Donley County Old Settlers to Meet In Conclave Tate Grove Tomorrow

The work-a-day world will be forgotten and the joys and sorrows of yesterday will live anew for a day when over 300 pioneers gather at Tate Grove near Hedley, Friday August 19, for the 8th annual reunion of the Donley County Old Settlers Association.

The age list runs well over the 80s with T. L. Lovelace, 100, and Mrs. Maggie Bailey 93, as honor guests. Gone from the ranks this year are Charles Dickson, 93, Civil War veteran and J. L. Reed, 90. Both were overtaken by death recently.

Unlike most reunions, the picnic is not sponsored by a civic organization. "We just wanted an old fashioned gathering," says W. I. Rains, Hedley pioneer and president of the group; "so we picked out a pretty little grove and started our picnics for ourselves."

There are no dues to be paid by the members. The only requisite is that one is a pioneer and brings a well filled basket of food. Coffee is served by the association.

Only the morning's program has been arranged. Entertainment for the afternoon will be selected impromptu from the plentiful talent on the ground, according to W. C. Bridges and Homer Mulkey, program committee.

The morning program:
9:45—Band concert, C. H. S. band.

10:00—Announcements by president.

Invocation: Judge Lowe.
Address of welcome by E. H. Watt.

Response by J. C. Estlack.
Music by Edwards family.
Accordian solo by Ivan Jones.
Song by Dixie Lee and Jack Sisson.

11:00—Business Session.
Dedication song arranged by Bud Heffner.

12:00—Dinner.

Other entertainers after dinner. Cal Farley's Flying Dutchman Circus will be on hand Friday afternoon, Farley hopes to bring Stuttering Sam, movie star, who is in Amarillo for a vacation.

Clarendon College 'Exes' Plan Reunion

A homecoming without an aim, mater, is in store for the majority of the expected 1,000 ex-students of Clarendon college who will gather here Nov. 11 for the 40th anniversary of the founding of the institution.

Established as a Methodist school in 1898, the college operated as both a junior and senior institution until it closed in 1927. The present college was immediately opened as the Clarendon Municipal Junior college.

LOST CHILD FOUND SLEEPING SOUNDLY

Seven-year-old Grady Allen of Lelia Lake went to sleep and caused a widespread kidnap alarm before he was found in gentle repose several miles from his home.

Grady, awaiting the conclusion of the church services where his father, V. W. Allen, is pastor, went outside and climbed into a car to take a nap.

When church broke up, the automobile owner drove to his home, put the car in the garage and went to bed without looking into the rear.

The frantic parents discovered the child still calmly sleeping after the entire congregation had been enlisted in the search several hours later.

CLUB NOTES

T. L. Lovelace of McLean, born March 24, 1838, was a guest of the Lions club Tuesday. He made an interesting talk, being well informed and sprightly far beyond one of his age. Other guests were Miss Waunita Robinson, who has been in charge of the NYA project here, and her successor, Miss Eula Joyce Bursleson.

Sam Braswell made a report on the International Lions convention in Oakland, California, similar to a report made by Homer Mulkey upon his return, both men and their wives being in attendance.

Sacred Concert at Christian Church Next Friday Night

A quartet from the Pacific Bible College of Los Angeles, California will give a Sacred Concert, at the Christian Church, Friday evening at 8 o'clock. With the quartet will be Ray Sawyer, the Field Secretary, who for two years was a missionary to Japan only returning this year.

This is strictly an advertising program for the school in California and no effort will be made to raise money, neither will any charge be made.

We are sure that this will be an enjoyable concert, for this quartet has a wide reputation, for their presentation of Sacred numbers.

"We are anxious that everyone in Clarendon shall hear this program," stated Rev. Austin, the local pastor. "So in this way we are inviting the public to attend," he said.

The rains were greatly needed in the tightland section which was beginning to show hot spots.

One man in particular had a price on his head and was badly wanted by the FBI department. Others were escaped convicts, while still others were wanted in a number of places on various charges. The incident called for much front page space in the dailies at the time. Miller broke up the jungle, a brushy hideout near the railroad yards on the river.

That Historical Edition.

The Golden Anniversary edition of the Globe-News brings to us a historical record of 280 pages that cost thousands of dollars and endless labor. There is less spite and envy in the edition than is usually found in an effort of this kind. There is far more bona fide history about old-timers than was expected. There was less attempt to "play up" individuals. Taken all around, this edition will live through the centuries as the treasured property of those interested in history. Congratulations to all those who, in any way, were responsible for this gift to not only the Southwest, but to the Nation.

Texas Becomes a Guinea Pig.

Without request, Texas today becomes a political guinea pig subject to experiments never before made. The main laboratory is in charge of Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel. He wants to find out what Texans think about a one-man political suggester in state affairs. Just as soon as the news broke, Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President who resides at Ft. Worth endorsed the idea.

Mr. O'Daniel is said to have had the advice of several politicians and office holders at Austin before beginning the experiment. Those politicians who did not support him are jubilant, while the move has created much disappointment and dissension among his supporters, many of whom are of the opinion that their candidate has fallen into the clutches of professional politicians and is now being "taken for a ride."

Texans in the past have been slow to accept dictation. Conditions have made them deeply suspicious. The big majority are honest and act quickly to right a wrong in their personal political actions. If any change has been made, it will likely come to light around August 27th.

All measures to control soil erosion have at least one aim in common—to increase the amount of water soaking into the land and to reduce the amount that runs off.

The first flowers developed on melon, cantaloupe, cucumber, and similar vines bear pollen only and cannot develop into fruit. Flowers that may set fruit are borne singly in the first and second axils of the fruiting branches which are produced after the vines have made some growth.

That just shows what comes of jumping to a conclusion. It was Lee Bell of Downs, Kansas and appeared in the Downs News August 11th. Our Lee Bell is one of the finest young men anywhere and has no connection whatever with the party in Kansas.

The scene in the political bombastic field this week beggars description. There never has been anything like it before. In organization, in execution, in intention it is unique. Skilled professional politicians can march the folks to the polls, but they can't make them vote just like they want them to. Most all of us are more than willing to help O'Daniel clean the capitol of professional politicians, and most of us could use far better judgment than he did as to just who should be cleaned out. Again, if one man can select the list that suits his fancy, why vote on any of them except the one who is to do the selecting? We don't need dictators in national, state or county politics.

Ruth Hussey of the movies missed being bad by adding an "e" to the name. Look in your dictionary for the definition to "hussy."

Seasonal Topics.
The time of the season is here when democrats "point with pride," the republicans "view with alarm," and the average citizen will vote as he darn pleases.

"Ladies" will stop most any man—when the word is on the door.

A man who has raised ten kids deserves a lot of credit. In fact I don't see how he could get along without it.

Had you ever noticed that when a fellow gets along in years, he begins to take more interest in the kind of mattress he has to sleep on rather than trying to find some place to go when night comes?

Favorite scripture for the week is: II Timothy 1:7. Read it.

Old Hastoon Yazzie says it's too late to play the "Meddlesome" wedding march at the wedding. They ought to have used that during the courtship.

Sam Lowry spent last week in McLean with relatives.

WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

L. L. Foster's children went to school with Jerry Sadler back in east Texas several years ago. L. L. lives near Hudgins, and all of them are for the gritty Jerry who suffered the pangs of poverty as a lad and worked his way up to become a successful lawyer. Jerry Sadler wants to become a member of the railroad commission. His opponent, C. V. Terrell, has held some kind of office for 54 years.

Verna Lusk, genial manager of the Shamburger lumber interests here, is a lucky boy. He was awarded $112.50 Saturday before last, and says he needed it badly. Well sir, that's the kind of folks we like to see get these gifts on these Saturday merchant gift occasions.

The best part of summer is the visiting. The kids come home and a lot of running around is done. Our kids have been stringing in along by jerks to poke their feet under the old family table and eat fried chicken and biscuits that 'only mother can bake.' If your folks get around to coming to see you this summer, you're lucky.

If wishes and sympathy could get the job done, our good citizens who lost their early crop in the flood would get a good rain this week. No finer folks ever lived, and here's hoping with all our might.

The test going down south of Hedley in quest of oil pools, is looking mighty good. An oil field will be a welcome article in our section most any time. When that time comes, the Leader has the equipment for a dally, and the dally will be a dandy good one, too.

We have had more visitors—men, women and children—the past week than for a long, long time. Thank you folks, and come back again. We devote Saturday afternoons to visitors, a custom since the Leader was founded some ten years ago.

And to those who brought us vegetables, corn and melons the past week, we want to say thanks a lot. Each of you asked that your names not be mentioned, and we have to comply with your request. Anyhow, we doubly thank you for remembering us. Nothing like having good neighbors.

And to those who called too late to get the seedling peach seeds, Mrs. Nat Woods called early and was the first bidder. We always give our neighborly gifts to the first to ask following an announcement. Mrs. Woods will grow a lot of fine fruit and have seeds to give others, she's a mighty fine lady for the reason we know she will pass them on.

Leases have been taken in the Goldston country and a test is being talked for the Lelia Lake country soon. Those gas pockets and favorable cuttings from the Hedley oil test is stirring the big companies into action. And you don't have to terrace an oil field, either. A lot of our farms would look better in an oil field, and the folks who own them would likely not make and kick about the change.

Gene Teat left Friday night for Dallas where she entered the Baylor hospital where she will receive training in nursing.

More Quail Expected For This Year's Season

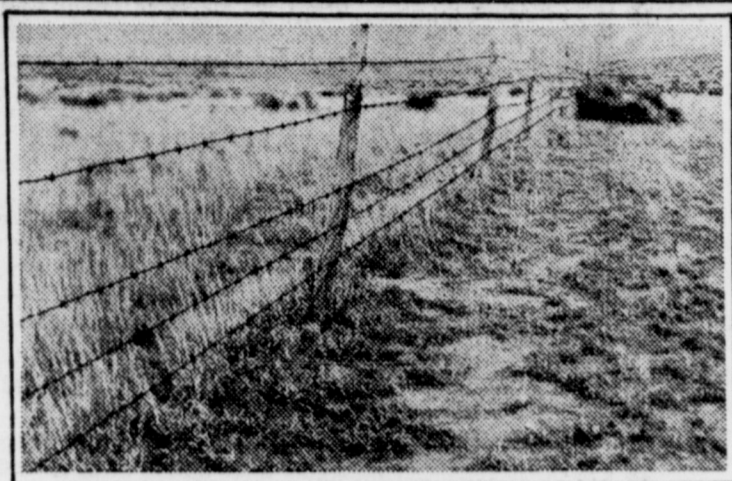

Panhandle sportsmen will have more quail for this winters hunting season than in the past several years, Austin O' Neal, game warden said yesterday.

O'Neal said he based his opinion on mating conditions which point out that many hens will hatch a second brood this year. The majority of quail seen now are running in pairs, he stated.

O'Neal said abundant coverage would aid in the production.

Mrs. G. W. Antrobus and granddaughter, Marilyn Maher returned yesterday from Oklahoma City where they visited Mrs. Antrobus' daughter, Mrs. T. G. Stargel.

Grazing Control Aids Grass

Grass kept eaten down and constantly trampled by livestock has little chance of attaining a healthy growth and the bare soil soon becomes subject to wind erosion. Grazing has been permitted on the pasture at the left at intervals and the grass is healthy. Continued grazing of the pasture at the right of the fence has created an erosion hazard, Soil Conservation Service range examiners point out.

LET THE CRITTERS DO THE WORK

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

At this season crops are maturing and harvesting is ahead. A great deal of labor may be saved by turning livestock in the fields and allowing them to feed themselves. Under proper handling there is little waste of grain, and animals get the benefit of green forage that would not be saved otherwise, and which adds to the value of the grain by helping to balance the ration. If fields are not already fenced, a temporary fence of 32-inch woven wire will confine sheep and hogs, and with a few staunch posts at wide intervals, small stakes driven into the ground will support it. It can readily be rolled up and moved several times, and when it becomes too badly bent to stand up in a temporary fence, it is still good for permanent use where solid corner posts permit tight stretching.

Hogs are well known to be the best gleaners of grain, with sheep next. If crops are harvested by cutting it is always advisable to follow with hogs. The cheapest pork, both in labor cost and the amount of grain required to make 100 pounds of meat, is produced by a combination of green pasture, hogging down feed crops, and the self-feeder. Carl P. Thompson, extension swine specialist of Oklahoma voices the experience of the best hog men when he says that it is doubtful if a farmer can afford to raise hogs unless they can run on pasture a good part of the year.

Besides the labor saving element it is good for the health of both hogs and sheep to get off the permanent pastures and on the cultivated fields, where internal parasites are less prevalent. It is best to confine the animals to a space that can be cleaned up in ten days to three weeks, rather than permit them to roam at large for a month or more. In the final stages of grazing, grains will be slowed up by their walking over large fields in search of food, and there will be more wastage in the long run. It goes without saying that shade and water must be easily and continuously accessible to the animals while hogging down or sheepling off crops. Experiments have shown that a bushel of grain goes a great deal farther in meat production if the animal can drink when thirsty instead of waiting for periodic waterings several hours apart.

Mineral mixtures and protein supplements are usually not indispensable if hogs have access to good pastures and legumes, or skim milk, but experienced hog men say protein supplements always pay. Corn and cowpeas, corn and soy beans, corn and peanuts, make good fattening rations when hogged down together. With corn alone it is advisable to supply a mineral mixture and a protein supplement in self-feeders. Either wood ashes or air-slaked lime and salt in equal parts is good, and bone meal may be profitably added under some conditions. Charcoal is commonly used and hogs like it.

The protein supplement may be based on cottonseed meal, linseed meal, peanut meal or tankage. The experiment stations of the Southwest have worked out formulas for protein supplements for their respective states, according to the availability and adaptation of the materials. Cottonseed meal is available everywhere in the Southwest, and may be safely and profitably fed to hogs by following directions furnished by extension hog specialists and county agents who keep up with experimental results. Enough feed goes to waste on most Southwestern farms to produce at the pork and beef or mutton the family could use. Pasturing the fields is the only way much of this waste can be turned to profit, and the most economical way of harvesting and selling crops that are adapted to harvesting by animals.

Mann's the Man Gets Valley Gift

DALLAS, TEXAS.—A shipment of Rio Grande Valley grapefruit juice addressed only to "Mann's the Man, Dallas, Texas," was delivered promptly to the headquarters here of Gerald C. The carton of canned juice was from "his thousands of admirers in the Rio Grande Valley," and was shipped from Weslaco.

AN INSTITUTION WITH A NATIONAL REPUTATION FOR THE TREATMENT OF CHRONIC DISEASES

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take pleasure in writing this testimonial in regard to the wonderful results I have received from treatments from Dr. H. H. Milling.

I went to Dr. Milling, suffering from siatic rheumatism. I had been treated by other doctors and did not receive any results at all. After coming to Dr. Milling and taking the first treatment, I was able to lie down and sleep—something I hadn't been able to do. I was forced to sleep what little I did, sitting in a rocking chair. I stayed and took treatments two weeks and have not been bothered since.

I also was treated for high blood pressure and after eight day's treatment my blood pressure was normal, and has been ever since.

My wife and daughter have also taken treatments with wonderful results.

BETTER LIVING
 "If you remember when the electric refrigerator first came into general usage, then you know how utterly happy women were over the way it preserved food and provided ice cubes. It simplified kitchen labor. The health problem was greatly solved. But it was only the beginning of the great service Electricity was destined to render. Today every other home served by your West Texas Utilities Company has an electric refrigerator. Every seventh home has an electric range. Over 30,000 have electric irons. Nearly 40,000 have good light, many in isolated communities where power lines were built without hope that they might ever become profitable. Mrs. Dill Writes Friends From Kansas

"I want to say hello to all my friends in and around Clarendon. Carl and I like Kansas real well. So much nice timber here, and I never saw corn grow so tall, each stalk having from 4 to 8 ears. I used to feel rather embarrassed in town because I was so fat, I find that I look like a doll as compared to some of the ladies here. I saw one that weighed 350, and her name was Lena, too. Carl is lots better but I still am under the doctor's care."

LOVE THAT IS HOARDED

Love that is hoarded moulds at length
Until we know some day
The only thing we ever had
Is what we give away.
And kindness that is never used
But hidden all alone,
Will slowly harden till it is
As hard as any stone.
It is the things we always hold
That we lose day by day,
The only things we ever keep
Are what we give away.

O'DANIEL'S SELECTION RADIO ADDRESS STARTLES TEXANS THURSDAY NIGHT

The following opinions have been selected at random from over the state following governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel's selection of six candidates from the list to be voted on August 27th.

O'Daniel is drawing a storm of both praise and condemnation for his endorsement of Walter Woodul for attorney general; C. V. Terrell for railroad commissioner; Bascom Giles for land commissioner; Coke Stevenson for lieutenant governor; Judge Richard Critz for the supreme court, and Judge Harry N. Graves for the court of criminal appeals.

Ira Butler, Democratic executive committeeman from the Ft. Worth senatorial district, wired from Austin that the speech was "another example of the rare courage which has characterized your actions." Butler's home is Fort Worth.

The telegrams and telephone calls were from persons in all walks of life.

The Madison County O'Daniel for governor club telegraphed W. Lee O'Daniel.

The wire, signed the "Madison County O'Daniel for Governor Club by R. A. Wakefield, read:

"We feel you have done the citizenship of Texas a great injustice by your endorsement of Woodul, Terrell, and Stevenson, three of the most pronounced politicians in the state. This is contrary to your campaign pledge against machine politicians. We condemn such politics."

Candidates warmed by the smile of O'Daniel did not fail to tell their run-off campaign audiences how pleased they were about it.

Old Tack Says:

This is almost unprecedented in Texas; it has caused a tremendous sensation in political circles. And the exciting part is that most of the candidates he has endorsed are "professional politicians." I intend to vote for most of them, as they are good men, but the fact remains they are professionals.

cratic voters of Texas were asked in resolutions adopted at a mass meeting tonight to disregard the endorsements W. Lee O'Daniel, governor-nominatee, gave to some of the run-off election candidates.

After the meeting, a movement was begun to draft Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls to run independently against O'Daniel in the general election.

Several speakers reminded the crowd that no one was bound to vote for the O'Daniel slate.

And from Cyclone Davis aged 86, former congressman and leader of prohibitions forces for near a half century:

"His (O'Daniel's) campaign was a bitter fullscale against professional politicians. Now he admits he is a political ignoramus and must have the old-line politicians or he will fall down."

J. S. Morgan, ardent O'Daniel supporter here said today: "I don't like that stuff of O'Daniel endorsing a ticket, but it won't affect my voting. I was against Terrell, anyway, and all the other candidates who have been in office for years. I think we need to clean house in the state capitol so far as we can. No man can tell me how to vote."

Houston Post endorses along with a number of other big dailies. Walter Woodul, Mann's opponent, lives in Houston. Here is what the Post says:

"The welfare of Texas was at stake and Mr. O'Daniel spoke clearly and courageously. When it was clear to him that a duty remained to be performed, he did not hesitate.

The people, we are sure, appreciate that kind of courage and understand the patriotic motives that impelled Mr. O'Daniel to make his statement."

Wichita Falls O'Daniel club is heard from as follows:

Strong disapproval of the action taken by W. Lee O'Daniel in endorsing seven candidates for office was voiced Saturday in a meeting of members of the Wichita County O'Daniel club.

Approximately 75 persons, representing 16 precinct boxes in the county were present at the meeting held at the courthouse.

In the resolution approved by the group, chief complaint was the "apparent reversal of the stand of the Democratic nominee for governor in his views on 'professional politicians'."

A portion of the resolution adopted is as follows:

"Whereas, very shortly after more than 500,000 Texans endorsed his stand and gave him the nomination for governor, for some unexplainable reason he has gone to great expense to endorse publicly the very professional politicians to whom he professed to be opposed.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting we are still of the opinion that the professional politicians are the chief cause of the ills of Texas and are opposed to the best interest of the people as a whole and that we are still opposed to them and that the change of W. Lee O'Daniel and his effort to control our vote shall not deter us from continuing the fight against the professional politicians.

"Be it further resolved that we would like for Mr. O'Daniel to explain to the 500,000 citizens of Texas why so soon after accepting the hospitality of Moody interests at Galveston and the Humble Oil company of Houston, he had a sudden change of heart and endorsed the professional politicians at Austin who have been in politics and on the state's pay roll from 10 to 50 years."

Mayor C. K. Quin of San Antonio likewise endorses all of the six men named by O'Daniel for election the 27th. O'Daniel recently visited with the mayor while attending army maneuvers there with Gov. Allred.

The Austin Statesman comments thusly:

"W. Lee O'Daniel has had some sorry advice. He has made a blunder. And along with his 'throwing the rascals out,' let him toss out the men who gave him the sorriest advice a man ever received."

El Paso Herald-Post says:

"W. Lee O'Daniel's endorsement of six run-off candidates reminds us of nothing so much as of a simple, wild-eyed babe in the woods petting a wildcat. Mr. O'Daniel is in danger of getting an arm snapped off."

Austin State Observer:

"For, they said, O'Daniel campaigned on the appealing promise to 'turn the professional politicians out,' while two weeks after his election he laid his blessing upon six men, all of whom have had long service in public office.

For example, Judge C. V. Terrell has held public office for 54 years; Coke Stevenson for 16 years; Walter Woodul, 12 years; Bascom Giles was a state employee for 17 years; Harry Graves was a member of the House of Representatives for 10 years, and Richard Critz has had many years of service on the bench.

The total years of service of those endorsed is approximately 120, or an average of 20 years of service for each man.

If twenty years in public office does not make a man a professional politician, what does, they asked."

A hard-hitting picture of the situation, as reflected in the many rumors in Austin, was penned by Charles E. Green, managing editor of the Austin Statesman.

Green wrote: "Most definitely, with few exceptions, Mr. O'Daniel's slate of candidates couldn't have been selected better by the United States Chamber of Commerce or the Manufacturers association.

Walter Woodul's indorsement as attorney general was probably the biggest surprise of all. Just what Woodul and the plain citizen have in common is yet to be discovered. Woodul, in the last two years with his eye on the attorney general's office, has come down from his high horse. But before that he certainly rode high wide and handsome."

Manager Ed Bishop in Dalhart Texan:

"What's this, what's this? Here the man that was elected to the highest office in Texas by the greatest majority ever given a candidate, on a platform of ridding the state of professional politicians, comes out in favor of at least one man who is known as the 'dean' of all professional politicians in Texas. C. V. Terrell has held public office in Texas for more than fifty years and if that don't rate a man as being a 'professional' in his line the definition has been changed considerably of late.

Mr. O'Daniel is not a Mr. Roosevelt yet. True, he has an opportunity to be. He has the greatest opportunity any Texas citizen has ever had, and while I personally favor one of the candidates he endorsed, I think he made a serious mistake in endorsing any of them."

Editor Albert Cooper in Shamrock Texan:

"Who are the 'professional politicians' of Texas, is what we would like to know.

We notice that W. Lee O'Daniel says the 'professional politicians' whom he fought tooth and toenail in the first primary, advised him against endorsing any candidates for state office in the run-off primary.

He says he turned a deaf ear to these 'professional politicians' and proceeded to tell the voters whom he wanted elected in the six major races on August 27. He says he changed his mind regarding the 'hands off' policy announced earlier in the campaign because he wanted 'harmony' in his administration. What made Mr. O'Daniel change his mind overnight? He says the 'professional politicians' advised him not to endorse any candidate, well, what we would like to know is who did advise him to change his mind and come out publicly and tell the voters to elect three seasoned office-holders whom by all the rules laid down by Mr. O'Daniel in his war on 'professional politicians' come under that classification if anybody in the state does?

We notice Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, whom, justly or unjustly, has repeatedly been accused of representing 'big corporations' is tickled pink over all six endorsements and says, 'I intend to stand by him (O'Daniel) and vote for the six he wants elected.' Senator Small who has had ten years experience in the ways of politicians says, 'This will mean the next administration will receive excellent 'cooperation' for its program.' Senator Small was not tickled at three, four or five, but all six endorsements.

Did all you truck owners and operators who tore your shirts for a governor who was elected on a platform of driving the 'professional politicians out of Austin,' get the significance of Senator Small's statement? He says Mr. O'Daniel's efforts to elect the six men of his choice means the next administration will receive excellent 'cooperation' for its program.

Clint Small, you will recall supported Ernest Thompson for governor."

BETTE DAVIS IN 'JEZEBEL' COMING AUGUST 24, 25, 26th

"Jezebel," a colorful and exciting romantic drama of the Deep South shortly before the Civil War, will be the feature attraction next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Pastime Theatre.

Bette Davis is co-starred with Henry Fonda, George Brent and Margaret Lindsay. Other noted and popular players in the cast include Fay Bainter, Donald Crisp, Richard Cromwell, Henry O'Neill, John Litel and Spring Byington. The picture was directed by William Wyler from a screenplay by Abem Finkel and Clements Ripley.

Miss Davis, who won the Academy Award as the best actress in 1935, declares that this is the best picture part she has ever had, not excluding her great work as the slavey in "Of Human Bondage," with Leslie Howard.

She is a wilful, spoiled, tempestuous young Dixie belle who achieves the name of the wicked Biblical character Jezebel because she defies Southern tradition. She breaks hearts with dashing unconcern. She smokes, she prefers juleps to sherry—in short she's a modern miss in an old-fashioned setting.

She has two favorite suitors, one a conservative young banker, played by Mr. Fonda, and the other, a handsome young rake, portrayed by Mr. Brent.

The period is that of the great yellow fever scourge in New Orleans in the early 1850's. Costumes, settings, dialogue and all the other atmosphere conditions of that day are said to be faithfully reproduced. Previewers consider "Jezebel" tops in 1938 entertainment.

Childress Index Publisher Is Claimed by Death At Seventy Five

Death came to L. E. Haskett while sleeping at 4 a. m. Wednesday. For more than a half century he had been identified with the Index, as publisher for more than 40 years. In late years he was agricultural editor until his illness began some three weeks ago.

He worked on the first paper in Clarendon from 1886 until 1889, then went to the Index at Childress becoming its publisher and editor in June of '89. He continued with his son Fred, to publish the Index until 1928 when it was purchased by the Nunn-Warren interests.

He was a staunch Methodist, Rotarian and did much toward the development of his county and town. As a member of the Panhandle Press Association, he was held in high esteem and his counsel frequently sought.

He is survived by his widow; a son Fred of Dallas and three daughters, Mrs. Dave Wright and Miss Gertie Haskett of Childress and Mrs. J. H. Watts of Wheeler. Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. today in Childress with Rev. W. M. Murrell, his former pastor, in charge.

BAD NEWS

A wild coon was worth $200 today and a nice bit of publicity had gone suddenly sour to Marcellus Stovall, Clarendon filling station operator, after state game warden, Austin O'Neal investigated a press dispatch which said the man had captured two coons, two blue quail, caught about 50 pounds of fish and killed 23 skunks along with several snakes.

O'Neal, who headquarters in Wellington, said all he found was one coon, but quoted Stovall as saying the other animals had escaped.

"I put the coon in the custody of Stovall pending the action of my superiors," O'Neal asserted. "Should it escape before that time, it will cost the keeper $200, the maximum fine for trapping the coon."

Swings Wicked Leg

Being a man of ambition and energy, Glenn Reid, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reid, Friday placed his bucket in position to purloin from old Bossy the customary lacteal fluid one might expect from a first-class Donley county Jersey. The cow suddenly began acrobatic stunts including the "big apple." In the melee, the "milke" was swatted to earth. Unfortunately, the cow stepped upon the leg of the young man breaking a knee cap, since which time he has the injured member in a cast. Glenn is a manly fellow of five years and has more energy than a lot of kids much older. He takes his troubles with a stoical grin and will try again, he says.

Highway Survey Ordered On Road to South

M. O. Goodpasture, county judge of Hall county, and S. W. Lowe, county judge of Donley, have been advised by the State Highway Department of instructions given in regard to a permanent survey of highway 18, between Clarendon and Turkey.

The instructions are to the effect that "in Donley and Hall counties, on highway 18 between Clarendon and Turkey, the State highway engineer is directed to proceed with location and surveys and preparation of right of way deeds."

"Upon completion of this work, the deeds are to be delivered to the counties involved, in accordance with their request."

While spending the summer in the east, Mrs. L. S. Bagby acquired a leather shaving case that has been in the Selden family since 1868. This stone came from extensive beds that border the ocean, and from which business and private buildings are constructed in that section. Mann Predicts Landslide For Self August 27th.

Gerald C. Mann, candidate for Attorney General, predicted that the election Aug. 27 will be a landslide for himself.

"In every town I spoke in today, I have been greeted by enthusiastic advocates of clean and good government who assure me that they believe in my promise to eliminate the professional politicians and the political racketeers from Austin," the Dallas attorney said.

Mann described "political racketeers" as "politicians who make a business of selling their influence to those who are able and willing to pay."

"A political racketeer follows a successful candidate to Austin, sets up elaborate offices and lets it be known that he is the one who has the most influence with certain officials," said Mann. "He advertises the fact that he is the closest to the official. He would have you believe he is the only one who can get the job done, and too often he is the only one who can get the job done. They receive fabulous fees for accomplishing simple tasks."

Mann commented that he had seen these "political racketeers" come to Austin as mediocre lawyers and leave as rich corporation lawyers. He promised, if elected Attorney General, "to see that every firm, lawyer and citizen obtained their just rights without benefit of the racketeers."

An Explanation

HANNA-POPE & COMPANY
LUBBOCK, TEXAS
Aug. 12, 1938.

Mr. Jim Barkett, Clarendon, Texas.
Dear Mr. Barkett:-

As I wrote you some time ago I decided to withdraw my proposal to lease my building, that you occupy now, to the Government for a Post Office.

This withdrawal was mailed to the Post Office Department on July 12th and I received their acknowledgement on July 27th. However, I was in New York at the time and did not get a chance to write you.

I regret any inconvenience that this proposed lease might have caused you in trying to secure another location and appreciate the attitude you assumed concerning same.

Yours very truly,
E. T. Pope

The above letter is self-explanatory. We merely print it here so that the public will understand what caused our big removal sale.
