M. E. Conference Appoints G. T. Palmer As Clarendon District Presiding Elder

The Northwest Texas Methodist conference meeting in Memphis last week, Sunday assigned the Rev. George T. Palmer, Sweetwater, to act as Presiding Elder of the Clarendon District for the next two years.

Palmer will replace Dr. T. S. Barcus who has filled that position for the past four years. The Rev. Barcus will go to Stamford where he will be the pastor of the Saint John's Church.

He has farmed every year, as a side line until last year. Mr. Murff was in town Saturday looking "as fit as a fiddle," as the old-timer would say.

Warner to Flood Terrace In Lelia Lake Area

It takes heavy machinery to build a flood terrace to hold volumes of water like that going over the Lake creek watershed last June. That is why H. T. Warner's services have been secured to cope with the preparation of flood control in the Lelia country.

Warner has just completed tank building and terracing on the RO ranch. With his equipment, there is no need to wait for rain. Dry dirt works better. During the coming week there will be a lot of terracing done on farms under Warner contracts.

Work Is Begun On Clarendon Hi-Way

3.64 Miles of Graveled Road To Be Constructed

Actual construction on the 3.64 miles of improved feeder road, intersecting Highway 5, near the Clarendon Gin, and running south toward Brice, was begun Monday.

The contract calls for a gravel road base and one coat of oil. Although the improvement is only a few miles, local highway enthusiasts had the work as the first step in a hard surfaced road from Clarendon to Turkey. No road now exists from this city to the north Hall county town, but a survey is now being made by the state department.

County Commissioner, G. G. Reeves, and highway employees Mack Butler, and Carl Peabody, were in Turkey yesterday in conference with Tracy Davis and Roy Russess, both Hall County Commissioners. Reeves said the state survey had extended several miles from Turkey toward Clarendon. The announcement of a definite date for construction was several months in the future, he stated.

The Battle Inside the Walls.

Speaking of matters affecting our nation, we are confronted with the fact that our first duty is not to "save the world for democracy," but to save democracy for the world.

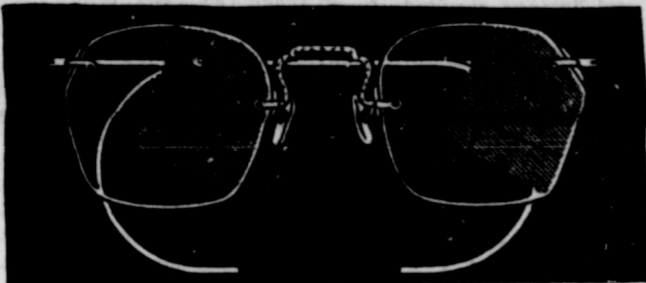

At this time when invasion by a foreign foe is most dreaded, the worst form of invasion is already in our midst—insidious propaganda. Recalling World War days, we were told that Germans were murdering men, women and children in Belgium. One article went so far as to say that bodies were being rendered up to secure oils for ammunition manufacture. No matter about our opinion of the enemy, we were gloriously lied to through the medium of propaganda. Is it any wonder that a large number of Americans are wondering just now what percent of foreign news is propaganda?

High Pressure Sales Talk.

Clarendon is one of the few towns left in West Texas that permits salesmen and merchants from other sections to enter on the fly-by-night plan. "You see, we don't have to pay rent and taxes like your local business men, so we can sell cheaper." That is the sales talk of the taxless intruder. He might have gone on and said that no one in the community knew him, that he was here today and tomorrow gone, that if his goods did not prove satisfactory it would be just too bad—that, in fact, the customer was a fool to take a chance.

Being a king's right-hand man is just as troublesome as being a king. Ronald Colman finds out in his latest picture, when, as Francois Villon, he swings from the Paris streets to the seat of power. Basil Rathbone is King Louis XI, the crafty monarch who made Villon ruler of France, in this scene from Frank Lloyd's "If I Were King," which paramount will bring next Saturday night Prevue, Sunday & Monday to the Pastime.

Colman, Dee Starred In Great Love Roles

A verse-writing rogue from the backstreets of Paris, who saves an empire and loses his heart all in one unforgettable week, and a beautiful princess, whose love makes her defy the commands of her king, form the romantic team in the new Frank Lloyd production, "If I Were King." Ronald Colman and Frances Dee, teamed together for the first time, play the two famous lovers in an epic version of the story of Francois Villon.

When the Paramount picture has its local opening next Saturday night Prevue at the Pastime Theatre, Colman will be presented as one of the best-loved and most romantic figures in all history. Villon, the verse-writing vagabond of fifteenth century Paris, whose poems even today thrill the hearts of lovers, was made ruler of France for one tumultuous week by the caprice of eccentric King Louis XI, who took a fancy to the lovable ruffian during a street brawl. His love for Katherine De Vaucelles, a princess of the royal court, forms one of the grandest chapters in all romance.

The "If I Were King" script, from the pen of Preston Sturges, based on the play by Justin Huntly McCarthy, contains the most colorful and vivid episodes of the Villon story. Made grand constable of France, after raiding the king's storehouses, Colman, in the title role, is faced with the problem of conquering the powerful Burgundian armies and the heart of Miss Dee before the week is up.

The high point of the story comes when Colman throws the vast royal storehouses open to the populace and arms the Paris mob as a people's army to meet the enemy—a rabble-army against the most powerful troops of Europe.

Lloyd, who won the coveted Academy Award with his "Cavalcade" and "Mutiny on the Bounty," determined to make "If I Were King" the biggest work of his career. To support Colman and Miss Dee, he selected a big-name cast, headed by Basil Rathbone.

Mrs. Allen Bryan left today for Fort Worth where she will spend Thanksgiving.

The Classified Column will sell it.

American's Creed.
While practically forgotten by millions during the reign of the "Abundant Life," we herewith print a reminder of what should appeal to every American:

"The American's Creed by William Tyler Page is: 'I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies.'"

A nation of citizens today who could subscribe to that Creed, have much to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day as well as all other days.

Ima Fizzil says while she is sorry it had to happen, but if the Hunchback of Notre Dame hadn't got hunched, the team never would have enjoyed this wide notoriety of winning football contests.

Believe it or not, but the women of this town have fewer banquets, if any at all, and get more done than the men folks. Have you been keeping up with the Sims Parent-Teacher Association? Have you been watching the women who established the Donley County Museum? It is very, very true that they got a lot of help, but they took the lead and are getting the job done. If you don't think the women have beaten us forty ways, rent a hall and I'll debate the matter with you and pay the rent.

Since getting that off, we are calling attention to Clyde I. Price and a very few who helped him put over the College Reunion. The reunioners appreciated his efforts to the extent of electing him president of the organization. And it will go on and on in a big way, bigger and better every year. He was smart enough to have the banquet after the deal was pulled through, or half over.

Who is doing the Park exploiting just now? The women folks! All the women's clubs of the town are backing that movement. That means that the Park is an assured fact without "fanfare and feathers."

Who is the Red Cross roll call chairman? A woman, of course. She has been in charge of this branch of the service several years and is an earnest worker. If you haven't seen Mrs. A. T. Jeffries and handed her a dollar, do it today. She has a committee helping her. These ladies are Mrs. C. G. Stricklin and Mrs. W. H. Patrick. Either of them will thank you for doing a dollar's worth of duty toward helping the unfortunate.

The only way that we can get even with the good women of our town and country is to hook up with them and help wherever they will let us. You have no doubt heard that statement that "if you can't beat them, join them." Believe me, it's high time we all did a lot of joining.

And next Tuesday night the fathers and sons are to have their annual banquet. There are sure to be two pleasing features. The talk by Dr. J. A. Hill of the West Texas College as principal speaker, and the way Dr. E. L. Jenkins will handle the situation as toastmaster. It will be a "feast of soul and flow of reason" all the way through. The ladies will have a dandy good menu. They always do.

East Texas Hogs.
The clipping below appeared in the Dallas News fifty years ago. Old east Texas has truly come a "fur piece" since that day. "There appears to be a want of hogs in Texas. The shortage is confinied to good hogs only. In the matter of hogs at large there is perhaps no other state half so wealthy, for East Texas is said to be literally overrun with antifat swine, which are as the sands of the sea for multitude, as wild as the graceful antelope of the plain and every bit in grain as swift. They are something like a sunfish in shape and subsist upon grasses. They are so uncivilized that they will walk around an ear of corn in the road."

The honorable Mayor did not issue a proclamation on Thanksgiving this week, probably thinking that the president and governor doing the same thing would be sufficient. On second thought, the Mayor is attending the gas hearing in Austin, and if the gas users win, there will be no need of a proclamation to induce a general giving of thanks. That's likely the view of the honorable Mayor.

Legislators Told of State Cost Increase
Members of the Forty-Sixth Legislature convening in January

have been sent copies of a report compiled by the Dallas County Property Owners Association depicting the increase in the cost of the state government the last seventeen years.

State governmental expenditures have increased 332 per cent since 1920, while the population of Texas has increased 32 per cent for the same period, the compilation showed. Expenditures have jumped from $33,498,724 in 1920 to $144,770,274 in 1937. The population gain was from 4,663,228 in 1920 to 6,172,009 in 1937.

Highway expenditures showed the greatest gain, that of 2,106 per cent, but the method of road construction financing has been changed since 1920. Construction costs then were paid by the counties and road districts while now the state bears all costs, except right of way. Pensions, relief and unemployment costs showed an increase of 1,522 per cent, and education 116 per cent.

TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

Granting that half the propaganda is true, the destruction of Jewish property in Germany can be exceeded only by the ruthless destruction of property on our American highways every day.

More people have been killed on our highways in Texas the past month than have been killed in Germany in twelve months.

All of which would indicate to the fair-minded that we begin our charity work at home since Jews are slaughtered on our highways the same as Gentiles.

Frankly, we have to admit that conditions are bad in both nations.

Hastoun Yazzie, the Sage of Hogjaw, says that if we work hard enough, and save close enough, we may in the next few years get back to where we were ten years ago.

NO ONE STANDS ALONE!
In America's pioneer days, rugged men hewed a world for themselves out of a lonely wilderness. Circumstances forced them to wage the struggle alone, or in isolated groups.
But in this modern age we earn our daily bread—not alone—but by working hand in hand as a vast society of 130 million people.
Banks, business, government, the people—how can anyone separate them? We believe that what hurts one, hurts all—and what benefits one, benefits all. That is why we urge cooperation as the key to prosperity and invite you to make your banking home with us.

Distinguished Cast Enacts Capra Film

Said to be better in every way than even the Pulitzer Prize play by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, the Columbia screen version of "You Can't Take It With You," enacted by a distinguished cast which includes Jean Arthur, Lionel Barrymore, James Stewart, Edward Arnold, Mischa Auer, Ann Miller and Spring Byington will open Wednesday at the Pastime Theatre. Others in the cast include Donald Meek, Halliwell Hobbes, H. B. Warner, Dub Taylor, Eddie Anderson and Lillian Yarbo.

"You Can't Take It With You" expresses the philosophy of Grandpa Vanderhof (Lionel Barrymore) and his lovable family group. Grandpa has long believed that too much money is a liability and that the major motif of life should be good clean fun. His entire family as a consequence, has become imbued with this unconventional theory of living. Everybody who lives in the Vanderhof home does just what he or she wants to do, and nothing else.

The story is said to be packed with delightful comedy and delightfully astonishing incident. The screen story was adapted by Robert Riskin, Capra's "ace" collaborator, from the Kaufman-Hart Pulitzer Prize play which ran on Broadway for two years. Columbia paid a record film right price of $200,000 for the play.

William Spitzer, former long time Clarendon resident, and his two sons, Floyd and Ray, were visiting in Clarendon this week. Mr. Spitzer and Floyd are making their home in Denver while Ray lives in Idaho.

I take pleasure in writing this testimonial in regard to the wonderful results I have received from treatments from Dr. H. H. Milling.

I went to Dr. Milling, suffering from siatic rheumatism. I had been treated by other doctors and did not receive any results at all. After coming to Dr. Milling and taking the first treatment, I was able to lie down and sleep—something I hadn't been able to do. I was forced to sleep what little I did, sitting in a rocking chair. I stayed and took treatments two weeks and have not been bothered since.

I also was treated for high blood pressure and after eight day's treatment my blood pressure was normal, and has been ever since.

My wife and daughter have also taken treatments with wonderful results.

SHEEP SENSE

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

Present conditions in the wool market are favorable for starting a farm flock with a comparatively small investment. Many people enter a new enterprise only when it is booming, pay high initial costs, and fight a losing battle against inexperience and high investment. The smart ones buy when others are anxious to sell and ride the cycle on the upward swing instead of downward, getting experience at low cost. Sheep husbandry is no exception to the rule calling for both good judgment and experience. Farms with ample feed and small grains for winter pasture

Terraces Check Erosion Damage

Broad-based, level terraces with closed ends retain practically all the water on the land where it falls, giving an equal distribution of moisture which results in a uniform crop stand. Farmers of the wind erosion area are finding that yields on terraced fields are higher and that erosion is checked. Terraces are recommended wherever contour farming is not sufficient to prevent loss of water. This farmer is constructing a terrace on a field in one of the Soil Conservation Service demonstration areas.

need only fences, water and shelter to handle a farm flock. Some have found aged bred ewes preferable as a beginning, since they offer a quick return in both early lambs and a wool clip. Aged ewes will thrive on the farm where feed is ample and better care can be given after they have ceased to be profitable on the open range, hence they are often a better "buy" for the beginner than the yearlings and twos which the range sheepman prefers, and which he holds at a proportionally higher price.

If open ewes are bought off the range and placed on comparatively luxuriant feed on the farm they will usually breed readily in a few weeks, and the ram should be on hand. The change from short feed to good feed is equivalent to "flushing" to encourage breeding, a practice as old as the modern sheep industry. If ewes are already on good pasture it is common to give them a small amount of grain for the same purpose.

Ewes from three years of age upward, if not badly "broken-mouthed" or unthrifty for other reasons, will raise more and better lambs than the more expensive two-year olds which the range sheepman prefers because of their youthful vigor and ability to withstand the vicissitudes of range life. On the farm, in small numbers, the ewes can receive close attention and individual care that is impossible in the range flock.

Milk fed lambs born from December to February are a quick money crop from the farm flock, going to market early in summer before hot weather and parasites affect their rapid growth. Where the ewes run on small grain or other green winter pastures it requires only a little hand-fed grain, cottonseed cake, or legume hay to keep the dams in strong condition and raise a lamb to market size at four to six months of age.

Lambs begin eating at two to four weeks, and a creep should be provided where ground or cracked grain and clean legume hay can be fed, in addition to the green pasture and their mothers' milk.

It would be a mistake to assume that sheep can be profitably kept on the farm without better care than more rugged livestock receives. Lambing in the winter calls for well-conditioned ewes, dry shelter, and personal attention at the critical time. The Southwest has a distinct advantage over more Northern states in its open, sunny winters, which permit sheep to remain on pasture most of the time, but they must be protected from the short but sometimes severe cold snaps and especially from wet cold weather.

Experienced farm-flock men of ten realize a hundred percent on their investment in a year, the fat lambs sold bringing about as much as the dam cost, and the wool clip paying the balance. This, however, is too much to count on as a regular thing, and the beginner should not be disappointed if he fails to pay off his investment the first year.

Farm flocks have increased rapidly in the Southwest in recent years, and beginners will find a great deal of helpful information in the bulletins of the various agricultural colleges and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ask the county agent.

THANKSGIVING

(Mrs. Pat Stewart)
I pause again my thanks to give,
And 'ere my prayer is said;
There are so many other things,
Dear Lord,
Besides just daily bread.
Forgive my seeming irreverence,
For all thy wondrous powers,
And thanking thee instead for but-flies,
And flaming autumn flowers.
For hope and smiles and courage;
And grief—for this I know,
Enables me to deeper feel
My brother's woe.
And then this greater blessing,
That nothing can replace
Faltering little baby hands,
Upon my face.
It's such a tender joy to live,
Besides a little child,
Thy kingdom come, please God,
But wait a little while.

THE HOME GARDEN

November is the month to offset next spring's possible drouth in the farm garden, warns Miss Lois Waggoner, Donley county home supervisor for the Farm Security Administration.

"Don't wait until plants start growing to water the plot," she says. "Water now. Turn the surplus water from the well into the garden and thoroughly water the land."

This procedure has a twofold purpose, Miss Waggoner says. First it will store underground water for the coming year; secondly it will assist in killing insects when it freezes and expands the soil. It will also help with the rotting of the vegetation in the soil.

Before breaking garden land make a heavy application of well-rotted barn manure at the rate of five tons for one-fourth acre, Miss Waggoner advises. Fresh manure may be used but should be applied in the fall or winter and turned under early to decompose.

Here are some garden rules she sets:

Locate the plot near the house so the housewife need not walk a mile for an onion.

Have a windbreak if possible. Plant two rows of trees on the windward side not closer than 75 to 100 feet, eight feet apart in the row, allowing ten feet between rows. Low growing, bushy trees may be planted on the windward side with taller, faster growing trees on the inside rows.

Locate the garden near the windmill to utilize the surplus water from the tank.

Select mellow sandy soil or garden loam soil.

Start plants in cold frames for early gardens.

Allen Bryan left Tuesday night for Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he will visit his father, E. F. Bryan, who is staying there for his health.

Stubble Grazing Is Dangerous

Stubble left on a field when the crop is harvested furnishes protection from wind erosion if not overgrazed. Too much grazing removes the protective cover of vegetation and trampling by live-stock pulverizes the soil and permits blowing. Upper picture shows a stubble field being overgrazed. Bottom picture shows an overgrazed field which has suffered soil losses and is becoming hummocked.

PLANT TREES FOR PROTECTION

The Forest Service estimates that about eight and a half acres of trees in shelterbelts or field windbreaks will protect the average 160-acre farm. The shelterbelts are planted in strips about 110 feet wide and a half-mile or more long, the taller growing trees being planted in the center of a belt and the shorter-growing trees and shrubs toward the outside to prevent the wind from blowing through when the trees are full-grown.

Copies of "Trees That Temper the Western Winds" may be obtained free of charge while the supply lasts from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Let Us Be Thankful for the Privilege of Living Electrically

Thanksgiving

1620 They cooked a turkey before a blazing hearth fire. They baked in a dutch oven. They dipped candles, had flickering light. They spun, wove and sewed cloth by hand. They spent weary hours cleaning house. They chopped ice in rivers and lakes. They didn't have it so easy. They would have been thankful for all the electric servants we now have.

1938 We depend on an automatic electric range to cook the turkey. We use controlled electric heat. We flip a switch, get a flood of good light. We use electric looms, electric sewing machines. We use electric vacuum cleaners, save time. We have electric refrigeration. We have it a thousand times easier. We are thankful to live in an age when Electric Service is plentiful—and costs so little.

Hay Fever Victims Find Relief In Terpezone Method

Sometimes the method of curing illness is so simple that the very simplicity in combating disease retards general acceptance of its use. Local citizens in number patronize the Terpezone machine or generator treatment in the office of John W. Fitzjarrald at Memphis, well known chiropractor of Memphis for 17 years.

Testimonials from hundreds of physicians, chiropractors and others verify the curative value of Terpezone treatment of colds, sinus trouble, hay fever and lung trouble. One local lady praises highly this method of treatment for asthma, she having been relieved after the second treatment, and at present well on the road to complete recovery.

Terpezone is not a medicine, Mr. Fitzjarrald said. It does not do anything for the body that the body does not try to do for itself. Through the blood it attacks the vegetable bacteria which causes disease.

The treatment is an ozone made respirable by a chemical union with the vapor of pine oil and other beneficial vapors best known to the scientific world. This method has been in use for some 25 years, but is new to the Southwest.

New Jefferson Nickels Go Into Circulation Here

Shipments of Thomas Jefferson nickels reached the city this week and started a rapid flow into circulation as Clarendonites, eager to get a look at the new coins, drew heavily on the banks' supply.

The Donley County State Bank reported receiving $4 in the nickels last Friday and $20 worth Monday morning. The supply diminished rapidly.

The profile of Thomas Jefferson appears on the face of the nickel and Jefferson's beautiful Monticello home is pictured on the reverse side, Jefferson is the third person ever to be pictured on a U. S. coin.

F. F. A. NOTES

(Continued from Front Page) boys who provided adequate pasture; per cent of boys who exhibited hogs at a local show; per cent of boys feeding home grown grain, either grown on the farm or purchased in quantity at harvest time publicity given swine production projects, and accuracy and neatness of individual records and chapter summary are the points that will decide the winner of the contest.

A scrapbook of pictures of registered pigs and sows is being prepared for the contest. Newspaper clippings are also being placed in scrapbook. Each student is being graded in his school work to a certain extent to his efficiency in carrying out his part of the above program.

Feeding for Spring Show The litter division of the 1939 spring show will be the strongest in the history of the local show if the litters now on feed develop. Last spring seven litters were shown in the local show and prospects are that at least 15 will be shown in the 1939 show. The litters are largely Hampshires with a few Poland litters making up the balance of the group.

Ray and Roy Bulls, Lee Christy, Homer Hardin, L. B. Hartzog, Freeman Hilton, Wayne Morris, Wayne Naylor, Herman Higgins, W. H. Nelson, Earl Barker, Bobby Marshall, Derrell Bailey, Maschil Cole, Johnny Leathers, Frank Mahaffey, Carl Morris, Russell Morris, Jr. Spier, Harice Green, and Bill Alexander are each feeding entire litters of pigs. Roy Bulls, Frank Mahaffey, W. H. Nelson, Freeman

Helton, Harice Green, Lee Christy, and Johnny Leathers' litters have shown more promise and appear to have been cared for better than any of the other litters according to J. R. Gillham, Agriculture Instructor.

F. F. A. Meeting Thirty-Four Clarendon F.F.A. members heard Rev. E. D. Landreth, November 19th, at 7:30 p. m. at their first regular meeting for November. Rev. Landreth stressed the importance of a knowledge of agriculture in practically all of our present occupations.

A number of members voted to secure royal blue coveralls with the F.F.A. emblem and the words, "Clarendon, Texas" on the back of the coveralls. A small number voted to secure jackets in preference to the coveralls. The boxing tournament was discussed at some length.

Adviser J. R. Gillham gave a report of the condition of the projects and reported that the care taken of local feeding projects did not compare favorably with those in neighboring chapters due to carelessness of students in following directions in caring for stock. He announced that the next regular meeting night would be the night of November 21st.

Miss Lorene Hayes returned to her school at Spade, Texas Monday after a visit with homefolks for the past few weeks.

TEXAS TO HAVE CLEAN CANDY FOR HOLIDAY TRADE

AUSTIN—With 25,000 pounds of candy already condemned and destroyed, state health officer Dr. George W. Cox promised children of Texas clean sweets for Christmas through efforts of the department's staff of food and drug inspectors.

"In the fall certain manufacturers buy old candy from retailers, ship it to their factories and reprocess it," Cox asserted. "Then it is usually sold in bulk and is known to the trade as Christmas mix. It is retailed at cheap prices."

The health officer said inspectors were visiting all plants and as many retail stores as possible to remove the merchandise from trade channels.

"The combination of old candy already filthy from handling," he said, "and insanitary conditions in some plants renders the article unfit for human use."

Clarendon Football Shows Small Profit For 1938

Although the Clarendon High School Bronchos' football season was considered only fair, the treasurer of the athletic department reported today a gain in revenue which enabled the school to purchase added equipment and apply several hundred dollars on deficits.

The department also reported that the final payment on the lighting equipment at the field had been made, clearing up a three year old debt of approximately $1,600.
