HIGHWAY 18 RALLY AT TURKEY, JULY 17

Thousands Are Here Tuesday For Fourth Of July Celebration

MEET TO PLAN FOR AUSTIN HEARING ON CONSTRUCTION

NORTH-SOUTH COUNTY DELEGATES ON ROUTE GUESTS OF TURKEY

Following up the line of positive action as indicated in last week's issue of The News, proponents of the North-South highway, from Perryton to Pampa, to Clarendon, to Turkey, Monday evening, July 17th, for a rally and plan-session previous to a hearing before the Highway Commission in Austin in the latter part of the month.

Call for the meeting was sent out this week by President Odos Caraway of the 18 Highway Association, through Secretary John Gillham of the organization. Mayor Hardestie of Turkey and the secretary of the Turkey commercial organization have notified these officials that Turkey will be host at a barbecue in the evening and immediately following the business sessions of the group.

Members of the Highway Commission and State Engineer Julian Montgomery were mailed copies of The Clarendon News of last week carrying the story of the territorial demand of the North-South highway as the "New Project No. One," of the Panhandle area, and Sam M. Braswell, chairman of the local highway committee, has received replies from Austin relative to the movement, with favorable attitude expressed. Montgomery indicated that the problem would likely be considered by the commission in rank with a number of important highway projects and on the basis of what appears to be the most pressing.

Commissioner Robert Lee Bobbitt, also wrote Mr. Braswell on his return home from the recent visit to the Panhandle when the Pampa-Borger highway was dedicated, saying he made the return trip by plane and as he flew over Clarendon he called to mind the needs and desires of the people here for the North-South road.

Clarendon will take a large delegation to Turkey for the North-South Rally, headed by the Commissioners' Court, according to local boosters.

Nig Reid and Snook Sparks Are Top Hands at 4th of July Rodeo

Nig Reid, a fancy rope thrower from Silvertown and Snooks Sparks from off the JA range, took just about all top honors in Clarendon's 4th of July Rodeo at Broncho Field Tuesday afternoon and night.

About 1,500 persons saw Reid gather in first places in calf roping in both afternoon and night performances, and the ribbon roping in the night show. Sparks was first in 30-n events of the cow milking and took the ribbon roping in the afternoon.

Hampered by the slick turf of Broncho Field, the ponies were often slow in spotting the fleet and elusive calves. Extra caution was needed on the turns to save bad spills.

Straight mount money was paid in the bronc and steer riding and a nice exhibition was put on by the boys and their twisting animals.

FARMERS WARNED OF OVERCROWDED MELLON MARKET

VINE PRUNING AND SHAPE WILL HELP GROWERS IN SALES

COLLEGE STATION - Latest reports from the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics indicate a increased watermelon acreage in the east coastal states and Texas and California. The immediate watermelon outlook is for lots of melons on the market.

This means, according to J. F. Roszorough, horticulturist of the Texas A and M College Extension Service, that the emphasis will be on quality, and that the man with good watermelons is the man who will sell the most of them at the best possible price.

"It's not too late for growers in the northern and eastern parts of the state or do something about producing melons of uniform size, shape and color," the horticulturist holds.

He said thinning melons to one plant in the hill when the vines grew their third and fourth leaves would hasten maturity of the crop by several days. He also recommended that farmers go through the field when melons are five to six inches long and remove all but the two best melons on the vine, thus forcing the entire vigor of the plant into the remaining melons.

A few precautions should be followed in marketing the melons. Avoid working while the vines are wet. Do not work with rotten melons in the field and then handle sound ones for shipment without first disinfecting the hands. Only ripe melons should be handled. Cull out all bruised, oversized, diseased, and ill-shaped melons.

Finally, treat the melons against stem end rot as they are packed in the car or truck by making a fresh cut of the stem and applying blue stone paste.

DEPOSITS UP AND LOANS DOWN FOR DONLEY BANKS

With an increase in deposits and a large reduction in loans, Donley County banks show splendid financial statements as of the close of business June 30.

The deposits rose to a total of $1,095,967.01 for the four banks while loans and discounts dropped from $614,669.08 to $593,250.15.

The total resources reached $1,203,629.99.

Recent crop losses through wind and water caused a slight rise in loans during the last of June.

One Of Panhandle's Most Modern Fire Trucks In Service In Clarendon

Capable of opening a flow of water on the blaze in any part of the city within two minutes after an alarm, Clarendon this week put into operation one of the most modern fire trucks in this section.

Despite the city's second lowest insurance key rate in Texas of 27 cents, city officials hope the new equipment will further lower the base charge. The 15 cent credit which has been given for the past five years because of the small fire loss here is not expected to be changed, however.

Mounted on a Ford 1 1/2 ton truck chassis, the equipment affords five streams of water to be used simultaneously. A 300 gallon booster tank may be used for fighting small fires or to check big blazes until other hoses are attached.

FIFTY-FOURTH EVENT HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

BANDS, PARADES AND DECORATIONS LEND TO ENTERTAINMENT

Down through the half-century of entertainments since its inception around 1883 or 1885, Donley County celebrated one of its most successful 4th of July events when thousands of persons thronged Clarendon streets, parks, and Broncho Field Tuesday.

Bands in parades, rodeo contestants on high stepping horses, gaily dressed cowgirls and cowboys with a background of bedecked business houses flying flags and adorned with rich hued bunting gave main street the color spectacle that only 4th of July decorations can achieve.

The downtown program moved rapidly under the guidance of Homer Mulkey who acted as master of ceremonies.

Opening with a parade and concert by the Clarendon High School band Jack and Dixie Lee Sisson, the diminutive Donley County singers, gave a short entertainment.

Headed by the Gold Medal Band, a large delegation from Memphis garbed in Western attire, paraded and all Donley County was officially invited to attend the Hall County Pioneer Round-up to be held in Memphis, July 27-28.

The Pampa High School band rounded out the morning's program with a snappy parade and concert.

With free coffee and ice tea, many picnics were held on the court house lawn during the noon hour.

Bess Edwards, accompanied by her brother and his guitar, sang several numbers after lunch. The Truckline String Band also entertained.

In the Old Fiddlers Contest held on the platform at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, Pete Chandler of Wellington captured first place and the cash prize of $5. Second was Arthur Howard of Memphis with third going to Joe David Howard received $3 and David $2.

Seven contestants participated in the fiddlers event.

Climaxing the days program, a large display of fireworks were touched off at Broncho Field following the rodeo. To the strains of string music, couples danced on the pavement on Kearney Street to round out the day's activities.

ANYTHING BUT THAT

Cherished among the many legends of the Spanish-American people of New Mexico is the story of San Ysidro.

It seems that San Ysidro was plowing his garden one Spring day, when an angel appeared and said to him, "The Lord wants to see you, Ysidro. Come with me."

Ysidro plowed on. "I can't go now," he answered. "You tell the Lord that I'm late in getting my corn planted and that I'll see Him later when I've finished."

The angel nodded and disappeared.

Soon another messenger hovered about San Ysidro's plow. "The Lord wants to see you right now," he said. "And if you don't come at once, the Lord says He'll send hot winds and drouth to wither your corn."

Ysidro paused only long enough to wipe the sweat from his brow. "I've had hot winds and drouths before and they don't bother me," he said. "I can carry water from the river. Tell the Lord I can't come now, but will see Him when I have my corn planted."

Baffled that angel, too, vanished.

A few moments later a third, larger and stronger than the other two, tapped Ysidro on the shoulder. "The Lord doesn't like your attitude," the Heavenly courier said. "He says if you don't come with me right now He'll send a plague of locust to devour your crop from the top and a plague of cutworms to eat the roots."

"That doesn't frighten me," answered Ysidro, turning his plow and starting back. "I've had plagues before, and with fires and hoeing and hard work, I've saved my corn. You tell the Lord I'll see Him tomorrow."

And so the third angel flew away.

San Ysidro had plowed several furrows before the fourth messenger glided to earth.

"The Lord isn't going to argue any more," the angel announced, flapping his wings hard to keep up with the stubborn plowman. "He simply said that if you don't come right away, He'll send you a bad neighbor."

Instantly San Ysidro stopped his mule and wrapped the reins around the plow handle. For the first time there was fear in his eyes.

"A bad neighbor," he shouted. "No, no! I can stand hot winds and drouths, locusts and cutworms—I can stand anything but a bad neighbor. I'll go with you right now." — Monahans News.

DO WE WANT DEMOCRACY?

"If we want democracy we cannot dispose of our responsibilities by marching to the polls once in a while and giving lip service to the Bill of Rights," writes Carl Dreher in Harper's. "If we want democracy we have to work at it. We have to accept the idea of politics as every citizen's primary and unremitting concern, as our business in a very concrete and personal sense."

We have left politics to the politicians—and what a mess has resulted! We have regarded government as something in which we have no direct interest, and the consequence has been a steady extension of bureaucratic power at the expense of us all. We've worked on the principle of "Let George do it"—and George has done us in, good and plenty!

Not until we all realize that government is our business, will we have the fair, efficient and economical government that is essential to democracy.

WHAT DOES IT GET ME?

SPENDING DRUNK MUST END

In a recent address, Senator Pat Harrison made this very apt observation on present day government fiscal policy: "I received a postal card the other day, and penciled on it was this wholesome expression: 'You can no more spend yourself into prosperity than you can drink yourself sober.' That fellow had something. While I have never been so unfortunate as to visit one of the Keeley institutions, I am told that the practice to effect the cure is to make the patient sick at first by too much drink and then to continue the treatment by a gradual tapering off into sobriety. We have experienced in Washington an excess of the initial treatment. The time is ripe for tapering off."

Certainly the theory that it is possible to spend a nation into prosperity has been thoroughly exploded by now. We have tried it for seven years, and basic conditions are about as bad now as they were at the worst of depression, and unemployment about as high. And the hard facts, gathered from generations of experience, demonstrate conclusively that a debt-ridden and tax-ridden nation is likewise a depression-ridden nation.

Senator Byrd of Virginia, another Congressional advocate of economy and fiscal sanity, recently said, "We have never enjoyed prosperity or substantial business expansion when the total tax collections—local, state and national—exceed 12 per cent of the national income." Today something over 20 per cent of our national income is being spent by government, the difference being represented by deficits which are added to our all-time-high public debt.

We can have economy when the people really want it—when selfish sectional interests which demand more and more money for their pet projects see the folly of their ways. The nation is heading for tax delirium tremens unless it tapers off soon.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPPER JR.

AUSTIN.—Friends and foes of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's sales-tax constitutional amendment taxation program to finance social security were in agreement that a special session of the legislature will have to be called during the autumn, in the wake of adjournment of the regular session which raised no money.

There were indications here that Gov. O'Daniel may have to revise considerably his announced and indicated plans to get himself re-elected. First, his declarations that no special session will be held, may have to be revoked when the Federal government passes upon the new liberalized Texas pension law. The Board of Control has submitted the new law and the rules and regulations under which it proposes to administer the act, to the Federal Social Security Board. Whether federal matching of State funds will be continued will be determined and announced by the U. S. Board soon.

Crisis Is Due Soon

Second, a crisis in pension payments, even if Federal aid is continued, is rapidly approaching. Deductions to repay loans made by the pensions administration from Dallas banks, under authority granted by the legislature, are being made monthly, and will make a serious cut into pension revenues. The yield from beer, wine, whiskey and vending machine taxes is below last year.

Third, when substantial additions are made to the pension rolls under the liberalization act, the administration will have no choice but to pro rate the available payments among 118,000 old pensioners, and whatever number of new almoners are added. That is going to mean a substantial cut in present average payments of around $13.80 per month, and a terrific protest is going to arise from those on the rolls. The pressure for a special session to enact a statutory tax bill that will raise some more revenue for pensions is going to be overwhelming, and with a gubernatorial election coming up next year, keen observers here think a special session will be called.

Old Folks Are Mad

Meanwhile, lines were forming for the governor's race. First, reaction from the taxless legislative session, while it is not complete or definite by any means as yet, has been surprising and disappointing to the O'Daniel forces. Despite all the Governor's loud and inflammatory talk on the radio, there seems to be no overwhelming sentiment so far discernible to help him "purge" the legislature of the 56 House members who blocked his special interest-backed plan for constitutional sales tax. Letters to newspapers throughout Texas indicate a fairly even diversion of sentiment. Even the old folks themselves are not in accord, many expressing the belief that the special interest lobby, knowing the amendment never would get by the House, deliberately espoused it and urged killing all other tax bills in order to create a deadlock, and avoid any further taxation at present. At any rate the special interest lobby shed no crocodile tears over defeat of S. J. R. No. 12, for which they worked so earnestly up until the dying moments of the session.

Watching The Race

Senator Joe Hill of Henderson announced in Dallas that he and several House members would take the stump early in September to resist any "purge" movement by O'Daniel, and tell the folks their side of the taxation controversy. Many observers believed Hill hoped to nourish a boomlet for his candidacy for Governor by this stroke.

The politicians were examining other gubernatorial candidates, real and potential, with a keen eye this week. They pointed out that Coke Stevenson, Lieutenant Governor, will be in a poor position to run, if O'Daniel seeks reelection, which is regarded as certain. Stevenson, despite rumors he may be a candidate for Governor, could hardly find an issue against O'Daniel, best observers here believe. He was strongly for S. J. R. 12, and he pledged his fullest support to O'Daniel and the O'Daniel program during the last runoff campaign, after O'Daniel had endorsed him. Stevenson's friends declare he is too loyal and too grateful for O'Daniel's help last year, to make a race against the governor.

That leaves Rail Commissioner Ernest Thompson, who was runner-up last time, and whose friends declare he is a certain candidate, and Bill McCraw, ex-attorney general. McCraw has been busily making speeches to small groups in North Texas, but has not committed himself as a candidate. He probably sounded the keynote of his present indecision when he told friends recently that he "always made a better race when he didn't have any campaign funds." Attorney General Gerald Mann, with a cinch race without opposition for a second term as Attorney General, has given no indication that he will take a chance in the gubernatorial contest.

Fair Trades Act Blasted

Gerald Mann blasted the so-called fair trade act, lobbied by Texas druggists, and paid for by Eastern manufacturers and jobbers, when he ruled it was unconstitutional on its face. It appears that Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, its sponsor, was looking out the window when he accepted a Senate amendment declaring the whole act should fall if it violates the Texas Anti-trust laws. Mann held it does violate the anti-trust laws and therefore, by its own declaration, cannot stand. Gov. O'Daniel is expected to veto it, as gossip in Austin has it that the Attorney General agreed to rule on this and other questionable bills for O'Daniel in advance of his signing them, only if the Governor would agree to veto those Mann found unconstitutional. The little Attorney General doesn't want to be put on a spot, by declaring a law void, and then having to go into court to try to defend it. Although O'Daniel endorsed Mann's runoff opponent, he has found the doughy little Attorney General his best alibi for vetoing several unconstitutional laws.

East Texas Quotas to Stand

The Railroad Commission will grant no requests to hike allowable oil runs in the East Texas field, on the basis of the decision rendered in the Rowan & Nichols suit, in Federal Court, doubling the Commission's Allowable figure for the R & N wells, Ernest Thompson announced. Thompson said an appeal will be taken from the decision and the status quo will be maintained, pending the final outcome of the attack on the commission's allowable order. Several major companies have sought higher allowables since the lower court decision.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Tidwell and Mrs. S. L. Tidwell visited Mrs. Alvin Trout in Loveland, Colorado last week. Mrs. Tidwell remained for an extended visit with Mrs. Trout who is her daughter.

FORMS FOR OBTAINING C. C. C. WHEAT LOANS NOW AVAILABLE IN CLARENDON

All Donley County wheat producers wishing to make Commodity Credit Corporation loans should apply at the county agent's office in Clarendon immediately as all necessary forms for making the loans have been received, Harold Leach, assistant county agent said today.

The basic loan rates for Donley County have been established at .62 per bushel on No. 1, .61c on No. 2, .59c on No. 3, .56c on No. 4 and .53c on No. 5 wheat. These rates apply on all wheat that does not grade above 12 on protein content. For each degree content above 12, 1c per bushel is added to the loan value.

There will be two classes of these loans. The first is farm storage loans which apply where the producer wishes to store his wheat in his own grainery. If you wish to qualify for this type of loan, please contact the county office as it will be necessary for your grainery to be inspected before the loan can be made. Wheat stored on the farm must be stored for thirty days before the loan can be made.

The second class is on wheat house. If you are consigning your wheat to an approved warehouse it will be necessary for you to bring your warehouse receipt to the office, together with a freight bill marked "paid". With every expense you have in shipping your wheat to the warehouse will be added to the amount of the loan. Commodity Credit Corporation allows only 3c per bushel for elevator handling charges. Whatever you pay above this loan value. In this case of farm amount will be deducted from the storage loan a minimum fee of $3.00 will be charged by the county office for making inspection, etc. If the amount of wheat is fee is 1c per bushel. In the case more than 300 bushels, then the charge by the county office of 4c per bushel with a minimum of $1.50.

For each type of loan it will be necessary for the producer to secure the signature of all lien holders on a lien waiver before the loan can be made. The loan may be made through a local lending or directly through Commodity Credit Corporation which ever the producer prefers. Please bear in mind that all forms must be filled out by the county office and cannot be executed by the lending agency as was the case with Commodity Credit Corporation cotton loans. We will be glad to cooperate with you and give you the quickest service possible when you have finished harvesting your wheat and are ready to secure a loan.

J. T. PATMAN AND U. J. BOSTON DROP SEMI-FINAL MATCHES

Taking out his fellow townsman, J. T. Patman, 4 and 2, in the semi-finals, T. M. Shaver went on to down H. C. Pester of Amarillo in the last match to capture the fourth flight championship in the Tri-State Senior Golf Tournament Thursday.

U. J. Boston who had reached the fourth flight semi-finals fell in that round to Pester. H. B. Kerbow, also of Clarendon lost the semi-final match in the third flight consolation to T. E. Crites of Lubbock.

Bob Scaggs of Clovis won the championship by downing Byron Clancy of Carter, Oklahoma, 2 and 1, in the finals. Scaggs was also medalist Tuesday with a 74.

Miss Jane Younger returned to her home in Amarillo Sunday after a visit of several weeks with her grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Shaver left Tuesday for California where they will visit relatives.

Petroleum Cocktail For Motorists And Industry Constantly Refilled By Increasing Oil Reserves

PIONEER oilmen of Pennsylvania who boasted of their ability "to drink every drop of oil produced west of the Ohio River," started a game that has been popular ever since. Periodically the nation is warned to prepare for an oil shortage.

The pessimistic Pennsylvanians made no attempt to carry out their boast. The motor car and other machines powered with internal combustion engines took over the job. In recent years the machines have been "drinking" about 1,000,000,000 bbl. of petroleum and its products annually. Yet to exhaust reserves of oil known to be stored underground and recoverable with today's methods, they would have to drink another 17,348,000,000 bbl.

Since the first prediction of no oil west of the Ohio River, about 20,000,000,000 bbl. have been taken from the ground. Almost 90 percent of it came from the area west of the Ohio River! Known reserves, proved by actual drilling have been increasing at almost twice the rate of consumption.

Prophets Confounded
Petroleum technologists seem to take delight in confounding the prophets of doom and disproving their scares of scarcity.

Refiners Progress
Petroleum refiners have joined in the sport of making the prophets miserable. They have developed scientific methods of manufacture which curtail the volume of crude oil needed for a given quantity of refined products. Only a few years ago they doubled the quantity of useful products so obtained, and still newer methods indicate that recently they have rung the bell again. It is estimated that about 36 gallons of gasoline now can be obtained from a 42-gallon barrel of crude oil. About 20 years ago nine gallons was the average yield.

Poor Guessing
The score of those who have been courageous enough to predict the day of exhaustion has been incredibly poor. In 1914 imminent exhaustion was predicted. Only 6,000,000,000 bbl. was believed to be in reserve; 18,000,000,000 bbl. since have been produced. In 1925 only 5,000,000,000 bbl. were known to be available, but 13,000,000,000 bbl. have been brought to the surface since then. For January 1, 1939 reserves are estimated at 17,348,000,000 barrels, the greatest in history and actually proved by the drill as "oil in sight."

Predicting petroleum exhaustion is no sport for the amateur. The competition from the petroleum technologist is too tough! Furthermore, if in some distant year, exhaustion actually should materialize, there is a gigantic supply of oil shales and coal from which products can be obtained at no great trouble or expense. Proper handling of a surplus rather than worry over a shortage appears to be the petroleum industry's continuing problem.

EGG EATING HENS INDICATION OF CALCIUM NEED

POULTRY OBTAINING BONE BUILDING MATERIAL DO NOT ACQUIRE HABIT

COLLEGE STATION — Egg eating among poultry is a habit of individual birds, but it is also an indication that the entire flock needs more calcium.

A hen that is getting all the calcium she wants for bone development, to make egg shells, and to satisfy her general body needs, never acquires the egg-eating habit. Geo. P. McCarthy, poultry husbandman of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, has explained.

Most commercial feeds contain calcium, usually in the form of oyster shell, but home mixed feeds should always be supplemented with either calcium, limestone or ground oyster shell. And it is a good idea to offer all flocks extra calcium, regardless of the kind of feed used.

Another common mineral deficiency trouble is perosis, or slipped tendon disease. This one is caused by a lack of manganese. Poultry usually get what manganese they need from a good grade of shorts, and it is found in most commercial feeds, but it can also be offered in the form of anhydrous manganese sulphate.

Chickens whose diets do not contain any animal protein may also need phosphorous in the form of steamed bone meal. McCarthy says a free choice mineral box, offering poultry these minerals and especially calcium, will pay dividends.

Charles Darwin estimated that earthworms in England ate about 320,000,000 tons of soil annually.

LOCAL ARTIST EXCITES FAVORABLE COMMENT WITH DALHART EXHIBIT

EDITORS NOTE: The following article is taken from the Dalhart Texan, and is re-printed here for its interest to local readers.

"I want a copy of that picture to frame and send to . . ." was a general expression heard at the Texas office Monday as the pen and ink sketches drawn for THE XIT BRAND by Harold Bugbee, Clarendon cowboy artist, were exhibited in the office. Finally placed in the front show window they were instantly the cause of a round of favorable comment from hundreds who saw them. Most interesting of the entire group is the sketch of Ab Blocker famous character who brandied the first XIT calf, and who visited the reunion last year for the first time. It is a lifelike picture of the interesting eighty-odd year old cowboy and is quickly recognized by all who have seen him.

"The Horse Wrangler" is another scene depicted by Bugbee, "The Star S Gang," pictures the famous rustlers caught in the act of changing the brand on an XIT calf. From the hill top there appears a rider who has just discovered the rustlers and is preparing to level down on them. The "Freighter" is a scene familiar to all pioneers of this section showing the old-time freight wagon with its six-head of oxen slowly pulling the big wagon across the prairie as the bearded old freighter walks beside the wagon.

Two pictures drawn exclusively for THE XIT BRAND are "Morning" and "Evening," dramatically presenting the beginning of the XIT ranch and paying tribute to the cowboys who have already passed "over the hill." "Morning" will be the opening picture of the magazine and the closing scene will be "Evening."

THE XIT BRAND will contain, in addition to Bugbee's drawings, many stories and pictures of in-per cent of everything he could see or he wouldn't play. Also adding to the slowness of the start was the fact that many toned in their hip pockets and the spectators had their wallets but-golfers were slow in extracting their contents.

Quite often we are reminded "after all the trouble I went to, to tell you that John Doe visited out of town last week you didn't put it in the paper."

Occasionally we forget but usually we don't. It is rather hard to explain unless you visit the shop when the paper is being made up, but if you'll bear with us we will try.

You see there is a certain amount of space that must be filled up and it allows you neither too much or too little type. In other words each of our columns are 20 inches long and must accommodate exactly 20 inches of either news or ads.

If we run one, two, or three or four stories down a given column and the combined length totals only 19 1-2 inches, a four-line local or filler must be inserted to fill the page (or the type would fall out).

Locals then must be used sparingly until all pages fit their forms and all too often when the paper is ready to go to press there are several that just won't fit. Locals, however, are highly prized by weekly newspaper men and many, many times we cut back stories to give way to locals. But even then they will go astray.

Too, we have often heard comments on locals being on the front, while others, to them more important, are on some other page. By way of explanation let us say that we doubt if there ever was a make-up man who read his fillers. Usually pressed for time they grab the lines needed to fill out, be it front, back or middle.

We were requested by a Clarendon business man to ask why merchants and persons just loafing downtown don't park their car on a side street so that the farmers can have a chance to find space on main street.

In the above statement we do not think he meant the merchants were just loafing around but then he may have. There's people like that you know.

Anyway it is a good idea and Clarendon residents could spend as little time as possible downtown Saturday afternoon and then eat an early supper and get back for an early engagement with a parking space.

Random Reflections

By DICK COOKE

We journeyed down to Vernon Sunday to see the first round matches of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Invitation golf tournament and returned just a wee bit disgusted with the mire set up of golf tournaments.

Too many of the top flighters are golfing bums and have graduated from the lost ball pilfering caddie stage to tournaments. Now don't get us wrong or this applies to all sections of the country and does not necessarily reflect against tournament sponsors. Also there is many a boy caddy who is honest and sincere and making an honest living.

But when you introduce a pot of about $2,000 with around 40 per cent going to the persons who paid into it approximately $100.

You see it starts with a cut-throat pool whereby they auction off players. If a man pays, say $100, for a player and he wins the tournament he gets about 40 percent of the pot which often ranges up to two or three thousand dollars. It is prorated to where a certain per centage goes to winners of two matches, three matches etc.

Now if one of the fellows, which naturally enough money like that would attract, buys a good player, he's going to do everything he can to help that boy win, and he doesn't care how he does it.

In the meantime the player, if he's that type, is getting his cut of the grapes. He's broke, of course, and somebody has to feed, clothe, and pay other incidentals. Then if he says he believes he could hit the ball better with a new shirt, or his shoes don't fit or he can't play good without a stiff bet on a hole, his backer had better come across or he might fizzle out and the backer's initial investment is gone plus a chance at the heavy doc. Then if he should win the tourney, the backer's got to lay a nice tip on the line or he will be tabbed as a poor bet at the next tournament. However the gambler is usually so overjoyed at his luck, he doesn't mind the tip.

Commercialism has hit the golfing ranks so hard in the past few years that we predict before long you'll be reading where "Butch" Jones and "Slug" McCoy met in the finals of the Dead End Muscle-In Country Club Saturday.

"Slug" who is also known as "Danny the Dip" won the match on the 19th (with what probably was the tourney's most out standing filch) when his deft fingers plucked "Butch's" ball from the cup and declared his luckless opponent hadn't even had a ball. His words were backed up less opponent hadn't even had a by "Gunner" Smith whose aids outnumbered "Dutch's" 25 to 21. Gunner had bought Slug in the pool.

The match was slow in getting underway as Butch demanded 95

Garden Glances Presented weekly by the Garden Club

"America the beautiful lies in the hands of the gardeners"

"America the beautiful lies in the hands of the gardeners." Beware of the weeds; they will surely get you if you don't watch out as "goatheads" are a part of the soil in Donley County and it just requires a few rainy days in Donley County for them to strongly assert their rights. But when the weeds have been exterminated the gardener reviews the results with glowing satisfaction. For instance, the Antrobus home had been vacant for some time, and now since Mrs. Watson has had the weeds cleared, and the Smith's followed suit, they have exceptionally attractive places.

As we are so far removed from South Texas' oleander growers have to protect these would-be shrubs, but there are some gorgeous tubs of them on various lawns. Mrs. Bill Greene has lovely ones, in fact a very pretty lawn, and look across the street at Mrs. W. B. Sims' and see those azaleamum borders, too. Then glance at Mrs. Walker's white oleanders. They are certainly fragrant and beautiful as they nod their heavy heads of blossoms in the breeze.

Some of the younger couples are interested in well-kept lawns. The lawn of the Clarence Whitlocks is exceptionally kept. Regan Bain, on the same street has been improving his lawn with grass, shrubs, trees, and plants. The small plot in the back is carefully planned. The lace vine and red sage at the north wall of Mrs. Chase's lathe garden is lovely combination. And again I want you to notice the English Ivy growing on the tree in the Rathjen's backyard. The ivy has been several years creeping up this tree, but it is an excellent idea for redecorating some of our old locusts and enhancing their beauty.

STORY HOUR TO BE TUESDAY

The story-hour sponsored by the Pathfinder Club will be held Tuesday evening at the seven o'clock hour on the courthouse lawn, with Mrs. Sam M. Braswell as story-teller and Mesdames Allen Bryan and Clyde Douglas sponsors.

Two tax collectors are always on the heels of the U. S. motorist. In addition to the state gasoline taxes, the federal government in 1932 enacted a "temporary" 1¢ per gallon tax, which duplicates the state taxes and adds 25% annually to the motorist's tax bill. The taxes increase the cost of gasoline by one-third.

Don't Submit to Hi-Jacking

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

Most of the work of making a unit for boll weevil, leaf cotton crop has already been done, but cotton is generally from two weeks to a month later than normal in the Southwest. The insect hi-jackers may yet rob us of the fruits of our labor, if we are not on the alert to meet them more than half way with dust guns and the proper ammunition. The "gun" may be a shoulder model or a power outfit capable of treating five to seven rows at a time; the am-unit for boll weevil, leaf worm and boll worm is calcium arsenate. If the insects get the jump on us and a heavy infestation occurs at this season, it sometimes pays to add a little Paris green to the calcium arsenate. In the northern cotton territory of the Southwest the flea hopper may still be the most serious pest at this season of the year, for this tiny insect migrates for considerable distances from weeds to the cotton fields, and multiplies rapidly from early spring when the first eggs hatch until late in the season. It destroys the small fruit buds before they become large enough for the boll weevil to deposit eggs, and in severe infestations also causes the plant itself to assume distorted forms. The treatment for the flea hopper is dusting sulphur—not just any sulphur, but sulphur prepared especially for this purpose—and applied to the plants with a machine which gives a thorough coverage of the plants and foliage.

When both flea hoppers and boll weevils are present at the same time, as they are likely to be at this season, the dusting machine is loaded with a mixture one-third calcium arsenate and two-thirds dusting sulphur, and one application of the mixture is made about every five days until both insects are under control. Two to three applications may be required; occasionally more of the dust is "rained off" the same day it is applied.

The amount per acre for each dusting is governed by the size of the cotton. Enough must be applied to give a complete coverage each time, and in rank cotton this may run to fifteen pounds of the mixture—five pounds of calcium arsenate and ten pounds of sulphur. Records show that the cost of a season's dusting may be anywhere from $2 to $4 per acre, but the extra cotton saved in a three year test was worth about $10 per acre. Last season many farmers did no dusting until leaf worms threatened to destroy the crop, and flea hoppers had already destroyed the "bottom crop." Some Erath county, (Texas) growers doubled their yield by thorough dusting and some of those who did not dust turned the cows in to harvest the stalks—the cotton wasn't worth picking.

"Better late than never" is a good slogan to use in the fight against insect hi-jackers which threaten the cotton crop, but "do it right or not at all" should be the other part of the slogan. It is always a mistake to "try" something to "see if it will work," and experimenting with all sorts of machines and insecticides is too expensive for the average farmer to risk.

The methods and machinery for the control of flea hopper, boll weevil, leaf worm and boll worm have been thoroughly tested and worked out by the state and federal agencies supported by your taxes for that purpose. The best available information on how and when to fight insects can be had by any cotton grower, on request to his county agent or to State Experiment stations. Whenever new and better methods are discovered the experiment stations will test them and report on them, and until they do, the

Babson Warns Nation Of Liquor Danger

In a statement made by Roger W. Babson, economist, in Boston, Massachusetts, Tuesday evening, April 25, at a dinner celebrating the seventieth anniversary of the formation of the National Prohibition party, he arraigned the "commercial liquor traffic" as menacing "our entire political structure" and as threatening the destruction of "our freedom as termites destroy a well-built house."

In his discussion of what he regards as an outstandingly serious situation facing the American people today, Mr. Babson said, reports the American Business best the grower can do is to leave the experimenting to them. Those who buy a good dusting machine to fight this year's late pests will be prepared to start the battle at the right time next year—when the insects first attack the crop.

Men's Research Foundation: "But only since the repeal of prohibition, however, have I realized the terrific dangers of the commercialized liquor traffic."

"After most careful study, I am convinced that only by crushing the liquor traffic can democracy be saved. The American people are now fast approaching the time when the liquor interests will be running the United States government. If our constitution is thrown over for facism, it will be due primarily to the liquor traffic which has never known when to stop its nefarious and underground campaigns. The great danger of such a development cannot be over-emphasized. Even today, the liquor interests claim that they elected President Roosevelt and that it is up to him to protect them."

"As a statistician, I am especially disturbed by the arguments which the liquor interests use in connection with taxation. They claim that because liquor is contributing about $500,000,000 a year to Federal and State treasuries, they are entitled to special consideration. Let me tell you, however, that they are telling you only one-half of the story. The other half is that liquor, on which they pay this tax, has so wrecked the character of thousands that our Federal and State governments are now required to pay out more than $500,000,000 a year for relief! This relief expense the country never had before the repeal of prohibition."

"Newspapers and magazines might temporarily suffer until legitimate advertising should increase sufficiently to make up the slack. If, however, we have learned something from the mistakes made under prohibition, we will not allow these newspapers and magazines to suffer. We will see that the government carries on an educational, paid-advertising campaign to develop the character, health and efficiency of the American people. This will more than offset any losses due to suppressed liquor advertising. England and other countries are already meeting the problem in this way."

"Notwithstanding the above, the liquor gang will claim that to take the profits out of liquor would hurt real estate values. Statistics show that this is an outright falsehood spread about to fool the voters of the United States. The liquor traffic has done real estate far more harm than good. This can be proven in almost every community."

"Statistics show that the liquor traffic is also a great contributor in cause of unemployment. But look about your own community. You will find that for every five homes fully employed, no liquor will be purchased by four of these homes. On the other hand, for every five homes on relief that liquor is being purchased by four of these homes. I am not a fanatic on liquor. Things cannot continue to go wrong as they are now going without a spiritual and financial collapse."

Window Box Easy to Make

Working diagram of attractive window box.

When you install an outdoor window box it immediately becomes a part of the house, and should conform to its architectural design and color scheme. For this reason it is well to construct your own window box, and it is not difficult to do.

Window box gardening is a recreation and delight which everyone can enjoy, whether he lives in the smokiest city, or the roomiest suburb. They are grown to be seen from both the inside and the outside of the house, and there is such a variety of subjects available that almost any location (except extremely shady ones) is suitable.

The box itself should be of the same color as the building, or as its trim and the flowers should be of a contrasting color which is harmonious. For a red brick house, white flowers and plenty of green foliage would be attractive. For a house in which yellow is the prevailing tone blue flowers should be used. These are only suggestions, since the taste of the owner will control, of course.

The flowers must grow well, if the box is to give pleasure; and rich soil is most important, because there is so little of it. The soil should be what florists call good potting soil—a sandy loam well enriched. Holes drilled into the bottom of the box and covered with broken pieces of pottery will serve for drainage.

The best window-box flowers are those which bear flowers freely and continuously. In these respects the petunia has no superior. All types are long bloomers, the large-flowered single and double, the small-flowered singles, the dwarfs and the balcony types. The new fragrant double nasturtiums are fine window box material, and some of them are of the trailing habit.

It is possible to have a window box filled with morning glories, and it is hard to imagine a more beautiful decoration than their tapestry of green leaves and glorious blue flowers. They like a south exposure.

El Paso To Get Gas Rate Cut

EL PASO, Texas, July 1.—Natural gas consumers today were promised checks totaling $29,000 as rebate for a reduced gas rate which was given the Texas Cities Gas Company by the El Paso Natural Gas Company, pipeline firm but was not passed on until recently to users.

Auditors for the gas company said the rebate would be by check rather than discount because it would save bookkeeping work. More than 13,000 consumers will be benefited.

The refund was an aftermath to a bitter battle which ended in an agreement between the company and city officials guaranteeing consumers a $100,000 a year rate reduction.

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

Business in the U.S., it sure has a strong constitution, and instead of being dead and buried as you might expect, from taking every concoction that anybody could think up, it still totters around.

And every day, business, it has been on the operating table. And they have taken out or redesigned its whole inwards. And how it has kept on functioning, will go down in history as the eighth wonder of the world.

From ocean to ocean they have administered casfor oil, hot baths, cold baths, and used the stomach pump. And every time business showed a flutter of the eyelid, they operated again, with and without, anesthetics.

Grasshoppers, they may be a problem in certain places; boll weevils in other places; plump ladies in sailor's pants in others. But our chief problem and menace it is this new crop of economists—and they been living on the fat of the land.

But the rest of us—our belt, it still goes around 2 times.

CLARENDON METHODIST CIRCUIT J. G. Walker, Pastor

In an address made at the Uniting Conference at Kansas City, the Right Honorable Isaac Foot said: "The weakness of the church today is the non-fulfillment of the work of the laymen." By request of the conference he told of the work of the lay-preacher in the Methodist Church in England. He said: "That in England there were 14,269 Methodist Churches; and there were only 4,680 ministers. This left very nearly 19,000 churches 'that had to be supplied every week by laymen. In his own ancient home in Cromwell, there were forty churches with only four ministers. Every Sunday seventy-two services in that circuit had to be conducted by local preachers and eight by the ministers. He said if he could give one suggestion to American Methodism it was "Let them carry their messages to the Common people."

The editor of the Southwestern Advocate seems to commend the plan but doubts that it would be wise to attempt it. He states also that "We have no such need for laymen in our pulpits." Of course we have more ministers in proportion to the number of churches than they; and the attempt of duplicating that number of lay preachers might be unwise for us at this immediate time; but in some places and perhaps more places than many are aware of there is dire need of the working layman. For me, I'm willing for any worthy layman to have a place in the pulpit. There is no place in the church services that is too sacred for the most lowly consecrated layman. John Wesley had to overcome prejudices in his own heart before he could countenance lay preaching. Then he saw the tremendous force of it, he completely surrendered—and for two centuries the lay preacher has been a mighty force in Methodism in the homeland. I'm thinking that we need more working laymen in and out of the pulpit. I have heard lots of them who could beat their pastor preaching—I did not happen to be the layman at that time. I have heard some that in my way of thinking could beat elders and bishops. George L. Morelock, general secretary of the board of Lay Activities of the Methodist Church can do it. There is nothing in the mere licensing a preacher to preach; that makes him a preacher. He must have the ability and feel the call of God and make a sacrifice to apply himself. The layman who applies himself may preach as well as the licensed preacher, and it may be possible to outdo him. In Acts 2: 17, 18, "And it shall come to pass in the last days (the Holy Ghost dispensation) saith God, I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions, and your old men shall dream dreams. And on my servants and on my maids I will pour out in those days of my Spirit and they shall prophesy (preach).

'Come Into the Kitchen', Invites Modern Woman

The kitchen today can be the loveliest room in the average home! "This is possible because time and labor saving electric servants keep it clean, cool and cozy," says Miss Eudora Hawkins (inset), home economist for the West Texas Utilities, who frequently visits in the numerous homes here which now are equipped with the electric range. "Come into the kitchen' is a standing invitation in thousands of homes where women are proud to show the beauty of cooking equipment and the ease with which they cook," Miss Hawkins declares. She insists that the electric range is the foundation for an all-electric kitchen, supplemented by electric refrigerator, dishwasher, hot-water heater and the many smaller appliances designed to "take drudgery out of the home."

WAYS OF KEEPING BABIES WELL DURING SUMMER EXPLAINED

AUSTIN.—As the thermometer shows signs of climbing higher and higher some of the ways by which babies may be kept well and comfortable during the hot weather and may be safeguarded against "summer complaint" are outlined by the Texas State Department of Health.

First take your well baby to your doctor regularly for advice and supervision, and to follow the doctor's instructions carefully and very faithfully. If your baby develops any digestive trouble, call your family doctor at once. He'll tell you what to do.

"Summer complaint, or cholera infantum as it is sometimes called, and other digestive diseases that are dangerous for babies, are germ diseases. The germs that cause the disease get into the baby's food or in the water given the baby to drink. Babies who are nursed by their mothers and who are given cooled, boiled water to drink are protected from these sources of danger. Care should be taken not to wean a baby in hot weather except under a doctor's orders.

"If mother's milk is not available, the best substitute for it is fresh cow's milk or unsweetened evaporated milk mixed with an equal quantity of water. If sugar or additional water is needed, it should be mixed with the milk according to your doctor's directions. All milk or milk mixtures given to children up to two years of age should be boiled. The feedings should be kept in individual bottles and kept on ice until used. Each feeding should be warmed as needed.

"Always wash the hands thoroughly before preparing the baby's food, and before handling the baby's bottle. All dishes, pots, pans, bottles and nipples should be sterilized by boiling.

"Throw out any milk left in

Sentinels of Health Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, frequent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

The Macaroni Family

By BETTY BARCLAY

The leading shapes of this wheat food, — macaroni, spaghetti and egg noodles are popularly called THE ENERGY TRIO.

Housewives plan to change the ways of serving popular foods in keeping with seasons. So let's not forget our friends, The Macaroni Family, now that warm weather is here. Macaroni, spaghetti, egg noodles and the other members of this popular family that are such favorites in other seasons can be turned into dozens of excellent summer dishes.

This wheat food being bland will blend naturally and tastily with vegetables, with fruits and with meats to make a well-balanced main course dish that is easy to prepare, healthful and filled with the elements needed for body sustenance in every season. Any way this food is served, will prove a pleasing change in the menu. What more can one ask for?

As a change for the popular potato salad, why not serve a Macaroni Daisy Salad? Have you tried egg noodles as a cereal or as a dessert; or luscious spaghetti with butter? The folks will like them all.

Here are three summer recipes that you will find particularly pleasing. The manufacturer of your favorite brand of The Macaroni Family will gladly supply you with additional recipes on request:

Noodles with Fresh Fruit
1/2 lb. egg noodles
Fresh fruits in season
1 cup cream

Cook egg noodles in boiling, salted water, till tender and drain. Chop slightly with edge of a saucer. Mix with fruit cut in small pieces. Serve hot or cold, as a cereal, with cream.

This is particularly good for children and relished as a dessert by your most fastidious dinner guests.

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

The John Newberry award for the best contribution to literature for children is made annually at the meeting of the American Library Association. This meeting was held in June at San Francisco and "Thimble Summer" by Elizabeth Enright won the coveted award. It seems that the author is her own illustrator and the illustrations are said to be very interesting.

The Caldecott Award was made in 1938 for the first time—an award for the best illustrations in any children's book for the year. The first award went to Dorothy Lathrop for "Pictures of the Bible" in 1938. The recent award went to Thomas Handforth's book "Mei Li." The artist, author, Thomas Handforth, was born in Tacoma, Washington in

Spaghetti al Burro

All housewives plan at least one hot dish daily. Here's one that is easy to prepare and a family favorite for luncheon.

1/2 lb. spaghetti
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup grated cheese
Salt and pepper

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water till tender and turn onto a hot platter. Add seasoning and butter. Stir till all strands are well buttered and sprinkle grated cheese over all. Excellent with roasts, chicken or fish.

Macaroni Daisy Salad

Inasmuch as the average American family seems to have a growing mania for salads, try this one as a change from the popular potato salad.

1/2 lb. elbow macaroni
1 green sweet pepper
1 dill or sweet pickle
Salt and pepper
4 hard-boiled eggs
1 large ripe tomato
1 medium onion, chopped fine
1/2 cup French dressing or mayonnaise

Cook elbow macaroni in boiling, salted water till tender, then drain. Mix with green pepper, cut into small pieces, with tomato, sliced or chopped, with pickle, chopped fine, with 2 hard-boiled eggs, diced, and with onion. Season with salt and pepper, then mix all well with French dressing or mayonnaise.

Serve on four crisp lettuce leaves, with an egg daisy on top and garnished with parsley. The egg daisy is made by cutting each of the two remaining boiled eggs in half, using one half of the yolk for center of the daisy. Cut the white halves into strips making a rosette representing the petals of the daisy.

pan, and India. This story is of a real little girl whom he knew in Peking and all of the illustrations are of children, donkeys, camels, and kites which he saw daily. He says he is attracted to Chinese children because they are so frankly normal—they ignore the inevitable and enjoy what life brings them so thoroughly.

These long summer days are such a splendid time to catch up on one's reading—to read the but for which we could not find things we have planned to read the time, the long stories, the classics in prose and poetry which have so long been a part of our reading plans. Many of our readers are doing just this. Some of the club women are getting the books and working up club programs at their leisure while quite a few of the school people are getting book reports ready for the strenuous days next fall.

Every day brings us new members, largely for summer reading.

A new book which is attracting much attention just now is Sigman Byrd's "The Redlander," another Texas story—a story of the piney woods of East Texas, the picturesque Nueces River country. Mr. Byrd has made this section familiar through his Saturday Evening Post Articles. His hero, the Redlander, is the young Senator John David Huntsman whose struggle with poverty and whose courageous access thrill the reader with enthusiastic admiration. The story is also pioneer history interestingly told, and that appeals to us all.

W. Somerset Maugham, who has been vacationing in the West, has returned to New York to complete his new novel, "Christmas Holiday," which is to be published in the fall. His "Of Human Bondage" is being enjoyed by our readers.

Grace Noll Crowell has a new volume of poems, "Songs of Faith." It is said by the reviewer to be characterized by the same lyric beauty, simplicity, and high faith found in her other books.

The author of "An American Doctor's Odyssey," Dr. Victor Seiser, has a new book, "You're the Doctor," which is characterized as a program for personal health.

John Dos Passos also has a new book, "Adventures of a Young Man" which is said to be the first of a series of contemporary portraits. It is said to be the study of one young American's struggles in the confused world of the twenties and thirties.

One of our new books is Archie Binns' "The Land is Bright" a story of "the greatest migration in history since the children of Israel went to the promised land"—the journey to the new Pacific Coast territory in the 1850's over the Oregon Trail. It is the story of what happened to one wagon train and the people of this group who were a part of the thousands who left "the states" to make homes and seek fortunes in the new land of the West. The daily life of the caravan as it crosses the great plains, the deserts, and the mountains is filled with incidents, amusing, tragic and thrilling.

Archie Binns, the author writes of a country which he knows. He was born in Port Ludlow, near Puget Sound, and knew intimately the descendants of these early pioneers. He was the son of a long line of sea farers. His mother having been born at sea on the steamship which her father commanded. His father was a master mariner at 21, a cotton-blockade-runner during the Civil War. At seventeen Mr. Binns joined the crew of the lightship near Cape Flattery, Washington and spent nearly a year there. Later he went to sea and for the next six years split his time between the army in the World War, Stanford University and the sea. In 1925 he came to New York and began his writing career which has included many types of writing. He traveled all over the old Oregon Trail while writing "The Land is Bright."
