Where is our pride?

From the board that brought devastation to the trees in City Park, now comes the destruction of a downtown landmark.

The Clarendon Board of Aldermen voted last week to solicit bids for the demolition of the old Antro Hotel - the building at the corner of First and Kearney, which has been vacant for decades.

The city acquired the building several years ago and has offered to sell it many times. But, each time someone buys it, nothing happens, and it reverts back to the city. Several weeks ago, some pieces of capstone fell off the north side of the building. That was the cause of the aldermen deciding last week "Ah, heck. Let's tear it down."

It takes more leadership to preserve and build than it does to tear down and destroy. But you can't really blame the men on the Board of Aldermen. They are simply a reflection of our community, elected by us to represent us. Looking at the state of our downtown area, I'd say the aldermen represent us pretty well.

It is obvious that we as a community have no pride in our downtown. You need look no further than City Hall to see this. The building's second floor windows are closed up, Christmas lights hang limply from the building, and paint peels from the columns under the portico despite a recent paint job. The old tile roof was replaced with sheet metal a few years back - which would probably look okay on a fast food restaurant but doesn't do much for a seat of government. And there is some contraption that looks like a cheap storage building attached to the west side of the building. All in all, it looks pretty shabby.

But again, City Hall reflects our community, for over on main street, things aren't much better. West Texas Utilities, for example, put on a big show three years ago about economic development, but that company won't even fix its historic neon sign. And over the past several years, brick facades up and down Kearney Street have been buried under stucco (again like City Hall), and many storefronts have been hidden behind huge metal awnings. The newspaper office is no exception; the wood siding of our storefront is not nearly so attractive as the brick hotel across the street.

Recently I made two road trips down state to College Station and Austin. There are many small towns along the way, and what sets them apart is how they look. Some places are clearly occupied with people who take pride in their community and who have made strides to preserve and restore their historic buildings. Other communities look run down and appear as though the citizens living there have no pride.

Buildings used to be designed with an eye for aesthetics and were built of brick and stone to last for generations. It can be said unequivocally that if the old hotel is razed, no building of its kind will ever take its place. Even today in its run down state, the three-story structure has more majesty and beauty in its masonry than the ENTERPRISE office will ever have in its false wooden front. Drive by sometime and look at the detail and the care that the craftsmen put into that old hotel. But look fast, for soon it will be gone.

If something is built in the hotel's spot, it will most probably be a metal building. That, after all, is the style of today - metal buildings that look like barns rather than buildings of substance. I know that I would much rather look out the front of my office to see the old hotel than to see a barn or a vacant lot.

Perhaps I'm alone on this one, but I don't think we really need another hole in the line of storefronts downtown.

What do you think, readers? Will Clarendon ever appreciate and preserve its historic buildings? Is there no way for our community to save landmarks like the Antro Hotel? Or are vacant lots and dilapidated buildings to be our town's future? Send your comments on this subject to the Enterprise, and we'll print them in a future issue.

About our new layout

Welcome to the re-designed ENTERPRISE. After three years (and some constructive criticism from our peers at the press convention), we decided to give the paper a facelift, and this is the first issue to feature our "new look."

In many ways, it's the same old ENTERPRISE, but we've included some changes that we hope you will appreciate. Hopefully, it will be now easier to find your way around the newspaper and more pleasing to the eye.

One new feature we hope everyone will appreciate is "Que Pasa" - your guide to "what's happening." "Que Pasa" is essentially a community calendar you can clip out and keep track of the goings on in Donley County. In the coming weeks, we also hope to provide you with expanded news coverage as well as more community news columns like Cynthia Hall's new Howardwick column.

Let us know what you think of these changes as we continue our efforts to bring you a quality newspaper every week.

Editorials are published periodically by the Enterprise when the Editor or worthy guest editorialist has something to say. Warning labels have been attached because a few readers found these columns to be "biased" or "opinionated." But then Editors and "Opinion" pieces usually are.

Barbie aging well to be 40 years old

An American icon has just celebrated her 40th birthday. Barbie's perfect plastic features have appeared to children year after year, decade after decade.

For being forty years old, Barbie has aged exceptionally well. Just how has she maintained that remarkable figure? Maybe she's secretly using a girdle, Wonder Bra, and Lycra underwear to hide the bumps, bulges, and cellulite that attack every woman. Or perhaps she's doing Tae-Bo or taking up kick-boxing to firm and tone that body.

I want to know where Barbie purchases her face cream and cosmetics. It too must be good stuff, as Barbie is devoid of crow's feet, wrinkles, laugh lines, blemishes, freckles, and dark circles under the eyes. Barbie's make-up is always just right, as well. She never has too much on and has yet to experience the embarrassing lipstick-on-the-teeth situation. And Barbie is the only one who can get away with wearing bright blue eye shadow, even though it went out of style in the late '70s.

I do believe that Barbie is coloring her hair. She surely should have some gray hair by now or at least lose her California on the Mark

with Christi Rose

bleached blonde color. She could be using hair extensions or even a wig. As many hairstyles as Barbie has had in the last 40 years, she has surely suffered some hair damage.

Barbie has kept busy with her career. Her résumé is impressive and quite lengthy. She's worked as a doctor, nurse, surfer, beautician, princess, mermaid, and cowgirl. Don't forget she's also posed as a flight attendant, teacher, astronaut, and burger flipper at McDonald's. The girl owns everything from fur coats to ball gowns. Barbie is a true slave to fashion.

But what about Barbie and Ken? Are they really an item or just good friends? Personally, I think Barbie is afraid of the "C" word... commitment. Poor Ken, in his sexy molded hair and deep tan, has been waiting around on Barbie for years now: Maybe Barbie's just stringing him along and letting him pay for her Malibu dream house, pink Corvette, and stylish, inflatable furniture. She may be just waiting around until another leading plastic man comes her way.

I tried to fix her up with G.I. Joe, but he was too much of a brute. My Luke Skywalker doll was pretty smitten with Barbie, and I was sure we'd have a wedding. That was the plan until my sister got the Princess Leia doll. Nothing was quite the same after that. Luke and Leia really had more in common, anyway.

Barbie may not settle down with Ken for another reason. Maybe she doesn't like boys, after all. If you think about it, she is always with her girlfriends and little Skipper. Hmm - 40 years old, good-looking, popular, and not married. Rev. Jerry Falwell will want to protest Barbie now. She has always been trendy, and some say being "different" is now cool. Golly, I hope not.

Anyway, happy birthday, Barbie. You have provided countless hours of fun for little girls, and boys too, for generations. I just hope to look as good as you when my turn at forty rolls around.

Remember those who gave so much

A few months ago, I was contacted by the families of three veterans from our area who had served in World Wars I and II. The veterans are William Kuykendall and Truman Nance, both of Amarillo, and Howard McGowen of Brownwood.

Unfortunately, these men are no longer with us. But their memories are. And it was in keeping with their memories that their families wanted to know one simple thing - after all these years, are these men due any commendations or medals for their service to our country during the war?

I contacted the personnel and records office at the Defense Department and

Issue Update

with Rep. Mac Thornberry

found out that, yes, these men were due some medals. In fact, they were due a number of them. So this past Friday, I hosted a ceremony in my Amarillo office and presented the medals these men had earned to their families.

The awards included a Purple Heart for Mr. Kuykendall for wounds he received while fighting in Champagne, France, in October of 1918, an American Campaign medal for Mr. Nance for his service in Central Europe during World War II, and a World War II Victory Medal for Mr. McGowen for his efforts also in Central Europe and during the Rhineland Campaign.

Memorial Day is a time to pay tribute to the millions of Americans who have given their lives in service to our country. But it's also a good time to remember the millions more who have risked their lives, and recommit ourselves to not take for granted the freedom and security that every veteran gave so much to defend.

Please don't feed the trial lawyers

Stop the taxation through litigation scheme

By Texas CSE Director Peggy Venable

Congress will soon return to Washington and set in motion an unprecedented lawsuit. In particular, the congressional committees that appropriate our tax dollars will vote as early as the week of the June 7 on whether to allow the Justice Department to spend $20 million of our tax dollars to sue the tobacco companies. If successful, this lawsuit would mark an unparalleled end-run around the Constitution to raise taxes.

Article I, Section 7 of the Constitution states that "All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives..." Article I, Section 9 states that "No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law..." Our Founding Fathers made plain their intention that Congress, not the executive or judiciary, be the branch of government with the power to raise and spend money. They also insisted that any bill introduced to raise revenue must originate among the members of the House of Representatives - the branch of government most accountable to the people.

The Clinton Administration tried unsuccessfully last year to pass a tobacco tax hike. This effort came on the heels of Attorney General Janet Reno's 1997 admission to the Senate Judiciary Committee that "the federal government does not have an independent cause of action [to sue the tobacco companies]." Having been denied the revenue by Congress, the administration is now turning to the courts.

Former Labor Secretary Robert Reich admitted in February "Many legal experts doubt the federal government has the authority to launch such a lawsuit [against the tobacco companies]. But that is irrelevant. The lawsuit would be a bargaining chip for settling the case. The administration wants cigarette makers to agree to a 55¢ a pack tax..." Reich went on to explain that "the era of regulation through litigation has just begun," listing a number of other industries the administration also is targeting through lawsuits.

To finance this unprecedented action against the tobacco industry, the Justice Department is seeking $20 million, which primarily would be used to hire 40 new lawyers to determine how and where to launch their "taxation through litigation" scheme. In fact, the administration has already hired some of the same trial lawyers who are receiving billions of dollars from the state tobacco lawsuits.

Congress should not allow the administration to waste tax dollars to help the trial lawyers extract another multi-billion dollar pay out. In fact, given that we have a budget surplus of $107 billion this year alone, and a projected surplus of $2.6 trillion over 10 years, it seems particularly inappropriate for the administration to be attempting to raise any taxes to fund a further dramatic expansion of government.

Moreover, we should all be fearful of whom the government will target next: alcohol, red meat, pharmaceuticals, junk food, automobiles, power boats, chemicals - the list goes on and on. It may be "politically correct" to attack tobacco these days, but, as Thomas Paine once said, "He that would make his own liberty secure must guard even his enemy from oppression; for if he violates this duty, he establishes a precedent that will reach himself."

Our forefathers gave their lives opposing taxation without representation, and we should respect that hard-fought principle that led to our Constitution's provisions limiting the power to tax. Congress should not appropriate any money toward financing the administration's proposed tax-and-spend end-run of the legislative process and hold the president to his sworn duty to uphold the Constitution.

Grasshoppers:

Grasshopper egg hatch begins in late April to early May, but because of the mild 1998-1999 winter, grasshoppers are hatching out earlier this year, he said.

Before control methods are undertaken, he said, it should be determined whether populations pose a threat to crops or forage. Control is considered to be necessary if there are 21-40 grasshoppers per square yard in margins of fields and 8-14 grasshoppers in fields.

Hoelscher explained that if a non-insecticide treatment is desired, there are some baits - marketed as Semaspore, Nolo Bait or Grasshopper Attack - available. A wheat-bran bait can be made with Sevin SLR to help protect gardens and landscape plants.

These baits kill some nymphs but not adults, but infected adults lay fewer eggs. The baits also work slowly, he said.

Also, Hoelscher said, Diazinon, Malathion, and Sevin are labeled for both trees and shrubs and gardens. For rangeland, choices include Malathion, Malathion ULV, Penncap M, Sevin 4 Oil, and Sevin. Those labeled for use on non-cropland include Asana XL, Diazinon, Malathion ULV, Orthene, Sevin 4 Oil, and Sevin.

Summer Reading Club in progress at library

Hey, kids! Texas Summer Reading Club is in progress at Burton Memorial Library and waiting for ages five through sixth grade to join the fun. Many have begun reading favorite books and are logging their reading time. They are already choosing prizes for every two hours of reading.

Special outstanding programs will be presented each Tuesday afternoon from 3:00-4:00 through June. And what treat they will be!

Carolyn Myers will introduce the exciting program series on June 8 with two of her 20 llamas she has raised. Her work with these domesticated animals, beginning seven years ago, has produced a Grand Champion at Houston Livestock Show and a Reserve Grand Champion in San Antonio. She has secured llamas from California, Oregon, and other United States areas. High interest will dominate as she relates experiences and informs her audience of llamas' pet quality, fiber in their wool products, and various uses as packers, sheep guards, and companions.

June 15, Gayle Hamby's group of eight talented and professionally dressed 12-15 year-old young ladies will perform stories in pantomime. Stephanie Fowler, Melissa McAnear, Shanna Shelton, Natalie Cook, Megan Roberts, Danielle Sandefur, Trisha Church, and Vanna Holton, will mime to religious music. The ecumenical group has entertained in Lawton, Oklahoma, Amarillo, and other Pan-handle towns since they organized last summer. Reading Club members will delight as a wonderful story unfolds in this extraordinary way.

June 22 promises another exceptional afternoon as FSA Farm Loan Manager, Larry Goetze, brings to life the era of "mountain men" in a most unique presentation. Well-scholarred, he will entertainingly demonstrate authentic situations in "mountain man's" adventurous life, temporarily drawing your children "back in time" to this colorful historical period.

Many children will remember Joan Barton's interesting dog care program last summer. She returns June 29 to focus on basic obedience demonstrations in dog training. She became interested in dog obedience while in high school and has attended classes in Oklahoma, Amarillo, and San Antonio. In 1979, she worked with Bob and Vera Lee Andis. She currently maintains her "All-Breed Dog Grooming" business in Clarendon while continuing dog obedience training.

In addition to these exciting programs, crafts and movies are also included.

Parents, hopefully, you will encourage your youngsters' participation in this worthwhile reading program to benefit and increase their summer enjoyment. Incidentally, we don't have to be children to enjoy these special presentations, do we? I certainly plan to be there. How about you? Why not check it out?

Mary Green, thanks for your constant work and interest in our community's benefit as Burton Memorial Library's helpful and considerate librarian. Our best wishes remain with you.

'Castle' to be featured on tour

By Sandra Minatrea

This week, the upcoming Donley County Senior Citizens Tour of Homes highlights the beautiful residence of Steve and Terry Stavenhagen, purchased from Virgil Welch in 1998 and located on farm to market road 2162.

The Stavenhagens have completely remodeled the 3200 square foot area of the "Castle", so-named for its Victorian features. Five workable fireplaces with hand carved mantels and Italian tile, as well as other attractions of historical interest, integrate with Steve's and Terry's own modern impressions which will charm tour visitors.

Mary Beth Nelson has interviewed each "tour" homeowner and has done a wonderful job writing both the captions for the home pictures and the descriptions of each home for THE CLARENDON ENTERPRISE articles. Mary Beth is also compiling a brochure of each home to be available to tour visitors. Along with the "Castle," the homes of Mr. & Mrs. Trey Chamberlain, Dr. & Mrs. John Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hedrick will also be shown on this year's Tour of Homes.

Tickets are $5.00 and are available at the Donley County Senior Citizens.

Robertson Funeral Home, Harlan's Flowers & Gifts, and the Brass Lantern made donations to the Donley County Senior Citizens last week. The cash donations will be used to fund our home delivery meal program. Gift certificates and other items will be used as fundraisers and bingo prizes. We certainly appreciate the support of the great people of Clarendon!

Mattie Roberts won the fishing pole donated by Lakeside Marina and the shed kit donated by Harold Wright. We appreciate Donnie & Linda Carol for donating a television set.

Our sympathy goes out to the family of John Judd and to the family of H. R. King.

Plans are being made for the Donley County Senior Citizens 25th Anniversary which will be in April 2000. We hope the public will join past and present Donley County Senior Citizens volunteers, board members, and staff in making this occasion very special. Mary Beth Nelson will soon begin collecting information about the center's history for the an-

Obituaries

Serviss

Gladys Wright Serviss died May 21 in Trinidad, Colorado, following a lengthy illness. She was one of the ten children of the late Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Wright, Sr., a prominent pioneer family of Donley County.

She won numerous honors while attending the local high school. She excelled in Home Economics both in high school and at West Texas State. With her outstanding innate ability, she chose to teach young girls how to cook and sew. Gladys was richly blessed with an innovative mind and the ability to implement her ideas.

She did post graduate work at Colorado A & M, Adams State University (Colorado), and Montana University. She taught a total of twenty years in Texas, Arkansas, Montana, and Colorado. She also worked for Farm Security and did Home Demonstration work.

Complicated health problems during the past twenty years limited her activities and communication with others, yet she possessed an unparalleled stamina in spite of the situation. She was truly a survivor of the fittest.

She is survived by one brother, (Bud), C.A. Wright, Clarendon; three sisters, Dorothy Leggett, Lubbock; LaVerne Greene, Palestine; Fannie Daugherty, Chula Vista, California, nieces, and nephews.

She graduated from New Deal High School in 1947 and earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics at Texas Tech in 1952. She continued her education throughout her life by earning certification in Math from Angelo State University and Reading Specialist endorsement from Sul Ross State University. She married John Garlon Freeman.

Mary was a member of the Lubbock Primitive Baptist Church. She was a retired schoolteacher who during her career taught in various capacities in the public schools including home economics, math, and reading.

She is preceded in death by her parents; three brothers, Garland, Eugene, and Dewey Flinn; one sister, Ila Mae Jackson; and a granddaughter, Meagan McFarland.

She is survived by her husband; three sons, Dale Freeman of Abilene, Leon Freeman of Lohn, and Jesse Freeman of Lubbock; one daughter, Jennifer Priestly of Plymouth, MN; one brother, W.R. "Randell" Flinn of Abernathy; three sisters, Vee Flinn of Lubbock, Wilda Myers of Lubbock, and Donnell King of Atlanta, TX; and nine grandchildren.

The family request donations be made to the Lubbock Primitive Baptist Church, American Cancer Society, or Hospice of Lubbock.

Moore makes Sergeant plus other honors

Aaron Shawn Moore, 22-year-old son of Phillip Terry and Sherry (Shaw) Moore formerly of Clarendon, now of Spearman, has made rank of sergeant in the US Marine Corps.

Sgt. Moore is assigned with India Battery-Fifth Battalion, 10th Marines-2nd Marine Division at the Marine Corps Base, Camp LeJeune, North Carolina. He was pinned with his sergeant stripes just before he came home on a recent two-week leave. On June 2, he will be sent on his second tour to Okinawa, which will last six months.

Moore recently spent one month in Norway doing special forces cold weather training in February and March. This was the coldest winter Norway has ever had. At one point it was 78 degrees below zero. He kept warm by thinking of Texas.

Shawn has been in the Marines since May 1996, having graduated from Spearman High School in 1995, where he was a standout football player for the Lynx. He attended West Texas A&M University for one year.

Shawn has done very well to make sergeant in three years. He has earned numerous awards. Two of the most outstanding are the Naval Marine Merit Award from his commanding officer and letters of commendation from his commander general.

After December 1, Moore will be stationed at Quinato, Virginia, where he will be assigned to the special security training center. At this time he is in artillery and is a radioman. In 2000, he will finish his work with the Marines and earn a college degree.

While on leave, Moore visited his grandparents, H.C. and Joan Shaw as well as his great aunt, Jane Hillman. He also spent two days in Farwell with his sister Billie Jo Moore Pierson, his fifteen-month-old niece Megan, and brother-in-law Wayne Pierson.

Shawn is the grandson of Billie Jean Roberts of Streetman, Texas, and the grandson of the late L.P. (Bud) Moore of Clarendon. Michael Moore, formerly of Clarendon, is his uncle.

While he is overseas, Shawn's family requests your prayers for his safety and that he not be sent to Yugoslavia.

Avoid these five 'money wasters'

By Sue Church, County FCS Agent

Too often it is the small items that erode our paychecks such as cokes, donuts, coffee, cigarettes, etc. They quickly add up over time, and the money would be much better placed in a savings instrument earning interest for our retirement. These habits often involve cash but what about expenses tied to our use of credit. Consider passing up on the following "money wasters:."

Credit Repair. Credit repair firms often promise to remove negative credit information from your credit report for a fee—often hundreds of dollars. Save your money. If information is accurate, good or bad, it will stay on your report for seven years, bankruptcies for 10 years. You can't pay to have it removed. If information is inaccurate you can have it removed free of charge by contacting the credit bureau. They must begin investigation and respond to you within 30 days. You can also write a 100-word statement of explanation.

Credit Card Insurance. Save the $25 this gimmick costs. The service contacts all your credit card issuers if your cards are lost or stolen to protect you against unauthorized billing. You can make these calls to the credit card companies yourself. Please note you are only responsible for a maximum of $50 of fraudulent charges.

Skip a Payment Plan. At certain times of the year, creditors will often allow you to skip a payment. However, skipping a payment doesn't mean you skip the interest. It accumulates and will be added to next month's bill.

Credit Life Insurance. If you have adequate life insurance, this coverage is money down the drain. Lenders push credit insurance that will pay off what is owed if you die or become disabled.

Bi-Weekly Mortgage Payment Companies. It's true, you can shorten your mortgage and reduce mortgage payments. But you don't have to pay a company for the service. You can do it yourself simply by making one extra payment per year—instead of 12. Divide your mortgage payment by 12. Add this amount to your monthly payment. Specify that you want it applied to the principal.

For more financial management information contact the Donley County Extension Service at 874-2141 and inquire about the Money 2000 Plus program.

Chamber to host Panhandle Tourism Marketing Council

By Judy Burlin

It's Clarendon's turn to host the monthly meeting of the Panhandle Tourism Marketing Council and provide lunch for the area members.

The meeting will be at 11:30 a.m. in the Bairfield Center on Tuesday, June 15, 1999. Speaker will be H. Keith Pate, who is the director of the top 44 counties for the Texas Wildlife Association. The topic of discussion will be hunting, management and enhancement of wildlife, and wildlife habitat.

Popular singer, Michael Martin Murphy will be the special guest of the Chamber of Commerce during the Fourth of July activities and will ride his white horse in the parade. The chamber will provide a lot of fun games and activities for kids and adults during the celebration. Rumor has it that the Space Walk of Oklahoma is one of the games.

On Saturday, June 26, 1999, the Amarillo Rattler's Hockey Club will visit Clarendon as one of its first cities on the "Rattlers Summer Hockey Tour." A hockey clinic will be held for forty kids in the portable 50x100 foot roller/street hockey rink at B&R Thriftway parking lot from 10:00 a.m. until noon.

Jerry H. Green resigned from the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District Board in March. He had served as Precinct 5 Director, representing the major portion of Donley County, since January 1992. On April 22, the Board of Directors and staff honored Jerry with a dinner. Following the dinner, board president John Spearman presented Jerry with a commemorative plaque.

The Board of Directors of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District has appointed Jason Green to fill the unexpired term of Director Jerry Green. Jason, Jody, and their daughter Kaysea reside six miles northeast of Clarendon, where he is engaged in farming. He is also employed at James F. Hayes & Company. Jason will serve as Precinct 5 Director until the next regularly scheduled election in that precinct.

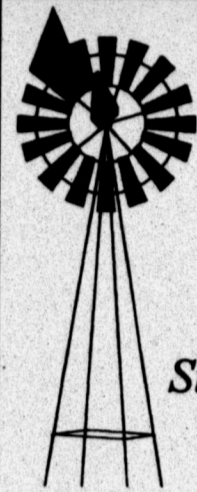

The 4-H Clover Kids held their final meeting on April 26. Laban Tubbs transported the kids on a hayride to and from the Tubbs Ranch. The kids enjoyed several games, received attendance awards, and had a hotdog cookout. Pictured are Sue Church, Laban Tubbs, Leon Church, and Amy Auker serving the hot dogs and goodies. Basketball League to start

The Clarendon High School basketball coaches will be sponsoring a summer Greenbelt Basketball League that will begin on Thursday, June 3, at 4 p.m. in the high school gyms.

The league will include several high school teams from around the area as well as five teams from Clarendon. Fifteen girls' teams and eight boys' teams have registered to play.

Games will be played every Monday and Thursday night beginning at 4 p.m. throughout the month of June. An end of season tournament and shooting contest is scheduled for Thursday and Friday, July 1 and 2.

The Greenbelt League has special rules to make play move faster and to emphasize what the league is really about fun. Two 20-minute halves will be played in each game. The clock will stop only during the final minute of the half if the score is within 10 points. Anytime a team has a lead of 20 points, the clock keeper will "blank" the scores to prevent a team from embarrassment. Each team coach is encouraged to see that players are getting equal playing time.

The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce will be holding a raffle for a gift basket filled with items from different Clarendon retailers each night of the league. The basket will be given away on the final night of play, July 2.

Admission is free to the public for all of the league games. Everyone is encouraged to come support these athletes and get your summertime high school basketball fix.

THANK YOU

On Thursday, May 27, 1999, I got my pickup stuck on the ranch road to Lonesome Cedar Ranch. I decided to walk to the ranch to get a jeep and lost my direction. When trying to return to the road I got lost and ended up on the McLean highway bridge, eight hours and 30 miles later.

I would like to express my appreciation to those that found me and aided in the search: Sheriff Jimmy Thompson; Cheryl Phillips and Clairece Hoggatt of the Sheriff's Department; Troopers Tony Polito and Jerry Morris; Deputies - Butch Blackburn, Jake Longan, Steve Schoolcraft, and Frank Palmer; Donley County Fire Department; ambulance crew and EMT Ladonna Bradley and Debra Hill; Texas Ranger Gary Henderson; Panhandle Search and Rescue teams; Wandell Luttrell, who flew his ultra lite plane; Neal Koetting for pulling the truck out; and all the folks on horseback and three and four wheelers.

The efforts of these people and others I don't know and didn't get to meet that made me proud to live in this area. Jimmy Thompson, according to my wife, is a great organizer and an excellent example of what a sheriff should be. This including being a fine, caring human being. If every there is someone to rely on, it is Jimmy Thompson and all those involved in my rescue. Once again, many thanks from my wife, family, and myself.
