Sims P-TA To Meet Tuesday Nov. 22nd

"Material Values - Controlled or Controlling" is the program topic that will be used when Sims P-TA holds its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, November 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior High Auditorium. The purpose of this program is to encourage development within the home of abiding and enduring values. To aid family members in obtaining an objective attitude toward material objects. The questions to be considered are: Do we teach the degree of importance of material values?

Do we as adults worship material possessions? How do economic and social forces as well as changes affect home life? What can the community do in keeping the economic climate of family living stable for all people? What can family members do about the families economic adequacies and inadequacies? What is good stewardship? The seventh grade, under the direction of Mr. Johnny Leathers and Mrs. C. R. Brown, will present a short program. Nurseries will be provided at the First Methodist and First Baptist Churches. Doughnuts and coffee will be sold after the meeting is adjourned at 8:30 p.m.

Burglars Hit Moreman Grocery At Hedley For $2,000

According to Sheriff Trust Behrens, burglars hit Moreman's Grocery at Hedley early Saturday morning and took approximately $2,000 in cash and checks. Behrens said the burglars entered the grocery store through the skylight on the roof. They took money from the cash registers and rolled the safe into the cold storage locker to break it open. The take included around $500 cash and $1500 in checks. The burglars were apparently in the store quite some time as they enjoyed a snack while there. From all indications they were experts for they wore gloves the entire time they were there, Behrens stated.

A produce truck backed up to the back door of the grocery store at 20 minutes to three and apparently frightened the burglars as they were starting to leave by the back door. Moments later, the driver heard breaking glass and the burglars, unable to get the front door open, had broken out a front plate glass window to make their exit. Behrens is asking all residents of this area to report any suspicious characters or parked cars, which might help prevent such jobs as the above. Burglars are using residential driveways to avoid suspicion.

Groom Hospital To Be Dedicated Nov. 20th

Plans are being made for a dedication program for the new Groom Memorial Hospital on Sunday, November 20, beginning at 2 p.m. The $200,000.00 memorial hospital is now very close to completion and it is believed that it will be ready for use within the next 10 days. The contract for the construction of the hospital building was let on January 7 of this year to Neil Singleton of Amarillo, and ground-breaking took place on Feb. 18.

The new hospital building is designed for efficiency and contains everything in manner of arrangement and installations for the comfort of patients and convenience of the doctors. The project is financed by donations from people of this area matched dollar for dollar by federal funds under the Hill-Burton Act. Capacity is rated at 16 beds but all the private rooms are large enough for two beds to be installed in case of emergency need. A large attendance is expected for the dedication program and showing of the new hospital on November 20, and everyone in the area is invited to attend.

Speakers for the occasion will be Dr. Phil R. Russell of Fort Worth, Secretary of the Texas Osteopathic Physician and Surgeons' Association, and Dr. Elmer Baum of Austin, member of the Texas State Board of Health. Girl Scout Drive Now In Progress

With over thirty volunteer workers getting together for a kickoff coffee Monday morning, an intensive fund drive with a goal of $1200 for Girl Scouting here in Clarendon was begun and will last throughout this week. Mrs. Carl M. Bennett, assisted by Clyde Price, heads the fund drive committee. Mrs. Bennett says reports on the first two days of the drive were a little disappointing, but she feels more people will contribute before the drive ends.

"Girl Scouting has become very important here in Clarendon to fifty-nine girls. Open to all girls, it has grown larger here in three years than the Boy Scouts. Success in this drive will prove that citizens of Clarendon feel it is important, too," says one local troop leader. Mrs. Richard Gilkey, Girl Scout District Director, spoke to the Lions Club Tuesday and asked for their special support in the drive.

Mrs. Basil Smith, Mrs. Fred Chamberlain, and Miss Ruth Richerson head the different groups of workers who are contacting everyone interested in helping Girl Scouts. "Anyone wishing to donate," says Mrs. Bennett, "who has not been seen by these workers may call one of the above leader."

Contract Let For City Repair Job On Dams

John H. Jones, local contractor, was awarded the contract for concrete work on the city retention dams south of town and actual work on the concrete spillways is expected to begin next week.

The city received a disaster grant of $17,500 for rebuilding two dams that were washed out and flooring of others. This amount was not sufficient to do a first class job which would give the town the most protection, so it was decided by the City Commission to use city equipment and labor for the $10,000 dirt work job, so all the necessary concrete work could be done. The city crew has been working at two of the dam sites this week getting them ready for the concrete work. While this dam work is in progress, the city crew will only try to take care of emergency calls and the co-operation of local citizens will be appreciated. If the weather is agreeable, the job should be completed in approximately two months.

Street Marker Project Showing More Progress

Muscular Dystrophy Drive Monday Night

This is Muscular Dystrophy drive month and everyone is asked to help fight this dreadful disease by giving what you can. The big drive here in Clarendon will be made next Monday night along with other towns in this area. Members of the fire department along with members of Mu Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will make a round of the residential section of town Monday night to take your contributions. If you wish to contribute, leave your porch light on and one of the workers will stop at your home.

City Installs New Stop Lights

The city has installed four corner stop lights at the intersection of Highway 287 and main street which will take the place of the center signal light which has been in operation to direct the four-way traffic. Wiring of the four new lights is scheduled for today and should be in operation before the end of the day. If you don't see the center light, you will know the corner lights are in operation. The center light was confusing and hard to distinguish when the sun hit it just right and the corner lights should eliminate this trouble. In addition, the big trucks that zip through town will not be able to see the corner lights as well as a distance and will have to slow down.

"Little Princess" Sparks Muscular Dystrophy Drive

CHRISTMAS SEALS, THE GOVERNOR AND MARY ANNE—Christmas Seals have a special meaning to Mary Anne Copeland, 5, of Austin this year since Christmas Seals provide funds to fight tuberculosis—and tuberculosis is the special enemy which took her father away from her last Christmas. She and her father, E. B. Copeland, (left), visited Governor Price Daniel upon the occasion of his proclaiming the period November 14 to December 24 as "Christmas Seal Days in Texas". Mr. Copeland was a truck driver for the city of Austin before he became ill with tuberculosis. Released from a TB hospital in January, he is presently restrained by medical advice from working for more than two hours each day. He is very grateful, however, that he will be able to spend this Christmas with Mary Anne, her mother and two brothers. Governor Daniel recently appointed a statewide committee on tuberculosis to coordinate activities of all organizations concerned with the disease. Said Governor Daniel in his proclamation, "Texas has a vulnerable spot as far as tuberculosis is concerned. This State has not attained relative freedom from the disease as have a few of our sister states. . . . Through Texans' purchase of Christmas Seals each year, funds have been provided to aid in research and to improve patient care. . . . Therefore, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate November 14 to December 24 as Christmas Seal Days. . . and urge all citizens to make a sound investment in their own and their fellow citizens' health by buying and using Christmas Seals during the holiday season".

This little farmer will inherit 49 empty tummies!

Grandpa fed 10 people. Dad produces for 25. But our skyrocketing population will force baby Bill to provide 53,655 meals yearly for 49 people. And he'll do it with the help of modern science, farmer know-how, and push-button electrical power.

Today, nearly 1,000 non-profit Rural Electric Systems—owned and operated by local people and financed by REA loans—are bringing better health and a touch of city living to people in rural areas. These same Rural Electric Systems are building lines to help Bill and other future farmers feed 175 million more people by 1995. And they have plans to install bigger transformers, and string heavier lines to fill future rural power needs which are now doubling every five to seven years.

Rural electrification is food insurance for all. Its cost, however, is borne by the people who use it. Already Rural Electric Systems have paid more than $1 billion in principal and interest on their $3½ billion REA loans . . . added proof these locally-owned systems are one of the best investments our Nation ever made.

LIBRARY NOTES
EDITH BARNES

A flag for the library has been given in memory of Mrs. Gable Betts Burton. One of the better books about the early days in the Southwest is Frank Water's "The Earp Brothers of Tombstone." It is the story of the brothers told to the author Waters by Mrs. Virgil Earp. He also did an awful lot of research in all the areas where the Earp Brothers lived at one time or another.

James Farber in a book review from the "Forth Worth Star Telegram," said that researchers have known for years that all the tripe written about the Earps was simply not true. Quoting from his review: "What effect the book will have on the lily-white legend of these boys can be predicted — none. They will continue to gallop across T.V. and motion picture screens and regularly kill the Clantons — and that re-enactment in the flesh at Tombstone doubtless will continue to entrance the uninformed."

Need this be so? If we are going to have real life heroes must we pick on one who was a bigamist, stage coach robber and cold blooded killer

For all of those who tried Boris Pasternak's "Doctor Zhivago" and couldn't stay with it, Giuseppe di Lampedusa's "The Leopard" is much easier reading. Author di Lampedusa is compared to Pasternak in that they both "concentrate on distinguished writing as an art and reading as a luxury."

It is tragic that Giuseppe di Lampedusa had had publishers tell him that his novel was un-

We wondered what would be written and talked about when time came to send in this article. At this time votes are still being counted, although Mr. Nixon has all but conceded the election to Mr. Kennedy. We might add this is only the morning after. But we wonder if vote counting and percentages will still not be news one week from now.

publishable. He died believing this.

"The Leopard" won last year's major Strega Prize in Italy. It deserves comparable official distinction every where. No mere epitaph, this novel is a powerful elegy, capturing an age of the past and preserving it in a magnificent showcase."

How many of you who read Noel M. Loomis's western novels know that in 1959 his "Cheyenne War Cry" won the Spur Award for the best Western novel of that year? Also that he lived here for a long time, first with his parents, then with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stevens? His latest book got a very good review in the "Forth Worth Star Telegram." They said, "The 'Time for Violence' came when the rancher around Clarendon decided to bring in a judge to hold court, a move the outlaws opposed. — and in the otherwise fictional cast two factual persons appear Charles Goodnight, famous Texas cattleman, and 'Cap' Arrington, equally famous Texas Ranger."

One small opinion; with the population shift going, or gone the way it has, we feel the Electoral College must go. Otherwise the block votes will just about run America in another four years. No one would object to the majority of popular vote, this would be more in keeping with the American way.

There is another big freeze forecast for us tonight, for the farmer this is good news. Now we will be able to gather this cotton crop, cover up the gin lots, slow up traffic on the highways, we hope without accidents, and really live for the next few weeks.

There will also be more drastic decisions made after this year's settling up, as the farmer calls it. Whether to go again next year, or join the mass exodus in to the cities and towns.

Whatever we do about that, one thing we must do. It is time to close ranks in America. To give to our new President our heart, our hand, and above all, like you make at home. Not only is this speedy, it is also nutritious — each piece of toast contains half an egg.

Real roasting chickens, large enough to feed a family of four, would be welcomed by more consumers. It isn't often that you can find birds of this size at the supermarket, but heavier broilers are now available in some retail stores. Beanblossom says that Grade A broilers of this size have ample fat for excellent roast flavor.

Another new and promising product, the specialist continues, is the chicken-frank. It's a low-fat, high protein food that will get its try-out soon.

Chicken is appearing in other new forms, such as the chicken loaf and chicken bologna. The latter is a cold cut with a definite smoked flavor. Then there's turkey sausage, another high-protein, low-fat food with little shrinkage. A turkey loaf, which has been given a ham cure, tastes and looks very much like boiled ham loaf.

The new poultry foods open up new vistas for gourmets, Beanblossom continues. And for the person who likes to eat but must watch his waistline, the specialist points out these foods are low in fat and high in protein.

Phone with the built-in switchboard

Here's a phone designed to play a big role in business offices. Right in this single instrument are all the conveniences of a telephone switchboard. Six push buttons give you complete control over all incoming and outgoing calls. You can select any of five lines — talk on one while holding calls on others — "buzz" your secretary — or use the phone as an office intercom. Lights in the buttons tell you which lines are busy, which are free.

Our "phone with the built-in switchboard" is another example of how General Telephone works to make the telephone a more convenient and valuable instrument of communications for everyone. Call or visit our Business Office and learn how little it costs to have the "switchboard" service of a push-button phone.

Better balance and roadability! Control that can't be copied!

We've built more room and greater roadability into this sleek new '61 Pontiac. There's more headroom, legroom and footroom. Doors are wider and they're designed to open farther for greater convenience. By trimming a 2 1/2 inch overhang, we balanced more weight directly between the wheels. The '61 Pontiac gives you greater stability. It gives you a greater sense of control for every mile, every maneuver.

Isn't now the time to try the Wide-Track way to travel?

BLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

By Uncle Zeb

My Grandmother to keep me from sin;
Said that "Old Nick" would sure get me when —
But she couldn't dream,
The old rat would scheme,
Until he wound up in the U.N.

Excuse our feeble attempt at poetry, but when things move us deeply it seems that the only way we can get it off our system is of resort to this art.

Not only does his name remind us of Satan himself but the foot-stamping, shoe throwing, snarling antics of this character prove beyond any doubt that we are dealing with the worst of all evil powers which the old master Satan himself has promised to let loose in the world.

From country to country he goes with pomp and splendor, parading, smiling, and promising his rewards to those who will bow down before his throne. From audience to audience he keeps deceiving, beguiling, and taking captive the peoples of many nations.

When the nations who are poor and hungry look upon his might it is small wonder that many are taken into his cunning web. That they will be devoured later is a foregone conclusion. To promise a place at the table to those who have never had a table is a strong selling point.

To those of us who have more light, there is also a greater responsibility that we take a stronger stand. We need to teach and cherish our freedoms as never before. We need to spread these teachings to the utmost as a Light to the world.

Politics is a lot like a courtship. It consists of about 90% promises and about 10% I do's.

Most of the political platforms are all right for the candidate to stand on, but is seldom strong enough for his opponent to jump on.

For anyone to say they are not interested in politics is just about like a drowning man saying that he doesn't care how long it rains. Politics has come to mean an ugly word. This should not be true. Nothing could be more honorable than for a man to serve his country in a political office. In the early days people were persuaded to leave their farms and businesses to take their turn in some office. This is not only honorable but it is the patriotic thing to do.

When we hear the word politician right off most of us think of a power-seeking, conniving man of promises who seldom delivers the bill of goods. Sometimes we are wrong. Other times we could correct the evil if we would take the proper interest in the political goings-on about us.

Someone has said that we are a people that will cross the oceans to fight for the cause of democracy, but won't cross the street to vote in the national elections. Occasionally this is true even on the local level.

At times it seems that we have a flood of so-called politicians, and a famine of honest to goodness statesmen. Now and then this may be true but it only means that we must not give up. We need to teach, preach and practice true democracy as never before. Nothing would please Nikita more than for us to lose faith in our way.

Scribbings from our notebook; some too good to throw away, others almost too bad to use. We couldn't make up our mind so take your pick.

It takes a long time for some folks to convince themselves that they don't have anything to say. To the bee—life is just one darned sting after another.

When one reaches the age that we don't have to be persuaded to take a nap on Sunday afternoon then we don't have to worry about the draft. With age the bed seems to be all the more "Ketch-in".

On our recent trip we were standing in line awaiting tables at what had been well recommended as a good eating place. It was during a celebration and at the rush hour. The owner was bouncing around trying to make about three of himself. Back down the line was a person who knew the owner and was heckling him to no end. "Just keep on working this way, and raking in the money. In no time at all you will be the richest man in the cemetery." We couldn't help thinking how true these words could be to many of us as we clamor for more and more of whatever it is we are after. The politician who goes all out to promise everything likely intends to get it. It's a lot easier to stand on what we have said if we are not lying.

Dr. Rose Speaks At FHA Meeting

"Selecting Glasses and News Concerning Contact Lenses" was the topic chosen by Dr. Jack L. Rose, Optometrist of Memphis, when he spoke to the Clarendon chapter of the Future Homemakers of America Monday night. Dr. Rose used a film strip to show how glasses can improve your looks or emphasize your good features. He suggested that it is not possible to select frames suited to all occasions and that the trend is to select them to harmonize with your basic wardrobe colors or to have more than one set of glasses. Following the film Dr. Rose used enlarged drawings of different shapes of faces and large "cut out" glasses to show that frames should never repeat a line in your face unless this added emphasis improves your appearance. The frame should follow the brow line, but it should not cover it. Concerning contact lenses, Dr. Rose explained how they are made, their care, and the advisability of your choosing them instead of glasses. You consider the purchase of contact lenses as you would buying a fur, or sterling. As a career, there are six women in Texas who are optometrists, one of which is in Amarillo. Women who choose this career usually specialize in children's care.

In the business meeting which followed new yearbooks, edited by the Typing II Class, were distributed. Approximately fifty members and two guests attended this meeting. Guests included Mrs. Charles Blackburn, chapter parent, and Mrs. Clyde Gilbreth. —Rep.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

Securities and Exchange Commission

America reached The Perpetual Pinnacle of Prosperity during the early decades of this century, and for the first time in history the complex activities of financial trade and investment fell into the hands of millions of people all across the country. College boys were selling short between classes, often time on the advice of Aunt Matilda who had just made a fortune in steel. The stock market reports were read with greater intensity than the comic strips or the sports pages, and the clacking ticker tapes pounded out the nation's pulse at an often feverish pace.

It did not require the Great Avalanche of 1929 to reveal certain unpleasant aspects of the securities business. The State of New York enacted legislation as early as 1909 to protect its people from abuses and shady practices, and other States followed suit. Some of the early laws simply required a license to sell securities while others aimed at punishing any fraud after it appeared. A Congressional Committee proposed regulation as early as 1913, but no action was taken at that time. Interest was heightened during World War I when the Liberty Bond drives ran into several snags resulting from the activities of speculators.

The Final Plunge of 1929 provided the fatal blow to unrestrained deals in the securities market. The 1932 platform of the Democratic Party pledged protection of the investing public, and less than a month after Franklin D. Roosevelt swept into the White House he dispatched a message to Congress requesting Federal supervision. The quickly-passed Securities Act of 1933 gave the Federal Trade Commission responsibility to see that the public was provided with full and honest information about securities. No government approval of a specific issue was involved.

In the meantime, a major Congressional investigation was in progress which lasted two years. Elaborate hearings produced a number of proposals, including a Senate bill to create the Securities and Exchange Commission and assign to it the duties with which the FTC had been charged the previous year. The Senate bill won out, and in 1934 the SEC began to police stock exchanges. Margin requirements were to be regulated by the Federal Reserve Board.

Not one scrap of important opposition was voiced against the principle of another independent agency. There was considerable argument, however, which favored assigning the new duties to the already established FTC, particularly since the FTC had administered the 1933 Act. Nevertheless, opinion leaned toward a separate body for a host of reasons, including the fact that the new duties would require highly specialized attention. There were two other issues: (1) Should the SEC's powers be specific or general? This was resolved by a compromise which left the law quite specific but gave broad powers of discretion to the agency; (2) Should stock exchange representatives serve on the commission? This was not done because, as was then pointed out, a regulatory body should not be controlled by those to be regulated.

The major purpose of the Securities and Exchange Commission remains the same today as it was when established 26 years ago. The agency seeks to prevent false claims about stocks and other securities and thus protect the investor from fraudulent information and allow him to exercise an informed judgment on an issue he may wish to purchase. The SEC regulates the trading processes on the market, supervises the nation's investment companies, and advises the courts in certain bankruptcy reorganizations.

casualties so far this year. Full reports are available on 15 of them.

Investigation by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish shows that 11 of these 15 casualties were self-inflicted. What a shocking revelation! All the time we're hunting we try to watch out for "the other fellow." This indicates we'd better beware watchful of our own actions.

It's really hard to believe that over half of the fatal shootings are self-inflicted. Makes one stop and think!

If you're interested in your own future, perhaps you'd better read further — because here's how those accidents occurred.

1. Weapon fell.
2. Weapon defective.
3. Removing loaded weapon from vehicle.
4. Discharged while being pulled from holster.
5. Climbing tree with loaded weapon.
6. Gun off safety.
7. Stepped on shell.
8. Tossed gun, which hit rock and discharged. (This one proved fatal.)

All of which prompts our neighbors to the west to remark that "accidents don't just happen — they are caused." Discharging a firearm in a reckless manner in a hunting area, resulting in injury to another, has caused many a hunter in New Mexico to lose his hunting license — for 10 years.

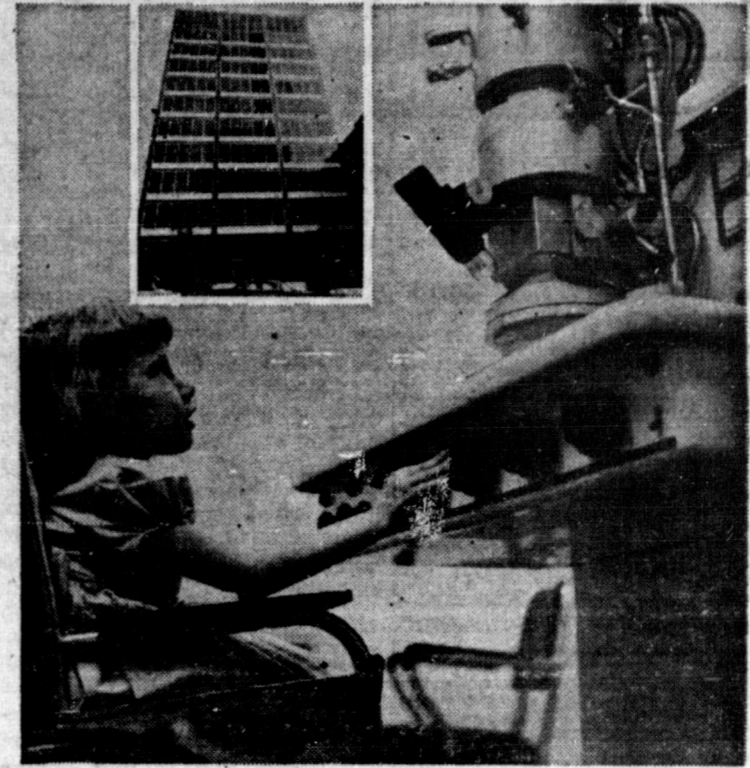

Such an incident, that results in a fatality in that state, is cause for revocation of hunting privileges — for life.

Texas' legislature would do well to adopt like penalties. The least that can be done is to rid the field of careless hunters.

Perhaps this is as good a time as any to repeat the 10 Commandments of Safety. Please, for your own good — read and repeat after me:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.
2. Guns carried into camp or home must always be unloaded, and taken down or have actions open; guns always should be encased until reaching shooting area.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.
4. Always carry your gun so

Research Holds Hope For MD Victims

One little girl, and one big complicated scientific machine. What do they have in common? The little girl has muscular dystrophy, a disease that defies analysis; the big machine is an electron microscope, capable of magnifying muscle tissue 160,000 times.

The microscope is installed at the Institute for Muscle Disease, New York City, the modern research center built at a cost of more than $5,000,000 by Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., with funds raised in the annual March for Muscular Dystrophy.

Robin Balnis, MDAA's 1960 National Poster Child, asked, while on a recent wheel chair tour of the Institute, "Will that machine help me walk?"

In time it may, because it enables scientists to explore the mysterious processes by which normal and diseased muscle develops and functions—or, as in Robin's case, ceases to function.

In time. In time for Robin? In time for the thousands of other children suffering from muscular dystrophy? Their only hope for recovery lies in the kind of research being done at the Institute, and in nearly one hundred scientific institutions across the world under MDAA's grant-in-aid program.

Mrs. Lewis Wood, Rickie and Steve of Amarillo visited last Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Wood.

FARMERS MUST GUARD AGAINST HOG CHOLERA

College Station — Hog cholera can wipe out a drove of hogs in very short order. This results in the farmer taking an unnecessary financial beating. Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian, says that vaccination is the first line of defense against a cholera outbreak, but that vaccination alone should not be depended on to prevent the disease. Prevention and control should go along with the vaccination program, Dr. Patterson explains.

A prevention and control program must include: Strict cleanliness and sanitation. Disinfection of pens, houses and vehicles after each use. Prevention of visitors in hog pens or lots.

Purchase of only healthy animals from farms free of the disease, and isolation of all incoming animals for at least 30 days.

Cooking of any garbage that is fed to the hogs.

A vaccination program should include all hogs on the farm and all animals bought to be added to the drove. Several types of vaccines are available, and each has its own place under certain conditions. Dr. Patterson concludes by saying that a local veterinarian should be consulted about which type of vaccine to use and what vaccination schedule to follow.

POST OFFICE HELPS COUNT LIVESTOCK

Rural mail carriers from the Clarendon post office have begun leaving some livestock survey cards along their routes.

"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster Moore explained.

In distributing the cards, rural carriers pick boxes at random along their routes.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Mr. Moore said. "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so that USDA can get a true sample of the State's livestock holdings."

Carrier assisting with the survey is Lynn Payne, Route 1.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for the Texas and National pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio and television.

"This annual survey has been a joint undertaking of the Post Office and the Agriculture Department since 1924," concludes Mr. Moore.

Soil Testing Laboratory To Open At Lubbock

Area Soil Chemist James H. Valentine, A&M College Agricultural Extension Service, has completed preparations for the formal opening of a new Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock. Above, he is making a final check of the delicate chain balance which is used to measure the minute quantities of chemicals required in running a soil analysis.

A native of Wills Point in Van Zandt county, Valentine is a former Future Farmer of America. He received both his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Texas A&M College with a major in Agronomy and minor in Plant Physiology. The overseas veteran of World War II served for 5 years as Soil Scientist with the Soil Conservation Service and for the past 9 years has been director of the Soil Testing Laboratory at Stephen F. Austin College at Nacogdoches.

Valentine says the new laboratory, which he heads, will devote full time to fertility problems of farmers in the Panhandle and High Plains areas of Texas.

County Agent H. M. Breedlove urged local farmers, home gardeners and others with fertility problems, to take advantage of the laboratory's facilities. The cost per sample is only $2. Vocational Agriculture Teachers and Soil Conservation Service Technicians, as well as the county agent, will be glad to assist in obtaining samples.

MESSER PERPLEXED WITH TRIP TO BIG D

County Clerk P. C. Messer made a fast round trip to Dallas over the week end, going down Sunday night and back home Monday evening. Messer, along with 253 other county clerks in the state received a subpoena to appear as a defense witness in the W. L. Bridges case Monday.

116 county clerks showed up for the trial only to hear Judge Henry King postpone the case. Bridges was to be tried on a $30,000 theft charge. All 254 county clerks in Texas were called to testify about various actions taken by C. H. Langdeau against the Bridges' complex of insurance companies. Dallas County had to foot the bill for the county clerks' trip to Dallas, a total of about $1500.
