PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY BRINGS NEIGHBORS TO AID A FRIEND IN DISTRESS NEAR HEDLEY TUESDAY

Men, Women, Business Men and Modernized Machinery Are Combined In Making Life Brighter For Unfortunate Citizen

Again one is reminded of that kindly admonition that "man cannot live to himself alone," or for any length of time without the need of help from others. All too often this help never comes, or comes too late. Near Hedley Tuesday forenoon, there was illustrated the meaning of real neighbors. Real people who have a feeling of human sympathy and helpfulness.

March 16th, Mrs. J. K. Hunt passed on and through the trials of her passing, Mr. Hunt was distressed with loss of his helpmate. He was forced to be away from home. He got behind with his farm work. He returned to Hedley Monday evening. Already friends had planned a gathering at his farm home.

Tuesday morning at the Hunt farm home there came 34 men with 22 tractors with which they listed 100 acres. This easily was accomplished before noon.

At the noon hour, a feast was spread. Mrs. W. B. Ford, Mrs. John Auffill, Mrs. Clyde Bain, Mrs. A. A. Nipper and Mrs. Odie Owens prepared the dinner, the makings of which was supplied by the Hedley business men who wished to share in the good work.

Simmons, Alva Simmons, Johnny Myers, Roy Alexander, J. G. Alexander, John Blankenship, E. O. Holland, Doc Ivy, Clyde Grimsley, Betty Black, Theo Swinney, S. T. Adams, Olin Owens, Melvin Meadows, J. K. Hunt.

State Supervisor Here For Aerial Map Work

E. E. Austin, State Mapping Supervisor working out of College Station is in Clarendon this week doing survey work necessary to prepare aerial maps for use in the 1938 federal farm program.

Variations in the altitude of the plane and the elevation of the ground, when pictures are taken, cause variations in the scale of the original negatives. It is necessary to take measurements on the original pictures in order that they can be enlarged to exactly the same size for use in getting crop acreages, Austin said.

Aerial maps make the determination of crop acreages much simpler and more accurate, especially where fields are of irregular size and shape, according to Austin.

MEMBER OF
PANHANDLE PRESS ASSOCIATION

THAT SWAYBACKED DEPRESSION CYCLE.

There was a time not many years ago when a farmer could take two hens to town, sell them, and with the money buy two shirts. Later it got to where he did well to trade two hens for one shirt, because of the tax added on shirts. The reason it that the depression front end was held up by organized industry, and the other end by organized labor. She swayed down in the middle resting most heavily upon the producer who sold his products in the 'raw,' and bought in the open market. Shirts are not the only thing that bear a high tax. Bread carries 27 forms of tax, shoes 62 and on down the line. These hidden taxes make for high prices. The money so collected is squandered, no one is benefitted, but the buyers quit buying because high prices and no jobs and low farm prices won't fit in just right.

Where does this tax money go? Well, we might locate a cause for hidden taxes in a statement furnished by a syndicated bureau way down in the deep democratic south at New Orleans. In speaking of bureaus, here's what they say:

"That 65 of them loan money. That 150 of them are handling some phase of farming. That 12 are old-line Government Agencies. That 1,209 are in direct competition with private business and industry. That 250 are engaged in relief expenditures. That 150 are for strictly political purposes. That 35 are dealing with Railroads, Communication and Transportation. That 965 are directly affecting LABOR, INDUSTRY AND TAXES. That over one thousand of them have been created since 1932. That 105 of them are loaning money to the public. That none of the widely advertised departments supposedly created to loan money for homes, houses, etc., loan any money."

Who is keeping up this financial zoo? You are. And I am. And thousands and millions more like us.

YOU CAN'T TELL A FARMER.

Most every one has heard that expression, "you can't tell a farmer anything." There might have been some truth in it before the monkey business started along with the depression, but the farmer don't need much telling any more. He has learned his lesson.

He has found that cream means a cash income the year 'round. Good milk cows are selling at a high price, but they are worth it. Even our boys are learning how to judge milk cows.

Hogs are essential on a farm. The farmers all agree on that, and with feed selling at a fair price, and most of them having their own feed at home, the hog population has somewhat recovered from the slaughter of a few years ago.

Poultry production is being restored to the rural districts since it has been possible to raise at least a part of the feed used at home.

"THE REST OF THE RECORD"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

AUSTIN—"I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith!"

Thus did Governor Allred summarize his stewardship of the high office to which the people of Texas have elected him twice while announcing that he would not be a candidate for a third term. The announcement was made by Governor Allred Saturday night over a statewide radio hookup from the Mansion at Austin.

"My record is written," Governor Allred said in reviewing the accomplishments of his administrations. "It can be changed neither by comments edged with bias nor statements poisoned with prejudice. I only trust that having given the best in me, I have in some measure justified your faith and confidence."

"Naturally, I should like to see the remainder of the people's program carried out. For this reason, and at the earnest insistence of many fine friends throughout the State, I have considered the problem of asking the people for another term."

"But necessarily, there are other considerations. Not alone the so-called third term tradition, but my family's welfare, and most important, the welfare of the State!"

"Financially, I am in worse condition than when I became either Attorney General or Governor because I am deeply in debt. I owe it to my family to consider their future welfare."

"Outweighing all these things is the question of the public interest. Necessarily in a career of service where no one has ever doubted my stand on public questions, I have made bitter enemies. An unprecedented third term announcement on my part would plunge Texas into the bitterest campaign it has ever known, a campaign of false issues and personalities."

"For these reasons, I have concluded that I should not be a candidate. Therefore I plan to enter private law practice in Austin at the conclusion of my term."

"In the future, should the occasion arise, I shall stand ready to serve the State I love. Meantime, from the bottom of my heart, I thank the thousands of friends whose support elected me Attorney General and Governor and without whose help none of my accomplishments as Governor to which I have proudly pointed could have been realized."

Governor Allred said he had no desire to dictate his successor but felt that the people of Texas were entitled to know how avowed candidates for governor stood on old age assistance, the child labor amendment, sales of liquor by the drink, legalization of race track gambling, the continued outlawry of racketeering, on the sales and other taxes.

"Even those who do not like me," the governor declared, "know where I stand upon these questions. Is it asking too much of others to make themselves equally clear? Surely a man big enough to be governor should certainly have some convictions on these subjects and possess the courage of his convictions."

Reviewing briefly his record during the past three years, Governor Allred said Texas had had a state administration of which she need not be ashamed for it had commanded the respect of other states and the confidence of the National administration.

Among the many achievements pointed out were old age assistance to over one hundred thousand needy aged; the establishment of a reemployment service and an unemployment insurance department; liquor traffic regulation; passage of the securities act, the chain store tax yielding millions in revenue and producing fairer competition for independent industries; increased natural resources tax; defeat of sales tax; planned conservation program for oil and gas industry; as well as various flood control districts; aid for insane and eleemosynary institutions; establishment of negro tubercular hospital, crippled children aid, and broadened public health program, establishment of Public Safety Department with attendant strict law enforcement; repeal of race track gambling.

The Governor proudly pointed out that under his administration rural schools received greatest aid and every school the biggest per capita apportionment in history. In addition, colleges and universities had received aid for building programs and fairer salaries for teachers. Despite needed help, the governor's administration showed an ad valorem school tax reduction of 28c on the hundred dollars.

Pointing with pride to abolition of old pardon system and the establishment of clemency on merit, the governor said the volunteer parole system inaugurated by him was the "most widely respected" system in the nation.

He reviewed the Centennial Celebrations made possible by legislation sponsored by the Allred administration and said that thousands of new citizens and industries had been attracted to Texas as a result.

The Governor said he was proud that the state administration had enjoyed the personal friendship and had secured the hearty cooperation of President Roosevelt in carrying out a real recovery program.

GRASSHOPPER VISION

According to Marion Speer, well-known Orange county author and authority on Indian life, the Digger Indians were the most primitive of all North American tribes. A group of these Indians continue to live in the primitive state near Hawthorne Nevada. They eat their food raw. To offer a Digger Indian a fat grasshopper is like offering a youngster a stick of candy.

The Classified Column will sell it.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH By the Apostle

Now that we have had national used car week for the first time, why not have a "national used husband week," and give the women folks a break?

When'er I see a parking space Left open in a public place, I know that spot would not be bare If there wasn't "no parking" there.

women know this and cling to the secure refinement of skirts. Skirts are like a mantle of charity covering a multitude of physical sins.

Among we men, few there be who qualify within the scope of Adonis physical attainments, the mill run going to bowlegs, pot-bellies, knock-kneed or other forms of human caricatures. Our only hope lies in the clothes cleaners, toupees, roomy pants, abbreviated mustache to match an abbreviated brain, and plain gail to get us by.

After years of mysterious investigation, the three balls denoting a pawn shop location, has been figured out. It is said to mean "Two to one you don't get it back."

"Flattery," as defined by Ima Fizzle, "is soft soap, and soft soap is ninety percent lye."

There's just this about it, one never gets indigestion from swallowing one's pride.

Resourceful. A piano tuner stranded in the Arizona ranch country was hard put for cash. Finally, he secured a job stretching wire fences and, after many years, became a ranch owner. Of course that was in the days when steers were having as many as five calves a year.

The champion optimist is the bird who tries to eat grapes with his new false teeth. Ask 'em.

You'd be surprised how many people sit through a picture show in their sock feet. No matter how interesting they just can't put up with their 'dogs' when they throb and ache.

If this bandana headgear keeps up, we'll be using tow sacks for hankies next winter.

The new federal "home owner" law appears to be about the best thing for home building. Now if the material supply houses and carpenters will cooperate, there should be a fine lot of building take place. The trouble in the past with the HOLC was that it cost a small fortune to construct a Chic Sale sentinel, much less a home.

Hastoon in a Dither!

A farm committeeman down at Hashknife when he discovered that Hastoon Yazzie's cow had had two calves, when he was allowed only one under the new farm set-up, wired Washington: "If a cow brings twin calves when we are allowed only one, should we shoot the extra calf, the cow, the farmer or the bull?" The reply came back: "Shoot your congressman!"

Darned if it ain't a wonder we ever have any pleasure in life, or survive at all, after reading advertisements in the magazines. We are supposed to smoke all kinds of cigarettes, drink all kinds of liquors, rub on all kinds of powders and creams and finish up with a goob-hull concoction labeled as a breakfast food.

With the way his bunch carries on in China, one would not think of the boss of Japan as a "Son of Heaven." He acts more like a Sun-of-a-Gun.

A newspaper down state accuses a fellow of surrealism, dadism and cubism. In that case he ought to be made to marry her.

Charley McCarthy may be a famous bit of woodpecker bait, but he ain't no blockhead when it comes to raking in the money.

A Dallas woman is suing her neighbors for referring to her as a "grass widow," which she alleges hurt her social standing. She says that she can prove that she never was married to that sorry so-and-so who ran out on her after five years.

"Guard against middle-age skin," we are admonished in a magazine advertisement. In other words, sister, breathing through a flock of freckles and wearing a face that looks like a prune can be remedied.

Don't get disgusted because you read no headlines about the Public Enemy No. 1 in your morning paper. The parole boards will soon furnish us one.

EXOTIC RITUALS

By H. V. Crumley

The Koran is to the Mohammedans, as the Bible is to us. One might say, it is their Bible. From it they get all the strange teachings that are peculiar to themselves alone. It was written by Mohammed, a man they believe to have been a prophet from God. Him they except, and Christ they reject. They claim that the Koran came into existence in this manner:

A short time after Mohammed was called of God to be his prophet, he would retire to the solitude of a cave near the town which he lived. While here it is claimed that God would reveal to him his will through his angel Gabriel. The angel Gabriel (so they claim) would come down to the lowest heaven at each visit of Mohammed to this cave. He would bring with him a paper copy, in a volume of silk and gems, and from this he would reveal to Mohammed the chapters and verses.

The Koran was first written on palm leaves and shoulder bone of mutton. These Mohammed placed in a chest at the home of one of his wives for safe keeping. Two years after the death of Mohammed the sacred (so called) volume was taken from its chest and published by a friend.

The only claim that Mohammed could lay to being a prophet from God, as that his book was of divine origin was: "It not like any other book and that no other man could write such a wonderful book." Rather poor proof! He could not and did not perform one single miracle to confirm his claim, although, asked to do so by his followers as well as others of his day. How different from the real prophets and disciples of Christ who, "went forth and preached everywhere, confirming the word with signs following (Mark 16:20)."

UPSIDE DOWN

An American was touring Wales, and on entering a large hotel in one of the Welsh towns noticed words "tam htab" written on the mat.

"Ah!" he said, "I suppose that is Welsh for Welcome?" "No, sir," replied the doorman, "that's the bath mat, upside down."

SAD IRONS BECAUSE USER MADE SAD

Why were sad irons so named? If you take a look over the collection of ancient sad irons at the West Texas Utilities office, you will probably understand. They have a collection from the old castiron up through the various improved designs.

Housewives must have had a dread period at ironing time back in the days when the heavy irons were heated before the fireplace. That is about when the big job started. Look over that collection and appreciate inventive genius more.

Melting Ice The amount of heat required to melt ice would raise the temperature of an equal amount of water to 80 degrees Centigrade.

Power Alcohol Blend Popular In Midwest

ATCHISON, Kan., March 16.—Establishment of the Atchison Argol plant on a full time commercial basis has been announced by William W. Buffum, president of the Atchison Argol Company and treasurer of National Farm Chemurgic Council. The power-alcohol blends are now on sale in approximately 2,000 automobile service stations in eight Midwestern States.

Complete commercial operation for the first Argol plant was started Dec. 2, 1937, and followed an intensive two-year program of research and demonstration under the direction of Dr. Leo M. Christensen. The research has included all phases of the development from selections of suitable farm crops to be used in the alcohol manufacture to extensive scientific studies on the superior grades of motor fuel produced by blending anhydrous alcohol with gasoline.

Research facilities at Atchison have been enlarged and will be operated in conjunction with the Argol plant. Projects now in progress include varied plant research studies and new methods of anhydrous alcohol manufacture. Particular emphasis will be placed on the studies relative to by-products of alcohol manufacturing from farm crops.

Raw materials for the Atchison Argol plant are purchased from farms in the Midwestern States where Argol blended motor fuels are distributed. Public interest in this chemurgic industry has grown rapidly throughout the Midwest.

FIGGERS

Here's one to help you pass the next five minutes. First get yourself a pencil and paper. I'll wait for you. Hard to find aren't they? Alright, now multiply your age by 2. Then add 5. And then just to see if you're in practice, multiply by 50. Got it? Now add to that the amount of change you have in your pocket if less than a dollar. (If it's more than a dollar you'd better come in and pay your subscription.) Getting back to the problem, from that figure subtract the number of days in a year, 365. Then for good measure add 115.

Now probably it isn't worth all the trouble but we'll bet that if you're better in mathematics than we are, the two right hand figures are the amount of change in your pocket and the two left hand figures are your age.

The Classified Column will sell it.

CHARLIE, MY DEAR HUSBAND

Lonely am I as I sit here each day,
For no greater loss has one met
Than I, whose companion has now gone away,
Leaving me memories I shall never forget.

Yes, memories of Charlie and me
long ago—
When we were both young and so gay—
When we were united; true love
did we know,
As happy together we were day
by day.

Then came our first born; my suffering
he felt,
For sympathy reigned in his heart;
He comforted kindly as by me he kneet,
Wishing some help to me to impart.

And sorrows we knew, but we still had each other,
With him as a father now to him we'd turn;
He taught all our children to know their mother
And respect show to him, for dear Charlie was stern.

As both husband and father he was unexcelled,
For he loved us and did well provide;
He made a good neighbor and never he failed
The needy to help through the tide.

Yes, Charlie wrote down many things while with me,
In a book sealed so tight in my
heart;
Its pages were beautiful as them
I see Through tear brimming eyes, for me now are apart.

He suffered so much until death to him came,
But I tried to him comfort repay,
And I strived to give him my all just the same
As he did until he went away.

So lonely but bravely I'll finish
life's fight,
And I hope some day with him
to be,
For Charlie would tell me to do what is right,
And shoulder the burdens he left me.

His Loving Wife,
Mrs. C. A. Jones

FUL-VUE NO-SCRU

Tiny springs are used in Ful-Vue No-Scru glasses to cushion the lenses. Electrically soldered pins hold the lenses tightly and permanently in place. Naturally that protects them against breakage and makes the rimless style in eyewear truly practical as well as preferable for inconspicuousness and beauty.

In line with their objectives of improving livestock and crops in Donley county, the local F. F. A. members, who have grain crops as projects, will use certified seed for their spring plantings. Quadroon Milo, the cross between Kafir and milo, 60 day milo and dwarf milo are the most popular varieties with the boys.

Darrel Bailey, Maschil Cole, Harice Green, Forest Heiton, Johnny Leathers, Russell Morris, Pete Morrow, Earl Porter, Rex Shannon, Junior Spier, J. H. Green, Joe Williams, Ray Isham, Joe Frank Heathington and Gene Putman are boys participating in the better seed movement.

Local Teams to Pampa The local livestock, poultry, and dairy teams will compete in the annual Pampa Invitational judging events to be held Saturday. The local poultry team which has won the last four contests they have entered will consist of Beatty Hillman, Joe Williams, and Homer Speed. An unusually large number of teams are expected to compete in this division.

The livestock and dairy teams have had practically no experience and will be chosen from the first year class. Jr. Spier, Carl Morris, and Odell Davis will represent the local chapter in the livestock contest while Pete Morrow, Russell Morris, Troy Rampp, Rex Shannon, and Johnny Leathers will make up the local dairy team. The above teams with the addition of a dairy products team and a crop judging team will participate in the area contests to be held in Lubbock, April 8th.

Team Competes with Claude J. P. Smith, Claude F.F.A. Adviser, and his poultry judging team will compete with the local team in a dual judging contest to be held in the agricultural room at the college this afternoon. The same classes that are to be judged in the Pampa contest Saturday will be judged in the dual meet.

The Claude team is one of the strongest in this section and will offer the local boys strong competition.

Date Set for Banquet At the regular meeting of the Clarendon F.F.A. Thursday night, the local chapter voted to hold their F.F.A. banquet the last Thursday in April. Fried chicken will form the principal part of the menu and will be served from the chickens grown in the local F.F.A. chick project.

The group voted to hold an outing on the Burson ranch near Silverton over the weekend, and to sponsor the entry of four or five teams in the Lubbock Judging contests.

Visits Burson Ranch Twelve local F.F.A. members accompanied by their adviser spent Friday and Saturday at the Burson ranch near Silverton. The group left Clarendon Friday after-

MANGANESE SEEN AS A POTENTIAL TEXAS INDUSTRY

Steel Tempering Material Is Found In Jeff Davis And Val Verde

A vital resource in peace time as well as war time abounds in Texas awaiting development. This vital element for "putting the starch in steel," is manganese, of which the Settlement Straits of southeastern Asia now has a monopoly.

Development was begun by the war department during the world war in Jeff Davis and Val Verde counties of Texas. After the close of the war, federal interest was dropped and private interests are just now waking up to the fact that steel manufacturers demand greater quantities of this material now than during the World War.

Much of the supply going into auto steel right now comes from Brazil, mines owned by American corporations. American capital is said to be ready to begin development in Texas just as soon as a tariff protection against outside nations is enacted by the national lawmakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Chamberlain were in Oklahoma City last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Johnson spent the week end with her sister in Lamesa.

Something to Advertise

While its range is of necessity somewhat limited, there is never any difficulty in finding something to advertise about The Donley County Leader. Actually four main groups cover the range of this business. But under each of these are numerous subdivisions. For instance, display advertising embraces virtually every item used by mankind—multitudes of things. Likewise, the Wantad Column serves as a clearing house for hundreds of items. Then, subscriptions could be expanded into an interesting message. Job printing, with its almost unlimited possibilities and wide usage, merits detailed treatment to tell of its many features. For this occasion, however, attention is called to the following departmental titles.

The reader is invited to supply his or her own interpretation and elaboration to accompany these departmental headings. Just a little thought will develop an amazing volume of information and sales talk on any one of these.

Cotton Men Start Move For Foreign Trade Pacts

DALLAS, March 23.—Cotton growers and processors launched a move here today to unite Texas cotton interests in support of international trade agreements to increase foreign markets.

A committee of the Texas Cotton association decided to ask union labor, industry and business generally to back the move.

"We know high tariffs are robbing the Southern cotton farmer, and men who know assure us we can't hope to put over a general reduction of these levies," Burris C. Jackson of Hillsboro, vice president of the association said. "But congress has given us a way through the reciprocal trade treaties. That's plain horse trading."

The committee planned also to urge additional foreign markets for wheat, rice, citrus fruits and other crops of this state.

Mrs. O. L. Fink returned home Monday morning after spending the week end with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fink in Childress.

Mr. Crumley will preach at the Lelia Lake Church of Christ in the afternoon of this coming Lords day. All there are invited to attend.

Yes, there is a place where your heart hunger can be satisfied. No, God has not given you a longing for immortality and a life after this to tantalize and torment you. One of the realist of all realities is your right relationship to God through Christ. A tired troubled distorted world has a standing invitation from the Prince of Peace to come unto him and find rest for their souls. That invitation is world wide and universal. It is also individual and personal. Millions of people have tried it and found it to be true, others have refused to believe it and are none the better off for their refusal. Get in touch with the eternal and feel the faith and fortitude that will undergird your fears and seeming failures. Do not neglect church attendance. One has time for almost everything else, why not take time and make time for one of the worthiest privileges of life at least once a week. Your church will be glad to have you and you will be glad you went. Regular services next Sunday at the Baptist Church. The regular morning offering will be a love offering to Miss Vada Waldron, our missionary to Argentina. Many of our hearts have been made glad by messages from her. Now let us make her heart glad by making it possible for her to continue to communicate with her friends and carry on her work in her chosen field.

 In fact I've lots of things outlaid

 Other things'll be done that aint;
 Of no darned thing I'll be afraid
 —Soon's I git my taxes paid.
 The loyal preacher, the much loved church,
 Will be no longer in the lurch;
 We'll fee the parson, strait and staid
 —Soon's I git my taxes paid.
 One auto note is in default;
 I have other debts of kindred sort
 From payin' all this I'll not be swayed,
 —Soon's I git my taxes paid.
 P. S.: This tax-paying biz you jes can't win;
 Soon's you git 'em paid, start owin' ag'in.

In New Romance On Pastime Theatre Screen

James Stewart and Ann Rutherford share the romantic spotlight in "Of Human Hearts," the picturesque new Clarence Brown production playing at the Pastime Theatre Friday and Saturday. Walter Huston plays a backwoods preacher in the story, and Beulah Bondi has an outstanding character role as the preacher's wife.

Story of Lincoln's Day New Attraction at The Pastime Theatre, March 25 and 26th.

Walter Huston, James Stewart, Beulah Bondi Head Cast of Outstanding Character Stars in "Of Human Hearts" Based On Honor Morrow's Tale of Circuit-Riding Preacher

"Of Human Hearts," dramatic story of an itinerant preacher of Lincoln's day, is the new vehicle which brings Walter Huston to the screen for the first time since his success in "Dodsworth." The new picture, based on a story by Honor Morrow, and in which James Stewart, Beulah Bondi and many notable stage and character players appear, comes to the Pastime Theatre Friday and Saturday.

The story deals with a circuit-riding preacher, his wife, and their son, who grows up to be a famous surgeon, forgets his family ties, and whose feet are finally turned on the right path by Abraham Lincoln. Much of the action occurs in a backwoods Ohio village. Clarence Brown, director of "Conquest" and "Ah Wilderness!" directed. Much of the picture was made on location in a village built at Lake Arrowhead, California. Dramatic highlights include a vicious fight between father and son after a quarrel in the wilderness, the son's departure for Baltimore and medical school, the Lincoln episode, and the final reunion with his mother and sweetheart.

Delicate human interest episodes and many deft comedy moments enliven the play, which in its general feeling is in the tradition of "Ah Wilderness!" though the story and theme are totally different.

The picture brings to the screen for the first time Leatrice Joy Gilbert, daughter of John Gilbert, playing Ann Rutherford as a child, and also brings to pictures for the first time Charles D. Coburn, famous New York stage actor and creator of "Old Bill" in "The Better 'Ole," who plays the village doctor.

Others in prominent roles include Guy Gibbee, eGne Lockhart, Arthur Aylesworth, Clem Bevans, Charley Grapewin, Gene Reynolds, Sterling Holloway, Charles Peck, Robert McWade, Leona Roberts, John Miljan and John Carradine, chosen after a long search to portray Lincoln at the close of the Civil War.

It's odd, but it's the law in South Carolina that to attend church without wearing a pistol is a violation of the public code.

In Maryland a young swain better watch his step after he's visited his sweetheart five times. If he calls on her a sixth time, that's equivalent to a proposal of marriage.

In California you can shoot bird or game, except a whale, from an automobile.

In Michigan there's an ordinance against a man kicking his wife more than once in a public place. And it's on the law books of Nebraska that a man cannot sit by his wife in church.

STARS AND BARS ON U. S. COINS

For the first time in the history of this nation the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy appear on a United States minted half dollar. A replica of the Confederate flag appears on the commemorative half dollar issued by the U. S. government to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg and the final reunion of the surviving veterans of the war between the states. The coins, limited to an issue of 50,000, sell for $1.65 each. They are available through the Pennsylvania State Commission, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Ancient Skeletons Found Near Canyon

CANYON, March 8.—Prof. C. Stuart Johnston has just interviewed a couple of pioneer gentlemen whose life span likely antedated the coming of Christopher Columbus to this continent.

In studying the fossilized bones of two skeletons unearthed by A. W. Hawks on his place on Tierra Blanca creek a few miles northeast of Canyon, Prof. Johnston determined that the skeletons were not those of recent Indians. There evidently were two burials, but the scattered bones gave no indication of a burial pattern. Among them were shell and bone beads. One skull was rather well preserved, but the skeletons were far from complete. The bones were about two feet under the surface.

Prof. Johnston commended Mr. Hawks for notifying him promptly of the find so that the specimens could be saved for the Panhandle Plains Historical Society museum. Workmen who were digging a ditch made the discovery.

"POLLY" O'NEIL AND HIS PETS" OR "TRIALS OF A BUSY GAME WARDEN"

In that heading are suggestions for two titles for a book that could be written about the work of Austin "Polly" O'Neil of Wellington, district game warden, Donley county being included in his beat.

With the earnestness and knowledge of wild life that are his, O'Neil is a very busy man protecting and caring for his multitude of feathered and furry friends. Not always do the families under his charge get along with all the marital cares as they should. Then it is up to the game warden to make arrangements for their own good. And woe be unto him who destroys the happiness of O'Neil's helpless charges. Murder is murder when one outlaws to the extent of shooting or trapping a charge under the protection of the game warden. That's why hunters and others respect the law and pay high tribute to "Polly" O'Neil. He does his duty regardless.

Turkey on two ranches in Collingsworth county, and one in Childress county look to the Warden for protection—and get it.

Deer, twelve on one ranch in Childress county, others on two ranches in Hall and two ranches in Donley county demand close observation that they may multiply and replenish an area depleted of deer because of the depredations of man.

Beaver play an important part in the soil erosion scheme since it is their nature to build dams. Often they run riot and cut too much timber or cut timber of the wrong kind in the wrong place. Then the warden must make new arrangements by moving them to more spacious quarters, always on a running stream. The beaver families reside near Vernon, Childress and Donley counties. They multiply rapidly and work industriously to construct dams and make lakes that help to prevent floods.

Partridges are 'planted' in several places. These are of the Chinese or chukar species. Small bunches exist in practically every county in the eastern Panhandle country. L. M. Hughes in Collingsworth county turned loose a hundred on his ranch recently.

Blue Quail and Bob Whites are being placed in several places of advantage.

Antelope, that graceful fellow who roamed the plains in herds of thousands not many years ago, is now practically extinct. Several bunches are being built up in pastures north of Pampa at this time.

Individuals in many places are restoring wild life, and have the close cooperation of game wardens. The penalty for violation of any of the game laws is most severe, and the offenders are given the limit.

Exact locations of the game mentioned above is not given for the reason the temptation to kill might be stirred in those who 'take a chance,' and always get caught. Every law-abiding citizen in the Panhandle should take an interest

MAN'S LIFE SPANS 100 YEARS TODAY

Relatives And Friends Do War Veteran Honor With Celebration

Today in McLean, T. L. Lovelace who frequently calls Hedley his home, will reach the century mark and his hundredth birthday will be celebrated at the Nazarine Church and at the home of Dick Carpenter.

Mr. Lovelace, who has seen more radical, social, economical and industrial changes than civilization has ever before recorded, reaches his birthday with the same optimistic outlook which he has carried throughout his 100 years. He was hale and hearty and especially clear thinking for his age, when in Clarendon this week inviting friends to his birthday party.

Lovelace, the father of 11 children, suffered all the hardships of Civil War days. Joining the "Southern Cause" in 1862, he served with Shelly, and Lieutenant Bird was his immediate superior. Although suffering hardships from lack of food, he was never wounded, sick or imprisoned during the time he saw service.

A pioneer farmer, he wore homespun clothing and worked with tools largely of his own making. Oxen were his means of traveling.

Born near Decatur, Tennessee March 24, 1838, he has been a citizen of Texas since 1886, thirty years of that time has been spent in Donley County near here and Hedley. He recently visited in the C. C. Oakley home here.

"Young men of today don't know how to work," he said in a recent statement to the Leader. He drives a car at times just to "show off" before the youngsters, he stated.

With the exact carriage of a man scores of years his junior, Lovelace uses no cane and his posture belies his 100 years of age.

H. M. Breedlove said the total of the three years would be used to determine the base acreage for the 1938 federal program.

Breedlove and members of the county committee will take the figures to College Station tonight, he said.

Mrs. J. K. Hunt Died Near Hedley Wednesday

Mrs. J. K. Hunt, 42, died March 16 after a very short illness. The body was conveyed to Ranger for burial the 18th. It was there that she married Mr. Hunt.

She was born in Jack county in 1895, married in 1916 and came to live in Donley county in 1919. Mrs. Hunt bore the name of a fine christian character and had many friends. Mr. Hunt has the sympathy of all those who know him, and regret to the utmost that death has entered the home of this fine couple.

The Classified Column will sell it.

Grandjury Finds No Bill In Sheriff's Office Shooting Tuesday

A burst of gunfire in the sheriff's office Tuesday afternoon brought the grandjury, in session on the second floor, on the run but no indictments were charged.

State patrolman Robinson had filed the trigger on his automatic rifle to make it more sensitive. When loading the gun the sensitive trigger reacted without the assistance of Robinson, and five shots, sounding almost as one, tore into the plastered walls of the office.

Four or five persons watching the process were covered by flying plaster but no injuries were reported.
