Questions & answers on water improvement

QUESTION: What is the City of Clarendon government proposing to do?

ANSWER: The improvements would include: an 8 inch water main from 4th and Jefferson to the water tower on the west side of the city; 100 foot storage pressure tank on the west side of town; 8 inch water main from the tower on the west side of town to the water tower on the east side of the city; and raise the water tower on the east side of the city to the same height of the tower on the west side. With any funds left as many small lines as possible will be replaced.

QUESTION: Why are these improvements needed?

ANSWER: Many water customers have so little pressure they have difficulty using appliances such as dish washers or air-conditioners and washing machines. Lines are smaller than are now adequate to supply modern households. Much of the pipeline now in use is the original line. Lines were laid for houses which had running water to supply a kitchen sink, bathtub and toilet facilities as maximum usage. Today's home may have two or more bathrooms, including showers, sprinkler system, dish washer, clothes washer, evaporative air conditioner, kiddie pool (in summer) and on occasion a fountain in the back yard. Years of use allowed the pipe to become corroded inside so that it carries even less water than it did new. Other lines have rusted out and leak allowing the loss of both volume and pressure.

More questions and answers next week.

[seated] County Judge W. R. Christal signs the "Older Workers" proclamation.

PROCLAMATION

America faces many challenges as the decade of the 80's begins. We face a serious energy crisis. We are challenged as a nation to remain a leader in the search for world peace. And we are challenged to conserve and use wisely all of our many natural resources.

Among the most valued natural resources we possess are the skills, talents and capabilities vested in our older citizens. To meet the economic and social challenges of the 80's, this nation must conserve, nurture and assure that these resources are used wisely.

Older Americans have only recently begun to see on the horizon: to see that their country view them as valuable, treasured resources. Older Americans want to stay in the mainstream of the economic and social development, they want to be active partners in the challenge of the 80's.

To hasten this enlightening and to assist older Americans in bringing their vast experience and skills to the marketplace,

NOW THEREFORE, I W. R. Christal, County Judge, of Texas, Donley County DO HEREBY PROCLAIM THE WEEK OF MARCH 8-14, 1981, AS

HIRE THE OLDER WORKER WEEK

I urge all state and local officials and citizens to join me in this effort to increase public awareness of the employment needs and concerns of older workers and to assist these persons in finding meaningful, and gainful employment opportunities in our communities.

Nurse program to be offered at CC

Clarendon College is pleased to announce a cooperative agreement with Amarillo College to provide an Associate Degree Nursing (ADN) Program on the Clarendon College campus. It is anticipated this program will begin in the fall semester 1981 and consist of students who have little or no former experience in nursing as well as practicing Licensed Vocational Nurses. In fact, several options are available for entering and completing the program.

Interested individuals are invited and encouraged to attend an informational meeting with staff from Amarillo College and Clarendon College on the Clarendon campus Thursday, March 5, 1981 at 10:00 a.m. If you feel a rewarding career in nursing is for you, don't miss this opportunity. CANCER CRUSADE

Planned for April

This April the American Cancer Society's annual educational and fundraising crusade is saying to everyone "You are the key to cancer control."

"Each individual, young and old, male and female, has a part to play in the continuing fight to control cancer," said Genevieve Caldwell, President of the Donley Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The Donley Unit sponsors such activities as free educational films on cancer available to any organization, free loans of equipment such as beds, wheelchairs and dressings to cancer patients and free transportation for cancer patients going to and from treatments.

National American Cancer Society Week begins April 12. The "target day" for Clarendon is April 14. On that day, the residential and business Crusades will be conducted. The outlying towns and communities of Donley County will also have drives during that week. Jeff Walker is over-all Crusade Chairman and Chairman of special events. Frances Skelton is residential chairman and Carol Bryant business chairman.

Approximately 75 volunteers will be needed to conduct the crusade. Young people and adults interested in volunteering may contact any of the chairmen.

Mr. Walker stated a goal of $4,600, has been set for Donley County, the largest ever set. Money collected in the crusade will fund cancer research, professional education, public education programs, services to cancer patients and crusade materials to explain cancer to the public.

Dr. R.L. Gilkey, medical chairman of the Donley Unit, stated there are 180 cancer patients in Donley County. This is a high percentage and it is hoped, for the sake of these and others, each person contacted in the crusade will give as generously as possible.

Cattle dog's best friend could be Bob and Vera Andis

By KATIE DVORAK
 If you don't happen to know all of the big shows a dog can enter, you should certainly be aware of the "reoccurring" big show at Madison Square Garden in New York, the prestigious Westminster Dog Show. This is the Super Bowl of the canine world, the Emmy of the show dog, the event all owners dream of being able to enter and the ribbon that makes a pedigree worth more than Kenneth King's Pro Bowl ring! The Westminster Dog Show is limited to only 3000 registered, pedigree dogs. There are 138 breeds or varieties recognized at this show. THAT is how exclusive this dog show is. It isn't a place for Rover and his flea collar.

Bob and Vera Andis have been taking their little Australian Cattle Dogs to dog shows locally and have used their two, Happy and Sissy as demonstration models at 4-H dog training classes. A casual comment about the possibility of showing their newly acquired prize, Champion Tallawong Blue Joshua CD at the Westminster set the wheels in motion for an epic journey, an odyssey of odd companions for the little rural berg of Clarendon to the mecca of stars, human or canine in New York.

From the first part of December, plans began to get underway for the Andis Canine Caravan to make it's journey to New York. The official entry for the three dogs didn't arrive at the Andis post office box until only six days before they were scheduled to have their three show dogs primed and ready to perform!

The optimism of Bob and Vera and the cast of dozens that helped get things on the road helped make it possible to strike out at once upon receiving the glad tidings of the official registration of Hip-O Happy Holiday CD, CH Tallawong Blue Joshua CD and Holly Blue Bhisti CD.

First, the 28 foot mobile home had to be serviced, cleaned and the five traveling kennels made secure and ready. Ray Graham and Bill Hagan, the mechanics who serviced the motor home took careful consideration to ensure that there would be no difficulty for the Andis's as they made that long trip in uncertain weather.

Bob, with all of the foresight of a rancher, dog breeder and husband, began to make great decisions such as who to take care of the ranch while they were away, who to feed the 3 week old puppies that came upon the scene, who to go with them to help handle the dogs in the ring and what to take to wear. Bob made plane reservations for three just in case something happened along the way and the dogs and at least Vera and Ginny could fly in for the show. He carried extra home town water for the dogs so that they wouldn't be drinking any "strange water" and get sick before the show. Bob was so efficient that Vera wonders if he didn't arrange for the beautiful weather they enjoyed all along the way.

The support of the Panhandle Kennel Club and the Amarillo Obedience Training Club gave the Andis's the courage they needed to dare take this "new" breed to the Westminster show. Lonna von Brunow, Vera's mother, The Andis's aren't content with the list of firsts they generated this year. They are planning already to find ways and means to promote the Australian Cattle Dog to win the group competition then the Best of Show! Perhaps they will take their own dogs and win one or both of these events next year!

This great success and prize winning adventure could not have been possible without the cooperation and help of the people in the community who supported the Andis' on their way. It is good to know that our community will help others to reach out and grab the ladder to success and achievement. After all, their success reflects on our town. Congratulations to Bob and Vera and their prize dogs, but also Congratulations to Clarendon for supporting their efforts.

Bob had great fortune in having Bob Williamson camp at the Hip-O while they were away to look after things. Wendell and Debbie Sursa fed the puppies and looked after the dogs with Jerry Ann and Buster Shields backing them up when the feeding time became a burden. Jerry Ann and Buster did this even with preparations underway to empty the nest of one of their fledglings, Johnny; whose wedding fell during that time!

As time drew near for departure, Vera knew that they should not go that long distance with only the two of them. When she mentioned her concern to a friend, Wanda Bronson, a solution was found with Wanda's partner, Ginny Gillette said she would go if someone could dog sit her champion cocker spaniel, Ajax CD. That was no problem as Helen Lyles volunteered for that pleasant task and so Ginny was slated to travel as companion to both Bob and Vera and help handle the dogs at the show.

The trio joined AAA and got complete maps for their journey and they found good camping grounds to stop all along the way. They made frequent stops to exercise the rest since they drove all day and all night and part of Friday to get to New Jersey, where they had located a good, secure KOA, to home-base out for the show.

The rest of the story is history. And more than just history, but newsworthy history on a grand scale! Joshua ran away with honors such as Best of Breed, the first time in the history of the show that the Australian Cattle Dog had ever entered! Rhea completed her fifteen points during this event and thereby became the first ever Australian Cattle dog to finish at Westminster! These three dogs were the first Australian Cattle Dogs to be listed in the Westminster Kennel Club Catalogue! To top all of these firsts off, it was the first time that these three people, representing Clarendon, Texas and the area had ever shown dogs at the Westminster Dog Show! If that all isn't news, you should just go out to the

PORTRAIT OF A champion Joshua

Hip-O Ranch west of town and ask Bob or Vera Andis. I bet they'll tell you all about it and show you the ribbons, the beautiful silver medalion from Tiffany's that Josh received and show you pictures of them at the show.

EFFECTIVE SELF-MEDICATION

Nonprescription Medicines and Parents
 Parents are first-level care evaluators who must make the decision as to whether their children should be given self-medication or professional treatment, says Dr.

Jay Arena, professor of Pediatrics at Duke University.

About 90 percent of the pediatric medicine practiced in this country is practiced by parents and grandparents, Dr. Arena said at a meeting of The Proprietary Association, the trade association representing the manufacturers of nonprescription medicines. He recommended that parents become more knowledgeable and adept at self-medication.

It is the responsibility of every parent to read the label on medicines for specific instructions. Effective and safe self-medication of children requires a sense of responsibility and knowledge. The best source of knowledge about nonprescription medicines for self-care is on the label.

Howardwick City Council Meets

The city council of the City of Howardwick met in regular session at the city hall on Saturday, February 14, 1981 at 8:30 a.m. Those present were Mayor Waldon Moore, Aldermen Carol Cole, Neal Mann, Leon May, Melville Mills and Lawrence Whitehead; Evelyn Burleson sitting in for City Secretary Connie Milam and a large number of guests.

Mayor Waldon Moore opened the revenue sharing funds proposed use hearing stating that the city will be budgeting $488.00 from entitlement period #11 plus $1,419.00 from entitlement period #12. He then opened the floor to the public for suggestions for use of these funds. There were several suggestions given: renovation of the city storm shelter, improvement of the road leading to the city boat ramp, construction of a parking area between the city hall and the fire station and general street maintenance. After further discussion, the majority felt that these funds should be used to renovate the city storm shelter. Letter to editor

Dear Sirs:

We, the City Council, wish to express to the Fire Department, our deep appreciation for the fine job you did Monday afternoon fighting the blaze which threatened the downtown area. We know, but for your quick action, much more property would have been lost. Our community is fortunate to have men of your dedication, giving freely of your time, serving with little pay, and often with disregard for your own safety and wellbeing. For all of these reasons, we say thank you very much.

If at any time the Council can be of assistance to your organization, please call upon us.

Sincerely,

BOOKWORM

The Internal Revenue Service sent a cassette tape to our library. It gives step by step instructions for filling out a 1980 tax return. This should be a help to anyone making out a tax return. The cassette can be checked out. Also new in the library are: "Peter the Great" by Robert Massie, three books on energy: "Nuclear Power", "Before the Rainbow. What We Know About Acid Rain", "Energy", and "Nicaragua Betrayed" as told to Jack Cox by President Somoza.

The library received a very nice donation of books last week from Mrs. Clifford Taylor. Included in the selections were several translations of The Holy Bible which we did not have. Thank you Mrs. Taylor.

Patrons interested in horticulture might be glad to know that we subscribe to the bi-monthly magazine "Flower and Garden".

New patrons in our library over the past several weeks include: Cris Phillips, Wynona, James and Jeremy Todd, Frances McClellan, Debra Kerek, Mike Murray and Susan Cummins. Welcome to all of you.

Another new and wonderfully interesting book we have acquired is "The Origin" by Irving Stone. It tells the story of Charles Darwin.

At the age of twenty-two, Darwin was a charming, light-hearted, rich young man without a career or future. A recent graduate of Cambridge, he was about to enter the clergy, when, out of the blue, a letter arrived inviting him to sail on H.M.S. Beagle as a naturalist. The surveying voyage would girdle the globe. The result of the five year voyage would change radically the way man perceived himself and his world.

When Darwin returned, he had become an experienced naturalist with a priceless collection of rare and unknown plants and creatures. This book fills an important and long regretted gap in the literature on Charles Darwin.

feel such catches should be disqualified since access is so limited. However, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials responsible for keeping the records believe the current system is the only workable one.

Inland Fisheries Coordinator Bob Bounds said that potential record catches from private waters still must be certified under strict-rules which include weighing on certified scales and witnesses to assure the fish was caught on legitimate sport tackle.

There is another reason the department wants to continue recognizing fish from private waters. "Alexanders two record fish were part of the early experimental stocking program for Florida-strain largemouths," Bounds said, "and the state record system is one way we can gather important information on where the big fish are and why they achieve such large sizes."

If you are able to take a fishing trip this spring, head for Lake Monticello near Mount Pleasant because Bounds feels sure that it will contribute a new record this spring or next.

Even though lakes with power plants on them, which would produce warmer water temperatures for the Florida fish and they would then grow faster and better, might be producing big bass today, lakes such as Lake Livingston, Amistad or Falcon will ultimately produce state record bass. There may even be some mighty fine bass, maybe not suitable for the trophy bass record, but certainly suitable for mounting, come out of our little puddle at Greenbelt.

That all is to say you can catch some fair fish on Monticello IF you are a

RECORD BASS—John Alexander of Richardson

Fish Tales

By Katie Dvorak

The rapid-fire breaking of the state largemouth bass record has elicited some grumblings from Texas bass fishermen who feel only fish taken from public waters should be considered for state records.

John Alexander of Richardson unwittingly caused the outcry by catching back-to-back record bass from Lake Echo, a 175 acre private lake near Athens. He used the same type lure...a black jig with pork rind trailer. Alexander landed a 14-pound 3/4 oz. bass on Jan 10, then followed that up with a 15 1/4 pounder Feb. 7! All previous state record largemouth bass have come from public reservoirs.

Some Texas bass fishermen who don't have access to private waters apparently

Pathfinder Club Met

The Pathfinder Club met at the Patching Memorial Club House February the 27th for an Arts Program brought by Mr. James Ivey Edwards, art instructor at Clarendon College.

Mr. Edwards is in his second year here; he happened in one day and needing an art instructor they hired him on the spot.

Beside Clarendon, he has classes in Pampa, Shamrock and Childress. 800 students altogether. Thirty here majoring in art. He hopes to take his students to the galleries in Oklahoma City, Dallas and Ft. Worth. He said there are forty eight professional artists in the Panhandle, more per capita than any other place in the state. Nationally known of course, is the late Mr. Bugbee... also his wife Olive Vandruff Bugbee and Don Ray.

Mr. Edwards is working with Frank Phillips College to have a junior college art show once a year. New studies at the college include Ceramics, Pottery and Photography. Thirty seven students have signed up for the Photography classes. They are building a gas fired kiln and a pottery wheel has been ordered.

He said he would like to help make Clarendon College worthy fisherman and go at the right time. Bill, Arlis, B.J. and Herman Mooring took a little business-fishing trip.

They started out fishing at Lavon near McKinney and caught some small crappie and little bass, but not enough to even feed the four of them. They went on to Lake Quitman and again caught a little of the littlest fish. B.J. and Arlis knew when they were licked and returned to the green pastures of Greenbelt.

Herman acknowledged their foresight, "If I'd fished as hard on Greenbelt as I did on that trip, I'd have had a truck load of fish!"

Herman and Bill over heard one fisherman tell of the huge bass being pulled out of Lake Monticello so the Mooring boys loaded up and headed down there on a trot. They were on their way to get some minnows for the store anyway, so why not wet a line or two?

Herman caught a 4 pounder bass and Bill caught a bigger one that, according to Herman could have been 6 or 7 pounds, but Bill believes it was closer to 12. "Bill wasn't hoss enough to keep it and it got away so no one will know just how big it really was" Herman said. We'll assume that there is a great big bass still on the fin in Monticello. The new state record awaits!

He brought two pictures painted by Mrs. Edwards; one a Colorado scene - Bear with cubs. Mr. Edwards said he likes to paint wildlife...not flying or running away from him...but when the birds and animals do not know he is there. He said there is much enthusiasm at the College - they must be doing something right.

Refreshments of chocolate torte and coffee were served by the hostesses Mrs. Heckle Stark and Mrs. Dick Delaney. Twelve members and one guest, Mrs. Forrest Sawyer attended.

LIVING LIKE A KING

by Rick Hayes

This is the second of a two-part interview series with Clarendonite Kenny King of the Super Bowl Champion Oakland Raiders. In this final part of the series, King reviews the 1980-81 season from training camp to the Super Bowl. He also gives some speculation on the future of the Raiders in Oakland, and discusses some needs of the Raiders and the team outlook.

Question: Was there much of a battle in training camp between yourself and Arthur Whittington?

King: There was a battle for about three weeks. Then it became apparent who the starter was going to be. Whittington's a good back, but he doesn't have the power that it takes and I gave them that dimension. He accepted it and he had to swallow his pride but that's the way it is in this league: one day you're here, the next you're gone.

Question: Were the Raiders the same type of team early as they were later in the season?

King: We started off very slow and very poorly. We made some changes as the season went on and things started to happen for us. A different quarterback, Jim Plunkett, comes in and replaces Dan Pastorini [Who went down with a broken leg early], we made some personnel changes and then Pastorini gets well and there's talk of bringing him back. This puts added pressure on Plunkett, then they said that they weren't bringing him back and we begin to climb. The defense played excellently all year, the offense started playing Championship-style ball in the playoffs.

Question: What did Plunkett do that Pastorini couldn't or wouldn't do?

King: Well, it wasn't that he couldn't do it. He had a lot of pressure, replacing a legend like Kenny Stabler in Oakland. You know when you talk about Stabler, Tatum and Dave Casper you're talking about legends and there was a lot of pressure on Pastorini. He tried to give the fans and the team what they were looking for and he tried so hard that he caused himself complications. Plunkett just came in and played his style of ball. He did that and it made a big difference because he proved he could do it after he had been written off.

Question: You were quoted quite a bit in the press before the Houston game-what were your feelings about playing Houston?

King: I was emotionally very high for that game because of the way things had turned out for me at Houston. I mean, I don't hate Houston or the Oilers but they have problems on that team because they have players who think they're better than other people. I don't care if you're an all-pro or a rookie on a team, you're all the same, everyone is the same with the same objective: To win. I just wanted to give them a good valuable lesson on what it takes to be a winner.

Question: The semi-final game in Cleveland was bitter cold. Did it bother the Raiders?

King: No. In fact [Cleveland head coach] Sam Rutigliano was quoted as calling us the "Sunshine Boys". We just wanted to prove to him that that wasn't true. Every team needs something like that to really get going. By him saying we'd buckle in the cold weather it just made us want to prove him wrong. The weather did play a major role, however, for both teams. It shut down the big plays, but it hurt both teams. I think if the game had been played at a warm site it would have been a high scoring game because Cleveland has a very good team.

Question: The AFC Championship game in San Diego-warm weather, high score-What about the tipped pass to Raymond Chester. Would you elaborate on that?

King: Very coincidental because several years back, I can't remember when, but a pass was thrown to a number 33 and he tipped it into the hands of number 88 and it went for a touchdown. And it was in a play-off game. I wasn't expecting it but I just knew it would be intercepted. Then I see Raymond Chester, an old dude running downfield, and he scores and I was real surprised. For a guy that's 32 years old it's outstanding because he's been in the league a lot of years and still plays with pride and intensity.

Question: Let's talk about Super Bowl week. What was it like before the game?

King: The only thing I did different Super Bowl week was go to press conferences every day. I did nothing else different. We knew we could win if we played consistently and eliminated mistakes. When people asked what it would take I said it in one word: "Consistency. We have to be consistent". That's what it came down to, and that's why we're the World Champions.

Question: Cliff Branch said that the big difference was Vermeil's style, treating his players like high school kids, on the other hand, the Raiders are treated like men.

King: That's Al Davis' philosophy: let a man be a man. You don't make people in molds. You let a man play like himself and it will bring the greatness out. Dick Vermeil has a lot of talent in Philadelphia, but they can't let go and do their thing because of that style. He puts a lot of pressure on them instead of putting pressure on a person, take the pressure off. If they hadn't had all that pressure, getting drilled two 2 1/2 hours a day it would have been a much better game. If they had a coach like Tom Flores, they would have done much better.

Question: Who was the main leader for Oakland during the hassles of Super Bowl week?

King: Gene Upshaw, our team captain and team spokesman. He called us together, told us what it'd take. Ted Hendricks did the same thing. He's not a speech maker, but this time he did. He's been in three Super Bowls now and won all three. Bobby Chandler, on the other hand, was in Buffalo all those years, he gets traded, gets a World Championship ring his first year here. Cedrick Hardman, the same way. Raymond Chester has been in the league 11 years and he gets a World Championship. All those guys helped the younger players-I know they helped me a lot.

Question: What about the bomb threat you played under?

King: [Chuckles] Well, at the time it wasn't funny. It was a shaky situation and I didn't tell anyone on the team because I didn't want to spoil all the activities-parties, etc. My excitement of winning was tarnished somewhat. It was nothing more than a threat, but I hope it never happens again.

Question: What about next year? Are they going to be the Oakland Raiders?

King: The move is pending. If Al Davis says we move, we move. I go where he goes 'cause that's where my money is-in his hip pocket.

Question: Are your sentiments echoed by your teammates?

King: Yeah, I think so. We've got to go where Al says because he's the one who signs the checks. It doesn't matter to me because I'm single and I can pick up and move anytime.

Question: What about the team itself next year?

King: We're gonna build us a dynasty. We've got two first and two second round picks and I'm sure Al knows who he wants. We need back-up linebackers, maybe more running backs. Mark Van Eechan is talking about retirement in a couple of years. I'm going to try and talk him out of it.

The Lions Tale

By GENE ALDERSON

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday with sixteen members, one guest and Lion Sweetheart Viola Graham present.

Following a delicious meal Boss Lion Davidson called the meeting to order and drafted Lion Bivens to fill in as song leader.

Following the Pledge to the Flag led by the Boss Lion and prayed by Lion Messer, Lion Stavenhagen introduced Jimmy Adams and Lion Daniel who brought us some fine "fiddin and pickin", (You missed it, Lion Drennan). Our attendance was way down today. You Lions that are reading this article that weren't there—we need you—we will be looking for you next week.

F.T.A. NEWS

The F.T.A. Chapter met in regular session at 6:30 p.m. President Rick Hayes brought the meeting to order.

A treat day was planned for February 5. Each member was assigned treats to bring.

All members worked on the spirit chain bringing the class chains up to date. Final day for spirit competition will be Monday, FEB. 9. The plaque will be presented Feb. 10, our last home game.

Each member was encouraged to really get going on their carnation sales.

Daze of our Lives

By JEAN BURCHETT

Why I keep reading beauty columns is beyond me. This morning's paper admonished us all to take a good look at ourselves. Do you realize how dangerous that can be? Its enough to make a closet case of you.

The power of suggestion is a mighty thing though, and I found myself gazing in the mirror to immediately go into a state of shocked dejection.

Sure enough, white whiskers were sprouting from my chin. And there was the second circle rounding my neck to give my age away faster than teeth in an old horse's mouth. Worse yet, I could hide a tube of lipstick in the bags under my eyes.

I thrashed through the trash to retrieve the column. Surely, the solution was there!

Will you believe this? Measurements for perfect ankles, thighs and calves? If the writer thinks I'm going to shame Mahatma Gandhi's memory by recording my leg measurements, she's off her rocker. Check elbows, Frankly, elbows have never appeared to me and if anybody ever said to me, "You have lovely elbows," I'd think he/she fell out of a tree.

At any rate, by the time Hubby came home for lunch my contentance needed a girldle. "Do you think I'm looking old?" I snapped.

"No older than yesterday," he says quizzically. (He's a great morale booster.)

"What about my elbows?" I ask, and throw him into a puzzled trance.

In a minute or two, he says, "You have lovely elbows, honey."

"That's just what I thought," I said. "You never look at me anymore. You probably don't even know the circumference of my ankles or that my thighs are pleated!"

OLDER WORKER WEEK

Older Worker Week is planned for March 8-14, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb, Inc. is encouraging employers to recognize their older workers during this week.

Evidence that the older worker is a high-quality employee is mounting. According to a survey made recently among some of America's largest corporations, 84% of the personnel directors queried thought that older employees are more productive.

Green Thumb directly hires nearly 1,000 workers 55 years of age and older, on a part-time basis. Green Thumb employees are placed in community jobs throughout the 107 county area in which the program operates. These workers not only demonstrate the value of accumulated experience and wisdom acquired with age, but also contribute services that their communities might not otherwise afford.

Green Thumb Director Diane Parrish urges both public and private employers to recognize their older employees during this Older Worker Week.

Those Crazy Episcopalian

but if the choir is lousy... offering a bit of themselves to God. Their first thought is one of giving...not receiving. Kneeling sometimes helps. Sure! Episcopalian, too, have music and "messages from the pulpit." But if the choir is lousy...or the sermon something less than eloquent...the hour isn't really wasted. Every individual gives a bit of himself. And if kneeling seems to help, then God probably doesn't mind.

THEY EVEN KNEEL IN PUBLIC!

Right! A lot of Episcopalian (not all) kneel during parts of the service.

They have a funny way of looking at worship. They don't attend church for the primary purpose of enjoying stirring sermons or beautiful hymns. "This is no spectator sport," they say. Worship, to them, means

Sesquicentennial Stamp Planned by U.S. Post Office

House Representative Chris Semos and House Majority Leader Jim Wright announced today that the U.S. Postal Service has agreed to issue a special commemorative postage stamp to honor the 150th anniversary of the year Texas became a republic.

In a meeting with Rep. Semos, who is chairman of the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial Commission, and Commission Executive Director Randy Lee, Postmaster General William F. Bolger said the Postal Service based its decision on the fact that Texas is the only state in the Union that was ever a republic, and the Postal Service no longer recognizes colonial or territorial anniversaries on stamps.

"All the other states were either colonies or territories first," Semos noted, "but Texas declared its independence of Mexico by becoming a republic. It was for this reason that 50 years ago a commemorative stamp was issued to honor Texas' 100th birthday."

Congressman Wright said he hoped the new sesquicentennial postage stamp could be issued on March 2, 1986, Texas Independence Day. Postal officials said that they would try to see that this is done.

Interested artists and others with ideas for the theme or design of the stamp are invited to write to the Stamp Advisory Committee of the U.S. Postal Service, 475 L'Enfant Plaza, S.W., Washington, D.C., 20260, according to Rep. Semos.

"This is really good news," Semos said, "this stamp will mean significant outside support for our Sesquicentennial celebration. And we will be looking for other ways, such as having international exhibits, pageants and other cultural activities, to call attention to 1836 -- the most significant year in the history of the Lone Star State."

Wright and Semos said that they expect to continue working together, along with the entire Texas Congressional Delegation, to gain further official recognition of the Sesquicentennial Year. For instance, there are expected to be exhibits throughout Texas from foreign countries with which Texas has had either diplomatic relations or historical links.

The Commission, an official agency of the State of Texas, is composed of the following 24 members: Rep. Chris Semos, Chairman; Joe M. Dealey, Sr., Vice Chairman; Dr. S.L. Abbott, El Paso; Sen. Betty Andujar, Fort Worth; Rep. Hugo Berlanga, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Nancy Canion, League City; Vidal Cantu, Jr., Laredo; Rep. Bill Clayton, Springlake, Speaker, House of Representatives; Dr. L. Tuffly Ellis, Austin, Texas State Historical Association; Wayne Gallagher, Dallas, State Fair of Texas; Sen. O.H. Harris, Dallas; Mrs. Omar Harvey, Dallas; Frank Hildebrand, Austin, Texas

Tourist Development Agency; Truett Latimer, Austin, Texas Historical Commission; Allan Longacre, Austin, Texas Commission on the Arts; Jack R. Maguire, San

Antonio, Institute of Texan Cultures; Mrs. Ann Quirk, San Antonio; Mrs. Risher Randall, Houston; Sen. H. Tati Santiesteban, El Paso; Tom H. Taylor, Austin, Travel and Information Division, Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation; Mrs. Margaret Williams, Houston; Dr. Robert H. Wilson, Dallas; Dr. Dorman H. Senator Bill Sarpalius

Reports

AUSTIN -- An old adage says that anything that is worth doing is worth doing right. And that is just the way we approached the subject of raising the drinking age to 19.

We believed that this change was necessary for two reasons. First, in response to the requests of many concerned parents, schoolteachers, and school administrators, we feel that the only way to make a dent in the growing problem of 18-year-olds drinking in and around the High Schools is to make it illegal for 18-year-olds to drink. Now, we are not naive enough to think that this will absolutely cure the problem once and for all, but it will certainly help.

Secondly, the people of the district wanted the change. Our job in Austin is to do what the voters want. We promised to do so during the campaign, and we are trying to do our best now.

It is evident that the Senate felt the need for the change as well. We passed our bill 26 - 2, with only Senators Doggett and Mauzy dissenting.

The provisions of our bill state that no one under the age of 19 may possess or consume any alcoholic beverage. It further states that no one under the age of 19 may have a license to sell alcoholic beverages. The bill will allow, however, a person younger than 19 to work in a place that serves or sells alcohol. For instance, an eighteen-year-old employee of a grocery store that sells beer will be able to continue working at the grocery store. In the same manner, an eighteen-year-old bartender will be able to continue working at a restaurant or club.

It looks like the House of Representatives agrees with our version of the bill, and since the Governor has designated our bill as an emergency measure, the House can begin considering it immediately. If passed by the House and signed by the Governor, our bill will become law and go into effect on September 1st of this year--just in time for the new school year. It should soon thereafter become apparent whether we have succeeded in our efforts.

Once again, the main reason that we worked for this bill is that you, the people in our district, wanted it passed. We always need to know what you want, whether it concerns alcohol or any other subject. The only way we can know what you want is if you tell us, and we hope that you will. Write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

CATTLE NEED VITAMIN A

Drouth conditions and a lack of green forage often lead to a vitamin A deficiency in cattle. Thus producers may want to supply a supplemental source of vitamin A for cows grazing dry, bleached pastures with little or no green hay this winter, suggests Ronald Gooch, Donley County Extension Agent.

Deficiencies of Vitamin A during pregnancy may cause cows to abort or give birth to dead or weak calves. Extreme deficiencies may also impair the ability of cows to conceive. Bulls receiving insufficient vitamin A show a decline in sexual activity and semen quality. Carotene, which supplies vitamin A, is contained in all green parts of growing plants, explains Gooch. Good pastures always provide liberal and rich supplies of carotene and thus have a high vitamin A value.

The vitamin A requirement of breeding, growing and finishing beef cattle can be met by carotene in feedstuffs such as green pastures, grass or legume silages, hay not over a year old, or by supplementary vitamin A either by intramuscular injection or orally, notes Gooch.

Growing and finishing steers and heifers require 1000 International Units of vitamin A per pound of dry diet; pregnant heifers and cows, 1270; and lactating cows and breeding bulls, 1770.

The intramuscular injection of emulsified vitamin A at the rate of one million units apparently provides sufficient vitamin A to prevent deficiency signs for two to four months in growing or breeding beef cattle.
