Soil Conservation To Be Featured At F. F. A. Fair Exhibit

The importance of soil conservation will be featured at the Clarendon F. F. A. exhibit at the Tri-State Fair, September 20-25, according to J. R. Gillham, chapter sponsor.

Gillham said the exhibit will point out the amount of soil erosion in the United States, and lists the practices that may be followed in saving soils that would be eligible for AAA payments, and gives examples of erosion control.

In addition to the educational exhibit, the local chapter will exhibit a number of agricultural specimens including grain, feed heads, watermelons, cantaloupes and fresh vegetables.

BUILDING AND REPAIRS POINT THE WAY

Announcement this week in Clarendon of new construction operations, along with certain modernizing and overhauling contracts in the business and residential district, is the signal for full steam ahead for Clarendon and this community.

Languishing building operations are always certain signs of approaching low-tide business periods, and conversely the resumption of building and repairing means the steady advance of business back to normal stage.

Nearly every residence-nearly every business house, needs paint and repairs-in many instances there is need of complete overhauling. The News has said before and it repeats that there is not today enough paint in the whole world to do the needed painting in America, although there may be enough building materials to fill every need for repairs and replacement in building.

We are facing the hour when good business is back with us again. With good crop prospects all around us, building and repairs point the way-and beckon us to boldly advance into a busier, happier era.

KEEPING THE FIRE ON

By a not altogether fathomed process, as yet, Clarendon has been pinched out of her three or four year record of priority in the matter of eligibility for a federal postoffice building. The cold facts are that we are NOT to get the appeared in the San Francisco News, addressed to all postoffice this fiscal year, and have fragile hopes of getting readers who are planning to do any of these things: it in the next fiscal period.

Now Clarendon has no fight to make with her neighboring city. Wellington, who did pull just the right political strings and get the one postoffice building in this congressional district. Indeed, we congratulate Wellington on her good fortune, and our hats are off to those fine citi- the zens of that city who made the winning fight.

But for the coming twelve or sixteen months, Clarendon must "keep the fire on," if she expects to secure a federal building at all in the next dozen years. The Hon, Marvin Jones can get the postoffice for Clarendon in the next two and of the News. years, or he will not likely get it for us at all.

on?" Let us do our part-continuously and well.

A POLICY OF SUICIDE

Any policy is better, almost, than the policy of reducing cotton acreage in Texas, while production is increased in every foreign area and in California to preempt the markets that Texas is losing. For that is a policy of suicide. We are not, and never have been, advocates of such schemes as the export debenture plan or the domestic allotment plan. But we are frank to say that they would be better than the present policy. However, unless there is a radical change in sentiment among the farmers, the present policy is going to be continued. For the farmers are going to be made to believe that the present low price of cotton is due to the large American crop. They will not be told that the foreign

Our Form of Government

How does our form of government | proportioned columns of constitudiffer from that of most countries? In most countries the rulers create the form of government, change it at will and hand it to the people. These are autocracies. But in our case not the government but the people drafted our Constitution, the people ratified it and the people only may amend it. Ours is a constitutional Democracy - "a government of the people, for the people and by the people."

Some changes in our Constitution are healthy but those that change the basic form of the world's most successful democracy are dangerous. Daniel Webster points this out as follows: "Other misfortunes may be borne, or their effects overcome. If disastrous wars should sweep our commerce from the ocean, another generation may renew it; if it exhaust our treasury, future industry may replenish it; if it desolate and lay waste our fields, still, under a new cultivation, they will grow green again, and ripen to future harvests. . .

"But who shall reconstruct the fabric of demolished government? "Who shall rear again the welltional liberty? . . .

"No, if these columns fall, they will be raised not again," concludes Webster. "Like the Coliseum and the Parthenon, they will be destined to a mournful, and a melancholy immortality. Bitterer tears, however, will flow over them than were ever shed over the monuments of Roman or Grecian art: for they will be the menuments of a more glorious edifice than Greece or Rome ever saw. the edifice of constitutional American liberty.'

JUST FANCY THAT!

crop of 19,500,000 bales or 3,500,000 bales more than the American crop, has had anything to do with it, and they will not be told that the decline in consumption of American cotton abroad to about 5,000,000 bales has had anything to do with it. They will not be told either that during the past five years, while they were reducing their acreage, California was steadily increasing cotton acreage, or that California cotton has been displacing Texas cotton in the world's markets. They will be led to believe that by reducing their acreage they can affect the world price of cotton, in spite of the collapse of five years of such a policy. The prestige of President Roosevelt himself is behind such a policy. For did not the President insist upon receiving assurance that new "control" legislation would be enacted before he would consent to a cotton loan? The good intentions of the President and his desire to "help the farmer" will not prevent such a policy from having ruinous effects. But they will go a long way toward inducing the farmers to agree to such a policy. The odds, therefore, are overwhelming. And yet the farmers ought to be aroused to the real situation.-The Texas Weekly.

The Rest of the Record

BY JAME: V. ALLRED Governor of Texas

This past week I met with certain members of the Senate committee which has been studying State expenditures. According to some newspaper articles we don't need any new tax money; also, that the Comptroller and Treasurer have said our deficit was only ten million dollars. The State lion dollars as of September 1st twenty million dollars September 1, 1938; and approximately twenty-four million dollars September 1, 1939, if no new taxes were

This authority estimates the of this biennium, after paying the $22,000,000 hike in appropriations which the regular session of the 45th legislature so generously dealt out, will be $14,000,00.

Two alternatives are suggested by this expert. He points out that the general fund is now paying out approximately $5,000,000 per biennium on the "bread bonds," issued for relief purposes during the depth of the depression, and that this entire $20,000,000 bond issue will be retired within five years after the end of the current biennium. If taxes are raised now, he points out, it is extremely unlikely that they will eral fund is relieved of the bond payment burden. Therefore, he suggest letting the deficit "ride" as a brake on future expenditures.

State Debt is Low

It has been frequently pointed out that Texas follows a policy of paying for all capital expenditures out of its general fund. This policy of financial permanent improvements from current revenues has resulted in a net per capita debt of the state government in Texas of $2.26 for general governmental purposes, and none for state high ay purposes, whereas in Arkansas, the net state per capita debt is $82.36, while the per capita highway debt totals riod, making about $115,000,000 another $70.04. in Louisiana the of new taxes for which they must per capita state debt is $51.40, and the highway debt is $40.52 per capita. Over half the states in the union have a state per capita debt of $20 or more, while only 15 states have avoided highway debts.

The policy of paying cash for permanent improvements may be a very good one, but in Texas it has given politicians the excuse continually to increase taxes. Thus, if the state decides to build

Then the politicians raise the hue and cry to "wipe out the deficit" by upping taxes. When it is wiped out the next legislature, seeing that the state is on a cash basis once more, becomes liberal with appripriations, and other deficit ensues. Then the cry goes up for more taxes, and the vicious circle continues ad infinitum.

Must End Somewhere

During the three-year period beginning in 1936, Texas taxpayers will have assumed about $40, 000,000 in additional state taxes. They must also pay out about $75,000,000 in new federal social security taxes during this pefoot the bill, not counting other increased federal and local levies. There is a limit to what the peo ple can pay. Many believe that limit is rapidly being approached.

"Organizers" are Busy Just before a legislative session is open season for the boys who group of citizens. Within recent weeks letters have been sent out to two groups, asking for subscriptions and promising legislative results that are, to put it mildly, extravagant. One such letter was sent to dealers in electric appliances, requesting that each rush $10 to a self-appointed president of the "Independent Appliance Dealer's Association" at Tyler. About all the organizer promises is "a flood of letters to members of the legislature" urging a law to prohibit utility companies from selling appliances Such a bill was decisively killed by the present legislature at the last session, and there is no encouraging prospect that such bill would pass, even if it should be submitted, which it probably Another organizer has sent letters to merchants and others operating trucks, seeking donations of $250 each to support a movement to raise the load limit on trucks. Similar legislation was also killed in the regular session, as it has been in numerous previous sessions.

Most of the effective lobbying in Austin is done by men whose services are sought out-and very little of it by the boys who send out circular letters for donations. (By Mrs. G. R. Grant)

I am one of the late comers, and not yet tested, but those early ones who came and have seen action are certainly a credit to the American people. Why did we come? Most of us leaving jobs and families? Because we realize that it concerns not only Spain, but our own country as well. If fascism should run in Spain, then fascism will look for other countries to conquer, and one glimpse of the suffering it is causing in Spain should con-vince anyone that it must be stopped. Taylor-Stanwick Co-Star in Drama

Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwick, the screen's most talked-about real-life sweethearts, have been teamed by Twentieth Century Fox in the picture which the world is talking about, "This Is My Affair," which opens Sept. 20 at the Palace Theatre.

The story of love supremely courageous and unashamed, en-dangering the nation's highest places and gambling life itself for a greater stake, "This is My Affair" provides both Taylor and and Miss Stanwick with the most important story either of these great stars have ever had, and af-fords Victor McLaglen, who leads the strong supporting cast, the finest opportunity he has had had since his powerful charac-terization in "The Informer."

"This Is My Affair" would be a triumph for either of its costars, for it presents Robert Taylor in a picture which captures the mood of great romance and the urge of the mighty drama, while Barbara Stanwick matches his greatness with a fire and power given full scope for the first time. But for Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwick it is their supreme dramatic opportunity-to be together, to act together, to become greater together.

Setting its scene at the turn of the century, "This Is My Affair" shows the nation's stability tors of the Eastern Star Home. threatened by a series of sensational bank robberies in the Middle West. President William Mc-Kinley turns in desperation to a young Lieutenant, Robert Taylor, whose record under Admiral Dewey bespeaks his valor. The young officer, sworn to secrecy, is instructed to disgrace himself in the Navy, be discharged, and eventually locate the bank robbing gang and their government informant.

In a mid-Western criminal's hangout, Taylor makes the acquaintance of a cafe owner, Victor McLaglen; his right hand man, Brian Donlevy, and the singing and dancing star of the cafe's show, Barbara Stanwick. He notes that the two men have acquired large sums of money, and that their absence from the cafe coincides with a bank robbery in

Why don't some of you guys that are out of high school and not doing anything enroll in College and come out for football? This college used to put out some good ball clubs. If it was done once, why can't it be done again?

Now back to the Bronchos. Did you know that there are not enough Bronchos out to scrimmage? I think it is a shame For as many big husky boys that come to high school at least some of them could come out for football. They say they haven't time. A lot of them have more time than some on the regular team have. Some are afraid they won't get to play. All I can say to that is if they want to play badly enough they will play. With the Treking northwestward to the beautiful Palisades of the Cimarron, Nature's extravaganza of North eastern New Mexico, the tourist passes over or near what has become famous in the annals of the Sunshine State as the Maxwell Grant.

The town of Maxwell, not far from Raton, N. M., nestling at the foot of the magestic Raton Pass, is named after Lucien B. Maxwell who, in popular imagination is thought to have received the grant direct from the Mexican government.

Jess Morris, pioneer Plainsman, first musician in Dalhart and who organized the first orchestra here, yesterday searched the book, "Old Santa Fe" by Ralph E. Twitchell. Maxwell, native of Kaskaskia, Illinois, is painted as one of the most striking figures of the last frontier, well-known to every trader and plainsman.

Maxwell founded the First National Bank of Santa Fe, N. M. in 1871. He was married to Luz Beaubien, whose father, Carlos, and Guadalupe Miranda, received from the Mexican government during the administration of Manuel Armijo 1837 to 1846, what later became the Maxwell Grant. Beaubien purchased Miranda's interest and died in 1864. Maxwell bought the grant from the heirs, became very wealthy and built a fine home at Cimarron, little town opening the way into the Palisades.
