Aldermen Call Town Meeting

The Aldermen of the City of Clarendon have called a town meeting for 7:00 p.m., Monday, September 10th, at the High School. The city will discuss the problem of law enforcement in Clarendon. They urge all the people of Clarendon to attend. The alderman will explain what has happened to date and listen to suggestions from city residents.

Currently the city and county share the cost of the Sheriff's Department. In return for the additional revenue, the current (old) contract provided that the Sheriff will enforce both state law and city ordinances.

The County has attempted to get the city to raise its contribution to the Sheriff's Department from $57,000 to $67,000, an increase of $10,000. The city tentatively agreed to do so provided that the Sheriff's Department would 1) enforce city ordinances, 2) enforce speed limits and traffic lights on Highway 287 and 3) account for the funds used by the Sheriff's department.

Early in the discussion, the County would agree only to the last provision (accounting for funds).

The Sheriff's refusal to enforce city ordinances and refusal to ticket trucks speeding through town led some city officials to question the value of the joint arrangement. "What are we getting in return for our money?" asked one alderman, who then answered "Nothing!"

The Aldermen report that city residents are very concerned about traffic enforcement. "We shouldn't have to wait until someone gets killed before we start making these big trucks stop at the traffic lights. Many tractor-trailer units do not slow down at all when going through town."

Later, as the discussion progressed, the aldermen discovered that it appeared that County was raising the Sheriff's budget by only $7,000, thus transferring some of the tax burden from the county to city taxpayers. County officials deny the allegation.

If the $10,000 increase were passed on to city residents it would mean city taxes could have to go up by 5.65%.

City residents pay taxes to both the city and the county, leading some to charge that Clarendon is being forced to subsidize rural taxpayers.

Without city monies, the Sheriff's Department would probably have to be reduced by at least two deputies.

The proposed contract is available for public inspection at City Hall. The County Budget is available at the Court House.

Both City and County officials seem to agree that separate departments—City Police and County Sheriff's Deputies—would cost more and be less effective. Yet no compromise had been worked out as of press time. The City was unwilling to pay unless its ordinances and state traffic law were enforced, while the county refused to do either—with or without $67,000 from Clarendon. Both admitted that if no agreement could be reached, the ultimate losers would be the citizens of Donley County—including city residents.

What is PTA, Anyway?

by Cinda Courtney

As the 1990-91 school year gets underway, school administrators, teachers, staff, students, parents and the citizens of Clarendon will once again hear and see the words "Clarendon PTA", yet some residents of the community may not be aware of what this organization really is. Others who are familiar with PTA may benefit from a refresher course.

Simply stated, PTA stands for "Parent Teacher Association", a not-for-profit organization governed by a set of by-laws. However, the name is meaningless unless people understand why the PTA exists in Clarendon, why membership is advantageous and what accomplishments have been made. The local unit is a member of Texas PTA and National PTA, although each unit remains autonomous in making decisions regarding direction, programs, funds and activities. Resources and leadership are available from both state and national levels.

The objects of PTA are to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, community and place of worship; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth; to bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may co-operate intelligently in the education of children and youth; and to develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for all children and youth the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

Chambliss Named to Who's Who's

Michelle Chambliss, daughter of Jerry and Dana Chambliss, of Clarendon was nominated again to have her biography published in Who's Who Among American High School Students.

While only 5% of our nation's high school students are included in Who's Who each year, less than 1/2 of 1% are honored for two or more years. Michelle is commended for her consistently exceptional record.

Hardy New Grass Uses Less Water and Needs Less Mowing

Prairie buffalo grass, a newly adapted minimum-care turf grass especially suited to Texas sun and drought conditions, will become available for Texas landscapes next spring.

The grass performs well in hot, sunny conditions, requiring minimal irrigation, mowing and fertilizer, said Dr. Milt Engelke, a turf grass breeder who developed the new variety at Texas A & M's research center in Dallas. "This makes it ideal for roadside and airport right-of-way and industrial park applications, and for many residential lawns," he said. "The state of Texas spent $38 million in 1988 to mow highway right-of-way, and this new turf grass could reduce those costs."

Prairie buffalo grass in urban landscapes could save 50 to 70 percent of the water use for irrigation of lawns, Engelke said.

A typical homeowner with a prairie buffalo grass lawn would need to mow and water only two or three times in a growing season. Left uncut, the grass grows to a maximum height of about 4 inches, but it may be mowed shorter and more frequently and still maintain its dense appearance, Engelke said. It is not suited to shade.

Introduced this week at a turf grass field day at A & M's research facility in Dallas, prairie buffalo grass spreads faster, has fewer weeds, and a denser appearance than other commercially available buffalo grass cultivars. Because it is a female plant of the species, prairie produces neither seedheads or pollen. It is grown from sod, sprigs or plugs.

Prairie buffalo grass can be grown successfully from the South Texas plains north into Nebraska. The grass performs best on heavier soils and on neutral to alkaline soils. In addition to being able to withstand Texas summers, it also tolerates cold weather and maintains a gold color in winter.

Under Engelke's direction at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Dallas, the new buffalo grass has been tested in Texas at Corpus Christi, San Antonio and Dallas, as well as Fort Collins, Colorado, and Lincoln, Nebraska.

Certified producers will offer "Prairie" for sale through nurseries to the public next spring.

1990 VARSITY BRONCOS will travel to Claude, Friday, Sept. 7, to begin their football season.

Residents Honored

The First Baptist Church of Howardwick honored 80 year old and over residents with a cake and ice cream social.

Mattie moved to Howardwick in 1985 and is retired. She was with Las Pampas Gallery for a number of years and did the decorations. Needless to say she has been very much missed there, but very much appreciated in Howardwick.

Howardwick.

Brother O.C. Edwards served as minister for 20 years in Amarillo and surrounding area and in Howardwick for four years before retiring. He is a God loving man and is an inspiration to the community.

John A. Sarich has been a resident in Howardwick for almost 18 years after retiring from Bell Laboratories where he had been employed 43 years, in New York City and Whippany, N.J. He has been very active in the Masonic Order in Clarendon having served a Worshipful Master, Eastern Star and Khiva Shrine in Amarillo and Al Morrah Shrine Club in Clarendon. He was Donley Co. Chamber of Commerce Manager for Eleven years and then retired again in 1984. He enjoys meeting people and traveling.

L.C. Keith moved from Wellington, Texas where he farmed for a number of years before retiring in 1974. He absolutely enjoys playing dominoes and has a knack of casting a fishing pole.

Melville Mills came to Howardwick from Amarillo in 1971. He was employed by Panhandle Fruit for a number of years in Amarillo before retiring for awhile. Then he and his wife Ruth took over as Managers of the Senior Citizens, where they did a great job. Now they are retired again and enjoying their leisure time. His hobby is walking and taking short trips.

Dear Editor,

Gary Hunt did an excellent job, when he taught the Hunting, Safety Course at Clarendon College on August 25th & 26th.

Game Wardens are your friends and humans. They have families and pay taxes the same as you and I.

We have a wide variety of game animals and birds in Hunt's district. There are more wildlife in Donley County now than we had long ago. Part of it is because of our land owners, game wardens and sportsmen.

The things taught by Gary Hunt included, handle all guns as if they were loaded. What is hunting?, common sense, hunting tools, wildlife management, hunting safety, the true sportsman, modern firearms, game survival, wilderness first aid, guns in homes, hunting techniques. Hunting is a knowledge. Please don't be a game hog or a dangerous hunter. Over 2,000 people are killed each year not counting hundreds of farm animals.

Some rules for hunting are: Do not hang your shots, don't shot at unknown objects, sudden movements or sounds. Rifle bullets can travel over 1-3 miles. Shot-guns are even more dangerous. They can travel over 800 yards and contain up to 500 pellets. One pellet in your eye can destroy your sight forever. When people hunt they should stay in a straight line with there guns pointing in opposite directions. Don't crawl over a fence with a loaded gun or have a loaded gun in your pickup or house. Garments should be fluorescent orange. Most animals are color blind.

All of Donley county is Private Property. Some farmers and ranchers will let you hunt if you ask them. Respect their wishes. Some will say no, but others will permit you to hunt on their land. Hunters only have a small share, leave some for our future sportsman, no horse playing.

P.S.If hunters Drink you go home; some medicine effect your thinking.

Sincerely,
Jr. Putman

You may purchase your stadium seats at the Administration office or from the Bronco Boosters Club.

Letter to the Editor

The Chamber of Commerce was recently contacted by Jim McLean requesting information on the availability of land to lease for hunting, in particular quail hunting. If you have nay land that you wish to lease for this purpose, please contact Mr. McLean at Rt. 1, Box 12, Crockett, Texas 75835, telephone number (409)544- 2519

Sloppy Joes, cake and ice cream were served.

Saturday everyone gathered at the home of Bill and Dorothy Britten at Howardwick. Everyone enjoyed visiting, swimming at the Country Club, water skiing and boat rides. That evening the family had a hamburger cookout followed by entertainment by various family members. Music was provided by Jerry and Melane Britten, Lori Jayne Britten, John Britten, Doug Britten, Russell Britten, Louis Homen, Bill Britten, topped off with Dora Jean Homen and Sister Louise singing some of their old favorites. Many guests spent the night in campers, tents and the children really enjoyed sleeping in Donnie Homen's tepee.

Early Sunday morning a sausage breakfast was served.

Mass was held in the backyard, celebrated by Father J. Arnold Carlson. Father Carlson included lots of interesting history and stories of his earliest memories of the Britten family. Scripture readings were by Lucille Britten and Ed Homen. A special prayer of the faithful which remembered the family's loved ones who have passed away was said by Clifton Britten. Music was provided by Melanie Britten accompanied by John Britten on the guitar. At 5:00 the family was served barbecue with all the trimmings which was furnished by the Britten Estate. The rest of the day was spent visit-

Amarillo Opera with Bravo Opens Season

A cast and staff of 50, including well-known area singers and two young careerists returning to their native Panhandle, will launch the first full season of Amarillo Opera and its support group BRAVO! on Thursday, Sept. 13, with a lively version of "The Marriage of Figaro."

The popular Mozart opera will be performed in English and has been trimmed to 2 and 1/2 hours. Lee Kendle has the title role. Mila Gibson Burkhard, Amarillo Opera Director, is Susanna, Figaro's fiancée.

Martha Dunn of New York, a Dumas High School graduate with a Master's degree from Eastman School of Music and a string of opera roles to her credit, is Cherubino. Timothy Tucker, once a football player and salutatorian at Palo Duro High School and a Metropolitan Opera finalist, comes back to his hometown to play Count Almaviva.

Performances are Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 13-15, at 7:30 pm and Sunday afternoon, Sept. 16 at 2:30 pm (note these times are half-an-hour earlier than usual) at Amarillo College Concert Hall Theater. "Figaro" is a production of Amarillo Opera Inc. and Amarillo College and is supported by a grant from the Harrington Foundation.

Marcus Bradford is conductor and music director for "Figaro." Gene Murray the stage and technical director. Gibson-Burkhard is the artistic director.

BRAVO! - a membership support group for Amarillo Opera - is now being formed. Dr. Bill Byrd, president, and Lois Shaw, Panhandle Area chairperson, have named Genevieve Caldwell of Clarendon, as Bravo! representative for this area. For an in-presentation to join Bravo! and/or for ticket and reservation information, please call 874-3792.

Bravo! will Celebrate Its Formation with a gala "Wedding Reception" on Friday night, Sept. 14, at the Amarillo Art Center immediately following the "The Marriage of Figaro." Bravo! members will also hold a first annual meeting on Sept. 14 at 6:45 pm - preceding the performance - in the Commons of the AC Concert Hall Theater.

In addition to the local phone listed above, persons interested in the upcoming opera and/or in BRAVO! membership - which includes tickets to the "Marriage of Figaro" in September and "Die Fledermaus" (The Bat) by Johannes Strauss in March 1991 - may telephone the AC/Opera Box Office: (806) 371-5359.

The recertification requirement is among new and amended regulations adopted by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Licensed private applicators must satisfy the recertification requirement by December 31 of the year preceding renewal of their license. Persons wishing to maintain private applicator certificates issued prior to January 10, 1989, must satisfy the recertification requirement by December 31, 1995 and each 5-year period thereafter.

Persons who obtained private applicator certification during the period January 10, 1989, through December 31, 1989, must recertify by becoming licensed on or before December 31, 1994. Upon becoming a licensed private applicator, recertification through continuing education will apply as previously described.

Educational activities of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service that include the opportunity to obtain continuing education credits will be identified in program announcements and related publicity. Opportunities to obtain continuing education credits may also be provided by universities, governmental agencies, associations and private, independent (nonapplicator) businesses.

Open House Announced

Clarendon Elementary and Jr. High School will have open house on Tuesday, September 11th from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m.

Parents are cordially invited to visit their child or childrens classroom and visit their teachers.

Our local P.T.A. will furnish refreshments in the cafeteria. There will also be a table to sign up for your P.T.A. membership for the 1990-91 school year.

Doctor Completes Year in Clarendon

Dr. Margaret Thurmond-Anderle has completed a year's medical practice in Clarendon. The Texas Tech medical professor began working here on July 8th, but had to take time out to have twins. Because of the interruption, it took more than a year to get twelve months' practice.

Dr. Thurmond-Anderle is a tremendous resource for the community. She specializes in rheumatology. That is a particularly appropriate specialty in a community with a large elderly population, many of whom suffer from rheumatism and arthritis. The medical school professor also works in internal medicine.

Dr. Thurmond-Anderle likes most of the people in the community. "These are friendly generous folks", she said, "They are the kind who would give you the shirt off their back."

She likes the history of Clarendon. "One of my Uncles went to the old Clarendon Elementary school, and his father built a bank here and the building where Bivens Pharmacy is now located." Several people in her family were members of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Thurmond-Anderle reminds local residents that billing is now done directly by Texas Tech. The university accepts consignments, which means that patients will not have to pay more than their Medicare policies cover.

The Mysterious Death of T. J. Chambers

The pretty, white, two-story house called Chambersea where Thomas Jefferson Chambers used to live still stands as a historical landmark in Anahuac, but to this day no one knows why the Texas hero was killed there in 1865. A native of Virginia, Chambers had lived in Kentucky before immigrating from the United States to Mexico at the age of 24 in 1826. Already by this time he had studied law and had been admitted to the bar in both Kentucky and Alabama.

With his legal training completed in the United States, Chambers next devoted his efforts in Mexico to learning the Spanish language and to mastering the Mexican legal system. After the Virginian had spent three years in Mexico, Vice Governor Victor Blanco of the State of Coahuila and Texas appointed him surveyor general of the state. (At this time Coahuila and Texas were joined as a single state in the Mexican republic.)

Chambers first worked as a land surveyor for the Mexican government west of the Rio Grande, but in late 1929 he moved to present-day East Texas, making his headquarters in Nacogdoches. There he became acquainted with English-speaking settlers who for the past decade had been moving to Texas from the United States.

February 1834 saw the promotion of Chambers to the office of state attorney for the State of Coahuila and Texas. Later that year he assumed the role of judge in a superior court which had been established for Texas. For his services to the Mexican government, Chambers received payment of 30 leagues of land, which today would amount to about 137,000 acres.

Though he had been serving as a judge for the Mexican government, FUN DAYS AT BITTERCREEK - Jennifer Wright, Kirsten Bertrand, Stacy Cenicerros, Janiah Mondragon, Kara Barker, Debra Morrow, Fran Alexander, Mary Jaramillo, Amy Newhouse, Stephanie Smith, Bridgette Leeper, Front Row: Lydia Hartman, Debi Hall, Clarissa Smith, Jami Morales, Pati Cenicerros, Brooklyn Cox. On Ground: Sarah Godfrey and Crystal Green.

Chambers' sentiments lay with the Anglo-American settlers when the Texas Revolution broke out against Mexico in late 1835. Once Texas declared its independence, he offered his extensive land as collateral for the new government in raising money to pay for it was against Mexico.

The provisional government of Texas commissioned Chambers a major general and sent him to the United States to raise men, arms and money for the revolution. There he was more than successful, dispatching 1,915 volunteers to fight in Texas and spending $23,621 for guns, munitions and supplies.

Following the Texas Revolution, Chambers devoted much of his life to legally defending the titles of his lands granted by the Mexican government, some of which encompassed the site of Austin, the new capital for the Republic of Texas.

Always keen for political activity, Chambers became an ardent supporter of Texas secession before the Civil War. After participating in the Texas secession convention, he ran unsuccessfully for Texas governor in 1863. Chambers traveled to Virginia to offer his services to the Confederate Army, where he fought in a number of engagements. He was injured in fighting at Malvern Hill and was back home at Anahuac by spring 1865, when the Confederacy surrendered.

T. J. Chambers was sitting at home in a rocking chair in his white frame home with his two daughters and wife a little before bedtime on the evening of March 15, 1865. The Civil War would last for another month, but things were quiet at Anahuac.

The stillness of the evening was broken by a flash of light and crack of explosion when through an outside window an unknown assassin shot the Texas statesman in the chest.

Chambers' wife, Abbe, ran to him, but his life ran away as the blood ran from his wound. That night he died in the little white two-story house with five-pointed Texas stars in the gables.

To this day the identity of the murderer is unknown, though historians have speculated that he may have been a vengeful Unionist or a disgruntled adversary from one of the many land title suits.

Perhaps the greatest mystery, however, involves the painted portrait of Chambers that hung in the same room--where the chest also was penetrated by a bullet.

FISHIN' TIPS

FROM THE TRACKER PROS

Tommy Martin

Before you leave the house on a fishing trip, make sure all the equipment is in order, especially the boat's safety equipment. Laws vary from state to state. Know what's required before launching the boat. Most states require: A fire extinguisher - be sure it is fully charged and located in an easily accessible position. A boat paddle - just in case you miscalculate the gas or have trouble. A throwable cushion - required by most enforcement agencies.

Be sure a PFD, or life vest is included for each and every member on board. It is also a good idea to carry a spare boat plug. A pull-starter rope should always be on board in case the battery gives out. A signaling device, horn and flare is also required in many states. All of the above are for your own safety.

Fishin' Tips are presented by America's #1 Fishing Boat.

Hedley News

We welcome to the Hedley community Mrs. Allene Burkes, who has accepted the position of home economics instructor at Hedley High School. She will also be teaching courses in the Business Department. Mrs. Burkes and her husband, Tommy, have been living in Lubbock, where they own a consulting firm. The Burkes have two daughters, one married and one in college, and two grandchildren. She is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Marci Spier of Tallahassee, Florida, has been visiting grandmothers Patsy Spier of Amarillo, and Pauline Leggett of Hedley. Marci also visited the Harold Whites, Don Blanks, Joyce Boliver, and other friends and relatives in the area.

Elva Davis and Thava Crawford of Amarillo visited Edith Bain and Beulah Hall on Thursday, September 30. They also lunched with the Senior Citizens and visited with other friends.

Evening services at First Baptist Church were dismissed Sunday evening so that the congregation could attend the dedication of the new tabernacle at Panfork Encampment near Wellington. The group enjoyed a potluck supper preceding the dedication service.

Hedleyans are reminded that Blunk Studios will be at the school this Friday, September 7, to take pictures for the yearbook. If you have a pre-schooler, and would like to have his picture taken, you may come to the school Friday morning.

The community, along with most of the state, experienced near-record heat during the last week of August. Forecasters promised some relief over the Labor Day weekend, but no rain was in sight. Cotton crops were needing a shower at month's end.

The annual Community Chicken Bar-B-Q, held last Thursday evening in City Park, was a big success. Several took their chickens home because of the extreme heat, but many remained at the park, and enjoyed the food and fellowship. Well over five hundred chickens were consumed by us barbecue-hungry Hedleyans.

A belated happy fourth birthday to Rachael Lackey, who celebrated the big day on Thursday, August 30.

The newspaper office, like most businesses in the area, was closed on Labor Day, making an early deadline for this issue necessary. This explains the brevity of this week's column. Tell us what you did over the holiday weekend. We'll look forward to a longer column next week.

DOORPOSTS A Gift

by Perry Mack Garrison

Receiver: What's this? A Gift?!

Giver: Yes...open it.

Receiver: Is it for me?

Giver: Yes...open it.

(Ribbon and bow drop silently to the floor as pieces of pretty, pastel paper confetti into the air...)

Receiver: Oh! Look!

Giver: Do you like it?

Receiver: It's wonderful!

Giver: What is it? Say it out loud.

Receiver: It's...it's...it's...a thorn in my side.

(What in the world is wrong with this guy?! Has he gone totally mad?)

Giver: What's your name, dear Receiver?

Receiver: My name? It's Paul.

(It is remarkable that this "Paul" would be happy about a thorn in his side. Why? Let's ask him, shall we.)

Interested Party: Paul, why are you so excited about getting a thorn in your side? We're very curious.

Paul: And lest I should be exalted above measure through the abundance of the revelations, there was given to me a thorn in the flesh... (II Cor. 12:7)

Interested Party: And you're happy about that! Why?!

Paul: Well, it's not always been the easiest thing to carry around so...For this thing I besought the Lord thrice that it might depart from me. (II Cor. 12:8)

Interested Party: What did the Lord say to this request?

Paul: ...My grace is sufficient for thee; for My strength is made perfect in weakness... (II Cor. 12:9a)

Interested Party: And what was your reply to this terrible thing? Did you get mad at God and stomp your feet at his Holy Throne?

Paul: No! I didn't...Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities that the power of Christ may rest upon me. (II Cor. 12:9b)

Interested Party: Paul, are you serious? You actually glory in your infirmities? We don't understand?

Paul: Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake... (II Cor. 12:10a)

Interested Party: Paul! You must be a strong man!

Paul: No, ...for when I am weak, then am I strong. (II Cor. 12:10b)

Interested Party: So now we see! When these things, this thorn in your flesh, bares itself it makes you weak so you might be strong in the power of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Paul: Yes this is correct. Would you like a gift such as this?

Interested Party: Yes, I think I would.

Receiver: You must know what you're asking. You must love the Lord with all your might.

Interested Party: Dear Giver, would you give me a thorn to carry for your glory?

Giver: Yes.

Interested Party: What is your name, Giver?

Giver: I AM. What is your name.

Interested Party: The reader of this article.

Giver: I know.

Successful Selling

"Everyone lives by selling something" - Robert Louis Stevenson

I was just 19 when I took my first selling job. I hated it and quit after a few weeks. I vowed right then that I would be pretty hungry before selling anything again. It took several years for me to understand that Robert Louis Stevenson was right: we all live by selling something.

The doctor lives by selling better health. The manager lives by selling solutions to business problems. The machinist lives by selling technical skills. Small business survives by selling products and services that meet needs and satisfy wants. However, most businesses could improve their profit margins and enhance their incomes by more completely understanding the selling element of marketing. Perhaps I should start by defining the sales process. Selling is a procedure of analyzing what your customer needs or wants and then finding a way to fill the need or satisfy the want. Selling is a service, not an occupation. Customers love to be served and they love to buy. However, no one enjoys being sold.

Know Your Customer

For many small businesses, the most important point in successful selling is getting to know the customer. In his book, "How to Swim With Sharks Without Being Eaten Alive," Harvey Mackay discusses the importance of understanding the customer. Mackay's philosophy is simple: If you want to understand the customer's needs and wants, you must first know something about the customer.

Mackay's salespeople collect customer information in a 66-item questionnaire. The form includes questions about the customers' education, family, lifestyle and business background. Mackay believes that having information about the customer is the key to understanding why the customer buys.

Another element in successful selling is knowing your product. There was a time when product knowledge was considered to be the only important element in successful selling, the entire marketing emphasis was on the product. Good sales people of the day could relate all of their products' technical attributes, features and specifications.

Later, completely obverse sales philosophies nearly caused the death of "knowing your product." Many entrepreneurs still believe that you don't have to know much about the product to be successful in selling.

I disagree. If you really want to excel, you must know your product. Study the great companies. Talk to outstanding salesmen and women. You will find that they not only know their own products and services, but they also know all about their competition.

Show the Benefit

The key that is often missed in selling is not converting product knowledge into benefits that the customer can understand. The most important question you must answer is the one that the customer almost never asks out loud: "What's in this for me?" Your product knowledge is wasted if it doesn't help your customer see the benefit.

Integrity is another element that must be present if you want to build a long-term customer relationship. Integrity goes beyond being honest. It implies trust. Customers buy from people they trust. No one wants to be cheated or lied to. Applying honesty and integrity in everything you do will allow people to develop confidence in what you do and say.

Several years after my first selling experience, I tried selling again. This time, I applied the principles described in this column. I learned everything possible about my customers. I became knowledgeable about my products and could show my customers how the features could benefit them. Above all else, I treated my customers fairly and dealt with them honestly.

In 1976, the efforts paid off. I became my company's top salesperson. When the president of the company introduced me at the national sales meeting that year, he said that I was a "born salesman." It wasn't true. I was born a baby. I learned how to sell, and you can, too.

Lipe said instead of shredding canes to the ground, it is better to cut them from 1 to 2 feet above the ground to allow for better regrowth.

BLACKBERRIES--Cont'd.

He said pruning in this manner will develop a hedgerow of thick, multi-branched primocanes.

A well-pruned hedgerow will not only be more productive--it will also be easier to pick next spring.

The horticulturist said the fruit buds that naek next year's crop are formed in September and October, thus it is best not to resort to heavy winter pruning of primocanes, because this will cause removal of some of the fruit buds for next year's crop.

Lipe said some semi-erect varieties like the thornless Hill or Black Satin should be topped in a similar manner to encourage branching. These varieties will need a trellis to keep them erect.

He said primocanes of trailing varieties like boysenberry, thornless boysenberry or Dorman red raspberry are best left to run on the ground under the trellis during the summer and fall and then twined onto the trellis in late winter, after the danger of hard freezes is past.

The fruiting floricanes die when the last berries mature. The chief problem with dead canes is clogging of the hedgerow, causing a serious hindrance to berry pickers in succeeding years.

Because selective removal of dead canes is slow and tedious, many producers simply shred the bushes to the ground after harvest and hope for sufficient primocane regrowth through the summer and fall to yield a good crop the following spring.

Carrying out these objects requires an informed membership. Therefore, members are provided with information, publications, training to develop parenting skills, encouragement to become involved in their children's education and development, and exposure to programs and projects which meet those needs. Membership is open to all citizens who desire to support the school and assist in the on-going process of making the school a more effective place of learning.

Clarendon PTA has initiated many projects and activities which have been beneficial to the students, parents, school and the community. The list includes K-8th grade citizenship awards, Christmas Walk-Through, Teacher Appreciation Week, the annual stew supper, a scholarship to Clarendon College, various parent education workshops, Spring Break-out, the sale of school T-shirts and sweat shirts, Jr. High social activities, and assistance with the Book Fair and Back to School Night. Cultural events brought to Clarendon were the Harrington String Quartet (twice), the Lone Star Ballet, Amarillo College Department of Music, Jim Newton's self-esteem music program and Doug Manning, who presented a seminar on dealing with grief. Clarendon PTA is proud of its past accomplishments, but it does not intend to rest on its laurels. Many new parent education, cultural and social programs have been planned for the coming year.

Meetings are held on the 1st Tuesday of each month, unless otherwise noted, at 7:00 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Dues are $3.00 per person. The 1990-91 officers are Cinda Courtney- President, Dee Ann Sears-1st Vice-President, Tessie Robinson - Secretary and Debbie Roberts - Treasurer.

An opportunity to join PTA will be at the Back to School Night and Ice Cream Social on September 11. Programs will be made available for members, as well as free drawings for school T-shirts to be given away that evening. The officers and chairpersons have worked hard to make the PTA's theme "Caring and Sharing in the 90's" applicable and relevant to today's concerns of the school, students and parents.

You belong in the PTA because your child benefits from increased parent-teacher cooperation; your school becomes more effective through heightened awareness of the needs of children, plus parental support for adequate educational resources; your community has an increased knowledge of school issues, and you become a more informed and skilled parent. We belong together, because by joining the local unit, you join hands with more than six million members nationwide dedicated to the welfare of children and youth. Please join PTA on September 11 and be a part of shaping the lives of the future of America.

is invited to a dance at the Community Center from 8 pm til 1 am, featuring Mark Brown and The Country Kin. Admission to the dance is $5.00 per person. For more information call Ike O'Neal at 874-2085 or Jo Ann Ritter Grady at 874-2234.
