Gray's McClellan Creek Dam Now Assured Of Early Completion

WPA LABORERS LOANED TO GRAY

DONLEY LOANS GRAY COUNTY 20 WPA MEN FOR McCLELLAN DAM

The Donley County Commissioners Court met Monday, August 8 in regular session with all members present, with many matters of importance brought to the attention of the court and acted upon.

J. C. Doherty was appointed Justice of the Peace of Precinct Three to fill the unexpired term of P. C. Johnson, deceased. Doherty was elected in the July 23 primary to the office for the term beginning Jan. 1.

A motion was granted assigning twenty WPA laborers to work on the McClellan Creek dam in Gray County, provided the Gray County Commissioners court divert an equal amount of labor to Donley to work on the Water Conservation Service project if it is approved, or for continuing operations on the NWR road project on highway 88.

The Court voted to set aside $250 for the Adair Hospital and to divert $2,000 from the jury fund to the general fund.

County Judge S. W. Lowe was granted a weeks absence beginning August 11.

The court ordered a warrant of $1,000 bearing 6 per cent interest to be issued to the Austin Bridge Co. for extension and repair on the Carroll Creek bridge near the Country Club, washed out in the June rains.

Old Sol Evens Up For June Coolness

Averages must be served, is a saying that holds good in the weather as in other fields. Our country had an unusually cool June—but we have been paying off for it in the past week.

Beginning last Friday the temperature registered 102, climbing higher as the days passed, and culminated with 108 on both Tuesday and Wednesday. The average for the past seven days up until today stood at 106 degrees.

The wind blew up out of the north Wednesday night breaking the heat wave temporarily, to the relief of Panhandle people, who sympathize with the less fortunate who live down state. A general rain is needed over Donley and the Panhandle, and amateur weather prophets are saying that Old Sol will be back with another heat wave in a few days if the rains fail to materialize.

GROUP ENJOYS SCENIC TOUR

F. F. A. BOYS RETURN TUESDAY NIGHT FROM TOUR IN WEST

Twenty-four Clarendon F. F. A. members, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gillham and Mr. and Mrs. Don Matheson returned late Tuesday night from a ten-day trip to Yellowstone National Park and other points of interest.

The group left Clarendon July 31 and saw Capulin Mountain, Raton Pass and Pikes Peak as their chief points of interest the first day. That night they stopped at the Cascades at the foot of Pike's Peak. The larger portion of the second day was spent in the Denver Museum which the boys enjoyed more than anything on the trip, and city park; the second night was spent at the Bert Collins Municipal Camping Grounds where the boys enjoyed a plunge in the city lake. The third day was spent in a tour of Wyoming with Cheyenne being the chief point of interest.

Wednesday the group toured the Wind River Canyon, the famous Thermopolis "Hot Springs," Cody, Shoshone Dam, Sylvan Pass and fishing bridge within the Yellowstone National Park. Canyon Junction, the Grizzly feeding grounds, Canyon Lodge, and fishing in Yellowstone Lake furnished the program for Thursday. Friday the boys visited Falls and Canyon, Mammoth Springs and Old Faithful. Saturday the group left the park and spent the day in Grand Teton National Park.

Sunday the group started home visiting Laramie and other places in Wyoming. Monday the group

GAS SHOWING IN KUTEMAN WELL

WILL CHANGE FROM ROTARY TO STANDARD EQUIPMENT THIS WEEK

Drillers and promoters of the Nellie Kuteman No. 1 wildcat oil test near Hedley are jubilant over gas showings encountered in the well on Friday of last week, and again on Tuesday of this week. A ten-foot gas sand was found at 2170 foot depth, and a good strong sand ran for six feet or better at 2656 Tuesday.

The Kuteman test is proceeding with a record speed to date, over any test ever drilled in Donley, and as the hole has passed sea level—2702 feet—the drillers will change this week from a rotary rig to standard equipment on advice of the geologist, who advises the utmost caution as the test approaches the 3,000 foot mark where strong likelihood of oil is anticipated.

The test was in the big lime Wednesday and it is reported that a major company has been advised by their observing geologist to purchase another thousand acre spread in the block, on the growing possibilities of production.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harp, Miss Merle Harp of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Rex McClellan and daughters spent Sunday in the C. B. Harp home.

DONLEY VETERAN BURIED SUNDAY

C. STOGNER WAS CIVIL WAR SCOUT; CAME TO TEXAS IN 1871

Donley County's last surviving Confederate veteran died Saturday at the age of ninety-five. He was Columbus Stogner of Lelia Lake who was born in Camden, South Carolina July 24, 1843, served in the Civil War as a guerrilla scout, and came to Texas in 1871 with his family to Longview from where he walked to Plano. He had lived in Donley county for the past twenty-nine years and farmed near Lelia Lake.

Mr. Stogner is survived by Mrs. W. S. Noble, H. C. Stogner and Miss Lou Stogner of Lelia Lake, T. T. Stogner of New Mexico, and Mrs. R. H. Ewin, Lubbock. His wife died some years ago.

Funeral services were held at the Lelia Lake Baptist Church by Rev. Vic Allen, and burial was in Citizens Cemetery of Clarendon.

Head-On Collision Demolishes Autos

What might have been a serious accident occurred Friday night on the highway one-half mile west of Hedley when Felix Jones, colored, who was driving west turned around another car and met the car of Jess Beach head-on.

The resulting collision demolished both cars, but none of the occupants were injured except Frank Spaulding, 18, who riding in the rear of the Beach car was thrown against the windshield, cutting his ear. Mrs. Beach was also in the car. Officers investigating the accident said that it was caused by negligence on the part of the Negro. No charges were filed.

drove to Colorado Springs and Canon City where the scenic beauty of the Royal Gorge was enjoyed by the group. Tuesday, the boys returned home tired and happy and full of the wonders of nature they had seen.

Bears proved to be one of the biggest interests of the trip with tall bear stories being told by the boys of the nightly visits to the camp by the hungry animal. Three car tops were torn out of cars within a range of fifty yards of the boys camp the first night in the park.

Donley Schools Are Standardized

In a list of standardized schools in Texas, Donley County was rated with twelve standardized schools for the year 1937-38. This is one of the highest number in any of the counties in this district.

In order to obtain this rating, a school must meet certain requirements in buildings, playground, library and teaching equipment. The teachers must have certain academic training, including a permanent certificate issued before September 1, 1925 or three years of college training unless the teacher has taught in a standardized school in 1936-37-38. The school asking for standardization must meet all starred items as indicated on the Official Score card and must be visited by the Deputy State Superintendent and checked by the Official score card of the State Department of Education.

Schools in Donley which are standardized are Ashboka, Bray, Chamberlain, Fairview, Goldston, Jericho, McKnight, Martin, Skillet, Sunny View, Watkins and Windy Valley.

Methodists To Celebrate With Golden Jubilee

Celebrating the completion of fifty years of organized contribution to the religious life of this community and world missions, The Clarendon Methodist Church will observe its Golden Jubilee, the week of September 18-25.

Rev. E. D. Landreth, pastor of the congregation, has appointed Judge J. R. Porter and Sam M. Braswell to work with him as the central committee and will next Sunday announce the sub-committees to carry out the general plan of the celebration.

Letters have gone out to former pastors and presiding elders of the church inviting them to attend the week's celebration and take part in the program of preaching which will feature the seven days. There have been twenty-two pastors in fifty years, ten are still living and some have already replied that they will be glad to attend and take part.

Bishop H. A. Boaz, retired, and the Episcopal superintendent of this conference for the past eight years will likely attend and preach on the closing Sunday of the Jubilee.

Rev. I. L. Mills, pioneer Methodist preacher in the territory of the Panhandle West of Vernon, organized the Clarendon Methodist Church in 1888, and P. A. Buntin is the sole surviving charter member of the first congregation living here now.

Members of the church over the years who have moved to other locations are to be invited to return for the Jubilee, which should add greatly to the pleasures of the week.

On the 15th of September The Clarendon News will issue a Methodist Golden Jubilee Edition carrying a comprehensive history of the Church with such illustrations as may be available.

WILL ROGERS WILL ATTEND IN SPIRIT

BELOVED PHILOSOPHER'S WIFE SAYS HIS SPIRIT WILL BE IN AMARILLO

With tolerant approbation the expansive spirit of America's beloved plainsman philosopher will be looking down on the highway celebration at Amarillo next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

That is the belief of Mrs. Will Rogers, his widow, who will attend the celebration.

In the pioneer parade, one of the features of the fete to dedicate the Will Rogers Route, U. S. Highway 66, old friends of the humorist-humanitarian will ride reverently behind the empty-saddled "Soapsuds."

The favorite mount of Will Rogers, being sent by his widow, will appear in the parade at 11:30 o'clock Monday and Tuesday mornings and in the spectacle on Butler Field each of the three nights at 8:45 o'clock.

Donald Novis, screen, stage and radio tenor; Leo Carrillo, cinema celebrity; "Tex" Ritter, cowboy crooner and other Hollywood notables will be aboard the special chartered airliner, which will arrive early next Monday.

Governor Allred of Texas, Governor Tingley of New Mexico and perhaps Governor Lloyd Stark of Missouri will attend. W. Lee O'Daniel ("Pass the Biscuits Pappy") has been invited.

Among the bands and delegations from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Coast will be the famous Kilties of Oklahoma City. "Old Southern Days" an historical spectacle, described as a million dollar show for 50 cents, will be the big feature of the celebration.

Colorful costumes, elaborate electrical effects, stupendous stage settings and a cast of more than 1,500 will be used to tell the Southwest's story, through which will be woven interesting incidents in the career of Will Rogers, once a cowboy on the plains of Texas.

Dignified business and professional men of Amarillo are in colorful cowboy costumes for the celebration. Those who are not, get "dunked" in a cattle tank until they admit they're "all wet" and start wearing "loud" shirts and 10-gallon hats.

Demand for tickets have been ordered set aside each night by Carl Hinton, national president of the highway association which planned the celebration.

Even the buildings in Amarillo have been dressed in holiday attire for the three day fete. Besides the parade and show, there will be a free barbecue Tuesday evening for old settlers of the Panhandle-Plains, polo games and cowboy pony races at 3 o'clock each afternoon on the Tri-State Fair grounds.

Many Clarendon people are planning to attend.

LIONS PLAN FOR BENEFIT PROGRAM

CLUB HEARS REPORT OF DIRECTORS AND HIGHWAY HEARING RESULTS

With a number of members absent due to vacations and visitations, the Clarendon Lions Club held its regular weekly luncheon Tuesday at the Clarendon Hotel, with President Patrick in the chair.

Matters submitted to the club from a meeting of the board of directors Monday evening included the question of a benefit program early in the Fall to provide funds for club activities. After general discussion the problem was referred to the major activities committee.

Lion Roy Bartlett appeared on the program to give the membership a report of the recent appearance of Donley County representatives before the Highway Commission at San Antonio in a plea for the immediate permanent survey of Highway 88 South from Clarendon to Turkey, which petition was granted by the Commission. Lion Lowe also spoke encouragingly along the lines of the North-South Highway project.

President Patrick gave a brief summary of the gas rate situation and expressed hopes of a favorable verdict at no distant date.

Master James Douglas was the guest of Lion Douglas for the day.

XIT PARTY DRAWS 20,000 - DALHART

RANCH BRAND DESIGNER, 82, BACK FOR ANNUAL PARTY WITH PIONEERS

DALHART, Texas, Aug. 8—Ab Blocker, 82, the man who designed the XIT brand, came back Monday to the place on the ranch at Buffalo Springs, where in '885 he brought a herd of Longhorns from Tom Green County to make the first delivery to the new 3,000,000-acre spread.

Col. Barbecue Campbell, the first general manager of the ranch, received the cattle, then marked in the dust with a bar of iron, attempting to design a three-letter brand.

Blocker marked the XIT in the ground with his boot heel. "Get to brandin'," the Colonel told him, and Blocker, swinging a loop that took nearly all the rope, picked up the toes of the first critter out of the corral and burned the brand.

He now lives at Big Wells and although he made eleven trips up the trail, Monday was his first visit since 1885 to the Division 1 at Buffalo Springs, which is 32 miles north of Dalhart.

Blocker was here, as were some 20,000 other persons, for the third annual reunion.

Down Dalhart streets at noon a hundred former XIT cowboys rode on horseback in a parade made long by automobiles and floats, while a crowd cheered along the three miles it passed.

A rodeo, boxing tournament, ball game, old fiddlers' contest, square dancing and an XIT historical pageant were on the day's program. Modern dances were held at night.

MISSIONARY TO CHINA SPEAKS

MISS THOMASON SAYS JAPANESE WILL SOON BE DRIVEN OUT

Miss Lillian Thomason of Shanghai, China spoke at the First Baptist Church Wednesday night on her experiences as a teacher and librarian in China. Miss Thomason is a resident of Dallas where she taught for a number of years before going to China. She taught in the American school in Shanghai for six years after which she returned to Dallas for a year. In 1923 she went back to China as a missionary from the Southern Baptist Mission Board. She took up duties as librarian of the University of Shanghai which is operated by both the Northern and Southern Baptist Boards. The University is located six miles out of the International Settlement in Shanghai. It has a property value of over a million dollars and about two thousand pupils attend it.

Miss Thomason left China on June 29, 1937, two weeks before the Japanese invasion started. She said if she had known the invasion would come, she would not have returned. She plans to return as soon as the Japanese are driven out, which she believes will be within six months. The University was looted by the Japs, who chose what few books they wanted out of the library and threw the rest down an embankment near the school where they were left to rot and be destroyed by mud and dust. The Japanese are occupying the University which is owned by Americans and refuse to move in spite of protests from the United States Government.

Miss Thomason knew Madame Kiang Chi-Chek, wife of the general of the Chinese armies, and her niece who attended the University and said that they were charming people. Miss Thomason is now collecting books to replace the 100,000 volumes destroyed by the Japanese and has had many given to her by various publishing companies and people. An express company in San Francisco has given her permission to take as many as she likes to China without charge.

"To know the Chinese people is to love them and appreciate their culture which is very beautiful," said Miss Thomason.

Senator-elect George Moffitt of Chillicothe was a business visitor in Clarendon Tuesday. Moffitt, who has been State Representative, was elected to the Senate in the July primary from his district. He is the owner of the Clarendon Motor Company.

Mrs. John Howard Deputy Sheriff

FIRST WOMAN IN DONLEY HISTORY TO BE NAMED PEACE OFFICER

Donley County has a woman deputy sheriff—the first in its history.

Sherriff Guy Pierce last week personally delivered a deputy's commission to Mrs. John Howard of Lelia Lake, and it was an appointment based on merit, too.

A modest home-body, Mrs. Howard has had a part in breaking up an insidious crime wave at Lelia Lake, which began about 1930, and has a record of having assisted in the movements which apprehended all but three of eleven who attempted burglary in that little city. On one occasion she directed local officers in a running fight with two desperadoes which ended in a car wreck and the apprehension of the criminals, on whose subsequent conviction Mrs. Howard received a reward from the federal department of justice.

Living near the business section of Lelia Lake, Mrs. Howard's keen eyes have detected suspicious movements of would-be burglars on more than one occasion and has notified the sheriff's department in time to make arrests.

Yes, Donley County has a Lady Deputy Sheriff—and is proud of it.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Breedlove and son spent the week end at Comanche visiting Mrs. Breedlove's parents and attending a family reunion.

GARNER FOR PRESIDENT BOOM GROWS

The action of the Uvalde county Democratic convention in endorsing Hon. John Nance Garner as the Democratic nominee for President in 1940, was the first official action giving body to that movement which has been growing in the minds of conservative Democrats in Texas and the Nation for many months.

Following this, the state democratic executive committee, put the official stamp of the party's approval on the Vice-President for the Democratic standard bearer when it met in Dallas last week, and today the "Garner for President" boom gathers momentum in every part of the country.

Texas will do herself honor by backing John Nance Garner for the Democratic nomination for President of the United States, and it is becoming more apparent every day that she will have lots of help from her sister states, not confined to the "Deep South" either.

Like many other Texans this editor disagrees with Mr. Garner on his liquor views but a practical view of that situation is that he would not be as dangerous to the cause of abstinence as the Roosevelt family have been since 1932, nor yet as obnoxious as Jim Farley, Gov. Earle, or a dozen other possibilities, on that score, for Garner is a conservative on liquor as well as politics.

The "Garner for President" boom grows.

PROBLEMS FOR THE NEW GOVERNOR

Did you ever see such a crop of political prophets as Texas has produced since July 23rd? East and West, North and South, they come listing countless problems Governor W. Lee O'Daniel must face when he goes into office.

Every new governor must face problems when he takes office, and The News agrees that Mr. O'Daniel will meet his share when he comes into power, but there is another side to the situation—he goes into office without obligations. Never has a governor been elected in Texas owing so little to hampering interests. He owes his election to the plain people, and we choose to assume that he will meet problems of state just like he has met business problems—and will do just as good a job in "handling the situation."

THINGS CHANGE WITH THE TIMES

When Henry Watterson was in his prime there was no such thing as a man offering himself for high office without first having agreed with the representatives of the people as to the platform on which he would run. In a later day, we have revised the methods. Now we have a democratic party in Texas (and Kentucky, probably) that finds out who the candidate is, what he wants in his platform and how many votes he got. The platform is then written to suit him, if he got enough votes.

Times have changed a bit. T. J. Holbrook, of Galveston, beaten last week, can tell you so. He voted and worked for many a man who ran on a platform that was known before the candidate was known. It's a cockeyed world the old-timers will tell you. Mr. Holbrook wants to resign and turn it over to the power-mad radicals, he says.

Mr. Watterson, in his valedictory, twenty years ago, told us in a voice as though from the tomb, we could expect what we have. The Holbrooks and that ilk are only the rearguard fighting against what they think of as the advancing tide of demagogues.—Floydada Hesperian.

LEWIS GOODRICH BACKS WOODUL FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Hon. Lewis Goodrich, the late Shamrock candidate for attorney-general, has announced his support for Hon. Walter Woodul for that office in the August run-off.

Lewis Goodrich is a deserving and observing young man destined to be heard more of in Texas politics in the years to come. He has observed that Walter Woodul in his long public service as state senator and lieutenant governor has been a public servant without taint of domination by the so-called interests detrimental to the public welfare.

He has observed that Walter Woodul has steadfastly stood for fair play to West Texas institutions and her citizenship.

He has observed that of the candidates for the most important legal post in our state government, Walter Woodul is the man with the best legal mind, the only candidate with experience necessary to cope with the complex problems that beset the attorney-general's department and the one whose broad knowledge enables him to see through the clever ruses and tricks the big corporations employ to defeat the rigid requirements of Texas statutes.

Another thing—we assume that Mr. Goodrich observes that with a Governor going into office without first-hand knowledge of state affairs. Texas never needed as good a lawyer—as experienced an attorney-general in statecraft as she does in the coming administration. The Hon. W. Lee O'Daniel, good and true public servant as he promises to be, will need the skill and experience of Hon. Walter Woodul of Houston.

We thank Mr. Goodrich for his open-hearted and patriotic aid to the campaign for Walter Woodul. He knows what Texas needs and is man enough to come out in the open and work for it. No sulking in the tent for Lewis Goodrich, thank you. He enthusiastically backs Walter Woodul for the attorney-general's office in the August finals.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN—Money for pensions will be the first problem to confront the new administration when it takes office next January, in the opinion of those here whose business it is to follow the trend of public thinking in Texas. The first information of what direction the O'Daniel administration's efforts to meet the public demand for increased pensions will probably come out of the Beaumont state convention next month. The whole field is wide open—since O'Daniel made no commitments during his campaign nor since—and the platform adopted at Beaumont should show the direction in which he will turn to get additional pension revenue.

SALES TAX DRIVE ON

Advocates of a sales tax already are busily urging this method as the least painful method of extracting substantial additional revenue, and it now appears that the sales tax advocates, headed by Jim Ferguson, did some shrewd political maneuvering during the campaign. At the outset, Ferguson, the most volatile advocate of $30 pensions and likewise the most ardent sponsor of the sales tax, endorsed and supported McCraw who looked like the leading candidate early in the campaign. Later, as the O'Daniel movement developed, Ex-Senator T. H. McGregor, life-long ally of Ferguson and as strong sales taxer jumped aboard the O'Daniel band-wagon. The politicians wondered about this apparent "split" between the two veterans who have always worked so closely together, but when the votes were counted, and McGregor launched a speaking campaign in behalf of the sales tax, advocating repeal of the chain store tax at the same time, they understood.

TWO BEST BETS

The sales tax and additional taxes on natural resources appear to be O'Daniel's best bets to get important pension money. The oil industry, however, claims it is bearing about all the load it can carry and remain in competition with other oil producing states, and any radical increase in taxation might result in a declining total of revenue, especially with too much oil being produced, even under rigid proration. Oil and gas are now produced in substantially more than half the counties of the State, and a strong bloc to resist increased taxation on these resources would be formed immediately in the Legislature. Real estate is no longer an important source of state revenue, and the property owners have protested so vigorously that the trend there is to relieve real property eventually of all state taxation.

O'Daniel's taxation views are not known here. He has been a flour broker, selling to merchants himself, so it is a natural assumption that he ought to be sym-thetic with the view of retail merchants, who oppose a sales tax to a man. If that is true, it appears that natural resources will emerge as the prospective patient for the $90,000,000 pension operation.

But O'Daniel's friends concede it was the pension talk that recruited the backbone of his tremendous strength, and being the careful student of public psychology that he is few believe the new governor will waste any time tackling that problem.

THE RUN-OFF

The final scramble for votes for each of six State offices, and a goodly sprinkle of local candidates is nearing the final spurt for the second primary August 27. The State ticket finds Walter Woodul, lieutenant governor, of Houston, an able lawyer and an official seasoned by experience in public service, pitted against Gerald C. Mann, of Dallas, youthful Dallasite who is campaigning against professional politicians, who has held three appointive political posts in the brief period since he graduated from Harvard Law School. For lieutenant governor, Coke Stevenson, of Junction, veteran legislator, twice speaker of the House and political conservative, is opposed to P. Pierce Brooks, of Dallas, a real estate subdivider who has never held office, but ran for Governor two years ago. Chairman C. V. Terrell, of the Texas Railroad Commission, faces G. A. Sadler of Longview; Bill McDonald, Land Commissioner, of Eastland, whose administration has drawn criticism from legislative and other sources, tilts with Bascom Giles, a former employee of the office who has never held elective office. Two high court judges also face runoffs, Associate Justice Richard Critz of Williamson county, with W. H. Davidson, of Beaumont, and Judge Harry Graves of Williamson county, with Judge James A. Stephens. Leading lawyers of the state have inaugurated a vigorous campaign in behalf of Judge Critz, who seeks election to his first full term, having been first appointed to succeed Justice Pierson and later elected to complete Pierson's unexpired term.

CAMPAIGN AFTERMATH

waged by W. Lee O'Daniel and its outstanding success with the voters, has upset some traditional belief of candidate and campaign managers generally. The fact that O'Daniel, rated as one of the nation's premier radio personalities, used that medium extensively, has influenced heavy purchases of radio time in both primaries by virtually all candidates. Newspaper advertising has suffered considerable loss of prestige, as a result. But as one advertising expert pointed out, they overlook the fact that it was the continuity of advertising effort, kept up for eight years by O'Daniel before he got into the Governor's race, that won success for him instead of the medium he used. "It sho' is too bad ma'm," remarked the negro cook employed by one candidate's wife, when she read the election returns and found her employer in a run-off race. "I was hopin' de boss man would win, but he's done got hisself in one of these 'run-arounds'." New State Senator from Fort Worth, to occupy the seat formerly held by Frank Rawlings, the upper body's ablest parliamentarian, will be Jesse Martin, whose runoff opponent, Rep. Lonnie Smith, withdrew. Martin is a former assistant Federal district attorney. E. R. Lindley of Beaumont, member of the House of Representatives has announced he will be a candidate for the post of chief clerk of the new legislature, and Mrs. Louise Snow Phinney, of Dallas, chief clerk for the past 12 years, has also announced she will seek re-election, denying an earlier report that she would not run again.

Clothes End the Controversy

DENTON—It takes longer to make a dress of stone than of cloth, but the statue to Pioneer Women to be erected at Texas State College for Women is now modestly clothed. Artist Leo Friedlander, who started a furor with his original model of four nude figures depicting a pioneer family, won the approval of the Board of Control with the model pictured above, which is now under construction. Critics of the original claimed that the figures "looked like apes," and that a nude statue was not "appropriate to a woman's college campus."

McDONALD TAKES RAP AT WALLACE

Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald last week hurled charges of unjust domination over American agriculture at Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. The State official regarded Wallace's plan of sending speakers into the cotton belt to oppose the domestic allotment farm plan as "further evidence Wallace is determined to dominate American agriculture and regiment the farmers of the nation."

grower the cost of production and allow a margin of profit on that part of the crop sold in this country. The rest would be sold at the cost of production.

"Secretary Wallace has for the past five years been given the support of Congress and abundant appropriations with which to produce agriculture stability," McDonald stated. "He has thoroughly demonstrated his ability or he has evidenced that he is more interested in the building of a domineering political machine than in agriculture welfare."

"It is high time to turn loose the indignation which must rest in the breasts of every son of the pioneers who gave their blood and life for American freedom to give this young secretary who has Mussolini inclinations to understand that he is secretary of agriculture of the United States and not of some Nation which is oppressed with dictatorial forms of government."

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fink and son of Childress spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. O. L. Fink.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

A biography of Edith Wharton by Percy Lubbock is to appear shortly. Its title will be "Portrait of Edith Wharton." It will be remembered that Edith Wharton died in Paris, France more than a year ago, where she had lived for some years. She was one of the best-known of the American writers of Modern fiction. Quite a few of her books are on our shelves.

Postmaster General James A. Farley will soon finish his memoirs, which will be published in December under the title "Behind the Ballots."

Henry C. Link whose "The Return to Religion" continues to be a best seller, has a new book, "The Rediscovery of Man," which will be published this fall. We have his "Return to Religion" on our shelves.

"Adonais," Dorothy Hewlitt's biography of Keats, has been awarded the Rose Mary Crawshaw prize of $500 for 1938 by the British Academy. This prize was originally founded in 1888 and may be awarded annually to a woman of any nationality who, in the judgement of the British Academy, has written within the three preceding years a valuable historical or critical work on English literature, particularly on Byron, Shelley or Keats.

Winston S. Churchill's latest book, "While England Slept," will be published in September. It deals with European affairs during the last six years and with the rearmament of Germany. Mr. Churchill's last book was "Great Contemporaries." He plans to come to the United States soon after the publication of the new book for a coast to coast lecture tour.

A new book which is attracting the attention of more thoughtful readers is "The Coming Victory of Democracy" by Thomas Mann, the self-exiled German writer who toured this country last spring and who has announced that he plans to take up his residence here.

The democracy that Mann defends is not a specific form of government, but an ideal of justice and of respect for human dignity. He says that for democracy to survive it must become social, must embrace the program of economic humanism, must show that it has higher aims than the mere preservation of the rights of property. It must somehow manage to save the ideal of peace. He shows that the issue of Fascism versus democracy has acquired an especial pathos because of its relation to the threat of war. Mann denounces Hitler's policies with all his power, refusing to admit that war is anything but "moral indolence, profligate adventure, amateur escape from the great and urgent problems of social reform which peace imposes." His strongest case for democracy rests on the fact that the democratic respect for humanity commits civilized nations to peace.

One of our new books is "Undertow," by A. Hamilton Gibbs, one of the three English brothers who have become well-known to the literary world, including Sir Philip Gibbs. But A. Hamilton Gibbs came to the United States soon after the close of the World War, married Jeanette Phillips of Boston, herself a writer, and he became an American citizen. He had been in this country with a play by his brother, Cosmo Hamilton Gibbs, and a month after his return to England the World War began. He at once enlisted, soon was commissioned and served in the Royal Field Artillery. He was awarded the Military cross and demobilized with the rank of Major. Then to the United States and his marriage. He has written five novels, "Soundings," "Labels," "Harness," "Chances," and "Undertow"—three of which are on our shelves. His stories are significant for their sincerity, idealism and a poet's sense of the potential beauty that lies just beneath the surface of the little things of every day. Dealing with contemporary young people, he is frank and outspoken, yet still observes a reticence which is welcomed and refreshing.

Francis Brett Young is 54 years old, and is the son of an English Doctor. When he was five years old he announced he was going to be a poet. But the family had decided he was to be a doctor, and so, under protest, he was sent to Birmingham University to study medicine. Even here, he says that his reading centered on the English poets, but this did not hinder his studies and he qualified as a doctor. For two years he traveled in the Far East as a ship's doctor, visiting Korea, Japan and China. Then he married. He has a passion for music and his wife is an accomplished singer. He settled at Brixham as a general practitioner—and a novelist. His first two books were each rejected by thirty-two publishers. He gave up his practice in 1915 and was granted a commission in the Royal Army Medical corps, and soon was sent to East Africa. He was on active duty there until

His novel, "They Seek a Country," which led the list of best sellers for many months, was the result of his long residence in Africa. He had revisited the country several times after the World War, and in 1936, when the plan and plot of the story had fully developed in his mind, he spent several months there on a motor trip northward from Cape Town to Kenya. All of the country so graphically depicted in the story was traveled over. Therefore both the land and its people are portrayed with authenticity.

WHAT NEXT?

While nature is finicky in supplying just the right conditions for growing things out-of-doors, plants and flowers grown inside the home are often subject to more hazards through over-watering or under-watering. This difficulty may be overcome by the use of the sub-irrigating and self-watering principle as illustrated in the novel flower box pictured above. The supplying of just the right amount of air and water directly to the roots of the plants, with an indicator recording the amount the plants are consuming, relieves the housewife of constant vigilance in tending them.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste. Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be nagging headache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

"Hardy Family" Pictures Is Hollywood's Answer To Old Cry for "New Faces"

Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland in "Love Finds Andy Hardy"

"The rapidly growing 'series' idea in motion pictures is offering one solution to Hollywood's perennial plea for new faces," says George Seitz, who directed the fourth of the "Judge Hardy" series, "Love Finds Andy Hardy," showing at the Pastime Theatre Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

"In these pictures the cast 'nucleus' remains unchanged, but with new adventures encountered in each successive release, it is necessary to provide new talent. "In both the Judge Hardy and Jones Family groups, the primary interest being in youthful members of the cast, additions to the cast are usually made from young players.

"In 'You're Only Young Once,' second of the Hardy Family pictures, two newcomers were given a chance to prove themselves, as Eleanor Lynn and Ted Pearson

Answer Questions, Grade Your Driving

AUSTIN, Aug. 9—State police traffic experts have devised a questionnaire from which drivers may determine their individual qualifications for operating vehicles in a safe manner.

Ten questions relating to basic causes for most accidents on streets and highways were listed by traffic research officers so that drivers may correct their errors.

Each question counts 10 points if answered in the affirmative, with ten points discount for negative answers. If your grade is between 90 and 100 you may consider yourself an excellent driver. A grade between 80-90 classes you as a fairly good driver, but if your grade is below 80 you are a menace to traffic safety and should correct your faults, state police warned.

- The questions are:
1. Do you use proper arm signals when turning or stopping?
 2. Do you always drive within legal speed limits?
 3. Do you always refrain from passing other vehicles on hills or curves?
 4. Do you bring your vehicle to a complete stop at traffic STOP signals?
 5. Do you observe the right-of-way rules at intersections?
 6. Do you always park your vehicle so that it does not obstruct traffic?
 7. Do you dim your lights at night for oncoming vehicles?
 8. Do you always drive on the right side, not too close to the center stripe?
 9. Do you regularly inspect lights and other mechanical parts of your vehicle?
 10. Do you drive in the same manner under supervision of a traffic officer as you do when he is out of your view?

City Park At Head Of Kearney Street Started Eight Years Ago Today Needs Community Support

For a number of years, various groups and individuals in Clarendon have been attempting to create a park in the draw north of the grade schools. The Lions Club and the Rotary Club started the project in 1930 when they obtained the rock and built the terraces there. Mr. J. W. Martin, deceased, built the stone arch, which so effectively forms an entrance to the park. Trees were planted and flowers set out at that time, but as no water and little cultivation was given them, they did not thrive.

Various other groups and individuals have since then, at one time or another, sponsored movements to improve the park, but little was done until the last year, when the Les Beaux Arts club took over the park and attempted beautification of it. They enlisted the interest and support of the other women's clubs of the city and succeeded in getting the park cleaned up, tables and ovens built and new plants set out.

Early in June, a meeting was held by representatives of every civic organization in the city at which plans were made for a permanent Park Board and for work to be done this summer on the park. Through cooperation of the highway department, rock was obtained for more terraces and the services of a landscape engineer were offered. The engineer is now at work and will draw up a plan for the park. A WPA project can be gotten to complete the park. It is planned to set out Bermuda grass and about 100 trees before the next year as well as other improvements.

In order to be able to continue the project, the board must have the backing of the people of Clarendon. To ascertain the attitude of the people, a News reporter interviewed a number of people to see what they thought about the park. Following are some of their opinions:

County Judge S. W. Lowe said he thought the park was a very good idea for the community to sponsor and that he favored it.

Dr. B. L. Jenkins, one of the early promoters of the park, thinks that the town needs a park, but does not think it will be a success in its present location because of the floods which wash through it every year.

Allen Bryan also favored a city park, but he said that he thought the park should be built up or another one started, on the old school grounds as there is not much room for expansion in its present location. He said he believed a park would help the town greatly.

O. C. Watson thinks the idea of a city park worthy of everyone's consideration, but he felt it would not succeed without continuous support on the part of someone who would be willing to work on it. He said that the women had started out in such a manner that he thought they were the ones to do it.

C. J. Douglas said he was heartily in favor of a park, and that the present one would serve admirably if more conveniences were put in it. He believed that the floods would have no effect on the park except to provide water for the grass.

Mrs. C. A. Burton stated that she thought there was nothing Clarendon needed more than a park to serve as a recreational center for the town.

Isadore Mellinger was of the opinion that the park was well-located at the end of main street of the town and would very much improve the town as a whole.

If the City Park in Clarendon is to become a reality, the people of Clarendon must get behind it and support it. In the past, it has failed because not enough have been interested in it to work in it and for it. Now is the time for Clarendon to build a city park. Every organization in the city has given its approval to the park through its officers, but the members of the organizations are the ones who will have to really do the backing up.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE TRIP by F. F. A. Reporter

We would like to have a full explanation of the following nicknames: "Sister" or "Hit and Run" Shannon.

"Hawkshaw" Elbert Bain. "Grizzly" Maurice Risley. "Hotdog" Jr. Hartzog. "Frankenstein" Cannon. "Guilty" Eugene Putman. "Noisy" Joe Williams. "Doc" Douglas. "Face of Knowledge" George Moore.

"Pincknot" Beatty Hillman. "Jack Frost" Rolfe. "Uncle Urkle Squirkle" Johnston.

We Wonder? How close the bear really got to Vernon? Why Sister contoured in his bed?

Why Guilty waved at the past-board girl and then quit waving at all of them?

How many cherries the gang could eat or if they want 50 pounds more?

How many pieces of pie Hawkshaw really ate?

How Homer and Uncle like the belt line?

Why Hotdog got lost at Shady Greenhorn?

Why the Tatler of the group had to tell everything that was heard in such a confidential manner so the group couldn't all enjoy the news?

If the gang could ever agree to what was the prettiest scene on the trip.

If any other twenty-eight people could eat 10 pounds of steak, 8 cans of corn, 15 pounds of potatoes, 6 cans of green beans, 12 loaves of bread and drink 5 gallons of tea at one meal?

If the members of the group will ever have another such enjoyable trip?

If 28 members will ever be gathered together in which only two smoked in any fashion?

Why we never heard any profanity of any kind on the trip?

Why we remembered all of this in the first place?

The Dish that Disappears

Home-made ice cream is easily prepared with chocolate and vanilla arrowroot puddings.

By BETTY BARCLAY

Home-made ice cream, easily prepared and at a low cost, is about as attractive a warm-weather dish as either the busy housewife or the hungry family can desire. It is a dessert that is eaten to the last bite—it always disappears. We came across just the very thing, the other day, when we learned about using the packages of either chocolate, vanilla or butterscotch arrowroot pudding that are in every grocery. The arrowroot ingredient adds to the smooth, creamy texture and makes it especially wholesome for children, as it digests quickly and completely. Recipes are on the packages. The basic recipe below shows how easy it is. Three methods of freezing can be used.

1. In Automatic Refrigerator: Quick freezing is preferable; 3 or 4 hours is ample time to freeze delicious smooth mixtures in the freezing tray of an automatic refrigerator if the temperature is set low. However, as soon as the ice cream is frozen, the cold control should be turned back to normal for storage.

2. In Ice and Coarse Salt: Place the mixture in a covered mould or a suitable empty can, filling only two-thirds full; seal the covers tightly by binding with cloth dipped in melted fat; bury the mould in a mixture of ice and salt for about 4 hours. Use four parts finely cracked ice and one part coarse salt.

3. In Ice Cream Freezer: Add the heavy cream unwhipped, using with it an extra 1/2 cup milk. Freeze as usual using 6 to 8 parts ice to 1 part coarse salt and 4 parts ice to 1 part salt for packing when frozen.

Chocolate, Vanilla or Butterscotch Ice Cream
1 package chocolate, vanilla or butterscotch arrowroot pudding
2 cups milk
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup cream, whipped
Mix chocolate, vanilla or butterscotch pudding with milk; bring to boil, stirring constantly. Remove from fire; add sugar. Cool slightly; pour into refrigerator freezing tray to chill. Freeze quickly about 1 hour until thick but not hard; fold in whipped cream. Freeze quickly 3 to 4 hours. Makes about 1 quart.

PHOTOGRAPHY HELPS TO EXPLAIN MYSTERY OF SILENT LIGHTNING

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., — Silent lightning, a mysterious electrical effect believed to be the sky wiring in thunderstorms, recorded itself in a photograph made public at the University of Virginia.

Only 100 feet from the camera, and bright enough to light clouds above, the flash made no sound. It traced a sky written pattern. The shape was an almost perfect head of a great bird, poised to strike at several contorted snakes of fire in front of its beak.

The Virginia scientists identified it as probably a rare example of the leader strokes recently discovered in thunderstorms by fast cameras. The leaders precede the lightning flash so quickly that the eye does not distinguish them.

That these leaders might be silent lightning had not been known. Their wiring aspect was traced to the fact that the paths they made were used by lightning strokes. They ionized wire-life, twisting paths in the air over which strokes of lightning immediately afterward flashed. These main strokes traveled both up and down the sky wiring.

No lightning followed the appearance of the silent electrical bird caught in the photograph. This rare event helped to clarify the source and antics of eader lightning.

The photograph of the bird and other strange strokes were taken by R. E. Holzer and E. J. Workman. Aiding in interpreting the lightning story were L. B. Snoddy and J. W. Beams. Their report was made for the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce at Richmond.

The streaks of fire that made bird and snakes broke out simultaneously in four places. The birds head was drawn by one flash that doubled back on its trail more than once, and in one giration drew a circle for the eye. Some of the lines were made by flashes starting at a single point and traveling in opposite direction.

The explanation is of the air or clouds filled with pockets of electrical energy. The silent lightning breaks from one of these pockets, driven by the high potential behind it.

How far it goes depends on the size of the electrical reservoir, attractive forces of other charges near by and resistance of the air.

Some of the leaders stab out several times before reaching another cloud or the ground. Sometimes they die out without being followed by a flash.

The Virginia cameras caught one cloud bottom which sent a leader downward without effect then a second leader to a nearby cloud. A huge flash leaped up from the earth to this second cloud. It seemed to delay there momentarily, and then followed the path already drawn by the leader to reach the cloud which had first started the shooting.

The Virginia lightning experts estimated that over the entire earth there are about 100 lightning flashes every second. This is equivalent to a steady flow of a current of 2,000 amperes between earth and clouds or from cloud to cloud.

AUTHORITY WARNS OF "DANGEROUS AGE" IN DAUGHTERS

WHEN your daughter, still adolescent, suddenly turns her attention towards lipstick and face creams, it is your cue to step in and guide her in her effort to appear mature, according to an article by Elinor Guthrie Neff in the August Harper's Bazaar.

Pointing out that without mothers' help, girls are forced to find their own way to beauty aids and diets that may do them irreparable damage—or even worse, if they fail in their efforts to become attractive they bring great unhappiness to themselves, Miss Neff warns that the appearance of the first lipstick is the time for mothers to go to work.

Gertrude Lawrence discovers the potential beauty of her daughter in "Susan and God."

Frowned upon in this awakening, the child may carry out her desires away from family criticism. "She buys wherever she can the cheap, thick creams, the wrong color of rouge and lipstick," says Miss Neff. "She starves herself with diets made up of girls' gossip; tortures her hair with curlers and seldom brushes it. Her skin is rarely properly cleansed. You will be dismayed when you notice it and you will console yourself that it is only a phase."

"If your child is timid and dreads not face her mirror, she retreats into some solitary haven, announces that she hates boys, and applies herself to her lessons. The teachers put her down as a sensible girl and you brag about her. It never occurs to you that she is fleeing from life and that her flight is a symbol of failure."

Usually the lightening leader strikes downward from a negative cloud to a positive earth at a speed of 200,000 to 1,000,000 miles an hour. Then the earth shoots the main stroke upward, along the sky-wire, at speeds ranging between 50,000,000 and 100,000,000 miles an hour.

Attorney-General's Office Says Woodul Demands Experience

HILLSBORO—Common sense calls for the selection of the most experienced and ablest lawyer available for attorney general, to represent the interests of 6,000,000 people against the best lawyers the corporations can hire.

So declared Walter Woodul, who led the first primary ticket for attorney general with more than 300,000 votes, in a speech here Thursday night, opening his runoff drive.

The towering lieutenant governor, lean and in high spirits, was presented by District Attorney Jerry Clarke, most active supporter of Speaker R. W. Calvert's first primary race for attorney general. Clyde Tomlinson, another leading Calvert aide, presided.

"In simple truth," said Woodul, "I am the only candidate in this race with real experience practicing law, with a record of legal accomplishments, attested by fellow lawyers and judges of the seven district courts in my home county. Measured by those vital qualifications, I am confident of victory." Many other Calvert workers shared his confidence and pledged him their support.

"I renew my pledge of full cooperation with our incoming governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, and my support of his program for old age assistance and industrial development," he said.

"I am heartily in accord with taking the government from the professional politicians and turning it back to the people. In that class are those who keep their feet in the public feed trough by seeking one appointment after another from elected officials, at full-time pay. Their fat salaries come from the taxpayers' pockets, but political appointees are not subject to the people's approval at the ballot box."

"I was elected senator and lieutenant governor by overwhelming popular majorities and re-elected in 1936 without opposition. The per diem I have received in these offices was less than I would have earned practicing law during the same period of time. I sought the offices to render a public service, and am proud of my achievements. My only aim and ambition in aspiring to the greater honor of attorney general is to render a greater public service."

Even Sugar Is Streamlined!

A 1900 automobile pictured alongside a modern, streamlined car is one of the most dramatic examples of the progress that has taken place during the 20th century.

Less exciting perhaps, but just as progressive in their way, are the improvements that have been made in the little things. Take Sugar for instance . . . Remember the little brown paper bags which the grocer used to fill out of a big sugar barrel? If the sugar was lumpy from moisture, grayish with dust or contained a few splinters—well, that was just the way sugar came and it couldn't be helped—sugar was sugar.

Today, however, every housewife demands snow-white sugar in dirt-proof sealed packages, she wants different kinds of sugar for different purposes and she insists on buying quality sugar guaranteed by a well-known brand name.

The story of the improvement of sugar, like that of automobiles, foods, drugs and a thousand and one other products is the same basic story—because of the large market created by national advertising of a brand name the manufacturer has been able to install modern machinery, carry on exhaustive research, continually improve quality and reduce prices to the consumer.

Buy nationally advertised products featured in this newspaper from your local dealer, and you will not only get the best buy for your dollar today but will help to make it possible to get even more for your dollar tomorrow.

Milk Cows On Only Fourth Of Farms

COLLEGE STATION—Almost one fourth, or 121,000 of Texas' farm families, have no milk cows, according to E. R. Eudaly, dairyman of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

This means, the dairyman pointed out, that Texas needs an additional quarter million dairy cows if farm families are to have sufficient milk for home needs, and also that dairy production for home use can expand considerably in Texas and in the South in general without competing with commercial dairy areas.

Eudaly based his statement on census figures and estimates of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics which show that 24.2 per cent of Texas farm families do not have a milk cow and that over the 12 Southern states as a whole only 71 per cent of the farm families keep cows for milk.

There is an average of only two milk cows per farm over the cotton belt as a whole as compared to an average of nearly four for all farms in the United States and more than 10 per farm in Wisconsin. Texas, with an average of 3.2 cows per farm, leads all the cotton belt states except Oklahoma in this respect.

The dairyman does not believe that AAA programs tend to force cotton farmers into dairying in competition with commercial dairying centers. "There were 5,562,000 dairy cows in the 12 principal cotton producing states in 1932, before the AAA," he said. On January 1, 1938, there were 5,896,000, an increase of 334,000 milk cows. This is an increase of 30,000 dairy cows per state, or an average increase per state of 5,000 for each year since the AAA came into existence.

"Nutritional specialists of the Extension Service tell me that the average farm family of five needs two good milk cows for home use. Thus in Texas alone we could add 242,000 dairy cows without increasing our commercial output to any noticeable extent," Eudaly said.

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.
What you may need is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and thus help calm your shrieking nerves, give more energy and make life worth living again.
More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

How The Famous Drake Well Came In

Sam Smith Tells the Vivid Story of America's First Oil Well, and in 1930 was the only Man Living who Saw it Happen. Reprinted from The Texaco Star, April, 1930.

(Editor's Note—The following story of the famous first oil well in the United States, discovered in August 1859 at Titusville, Pa., was recently found in an old copy of the Texaco Star of April 1930. Mr. Smith, "the only man living who saw the Drake well come in," has no doubt passed on, but his story is as vivid today as eight years ago when he told it to his interviewer. The historical value of the story is beyond compare.)

One minute there was a hole in the ground. The next minute the hole had been flooded with oil, and the petroleum business had begun. There, in a nutshell, and in the phraseology of Samuel B. Smith of Titusville, Pennsylvania, the only man living who saw it happen, you have it.

Mr. Smith, who is getting on to his ninetieth year and who remembers that significant day in August, 1859 as though it were yesterday, explodes a few stories about the beginning of the oil business, sitting in a comfortable armchair in his Titusville home, where he can command a view of the endless hills, he reminisces in a way that reveals his delight with the early days of the petroleum industry and his utter astonishment with its growth and development.

"There are a lot of stories spun about the Drake well," Mr. Smith recalls. "Many people think of an oil well as a gusher, and perhaps that is why so many believe that the Drake well came in a flying, Well, she didn't; the Drake well never even flowed.

"I was standing beside my father when she came in, and it wasn't even on a Sunday, either, as the historians have it. I don't remember exactly what date it was—and there isn't a living person who is really sure of the day—but it wasn't Sunday, because we didn't work on Sunday then any more than we do now.
"At any rate, father and I were standing beside the well, which we had been drilling for some time, and as I happened to glance down, I saw something dark and fluidy even with the ground. I shouted right out loud, and even though I was only sixteen at the time, I can remember how my father started and looked down to the ground where I was pointing.
"We didn't have to test it; we knew what we were looking for and that what we saw was it. She didn't gush a bit, and my father hustled us around to get the pump on her. It was an ordinary water pump but for our purposes at the time, it did the trick.

"Getting the oil to the market," he observes, "was not all figured out in advance as they say it was. As a matter of fact, we went scurrying all over town that day, digging up everything in the way of containers we could find. Barrels were scarce, so we collected pails, boxes—in fact anything we could lay our hands on. The oil leaked out of nearly everything we had and we must have lost as much as we saved.

"The town went crazy. They dropped their work right in the middle of the day and hustled out there—the site of the well is about three miles from Titusville proper. We didn't have much in the way of cooperation from the citizens who came to watch, but I don't imagine you can blame them for that; they were so thunderstruck they didn't know what to do. The trouble was that neither did most of us. Through the whole thing, my father managed to keep cool, and he gave directions to all of us. All the time the oil was flowing into whatever container happened to be handiest.

There are marked divergent opinions concerning the virtues of Colonel Drake, popularly conceded to be elected parent of the petroleum business. Mr. Smith, whose association with the Colonel extended over several years, gives him a clean bill of health:

"He was one of the finest men I ever knew," Mr. Smith will tell you. "He didn't know a whole lot about the business we were trying to engage in, but neither did any of us. He worked hard, and he kept cheering us fellows up all the time who were naturally getting discouraged over the way things were going."

For a number of years, Mr. Smith, veteran of the oil business if there ever was one, has gone to Tulsa for the annual petroleum exposition as the guest of its sponsors. He comes back each year marveling at the present scope of the industry, never realizing for a moment in his modest way, that many who have met him think him marvelous too.

Grazing Control Aids Grass

Grass kept eaten down and constantly trampled by livestock has little chance of attaining a healthy growth and the bare soil soon becomes subject to wind erosion. Grazing has been permitted on the pasture at the left at intervals and the grass is healthy. Continued grazing of the pasture at the right of the fence has created an erosion hazard, Soil Conservation Service range examiners point out.

"Milk And Honey" To Go With Hot Biscuits

SULPHUR SPRINGS—C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, Friday pledged his support to Governor-designate W. Lee O'Daniel's pension payment plan in a speech here before several thousand attending the Hopkins County Old Settlers' Reunion.

"You have elected W. Lee O'Daniel to the governorship to 'pass the biscuits,'" Judge Terrell said. "That's fine. Reelect me and I'll bring the milk and honey to go with those biscuits.
"I made speeches and voted for the $30 pension. I want to see it paid to every old person in the state. As your railroad commissioner, I can help pay it by keeping oil tax collections high. Thanks to the oil orders I have issued, oil tax collections this year are higher than they were expected to be—amount to about $13,000,000 for ten months through June and I call that bringing the 'milk and honey.'

Judge Terrell also told the interested crowd how he has brought $50,000,000 to the state school fund in oil money.
"That sounds like milk and honey to me, too, and I think I deserve the support of every Texan interested in good schools of this state for having helped the schools in that amount," Judge Terrell said.

He wound up his speech with a declaration that his orders have saved the Texas farmers and shippers millions of dollars by lowering freight rates. "Texas has the lowest freight rates per cargo mile of any state in the union," he said. "Right now the railroads are attacking our rate orders asking that we raise them

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

I do not often get steamed up and froth at the mouth or get excited about what is going on or not going on.

Most stuff being done, you forget about it anyway, by tomorrow, and all you get out of stewin' around, is a bad stomach. And I want to preserve my stomach for things like baked beans, etc., which my Susie, she is a champion at fixing up.

But once in a full moon something happens that gives me a half-way pain in the neck, and the latest, it is this talk about helping the farmer—like it used to be the fashion to get elected by poppin' off about electric lights.

But farmers, I would feel more like envying them, than being sorry. You don't see any farmer who is worth a hoot, going hungry like people in the city. He just waltzes out there and digs a few potatoes and carrots, and his wife pops a chicken in the skillet—and depression number one or depression number two, it makes no difference.

Feeling sorry for a farmer hiding behind a plate of fried chicken—brother, that is comedy.

Yours, with the low down,
JO SERRA

Grand Two-Year Love Feast O'Daniel's Prediction For Coming Gubernatorial Term

W. Lee O'Daniel returned to the radio Monday night to tell Texans the next two years at Austin are going to be "one great big, grand love feast."

On the air, pleading for Red Cross flood relief contributions Texas' Governor designate interspersed the appeal with remarks of political significance.

"I've just come back from a vacation at Galveston," he said. "It was a grand vacation, the first one I ever remember taking, and I met so many nice people it seems nothing can happen to mar the future." Then came his prophecy anent his coming two years in the Governor's Mansion. O'Daniel renewed his pledge for industrial development of Texas with:

"Texas is on the threshold of the greatest commercial advancement in the history of the world." Relieving the seriousness of his appeal, he joked:

"I would like to tell you about that big fish I caught in Galveston, but that fish was just too long to get a fifteen minute program."

JUDGE LOWE WILL SPEAK AT ACADEMY HOME COMING

Judge S. W. Lowe and family left this week for Stephenville and Huckabee for a visit with relatives and friends, and where Judge Lowe will speak Saturday at a home-coming of the Old Huckabee Academy Graduates and Students to be held at the latter point.

Huckabee Academy was another of these schools Texas abounded in some thirty years ago, many of which graduated some of the most famous men of the state in all lines of endeavor. This school was founded by C. H. Hale and Elzy D. Jennings, young instructors of unusual ability and character in 1906. Prof. Hale is a member of the faculty of John Tarleton College at Stephenville today, and will be present to preside at the home-coming ceremonies. Prof. Jennings later became dean of SMU at Dallas and died this past Spring. Judge Lowe graduated there in 1909, and will enjoy meeting again with his old classmates, as they will enjoy hearing him speak on this enjoyable occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Meade Halle of Hereford are the parents of a daughter born Aug. 10.

Texas Patrolman Earns Reward

AUSTIN, Aug. 10.—It was only one of a Texas Highway Patrolman's duties but Patrolman John Lowry has received extra dividends for help he gave to a stranded family of motorists near Henrietta over 18 months ago, state police officials related today.

The officer found the family—father and four small children—in their stalled, dilapidated automobile on a highway near that Northwest Texas town a year and a half ago. The family was hungry, without funds, in ragged clothes and had no fuel for their conveyance. Patrolman Lowry arranged for the necessary supplies and sent them on their way.

Eighteen months later a man and four children riding in a new automobile stopped the officer as he rode his motorcycle along the same highway. It was the same family whose misfortunes had been reversed since the first meeting.

"When those kids hugged my neck, I guess I was the happiest man in Texas," the patrolman told fellow officers.
