INDIVIDUAL SUPPORT FOR RED CROSS

It is going to take individual support for the Red Cross Roll Call this Fall if Donley County is to reach her quota of 900 memberships—and she ought not to fall short this year of all years.

The National organization hurried nearly $3,500 into Donley County in June and July for the relief and rehabilitation of our own storm sufferers, so the Roll Call this year affords an early and striking opportunity for our people to prove their appreciation of aid in time of need, and to keep strong the merciful hand of the Red Cross in the year to come.

Even if we had not had this local demonstration of succor the increased needs for our boys in army and navy is enough reason to command our support. Then, from a world-wide viewpoint, suffering, disease, want and distress in most of the civilized world tugs mightily at the heart strings of the American people.

Surely 900 men and women in Donley County will be happy to promptly plank down a dollar for forwarding the work of the Red Cross in the days to come, and will feel no strain in so doing. It is therefore, an individual matter.

NAZI RAGE IS AMUSING

The Nazis took great pride a few weeks ago in publishing a somewhat perverted draft of a letter from President Roosevelt to Joseph Stalin, flaunting their cleverness in securing through their spy system official papers here in this country.

When President Roosevelt in his Navy Day address reported the possession of a Nazi map of South America with plans for German seizure and occupation, and the demolition of Christianity in this country, the shoe was on the other foot. The Nazis swore and tore their hair, denying everything, and calling FDR names ingenious in gutter-snipe nomenclature.

Nazi rage and reaction in this matter, proves that the maps and plans in question were authentic insofar as their objectives are concerned. Their rage is heightened in the fear that other important information is in the hands of Democracies pledged to the destruction of Hitler and his hideous cruelties.

THE LEADER LAGS BEHIND

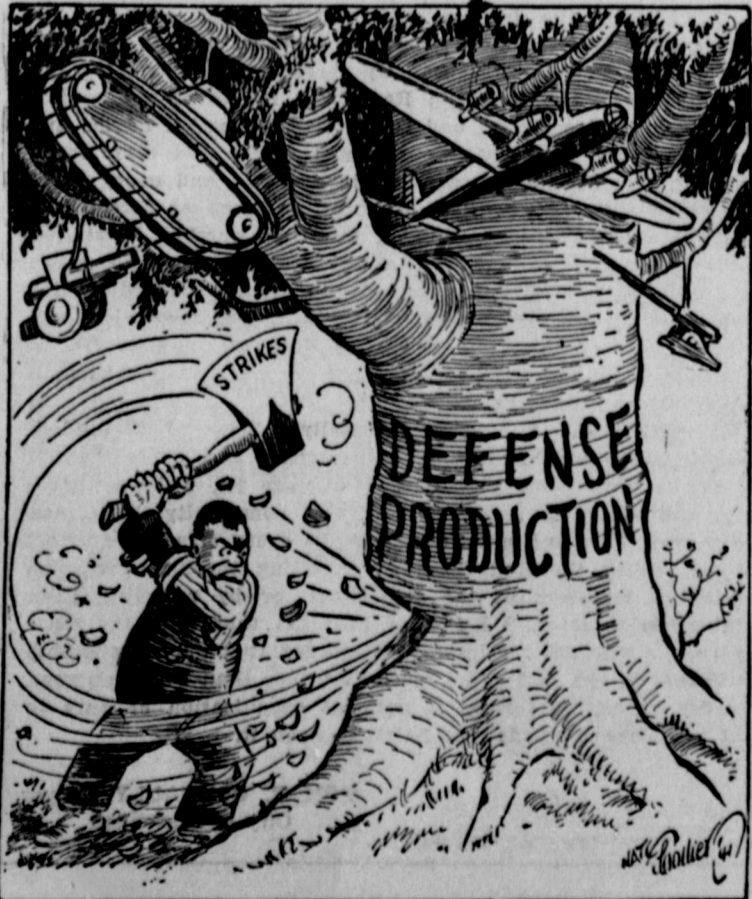

As strong as The News is for the announced foreign policies of the Roosevelt administration, we are forced to confess that we are somewhat disappointed in its passive attitude in the face of defiance by certain labor leaders on the matter of strikes and delays in defense industries.

In this regard it appears to The News that the leader lags behind public opinion, rather than assuming his place as leader.

Furthermore, there seems to be every indication that the continued presence of Madame Perkins as secretary of Labor has a lot to do with this lethargy, which criminally delays America in one of its most critical moments.

The retirement of Perkins and a vigorous use of the powers at hand would unite Americans and cheer the forces fighting Hitler more than anything else at this period.

SPARE THAT TREE!

TOWNS AND THEIR LEADERSHIP

A town expresses above everything else its leaders. If the leadership of a town is energetic, unselfish and resourceful the town will go ahead and make a name for itself in the locality in which it is located. If it lacks leadership, or the leadership lacks energy, is inspired too much by selfish motives, the town will never distinguish itself for anything. It will merely be another spot on the map with so many filling stations, so many people, so many stores, etc. Towns are a lot like individuals that way.—Foard Co. News.

Economic Highlights

happenings That Affected the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable From Local Welfare.

Criticism of this nation's arms effort continues to mount. According to one of the latest surveys, it will be another year before our military production rivals that of England. Inasmuch as we have three times the population of Britain, and have many times the resources of all kinds, it is apparent that we are still a long, long way from anything resembling an "all out" armament program.

In some quarters it is believed that our actual production may be greater than official announcements indicate—that, in other words, the extent of our arms output is being deliberately played down as a matter of policy. Whether this is true or not, however, a great many authorities are convinced that some radical changes must be effected before this nation's "arsenal of democracy" dream is even partially realized.

There are three definite factions involved in the defense program. Number one is the government. Here there has been an excessive overlapping of activity. There has been too much divided responsibility. Some of the more extreme New Dealers, according to informed critics, have put their ideological ambitions ahead of anything else, at the expense of military production. A number of the much-touted experts who have been given key jobs, have proven failures. And the age-old vices of bureaucracy—slowness and lack of initiative—have been retarding elements.

The second factor is industry. By and large, it has responded well to the demands of the emergency. But certain important segments, consciously or otherwise, seem to have been unwilling or unable to abandon the "business as usual" idea. This segment of industry, in the opinion of its critics, has been too cautious, too fearful of losing profits. That has delayed the harsh changeover from a peacetime to a wartime basis of operation.

The third factor is labor. Here, again, an important segment has put personal power and profit ahead of the needs of the nation. Strikes in defense industries have cost the country millions of man-days of work. They have prevented the manufacture of unknown quantities of planes, tanks and other weapons of war. In these days, a strike carried off by a few workers in a vital plant, can stop production in a hundred plants. A late example is the strike in a plant which produces transmissions for motor vehicles. That brought the production of trucks, tanks, jeep cars and other motorized equipment to a standstill. This particular strike was purely a jurisdictional disagreement between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O.

It is reported that the President is considering a tremendous "victory drive" involving the spending of $50,000,000,000 a year. Some of the more level-headed friends of labor are telling it that continued strikes will result in disaster for the trade-union movement. There are rumors to the effect that production of heavy consumer goods, such as motor cars, may come to a virtual stop in a few months. What will come of all this remains to be seen. In any case, it is plain that the tempo of America's war effort must be tremendously accelerated if we are to produce the goods which the beleaguered Allies abroad must have if Hitler is to be stopped.

The hand of Hitler can be seen in the recent changes which have taken place in the Japanese government. And time may prove that Hitler won a considerable diplomatic victory when the moderate Konoye government gave up the ghost, and the saberrattling government of Axi-admiral General Tojo came in.

The advantage of this to Hitler is clear. First, if this country is forced to face a naval threat in the Pacific, its naval efforts in the Atlantic will necessarily be limited. We haven't got a two-ocean navy, and we won't have one for four more years. It is unquestioned that a U. S.-Japanese naval war would be of immense service to the Axis.

Second, the new Japanese government constitutes a threat to Asiatic Russia. Rumors fly about that Japan may seize the vital port of Vladivostok. And the only fresh troops Russia has are in Eastern garrisons. If Japan offered no danger, Russia could bring them and their supplies to bolster her weakened forces in Europe. But if Japan threatens, she is between the devil and the deep blue sea.

In Washington, the Japanese change of government made a comparatively small stir. As columnist Paul Mallon put it, "The fluctuating wrath of Tokyo caused considerably less than the expected reaction. Over-committed in China, torn with political disension within, threatened with economic starvation, Tokyo would have to exhibit a lot of wrath to frighten anyone."

It is on open secret that many high-ranking U. S. Naval officers would welcome a naval showdown with Nippon. They think we could win that war in fairly quick time. But, should it come, our aid-to-England Program would certainly have to be slowed down to a walk for the duration of hostilities in the Pacific.

Thoughts from great writers: Beauty is its own excuse for being.

A good book is the precious life-blood of a master-spirit, embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life.

God made the country and man made the town.

Man! Thou pendulum betwixt a smile and tear.

A mother is a mother still, the holiest thing alive.

To live in hearts we leave behind us now to die.

Bruce Shulkey, assistant superintendent of Fort Worth schools, used to be Onley superintendent when I was editor of the Enterprise. He and I one evening set forth in his flivver for a program in a rural community. We had been talking about vehicles getting out of control and he had told about a fellow who bought a motorcycle, learned how to start it but not how to stop it and so had to ride around town wildly for an hour till it ran out of gasoline. And then the motor of Shulkey's flivver began to race and he said, "It's running away!" An elbow turn was just ahead but he switched off the ignition and we made the turn, then to keep the machine from stopping, he cut the engine back on; and after it again started running away, he switched it off, and so on till we reached a crossroads filling station where the owner found that a pin was missing, put one in and charged a whole dime—and the rest of the journey was uneventful.

Governor Coke Stevenson presided over the House as speaker for two terms and over the Senate as Lieutenant Governor for a term and a half, more than 1,000 sessions in all, and not a single morning did a session start as much as a minute late. Which tells more than a whole book would as to the calm, systematic and steady nature of Coke Stevenson.

George E. B. Peppy, Houston lawyer, once made a speech about a noted (or notorious) politician, of whom Perry said, "He is so accustomed to rottenness that he could thrust his proboscis into the snowy chalice of a lily and smell corruption there."

I'm in a 10der mood today

Harvest Home Supper

We were spreading old table cloths over the improvised tables we had set up in the basement of the church for the Harvest Home Supper. When the tables were covered, we would arrange yellow pumpkins and purple egg plant and crook-necked squash and corn with the husks turned back as centerpieces on each of the tables.

"Just as we've been doing all our lives!" Kitty Phillips commented a little wearily. "I think I began fixing centerpieces like this when I was ten and I'll probably still be doing it when I'm ninety."

"If we're lucky," I replied. "Lucky?" she queried.

"Yes, and we keep on doing things in the good old American way. Do you realize that this is one of the few countries left in the world today where people can do things the way they did when they were children and as their fathers and mothers did before them? Why, we even know now what we'll have to eat tonight, although no one has made out a list or even told people what to bring."

"Of course," she said. "There'll be at least two crocks of beans baked in molasses and still piping hot. There'll be half a dozen roast chickens. Mrs. Holmes will bring pickled peaches."

"And stuffed eggs and light rolls," I went on with the list.

"Oh, yes, and there'll be pumpkin pie and devil's food cake and angel's food cake and at least one Lady Baltimore."

"IPTA" FEATURES LELIA LAKE SCHOOL CARNIVAL
What is IPTA? Mystification and bewilderment lay around this bewitching "thing" that will be featured at the Lelia Lake high school Halloween Carnival on the night of October 31. Attend this gay Halloween Carnival and discover the mystery for yourself.

This exciting affair will also offer bingo at its best, fortune

"And remember the freezer of ice cream out by the steps the Warner boys froze this afternoon and the coffee that Mrs. Akers makes in the big pot that's been here since before I was born."

"We know, too, what people will do. A lot of the men will get together over in that corner to argue about politics—without fear or restraint. The kids will whoop it up out in the yard and the young people will turn on the radio and laugh and make wise cracks."

"Just think,"... we were pretty serious now... "what a thing like this would mean to millions of people in the world today! Why, if they could get together with their neighbors some evening to eat all they want and talk about anything and anybody they please and watch their children play without a pang of fear in their hearts they'd think it was close to heaven."

We take a church supper pretty casually.—Yet a gathering like this is possible only in a country where there is real freedom and hope and independence. Even the way it's run is typical of our free enterprise system. No one is told what to bring. But when every woman brings the dish she makes best and is proudest of, it adds up to a good dinner for every one. In a similar way, our unregulated industrial system, with every manufacturer making what he wants to and, consequently does best, produces the highest standard of living any country knows telling by a real fortune-teller, a crachyone, doll rack, fishing pond, souvenir stand, cake walk, and many other added attractions.

Sponsors of this gala event are the Junior and Senior classes and will be held at the Lelia Lake high school building.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Andrews of Vernon spent the weekend here with Mrs. Andrews' father, J. W. Roland.

Q. Just what is inflation and how can it be minimized?

A. Inflation is a decrease in the buying power of the dollar caused by a rising cost of living. This, in turn, is brought about by a heavy public demand, resulting from a rapid increase in the national income, for things which cannot be produced in large enough quantities. Every citizen can help minimize inflation by buying Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Q. How can I get cash for my Defense Savings Stamps if I should need to redeem them?

A. Go to any post office. Note—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at most retail stores.

JAMES ELMO LANE, ACCIDENT VICTIM, BURIED SUNDAY

Funeral services were held from the Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon for James Elmo Lane, 27 years old, who was fatally injured in an oil field accident near Pampa Friday afternoon.

A resident of Clarendon practically all his life, Mr. Lane left here two months ago to work with a State Highway Department crew out of Pampa. Friday morning he began work for an oil royalty company, at a lease seven miles northeast of Pampa. Casing was being pulled from a well owned by the company, and Lane was assisting another workman with the job when the derrick collapsed. Lane was thrown to the ground from a place near the top of the derrick, receiving fatal injuries.

Born at Jackboro, Texas, July 19, 1914, James Elmo Lane moved with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Lane, to Clarendon at the age of six months. He attended the Clarendon schools, and had been an active member of the Baptist Church since becoming a member at the age of nine years.

He was married to Georgianna Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Morris of McLean, on June 4, 1937. The widow survives, with two young children, James Edwin and Martin Terrance Lane. Other survivors include the parents; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Durant and Miss Joe Alice Lane, both of Clarendon; and two brothers, Colvin and H. L. Lane, also of Clarendon.

Last rites were read by Rev. J. Perry King of Amarillo, former pastor of the church, with interment in Citizens Cemetery.

Palbearers were Truett Behrens, W. A. Riney, G. W. McCollie, B. M. Anderson, Irvin Hergert, and G. K. Reading.

Ethelyn Drennan and Estelle Thornberry, students at West Texas State at Canyon, spent the weekend here with their parents.

Kathleen Ryan Complimented At Pre-Nuptial Shower-Tea

Honoring Miss Kathleen Ryan whose marriage to George Blackburn Montgomery of Tulsa, Oklahoma, will take place early next week, was an informal tea and miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. John McClellan Tuesday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock. Assisting Mrs. McClellan was Mrs. Jess Mont Reid of Memphis.

Decorations for the reception and dining rooms were carried out in a clever Halloween motif. In the reception room gay colored autumn leaves covered the mantel where two jack-o-lanterns placed at either end cast a soft light over a stylized shock of stalked grain. Placed at the base of the shock was an arrangement of pumpkins and fall fruit.

The dining room was made particularly attractive with an arrangement of autumn leaves and candles. The service table was centered with a huge pumpkin that was used as a container for a large bouquet of red, orange, and yellow dahlias. Inscribed on one side of the pumpkin was "Kathleen" and on the other "Blackburn". Lighting the table were tall orange tapers in crystal holders. Presiding at the fiesta-ware coffee service was the honoree's sister, Mrs. Reid. The buffet was centered with a crystal bowl of yellow chrysanthemums.

Members of the house party included the hostess, the honoree, Mrs. Reid and the honoree's mother, Mrs. J. E. Ryan.

Guests who registered during the afternoon were Mesdames Homer Tucker and J. P. Montgomery of Memphis; Robert Linder of Floydada, G. E. Norwood, J. A. Smith, Annie Reeves, L. E. Thompson J. R. Mrs. C. T. McMurry was hostess to the Bluebonnet Bridge Club at a bridge-luncheon Thursday afternoon at her home.

Following a delightful two-course luncheon, the afternoon was spent playing bridge. High score was awarded Mrs. C. G. Stricklin and Mrs. George Ryan drew the traveling prize. Mrs. James Trent drew consolation.

Attending were Mesdames J. T. McMurry, George Ryan, F. E. Chamberlain, J. F. Blocker, W. H. Patrick, James Trent, and R. A. Chamberlain.

The bride who was honoree at a series of pre-nuptial parties in Amarillo recently, is a graduate of the local schools and has made her home in Amarillo for the past several years where she was a teacher in the city school system until recently when she accepted a position in the accounting department of the Santa Fe offices.

The bride, who was attended by Miss Naomi Owen of Lubbock, wore a light blue crepe dress ornamented with seed pearls. She wore a black off-the-face hat with matching shoes and bag and carried white gloves. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

Mrs. Wolters is a graduate of the local schools and at the time of her marriage was employed as receptionist at the Plains Clinic in Lubbock. Mr. Wolters is employed as a district representative of the Mid-Continent Oil Company.

The couple are at home at 1615 Avenue N in Lubbock.

(Continued from Page 6) replies that your grandmother used when she was a girl. After a few centuries men get tired of hearing them. No man likes a know-it-all-girl. Every time he starts to tell you something don't burst out with "Oh yes, I know that". Let him tell you something once in a while. If you'll let him finish you might learn something new. Most girls are too mirrow-conscious. As you all know that doesn't mean not look well-groomed, but please don't stop in front of every mirror you pass just to put on a fresh coat of lipstick. And another thing, if you have a dinner date don't bring out all of your beauty equipment and start putting on a new paint job. As far as the personal appearance you should know that when a man asks you to go somewhere with him he expects you to make an effort to look as attractive as you possibly can. Another thing on the list is your conversation. A girl must use discretion about the subjects on which she is going to talk. "Conversations that are punctuated with 'damn' and 'my God' do not add to your attractiveness." Instead, they usually betray your verbal hedlessness. If you want to use a slang phrase once in a while it is all right, but be sure you don't over do it. No matter how cute you think you are never use baby talk. Around men it is the most disgusting thing you can do. And don't make catty remarks or tell gossip on other girls. It isn't any of your business and besides it might hurt someone's feelings. Try to talk about something that will interest him, and don't you do all the talking; encourage him to express his opinions on it too. Another thing that men like is adaptability. No matter what happens be able to fit into the situation. I'm sure by now, if you aren't too stubborn to admit it, we have all found something that we can improve on. So why don't you start to work? You may be surprised how much good it will do.

National Pledge Campaign Directed At Bottleneck of Nondefense Savings

BECAUSE it is becoming obvious to all thinking Americans that to afford defense and at the same time ensure a stable America in the future, all nondefense, nonessentials of government must be cut to the limit, and. BECAUSE in the past so many individuals and organizations, while demanding national economies of their congressmen have, at the same time brought pressure to bear on those congressmen to push local projects and expenditures not truly vital to the community, and. BECAUSE the pressure for these nonessential expenditures in their aggregate, destroys any possibility of bringing about a sound, reasonable national spending policy, and. BECAUSE this emergency places upon every American and every organization a moral responsibility not only for defense today but for security and stability tomorrow. I PLEDGE, in this emergency, to serve the interests of my country, by not asking of any public official any expenditure which can be deferred or which I do not truly believe to be now vitally essential either to defense or to my own legitimate welfare or to that of my state or community best guard from the State University team. A story of high ideals and schoolboy honor, with a vivid and faithful football atmosphere. "Boy of Scott's Corners" is also by a well-known story writer, Nella Gardner. It is the story of the average shy, awkward boy—a story of boyhood, written with gentle humor and genuine understanding. Two stories of chivalry, "In the Time of Attila", by Francis Robt. Wheeler, and "The Lances of Lynwood" by Charlotte M. Young, will carry a strong appeal to many, while "The Last Wagoner" by Kent Curtis, "Camp Lenape on the Long Trail", by Carl Saxon, and "Benito and Loreto" by Dorothy Lyman Leetch, all carry an appeal in their appearance. "Banners of Scoutcraft" by John P. Case should have a message for our Boy Scouts. This new collection has only one book for the small people, but it is a very attractive one, "The American Holiday Parade" by Gar Gilbert, illustrated by Ruth Poll, and the illustrations are a large part of the book. Then there are four for the grown-ups—"Some Fell Among Thorns", Mary F. Dover; "His Wife the Doctor", Joseph McCord; "Trailer Doctor", Carlton Williams, and a Jane Austen Omnibus containing her six best known stories in the one volume, "Pride and Prejudice," "Emma," "Sense and Sensibility," "Northanger Abbey," "Persuasion," and "Mansfield Park." Another splendid book was recently given us by Mrs. A. L. Thornberry, "Mount Vernon", its owner and its story by Harrison Howell Dodge. The best Texas book of the year is "Hold Autumn in Your Hand" by George Sessions Perry of Rockdale, according to the decision handed down by the judges in Fort Worth Saturday at the annual luncheon of the Texas Institute of Letters. It is a story of an arduous but satisfying life on a Texas farm, and is the third book to receive the yearly award of the institute, the other two being J. Frank Dobie's "Apache Gold and Silver" in 1939 and Dora Nell Raymond's "Captain Lee Hall of Texas" in 1940. Mr. Perry was in Connecticut, but Norma Patterson Dalton, Dallas novelist, received the award for him. The award is given for that Texas book which "best combines significant and original material with effective and beautiful style, and the book must deal with some phase of Texas life and culture, or be written by an author reared in Texas or resident here". An author can qualify for the award only once. The committee of award consisted of George Bond of S. M. U., Fay Younger of Wichita Falls, Tom H. McNeal of E. T. S. T. C., Stanley Babb of Galveston and Hilton Ross Green of The Dallas News.

The intensely interesting thing about this year's judging was the number of good Texas books submitted for judging which had been published between Aug. 1, 1940 and Aug. 1, 1941. There were twenty-five of them against the eight or ten usually considered. The comment was that this might indicate either a literary awakening in the state, or the discovery by eastern publishers that Texas has spokesmen who can hold their own on any publishing list. There were eleven books balloted on in the final consideration. One of these many of you have read—Laura Krey's "On The Long Tide". This, as well as her first book "And Tell of Time", also a Texas story, is on our shelves. Everybody read Daphne du Maurier's "Rebecca", and now she has written another novel, "Frenchman's Creek". The manuscript for this has arrived safely in the U. S. and will be published soon. One of the "fashions in books" has been illustrated by "The Country Kitchen", "The Country Doctor", "The Country Lawyer", and now a new one by Della T. Lutes, "Country Schoolma'am". Storm Jameson has a new book, "The Fort", which is said to be a thoughtful analysis by fiction of the English, French and German nations. Storm Jameson is a noted English novelist who in private life is Mrs. Guy Patterson Chapman and has done something she had said could not be done in her home in Whitby, Yorkshire—that something was to have a job outside her home and have children in the home at the same time. But she has raised her son while writing more than a score of novels. She is also president of "Poets, Editors and Novelists", an organization of writers represented in 30 countries. Sinclair Lewis' production play, "The Good Neighbor", opened last Tuesday night in New York and he said it also closed that night since the reviews were all bad. He said he had sunk $26,650 in it. It was written by Jack L. Leven of Baltimore. The daily press recently reported the death at Houston of Sam Houston Dixon, 86-year-old writer of Texas history. He wrote many books including "Heroes and Martyrs of Texas," and the "History of San Jacinto." Besides these literary activities he was a leading horticulturist of the state, editor and statesman. Texas is so large, and has produced so many worthwhile people that one part of the state knows but little of those from other parts. The Atlantic's $5,000 non-fiction prize was recently won by E. M. Almedingen with her book, "Tomorrow Will Come". She was born in St. Petersburg in 1898 and barely survived war and revolution, and escaped to her hometown. Lu Yutang carries some of the characters in his "Moment in Peking" into the war-torn Chinese present in his new novel, "A Leaf in the Storm". We have his "My Country and My People" "The Importance of Living" and "Moment in Peking". Booth Tarkington has a new story of adolescence which sounds as if it might be somewhat like his Penrod stories. The new one is "The Fighting Littles."

FUNERAL SERVICES HERE SUNDAY FOR DENNIS R. HEAD

Services for Dennis Richard Head, Clarendon general contractor who died suddenly Friday afternoon, October 24, were held from the First Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with Rev. J. Perry King, former pastor of the church, reading the last rites.

Mr. Head was stricken Thursday morning, collapsing on a downtown street as he was on the way to visit a physician. He was rushed to his home and placed under a doctor's care immediately, but never recovered from a critical condition. Death, resulting from a heart ailment, came late Friday.

A native of Cornersville, Tennessee, where he was born February 11, 1887, Mr. Head had been a Clarendon resident for the past 26 years, engaging in the contracting business during most of that time.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Clarence Eudy of National City, California; a son, Bob Neal Head of Clarendon; and one grandchild, Sybil Louise Head of Clarendon.

Interment was in Citizens Cemetery, with Buntin Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. Pallbearers were M. L. Putman, Stanley Carlisle, Frank Lyle, C. L. McCrory, Ralph Keys, and W. O. Butler.

METHODISTS ELECT REEVES AS SUNDAY SCHOOL SUPT.

At the fourth quarterly conference session held at the Methodist Church Thursday evening of last week with Dr. G. T. Palmer, district superintendent, presiding, reports were heard from the various departments of the church, and officials named for the coming conference year.

Very few changes were made in the church staff of officers which included the election of G. G. Reeves as general superintendent of the Sunday school in place of J. R. Porter. J. R. Porter was elected delegate to the annual conference at Big Springs, with Sam M. Braswell as reserve delegate.

The financial report showed some nine hundred dollars yet to be raised to clear all obligations for the year.

John T. Forbis, associate district lay leader, of Wellington gave a splendid address following the covered dish dinner that preceded the conference.

MIDWAY
By Betty John Goldston

No local news seems important this week. We have had rain most every day. The farmers cannot get their crops gathered and prospects look gloomy. However, we are looking for the sunny side which we hope to see very soon.

Death visited our community this week taking away one of the finest of our young men, William Hardin. We are all grieved over his passing. When death comes to the old, we kindly understand, but to the young in the beginning of a life of his own, such a fine good, capable young man it is hard to understand.

Still life is a woven tapestry and we see only the lower part. Therefore, we do not know what it takes to complete the pattern on the upper side, so as the poem says.
