AMERICANS MUST OPPOSE WAR

"The proper policy is clear: No American shall ever again be sent to find and die on the continent of Europe.

"Powerful currents of emotion and opinion today are running against this policy in America. We are being asked to defer to emotional hostilities without further ado and take them as basic data in the formulation of public policy. We are asked to accept uncritically the opinions of both the military and the hysterical enthusiasts. But this is no time to throw reason out of the window, to raise the shout that the time has come to abandon all we have learned at such heavy cost since 1914. To do this is to declare oneself bankrupt.

"We are told that democracy is in danger. It is. We must defend it. It is endangered by war. We must oppose war—unless forced upon us by the absolute necessity of defending this continent."
—C. Hartley Grattan.

IT MIGHT BE TODAY

Something in the late President Wilson's message to Congress back in 1918 has even greater application today than it did then.

"The Congress might well consider," President Wilson declared, "whether the high rates of income and profits taxes can in peacetime be effectively productive of revenue and whether they may not, on the contrary, be destructive of business activity and productive of waste and inefficiency. There is a point at which in peacetime high rates of income and profits taxes discourage energy, remove the incentive to new enterprise, encourage extravagant expenditures and productive industrial stagnation, with consequent unemployment and other attendant evils."

In other words, it's just as harmful to continually mistreat the goose that lays the golden egg—industry—as it is to kill it outright.

There's an analysis that's lost none of its sharpness with the passing years!

HITLER 200 YEARS FROM NOW

"Who made history in France after 1851? Persigny, de Morny, Maupas, de Gramont, Walewski, Ollivier—how many of them have you even heard of? Ernest Renan, Delacroix, Gounod, George Sand, Turgeniev, Offenbach—how about those? Lump together all the nobilities who have misgoverned France since 1870, and put them against the two names of Curie and Pasteur—how about that? Is it not at least conceivable that two hundred years from now the name of Hitler will be remembered only as belonging to somebody or other who ran Albert Einstein out of Germany?"—Albert Jay Nock.

NOT KNOWLEDGE, BUT APTITUDE

It isn't what a man knows that matters, but how near to a straight line he can drive the processes of his mind; how near to a lean and useful muscle he can make that mind; how near he can come to lassoing a truth or method. No man should be judged by what he doesn't know; he should be judged only by how quickly and sensibly he assumes new duties.—Struthers Burt, Dairy of a Dude Wrangler.

1939 AS AGAINST 1918

"The American people today are more inflamed against Hitler than they were against the Kaiser when we entered the last war. Condemnation from the White House and State Department of the Nazi brutality is as sweeping and violent as any that came from official quarters in 1918. Yet, there is a striking difference. In that day there was an overwhelming public sentiment for entering the war long before we did enter. Today, while Adolf has become with us a more universal scoundrel than Wilhelm, the desire to fight is conspicuously absent."
—Frank R. Kent.

FAITH

What we need above all is the return of millions of men and women to something we have lost—a resolute and outspoken faith in the value and power and ideals, of moral and religious forces, and a determination to make honor, justice, good will, and regard for the general welfare the dominant consideration in the organized life of mankind.—William Merrell.

THE ONE ISM THAT KILLS THE SOUL

"There are many isms today to perplex us—nazism, communism, fascism and so forth—but most of them will cancel each other out. There is only one ism which kills the soul, and that is pessimism."
—Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada.

THE STUBBORN MULTIPLICATION TABLE

"The names for spending have changed several times in the past three years, but the multiplication table has remained the same for centuries."

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPRIS JR.

AUSTIN.—The time for a definite decision by the regular session of the 46th Legislature on what it will do about social security and how it will finance whatever action it may take on the question, was almost at hand this week. But three weeks of the regular session remained at the end of another hectic seven days of battling, which saw the Senate reverse its previous decision, and adopt a sales tax constitutional amendment. The House promptly countered with a bill imposing a gross receipts tax upon business. Gov. O'Daniel took the air Sunday morning, backed the Senate bill and condemned the House measure as inadequate, and threw the last of his strength into the battle in favor of a $40,000,000 sales tax on poverty. The governor offered the same specious arguments which he and the special interest lobby which fathered the sales tax have used all along—contending that to freeze a $40,000,000 sales tax burden on the lower income group into the constitution would "take pensions out of politics, and prevent 'demagogic officials' from using pensions for political purposes. He did not state why a demagogue, running for office next year couldn't advocate a more liberal constitutional pension and garner the "sucker" votes as easily as O'Daniel himself did last summer by promising $30 a month by statute. He also voiced a veiled threat toward the legislators, when he declared that he "had no word of criticism for any member—at this time," but declared he would "wait for completion of the record." He also sought to justify his own political record, by reminding the voters he had done his best, and that final decision rests with the Legislature. This situation, apparently, is one of the many things the governor has learned since he toured the state last summer, promising everybody $30 a month. Best opinion here was that the Senate will not take the House gross receipts bill, which would tax retailers of tangible personal property 1 per cent, one-fourth of one per cent on wholesalers gross receipts, and one-tenth of one per cent on gross receipts of money lenders and transactors of credit business. It exempts firms having a gross annual income of less than $45,000. It also would increase natural resources taxes about 33 per cent, and its sponsors, G. C. Morris of Greenville and Ross Hardin, of Limestone, estimated it would raise about $34,000,000, of which a fourth would have to go to the school fund, the remainder to social security purposes. Hearing on the bill was set by the Senate for Tuesday night.

The Senate plan involves a 2 per cent sales tax, and increased levies on natural resources approximating those in the House bill. It would be submitted to the voters this year and would expire in 1942, unless readopted by the voters before January 1, 1943.

Some observers believed the Senate might amend the House bill by substituting a sales tax provision for the gross receipts section, since the belief here is still prevalent that a sales tax constitutional amendment cannot get through the House. Otherwise, if the Senate rejects the House plan, there remains only the possibility of an omnibus tax bill that will add $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 to the present levies on natural resources, which might get through, or a deadlocked session. Already, there is considerable talk of a special session, in anticipation that no tax legislation at all will get through the regular session.

WEST STOCK RISES

Following a personal appearance of Jim West, Houston oil multi-millionaire, before the Senate subcommittee on governor's nominations, in which West bluntly told the committee that he opposed Franklin D. Roosevelt and he expected to continue to do so, the committee reported favorably on West's nomination as highway commission chairman. Corridor talk at the capitol indicated the opposition which West's activity on behalf of Alf Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee aroused last week, had died down considerably, and best informed senators believed West would be confirmed, possibly before this column is printed.

COUNTY JUDGES SEEK COMPROMISE

Stringent opposition to the so-called county judges' road bond bill which has developed since details of the scheme to put the state's credit behind $200,000,000 of "dead horse" county lateral road bonds have been revealed, had the faction of county judges supporting the measure, headed by Jake Loy of Grayson county, seeking a compromise here this week-end. The Texas Good Roads Association, opponents of the bill, insisted that any compromise plan for disposing of the surplus accruing in the present bond retirement fund, financed by one-cent of the gasoline tax, should call for the construction of new roads with the money, instead of using it to pay off the "dead horse" bonds, and they also demanded a better method of distributing the benefits to the counties than that of the judges, which would reward the extravagant counties, and penalize the thrifty which have issued few bonds. The bond speculators who sponsored the county judges bill are opposed to building new roads with the money, as that will not increase the value of depreciated county bonds they are holding for a rise, which will come, of course, if the state assumes payment of the county bonds.

AUSTIN NOTES

Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson won another round in his eight-year battle to reduce gas rates in nearly 200 towns served by the Lone Star Gas Co., when the Austin Court of Civil Appeals for the second time upheld the ruling of the rail commission, cutting the gas rate to these cities from 40 cents to 32 cents a thousand cubic feet. The first decision was reversed by the Supreme Court on technical grounds which some lawyers think are satisfied by the new opinion, written by Associate Justice M. B. Blair, author of the first opinion. An appeal will be taken by the gas company, and the case probably will be in court several years yet. This session of the Legislature will cost about $675,000, Senator Morris Roberts estimated, as he offered another "pay check" bill for the legislature, adding $150,000 to the $525,000 already appropriated. Last regular session cost $650,000.

THURSDAY DINNER HONORS

On Highway No. U. S. 370 and 42-2 State 18 and 117 In Carson and Armstrong, Donley County, will be received with a 5:00 a. m. and Wednesday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Simmons Powell, with Mrs. B. F. Kirtley as co-hostess.

Spring flowers of spirea, tulips and lilacs in profusion were used to decorate the house. The dining table laid with a lovely lace cover was centered with a punch bowl nestled in a bank of spirea with tall lighted white tapers in crystal candelabra forming an attractive background. Plate favors were small corsages of pink verbenas and fern tied with white satin ribbon.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Powell and presented to Mrs. Boston who was attired in a lovely afternoon frock of aqua chiffon with a dusty pink lace bolero. Other members of the house party were becomingly attired in afternoon gowns. Miss Vera No. land, sister of the bride, presided at the bride's book.

Mrs. Kirtley invited the guests

Mrs. Lucian Bones honored her husband with a birthday dinner Tuesday night at their home. A lovely dinner was served at 8:30. A color scheme of pink and green was attractively used. Games of forty-two were played during the evening.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames H. T. Warner, Roy Blackman, Homer Bones, Fred Russell, St. Johnson, Spurgeon, Victor Smith, Will Johnson, Orb Mayo and Mr. and Mrs. Bones.

R. T. Darnell of Tulsa visited in Clarendon Monday.

into the dining room where punch was served the first hour by Mrs. Willard Skelton and Mrs. Lloyd Benson and the second hour by Mesdames H. F. Harter and Tom Murphy. The guests then admired the many beautiful gifts which were attractively displayed in the bedrooms.

During the afternoon, Miss Jane Williams and Mrs. Frank Heath accompanied by Mrs. Allen Bryan entertained with vocal selections. Approximately 100 guests called.

BOOK CLUB HEARS DOUGLAS' BOOK REVIEW

A book of Lloyd C. Douglas' was reviewed before the 1926 Book Club Tuesday. The club met with Miss Edgar Mae Mongole and Mrs. Florine Woods as hostesses at the home of Miss Mongole. Mrs. Dorothy White gave an account of the life of Lloyd C. Douglas, a preacher who decided he could give his message to the world better as a novelist. Jennie Lowry reviewed the book "Disputed Passage" most interestingly. During the business session, Luma Smith was voted into the club as an associate member and the group decided to disperse with their meeting May 2 so that they may attend the district federation meeting in Pampa on that date.

Those present were guests, Mesdames J. B. Breedlove of Joplin, Mo., L. E. Thompson, W. A. Massie, J. E. Mongole, Miss Mable Mongole and members, Mesdames Mary Allenworth, Beatrice Antrobus, Thelma Bairfield, Edith Ballew, Virginia Bryan, Evadne Cox, Jewel Grady, Dalene Bagby, Laura Rundell, Mildred Ritter, Blanche Howze, Jo Knorpp, Alta Lane, Lena Morris, Jennie Dale Porter, Laura Penick, Clotheal Ray, Sammie Stewart, Mary Thornberry, Eunice Buntin, Dewey Clifford, Texie Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Molesworth returned this week from Junction where they visited Mrs. Molesworth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mudge. Mrs. Mudge returned to Clarendon with them.

CHARLIE MURPHY HOST TO CHI DELTA CHI

Charlie Murphy entertained the members of Chi Delta Chi with a delightful party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Murphy Thursday night. Bridge, Chinese checkers and forty-two and dancing furnished entertainment throughout the evening.

Kill the Bugs That Prey—Make Cotton Pay

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

Cotton is, and should remain an important factor in balanced agriculture on most Southwestern farms. With good management we will eventually make as much cotton on the reduced acreage as the world will take.

There is yet another way to offset the smaller cotton acreage and make more profit from the cotton crop by increasing the yields. That is by effective control of the insect pests which, like the poor we have always with us. Conservative estimates, based on careful measurements of yields with and without the use proven control measures, indicate that the bugs get from one-eighth to one-fourth of the cotton crop for which we labor every year.

If this loss were like those from flood, drought or storm completely beyond our control, our indifference would be excusable. As a matter of fact, however, most of the insect damage can be avoided if we use the right methods at the right time.

It is not often that all these pests seriously attack the cotton crop in the same year; on the other hand, there are few years in which we escape damage from at least two or three of them. Why not be prepared to fight whichever of them shows up first—and the others if they occur?

One machine of the right kind and two chemical materials are all that are needed for either one or all the four principal cotton insect pests—flea hopper, boll weevil, boll worm and leaf worm. Other methods and materials will serve for one insect, but only a good dusting machine is effective for all four of these pests, and dusting machines may be had to suit any purse and any size cotton field.

Just as we know that weeds and grass will grow if we do not hoe and plow, we know that one or more of these four insect pests will attack the crop some time during the season. Good business demands that we be ready with the guns and the ammunition to battle the bugs, just as we are with the weed-killing implements. Sulphur and calcium arsenate are the two effective materials for a complete pest-control program from early flea-hopper time to late leaf-worm time.

Successful and economical control of these pests depends on going the right thing at the right time, as well as on having the right implement and the right materials. If we wait until the bugs get busy, before seeing whether our merchants have the machinery and materials in stock, part of the damage will be done before we can get "hitched up" for the job.

The flea hopper is the early bird of this pest quartette, and does more damage than many people are aware of because the insect is hard to find, and its presence is not easily perceptible. Its attacks cause the early fruit buds to fall before they become "squares," and we say "the cotton is not setting a bottom crop." It's a pretty safe guess that flea hoppers are responsible, and dusting with prepared sulphur is the remedy.

CHILD'S TEMPER SHOULD BE CORRECTED

MOST TANTRUMS ARE MISUNDERSTANDING EXPERT SAYS

COLLEGE STATION. — Most children understand their parents better than parents understand them, says Dosca Hale, specialist with the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. They soon learn the way to break down parental firmness, often by "throwing tantrums," and their methods vary with the parent. For instance, a child who knows that mother is worried about his health may, when balked, refuse food or sleep, hold his breath or knock his head against the floor.

Prevention is better than cure for tantrums of children. "Remove the causes before temper tantrums become a habit and a hindrance both to children and grown-ups," Miss Hale points out. In early childhood, hunger and fatigue are the two main causes, and parents should establish regular times for eating, for naps and for bedtimes, so that youngsters do not have a chance to become too tired or too hungry. Tight clothing, or clothing that hampers small children may also call forth temper; the remedy is clothes that are simple, and easy to manage. Play clothes allow free movement and activity.

The best way to prevent future outbursts is for parents to understand what causes them, and to help their child meet the difficulty, Miss Hale says. While they help him to learn, they must make sure that his temper tricks do not succeed.

HARVEST RANGE GRASS SEED, EXPERT SAYS

FARMERS AND RANCHERS CAN GREATLY BENEFIT BY GATHERING SEED

COLLEGE STATION. — Texas farmers and ranchmen bought and used more than 1,250,000 pounds of grass and legume seed in 1938, and R. R. Lancaster, pasture specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, points out that in addition to the use of commercial seed, there is an opportunity to harvest home-grown seed.

The big thing in harvesting is to keep the seed from heating after it is harvested. Lancaster says keeping it in shallow piles in the sun and frequent turning will dry it out without damage. The tall growing plants, such as rescue, sweet clovers, grammas, and bluestem may be mowed. After the hay is cured, it may be scattered out wherever needed. Such plants may also be hand-stripped, or a combine used if one is available. "Don't get technical about this seed harvesting business," the pasture specialist advises stockmen. "Get out the combine, machine harvester mower, sythe, or just sweep up the seed from the ground." The fall season is usually best for seeding grasses and legumes, he says.

Milk should never be stored with strong flavored foods for it will quickly absorb other flavors.

Sentinels of Health Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

AMERICA'S TYPICAL HOME

THE home in which the typical American family will live tomorrow, shown above, will be built on the grounds of the Gas Industry Exhibition Group at the New York World's Fair.

The construction of the house will be under the direction of Hugh Cuthrell, president of Gas Exhibits, Inc., and it will be furnished and decorated by Helen Koucs, director of the Good Housekeeping Magazine Studio.

"The architectural inspiration for the house comes from a famous and historic house outside of Baltimore, Maryland," said Mr. Cuthrell. "This famous post-revolutionary house was built by Charles Carroll, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and embodies many architectural elements appreciated by Americans."

The house has been designed with the moderate income group in mind, and will be of white stucco, with roof, shutters and doorway in color. Of one-story, it will have a dining-room, living-room, kitchen, four bedrooms, and three baths. The kitchen, pantry, and utility room have been designed by Good Housekeeping Institute, under the direction of Katharine Fisher, and has all the best technique in home management.

CLARENDON METHODIST CHURCH J. G. Walker, Pastor

We were happy to be at Goldston Sunday. Another standstill met us on the way, but it was not so effective in keeping people away from services as the one several weeks ago. We had two real good services. To be sure there were not as many in attendance as should have been, but we feel that we are gaining some ground, and we shall not be satisfied until the house is filled with people.

This week we go to Wheeler to attend the district conference. Think at this writing that we will have a good representation there. Next Sunday we go to Lelia Lake at 11 a. m., 2:30 p. m.; Naylor at 7:30 p. m. Help us make the work a success. In writing for the six churches on the Clarendon Circuit I am reminded of the seven letters written by John to the seven Churches of Asia. John had to write seven letters. We just have to write one. John wrote to the pastors. We write to the people.

John seems to have been the general superintendent of these churches before his imprisonment and exile to Patmos. In his revelation he saw Jesus standing in the midst of these churches, and Jesus directed the messages to be written to the pastors of these churches. They were expected to carry the messages to these people. The Lord works through the pastor trying to reach the people.

BUFFALO LAKE TO BE OPENED WITH PROGRAM MAY 28

AMARILLO, April 19. — The Texas Panhandle is making plans for another big celebration when its largest body of water—Buffalo Lake, a water conservation project—is officially opened for recreation purposes on May 28.

Governors of several states, high government officials, possibly including Vice President John N. Garner, movie stars and other celebrities will be present. The formal opening will be in charge of the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority, sponsor

So when your pastor plans a program or even should point out your faults and failures, don't be indifferent to his pleadings. Two of the churches of Asia were poor; two were rich and three were medium. John had a message to all. He showed no preference towards the rich ones. He commended their good works and condemned their sins and failures. Only the church at Philadelphia was without censure except "Thou hast a little strength." His exhortation to them was to hold fast to that which they had. Philadelphia was one of the poor churches, but was not why they went without rebuke. They were simply Christians.

of the Buffalo Lake and six other similar projects in the High Plains, and the Soil Conservation Service, in charge of maintenance and administration of the project during the coming season. The entertainment program in connection with the official dedication is being arranged by the Plains Boat Club.

While the program is incomplete, many events already have been scheduled. They include a parade in Amarillo, banquet, golfing, etc.

The Plains Boat Club will hold a regatta May 28 and recreational facilities of the project and lake will be open to the public after the boat races.

GOLDSTON NEWS (Mrs. M. Grant)

Sunday school and church was attended by a large crowd Sunday morning. Brother Walker did the preaching. He also preached Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeigler and children from Amarillo spent the week-end with their parents.

H. M. Stewart and family went to town to church last Sunday. Several from here attended Mr. Noble's funeral Saturday afternoon.

Clyde Pegram and his mother and sister visited his brother, Alfred Pegram and family in Crosby county over the week-end.

W. E. Bray of New Orleans was visiting old friends here Sunday afternoon.

We had a bad sand storm here all day Monday of this week.

Brother Walker and wife had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Eichelberger.

There was a pie supper at the school house Friday night to help the boys get a baseball outfit.

H. M. Stewart's home was broken into Saturday afternoon while they were gone to town and a lot of nice quilts and things were stolen. We sure hate for things like that to get started.

Neely Hudson attended court at Clarendon Monday of this week.
