Annual Basket Picnic Near Hedley Claims County Wide Attention

Tate Grove Donley "Old Settlers" Picnic To Draw Large Crowd Friday

Indications are that the Donley County "Old Settlers" picnic, scheduled Friday, Aug. 19, North-east of Hedley, will draw one of the largest crowds in its history, with a good program provided for the occasion.

Congressman Marvin Jones will give the main address of the day, if nothing prevents his return from a needed vacation in the mountains following the death of his brother a few days ago.

Clyde Bridges, local program chairman, announced the following program Tuesday, with various items of entertainment to follow after the dinner hour, including Cal Farley and his Flying Dutchman circus from Amarillo.

Injunction Is Sought Against Phone Company

A suit against the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company was filed in Clarendon Tuesday by Judge J. R. Porter, plaintiff, seeking a mandatory injunction compelling the company to restore phone service over his office phone, No. 45 at the Antro Hotel. The suit also asks actual damages of $500, and exemplary damages in a like sum.

District Judge Moss will hear the injunction plea here Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

The suit on the damages will be heard in the October term of District Court.

The action arises from the discontinuance of phone service to Judge Porter's office on Aug. 15, after controversy for several months over long distance charges in the approximate sum of $77.00 charged to the plaintiff's phone without his knowledge or consent, by a stranger.

C. C. EX-STUDENTS REUNION PLANNED

1,000 EXES EXPECTED TO RETURN TO ALMA MATER NOVEMBER 11

Plans are being made this month for a reunion of Clarendon College ex-students to be held the week-end of November 11 here. Letters are being sent out to about three hundred ex-students whose addresses are known, asking them to send in a list of other exes. From these lists, invitations will be extended to all ex-students to attend the reunion, the first ever held.

The people who attend will be unusual in that there will be no ex-student alma mater here, for the old Methodist Clarendon College which was operated as both a junior and senior institution was closed in 1927 and the school taken over by the Clarendon school board to be operated as Clarendon Municipal Junior College.

1,000 ex-students are expected to attend the reunion this fall which will bring together hundreds of persons who have completely lost contact with each other since their college days. Many outstanding professional and business men and women call Clarendon College their alma mater as well as those who have scattered to all parts of the world.

A meeting will be held Monday night at 8 at the Cozy Theatre by all exes in town who will come, and all are urged to attend to offer suggestions for the reunion.

Wins New Honors

HAROLD BUGBEE

HAROLD BUGBEE IS ILLUSTRATOR

LOCAL ARTIST DRAWS ASSIGNMENT ON AMARILLO NEWS SPECIAL EDITION

Harold Bugbee, local artist of national repute, added to his list of successes in the 280-page Pioneer Anniversary Edition of the Amarillo News-Globe of Sunday, August 14, when the greater part of the Western illustrations appeared under his signature.

Likened for several years to Remington of Western landscapes and themes, Harold Bugbee, has steadily grown in the eyes of the best critics of the nation, and in late productions has risen above the level of excellence which gained him prominence.

The skill of Harold Bugbee in portraying the cattle kingdom of early days in the Panhandle, went far in making the edition of the News-Globe the success it is, and speaks well for the insight of the editors and publishers who utilized the ability of this young artist who has drawn fame to himself and Clarendon.

KUTEMAN TEST CHANGES RIGS

ROTARY EQUIPMENT TORN OUT IN PREPARATION FOR STANDARD RIG

According to announcement last week the drilling crew on the Nellie Kuteman test near Hedley has been busy the past week in tearing out the rotary equipment to make way for installation of a standard rig to finish the well. Near 3,000 feet the geologists say great care must be exercised in going deeper and ordered the change from rotary to standard tools.

Representatives of the promoters are selling leases this week in Pampa, Memphis and Hedley, with prices up to ten dollars an acre several miles from the test.

Reports from every reliable source indicate the greatest confidence in the bringing in of a fair producing well before many hundred feet are added to the depth, which has increased the lease buying activity in the block.

Drilling will proceed when the standard equipment is all in place.

GUEST 100 YEARS OLD VISITS LIONS

CENTENARIAN, HALE AND HEARTY, TELLS OF GETTYSBURG REUNION

Entertaining a lively guest 100 years old, was a distinction the Clarendon Lions Club had Tuesday at its regular weekly luncheon at the Clarendon Hotel, when T. L. Lovelace of McLean was introduced by Lion Odos Caraway.

Mr. Lovelace, born March 24th, 1838, had recently returned from the Reunion at Gettysburg, where veterans of both North and South mingled in the last reunion, and where he found himself one of three more than 100 years old.

Neither of the others, however, were as agile and hearty as Mr. Lovelace. The aged guest gave voice to his religious faith and his utter readiness to meet the final summons when it comes.

Mr. Lovelace formerly lived in Donley County and was one of the first farmers to successfully raise cotton in this section. He says he is able to do a fair day work and often does so as he feels better with ordinary exercise.

Miss Waunita Robinson, who has been in charge of the local NYA project, was introduced, expressed her thanks for the help of the local business men, and in turn introduced Miss Eula Joyce Bureson, who succeeded her as supervisor Wednesday morning.

Lion Braswell made his report as delegate from the club to the International Convention of Lions Clubs, at Oakland, Cal., July 19-22. He stressed the growing complexities of the organization from its increasing contacts from an international standpoint.

President Patrick asked the program committee to plan for the Group meeting of the clubs in this zone to be held here in late August or early September.

TIRE THIEVES IN RAID FRIDAY

LOOT CARS IN CHILDRESS SUNDAY; WANTED IN NEW MEXICO

Friday night, two men and a woman with a two-year-old girl, raided the town of tires. Tires and wheels were taken from five autos and five other cars were looted of small articles, such as mirrors, flashlights, accessories.

The thieves were traced by officers to the campground on the east highway, which they left about 4:30 Saturday morning.

Sunday night the band appeared in Childress and raided two cars and broke into a garage. They left there Monday morning about 4:30 apparently headed toward Fort Worth or Oklahoma. Officers over the entire area have been warned to keep a lookout for the band.

Names of the woman and one of the men are known. They are Mr. and Mrs. Noble Kirk, alias Noble Clay Kirk is very noticeably cross-eyed. Al have served prison terms. They are driving a black 1934 four-door V8 sedan with yellow wire wheels, and New Mexico License No. 23-122. They are wanted in New Mexico for fifteen or twenty felonies according to officers in Hobbs whom Sheriff Guy Pierce called after learning the group had talked a great deal about Hobbs.

Watson Rodeo Here Saturday Afternoon

A fast-stepping wild West Rodeo will be held in Clarendon Saturday afternoon, at 2:30. It will be staged at the rodeo grounds used here on July 4th, three blocks South of the South-Ward, Junior-High school grounds, by Arch Watson, the well-known Rodeo empresario of Claude.

A herd of wild buffalo will be presented in the rodeo in one event known as the Buffalo break-away.

Entry fees are low, and the cash prizes will be split on a percentage basis fair to the promoter and the riders.

The parade will appear in the business part of Clarendon at 2:30, leading on out to the grounds for the opening of the show which is attracting interest all over this section of the Panhandle. A reasonable admission will be charged.

Avis Lee McElvany Flies To Convention

Miss Avis Lee McElvany left Tuesday by TWA plane for Los Angeles where she will attend the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic sorority of which she is president of the University of Missouri chapter. She will represent her chapter at the social and business meetings at the convention which will last from Aug. 18 to 20.

Mrs. Bagby Brings Museum More Relics

Mrs. J. S. Bagby brought with her from her trip to North Carolina two very interesting relics for the Donley County Museum. One is a leather shaving case which has been in the Selden family since 1868. The other is a piece of rock from old Fort Marion, oldest fort in the United States, which was built by the Spaniards. This rock is really incrustated shells. Most of the public and private buildings of St. Augustine, Fla. as well as the fort and the island on which it is built are made of this stone.

These articles as well as many others of pioneer days may be seen in the Museum which is open every Friday from four until six o'clock.

Improvements On Football Field In Fine Progress

Grassing and improvements on the Broncho football field goes steadily forward under the supervision of the Athletic Committee set up last Spring by the school board.

Work on removing the weeds has been very successful and with constant watering and the supplemental rains this week the grass has almost covered the playing field with a green coat pleasing to the spectator and comforting to the player.

Additional work is being laid out this week by C. J. Douglas and the committee which includes a practice field North of the old Boy's Dormitory site, the leveling of the parking space South of the grandstand, and improving the entrance to the field from the rough street at the South-west corner.

The committee supported by monthly contributions of members of the "Broncho Boosters 1938," hopes to present one of the best playing fields in the district by late September when the first games of the season comes along.

North-South Highway Gets Hard Surfacing Motley County Area

TURKEY, Texas, Aug. 17—Work started this week in hard surfacing highway 18, in Motley county, beginning at the Hall county line south of Turkey and to connect with the hard surface road two miles north of White Flat.

The grading and drainage work was completed some time ago. The highway department has appropriated $45,000 for this work. An oil sand surface will be used. When the job is completed, it will fill the only unpaved link in highway 18 from Turkey south to Spur and Stamford except a small stretch in Stonewall county and work is under way on this section.

Monument at Col. Goodnight's Grave And Memorial Plaque Is Erected In Family Lot In Goodnight Cemetery

W. H. Patrick, chairman of the Goodnight Monument Fund, announced here this week that the monument and plaque selected by the committee in charge of the movement, had been erected at Col. Goodnight's grave in the Goodnight Cemetery, and a suitable concrete enclosure would be laid about the lot in a few days.

The monument, according to the expressed wishes of Col. Goodnight, is of the same size and type of the one marking his first wife's resting place next to his grave. The plaque is a tilted marker set between the graves of the two and the inscription includes Mrs. Goodnight in its memorial legend.

No plans have been made as yet for the dedication ceremonies according to Mr. Patrick, but will probably be arranged for some suitable date early in the fall.

Guests in the Cap Morris home this week are Mrs. Gayle Park and two children, Mrs. J. W. Meeker and sons, John and Michael of Fort Worth, and Miss Dorothy Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Patman and daughter, Ruth, spent the week-end in McLean.

J. Lowell LaFon of Clovis, N. M. spent the week-end here.

Childress Newspaper Man Former Employee In Clarendon Is Dead

CHILDRESS, Texas, Aug. 17—L. E. Haskett, 76, one of the pioneers in the Texas Panhandle newspaper field, died at his home in Childress early Wednesday morning. He had been ill for several weeks.

Funeral services were held today at 4 p. m. at the Methodist Church in Childress with Rev. W. M. Murrell of Abilene, former pastor, in charge.

Born in Illinois, Haskett received his newspaper training in a country print shop. He came to Texas in 1888, working for a time on the Clarendon News as a printer, then came to Childress the following year to work on the Childress Index which had just been established.

On June 4, 1889, he purchased the Index and served as its editor and publisher for 39 years. Under his ownership it grew from a small weekly to a daily newspaper. Associated with him in its publication most of the time was his son, Fred.

In 1928 he sold his interest in the Index, but remained on the editorial staff until 1930, when he returned to the Index as farm editor, a position he held until his death.

Haskett was prominent in civic activities, serving as mayor of Childress, as a member of the city council and as a member of the school board. He was also a member of the Methodist church. At one time he was postmaster here.

Survivors include the widow; a son, Fred L. Haskett of Dallas; three daughters, Mrs. Dave Wright and Miss Gertie Haskett of Childress, and Mrs. J. H. Watts of Wheeler.

O'DANIEL'S ENDORSEMENTS

It took Texas two or three days to get into action after Governor-Designate W. Lee O'Daniel took everybody's breath by coming before the microphone, naming six runoff candidates as his choice and inviting the voters to elect them in the August primary. But did they come alive, when they did swing into action?

Texas voters fell largely into three divisions in their reactions:

1. Openly resentful, this group declared they would vote against every candidate O'Daniel chose.
2. Frankly proud of the "business attitude" of the Governor-Designate, this group readily assented to the request of their leader and are openly working for the six so named.
3. The great majority, felt no unusual reaction either way, smiled at their own choices selected by O'Daniel, and ignored his advice about the others.

Some argued that O'Daniel had reversed himself from his campaign attitude on "professional politicians," while others pointed out that Mr. O'Daniel had never intimated that just because a man held public office he was a "professional politician."

There were those who declared that O'Daniel being a business man could get away with his hand-picked selection, where a politician couldn't. With an Irish smile the Hillbilly Victor named the list and told his hearers they could do as they pleased about it, but as a business man he felt that he needed those particular men to help him get the job done down at Austin after next New Year's Day.

Experienced observers believe that O'Daniel's endorsement will be sufficient to put every one of the six candidates mentioned over in the run-off. They point out the difference in sentiment is not so great in any of the six races, but that the recognized acquisition of forty or fifty thousand votes from those disposed to help the Governor-Designate get his program over, will be all that is needed to elect the boys he smiled on.

From up here in the Panhandle, The News editor opines that if he had been one of the six mentioned in the famous "Endorsement," it wouldn't have made him a bit mad.

Being Irish, and most voters are, we'll go to the polls on August 27th, and vote for our choice, as most voters will, and worry not one little bit about it.

"Dictator" and "Political Ring," were among many of the charges hurled at our genial flour merchant for having the nerve to ask for the election of certain men he thought would give him the best help down at Austin. After all, that sort of thing isn't very new to voters in the United States—no less personage than the President, has used that sort of tactics repeatedly within the present year.

Frankly, we doubt if Mr. O'Daniel's surprise endorsements have merited all the hub-bub and furore raised. What he did was the act of a straight-forward business man. He isn't a politician—yet. Two years from now he may be a politician, but he will likely deny that he is a "professional politician."

When the noise has subsided and the votes are counted on August 27th, Texas voters will very likely have endorsed six men—six that Mr. O'Daniel named a few nights ago, to the amazement of everybody.

WORTHY OF THE GREAT PANHANDLE REGION

Congratulations are due the staff of the Amarillo News-Globe for its monumental achievement of journalistic history in the 280-page Golden Anniversary Edition issued Sunday, August 14.

Space and words can hardly express the magnitude of the work entailed by such an edition so comprehensive of the pioneers and early days of this section of the Southwest, but the history and accompanying rare illustrations will guarantee its place in the archives of this country down through the years to come.

THE NORTH-SOUTH HIGHWAY

It was encouraging yesterday to see so many neighboring communities represented at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce monthly luncheon meeting which was devoted to a discussion of highway progress.

Particularly was there an analytical discussion of the proposed North-South highway, which it is hoped eventually will extend from Perryton south through Turkey to the Mexican border.

Highlight of the meeting was the consensus of all speakers that this area of the Panhandle is united and has combined with other sections of the state along the route to get the improvement through.

The "help one another" idea has so thoroughly permeated the efforts now behind this highway proposal that it is safe to say that nothing but eventual success lies ahead for the highway-minded citizens who are persistently pushing plans for this much-needed North-South route through Texas.—Pampa Daily News.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN—Striving desperately to gauge the effect of W. Lee O'Daniel's precedent-shattering action in endorsing a slate of six candidates for State offices in the August runoff primary, political headquarters and political managers here this week presented a scene of indescribable confusion.

The first flush of joyful enthusiasm which pervaded the camps of the O'Daniel-blessed candidates bought in a wide variety of reports on the situation.

The first axiom in the lexicon of the politician is "Don't mess with the other guy's race." O'Daniel wiped that admonition off the slate as calmly as he disregarded all the rules of campaigning in the first primary, and called for his over half million supporters to elect Walter Woodul, Judge C. V. Terrell, Coke Stevenson, Bascom Giles, and Judge Richard Critz and Harry Graves. He said he needed these men to assure the "business administration" that the voters asked for. For a few hours, the blessed candidates and their workers seemed to think their races were "in the bag." Then the squawks begin filtering in. Estimates of O'Daniel's action ranged all the way from a "courageous, non-political act" to "a double-cross." Supporters of Gerald Mann and Jerry Sadler, opponents of Woodul and Terrell, were loudest in their protests. It became very obvious, very quickly, that O'Daniel would not lead all of his half million supporters into the camps of the endorsed group.

ALLRED'S HAND SEEN

O'Daniel spent a week in Galveston as the guest of Maco Stewart, insurance executive and political power on the island. Stewart is closely allied with Tom Holbrook, lame-duck State Senator or from Galveston. Then the governor-elect visited in Austin with Gov. Allred. Holbrook is reported here to have drafted the endorsements which O'Daniel made in his now famous radio talk. Allred is the enthusiastic backer of some of the endorsed candidates, including Woodul, Terrell, Giles, and the two judges. Political circles here buzzed with the report that Allred and Stewart (the latter acting through Holbrook) were responsible. The story that the endorsements were forthcoming was freely told in Austin hotel corridors two days before the speech, and Holbrook privately told the story to his friends soon after the Mansion conference with O'Daniel and Allred.

CANDIDATES STILL WONDER

Both the endorsed candidates and those left on the doorstep were wondering what the effect will be. Consensus of belief was that O'Daniel would recruit some votes for the blessed slate, but there was much doubt that he would be able to carry the whole ticket. But O'Daniel has upset the established rules of political campaigning so consistently and with such success that few observers here were willing to make any forecast as to the outcome of anything he has done. At the week-end O'Daniel was reported here to have admitted protests he had received out-numbered commendatory messages about two to one. Politicians here universally agreed the endorsement will bring out a huge vote in the runoff primary, when a light vote had been anticipated previously.

FLOOD PROBE DRAGS

A boom for Sen. Albert Stone, of Brenham, to make the race for congress two years hence against Lyndon Johnson, was one political development in the wake of the lower Colorado river flood this week. Stone was non-committal, and two years is a long time for the voters to stay mad, even if they were washed out by floods.

The Senate investigating committee, which is delving into charges that improper operation of Buchanan Lake aggravated the June flood, halted its inquiry after two days of testimony, in which a direct conflict of engineering opinion developed—the Colorado River Authority engineers contending there was no improper operation, and Dean Taylor of Texas University engineering school taking the opposite view. The probe is to resume when engineering data said to be needed to determine the facts about the flood is assembled this week. Meanwhile, the Department of the Interior, which sent an investigator to the scene, made public his report, exonerating the Authority management, and caustically charging that a "flood of propaganda" had been stirred up among the washed-out valley farmers by persons opposed to the Federal power development program.

AUSTIN NOTES

The University of Texas will open its long session next month without a permanent president, members of the Board of Regents said after a meeting here this week. Dr. J. W. Calhoun, comptroller, is acting president. . . . The long-standing political feud between Gov. Allred and Rep. Martin Dies broke out again when Dies announced in Washington that he will appear before the Senate judiciary committee in January and oppose confirmation of Allred as Federal Judge for South Texas. The bitterness between Allred and Dies flared up two years ago when Clyde Smith ran against Dies for Congress, and Dies claimed Smith, assistant Secretary of State during Allred's first administration, was put into the race against him by the Governor. Inasmuch as the Allred appointment was arranged by Senators Morris Sheppard, and Tom Connally, and Vice-President John Garner, Dies' protest—if he goes through with it—isn't expected to carry much weight. . . . Capitol employees were wondering after the O'Daniel endorsements, if the unreserved commitments made by the endorsed group might mean that they will be forced to let O'Daniel dictate the patronage in these four extensive State departments, if the endorsed slate wins. The Attorney General, Railroad Commission, and Land Office control a good many hundred fat jobs, and the Lieutenant Governor also has some patronage. Should O'Daniel seek to curtail employees to save expense, many employees feel that, the endorsed candidates if they are elected, might have to stand for substantial reduction of personnel in these departments. . . . O'Daniel's announcement that he will seek to speed up court procedure was another demonstration of either courage or ignorance. No question ever comes before the legislature that causes more strife. Most of the solons are lawyers, and each has a different idea about reforming court procedure. Usually, bitter debate rages for weeks, and then the reform bill dies in committee.

One fifth of the present railroad mileage of the country was constructed in the eight years, 1886 to 1893, inclusive.

America Ranks With Leading Nations On Milk Consumption—Switzerland is Leader With 232 Quarts Per Capita

Texas' growing importance in the dairy industry is strikingly illustrated in the new Milk Facts booklet issued by the Milk Industry Foundation. Milk Facts shows that Texas with $46,541,000 cash farm income from milk in 1937 heads the list of South Central states.

Charts show that the United States is one of the ranking nations in the consumption of dairy products. With per capita consumption of fluid milk at 153 quarts a year, America tops all other countries except Switzerland with 232 quarts.

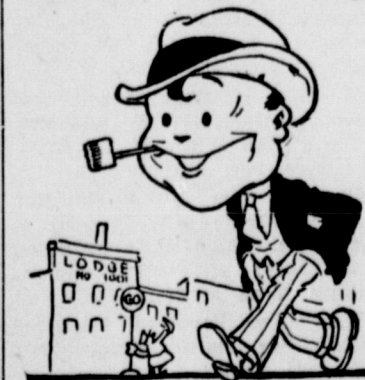

Annual per capita milk consumption in quarts for other nations is: Denmark, 144; Czechoslovakia, 136; Netherlands, 120; New Zealand, 112; Great Britain, France and Germany, 92; Australia, 88; Belgium, 68 and Italy, 28.

"Milk in one form or another, comprises over 25 per cent of the 1,500-odd pounds of food used each year by the average American," says the booklet. "It requires about 10 1/2 quarts of milk to make a pound of butter and 4 1/2 quarts to make a pound of cheese. Approximately 350 million new milk bottles are purchased annually."

The booklet contains pictorial charts and figures showing the importance of the milk industry to the country's economic picture. Diagrammatic charts illustrate how the United States utilizes its milk supply of some 48,777,000,000 quarts of milk a year.

Fluid of fresh milk, which provides the farmer's highest cash return accounts for 29.2 per cent of the country's yearly production. Creamery butter takes 31.6 per cent, farm butter, 10.5 per cent, while 12.1 per cent of the milk is used on farms where produced. In making cheese 5.9 per cent of the total milk is used; ice cream, 2.3 per cent and canned milks, 4.3 per cent, according to charts.

Another chart shows a breakdown of the distributor's milk dollar based on recent certified accountants' figures prepared for the New York legislature. This shows that 44.03 per cent of the dollar goes to dairy farmers for milk; 26.16 per cent to labor; 8.75 per cent for supplies, bottles, cases, trucking, etc.; taxes, 2.24 per cent; depreciation, 2.40 per cent; profits, 2.98 per cent; salaries, less than 1/2 of 1 per cent. Margaret Sullivan Sings For First Time As Showgirl of "The Shopworn Angel"

Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart in "The Shopworn Angel"

Margaret Sullivan makes her debut as a singing star in "The Shopworn Angel." The picture, co-starring Miss Sullivan and James Stewart for the first time opens for a three-day showing Sunday at the Pastime Theatre. Her number is the World War favorite, "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag and Smile." The song was chosen by Director H. C. Potter and Joe Mankiewicz, the producer, because the period of the picture is 1917, at the start of America's entrance into the World War. The story of "The Shopworn Angel" concerns a young Westerner who comes to New York to train before being sent to France. He meets the gold-digging, fast-living showgirl and immediately falls in love with her. She wants to return his love but is reminded by her manager that the boy loves her for what she appears to be, not for what she actually is. She tries to avoid seeing him, but on the day before he leaves for France they spend the day together. That night the girl realizes that she really loves him and they are married in a roadside chapel with her manager as witness. His company marches past just as the marriage ceremony is finished. He says goodbye and rushes to join his company. All three wonder if he'll ever return. Walter Pidgeon plays the "other man" of the story, and the cast also features Hattie McDaniel, Nat Pendleton, Alan Curtis, Sam Levene, Eleanor Lynn and Chas. D. Brown.

HOLDERS of AAA "Brown Certificates" Urged To Turn In For Final Payment

Holders of C-5-1 certificates, known as "brown" certificates and "participation trust certificates" of the cotton producer's pool, may now turn them in as the final liquidation of the pool will soon be made, according to Geo. Slaughter, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The liquidation of this pool completes the activities of the first AAA program, that of 1933. The original holders of the certificates were among the farmers who elected to take cotton options in the producer's pool as part payment for removal of cotton from production.

These producers received an advance of 4 cents per pound and later were given an opportunity to sell out to the pool or to receive a second advance of 2 cents per pound. Those who chose the second advance surrendered their original certificates and received those designated as C-5-1, which entitled them to share in the proceeds of the sale of the pool cotton after deduction of the original option price of 6 cents per pound, the two advances, and other expenses of the pool.

The pool will be liquidated at the rate of $1 per bale to the original holders of the certificates and to transferee holders on record on or before May 1, 1937. Holders to whom certificates were transferred after May 1, 1937, will receive purchase price plus 4 percent interest, all not to exceed $1 a bale.

Certificates to be tendered for sale to the pool should be attached to the proper forms, which will be furnished by the secretary of the county AAA association, and mailed to D. F. Mallett, Room 206, Old Post Office Building, Washington, D. C., before December 31, 1938.

Texas Good Roads Association Plans State Fair Exhibit

An elaborate exhibit will be placed in the Educational Building by the Texas Good Roads Association as a special feature of the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas, it has been announced by Lowry Martin, president of the association, who said that the exhibit will be a combined exhibit of the good roads association, the State Safety Council, the State Highway Commission and the Texas Traffic Safety Association.

Datus E. Proper, executive vice-president of the association, will be in charge of the exhibit.

The exhibit will have as its purpose a plan to show good roads of the state and efforts being made to promote better roads; will show how traffic fatalities can be lessened by careful driving, and will show scenes of interest which can be visited while driving about the State.

Full details of the exhibit have not yet been worked out but it is expected that plans will be completed at the next monthly meeting of the executive committee of the association which will be held in Seguin during August.

The Good Roads exhibit will be placed in the Educational Building which was formerly the Federal Building, because school exhibits, the textile and culinary and Hobby Shows will be held in this building and it is thought it will be the most popular structure in so far as children are concerned on the entire area. Special features in the exhibit will be planned for children.

AN EXPANDING DAIRY STATE

The dairy industry in the Southwest has been growing in a marked degree for more than twenty years. It has expanded more rapidly in recent years until it has become a major industry. In 1937 cash income from milk to Texas Farmers and dairymen amounted to $46,541,000; for Oklahoma $36,035,000; Arkansas $9,982,000; Louisiana $6,731,000 and New Mexico $3,889,000 a total of $92,178,000. This is exclusive of home consumption.

Texas is in sixth place among States in production of cheese. The amount produced is small as compared with the amount produced in Wisconsin where 70 per cent of the Nation's cheese is made. The amount of butter made in the Southwest does not compare with the amount made in Iowa, the leading butter State, or Minnesota, the second butter in rank, but our percentage of increase has attracted the attention of the so-called dairy states and producers in that section, through their representatives in Congress will leave no stone unturned in their effort to check dairy developments in the Southwest and in the South. This was evidenced in Washington when the farm bill was in the making and amendments were proposed which would have prohibited the production on retired acres to be sold to dairy cattle or other livestock, the products of which would be sold. This amendment was modified, but includes a condition which would authorize the Secretary to prohibit the increase in dairy products or in livestock for the market if increased production from that source adversely influenced prices.

In a recent issue of The Clarendon News a story ran about the NYA project Home opened a few weeks ago under the supervision of Miss Robinson. In that story it was stated that on the beef canning the percentage was 40 per cent for the home and 60 per cent for the owner of the beef, who furnished the cans. The percentage is 30 for the home and 70 for the owner on meats, while the 40-60 percentage base is for fruits and vegetables, which is still more favorable to the producer.

Dairy Farming Brings Profit to Farmer; Separator Increases Income From Cows

BY HENRY FIELD
in The Semi-Weekly Farm News

There are so many advantages to dairy farming that many farmers are adding more and better cows to their herds and going in for producing more milk than ever before. Milk and cream are always salable at a price that will allow at least a little profit and afford a steady income throughout the year, and a farmer needs a steady income as much as any one.

Half the people are less than 25 years old and need milk to drink every day in the year. There has been so much educational work done in the past thirty or thirty-five years by the Government and writers in magazines that practically everyone knows the advantages of using lots of milk in the diet. It makes no difference how hard times are, many mothers will do without practically anything before they will cut down on the amount of milk they want for their small children.

To the milk producer this steady demand for milk means that he will have a market for his milk when many other products go begging. Also, poultry raising and the production of hogs work right in with dairying. They don't require much space and skim milk and buttermilk can furnish a large part of the feed for chickens and hogs.

Much of the farm land in this country is badly washed out and gullied, so that the yield, when planted to ordinary stand-by crops are very low, and there is not as much profit in such farming as you may think. It does not do any good to preach against the loss of soil that has already gone down the creek, but we can turn the land to some use and still manage to make something out of it if we go about the job systematically and develop good pastures.

Fortunately, rough land does very well for grazing if we protect it from further erosion and get a good sod started. This can be done after a time on badly eroded land. The first thing to do is get the washing stopped and get vegetation started in the gullies so they will not get any worse. Get Bermuda grass started on a slope and it will not only hold the soil but make fine grazing.

Weeds and the most useless vegetation are better than nothing to hold the soil but the weeds should be cleaned out and replaced with grass as rapidly as possible to make better pasture. Plenty of first class pasture, which is never overgrazed, is one of the main things to put profit in dairying in this country. We have such a long growing season we ought not to have to buy any roughage for cows, if we save hay for winter use.

Sorghums and all kinds of hay crops can be grown on land that is too steep to grow cleanly cultivated row crops without washing badly. These are just the things for the dairy farmer to raise to be sure of a profit. These crops make a big saving on the feed bill, and may be raised with a minimum cost for labor and are not expensive to harvest.

Statistics show that one fifth to one fourth of the annual farm income is derived from sale of dairy products. Over a long period of years, no other one thing has ranked above it. While prices fluctuate a little, there is never much variation or sudden change compared with other farm products. Milk prices are quite steady but, of course, they follow the general trend of prices up and down from year to year.

Another thing in favor of dairying is the fact that nowadays so much of the work can be done with machines. Barns can be fitted up with chutes delivering feed right down to individual cows in such a manner that a 10-year-old boy can handle the job.

A well, pump, overhead tank and piping enable one to have clean water trough or drinking fountain that might be put in every stall. Such a water system is not beyond the farmer who has a good start as a dairyman, and will prove well worth the investment as a convenience and labor-saver in both the home and the barn.

Milking machines have been perfected to the point where they are highly profitable where there are more cows than the farmer can conveniently handle himself. The parts to be cleaned are simple and easily care for, and there is very little to wear out and require replacement. These replacements should be listed as upkeep or legitimate overhead expense, and the price paid for the machine as capital investment.

There are many advantages in machine milking, in addition to the saving in labor. The milk delivered directly from the teats to sealed cans is never contaminated by anything on the cow or in the dust from the air. The milk is perfectly sanitary and free from disease germs if the cows are healthy.

A milking machine works the same way every time and when a cow gets used to it she will never give trouble like some cows do when a new hand takes hold. The regular pulsations give a gentle massaging action, which stimulates even hard milkers to give down their milk.

Good cows will give more milk if they are milked three times a day. It is hard to induce hired hands to milk that often and do the job thoroughly every day of the week. One reliable man with a mechanical milker can do the job well, and he should have only as many cows as he can take care of easily.

Cream separators have been in general use for many years, and we are all familiar with the saving in cream that is possible when a good separator is used. A first-class cream separator will last for years and do good work, but it is now a good time to check up on some of the old separators that have been in long use. You may think you are still getting all the cream, but it may be you are mistaken. The best and most convincing test to give an old separator is to run the skim milk through a brand-new standard machine. If it gets much cream that the old machine let get away, it will pay you to get a new separator. Efficient separation ought not leave more than one-hundredth of 1 per cent butterfat in the skim milk, it is leaving a hundred times as much as the best machines would leave. Count that up and calculate how many cents you lose every day, multiply by thirty and you can tell how many months it will take to pay for itself by dividing this result into the cost of the new machine you want.

Buy a good standard machine, one that will stand up to years of service. Painted and polished surfaces do not tell what is on the inside. What about bearings, balance and lubrication and that sort of thing? Only the reputation of the maker and the honesty of your dealer count here.

The market for milk and dairy products is steady and increasing all the time. It makes a steady income for the farmer who takes advantage of it, and guarantees him more profit on a year's work than cotton and corn. It is not so dependent on the weather or subject to so much damage from insect pests and the like. Dairying works in well with general farming and the most approved plans for diversification.

The average speed of freight trains between terminals was higher in 1937 than in any year on record.

Terrell and Wood on Tour

C. V. Terrell, seeking reelection to the Railroad Commission, is being supported by John Wood (right), who was third man in the July primary with more than 225,000 votes. Photograph shows them on a speaking tour. Terrell has warned that Texas will be unable to pay $30 monthly pensions if the oil industry is not properly regulated, as it has been during his administration.

Fence Increases The Feed Supply

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

It is easy to see an extra stack of hay in the barnyard, but many a potential extra stack escapes notice because it is scattered over the farm, in fence corners along the branch, or grows in crop fields after they are laid by. No farmer would let it burn or blow away if he could see it all in one pile; he would reach for his shot gun if anyone threatened to take it away without paying for it. There is only one way to save such odds and ends of grain or forage, which is to let livestock do the harvesting.

Whether it is crab grass in the cornfield, shattered grain in the catfield, bermuda or native grass in unplowed nooks and crannies, it is meat, milk or wool in the raw. A stock-tight fence around a single field so that it can be grazed may easily be worth more than an extra stack of hay in the barnyard. Not only is the feed worth more if grazed when green; not only is the labor of harvesting avoided; not only is feed saved which cannot otherwise be used; the humus is left on the land in the manure; every day that the animals feed themselves is one less day of serving it to them on a pitchfork. The time it takes to build a fence will shorten the chores for many a year.

The division of the farm into three or four sections for systematic rotation of crops is the first essential of good farm management. The present agricultural adjustment act conforms to this principal of management in designating "soil depleting" and "soil conserving" crops, leaving permanent pastures and the remainder of the cultivated land in a different category. But crop rotations cannot be fully utilized to the best advantage without livestock and poultry; livestock cannot be kept most efficiently and economically unless they have access to each part of the farm whenever it supplies feed which they can harvest for themselves; and every field and pasture can be grazed only when it is properly fenced. It would be highly desirable to fence the entire farm at once after careful planning for convenience and permanency, but not every farmer can do this. Since we must set up a rotation system, however to receive the benefits of the national farm act, and good business judgement requires that we make the most of the rotation both in the interest of immediate income and of permanent productivity, we can begin by fencing at least one field a year until the entire farm is subdivided.

A few years ago Jack Shelton added a farm flock of sheep to Luling Foundation farm's productive capacity by the simple expedient of fencing in a creek which wound its way through the cultivated fields. Enough grass grew on its sloping banks and in its sharp bends to keep the sheep, and incidentally, they kept down the weeds which formerly served only to seed the nearby plow land. Not only the land is benefitted by rotation and livestock grazing, but livestock itself, especially hogs, sheep and poultry, thrive better when they can be "rotated"—shifted from place to place. This calls for hog-tight and sheep-proof fence, which may be either full cattle-high woven wire or woven wire 26 to 35 inches high with barbed wires above. There is not much difference in the cost if the barbed wire must be bought new.

Before building permanent fences it is well worth while to sit down and plat the farm on paper. It is important that when the plan is completed every field will have access to water, and that they center as nearly as practicable to the homestead and barnyard in order to save time in cultural and harvesting operations. Let's fence at least one field this year. Get that extra stack of hay.

STUART BACKS TERRELL FOR COMMISSIONER

FORT WORTH, Aug. 12—Former State Senator R. A. Stuart, who received nearly 130,000 votes for Railroad Commissioner in the July primary, has announced that he will actively support C. V. Terrell as against Jerry Sadler in the August 27 runoff primary. "In my opinion, the proven attitude of Judge Terrell's opponent would lead to chaos and the absolute utter destruction of the natural resources of Texas should he be elected," said Stuart. "We have only one way to judge a candidate, and this is by his past record. In view of this, in comparing the two candidates, I cannot do other than cast my vote for C. V. Terrell, although I have differed with him and explained my differences to the people of Texas. "I believe the fairest, squarest and most honest administration of the Railroad Commission affairs will come from Terrell rather than from his opponent."

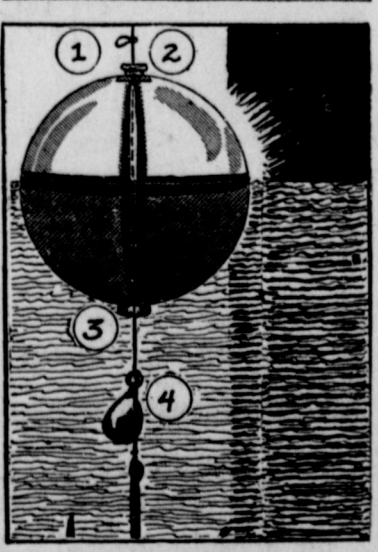

Stuart is the second of the formidable candidates eliminated in the July primary to announce his support of Judge Terrell. John Wood, who with a total of more than 225,000 votes, came near to getting in the runoff, has taken to the stump on a speaking tour for Terrell.

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

Those cow-hands down yonder in the Rio Grande country, they may be far removed from the very biggest cities, but, stranger, they know how to get around.

And the latest, it is the way they are handling this here lending and spending spree, or whatever you call it in your town. And this long-horn mayor I been reading about down there in San Antonio, he told 'em in Wash., where they were fixing to wrap up the greenbacks, he says, nix. Brother, there is news.

And the money they wanted to give San Antonio, it was for new electric lights—but they already had pretty nice lights, the mayor said. And furthermore, he says, getting free money to buy something you don't need too bad, but which maybe will later on eat you out of house and home, it is not using your head—That's what the mayor said. Looking a gift horse in the mouth, will sometimes save your oats—that must be his slogan, I reckon. If I was startin' out to fool some one, I sure would not start in Texas.

Don't Destroy Flavor

By BETTY BARCLAY

Some time ago I spent a week-end with a very dear friend. At breakfast, a glass of orange juice was placed before me. One sip and the breakfast was spoiled so far as I was concerned. Questioning carefully, I learned that my friend had reamed this juice the evening before and placed it in the refrigerator so that it would be ice cold for breakfast. It was ice cold, but it was almost flavorless. Orange juice should be consumed within thirty minutes after it is reamed. Mother Nature's protecting peel will hold the flavor for weeks or months, but the flavor begins to disappear almost as soon as the orange is reamed. Not even a covered container and an ice cold refrigerator will retain this flavor for more than a few minutes. I told this story as diplomatically as possible to that friend of mine. She tried serving freshly reamed juice from ice cold oranges and one more family quickly learned a lesson that is greatly needed by thousands of women. "Why it tastes one hundred per cent better" my friend said. "The children now clamor for their morning orange juice." Now, I could have become real technical and explained that orange juice standing overnight in a covered container will lose approximately ten per cent of its Vitamin C but after all, I was merely trying to teach a friend how to keep from destroying flavor—for flavor is all important at breakfast, and particularly in the first sip that passes your lips. Many restaurant and hotel chefs and cooks could well learn this simple lesson. Far too often they serve orange juice that has stood for hours. Don't do it, friends! It destroys the flavor. Let Mother Nature work her magic in the flavor-retaining peel until you are ready to serve your juice. Place the oranges in the refrigerator overnight—not the orange juice.

State And Federal Laws Are Simplified On Hunting Season

AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—Dove hunters will not be subject to a series of conflicting regulations such as confused them last year, the Game department announced. Compared to those of last year, the 1938 regulations are fairly uniform. Combined state and federal laws governing both mourning and white-winged doves provide the following open seasons: From Sept. 1 to Oct. 1 in the counties of Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Haskell, Throckmorton, Young, Jack, Wise, Denton, Collin, and Hunt, and all counties north thereof, and the counties of Parker, Tarrant, Dallas, Rockwall, Kaufman, Johnson, Hopkins, Delta and Franklin. In the remainder of the state, the open season on both species is from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15. Below the Texas-Mexican Railway in the Rio Grande Valley, however, only four days of shooting each week during the open season will be allowed—on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays—but this exception is not applicable to Webb and Zapata counties. The hours of shooting mourning and white-winged doves during the open season are from 7 a. m. to sunset. Neither species may be shot with a weapon other than a shotgun, and it shall not be larger than No. 10 gauge. If it is a repeating or automatic shotgun it must be permanently plugged to a three-shell capacity. The daily bag limit is 15 in the aggregate of both species. Baiting of doves of either species is prohibited by federal regulations. Under new federal migratory waterfowl regulations announced recently Texas duck hunters will have a 45-day open season this year compared to a 30-day open season in 1937; and in addition may shoot a limited number of species hitherto protected. The open season on ducks and geese, Wilson's snipe and jack-snipe, and coot, is from Nov. 15 to Dec. 29. The open season on rails and gallinules, except coot, is from Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. Not only has the open season on ducks and geese been lengthened, but the possession limits have been doubled. The bag limit on ducks, except the wood duck, is 10 in the aggregate of all kinds, the same as last season, but the possession limit has been doubled to 20 in the aggregate. This season hunters may take three canvasbacks, redheads, buffleheads or ruddy ducks in their daily bag, or an aggregate of three birds of the different species. The possession limit for these ducks is six of any single species, or six in the aggregate.

LIBRARY NOTES (By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

The Texas Library Bulletin says, "Libraries are essential in a democracy, dependent as that is on enlightenment of the people and on the vitality of their cultural and social ideas. Modern trends in continuing adult education, and in use of many books in school and universally, make libraries basic in the whole educational scheme."

A forthcoming book, to be published this month, and which is attracting much comment is "With Malice Toward Some," by Margaret Halsey. It has been chosen by the Book-of-the-Month Club as a dual selection for September and is entitled "Travel Diary of a Professor's Wife." A recent publication has this to say about it: "Henry Simon, conservative, tall, studious college professor is about to be made famous by his brilliant wife. She has written a book that ought to give the country its last big laugh before the solemn business of electing a President beclouds the land. The book is called 'With Malice Toward Some.' Miss Halsey used to sell real estate. Then she became secretary for Tom Stix and Max Eastman the author, and landed a job in the editorial department at Simon and Schuster's publishing house—and then married Dick Simon's scholarly brother. They went to England for his Sabbatical year when he taught at Exeter. She saved all her diary until she was safely out of England. If her descriptions don't make the world laugh, then we'll know the world has lost its sense of humor."

Leicester Harmsworth, of the famous English newspaper family is said to have spent $2,500,000 for the 900 items, 787 are not known to exist elsewhere and of 857 only one other copy is recorded.

Much reading is being done from our library these days, and quite a number of our boys and girls are doing some of their reading for the fall school term during these vacation days.

Texas Flood Control Dams Called 'Sham'

ABILENE, Tex., Aug. 8.—An interested spectator in the investigation of alleged mishandling of Buchanan Dam, scheduled at Austin this week, is the West Texas Utilities Company whose interest centers around both flood control and the generation of power. The company, which expressed itself as being "heartily in favor of flood control," long has maintained that the dam could not serve two purposes. "To control flood waters," an officer recently said, "Buchanan Dam must be drained during dry periods in order to catch sudden downpours. Use of the dam for electric power generation requires that it be kept full, or nearly full at all times. It is self-evident that it cannot successfully perform both services."

An article in a recent issue of the Dallas News, written by Lynn Landrum was cited as revealing the status on which the government has sought to operate the $22,000,000 dam. It reads:

"The whole trouble in the matter of the Colorado Dams, as with the TVA system and many other similar projects, is that they are sham dams. They pretend to be one thing when they are another. That pretense is not born in the Tennessee Valley Authority or in the lower Colorado River Authority. It is born in the mind and heart of Franklin D. Roosevelt himself. He is trying to put something by."

"Mr. Roosevelt is trying to put something by the Constitution.

He is pretending that a high dam specially designed to produce power, is the best type dam for flood prevention. The high dam brimfull of water at all times is best for power. But the whole point is that Mr. Roosevelt has not any right to build a power dam—unless that is incident to something else he has a right to build. Nor has he the right to put the state of Texas into the power business.

"Trickiness is an essential element in the Roosevelt power formula. Any way to get by—that is the idea. That is the rule of the improviser, the extemporiser, the opportunist. But it is a poor rule for statecraft . . .

"You can rest assured that the men in charge of the dam were named to run a power dam and they know it. They did what they ought to do if a power dam is what Texas wants. A power dam that is empty of water is no good for power—there is no waterfall to run the turbines. So they let the dam fill up. They would have been fired if they hadn't.

" . . . The damage of the lower Colorado is attributable primarily to the flood, of course, and secondarily to the fact that when the flood came, the last flood was already stored up in the dam to join it. Another phase of the more abundant life, mah frands!"

8 NYA School Aid Jobs Granted Donley

AUSTIN—A quota of 8 National Youth Administration School Aid jobs has been allocated for Donley County under the 1938-39 School Aid Program to provide part-time employment for young people in elementary and high schools who cannot otherwise continue in school, J. C. Kellman, State Youth Director, has announced.

G. W. Kavanaugh, County Superintendent has been notified of the number of jobs allotted. He has been requested to organize an advisory committee of local school officials to recommend an equitable distribution of jobs within the county on a basis of youth need and availability of school facilities. Mr. Kellman said that as soon as this is done, the NYA State Office will be in position to approve schools for participation.

School officials requiring information concerning the 1938-39 School Aid quotas should communicate with their county superintendent. They should furnish him with data which will assist the county committee in recommending the distribution of jobs, Mr. Kellman said.

Mrs. J. G. Chambers and granddaughter of Birmingham, Ala. are here visiting her sister, Mrs. C. B. Ingram. This is the first time Mrs. Chambers has ever visited in Texas. County Rainfall From Trace To Two Inches

Rains falling over Donley County since Sunday night vary from only a trace to two inches in favored sections. Here in Clarendon and vicinity the rainfall Sunday night was .9 and the tenth to make the inch came Monday afternoon. Tuesday night there was rain South of town, but here only a light sprinkle was received. Chamberlain community had from a quarter to three-quarters fall, while North of the river in the Goldston country half an inch and better was had. Martin folks report up to two inches, while in the Hedley country quite an area had no rain at all.

The moisture came at an opportune time to keep growing crops coming along, and the general crop outlook over Donley is generally ahead of average for this time of year. Cooler weather has been worth a lot to sections not receiving showers.

Gillham Will Attend V.A. Teachers Meet

J. R. Gillham, local V. A. instructor will act as publicity agent for Area I at the meeting, and will aid in preparing the Area I exhibit.

Many problems of interest to vocational teachers will be presented; plans for the coming year will be discussed; many noted speakers, including W. A. Hoss, the founder of the F. F. A. will appear on the week's program.

1939 Stock Show Prospects Bright

Prospects are bright for the best stock show in Donley County history with an unusually large number of 4-H and F. F. A. club calves on feed and more than twice as many bred gilts and sows for fall pigs than ever before. With recent showers the prospect for a large feed crop for the feeding program is quite encouraging.

Bobby Word, Maurice Risley, Johnny Leathers, Doye Martin, Jack Leland, Floyd Lewis, Joe Williams, Beryl and Harley Longan, Allen Hardin, L. B. Hartzog, J. H. Greene, Joe Frank Heathington, Carl Morris, Darrell Bailey, Herschel Brinson, Cleo Russell, C. Pegram, and J. D. Swift, Jr., all have their calves in excellent condition. The above boys have from one to five on feed, and three other groups of five are expected to be put on feed within the next month. Over thirty calves are now being fed.

FARM WITHOUT RECORDS POOR BUSINESS POLICY

"Running a business without records is like running a clock without hands," T. R. Timm, farm management specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, recently told the 430 Texas whole farm demonstrators in the course of a radio address. "It is running, but you can't tell whether it is gaining or losing or in what direction it is going."

Whole farm demonstrations aim at improving the efficiency of all the farm and home operations, and record keeping is an essential part of the plan developed by the Extension Service and first put into operation in 1937.

"If nothing else, record keeping causes farmers to pay closer attention to the business end of their enterprises," the economist said. "If a seaman notices a leak in his boat he quickly plugs it. All too often, a farmer cannot find a leak in his business without records."

Studies made by several states show conclusively that a farmer's income tends to rise as he continues to use books, he pointed out. Among the many reasons assigned to these income increases are that a farmer will not keep on using equipment or continue a type of farm operation if his records show the enterprise is losing money.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaton Mahaffey and family and Miss Mattie Rhodes and Ben Chamberlain were in Amarillo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Riney and daughter went to Amarillo Tuesday.

Horses and Mules Decrease on Texas Farms Last 8 Years

COLLEGE STATION—Within the past eight years the number of horses and mules on Texas farms has decreased by 379,000, while the decrease in the United States as a whole for the past 10 years is in excess of 10 million.

Jack Shelton, vice-director and state agent of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, sees in these figures a partial answer to the puzzle of declining farm markets.

"A recent U. S. D. A. Bulletin entitled, 'The Farm Horse,' shows that the farm work stock will consume an average of 125 1/2 bushels of oats or 71 7-10 bushels of corn per head in the course of a year. That means that a market equal to more than 47 million bushels of oats or over 27 million bushels of corn per year has been lost in Texas," he pointed out.

"For the United States as a whole, the annual loss amounts to a million and a quarter bushels of oats or 715 million bushels of corn. Too, 20 years ago hay was the third largest U. S. crop where today it is in twenty-sixth place."

Shelton emphasized that he was not decrying the use of power machinery or questioning its efficiency in many operations, but insisted that there exists a demand for horse and mule colts that is far greater than the supply.

"Texas farmers are missing an additional and profitable source of income in this connection, and at the same time are losing a chance, however indirect, to increase the volume of the market for grain produced on their farms," he said. "It is gratifying to note that production of horses and mules in Texas is on the upswing."

Mrs. R. M. Morris left the first of the week for a trip to Corpus Christi and other South Texas points with her daughter, Mrs. Wade Hilliard and Mr. Hilliard of Childress.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Naylor, Mr. and Mrs. John Naylor and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eanes left Thursday for a ten-day trip to Colorado.

$3,000,000 RAILROAD EXHIBIT FOR NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

PERISTYLE STRUCTURE FOR RAILROADS AT AMERICA'S 1939 EXPOSITION.

NEW YORK (Special)—Ground has been broken and hundreds of workmen are busy erecting the $3,000,000 railroad exhibit at the New York World's Fair 1939 under the sponsorship of the Eastern Presidents' Conference.

The railroad display will be the largest in the history of transportation with 26 Eastern lines financing the show and railroads from all sections of the nation and many foreign countries showing their facilities for comfort, efficiency in operation and their growth under private ownership.

The main building will be nearly a quarter of a mile long, laid out in an S-shape and terminating in the above peristyle arrangement which suggests a roundhouse for steam locomotives. Two huge pylons, a statuary group and beautiful fountain will grace the courtyard and the exit will lead to a second exhibit occupying 3,600 feet of tracks, where the public may climb into engine cabs, examine electric locomotives and enjoy themselves to the utmost.

From a large grandstand they may watch a pageant of transportation and in another structure they may see the biggest model railroad ever put together with trains running on schedule and signals and safety devices operating just as they do on a full-sized line.
