315 Jefferson street, St. Charles, Mo."

You have heard of the places where it takes two doctors and an alligator to live six months, but this is a place where three lost out.

Make More Jobs.

When this barber inspection law got under way, a whole of a lot of political pets got jobs inspecting. There are more churches than barbershops. Why not get a bunch of snoopers to look over the sanitary condition of our churches? It would make a lot more political jobs. Then have another bunch inspect the preachers. The handling of Bibles is of far more importance than handling razors. About everything else is inspected by a taxing public political leech of some description, and we offer the preacher field as the last frontier.

Well, Dadburn!

Out at Venice, California a few days ago, Mrs. Anna Van Skike celebrated her 77th birthday by swimming five miles. According to that, a woman of around 20 years could swim about 18 miles. Granny started at 6:15 and hit the other shore at 3:15. The older they got out there the more ridiculous stunts they pull to attract attention. It is said that some years ago an old maid jumped off a smoke-stack of a battleship to attract the attention of a sailor.

Phone Phits.

If you ever become angered while attempting to use your telephone, don't do a thing to the phone. Why down in Dallas last week Ange Thomas Casten, 19, was given two years in the pen for tearing a telephone loose from the wall in Parkland hospital last August 22. It just happened to be a public telephone, and it is a felony to interfere with telephone or telegraph communication. In other words, don't get smart with a public convenience.

Risky Business.

Don't lock up your emotions, aims and ambitions in a vault. It's a short life at best and you may get killed by a car tonight or tomorrow. Don't be miserly. Enjoy yourself. You may be thrill material headed for a slab and don't know it.

Great Idea Again!

Only one person is permitted to peddle peanuts at the White House gate in Washington. That fellow is Steve Vasilakos, a Greek, who has been in America more than 28 years. In order to draw a pension, he has decided to become a citizen and has taken out his first papers just this month. Of all the tolerant fool stunts, our national lawmakers are the limit. Why not round up all the aliens and send them back home and make room for those who are citizens by birth or naturalization? We certainly need the room and the jobs.

Some Speed.

A lie can travel half way around the globe while the truth is pulling on its pants. When the other fellow gets caught at it, he's a dirty liar; when you get caught, it is merely a matter of misinformation.

Why, Of All Things!

One of the main things, that keeps a small town small, and which makes doing business or practicing a profession hazardous, is the number of folks who live in a town, make their money there, and spend it in some other town.

To Publishers.

Just Saturday, this writer received a small paper bag from Jere Moore, president of the Georgia State Press Association. Printed on the bag were these words: "They won't pay for it if you give it away. Put free publicity in the bag." There is a fine tip for any publisher. Perhaps our good secretary, Clyde Warwick of the Panhandle Press Association, will pass the idea on to the many who do not care to read this column.

Minus Seat, Pockets.

Down at Skidmore, Arkansas recently, the editor was highjacked as he sat at his trusty Oliver late at night. The robber took his pants, and a few cigarettes. While the editor was trying to figure out a way to get home minus his pants, the robber threw the pants in at a window. The pants had holes in the pockets and the seat was frayed out.

And say, folks, don't fail to see the Fat Stock Show here tomorrow and next day. This is a big event for the younger generation, and will give the older ones a chance to see what they have missed.

Clothes Make the CCC Boy.

"The Army uses the acme of simplicity in fitting uniforms to the CCC boy. There are only two sizes officially recognized by the quartermaster tailors—large and larger. The shirts begin with size seventeen and go upward and outward. They resemble overcoats rather than shirts. One rookie ran his head through the sleeve recently and was none the wiser. The breeches, too, are built in the same august fashion. It is rumored that one enrollee got lost in his breeches and was thirty minutes finding a way out of the woollen labyrinth.

Mrs. Taylor Boles and Mrs. Gus Beck of Altus, Oklahoma were guests at the Dr. M. L. Stricklin home last week end.

Simone Simon Pronounced Year's Biggest Surprise As Songstress And Comedienne

Glamorous Screen Star Sings For the First Time In "Love And Hisses"

For the second time in her short career Simone Simon has blase Hollywood wide-eyed with wonder. The saucy French star's singing debut in Twentieth Century-Fox's "Love And Hisses," showing March 6, 7 and 8, has created a sensation as great as her first appearance in the film capital.

Simone came to the West Coast a little over a year ago, her arrival almost unheralded and her movements at first little noticed. Her life was no more subject to news reports than it was when she lived in Paris, where film personalities lead a comparatively private existence.

The lovely actress' first picture for Twentieth Century-Fox changed all of that.

Simone went to the preview of "Girls' Dormitory," at Grauman's Chinese Theatre, and watched the crowds gather 'round other film celebrities. When the picture was over, however, the curbstone crowd had heard the news. They sensed quickly that a new personality was present. When Simone came out of the theatre, where her film had been loudly applauded by the nation's critics, the crowd surged around her, trampling down protecting ropes along the sidewalk. They realized a new star had risen. Then the loveliest girl from Paris had to adjust to a new life—the crowded, bustling, extroverted existence of a public figure, and Simone got the idea quickly.

She learned to assume Hollywood's easy familiarity. Instead of resenting it when electricians and property men hailed her with "Hello, Honey" and "Sweetheart," she smiled and replied in like phrases. These words that are casual "Good mornings" in Hollywood are taken seriously in her native France—so Simone was learning!

THE WORDS YOU READ!

The lines of type which printed the words you are now reading are only tiny bits of metal, yet they form one link in the development of the art of printing, an art today worth 24 million annually in Texas.

Knowledge is man's key to unlock the doors of the unknown. Through the printed page, knowledge has become the common property of the civilized world. With tiny pieces of type, man has swung wide the doors of the Renaissance, uncovered the hidden mysteries of mind and body, and recorded the beauty of scenes, thoughts, and ideas.

Withprinting, man has preserved the mystical wanderings of a Poe, the social queries of a Voltaire, and the discoveries of a Curie and Pasteur. Through printing, man's words and deeds go down through the ages.

The man to whom we owe the development of these bits of metal and wood, Johannes Gutenberg, died just 470 years ago this week. Gutenberg's obituary—had it appeared in a fifteenth century newspaper—would have been set up in type February 23, 1468. Badgered by debts and poverty, the inventor of movable type died, little knowing the greatness of his discovery. Yet those bits of wood he carved and millions like them have opened a new world of space and time to human accomplishment. Texas itself owes its discovery to the wave of inquiry set in motion by the Renaissance, the child of movable type and printing.

Those words you read! Today

Cuttings to be Secured By C. of C. If Desired

In response to a number of inquiries concerning rose cuttings, the local chamber of commerce and department of vocational agriculture is considering the possibility of securing rose cuttings for Donley County home owners. The cuttings can be delivered in Clarendon for one-half to one cent each. A number of popular varieties can be secured, according to J. R. Gillham, secretary.

Parties interested should contact Gillham at the City Hall. The roses will be handled by the local body free of charge if sufficient interest is created to obtain the program. The roses can be secured on very short notice as the nursery has the cuttings prepared for setting out at this time.

Amarillo Man Is Explosion Victim

Infernal Machine Explodes In His Auto Early Tuesday

When Louis A. Keck of the Keck Motor company started his auto at his home at 1409 Harrison street, Amarillo, early Tuesday morning, an explosion resulted. His leg was shattered and his body punctured with metal from the auto engine. He was rushed to a hospital where he died a few hours later.

Tex Thornton, explosive expert, was called to the scene by officers. After an examination, Thornton gave it as his opinion that solidified 100 percent nitroglycerin placed in the right center of the engine had caused the explosion. A portion of an electrical dynamite cap was found in the debris.

The explosion, which occurred at 7:35 a. m., wrecked the garage and damaged buildings for some distance.

The only clue at the start was said to be the fact that Keck had obtained permission to carry arms, fearing for his life. He was an official of the Presbyterian church, Noble in Khiva Temple, Rotarian and an outstanding citizen of the aPhandle where he had resided some thirty years.

The Globe-News immediately offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension and conviction of the party or parties guilty of this diabolical crime. Gov. Allred called the newspaper and offered a reward of $500, bringing the immediate reward total to $1,000.

Friends and law-abiding citizens are said to be subscribing liberally to the fund that is expected to reach large proportions soon.

After being elected to this honorary post, your esteemed Editor has been reading industriously after all the leading editors of the nation. "The Profit and Old Tack" included. The idea being to try to learn the editorial slants of the trail blazers.

In trying to recall worthy subjects of discussion that we have checked over this problem of farm legislation keeps jumping back into our memory.

Some smart guy has figured out that we need more market for cotton, another one has shown us in black and white where we need a longer staple cotton and less of it. Though our minds flash the words, parity, base acreage, reduction and crop control—and not one word about how we are going to keep from swinging a goose-neck all the summer and on top of that drag a nine yard duck all fall. Phooee!

Church Yard is Beautified With Greenery

"What a whale of a difference greenery makes," might aptly be applied to the grounds around the First Christian church. The small space had already been carefully planned in past years, and trees appropriately planted. Now standing and trailing cypress has been added which speaks volumes in the appearance of the landscape.

TEXAS FARMERS REPAYING LOANS

Texas farmers in the forty-seven Panhandle counties rank high in the nation as good credit risks, judged by repayments on Farm Security loans for livestock, feed, seed and cooperative facilities, made to help farm families without available credit to become permanently self-supporting, according to Wilson Cowen, state rural rehabilitation director, Amarillo.

Loan aid totalling $2,056,894, together with farm and home plans that assure maximum production of food needs on the farm and repayment of the loan over a period of years, has been extended to 3,814 farm families in the state, many on or near a relief status.

"Progress of the families cooperating in the FSA program is not only evident in generally improved living standards, more efficient farm management and increased farm returns," Cowen said, "but in repayments that total over $850,332 on loans scheduled over periods up to five years with 518 loans paid in full."

Additional aid in strengthening the credit status of low-income farmers has been extended through farm debt adjustment for operators threatened with foreclosure or with debts beyond capacity of the farm to pay. Debts of 1381 farmers to-

What is your life today, is a pointed personal question that should be asked by every living rational human being. It was asked by the brother of our Lord, it has been asked by the poets and song writers of our day, and it is being asked by people all about us who seek to promote better living and higher ideals. It will do one good to check up on the attainments of life every day as he would the cash register or his bank account. "Count that day lost whose low descending sun views from thy hand no worthy action done." One should do something every day that will make somebody else happy. What a wonderful world it would be if every person did that? We would be happy. Other people would be happy, and we would go singing on our way. Make your life count for something today and every day until the shadows gather and you are called to walk through the valley which closes the day of every life and opens the dawn of eternity. A life thus lived will bring forth the acclaim of a multitude of voices he lived well, and a welcome in eternity of the Master saying, well done. Church going will help you in such undertaking. For your sake and the sake of others do not absent yourself from your church services on the Lord's day.

Regular services at the Baptist Church Sunday. We believe you will be helped and we know you will help us, therefore we say come.

MUSING

If things could kinda swing my way,
I wouldn't ask for much.
I'd only want the simple things—
A house and car and such.
Of course, I'd want my house a home,
With kids a running round,
And room enough, around about
To say I owned some ground.
I wouldn't want so much as some,
I'd be content with less,
But when the whole is figured out,
I'll get my share, I guess.

Local Livestock Judging Team to Enter Amarillo Livestock Judging Contest

The local F.F.A. chapter will participate in the annual F. F. A. judging contest held each year in connection with the Amarillo Fat Stock Show. The prospects for placing high in the contest are dim due to the fact that not an experienced judge is to be found on the team. All of the boys working out for the livestock team are first year agricultural students. The contest will be held on Monday, March 7th.

Odell Davis, Pete Morrow, Russell and Carl Morris, Jr. Spier, Harice Green, Troy Rumpy, Rex Shannon, George oMore, Maschil Cole, and Johnny Leathers are students who have been working out for the team. Practice work will be given each day this week and the three boys showing the most effort and doing the best judging will be entered in the Amarillo contest. Clarendon placed eleventh in the contest the past year in competition with 23 other Texas and New Mexico schools.

MISSION PRAYER SERVICES

The week of prayer for home missions is being observed at the First Baptist church this week. The attendance is said to be larger than expected.

4-H CLUB news

By H. M. Breedlove

In reviewing 4-H Club work in the year 1937, it is to be found that 4-H club members participated in quite a number of activities during the year. Beginning with the first part of 1937, 4-H club boys exhibited their beef calves at the Donley County Stock Show. The Grand Champion and Reserve Champion was fed by a 4-H club boy and exhibited at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show. Fifteen of the 25 calves fed by 4-H club boys in 1937 placed very high at the Amarillo Show. One calf placed second in the Junior Division of calves under 900 pounds. The calves were sold at auction after the show and the 4-H club boys realized a profit of better than $900.00. After the show, it was again time to start selecting calves to be fed for the remainder of 1937 and to be shown at the 1938 Fat Stock Show. These calves were placed on feed and the boys are now feeding 22 beef calves to be exhibited at the Donley County Fat Stock Show and at Amarillo.

Fat barrows were also placed on feed which will be shown at the coming shows.

In the celebration on the 4th of July, 4-H club boys participated in a rodeo which was pronounced a success and attended by people all over the county.

An encampment was held on the Rowe Ranch the first of August and attended by 75 boys and approximately 20 of their fathers. Business meeting was held after which a big meal was spread, followed by boxing and wrestling until midnight.

The annual trip to College Station each year was postponed due to infantile paralysis which had spread over the state at that time. 4-H club members also helped the County Agent as far as possible in 1937 in running of terrace lines and also assisted in conducting of trench silos demonstrations. Two oys in the county in 1937 conducted leather tanning demonstrations which turned out with good success.

At the present time 4-H club boys are feeding calves in 7 communities in the county. It is planned during 1938 to have 4-H members in every community in the county carrying on some kind of demonstration. The county Agent was assisted by 4-H boys and local farmers in getting material for an exhibit for the Tri-State Fair held in September at Amarillo in which $60.00 was won in individual premiums which represented 27 different varieties placing at the fair.

Through the year at various times, boys would go around and look at the other boy's demonstrations to see if they were doing as well as they should.

Members of the various clubs of the county were given a lecture by Geo. W. Barnes of College Station, who is Extension Animal Husbandman. Mr. Barnes gave the boys a lecture on feeding and selection of calves.

In reviewing the work, the boys are placing their feeding demonstrations on exhibit at the Donley County Fat Stock Show and at Amarillo. This represents a year's work, for each boy just to place his exhibit on display for a couple of days. It is commendable of the give so generously to a premium list as reward to the boys for their various businesses of the county to years work. The boys have learned something during the year that will be of value to them and help to make them better citizens of the county in which they live.

DELEGATES MEET HERE FRIDAY IN INTEREST TO NORTH-SOUTH ROAD

Obtaining state redesignation of Highway 88 from Clarendon south to Turkey, as promised by the Texas Highway Commission in 1935, is the first and most important step to be considered by the 88-18 North-South Highway Association, in their petition for a Ferryton to Del Rio state maintained road, Odos Caraway, President of the organization, told delegates at a meeting at the City Hall here Friday afternoon.

Representatives from towns along the proposed route voted to give Caraway authority to appoint a chairman and secretary to head a delegation to the March meeting of the Texas Highway Commission. The delegation from Pampa, Spur, Perryton, Dickens, Clarendon, Turkey, Sweetwater will present resolutions to the commission, which include grouping all state highways along the proposed route under one number. It was also resolved to ask co-operation from Memphis and the East-West Association in hope of jointly using a bridge over the Red River near Brice. The bridge at the intersection of both roads would greatly curtail expenses on both highways.

In a brief address, R. L. Alexander, State Representative from Childress, said the pressing need for an oil field outlet north and south was evident. It had his hearty endorsement and he would co-operate to his fullest extent, he said.

Out of town delegates here included R. L. Hardcastle and Roy Russell, Turkey; District Judge W. R. Erwin, County Judge Shriman White and J. S. Wynn, Pampa; Judge J. A. Mead, Miami.

LOWE STORE TO MOVE TO VERNON

Judge Buys Piggly Wiggly Franchise In Wilbarger County Recently

Believing that the bustling oil town of Vernon situated in a choice farming section offers greater advantages, Judge S. W. Lowe is closing his store here to open a Piggly Wiggly store in Vernon as the first unit. The Judge recently purchased the Piggly Wiggly franchise in Wilbarger county.

With Judge Lowe will be associated Rhea Couch, who for twelve years managed the Lowe store here before assuming a similar position at McAllen. Phil Couch, who became manager of the store here upon the resignation of his brother, and who has been employed by the store for about twelve years, will also be interested in the new store in a financial way.

In speaking of the matter, Judge Lowe named several customers who have been patrons of his store since he began in the grocery business in 1918. He has no intention whatever of moving his home to Vernon, but will continue in office and prosecute his campaign for reelection to the office of county judge.

Mrs. John Molesworth and daughter, Charlotte, left Tuesday for Portland Oregon where they will visit Mrs. Molesworth's sister, Mrs. R. M. Glazbrook. They will also visit in El Paso and Sierra Blanca.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA MAKE FINE RECORD IN DONLEY

By J. R. Gillham

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization consisting of boys enrolled in vocational agriculture. There are approximately 500 schools in Texas offering vocational agriculture work at the present time, and though the work is new, it is growing rapidly in response to the desire that the school curriculum be fitted to the needs of the students of high schools in agricultural areas.

The F.F.A. organization is in no way a club nor does it resemble in any way an extra-curricular activity. The F.F.A. work is part of the regular school work of any boy enrolled in vocational agriculture and is a required part of his course. Each individual vocational agriculture student is graded on his F.F.A. work just as he is on his tests and daily work.

F.F.A. features leadership activities such as feeding work, judging contests, debating, parliamentary procedure, regular meetings, promotional activities for the betterment of the community, and other activities that will serve to develop rural leadership.

F.F.A. work does not and should not in any way conflict with 4-H club work in any way as it is an altogether different type of work. A boy who has never enrolled in vocational agriculture is not eligible for F.F.A. work, and he is eligible for F.F.A. work for only three years after he finishes his agriculture work in school. The vocational agriculture teacher is required by the federal government to visit each F.F.A. member project at least every six weeks and to grade the student upon his progress.

The paid up membership in F. F. A. chapters is based upon the enrollment in vocational agriculture classes, and in many cases it is over 100 per cent as students who have already completed their agricultural or their entire school course may remain active F.F.A. members for three years after they complete their vocational agriculture instruction.

The local chapter ranks the highest of any school in the area composed of 71 schools in percentage of paid-up membership. Forty students are enrolled in the two vocational agriculture classes, but there are fifty paid up members in the local organization giving it a paid up membership of 125 per cent.

Claude McGowen is president of the local chapter, Homer Speed, vice-president; Joe Williams, secretary; J. Warren, reporter; Gene Putman, treasurer; Ray Palmer, Parliamentary; Beryl Longan, farm watchdog; Darrel Bailey, Jr., Brame, Lee Cheatwood, Maschil Cole, Odell Davis, Johnny Grady, Harice Green, Forest Helton, Fisher Johnson, Johnnie Leatners, Troy Moore, George Moore, Russell Morris, Carl Morris, Pete Morrow, Herman Mooring, Jr. Parker, Chas. Parker, Earl Porter, Demp Robinson, Rex Shannon, Neel Thompson, Al Word, W. C. Moss, Jr., J. Spier, Troy Rumpy, Billie Cooke, J. H. Greene, Beatty Hillman, J. F. Heathington, Ray Isham, C. McGowen, Ray Palmer, Gene Putman, Earl Shannon, Homer Speed, Jr., Warren, J. H. Welch, Joe Williams, Max Wilson, Jr. Swift, Max Rumpy, Rayburn Smith, Allen Pittman, Warren Hardin, Roy Lee Blake, Durwood McCracken and Howard Strawn are members of the local F. F. A.

T. O. Walton, president of A&M College and State Chairman for the observance in Texas, announced last week.

Dr. Walton announced names of 20 county chairmen he had appointed to carry on local programs, and said other appointments would be made shortly. The county chairmen, he said, had been instructed to appoint county committees to arrange local banquets, addresses before civic clubs and other organizations, and other functions at which wildlife conservation would be the theme. Programs were expected to begin with sermons in

Early History of Man Brings Scientists to Big Bend

AUSTIN—Indicative of the importance Texas is assuming as a field for the study of early man, Thomas N. Campbell, research assistant in anthropology and archaeology at Harvard University, will spend the next six or eight months with an expedition representing that institution and Sul Ross State Teachers College of Texas, making a study of Indian cave dwellings and camp sites in the Big Bend of Texas, according to J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology at The University of Texas, who has been informed of the expedition by Harvard authorities.

A native of Texas, whose home was formerly in Munday, Campbell is a former student of Professor Pearce's, and has spent the last two years in graduate work and research at Harvard, having gone to that institution on the basis of his work at The University of Texas and with the backing of Professor Pearce and his colleagues in anthropology. He is now finishing up work on his doctor of philosophy degree and will use the results of his explorations in the Big Bend as material for his dissertation.

EXOTIC RITUALS

By H. V. Crumley

Today's account of a strange ritual brings us closer home. In fact to the southeastern part of this country of ours. One does not need to leave the U. S. A. to find strange practices, nor need we go back but a few years. The book "Fifty years in Dixie" gives a very vivid description of the following practice among the folks in Dixie not so very long ago.

If one should depart this life and the departing should be in the winter or during the rainy season, the body would be laid to rest in the old family burial place, and that without any services whatsoever. They considered the weather too bad for all the friends and relations to come and therefore the services were put off till the spring or the summer. When the set day rolled around for the service all would gather from far and wide. If there had been more than one death during the bad weather then there would be more than one service on the set date or perhaps if the family of the departed knew each other well they would have a combined service for the departed. Sometimes there would be as high as three or four services in one day, according to course to the number of deaths during the winter. The preacher would always preach the departed to heaven, whether saint or sinner. The more that the preacher could make the mourners cry, the better sermon they thought that he delivered.

Sometimes these services would take place four or five months after the burial of the dead. It was nothing uncommon for several to "git religion" while the service was being held. Considering all the death-bed stories told, one is not surprised that they got something or other.

"THE REST OF THE RECORD"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

AUSTIN.—Upon the urgent request of several officials of the State Teachers Association I flew to Washington last week to appear before the judiciary committee of Congress in opposition to a resolution seriously affecting the title to our coastal lands.

The resolution, by Senator Nye of North Dakota, was originally introduced and passed through the United States Senate in the closing days of the session last year. Upon its face it was an innocent resolution simply reciting that it was asserted that the United States Government owned title to certain submerged lands along the coast of the United States from which oil was being extracted, and which is potentially valuable for that reason; and it instructed the Attorney General to investigate title of the United States and file such suits as were necessary to recover same for the Federal Government.

The resolution passed the United States Senate, and there is no criticism on that account—none of us knew just how far reaching it was—but, of course, it failed to get through the lower house of Congress and was pending business at the beginning of this session.

When we got to Washington we found that those who were pushing the resolution stated that it was primarily aimed at California, which occupies a slightly different status from the other states; BUT the trouble was that the resolution was so broad as to cast a serious cloud upon the Texas title and that of every other coastal state. Too, we found that the Navy Department had suggested an amended resolution which was worse than the original. The amendment asserted that the United States owned all of the submerged, or coastal lands under the waters on American shores; that there is possibly a serious shortage of oil reserves and that the President should be authorized to take over and set aside these lands as naval oil reserves.

The amended resolution did contain the statement that it was subject to the title of any state, or private individual or corporation which "may be established in the judicial proceedings hereinafter authorized." This was the worst joker in the resolution—that is, it would require Texas to establish in court a title which has been unchallenged for over a hundred years.

From the beginning of the Republic the Supreme Court of the United States has held in unbroken decisions that the State owns its coastal lands "and the soils under its navigable waters." In most of the states this extends out to the three-mile limit, but in Texas, according to the position we took, it extends for three leagues, which is about 10 1/2 miles.

We pointed out that when Texas won her independence the first congress of the Republic passed an act asserting dominion over a territory which was described to begin at the mouth of the Sabine river and parallel the Gulf Coast of Texas at a distance of three leagues from land to the mouth of the Rio Grande river. This distance of three leagues from land was recognized in the treaty of peace between the Mexican Government and the United States Government after the Mexican war. It was again recognized in the Gadsden purchase by the United States from the Government of Mexico.

Everyone conceded that Texas was probably in the strongest position of any of the states, but, of course, we don't want our title clouded and development of our oil land held up by the possibility of a lawsuit with the strong United States Government. The Attorney General of the United States now has the right to file a suit if the Government owns these lands, or any part of them. He doesn't need a resolution from Congress to authorize him to file the suit.

The parties asking Congress to pass the resolution finally admitted that they wanted this resolution for its moral effect and because it was a declaration by the Congress that United States in fact owned the land. In other words, the resolution would be, in effect, an invitation by Congress to the courts to overrule the rule of property which has existed in this country for over a hundred years.

Food Handlers Are Required To Have Certificates

AUSTIN, March 2.—For the protection of the public a law was passed in 1921 making it mandatory for every person who is employed in any public eating place, bakery, meat market, dairy or candy factory to secure a health certificate from a reputable physician. This law is intended to eliminate all persons having any communicable disease from handling any foodstuff. These certificates must be renewed every six months.

Typhoid fever, diphtheria, and amoebic dysentery carriers have been found numbers of times working in dairies, cafes, and other places where food is prepared or offered for sale. It is not too much for the consuming public to demand that those who sell them food shall be free from communicable diseases. If the examination for food handlers are properly carried out, much good will be accomplished in protecting the health of the buyer as well as giving the applicant for a certificate accurate information as to his physical condition.

State Committee Urges That Farmers Study New Farm Act

COLLEGE STATION—The Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, in the course of its regular monthly meeting of Texas A & M College, went on record as urging farmers to make every effort to inform themselves as to the workings of the new farm act, according to Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the committee.

"The referendum for the cotton marketing quota has been set for March 12," Slaughter pointed out. "It is imperative that cotton producers make every effort to determine how the quota, if approved, would affect them individually, and how they would affect other producers, consumers and the country generally."

State AAA officers have attended a regional meeting at which the new act was fully discussed, and information as to the details of the program will be placed in the hands of county agricultural agents as soon as possible.

The state committee will cooperate with the Extension Service in an informational campaign which is designed to reach the greatest possible number of farmers, Slaughter said.

County agricultural agents, their assistants, and county and community committeemen will hold community meetings at which the act in general, and the cotton marketing quota in particular, will be discussed.

Articles explaining points in the act will be furnished to newspapers and a number of radio programs dealing with the cotton marketing quota have been scheduled.

A comprehensive list of questions on the act as it applied to cotton, with answers, is being prepared and will be printed, Slaughter said. Copies of the list should be available for distribution to farmers early in March.

STATE PLANTS QUAIL IN DEPLETED AREAS

AUSTIN, March 2.—Large covys of bobwhite quail are appearing throughout depleted areas in Texas.

The state game department is well into its annual restocking program and expects to have delivered 5,000 partridges by the end of February.

Beal Jester, assistant executive secretary of the game commission, said the department had contracted for 6,000 birds and obtained an option on 4,000 more from a dealer in Laredo who obtains the quail in Mexico. The importer, Mrs. S. M. Learn, submitted the lowest price bid at 84 cents a bird.

The quail are being distributed by the department on a cooperative basis, one bird being given free for each one bought.

Harris county's request for 1,000 at no cost to sportsmen was granted by the commission since the county is one of 22 having a universal hunting license. The law requires 85 per cent of funds collected through the licenses be expended in the areas contributing.

Questions On New Farm Act Answered

COLLEGE STATION — Many questions dealing with the new farm act, and especially with the cotton marketing quota, were recently answered by Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, in the course of a radio talk over WTAW of the Texas A&M College.

Among questions which have been bothering producers and which were answered by Slaughter were "If marketing quotas are approved on cotton, how will they be put into effect on individual farms?" and "Will farms producing cotton in 1938 for the first time in recent years receive allotments?"

To the question, "How do cotton marketing quotas under the new farm act differ from the quotas under the Bankhead Act?" Slaughter replied, "Under the Bankhead Act each cotton producer received a roundage allotment and paid a tax on all cotton ginned in excess of that allotment.

"Under the new farm act, each cotton farm will receive an acreage allotment and all cotton produced on these acres may be sold without penalty. In other words, the marketing quota places a premium on efficient production, while the Bankhead Act, in effect, penalized it."

Q. If two-thirds of the farmers taking part in the cotton referendum vote for quotas, will they apply to states, counties, and communities where they are not approved?

A. The cotton problem is a national one, and not confined to any one state or county. Consequently, the quotas, if approved by two-thirds of the cotton farmers, will apply wherever cotton is produced.

Q. What are the commodities of which direct control is contemplated?

A. Cotton, tobacco, rice, corn, and wheat. Because of minimum production requirements, corn quotas will probably not apply to Texas.

Q. How does the act provide control of these crops?

A. After supplies reach certain levels, marketing of the crops is regulated through the imposition of quotas. While the act puts the quotas into effect, they are subject to rejection by a one-third vote of a producers' referendum.

Q. How will this control surpluses?

A. By providing penalties on sales in excess of farm quotas.

Q. Will the marketing quotas be put into effect each year?

A. They are put into effect whenever the supply of cotton exceeds the normal supply by more than seven percent, unless quotas are opposed by more than one-third of the producers. The normal supply for 1938 is about 18,200,000 bales, and normal supply is defined in the act as a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, plus 40 percent as an allowance for a normal carry-over. The present supply of American cotton is almost 25 million bales, largely because of the record breaking crop of 18,700,000 bales in 1937.

Q. If marketing quotas are approved, how will they be put into effect on individual farms?

A. The national cotton allotment of 26,300,000 acres will be allocated to the cotton growing states on the basis of the production of cotton in each state during the preceding five years, and the acres diverted from cotton under previous programs will be taken into consideration. Each state's allotment will be divided among counties on the same basis, but no county will receive less than 60 percent of the sum of the acreage planted in 1937 and the acreage diverted from cotton under the 1937 program.

The county allotment will be divided among farms on which cotton has been planted in any of the past three years as follows: All farms which have not planted and diverted as much as 5 acres of cotton in any of the 3 years, will receive as their allotments the greatest number of acres planted and diverted in any of the three years.

All farms on which 5 acres or more of cotton were planted and diverted in any of the three years, will receive as their allotment 5 acres and an additional amount which will bring the total allotment up to a percentage of the farm cropland (excluding acreages devoted to tobacco, wheat, and rice which will be the same for all farms in the county or administrative area.

Provision is made for a small county reserve which may be allotted to farms receiving from 5 to 15 acres under the above provisions.

Q. Will farms producing cotton in 1938, but which did not produce cotton during the past three years, receive allotments?

A. Yes: a reserve acreage will be available in each state to be divided among these farms.

Q. Is there a limit to the acreage that may be allotted to a farm?

A. No farm will be allotted an acreage greater than the cotton acreage planted and diverted during the past three years except in the case of new cotton producers.

Q. What is the marketing quota of the individual cotton farmer?

A. It is the cotton produced on his allotted acres, or the normal production on his allotted acres, whichever is greater. This means that he can sell without penalty all the cotton he produces if he does not exceed his allotted acres.

Q. Who divides the county allotment among the farmers in a county?

A. Community and county committees who have been elected by the farmers.

Q. When will farmers vote on the 1938 cotton quotas?

A. March 12, when the county committees will select a voting place in each community where cotton is grown and will select three local farmers to hold the referendum.

Q. If the quotas are in effect as the result of the referendum, what happens to a farmer if he knowingly overplants his acreage allotment?

A. He loses all soil conservation payments, his cotton price adjustment payments, and the opportunity to obtain a loan on the marketing quota for the farm. However, he may receive a loan on cotton produced in excess of his marketing quota of 60 percent of the rate available to farmers who stayed within their allotment. In addition, he must pay a penalty of two cents a pound on the excess production sold, which will be collected by the buyer. This penalty does not apply to cotton produced on any farm which has received a cotton acreage allotment and on which the production is 1,000 pounds of lint cotton or less.

Q. Will cotton loans be available under the new act?

A. The new act provides for loans at the rate of between 52 to 75 percent of the parity price for cotton on the basis of 7-8 inch middling cotton. However, the loans will be available only if the market agreement is declared in effect as a result of the referendum.

Range Program Continued Under New Farm Act To Help Donley's Grass Land

The Range Conservation Program under which ranch operators may earn specified payments for practices designed to maintain and improve rangeland will continue under provisions of the recently passed Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 practically the same as under the Agricultural Conservation Programs of 1936 and 1937, according to George Slaughter, Chairman of Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Slaughter summarizes the status of the range program as follows: The Act includes an allotment of not to exceed 5 percent of the total appropriation for payments for the range program, and noncrop pasture lands.

Under this limitation a program has been devised for the conservation of natural resources on rangelands. The program is essentially the same as the 1937 program under which 15,000 ranch operators controlling 62,000,000 acres participated in Texas. Texas has about one third of the participation in the entire United States.

The 1938 range conservation program establishes range-building allowances as the maximum amount which ranch operators may earn for approved practices.

In Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, and California, this allowance is 2 cents an acre on all range land in a ranching unit, plus $1.00 time the grazing capacity.

All the practices approved by which part or all the allowance may be earned are designed to fight erosion by promoting or restoring stands of grass.

They consist of natural reseeding by deferred grazing, better distribution of water sources, run-off and erosion control by contour furrowing and other devices, removal of range destroying plants which compete with grass, and the establishment of fire guards.

Specific rates of pay have been established for the various practices outlined. Full details will be sent to all county offices as soon as received in the State.

Slaughter pointed out that the range program is now available for the entire State.

And he is a farmer, but he's also an increasingly important figure in the industrial world, not only as a consumer but as a producer. He's engaged in hoeing up a field of soy beans which later, after passing through various factory processes, you'll be using in the form of paint and varnish, soap, linoleum and scores of other products. Consumers Information points out that 91 million pounds of soy bean oil, a comparatively new crop for American farmers, was produced in one recent year. In the same season, 2 1/2 million pounds went into the soap kettles, 5 million into linoleum and 13 million into paint and varnish. This brand new market for American farmers, who are now growing a large number of industrial as well as food products, has been developed, like many others, through the vast research programs undertaken by American industry, whose laboratories have added untold millions to the national wealth and also thousands of jobs for American workers.

The Hope of the World
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

A prominent feature of world news during recent years has been the growing truculence, in voice and action, of the Fascist and Communist nations.

On many spots of our globe these twin enemies of democracy are disturbing the peace of the world.

For whose benefit? Their own peoples? That's what the dictators proclaim, but the facts belie their statements. To the average man and woman such strife has brought only hardship.

For those under arms it has meant wounds and death. For those at home it has meant the discomfort and belt-tightening that inevitably accompany war. To all it has brought conditions where reduced wages or compulsory labor, privation by edict, conviction without trial, and many of the other evils of tyranny are commonplace.

Yet through every available source the people now under totalitarian government are told that this relinquishment of human rights is for their benefit. By every means they are told that existence in chains is preferable to the free life of democracies. By every means they are told that such surrender of their freedom to worship as they choose, or to speak or write as they choose, or to exercise a voice in government, is to their advantage.

Unfortunately many men, once free, now accept these claims. Unfortunately some smaller nations within the shadow of the great dictatorships appear willing to listen, too. But the people of America and the other great democracies realize their falsity.

They know that when the people govern, wages are higher, and will buy more; the human spirit is freer, and will achieve more; peace is more certain and will prevail longer.

They know that democracy assures not only the greatest security, but the greatest well-being, for the average man and woman.

They know that democracy remains the hope of the world.

And so long as the democratic peoples remember these things, so long as they check false claims against actual evidence, neither the persuasions nor the sword rattlings of the dictator nations will prevail against them.

Modern Methods Of Food Preservation

Crude Methods of Ancients Laid Basis for New Ideas Worth Millions Today

When the mercury starts climbing, both man and beast hunt a shady spot.

They've been doing it for many centuries.

Rumor hath it that the caveman went so far as to douse perishable foods in cool streams of water in an attempt to preserve his next meal from the ravages of Old Sol.

Which leads up to the fact that modern electric refrigeration is a car cry from the first recorded cooling system, tried out by the ancient Greeks and Egyptians before the birth of Christ.

According to C. M. Lowry, local manager for the West Texas Utilities Company, the first refrigeration was accomplished by filling shallow earthen dishes with water and covering them with sugar cane. This crude apparatus was then placed on a roof, where, exposed to the air currents or fanned by slaves, some of the water was evaporated during the night and with it went some of the heat. Loss of the heat left the remaining water considerably cooler. The chilled water was then placed around bottles of wine to cool them. Clever, eh?

Nero—he who fiddled while Rome burned—is given credit for discovering the preservative powers of snow. Hundreds of his slaves brought bales of snow from the Apennine Mountains down to the emperor's courtyard where it was buried in deep trenches insulated with sod and straw. It kept for weeks and was used for cooling wines, fruits and fish that formed part of the Roman feasts.

In the 16th century, a Venetian, Sanct Sanctorius, concocted a mixture of one-third salt and two-thirds snow by which he produced a temperature cold enough to freeze water.

It is said that Lord Francis Bacon contracted the pneumonia of which he died while stuffing a fowl with snow to study the effects of such treatment. His last question

STATUE FOR NEW YORK FAIR MALL

NEW YORK—Symbolizing mankind's control of nature, this large statue will have a prominent place on the $60,000,000 Central Mall of the New York World's Fair 1939. Dozens of statues and murals will turn the pages of history and portray in patriotic themes the rise of the United States to a commanding position in the world's affairs. Two other companion statues will make this group an imposing one.

JAPANESE POOR SHOTS

Although it does not seem likely that the United States will be forced into a war with Japan in the near future, the relative effectiveness of the war machines of the two nations is a subject which may cause much discussion.

One of the ablest American war correspondents recently called attention to a serious Japanese defect generally known to military observers, and that is poor marksmanship. This applies to their army, navy and air force alike. While the Mikado's armies have inflicted terrible losses on the Chinese, it is pointed out that this is no indication of how they would fare in combat with a first-class power.

Some military experts estimate that one division of American or British troops, for example would be equal to three divisions of Japanese. This estimate is no reflection upon the courage of the Orientals, but is based on their notorious inability to shoot straight.

It is said that only about one in 100 of the shells and air bombs directed against the North Station at Shanghai scored a hit, although the six-story structure was more than 200 feet long and nearly 100 feet wide.

As the flower of the Japanese army is being used against China, recruits which would have to be sent to the front later on would be even less effective than the present force.

was: "Does the fowl still keep?" Thus developed the science of food preservation in its cruder stages. "Nature herself took a hand," Mr. Lowry says, "by supplying cooler temperatures in springs, wells and cellars. These were used for a great many years and even today in some cases. However, the temperature is rarely below the 50-degree danger line which now is known to be necessary for safe food preservation."

The use of natural ice, he recalled, preceded development of the mechanical ice plant and electric refrigeration.

"The old-fashioned ice box went a long way toward making people more conscious of the need for food preservation," he opines. "It performed a real service in the past."

In 1880 a Chicago packing plant installed the first mechanical re-

WOLF AT THE DOOR

The wolf's been at my door so long
He's tame as any household pet;
I even whistle him inside
When days are cold or nights are wet.

The fellow is as lean as I.
Drooling gratitude, he comes
To sleep before my meager fire,
To lick the hand bestowing crumbs.

When in the dark he hurls a cry
Of protest at the battered moon,
With my dime-store piccolo
I make a duet of the tune.

refrigeration equipment used by that industry, revolutionizing the whole system of feeding the people of this nation.

Electric refrigeration for the household followed.

"Do you remember how crude the old family bus of a decade or so ago looks today?" Mr. Lowry asks. "It cost three or four times as much to operate the old models as it does the streamlined machine nowadays. Well, the same is true of the old model refrigerators. But the new electric ones! Shucks, man! They give the womenfolks year-round temperatures of 40 or 50 degrees for what it costs to smoke three cigarettes a day!"

Used Car Sale On Over Entire Nation

NEW YORK—A national drive to sweep the American automobile industry out of the current recession and stimulate American business generally was announced here today by Alvin Macauley, speaking for every American automobile manufacturer and the nation's 46,000 automobile dealers.

To support the campaign, Mr. Macauley announced, the manufacturers will spend $1,250,000 in newspaper, radio and outdoor advertising and in other promotional channels. Two-thirds of the advertising budget will be spent in newspapers.

The primary purpose of the campaign, he said, is to make known to prospective owners the remarkable used car values which now are being offered by automobile dealers in all parts of the United States.

"The present situation has resulted in the best used car values in the country's history. We are confident that used car stocks will be reduced sharply as soon as the public becomes aware of the fact," he added.

During the last few years vast improvements have been made in motor cars and this improved transportation is available on easy terms to those who take advantage of the bargains to be offered during "National Used Car Exchange Week," Mr. Macauley stated.

OIL HAS BECOME DAILY NECESSITY

How much do you depend on oil in your daily life?

That interesting question is asked and answered in an article by Walter G. Beach of Houston in the Texas Parade. "It appears there is no getting away from it," writes Mr. Beach. "Our civilization is speeding ahead on wheels oiled by petroleum. Our very lives are lubricated by it; our every act somehow comes in contact with it in some way."

"Not one in a thousand Americans ever stops to realize how utterly dependent we actually are on the oil industry—how foolishly unlivable our lives would be if even for one day we were forced to do without the things we have learned to take for granted from this industry."

"Let's just step into an average home, for instance. The medicine chest in the bathroom has a jar of vaseline, a bottle of hair oil, salves and ointments, shaving cream, shaving lotion, soaps for the family and beauty preparations, nose drops and mineral oil for the family's health, all either made directly from crude petroleum, or having an essential petroleum base."

"The little role of wax paper in the kitchen, the cans of jelly and preserves, the bread in the box, the candies in the jar, the can of insecticide, all are made possible by petroleum."

"The methyl chloride refrigerant which freezes ice cubes in the refrigerator, the gleaming, attractive durable lacquer which covers the box, and synthetic rubber covering the cord which connects the box with the main electrical circuit grow from petroleum basis. Inside the ice box are apples, oranges and grape fruit, originally were wrapped in oil treated tissues and covered with a thin film of fruit packer's oil or paraffin emulsion to help preserve the fruit. Likewise the eggs in the box."

"That box of oatmeal and other cereals have been insured against insect infestation by a treatment with a fumigant made from ethylene oxide. Even Dad's cigars and cigarettes have been treated with this fumigant made from ethylene oxide to prevent worms."

"The average business man probably drives a car to work, or employs a truck in his business. He depends every day upon the oil industry's two mainstays—gasoline and lubricating oils. The tires on his car and truck contain considerable gas black which is a by-product of petroleum."

"Think of the handicaps under which modern mass production industrial plants would be laboring without petroleum fuels and lubricants. What would railroads, airlines, motor buses and steamships do without petroleum?"

"Illuminating gases and metal cutting gasses so essential to many industries; alcohols and solvents, naphthas, saturating oils, emulsifying oils, preservatives, coke and asphalt—all oil derivatives—have been a boon to modern manufacturing and scientific advancement."

"Roofing saturants and shingle treaters, paints, flooring saturants, and waterproofing asphalts,—all are derived from a form of petroleum."

"And madam depends heavily on oil, too. Her wardrobe couldn't be so varied and beautiful without oil. Milady's dainty rayon underthings likely have been prepared with substances from petroleum sources, and her warm, cuddly furs and shapely shoes have been processed with special oils. Even the lacquers on her compact, purse, and traveling bag were made possible by petroleum solvents."

"But even more important to the modern woman than her trappings are her face, hair and hands. And here is where petroleum takes the spotlight as No. 1 'Charm-adder.' Many of the alluring shades of perfume which are supposed to intrigue the males are made with solvents and essences from petroleum. Women's hair is waved and set with oil products; her gay lacquered nails were produced with tints made from quick drying oil solvents. The smooth glow on the face and the soft hands may have been put there by nature, but they have been maintained and nurtured by petroleum. Most of the pomades, creams and kindred beauty preparations have as their base highly refined oils—oils created millions of years ago, aged by mother earth, and brought forth by the petroleum industry to glorify feminine charms."

"Little wonder then that billions of dollars have been spent to study and explore the subterranean strata for the product of nature which serves man so well. Little wonder that the petroleum industry is so

LUNATICS KNOW LESS OF WORRY

Crop control and farm problems were being debated in the staid Senate chamber when urban Senator Josh Lee, of Oklahoma, told this to Senators and gallery-ites. A well-to-do farmer, experiencing car trouble, halted in front of the well shaded grounds surrounding an asylum for the insane. An inmate approached the iron barrier from the inside and engaged the farmer in conversation. "Do you live here, too?" asked the inmate. "No," replied the farmer, "I live on that large farm a couple miles down the road. I am a farmer." Then, meaning to be cordial, the farmer asked about several things, and finally inquired of the inmate how he liked living at the asylum.

"It beats farming," the inmate laconically answered.

STATE OF TEXAS TO BEGIN ADVERTISING SPEED LIMIT—IT'S 45 MILES AN HOUR

AUSTIN, March 2.—Texas soon will advertise its maximum speed law.

Within a few days the highway department plans to erect signs at ports of entry and along sectors of cardinal thoroughfares, listing the maximum speeds for various vehicles.

Oddly, the 21,000-mile state road system never has been marked with a speed limit sign, except those giving the 20-mile limit within incorporated cities.

The department, according to a request of L. G. Phares of the highway patrol, plans placing large yellow and black signs listing various limits—45 miles per hour for passenger cars, 40 for buses and light trucks and 25 for heavy trucks.

Phares asserted the signs probably will save many lives. Some speeding can be attributed, he said, to ignorance of the law but on the other hand some drivers plead ignorance knowing what the maximum limit is. With the signs prominently displayed there will be no excuse for ignorance, he said.

SAFE DRIVING REWARDED

3-B FOOTBALL DISTRICT IS HALVED

Clarendon, Wellington, Memphis and Lakeview to Form Southern Part; Division Will Require Playoff

SHAMROCK, Mar. 2.—Division of district 3-B football conference into two sections was the chief move of coaches and superintendents of the district in their annual meeting which was held in Shamrock this week. One section will consist of the four teams south of the Rock Island railroad and the other will be made up of the five remaining teams in the northern half of the district.

The winners of the two sections will meet not later than Nov. 25 to decide the district champions. Included in section No. 1 which is the northern half of the district are: McLean, Lefors, Mobeetie, Wheeler and Shamrock. Section No. 2 is made up of the teams from Wellington, Memphis, Clarendon and Lakeview.

The group which consisted of representatives from seven of the nine towns included in the district, voted to file player lists, which must be turned over to the executive committee early in September, with a statement from the bureau of vital statistics at Washington, D. C., showing the exact age of all boys who are to be played during the season. This ruling is designed to eliminate late season protests. Succeeding Supt. W. C. Perkins of Shamrock as chairman of the district executive committee is Supt. W. C. Davis of Memphis. Coach Frank Hubbell, also of Memphis, was elected secretary; Supts. J. L. Gilmore and F. L. Mize of Wheeler and Lefors respectively, were placed on the executive committee. Supt. H. T. Burton of Clarendon and Supt. M. D. Blankenship of Mobeetie were selected as alternates on the executive committee.

Due to the absence of two members of the conference and some conflicting contracts the district schedule was not completed at the meeting but will be arranged in the near future.

The conference elected an executive basketball committee with Supt. M. D. Blankenship of Mobeetie, chairman, and coaches Joe Coleman of Wellington and Bill Allen of McLean to organize and arrange a schedule for district 3-B competition which it is hoped will revive a great deal of interest in basketball in this section of the country.

PLANES AND PROPAGANDA

With a roar echoed by the shouts of thousands in the streets below, six "flying fortresses", proudest weapons of the U. S. Army, recently zoomed through the muggy heat of an Argentine afternoon. Just 34 hours out from Miami, those winged messengers, symbols of America's power in the air, also symbolized America's determination to top alien propaganda in South America.

For months past, Italy, Germany and Japan have flooded the Spanish Americans with the cry: "Follow the Fascists!" Wave after wave of radio, press, amusement, and educational propaganda has swept over Latin America, culminating in the trans-Atlantic flight of Bruno Mussolini and his veterans of the Ethiopian "bombing is fun" expedition.

And then, with an ease that left Europe and Japan gasping, along came the Americans. Zoom: 2700 miles to Peru. Zoom: 2500 miles to Buenos Aires. Zoom: back home again. As those "fortresses" roared smoothly over land and sea, America's flying aces won millions of new friends for the U. S., and in so doing showed foreign propagandists that America knows a thing or two about the ancient art of propaganda.

Already plans have been completed for a powerful short-wave station, ear-splitting enough to blanket the Southern Hemisphere from Point Gallinas to Cape Horn. Trade agreements, press and radio, educational programs, all the tricks of foreign propagandists are being studied by America. But now, as in the past, our main weapon in the fight to maintain a spiritual as well as physical Monroe Doctrine will be the friendship of our neighbors to the south.

Friendship, not conquest, is the basis of America's alliance with Spanish America.

LANDSLIDE

Another question, divorced from the third term issue, queried students: "If you were voting TODAY for a governor, for whom would you vote?" Possible choices listed Allred, McCraw, Thompson, Farmer, Ferguson.

43.8 per cent chose Allred.

32 per cent selected McCraw. 15.7 per cent voted for Thompson.

1.3 per cent wanted Farmer. 2.8 per cent stuck with Ferguson. Analysts saw in the polls substantial opposition to a third term for the Governor on principle, but on the other hand a widespread sentiment that if voters had to choose from the present field Allred would emerge a strong favorite.

All schools and colleges of the University, except the law school, gave the Governor a plurality on the second question. Law students, by their voting in the polls, have shown themselves consistently opposed to Allred.

Lawyers named McCraw first, Thompson second, Allred third. —State Observer.

THE NON-TAXPAYER IS NON-EXISTENT

Residents of Northern California, have been given a 9 per cent reduction in natural gas rates, which will total a saving of $2,000,000 a year. Commenting on this, the San Francisco Chronicle makes a telling observation: "If it were not for certain increased taxes on the gas companies—the saving could have been $1,000,000 more."

"This particular illustration is important merely because it happens to be publicly and officially certified. Practically, the consumers of gas are so numerous that this particular tax based on to them will amount to very little on any individual bill. But the point is that it is passed on, and that in the case of a public utility the laws of the state require it to be passed on. In other cases the even more immutable laws of economics pass it on. So every consumer of gas or electricity is a taxpayer, even if he never sees a tax collector or personally signs a tax check. "We are all taxpayers. What some of us lack is tax consciousness."

ness. We think the man who signs the checks pays the tax, and that it makes no difference to the 'non-taxpayer' how high the taxes are. If this 'non-taxpayer' realized that he paid those taxes himself, he might care."

Half the cost of cigarettes, more than half the cost of liquor, a large part of the cost of food, shelter, fuel, clothing and everything else—this is the tribute inexorably demanded by the tax collector. His unseen shadow falls over every commercial transaction, whether it involves a nickel or a million dollars. And you, the consumer, the eater of food, and the wearer of clothing, eventually pay the bill, and in full. No one, unless it be a hermit who never leaves his cave in a remote hill, is a "non-taxpayer."

Motion Pictures of Historic Events Used in Schools

AUSTIN—Motion picture films depicting fifteen phases of American history are available to Texas public schools from the Visual Instruction Bureau, an extension service of The University of Texas. These 16 millimeter "movies" were produced for non-theatrical use by the Yale University Press, in a series of chronicles of American pictodramas. The dozen Federal Land Banks, which are operated under the jurisdiction of the Farm Credit Administration, broke all records in 1937 in selling farm real estate, the sales being mostly of bank-owned farms to bona fide dirt farmers. The 1937 sales topped the 1936 sales by more than two and a half million dollars.
