Groundwater district remands decline limit

WHITE DEER — The Board of Directors of the Panhandle Groundwater Conservation District last Wednesday remanded to the rules committee a proposed decline limit of 1.26 percent a year for the Ogallala Aquifer.

Board members said they wanted to carefully consider all the comments made at the public hearing and ensure that water users clearly understand the rule's ramifications.

The limit proposal is part of a newly proposed Rule 16 intended to implement the District's goal of preserving 50 percent of the groundwater in 50 years time.

The District's hallmark 50/50 Standards says that at least 50 percent of the aquifer must be left in 50 years, starting in 1998. The standard underpins the management plans of both the District and the Panhandle Water Planning Area.

In other business, the District approved 113 Initial Production Permits and four single well production permits. The District also approved one Agricultural Conservation Equipment Loan.

Memorial Day services honor fallen heroes

A hero of World War II joined local veterans' organizations this past weekend in paying tribute to those citizens who have given their lives for freedom's cause.

The commander of the most decorated infantry platoon to come out of a single engagement in the history of the United States addressed events at Rowe Cemetery and on the Courthouse Square. Major John Keith Wells (USMCR retired) led the men who raised the flag at Mt. Suribachi, Iwo Jima, — an event that was immortalized by Associated Press photographer Joe Rosenthal in one of the most famous images of World War II.

Wells recalled that victorious battle during ceremonies Monday at the Donley County War Memorial hosted by the Donley County Memorial Post 7782 of the Veterans of For-ign Wars. He said his platoon never stopped once they landed on Iwo Jima, and he personally was injured so severely that he did not make it to the mountaintop. His men later carried him to the top.

"I want to honor the men who fought at Iwo," Wells said. "Most of them were killed or wounded. There's no way I can give them enough credit. They fought, they fought, they fought."

In opening remarks for the event, VFW District Commander-elect Bill Holden praised the veterans of World War II, calling them "our greatest generation" and noting that of 16 million veterans, only one in four is alive today.

The men and women who served in that conflict are dying at a rate of 1,100 per day, he said.

"The generals and the politicians get the glory," Holden said. "But it is the ordinary people we depend on. Our responsibility to remember their sacrifices does not end on Memorial Day."

Special recognition was given to local veterans of WWII and to Army Spc. G.J. Martindale of Clarendon, who was present on leave from the conflict in Iraq.

Other highlights of Monday's ceremony included the reading of a Memorial Day Resolution of the Commissioners' Court by County Judge Jack Hall, the posting of the colors by Boy Scout Troop 433, and the singing of the National Anthem by Katy Askew.

Earlier Monday, local Girl Scouts hoisted the colors in a brief ceremony at Citizens Cemetery.

On Saturday, Wells also spoke when the Adamson-Lane Post #287

Extension service names FCS agent

Mary Ruth Bishop of Lubbock will become the family and consumer sciences agent with Texas Cooperative Extension in Donley County effective June 2.

The appointment was announced by Donna Brauchi, district Extension administrator in the Panhandle, in cooperation with the Donley County Commissioners Court.

Bishop earned a Bachelor of Science degree in family studies from Texas Tech University, Lubbock. She pursued graduate study in higher education at College of the Southwest, Hobbs, N.M. She earned an associate of arts degree in home economics from South Plains College, Levelland.

Since 1998, Bishop has been the program coordinator of professional development and community outreach in Extended Studies at Texas Tech. Her duties included developing and implementing community education courses and certificate programs. She was responsible for maintaining and reporting course and event budgets per semester. Also at Tech, Bishop was an administrative assistant for business administration in the Department of Marketing for a year and as a departmental secretary from 1993-1996.

Bishop served for two years as the 4-H agent and home economist with New Mexico Cooperative Extension for Lea County in Lovington, N.M. She was responsible for 4-H programs with 400 members and 18 clubs. Bishop developed a monthly newsletter and established advisement committees for the state and national 4-H alumni associations.

She also served as an adult volunteer for other 4-H clubs. Bishop has been active in civic activities and served as officer in a local Lions Club.

"We are pleased to have someone with Mary Ruth's expertise in 4-H programs and curriculum enrichment. She will enhance the successful youth development efforts under way in the county. Mary Ruth's professional experience in organization and management, coupled with her expertise in family and consumer sciences, will benefit education programs for Donley County families," Brauchi said.

Hedley grad never missed a day

Hedley High School graduate Joe Don Patterson has accomplished something that is truly rare — 13 years of perfect attendance.

Patterson, who graduated from HHS last Friday, never missed a day of school from the time he started Kindergarten.

Teachers say no matter how icy the roads or how bad he may have felt, he drove everyday from Wellington to Hedley to attend school.

Patterson has only been gone from school when he was participating in an extra-curricular activity.

Patterson was active in the National Honor Society and the Future Farmers of America.

Economist forecasts strong beef prices to continue

COLLEGE STATION -- Fed cattle prices are predicted to decline slightly this summer as beef supplies become seasonally larger, but prices should rebound again this fall as feeder cattle supplies tighten, a Texas Extension economist said.

"We're going to be pulling cattle forward in July, August, and September, but we're not going to have large numbers," said Dr. Ernie Davis, Extension livestock marketing economist. "And the weights on those cattle may not go up if grain prices increase."

Cattle prices have remained strong through the first quarter of 2004, but several key factors could stir the market: Future discovery of mad cow disease, high grain prices, and future terrorist attacks leading up to the November presidential election could impact trading activity, Davis said.

The current beef market continues to ignore what some in the industry thought would be negative effects on pricing. Upon announcement of the first confirmed case of mad cow disease in the United States last December, the market dipped for only a week before bouncing back.

Most recently, the futures market continued to climb amid a federal investigation as to why a suspect cow at a San Angelo packing facility was not tested after staggering and falling down. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is continuing its investigation into the incident.

The scenario during the fall of 2003 could happen again in 2004, Davis said. Ranchers last fall were marketing cattle at a furious pace to take advantage of high prices. Packers were also pulling feeder cattle "green" from feedlots to keep up with demand.

While Davis said the United States will not run out of feeder cattle, supplies are tight because of liquidation among cattle herds the past five years. Drought conditions in the Midwest forced a number of cattle to be sold off, and many producers have been taking advantage of high prices and selling off heifers.

Also contributing to the short-fall, Davis said, is the continued ban on live cattle trading with Canada, which has not allowed feeder steers and heifers to enter the USA.

The second quarter of 2004 saw beef production down 4.8 percent from a year ago, said Jim Robb, director of the Denver-based Livestock Marketing Information Center.

"The first quarter saw beef production down 7.8 percent," Robb said. "There's not many quarters in history with a minus 7 percent in front of it. Given our cattle supply, we're still cyclically tight on cattle. With our export market representing 10 percent of our beef production, it's something that gets harder and harder to compensate for as you get into summer months."

Weekly slaughter has been below 600,000 head a week, he said. "We need to be around 650,000 in the next few weeks and on into summer. We're very current right now."

US beef cow inventory as of January 1 was at 32.86 million, compared to 32.98 million head the same time a year ago.

"That's a reduction of 100,000 head of beef cows in the United States," Robb said.

International trade with Japan and Korea also plays an important role, and ongoing negotiations could re-open those borders by the end of the year, increasing demand, Davis and Robb suggested.

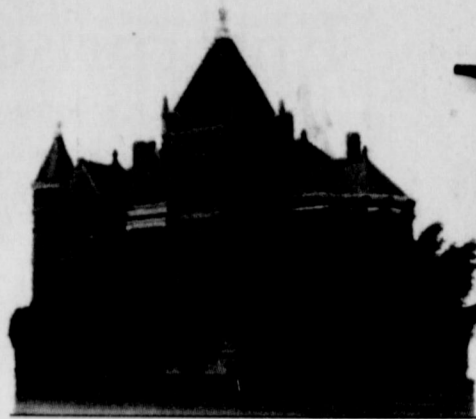

Both Japan and Korea are big consumers of chuck and round cuts, which "as we move into the summer months, they are hard to move," Robb said. "You don't want to lose sight that Korea is the second or third largest export destination for U.S. beef," he said.

Feeder supplies are predicted to remain tight on through 2006.

"The heifers being held this year, it will be 2006 before they calve," Davis said. "It will be 2006 before we see a significant increase in beef tonnage."

Robb added, "The fall of 2006 will be the first time you will see a decrease in feeder calf prices."

Davis noted the marketings from the weaned calves in the summer and fall of 2006 will be big. "Then we'll see softening in the prices for these feeder calves, probably for the first time."

Clarendon aldermen hold regular meeting

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen met in regular session May 25 in the Board Room of City Hall.

Results of the May 15 election were canvassed, and Mayor Tex Selvidge administered the oath of office to Aldermen Janice Knorpp, Tommy Hill, and Mark White.

Theresa Shelton addressed the board on behalf of the Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Association and requested funds from the Motel Bed Tax to promote this year's Saints' Roost Celebration. The board authorized $1,800 for this purpose.

Kay Howard of the grant-writing firm HOWCO met with the board to discuss the ongoing disaster grant project. The project, which funded paving and storm water improvements in southeast Clarendon, was to be paid entirely by grants from the NRCS and ORCA. Unexpected costs to the city are an estimated $30,000 to $35,000. The board directed Howard to have a conference call with city engineer Che Shadle, City Administrator Sean Pate, and NRCS officials to see if that final number can be adjusted down.

Shadle addressed the board regarding this year's proposed paving on Fourth Street from Koogle to Jefferson and on Seventh Street from the west city limits to Sims. He presented plans for 31-foot streets with curb and gutter similar to the paving done last year under the ORCA grant. Shadle said he hopes to go to bids in June.

The aldermen discussed charging contractors and utility companies to dump limbs at the recycling center. The workload from all the limbs is taking 35 man-hours per month. No action was taken.

Museum to hold BBQ next Friday evening

The Saints' Roost Museum will hold its annual Barbecue and Open House on Friday, June 11, at 7 p.m. on the museum grounds.

The event is free for paid members of the museum. Dues are $25 and can be sent to PO Box 781, Clarendon, TX 79226. RSVP for the barbecue is required by June 4.

Summer reading to start at Burton Library

And summer has officially begun - at least according to the school calendar. According to the "regular" calendar, there are still nearly 20 days to go till summer really begins, but we know better. The day the public school doors close for vacation, it's summer.

Although, given the temperatures, there are those who could successfully argue that summer started a month ago. A little rain would be nice.

The senior class of 2004 graduated last Friday night in a very nice ceremony. Congratulations to all our Clarendon High School graduates. Every one of you are winners. The event went off without a hitch - though some attendees did complain a bit about the college library construction limiting available parking.

Have you noticed how quickly the library is going up? They're saying it won't be long before all the parking is back in use, once the building is "in the dry." The library will really add to the appearance of the college campus and more than double the available space for reference materials in the library. I think everyone in town is watching it go up with a great deal of excitement and anticipation.

Speaking of libraries - the Summer Reading Program for elementary school students will be held at the downtown Burton Memorial Library every Wednesday in June, beginning June 9, at 10 a.m. for those entering kindergarten through 2nd grades, and at 1 p.m. for 3rd through 5th grades. Children will enjoy stories, activities and snacks, and there will be prizes for those who read lots of books donated by local merchants and the Friends of the Library.

Friends of the Library will be meeting on Tuesday, June 15 - at noon as usual - rather than Wednesday because of Summer Reading activities on those days. Be sure to be there.

Some of our students will have a week off before plunging into summer activities like Summer Reading, swim lessons, church camps, Scout camps, band and athletic camps, and all the other things that have always meant summer. I was talking with some of our neighbors about going to church camp outside Ketchum, Idaho, when I was in grade school and living in Idaho. We stayed in log cabins with dirt floors and latrine toilets, froze in the mornings, and sunned in the International Hot Spot of Sun Valley. I hope our children will be making memories just as precious to them.

Be watching for young pedestrians as you're driving through town over the next couple of months. And enjoy your summer.

Roger Estlack and Ashlee Kidd

Kidd, Estlack plan to wed

Doug and Nancy Kidd of Clarendon are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Ashlee Brooke, to Roger Allen Estlack of Clarendon. Roger is the son of Allen and Helen Estlack, also of Clarendon.

Ashlee is the granddaughter of Bob and Joan Kidd and the late Bill and Billie Johnson. Roger is the grandson of the late Homer and Athlyn Estlack and the late Arlin and Bernice Hartzog.

The couple will be wed December 23, 2004, at the First United Methodist Church in Clarendon.

Ashlee is a graduate of Clarendon High School and Amarillo College. She will be attending Texas Tech University in the fall to pursue a degree in Journalism. She is employed as Web master, reporter, and ad designer at THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE.

Roger is a graduate of Clarendon High School and Clarendon College and received his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Texas Tech University. He is the publisher and editor of THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE.

Red Hats plan to take road trip to Amarillo

The Clarendon Scarlet Saints Chapter of the Red Hat Society will once again be taking a road trip on Thursday, June 10, to Amarillo to sample the fare at the Bourbon Street Café located at I 40 and Western on 4111 Wolflin.

The hostess for the month is Barbara Kellum with the theme reflecting Flag Day. Come attired in your finest purple outfit and red hat adorned with yellow ribbons in honor of the men and women serving our country in the military around the world.

For reservations or information, please call Ann Hommel at 874-2461.

Myers receives Masters from West Texas A&M

Degrees were officially conferred on 544 West Texas A&M University students during spring commencement exercises May 8 at the WTAMU Event Center.

Lucinda Myers of Clarendon received a Master of Arts degree in Political Science.

Vandals undo good work of Howardwick volunteers

The list of former aldermen keeps growing as another retiree, Donald (Doc) Holliday has decided two years is enough. The community will miss him and his expertise on the road grader, but good luck and thanks for serving.

Sadly some people seem determined to undo all the good work we have done to our community. Our new street signs are being stolen, fires have been set in the trash cans at the park, yellow paint has been sprayed on the trash cans, and items have been stolen from yards.

Signs stolen before Memorial Day weekend were: "Children at Play," "Deer Crossing," "Speed Limit," and street signs from Dana, Rick Husband (2), Swanson, Tyler, River Road, Melanie, and Nacona Hills.

If anyone sees these signs, please return them. At $65 each, the cost quickly mounts. Citizens, please watch and report mischief-makers to the sheriff's office. We don't want more missing signs.

Memorial Day was first observed in 1866 to honor the soldiers of the Civil War.

A few years later it was changed to include those killed in all wars. We now honor all our dead on Memorial Day, but to see all those flags placed on graves of our veterans is still very moving. Let us remember our young men and women who are in the military and pray for their safe keeping so we don't have flags added next year.

We have another graduate. Ellis and Diana Knight traveled to Lubbock to see their grandson, Rashaud Knight, graduate from the sixth grade at Haines Elementary School.

The Beautification Club has a workday planned in the park for early on June 8. We plan to finish the work begun in May. Please try to help.

Hedley residents pay respects to veterans

I woke Thursday morning to the sound of rain on the roof, but it didn't rain enough to wet the top of the ground. Not even enough for me to stop the water on my lawn.

One woman said, "That crazy Peggy Watt doesn't even have enough sense to stop watering her yard in the rain." She's right. My grass is the only lawn in the apartment complex. The other sections are bare dirt.

It's really the first lawn I've ever had, and I'm proud of it. I asked the extension agent and Jack Moreman what kind of grass would grow in the shade, and they told me. I bought the fescue seed they recommended and planted it.

I think I planted about twice too much seed; but it's thick, green, and growing. Terry Collins mowed it Monday. When Keith and I returned from Amarillo, it was cut and smelled so good. Just like fresh cut hay. Keith and I attended the Memorial Day Ceremony at Rowe Cemetery on Saturday. There were about seventy people who braved the wind to watch the American Legion perform the ceremony.

Jack Moreman is Post Commander and was Master of Ceremonies. Other members of the Adamson-Lane Post 287 include Connie DeBord, Doyle Messer, J.D. Skaggs, Tommie Saye, and Murrell Whitaker.

Some dignitaries from the Clarendon VFW were there, but I don't know their names.

The wind was blowing so hard the little old ladies in attendance could hardly stand up.

After the ceremony was over, Keith and I walked around and paid our respects at the graves of family members. Fred and my brother, Marvin Mullins, are the only veterans we have buried there. Fred from World War II and Marvin from the Korean War.

There was a mob of people at the graduation ceremony Friday evening. The gym was jammed. The new auditorium would not have held half the people.

Seventeen young people received their diplomas. The eighth grade and kindergarten graduation was held earlier in the afternoon, but I didn't attend. I didn't know about it and would have probably forgotten if I had known.

watt's happening by peggy watt Hedley • 856-5919

If anyone wondered why there was no Watt's Happenin' in last week's ENTERPRISE, it was because of my memory, again. I went to the Post Office early Tuesday morning to pick up some books that had arrived for me; and while I was there, someone told us that Kim King had had an accident. I brought my books home and forgot to take my copy to fax it to the newspaper office. Later that afternoon, I went to the desk for an envelope and there was the copy, about twelve hours late.

Kim had to have surgery on her back. She came through surgery okay and is moving around now.

Sympathy is extended to Johnny Lund on the death of his mother, Mildred Fontenot, who passed away Thursday.

Broncos fall to Hamlin in semifinals

By Sandy Anderberg
A great season came to an end last Tuesday in Vernon as the Broncos went up against a good Hamlin team in the Regional semifinal game. The final score was 3-13 with the Pipers earning the opportunity to advance.

The Broncos knocked in three quick runs in the first, but they lost their momentum in the following innings. They just couldn't get things together and had trouble getting their bats going.

Despite the loss, the Broncos had a great season and are already looking forward to next year.

"I thought we really played well," coach Brad Elam said. "We jumped on them early and held a 3-1 lead after one. I have to give their pitcher credit; he picked up his game after that inning, and we had trouble hitting the ball."

Elam was proud of the effort given by pitcher Quentin West.

"Quentin gutted it out and pitched a good game," Elam said. "He had pitched a lot of innings this year, and I knew his arm was tiring."

Elam also praised his team's defensive play. "Our defense played the best game of the year. Hamlin put the ball in play, and we made the game, and we started three during the course of the play offs. Stephen Ford picked up his game, and the seniors were the heart of the team.

"Dusty Martindale hit the ball well and had to play a position he hadn't played much. After breaking his arm, Adam Leeper was able to come back to play in the last game and catch the last inning (against Hamlin). Jeremy Howard made good plays at shortstop, and J.C. Blackburn got hit one more time. I will always remember this bunch and the way they fought in every game. It was a great year."

Elam knows this year's team was a good one.

"The 2004 team will go down as the team that got us over the hump and is one to be remembered. I could say good things about everyone. The freshmen really improved their

"Dusty Martindale hit the ball well and had to play a position he hadn't played much. After breaking his arm, Adam Leeper was able to come back to play in the last game and catch the last inning (against Hamlin). Jeremy Howard made good plays at shortstop, and J.C. Blackburn got hit one more time. I will always remember this bunch and the way they fought in every game. It was a great year."

Congratulations, Broncos!

Broncos receive all-district recognitions

Quentin West, pitcher for the Clarendon Broncos, was recently named Most Valuable Player on the All District first team in 1A baseball.

Stephen Ford, Jeremy Howard, and JC Blackburn was also named on the All District first team, Ford and Howard for infield and Blackburn for outfield.

Adam Leeper of Clarendon was named to the All District second team as a catcher.

The Big Wiffas tennis team consisting of (front) Uthala Abdullah and Amina Abdullah, both of Clarendon; Courtney Parsley of Vega; (back) and Amarillo players Josh Bryant, Tony Keller, Bryson Bell, and Brian Vestal competed in the US Tennis Association section meet held in New Braunfels recently. The team won the competition and will get the opportunity to represent Texas at the National Meet that will be held in October in Florida.

Abdullahs compete in USTA meet

Last weekend, the Abdullah sisters had the opportunity to represent the Panhandle of Texas in the annual United States Tennis Association sectional meet held in New Braunfels.

Uthala and Amina were part of a team, Big Wiffas, that consisted of Amarillo payers Joshua Bryant, Tony Keller, Bryson Bell, Brian Vestal, Courtney Parsley of Vega, and Coach Shelley Bell.

Teams tennis gives individual players the opportunity to improve their game in singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. Each team acquires points, which they earn by winning games in each separate match. These points are added up and compared to the best teams in the state to see who advances to Nationals, which this year will be held in Daytona Florida.

"I am glad we got to play with such talented people," said Uthala. "It was also quite an honor to advance this far."

The Big Wiffas had to defeat a well-matched team from San Antonio to advance to Nationals. They defeated the San Antonio team 25-22 giving them the opportunity to represent Texas in the National meet that will be held in October.

Sixteen players compete in Bronco Classic

By Sandy Anderberg
Clarendon Country Club was the site of the Second Annual Bronco Golf Classic held Thursday, May 27.

Sixteen teachers and administrators took part in the 18-hole scramble. The team of Ronnie Edwards, Monty Hysinger, Larry Jeffers, and Sandy Anderberg took first place, coming in at five under par.

Second place finishers were Marvin Elam, Wade Callaway,

Todd Baker, and Kathy Barton with two under. Dennis McMenamy, Jeremy Ray, Mike Ray, and Kasey Bell finished at even par; and Todd Stavenhagen, Donnie Chambless, Brad Elam, and Robin Wheelis shot one over.

The tournament was a chance for our hard working teachers to spend the day relaxing on the golf course and look forward to next year's classic.

Clarendon ISD Trustees hold meeting

The Clarendon ISD Board of Trustees met in regular session May 24 in the CISD Functional Living Center. Votes of the May 15 election were canvassed and approved. Renee Betts, Jim Shelton, and Marvin Thompson were confirmed as the winners and received the oath of office for new three-year terms. The board elected Wayne Hardin as president, Weldon Sears as vice president, and Jim Shelton as secretary. Marva Thomas and Superintendent Monty Hysinger reviewed and discussed the new technology plan for the 2004-2007 school years. Wireless technology connectivity capabilities were discussed. This is limited by a location's proximity to the high school building. Resignations were accepted from teacher Gayle Hankins (retiring), school nurse Tiffany Shadle, and athletic director Roger Hoeltzel. The board approved teacher contracts to Steve Myatt (history and girls basketball), Darla Myatt (elementary special education), and Rock Marker (high school science) for 2004-2005. Jayne Starnes will also be issued a term contract to replace her class size reduction contract.
