Stage Set For City School Opening Here

Government Loan-Subsidy Plans Bring Cheer To Cotton Farmers

SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

DEAN DRENNAN URGES PARENTS TO SEE THAT CHILDREN STUDY.

All parents and patrons of the schools are invited to be present at opening exercises Monday, September 6, Superintendent H. T. Burton, Dean R. E. Drennan and Principal McHenry Lane said. Registration and enrollment of all schools will be Monday. At 9 o'clock Monday morning, opening exercises will be held at Junior high and at the same hour, enrollment will begin at the South Ward.

Enrollment and registration of High School and College pupils will be all day Monday with seniors in Room 13, Juniors in Room 11, Sophomores in the auditorium and College Students in the college office.

Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, the high school and college will hold assembly.

"If patrons and teachers will co-operate as they should, we can have the best school Clarendon has ever had," Dean Drennan said.

"The faculty hopes to have more study on the part of the students this year than in the past. Every high school pupil should study at least an average of two hours each night for five nights each week and forego social entertainments except during the week-end. The pupil who goes to parties and riding on school nights is missing the opportunity to study, and the opportunity of going to school in the right condition to realize greatest returns from the class room.

"Only the parents can compel the pupil to remain at home for study at night, and unless the parents do this, many pupils will fail to secure adequate returns on the time spent in school. Parents should visit the high school classes and get acquainted with the teacher," Dean Drennan reported.

High school library fees are $1.00 per year, while Junior High fees are twenty-five cents for the year.

There will be a general faculty meeting Saturday, September 4, at 10 o'clock at the College building.

NEWS TO OCCUPY FORMER LOCATION

EXTENSIVE REPAIRS LIKELY TO PRESENT BUILDING OWNED BY A. LITTLE.

Arrangements have been perfected this week whereby The Clarendon News will move to the Goldston Building which joins the Cozy Theatre on the South. This location was occupied by The News for a number of years prior to the tenure in the present location. It is rumored that extensive repairs will be made in modernizing the present building occupied by The News by the owner, Antonio Little, of Laredo, which will be quite an asset to the block, and add to the civic attractiveness of Clarendon.

The News will begin moving shortly after the tenth of September and hopes to be comfortably housed in its new home around the 15th. The concrete forms for the machinery are still in the floor just as left by the News six years ago, which will mean a time saver in the moving operations.

Donley County Men Sue Commissioner

AUSTIN, Aug. Sept. 2.—Naming Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson as defendant, a suit in the nature of a "bill of discovery" was on file in district court here today, growing out of an alleged judgment of $51,675.

O. C. Watson and B. C. Antrobus of Donley county brought the action, asking Thompson what interest he owns in the Herring hotel and the Amarillo hotel and other interests in Amarillo, as well as any other assets.

The plaintiffs claimed they recovered judgment in October, 1933, on promissory notes which Thompson signed.

NEWS PLANS BIG COOKING SCHOOL

"THE BRIDE WAKES UP" BEING BROUGHT HERE OCT. 4, 5, AND 6 BY NEWS.

A three-day Cooking School, "The Bride Wakes Up," is being brought to Clarendon October 4, 5, and 6 at the PASTIME THEATRE by The Clarendon News.

The cooking school brings a metropolitan cooking class to smaller towns in a moving picture show, which is made more interesting as the show has a plot, a beautiful setting, and romance of a young married couple.

The picture has been acclaimed by thousands of women over the United States as the most outstanding cooking school they ever attended.

Outstanding recipes, new hints and ideas for the home and a score of other benefits may be found in the show.

In addition to the instruction and entertainment, there will be a number of interesting premiums given away.

Women from coast to coast have told their newspaper hosts that they would rank the picture as a four-star Hollywood hit even without the many useful household lessons it contains.

The Clarendon News invites the women of Donley County to keep October 4, 5, and 6 open and attend The Clarendon News Cooking School, "The Bride Wakes Up" at the Pastime Theatre.

TRENCH SILO TO BE DEMONSTRATED

DEMONSTRATION TO BE GIVEN TUESDAY ON CLYDE BRIDGES' FARM.

A trench silo demonstration will be held at the Clyde Bridges farm Tuesday and promises to attract more farmers than the one held there last year when 100 tons of feed was stored in six foot trench.

This year the trench has been deepened and Mr. Bridges expects to put in at least 125 tons of maize and sorghum.

"The trench silo is the only method of feed storage for farmers in this county. I fill my trench with bundle stuff when it is plentiful and it will last indefinitely. I do not plan to feed from mine this year as grain crops are abundant, but I can be assured of keeping it until it is needed, if I put it in the silo," the Hedley farmer said.

Last year, Mr. Bridges fed silage from the trench silo to twelve cows and calves, five mares, and three colts.

The demonstration will be an all-day affair. County Agent H. M. Breedlove will be on hand and one load of maize to two loads of sorghum will be put in the ensilage.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Compton and daughter of Alamo visited her aunt, Mrs. S. W. Lowe over the week-end.

YARD CONTEST ENDS FRIDAY

CHILDRESS HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT WILL MAKE FINAL JUDGING.

The final judging of the yards in the city yard beautification contest will be held Friday. The judging will be by Miss Marjorie Lyon, Childress Home Demonstration Agent, who judged the yards in June.

The final placings in the contest will be announced next week. The yards were judged in June and again in July. Miss Lyon had charge of the first judging and Miss Moser of Wellington judged during the second inspection. The securing of home demonstration agents as judges for the contests has been made possible through the co-operation of District Agents who gave the county agents permission to judge the work.

Dove Season Is Initiated Here

Scores of dove hunters went out yesterday afternoon at the opening of dove season to slaughter one of the largest dove crops this section has seen in many years.

The birds are more abundant this year due to the large sorghum and grain crops.

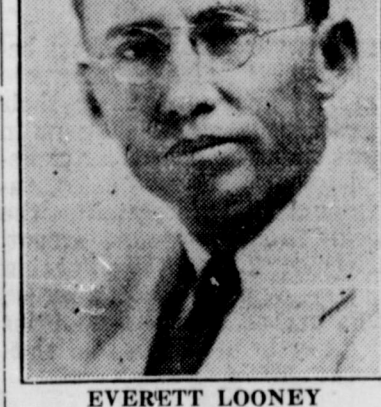

Polly O'Neal, District Game Warden, was here yesterday and stated that from sun up until sun down each day one hunter could

Clyde Dykes Is Jailed Saturday

Against Prop. Tax

State Property Tax Should Be Abolished

ABILENE, Sept. 1.—The abolition of the state property tax is the greatest tax reform need in Texas today, Everett Looney of Austin, former assistant attorney general, told the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association convention here last week.

"You will know of the many demands for aid that are made on your county courts today. To meet these demands—to take care of the needs of your citizens—you must have additional revenue. There is but one logical, sensible way to get this revenue—that is for the state to abolish the ad valorem tax, and leave property taxes entirely for local purposes," Looney told the officials.

"We can confidently expect two great results from the abolition of the state property tax—

1. Local government—counties and cities—can adequately take care of the needs of their communities, and

2. The property-owners—the

PWC GROUP TO HONOR JONES

LARGE GROUP FROM DUST BOWL AREA TO ASSEMBLE IN AMARILLO.

One of the largest and most representative crowds ever assembled at Amarillo is expected for that city on Wednesday, September 8th, at which time a meeting of the Panhandle Water Conservation Association, and similar groups from the five-state dust bowl area will pay honor to Congressman Marvin Jones and other Senators and Representatives of the Southwest for the work done on the water and soil conservation program at the recent session of Congress, according to John McCarty, President of the Panhandle body.

The meeting will begin at ten o'clock in the morning of September 8th, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel, and will include a barbecue at Jack Hall's Ranch at noon, and a program in the afternoon.

The Governors of the five southwestern states have been invited to be present, and it is believed that most of the Congressmen and Senators from the Southwest will be in attendance.

The meeting will hear the report of Carl Hinton, Secretary-Manager of the Panhandle Water Conservation Association, who was recently delegated by the five-state conference at Amarillo to the semi-arid part of the nation. It is also expected that definite plans the program with the greatest possible dispatch now that legislation and funds have been secured which will enable the program to be put into effect.

Officials of the Association are urging as strong an attendance as possible, especially of Commissioners, Courts, farmers, ranchers, business men, county agents and any citizens interested in soil and water conservation.

Donley county will have a good delegation present.

Brother Of Aunt Katie Rathjen Dead

Mrs. Katie Rathjen received a message Tuesday that her only brother, Fred Tietjen, 82, of Cleveland, Ohio had died at 8:30 a. m.

He was eighty-two years of age and the sole immediate survivor is Mrs. Rathjen. Fred Rathjen is a cousin.

SINGING WILL BE HELD AT ASHTOLA

AN all-day singing will be held Sunday in the new school building at Ashtola and as a number of out of town guests will be present and as many will want to see the new building, the largest crowd in several months is expected at the singing.

Donley County singers, led by L. H. Earthman, are expected 600 strong and a quartet from Amarillo, the Dodsonville quartet, and the Wills Quartet from Memphis have signified their intentions of attending.

Everyone is urged to bring well-filled baskets for the dinner.

homeowner, the farmer, the ranchman, the storekeeper—will be given a long-needed tax reduction," Looney declared.

Looney suggested that the loss in state revenues due to the abolition of the property tax should be replaced with a reasonable net income.

Such a tax, Looney said, should 1. exempt the little man—the man who makes only a small income, 2. should be based on a man's net and not his gross income, and 3. should be graduated so that the man who makes an enormous profit would pay more proportionately than the man who makes just a small profit.

Man Charged With Drunk Driving Here

Joe Lokey of Childress was arrested here Sunday and placed under $500.00 bond in a charge of drunk driving. It is alleged he sped through the county at an average speed of 85 miles an hour, terrorized motorists on Highway 5 as he passed cars on the wrong side, careened across the pavement, and came through town past 80 miles per hour.

The man, an employee of Bell and Braden contractors was driving a 1937 heavy sedan. He was followed from Hedley to Clarendon by Jack Peabody and at Clarendon Sheriff Pierce chased him past Goodnight where the arrest was made.

Lokey perfected bond and his case will be placed before the grand jury for consideration.

Belfry Completed At Jr. High School

A large stone bandstand and belfry was completed this week at the Junior High School by Speed Bros. Contractors and is a project of the Clarendon School Board.

As well as being a very useful structure it is an attraction to the school grounds.

BLOCKING ACREAGE STARTS IN COUNTY

IT OLD INMAN NUMBER ONE.

A group of farmers and land owners met at Lelia Lake last week for the purpose of blocking acreage for an oil drilling contract. Approximately 8,000 acres of the necessary 10,000 acres were subscribed. Most of those present were former lessors to the defunct Lelia Lake Oil company which made a test 17 years ago.

Interest in the former lease revived recently when casing pulled from the old hole revealed both gas and oil, according to Roy Turner, hydraulic casing puller.

The abandoned test, known as Inman No. 1, has emitted gas at intervals since 1920, according to Mrs. Kate Johnson, owner of the drilling site.

Four oil companies are anxious to lease a block of 10,000 acres, Mrs. Johnson said. Geologists representing oil corporations in Dallas, Oklahoma City, Amarillo and Borger have visited the location.

Lakeview Buys FFA Boy's Pigs

Ray Dunlap, Lakeview Vocational Agriculture Teacher, and five of his vocational students made a tour of local F. F. A. projects Saturday and bought a number of gilts from Clarendon F. F. A. members.

The Lakeview boys plan to use the gilts as foundation stock to aid in building up of the grade of hogs in their community and to aid in increasing interest in pig shows.

9 CENT LOAN WITH 3 CENT SUBSIDY SET

PRESIDENT'S ANNOUNCEMENT ENDS UNCERTAINTY ON COTTON MARKET.

President Roosevelt Monday authorized the Commodity Credit Corporation to make loans of nine cents a pound and additional subsidies to producers of the 1937 bumper cotton crop in an effort to stabilize the price at 12 cents a pound and safeguard the proposed control program.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced a $150,000,000 loan to the Commodity Credit Corporation to aid in financing the venture. The loans will be available not later than Sept. 15. Only producers who store their cotton in warehouses approved by the commodity corporation will be eligible.

Congress, before adjourning, authorized the expenditure of $130,000,000 in loans on the 1937 crop and promised Mr. Roosevelt a "green light" on a general crop control program when the legislators meet again.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said cotton producers who co-operate in the crop reduction program will be paid a subsidy comprising the difference between the average price of seven-eighths inch middling cotton on the 10 spot markets of the day the cotton is sold and 12 cent cotton.

The maximum subsidy, he said, will be three cents a pound.

The lending plan would follow this plan:

—Five cents per pound on cotton classing seven-eighths inch middling or better.

—Eight cents per pound for seven-eighths staple classing even middling.

—Seven and three-fourths cents per pound on cotton classing seven-eighths inch staple but under middling as to grade.

No loans will be made on seven-eighths inch cotton or better in staple which is of a grade not deliverable on contract under the regulations of the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges and no loans will be made on 13-16 inch cotton under middling grade.

The loans will bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent and mature on July 31, 1938.

Wallace said the cotton loans would be made under the same loan procedure followed in 1935. The first payments will be made on a basis of 65 percent of the grower's base production. If these disbursements do not consume the entire $130,000,000 authorized by congress, payments will be made on a larger proportion.

Individual payments, it was said, will be governed by the level of cotton prices at the time the producer makes the sale.

The effect of the program initiated today is to assume the farmer nine-cents-a-pound cotton, regardless of market price and regardless of whether he co-operates with the government in a crop control program. If he co-operates, he enjoys the benefits of 12 cents a-pound cotton—both the loan and subsidies.

County Agent H. M. Breedlove stated this week that so far, no information had been received in his office from Washington on cotton loans, but information is expected at the office soon. It will be published in next week's issue of The Clarendon News.

Sawyer Is Building Large Trench Silo

Forest Sawyer is digging a large trench silo on his farm near Clarendon and expects to store approximately 150 to 175 tons of feed in it.

County Agent H. M. Breedlove reports that a demonstration will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday on the Sawyer farm and urges those unfamiliar with trench silos to attend.

DRESS UP FOR FALL BUSINESS

Several business institutions in Clarendon have recently rebuilt or refurnished store fronts and interiors, with a most refreshing result, and to the city's great advantage.

With prospects for the best Fall's business in the past six or seven years, there is every reason to believe that those who have shown their faith in the economic position of the town, and the future of Donley County will reap the rewards of their progressive attitude.

There is still time for much dressing up for the Fall business, and the reflex on the inside and outside of a business can hardly be estimated. What a business contributes to the civic attractiveness cannot fail to be reflected in the increased sales as business gains momentum.

Let's do our part in dressing Clarendon for a mightily increased business this Fall and for 1938.

A BOY, A KITE, A LESSON

Religion is an intangible. Just how the strength of God gets into men on the unseen roads of Hope and Faith cannot be clearly plotted. But that it is a fact millions testify with evidence that cannot be denied.

A little lad was flying his kite. A near-sighted old gentleman came near and asked what he was doing. The lad said: "That's my kite up there." The short-sighted man said: "Don't lie to me. There isn't any kite, and you know it." Whereupon the boy replied: "Mister, you can't see it, but just take hold of this string and you can feel it pull."

Such are the unseen cords of Faith, Hope, and Love. We can't see them with our eyes, but we can feel the pull of them in our hearts.—Dr. John H. Holland in The Progressive Farmer.

WORTHWHILE PREACHING ON THE STREETS

In the last two weeks Clarendon has had the benefits of some really worthwhile preaching on the streets. This daily Gospel message has not been of the wild-eyed, long-haired, irresponsible kind, but of the earnest, orthodox, denominational type, brought by the State Evangelist of the Baptist Church in Texas.

Dr. Pond has felt that since so many men, who need the Gospel, do not come to Church to hear, it is his mission and the mission of every evangelical preacher to take the Gospel to the streets where men are and where men will listen.

The News has been impressed for the past year with this growing conviction on the part of Church Leaders of our country, that conditions have made it high time to go into "the highways and hedges" in carrying the Gospel to men and women, if the Church is to do its part in saving the world from chaos and human souls from death.

We, therefore, pay tribute to Dr. Pond and all such courageous preachers who are willing to break away from the formalities that have hampered Church leaders in recent years, going into the public places to lift their voices for God and righteousness.

Clarendon has had and is having some worthwhile preaching on the streets. She is better for it, and may it become more the custom to the eternal good of the community and the Nation.

Federal Appointments

How are federal appointments made?

In keeping with giving the executive power to the President, our Constitution provides that he shall appoint ambassadors, judges and other officers "by and with the advice and consent of the Senate."

The concurrence of the Senate was designed to reject unfit nominees and to prevent the filling of offices with accomplices and tools of an executive inclined to be autocratic.

The Senate, as a matter of course, usually confirms diplomatic and cabinet appointments submitted by the President, but often differs with the President regarding appointments of judges of the Supreme Court and other federal officers.

In theory the President also appoints federal officers in the states such as district judges, postmasters, revenue collectors and others. However, as a matter of practical politics, the men for such positions are selected or at least recommended by the Senators in each state. The Senators, because they know local conditions and because they want to dispense patronage, desire to be consulted or to name the nominees. Senators from other states want the same privilege in their states and so agree with their colleagues. As all appointments must be "confirmed by the Senate," the President yields such appointments, although they are technically made by the President, as specified in our Constitution, are actually, in most such cases, made by the Senators.

THE INDUSTRIAL DOUGHNUT

DON'T OVERLOOK THIS FACT

A prominent business man of Dallas was in Clarendon the past week and remarked with great surprise on the fact that Clarendon's three banks had gone through the past seven years without failure, liquidation or consolidation, pointing out that many towns larger than Clarendon had been reduced to one bank, more had been restricted to two banking institutions, with hardly a city in the Southwest pasting through the period without some change in their banking set-up.

Clarendon, then, has achieved an All-Southwest record.

Let us not overlook this fact which proves in such a tangible way, the solid, substantial position of the town and county in a financial and economic relation.

With a citizenship alive to the wonderful sturdy assets of Clarendon and Donley County, thoroughly sold on the future of a wide-awake and intelligent citizenship not surpassed in the Nation, there can be no question of the steady progress and advancement of this city and this county.

Clarendon is really "All-Southwestern" in her position, civic charm and future possibilities.

RICH AND DON'T KNOW IT

People are reminded less often nowadays than a generation ago to count their blessings. It is still worth while to stop now and then and remember what the good riches are. As Dr. J. W. Holland says in The Progressive Farmer:

"Have we gotten so blinded with electric lights that we have forgotten the stars? Has the emphasis Americans have for three generations put on material success obscured for us the better gold of the Golden Rule?"

"I am telling you that regardless of your purse you may be rich today. If you have moderate health, you are a billionaire. If you have a few friends, then envy no lonely man his store of gold. If you are permitted to work at chosen tasks, no artist should be more happy than you are. If you have 'the peace that passes knowledge' so that no earthly storms can upset your lifeboat, no one can pile currency high enough to equal your riches.

"So many of us are rich and don't know it. And so many others, alas! could be rich and don't realize it."

THE CALENDAR BEGINS TO WHIRL

Have you ever noticed how the old Calendar begins to whirl when September 1st comes along?

People come tumbling back from vacations, mothers begin to bustle about getting school togs ready for the children, youngsters take on a new hustle planning their wardrobes for college, football training camps spring up in thudding resonance, mere business men begin interior clean-up campaigns and map large plans of increased sales, announcements of county and regional fairs streamline the countryside, circus posters appear flamboyant and arrant, the tang of Fall wafts in on early morning and late evening air. City, country, school, stores—even politicians preen themselves for the coming matching of wit and energies with that perennial season everybody loves—Fall, and then the Winter.

Yes, the calendar begins to whirl—and we all do our bit to help it revolve at swifter pace.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

Again some new books with which to begin our fall reading. They are "Soldier of Good Fortune" by Ruth Cross, "Love Is So Blind" by Ruby M. Ayers; "Red Signal" by Grace Livingstone Hill; "Red Ashes" by Margaret Peddler; "The Bobbsey Twins at Cherry Corners" by Laura Lee Hope; "Hopalong Cassidy's Protection" by Mulford; "Gay Courage" by Emilie Loring; "Hunted Riders" by Max Brand; "Double Cross Ranch" by Seltzer.

Besides these Mrs. Bernice Webb bought us quite a few books and Mrs. A. E. Morgan sent a few—for all of which we are grateful.

When asked what she was going to do with the royalties from her best selling novel, Josephine Lawrence whose latest is "The Sound of Running Feet," said she wanted a piano, "one of those beautiful small instruments, and six or seven acres in Vermont, with a very small, very old house to do over, three cast, two dogs, and a horse." Josephine Lawrence came into the lime light with her "If I Have Four Apples," followed by "The Years Are So Long," both of which we have on our shelves. We do not have her last.

"And So—Victoria" grows in popularity. Vaughn Wilkins, the author, says, "It was written partly in an old house in the Welsh mountains, looking across the romantic Cennen Valley to a ruined castle. Partly in a cargo ship in the Atlantic. Partly at my cousin's ranch home on the edge of a Texas prairie. Partly at my own home in Buckingham St., Adelphi, London, which looks on the river." The book is described as full of action and color, with more than a bit of mystery—an exciting and absorbing adventure romance of the days before Victoria came to the throne of England. It is said to have a slight similarity to "Anthony Adverse" in that the central figure is a youth of mysterious birth and that its scenes range over the world.

Listed under novels that are news is "One Life One Kopeck," a first novel by Walter Duranty. From his newspaper correspondent experiences in Russia he wrote "I Write As I Please." This new book also has Russia as a background through the varying stages of the past twenty years.

It is a literary guide for August, John Gunther, author of "Inside Europe," says, "In Europe there are certain institutions, among them are the Banque de France, the blue steel cars of the Wagon-Lit Company, the Church of England, Viennese Coffee with Shlagobor—and Walter Duranty."

"Back in the nineteen hundreds Edmondo de Amicis said, "A house without books is cheerless; it may be likened to a public house, a city without a bookstore, a village without a school, or a letter that is so badly written that it cannot be read. How cheerful is a room full of books! How they capture the eye and how much enjoyment they can give anyone, although he does not have to be a savant, if he reads only for his pleasure, as long as he has feeling and imagination."

One of our new books is one made famous by Will Rogers in the screen version of it—"State Fair" by Phil Stong. It is the story of an Iowa family, the Frake family, at the State Fair. Abel Frake was happy as the owner of Blue Boy, pronounced the World's Greatest Hog. Melissa, his wife, was overjoyed when she won blue ribbons with her pickles and Margy and Wynne meet destiny in the person of a young newspaper man and dashing, thrilling, sophisticated it. It is a gay, happy story from which a gay, happy picture was made. The author, Phil Stong, worked for years in his father's country store in Keosauqua, Iowa. He belongs to the fourth generation of Iowans on both sides of the family, having had a great grandfather who was the first settler in western Iowa, and a grandfather who was a director of the Iowa State Fair. Only a writer with state fairs in his blood and a boyhood experience in rural Iowa could have written "State Fair."

Phil Stong graduated from Drake University in Des Moines, spent a year teaching in Minnesota, went to New York to see if newspapers really paid reporters fifty dollars a week, and joined the Associated Press staff. Later he was on the editorial board of McClure's after which he returned to newspaper work with the North American Newspaper Alliance, and covered most of the big news events of the day. He is now in a large advertising agency. During these years of varied experiences he found time to write twelve novels—all of which he tore up as unpublishable. "State Fair" was his thirteenth, and proved a thrilling success. And so Phil Stong is still writing and succeeding.

George Bernard Shaw is to make his screen debut in the role of actor-theatrical when he plays the part he has written for himself in the late John Drinkwater's "The King's People." Others appearing in the film are Lady Astor, Sir Austin Chamberlain, John Drinkwater and others.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kerby, former Clarendon faculty members but who resigned recently to move to Waxahachie where Mr. Kerby will teach in Trinity University, were here Monday and Tuesday moving their furniture. They spent the summer in Weatherford.

Miss Mildred Martin, who has been with her sister in El Reno, Oklahoma was a visitor in the T. M. Shaver home Sunday. Miss Martin was enroute to California for a vacation.

AMERICAN BOY INTRODUCES A NEW FOOTBALL GAME

In the early fall issues of THE AMERICAN BOY there'll be presented the story of a new game—six-man football—fast as professional football, wide open as basketball, thrilling as hockey!

The game came to life through the need of small schools for some substitute for 11-man football, which was too expensive. Stephen Yelver, a Nebraska graduate student in athletics, developed the game of six-man football to meet this need. In six-man football anybody can score, the possibility of injury from mass plays is minimized, and the game is open enough for spectators to follow every exciting development.

The new game is a hit. New schools are taking it up every day. In coming issues THE AMERICAN BOY tells the world about this practical new game. In addition, it presents The American Boy Official Handbook, which can be obtained from the magazine at 20 cents a copy, or 15 cents when bought in bulk.

NOTE: Subscription prices of THE AMERICAN BOY will be raised in the near future. Send your subscription order at once to take advantage of the bargain rates now in effect: one year at $1.00 or three years at $2.00. Foreign subscriptions 50c a year extra. Send your name, address and remittance to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich. On news stands the price is 15c a copy. 35 1 tc

U. S. On Verge Of Greatest Building Boom In History

NEW YORK, Sept. 2 — That the U. S. is on the verge of a building boom of enormous proportions which will create an era of prosperity lasting until about 1943 is predicted in an article published today in Fortune magazine.

This article was written for Fortune by Mr. Roosevelt's gold-buying expert, Prof. George F. Warren, and his associate, Prof. Frank A. Pearson, of Cornell. The two professors offer a group of charts which show the swings of the business cycle at home and abroad.

Tracing U. S. building back to 1830, they find a marked 18-year cycle. The last boom having reached its apex about 1925, they declare, the trough of the building cycle in this country has just been passed and the curve is now on its way up.

Commenting on the building cycle "as a purely natural phenomenon," they remark that "at the present time building activity is high and will probably recede in England, Scotland and Sweden; it is low and will probably increase in the U. S., Canada and Germany." They predict that current expansion in building in the United States will continue until about 1943.

"Major panics," they add, "have come from one to four years after the building cycle has reached its peak.

"The rise in building activity that has just started has more recently slowed down. The reason: Sharply increased prices of labor and materials. The pressure of vacancies must now be exercised on existing houses, and these houses must be repaired upward along with other commodities, before building can resume its course."

The article traces the effect upon U. S. production and prosperity of the four major industries: Food, building, textile and automobiles. Of these foods is most stable, while textiles are relatively stable with only a two-year cycle, and automobiles are as much a reflection of prosperity as a cause, the article says. The most important of the four major industries in its effect on general business is, therefore, building, which is the second largest industry and which fluctuates violently, thereby affecting the prosperity of the whole country.

Freight traffic for example, the article shows, fluctuates largely with building activity. "It is the lumber, sand, gravel, iron, coal, coke, cement, steel, brick, lime, tile and plaster that put the peaks on railroad freight traffic. And this additional freight brings with it a much greater percentage of profit to the road."

What controls the building cycle, the authors indicate, is the number of residential vacancies. And this number is greatly influenced by the rate at which people get married. "In bad times," the authors write, "young couples who would normally marry put it off. The vacancies that they would have filled up by their establishing a new family unit remain vacancies. But as times get better the marriage rate increases and vacancies are removed." A chart of the accumulated "reserve" of unmarried people in St. Louis is shown. It reached a startling peak in 1934. At present people are getting married faster, and the "reserve" is dwindling.

For reasons such as this the government cannot do much about building activity.

"The Government can to some extent stir up or dampen building activity," the authors say, "but the cycle, for all practical purposes, is outside government control. The supply and demand for space is the prime mover in the building cycle. The amount of building can be decided only by 130,000,000 people, but it may be presumed that in this cycle they will act as they and their ancestors have acted in the past.

"The other great influence on prosperity is the price level. This is now in the hands of the government through setting the price of gold, and it is fair to assume that the commodity level will not be allowed to drop too far.

"The building industry is a vital factor in business activity. It is characterized by its size, which makes it second in importance; by its fluctuations, which are violent, and by its clearly defined cycle of about 18 years. Buildings last for many years and if there are too many it takes a long time to wear them out. Conversely, when building construction has been at a low ebb, as has been the case in recent years, it takes years for the required building to be completed. The building industry further increases the depths of its own slumps by the fact that, if for some reason the industry is not active, it throws so many persons out of work that the demand for buildings is reduced.

"Since building fluctuates for reasons inherent in its own nature, and since it is so large, we should expect that building will influence those activities which are regarded as mirrors of general prosperity. It does. "Which brings us to those even

Aged Marfa Man Says He Was There When Billy the Kid Was 'Bumped Off'

MARFA, Texas. — When Pat Garrett shot Billy the Kid down on the Bosque Grande in New Mexico, a young man named Jim Watts was one of the 16 men with him. Mr. Watts' years are crowding him now, but he loves to recount tales of his adventures as a ranger.

"We had intercepted a Mexican boy earlier in the day as he was carrying a note from the Kid to his Mexican sweetheart, old Pete Maxwell's daughter. We gathered at Maxwell's before night and held the girl and her mother prisoner so that they couldn't mark the surrounding adobe wall to warn the Kid.

"We had orders to shoot as soon as we fully recognized our prey. Finally he came along between 10 and 11 o'clock and got as far as a bedroom door, when the light from a lamp on a dresser revealed Pat Garrett under the bed. "Quixotes es?" he asked, and stepped back, but Pat had fired twice before he could turn. Now that's how it happened, because I was there."

Watts had met the young desperado before at a saloon at White Oaks, N. M., through Tom O'Falliard, the Kid's pal, and a friend of Watts' from Uvalde. They had played poker together then, and Watts had taken the Kid's money, $10.

Watts then paid for the drinks around, and noticed that they held their feet on their horses' ropes. O'Falliard cautioned him on leaving not to mention seeing him or his friend to any one of the Bill Huggins gang (Rangers), and told Watt's the name of his friend.

"If I'd known I'd been playing poker with the Kid, I'd have been so scared I couldn't have held my cards much less have cleaned him out," laughed Mr. Watts in recalling the incident.

"The Kid was a likable sort of chap, slender and blue-eyed, and no one would ever have thought he had killed 21 men before he was killed at 21 years of age. I knew John Wesley Hardin too, but he was surly and hardened, and much older.

"There's been so many tales told about the Kid, it's hard to know where to begin. He was born in New York and went from there to Emporia, Kansas, and then on to New Mexico.

"The first time he did any killing was for old John Chisolm, for whom the Chisolm Trail is named. The Chisolms and McSweeney got into a feud, and the Kid sided with Chisolm. But they didn't seem to pay him for these extra little duties, so he quit the outfit. Old man Chisolm was his idol, and after that he seemed bitter and turned outlaw right. He was the quickest man on the trigger I've ever seen. He could shoot a man through the heart twice before the body hit the ground. They never had him in jail but once, and he never came to trial then.

"That was the time we captured him at Bowder ranch, after killing Charlie Bowder, thinking he was the Kid because he had the Kid's hat on. We got him on the train at Albuquerque and the Mexican sheriff with 30 men boarded the train and tried to take him off. The conductor finally persuaded them to take 10 men and go to Santa Fe to see Governor General Lew Wallace (author of Ben Hurr). They did, and the governor had the Kid lodged in the Santa Fe jail. When it came time to try him in Lincoln, Jim Bell and Bob O'Linger, U. S. marshals, went after him.

"Well, they got him to the hotel in Lincoln. He complained the handcuffs were too tight and they loosened them a little, then Bob went after some drinks for them, leaving his shotgun against the door leading onto a little balcony. Jim sat down in a chair in front of the Kid who was lying on the floor and Jim dozed off. His pistol fell to the front, and a second later the Kid had it, and yelled to him.

"Run its your last chance," but when Jim turned, the Kid shot him dead with Jim's own gun. He grabbed Bob's shotgun, an "English twister," and shot Bob just as he was entering the gate. Both of them were shot with their own guns. The Kid never was near capture again except at the Greathouse ranch when his bunch killed Frank Carlisle.

"We had the house surrounded that time, but didn't have enough men to attack. The Kid's bunch more powerful reflectors of public welfare, the blanks. The volume of credit necessary to finance many phases of our industrial life is very large, but is relatively stable. A huge amount of credit, however, is necessary to finance the producers, manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of building supplies. In addition the local contractor and homeowner must be financed. This great volume of credit fluctuates with the building cycle. This fluctuation can be clearly seen when the ratio of loans and discounts to government bonds and other securities held by banks is shown in relation to the building cycle."

Early Morning Ceremony Unites Popular Clarendon Couple Sunday

The beautiful garden of the Baptist Church parsonage was the scene of the early Sunday morning wedding ceremony which united Mr. Thomas Perkins and Miss Ruth Hartzog.

The Reverend J. Perry King, read the ceremony and the couple exchanged the double ring vows facing the rising sun. The garden was a myriad of flowers where the couple stood and the rising sun made multi-colored prisms on the dew covered flowers and lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Martin attended the couple. Mrs. Martin wore a navy blue crepe suit with navy accessories.

The bride, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hartzog, was lovely in a black costume suit of sheer woolen. A finger-tip swagger coat was banded in clipped caracul and the yoke of the dress was appliqued in satin.

Her modish accessories were black. Mrs. Perkins is a popular Clarendon girl, having graduated from Clarendon High School and Clarendon Junior College. For a number of years, she has been associated with Mrs. Martin at Nadine's Beauty Shop. As an active member of the Clarendon Business & Professional Women's Club, she served as treasurer of that organization. She will continue her employment at the Nadine's Beauty Shop.

Mr. Perkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Perkins of Quanah. He attended Quanah High School and North Texas State Teachers College at Denton. For the past several years, he has been assistant manager of the local Ben Franklin Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins are at home in the Davis Apartments after a short trip.

Auto Party And Triple Shower Honors Bride-Elect Tuesday

(By MRS. J. PERRY KING)

Miss Jo Ella Stewart, who is to become the bride of Ralph E. Randel, Chevrolet dealer of Panhandle, on Thursday, September 23, was honored with a novel "Auto party" Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Sam M. Braswell. Assisting Mrs. Braswell were Mrs. Clarence Whitlock and Mrs. Sam Cauthen.

The first shower, a China shower, fell at the home of Mrs. Clarence Whitlock where gifts were presented the bride-to-be, each one telling her why she "auto" have their choice of gift in her home. Then, the honoree left with her mother and Mrs. Braswell to go to the second shower which was held in the home of Mrs. Sam Cauthen, while the guests at Mrs. Whitlock's home conducted contests and dressed clothes pins to represent the bride and groom and the bridal party.

After the gifts were presented at Mrs. Cauthen's where her school friends were gathered, for a kitchen shower, the traveling bride-elect and her escorts proceeded to Mrs. Braswell's where the older women were gathered to give the bride elect a linen shower and impart sage advice about what she "Auto" do and not do at her wedding. After the stories were told and gifts presented, Mrs. Braswell read a "Cake Romance" taken from "True Story" in which guests supplied names of cakes to tell the story of the couple's meeting, the proposal and the approaching wedding date.

Afterwards, all three parties went to the W. C. Stewart home where a reception was held and refreshments were served. Refreshments were a spare tire (gold frosted doughnuts), candied stuffed dates and grape marlow. The Lions Club colors, gold and purple, were carried out as Miss Stewart and Mr. Randel met at a Lions banquet. A gold and yellow heart, inscribed with Ralph and Jo Ella September 23, topped each doughnut.

Refreshments were served while the guests enjoyed looking over the presents heaped on the dining table. In the center of the table was a tall satin covered stool on which was arranged a bridal party in front of a miniature altar made and arranged by the first group of the guests.

The book entitled "Before the Chevrolet came into Jo Ella's Life" was also enjoyed by all the guests present and contained illustrated stories connected with her school days. It was made by her girl friends attending the kitchen shower.

Those present were Misses Joy McCanne, Geraldine Pratt, Berkeley Ryan, Evelyn Murphy, Vera Noland, Eugenia Noland, Dorothy Dale Powell, Pauline Sanford, Mrs. Sam Cauthen, Mrs. Lloyd Benson, Mrs. Earl Alderson, Mrs. George Ryan, Mrs. Geo. Bartlett, Mrs. W. H. Patrick, Mrs. Chas. T. McMurtry, Mrs. H. C. Brumley, Mrs. J. L. McMurtry, Mrs. W. C. Stewart and Mrs. Sam M. Braswell.

Risk In California Says Resettlement

Destitute farm families of other states are being warned of the risks they run in going to California, expecting to support themselves by work in the crop free shelter and relief in Resettlement Administration camps, according to Robert C. Land, Hall, Donley, Armstrong Counties, Rural Supervisor.

"Distorted reports, picturing California as a paradise for the dispossessed of other areas are now being circulated, Mr. Land said. "Those stories hold out false hopes and are likely to lead to cruel disappointments and increased misery if they induce people without money or prospects of employment to move to California expecting to find the easy living conditions pictured in their tales."

Mr. Land referred to a communication recently received from Jonathan Garst, director of the Resettlement Administration program in California in which the hardships of migratory farm families were defined. "On the basis of this experience," Garst wrote, "I want to advise farm folks who are in hard luck in other areas to look carefully before they leap at the lure held out in some of the financial statements now in circulation about easy living in California."

CCC Camps Open To Donley Youths

R. C. Land, Rural Supervisor for the Resettlement Administration for Hall, Donley and Armstrong Counties, announces he has received information to the effect that there will be a CCC enrollment to be held during October. He advises that boys from the Resettlement Administration families are eligible in these camps, and the requirements are as follows:

"Boys between the ages of 17 and 23 inclusive, unemployed, not regularly in school, in good physical condition, having no criminal record, and from families whose income is insufficient for a normal standard of living are eligible. If the boy has had previous service, he must have an honorable discharge and must have been out of the camp for at least one year prior to the date of enrollment."

Farm families who have boys who wish to make application to enter one of these camps are urged to make application with their County Case worker by the 15th part of September.

Also, if there are any other low income farm families who have sons who will meet the above eligibility requirements, they will please call at my office for further information as to their enlistment in one of these camps.

Johnson-Chappell Ceremony Read

Mr. William A. Johnson of Sunview and Miss Mary Virginia Chappell of Amarillo were united in marriage Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church. The Reverend J. Perry King read the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. K. Chappell, 201 Cleveland Street, Amarillo and the groom is the son of W. L. Johnson of Sunview. Mrs. Chappell and Mr. Johnson attended the couple.

She carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations, white tuberoses and baby's breath.

Fred Wells, brother of the bride, was best man.

Mrs. Rusk graduated from West Texas State Teachers College in Canyon. Last year, she taught in the Pampa schools, where she was a valued teacher and prominent in social circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusk are at home in Dumas where he is employed in the Magnolia Gasoline Plant.

Farmers Turning To Trench Silos

Northwest Texas farmers have learned from the experiences of their neighbors that the trench silo is the safest and most economical way to store feed. Many county agricultural agents in that section are estimating that the number of trench silos in their counties will be doubled by the end of the year.

At the beginning of 1935, only 4 trench silos were in use in Lamb county. During 1936, 118 trenches were filled, and the agricultural agent expects that the number of trench silos in the county will be increased to more than 200 by the end of the current season.

"I have one mule that I have not seen play in several years but he began kicking up his heels and having a good time soon after I began feeding him silage," C. Z. Ratliff, Wellington farmer, recently told the Collingsworth county agricultural agent. "My cows increased their milk production 25 percent two weeks after I started feeding silage." Ratliff, who operates an 80 acre farm without native pasture, filled two small trench silos last year and will refill them this fall.

In the fall of 1936 Houston Ward of Stonewall county put down 500 tons of cane silage in two trench silos and used it as roughage to feed out 300 steers. The silage, when marketed through the steers, brought him $9.40 a ton. He has already put down 788 tons of silage in three trench silos, and plans to fill three more trenches with an additional 700 tons.

In 1936, Swisher county farmers and dairymen dug and filled 22 silos. The results have been so good that the county agricultural agent estimates that as many as 100 trenches may be constructed in the county this fall.

Tri-State Fair To Be One of Largest

AMARILLO, Aug. 24 — Every day will be circus day at The Tri-State Fair here, September 20-25.

Besides afternoon and night performances throughout the week by the combined Al G. Barnes and Sells-Floto circus, there will be a daily rodeo staged by Beutler Brothers of Elk City, Okla., a spectacular night attraction in front of the grandstand, and the long midway packed with the carnival color of Crowley's United Shows on their first Texas engagement.

Entertainment features of the exposition's crystal celebration will be well-balanced with educational values and excellent exhibits.

In fact, prospects for the best exhibits and the keenest competition never were better, officials say.

The Tri-State Fair's livestock show this year will be the largest in Texas. A similar attraction planned originally as an October feature of the Greater Texas and Pan-American Exposition at Dallas has been cancelled.

Other departments will be equally complete.

Again this year the exposition officials have obtained the services of nationally-known judges to award more than $20,000 in cash premiums, guaranteed for payment in full.

Only 15 years old, The Tri-State Fair long has attracted record crowds. The attendance record, 60,000 men, women and children on the grounds in one day, probably will be broken this year.

"For its crystal celebration The Tri-State Fair will measure up to the time-worn yardstick of 'bigger and better' because crops are the best in five or six years, because business generally is improving steadily and because the exposition this year is offering more major attractions than any other time," said O. L. "Ted" Taylor, Secretary-Treasurer.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN.—On the eve of two or more special sessions of the 45th legislature, called primarily to raise more tax money, there is accumulating evidence thruout Texas that with the passing of the depression emergency, the people of Texas are inclining strongly toward a return to sanity in government. Legislators have been home and talked with the home folks. They have been reading the home newspapers. An able senate committee, with Holbrook of Galveston, Collie of Eastland, and Stone of Brenham, has been doing a yeoman service in digging into governmental waste and extravagance, and will have some pertinent recommendations to make to the legislature. Several special groups, including the All-South Development council, have been urging a taxation "breathing spell" so that business may resume activity, and new industrial enterprises be attracted to Texas.

Col. Ernest O. Thompson, a leading candidate for governor next year, has sounded a bold note by declaring that no new taxes are needed, and claiming that a little encouragement to new industry will develop business, and thus yield more revenue from existing imposts, than the strangling process of hiking existing taxes or thinking up new ones to drive business away.

COMMITTEE IS CONVINCED

The senate investigating committee has found some surprising things about appropriations for the departments, in a hurried inquiry. Apparently, many members of the legislature, voting for the biennial appropriation bills during the final rush of the regular session, did not even know what was in the bills. Departmental expenditures were hiked as much as 200 and 300 per cent over previous years. Some departments even got more money than they asked for. Salary adjustments were highly inequitable, ranging from 5 to 60 percent in some cases. The committee will recommend some revision of these extravagant appropriations, but is not altogether hopeful of getting favorable action.

"I have found out enough to know that I am not going to vote for any new taxes. We can largely wipe out the deficit by cutting expenses and by diligent effort in collecting delinquent taxes," said Sen. Stone. He cited one department whose expense jumped from $5000 to $70,000 since 1930, without any additional duties imposed on it by statute. The committee found that another department's expense had upped from $250,000 to a million; and that costs of collection special taxes ranges all the way from 2 per cent to 17 per cent.

"There isn't any doubt that the cost of government can and should be reduced. It may never be possible to reduce the present cost, but we certainly don't want it to grow," remarked Holbrook.

In this connection, there is a strong movement under way to postpone passage of enabling acts to put into effect the constitutional amendments adopted last week for state aid for dependent children and needy blind persons until the next regular session. The intervening time should be used, some legislators say, to study carefully existing laws on these subjects in other states. They point out that with hastily drafted legislation, rushed thru a special session, the cost of either project might skyrocket to totals exceeding the old age pension costs, which under a hurriedly enacted law now cost the state about $10,000,000 a year.

WHAT THEY SAY

Love In 'Midnight Court'

Ann Dvork and John Litel, who have the leading roles in the new Warner Bros. drama "Midnight Court," which opens at the Pastime Theatre on Thursday and Friday, September 9 and 10, bring to the screen a poignant picture of the drama and romance which centers around the police courts of every city, with the regeneration of a once prominent attorney who has been ruined by gangsters for its central theme.

the legislature:

Sen. Clint Small, Amarillo—"Schools, highways, departments and pensioners are getting plenty, and as to the deficit, why destroy such a valuable checkrein on spending? We have no serious complaints now, but new tax burdens would bring a flock of them."

Rep. Dallas Blankenship, Dallas—"There's no occasion to levy additional taxes before the regular session of 1939. We ought to give John Taxpayer a two-year breathing spell."

Railroad Commissioner E. O. Thompson—"Encourage industry instead of scaring it off with steadily mounting taxes, and the resulting expansion will take care of revenue needs."

Rep. Augustin Celaya, Brownsville—"Reduction of governmental cost is the only answer."

Rep. B. T. Johnson, Fort Worth—"Revenues are increasing rapidly due to improved conditions. . . This prosperity should not be hindered by punitive taxes. New taxes are entirely unnecessary."

Rep. Alfred Petsch, Fredericksburg—"The red was a life-saver to taxpayers. Otherwise the last legislature would have appropriated 50 millions more than it did, and even then it exceeded the speed limit. Let the deficit stand as a safety valve."

Similar expressions from Sen. Collie, of Eastland, Reps. Vernon Lemens, Rainbow, Rawlins Colquitt, Dallas, Merritt Gibson, of Longview and others indicate the widespread sentiment. Even Rep. Herman Jones, of Decatur, author of the franchise tax bill last session, which was defeated, now says "We don't need as much money as we thought at first."

Against this sentiment might be named Reps. G. C. Morris of Greenville, Edgar Keefe, of Palestine, and Marvin London of Montague, constituting a committee studying rural school aid, who favor a 4 per cent oil tax and increased natural resource levies. Then there are members of the pension liberalization bloc, who are committed to raising some additional pension revenue.

STONE SUGGESTION

Sen. Albert Stone has conceived a clever scheme to divert the "heat" from the pension partisans from the state to their local county officials. He advocates legislation to turn over the state's share of all delinquent taxes collected during the biennium to the old age pension fund. If that were done, the folks who want some pensions, or more pensions, might build a fire under some county tax collectors to go after the folks who don't pay their tax bills. They're all up for re-election next year, and very sensitive to the demands of the voters right now.

HERE FROM CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. John Knorpp of Long Beach, California arrived Monday night for a visit in the home of his father, Wesley Knorpp.

IS THERE A "NEOLECTRESS" IN YOUR HOME TODAY?

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 2 — What is believed to be the first concerted effort in the nation to eliminate from popular usage a name the majority of women resent, "housewife," today had resulted in the substitute word, "Neolectress."

It was defined as meaning "a modern home maker alert to this new electric age" and had the approval of Dr. Charles E. Funk, noted lexicographer of New York, who selected it from more than a thousand substitute names submitted in a campaign conducted by the West Texas Utilities Company over its 40,000 square-mile territory.

Mrs. Ben D. Parker, Abilene woman and a dog fancier, submitted the word. N-e-o, she pointed out, means "new." L-e-c-t-r-e-s-s, she said, suggests feminine usage of electricity.

The campaign was based on the theory that the word "housewife" has become obsolete due to the improved status of women.

"It is true," Dr. Funk said in announcing his selection of neolectress, "that the facilities for the effective management of the home have, within the past few years, become so notable as to remove—let us hope, forever—much of the ceaseless drudgery formerly a concomitant of that necessary field."

"My search for the winning name (neolectress) led me to seek a term that was not only new in every respect, but that would be formed with due regard to etymology and with a recognition of the fact that the chief agency in the relief of household drudgery is electricity."

Winner of second prize in the contest was Mrs. F. B. Probandt, of San Angelo, who entered the word "domestician." Third place was awarded Mrs. W. B. Bourland, of Oklaunion, with the entry, "homeologist."

Decision of Dr. Funk also were based on letters explaining usage of words.

Mrs. Parker's reward for her first place entry will be a super-duty Frigidaire; Mrs. Probandt receives her choice of a Hotpoint electric dishwasher or a Thor washing machine; and Mrs. Bourland will be presented with a Sunbeam Mixmaster.

Honorable mention and choice of smaller electric appliances will go to ten women; Mrs. Lee White, Dalhart; Mrs. O. R. Bodeen, Childress; Jane Yeager, Rochelle; Mrs. R. C. Roberts, Vernon; Mrs. W. N. Pipkin, Matador; Mrs. S. G. Jones, Abilene; Mrs. J. Dexter Eoff, Ballinger; Anna Mick, Mason; Mrs. R. H. Bounds, Stamford; and Mrs. R. R. Trimble, San Angelo.

The Rest of the Record

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

Several months ago, when the industrial North and East were paralyzed with sit-down strikes, I issued a statement that we were not going to have any confiscation of property in that fashion down here in Texas. I said I was convinced that the sit-down strike method did not represent the desires of an overwhelming majority of organized labor in our State; and that while I was and had always been friendly to organized labor, it was "un-American and unlawful to sit down on somebody's property and try to remain there." If a man wants to quit a job, or strike, he has a perfect right peaceably to do so; but after quitting he has no more right to sit down on property or premises without permission than he would have to sit down in a private home uninvited.

The people of Texas approved of my statement because it represented the sentiments of an overwhelming majority of them. We haven't had any sit-down strikes in Texas and have had very little labor troubles as compared to other states.

Now another unfortunate situation has developed. Recently in Dallas a man who was trying to show a pro-labor picture in a public park was kidnapped and taken out into the country by a bunch of hoodlums who tarred and feathered him. Another labor organizer was kidnapper and beaten so brutally that he was laid up in the hospital for over a week. Other outrages of a lesser nature were perpetrated and threats were freely being made as to what was going to be done with labor organizers.

Everyone concedes that labor has a right to organize and to select organizers and leaders of their own choosing. The freedom of speech and the right to assemble peaceably are guaranteed by both State and Federal Constitutions. The brutal treatment accorded these men in Dallas is indefensible. I recall a few years ago when the unfortunate Ku Klux epidemic broke out and many men were taken from their homes at night and flogged because they had violated the laws. The people of Texas rose up in their might and took the position that even if a man had violated the law he was entitled to trial in a courthouse and not in a creek bottom. Today it isn't even claimed that the men who were kidnapped or tarred and feathered were violating any law. All that was said by those who perpetrated the outrages was that the men belonged to the CIO. It isn't a violation of the laws of our country for these men to belong to the CIO, regardless of what we may think of that organization.

In my opinion, it is just as important to protect people from outrages of this kind as to prevent the taking of property from the rightful owners by the sit-down strike or other unlawful method. Because I didn't want to see the thing get started again in Texas I immediately sent twenty-five members of the State police to Dallas with instructions to protect men in their right to speak freely and to assemble lawfully. These officers are instructed not to take side in any controversy but simply to prevent violence on either side.

I was surprised to get a bunch of inspired telegrams apparently approving the treatment given these organizers because, the telegrams said, they were members of the CIO. I don't care to what organization they belong. If they violate any law they ought to be prosecuted for it; but no set of men has the right to take the law into their own hands and kidnap, or beat, or tar and feather, these men. I think the people of Texas are backing me up in this stand.

Since the State police went to Dallas these troubles have practically ceased. I am very hopeful that the situation will adjust itself without any further trouble.

I really wish the general public could know in detail the many fine things that have been accomplished by the Public Safety Department. I am particularly proud of the intelligence branch. In this division we have fingerprint, handwriting and ballistic experts. This has been a great help to local officers everywhere and, of course, has materially assisted the State in dealing with the more hardened type of criminal.

Just as illustrative of what has been done in the one field of ballistic work: As perhaps most of you know men from this department can take a bullet that has been fired and trace it to the gun that fired it by markings on the bullet. They have done this in many instances and solved cases that might otherwise have gone down as "perfect" crimes.

For instance, recently in one Texas town a man was murdered at night as he slept. He was not robbed, and officers were at a loss for a motive. They did, however, find shotgun shells of a certain type. They picked up every gun of this caliber in the little town and fired some test shells from them and sent these test shells together with the one found on the ground into Austin. The fired shells from each gun had been numbered and the experts in the Public Safety Department shortly advised that the shell with a certain number on it was from the same gun as that which fired the shells found at the scene of the crime. It was no trouble to trace the ownership of this shotgun and its use to a negro in the community who promptly confessed the crime. This is just one of a number of similar cases that illustrate how quickly the department can assist your local officers.

Some time ago I had occasion to use the handwriting experts. The State of Illinois had asked for extradition papers on a prominent citizen of this State on a charge of forgery alleged to have been committed in Illinois. The notary public who took the acknowledgment in Illinois identified this citizen and in an affidavit that he had seen him sign the instrument in question. While I was hearing the case I had the handwriting expert from the Public Safety Department to go over the alleged forged deed and compare it with samples of the defendant's handwriting; and before I could close the hearing these experts reported to me that without any question the defendant had not forged the deed. You can imagine how grateful these people were to our Department of Public Safety for the service, which cleared the name of a good citizen of Texas.

From time to time I shall try to tell you more of the work of this department and other departments of the State Government in which I think you may be interested.

Advertising Manager
West Texas Utilities Co.,
Abilene, Texas.

Dear Sir:
The purpose of the contest that your Company arranged is one that should appeal to every American woman, for it is true that the facilities for the effective management of the home have, within the past few years, become so notable as to remove -- let us hope, forever -- much of the ceaseless drudgery formerly a concomitant of that necessary field. Science and invention, I am sure, will shortly find ways to eliminate the few remaining onerous duties. It is, therefore, indeed high time that the term formerly synonymous with household drudgery be relegated to the limbo of forgotten things.

Accordingly, I have examined with the greatest interest all the entries that you sent me by airmail. I can not be certain, naturally, that any of them would become the one term that will be received by American women as a permanent and acceptable substitute for the outmoded term housewife. I think, therefore, that your plan to offer a selected list of prize-winning terms is the wise procedure, thereby suggesting possible lines which may lead to a term -- perhaps altogether new -- that may be generally accepted.

I regret that a great many of the entries seemed to me altogether too flamboyant and fanciful for even brief consideration. Others, tho the contestants may not have realized it, were terms already employed in our language with far different meanings. Others were altogether dependent upon the correct pronunciation for their significance.

My search for the winner of the contest led me to seek a term that was not only new in every respect, but that would be formed with due regard to etymology and with a recognition of the fact that the chief agency in the relief of household drudgery is electricity. This word I found in Neoelectress, coined by Mrs. Ben D. Parker, of Abilene, Texas.

For second choice, I have selected the entry of Mrs. F. B. Probandt, of San Angelo, whose word is Domestician. My third choice is the entry of Mrs. W. B. Bourland, of Oklaunion, whose word is Homeologist. The remaining selections, in the order of my preferences, are attached hereto.

Very truly yours,
Charles Earle Funk
Charles Earle Funk.

Do you like "Neoelectress"? Ne-o means new. Le-c-t-r-i-c-i-t-y has the feminine ending and suggests electricity. Taken together, the word suggests a modern home maker alert to this new electric age. Dr. Funk, in his letter, says "the chief agency in the relief of household drudgery is electricity." Thus, we define "neoelectress" as meaning "a modern woman freed of kitchen drudgery by Electric Servants." The name is being copyrighted with that definition.

The contest was successful because it attracted attention to the improved status of West Texas women. A thousand women specifically said they dislike the name "housewife." However, it is more difficult than we at first thought to find a suitable substitute. But we like "Neoelectress" better the more we think about it. We hope you will. To all entrants we express sincere gratitude for their help. We only wish there could have been prizes enough to go all the way round!

Happy but almost speechless was Mrs. Ben D. Parker, 2126 Grape Street, Abilene, when shown the super-duty Frigidaire her entry in the "name-a-housewife" contest had won. "I need it, too," she told Harold D. Austin, who made the presentation. Thoughtful of Mr. Austin, who sells the refrigerator, she obligingly added: "Every woman needs a Frigidaire!"

All members of the party say that they met with the utmost in cordiality and welcome from the Mexican officials and people in general, that living costs were low, and the scenery and interest of the county was truly wonderful.

The trip, including side-trips totaled 4,000 miles, and Mr. White says it would be difficult to travel the same number of miles and stay the same length of time anywhere else for the same cost. They were gone twelve days.

Jewish Holiday To Be Observed

Arrival of the Jewish New Year, 5698, according to the Hebrew Calendar which dates back to Creation, will be celebrated Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 6 and 7 and consequently, Mellinger & Rosenwasser will remain closed both days. Rosh Hashana, or New Year's Day, begins September 6.

Tones of the Shophar, or ram's horn, will call Jewry of the world to a three-fold duty of penitence, prayer and religious action, the penitence season's climax being reached on the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur or "Sabbath of Sabbaths," September 15, when, according to tradition, the judgement is sealed.

The observance of the New Year has ancient origin and finds its basis for Judaism in a Biblical command found many places in the Sacred Writ. In the book of Leviticus, it reads:

"In the seventh month, in the first day of the month, shall be a solemn rest unto you, a memorial proclaimed with the blast of the trumpet, a holy convocation." The first day of Tishri, the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar, coincides this year with September 6.

L. Mellinger, owner of Mellinger-Rosenwasser, announces that the store will re-open Wednesday morning.

Tense Story Of Midnight Court

"Midnight Court," a melodrama whose characters are introduced to the audience at one of those new type of police tribunals, will be the featured offering today at the Pastime Theatre, with the popular Ann Dvorak in the starring role.

It is typical of those timely, out-of-the-headlines pictures which Warner Bros. turn out so well. John Litel, an excellent actor who recently left Broadway for Hollywood, has the featured male role. Ann plays the part of a court stenographer who is horrified when one of the vagabonds in the lineup turned out to be the brilliant lawyer who was once her husband.

Litel's regeneration with Ann's aid, his exposure, and the breaking up of a gang of automobile thieves that has been terrorizing the city, is the theme.

Frank McDonald, directed "Midnight Court." The support includes Carlyle Moore, Jr., Gordon Elliott, Gordon Hart, William Davidson, Lyle Moraine and Joan Woodbury.

M. Lane, fifth grade.

DR. POND SPEAKS ON CONSERVATION

BRINGS INSPIRING ADDRESS TO LIONS CLUB RELATIVE TO OPPORTUNITIES.

Returning vacationists brought the Lions Club attendance up to a normal level Tuesday at its regular weekly luncheon at the Clarendon Hotel, with President H. T. Burton in the chair.

Due to another engagement Rev. C. B. Stephenson was introduced early in the hour for a song, presenting "Pass It On" in his rich vibrant tenor, with Miss Wiedeman at the piano. Rev. Stephenson of Houston, is here leading the song service at the Baptist Revival.

Coach "Chesty" Walker of the local high school was presented to the Club by Program Chairman Drennan, and made a short talk on the football situation in Clarendon. He impressed the membership by his open, frank presentation of the "green" squad he is tutoring, and asked for the backing of the men of the town, in the face of a showing likely to be short of the hopes of the fans for a winning team in the early games of the season.

Dr. W. Y. Pond of Waco, state evangelist of the Baptist Church, here in a revival at the First Baptist Church of Clarendon, was presented as the speaker of the day, choosing as his subject "Conservation." He discussed the subject as relating to health, education, commerce, natural resources and spiritual. Dr. Pond brought a fine array of facts relative to the undeveloped resources of Texas, and pled for a concerted effort to bring capital and immigration to Texas for the manufacture of her own raw materials and the enrichment of our own state, rather than shipping out our products to be processed and sold back to us at prices profitable to other sections.

In no less graphic manner the speaker brought out the need for spiritual "conservation" of every worthy element of life, if we are to really progress and enjoy a lasting prosperity. "We need less corruption; no more of it," declared the speaker, "We need to turn to God; not away from Him, if we are to be happy and successful, for there's no other lasting foundation in this life nor the life to come." Dr. Pond's address was one of the best addresses the Club has heard for many, many months, and the membership appreciated the complimentary things he had to say about Clarendon and the Club.

Lion Jerome Kerby, who is leaving Clarendon to teach at Trinity University at Waxahachie, made a short talk of appreciation for the citizenship here and the Lions Club, saying he would miss the Lions more than any one element in his relationships here.

Next Tuesday's program will be put on by the football committee, headed by Dr. A. W. Hicks.

Presbyterians To Change Services

The First Presbyterian Church is reversing the usual procedure of Sunday morning church services as an experiment to increase attendance, the Reverend Robt. S. McKee said yesterday.

This plan has been tried by many denominations throughout this section and has been found altogether successful.

Instead of the separate Sunday School and church programs, the Presbyterians will combine them into one continuous program with morning worship beginning at 10:30 o'clock, the sermon at 11 o'clock, Sunday school lessons by classes at 11:30 and adjournment at 12 o'clock.

The combined program will not be much longer than either of the separate programs under the former arrangement.

Reporting for practice twice daily the last two weeks, some fifteen CHS boys have been training strenuously in preparation for the coming football season.

As yet the boys have not been having scrimmage practice due to the limited number reporting. Coach Walker expects more boys out by the last of the week and when school starts Monday, however. The Bronchos have been getting a fast set up of calisthenics, thorough coaching in the fundamental points of blocking and tackling, and practice in kicking, passing, and handling the ball.

Coach Walker has not yet placed the boys in any respective positions, but from those boys now reporting, the 1937 Broncho lineup would probably be selected from the following: Backfield: B. Cooke, J. McGowen, B. Allison, B. Pierce, R. McWhorter; Line: Ends, J. Warren, M. Wilson, J. H. Green, R. Palmer; tackles, D. Robinson, C. Huffman; guards, D. Mears, B. Longdon, B. Taylor; center, H. L. Lane. This lineup is incomplete as yet for more boys will be reporting when school starts, including possibly J. Watters, last year letterman, and J. Grady.

The following is a list of the CHS boys now reporting for practice regularly with their weight and classification.

Name	Wt.	Classification
J. McGowen	163	Sr.
B. Cooke	145	Sr.
Max Wilson	130	Sr.
J. H. Green	159	Sr.

F. McClenny	145	Fr.
G. Vineyard	118	Fr.

Others who have reported occasionally included Curtis Jones, Herman Higgins, Jr. Parker, Raymond Harp, Tick Barbee, and Oscar Butler.

From this list it can be seen there are few seniors and many lower classmen. This means an inexperienced team this year. At present there are only two lettermen, J. McGowen and B. Cooke. How this team of inexperienced men can stand up against the more experienced teams of the district as Wellington, McLean, and Memphis is yet to be determined, of course. All of these teams with lettermen back and especially Wellington with eight lettermen returning will be strong contenders for the crown.

It is too early as yet to predict the comparative strength of the Bronchos, but with the opening of school Monday, fall training and scrimmage practice will begin in earnest. By the opening of the first game of the season with the Claude Mustangs here on September 17, the Bronchos will have rounded into a neat little machine. The squad will take to the field in the new uniforms that arrived some weeks ago. Besides the playing suits to be used only in games, the boys have twenty-two new practice uniforms to be used in working out. It is certain the boys have a hard schedule before them, but who knows how it will turn out. So, we say, "we will see what we will see."

The following schedule has been posted:

September 17—Bronchos vs. Claude Mustangs, Here, (non conference).

September 24—Bronchos vs. Wellington Skyrockets, There, (conference).

C. D. MURPHY FINDS HORN KNOWS HORSES BETTER

C. D. Murphy purchased a new 1937 Ford coupe and when his buddy, Joe Horn, who formerly punched cattle with Mr. Murphy way back there on the JA's, asked to drive the car, Mr. Murphy recalled the many times he had loaned Horn his horse, and consented. Horn drove up and stopped to talk with Elmer Palmer, put his foot on the accelerator after he had stopped and sped off at a terrific speed, leaving Palmer agast. Horn contended he intended to make such a get-away, but Murphy declares the system is all wrong as Palmer shouldn't have been left talking. Murphy has promised his horse to Mr. Horn next time.
