LOWER COAST FISH KILL DUE TO COLD WEATHER

Biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department have concluded that cold weather—and not pollution—was the cause of a widespread fish kill discovered recently on the Lower Gulf Coast.

Ernest G. Simmons, a coastal fisheries regional supervisor, said the fish-kill, which extended from Copano Bay southward through the Lower Laguna Madre, resulted from rapid cooling of the shallow waters by a cold front which moved through the area.

Protecting Your Reputation

A consumer will have the legal right, beginning January 23, to review information concerning himself on file in credit-reporting agencies, announces Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M University.

The new legislation passed by Congress states that anyone refused employment, credit or insurance because of a bad credit report must automatically receive the names and address of the reporting agencies.

The law also gives the consumer the right to require correction of any false information in his credit files. If the consumer disputes the information, the agency must re-investigate. The consumer also has the right to sue for damages resulting from negligence on the part of the credit-reporting agency.

Anyone who deliberately obtains information from a consumer-reporting agency under false pretenses will be violating federal criminal law. An officer or employee of the agency who knowingly makes unauthorized disclosure of confidential information from a consumer's file will also be violating federal criminal law.

The best safeguard a consumer can make is to be sure he has a good credit rating by making payments on time. A few late payments won't be considered a poor credit risk, but chronic late payments sometimes are reported against a consumer.

Rural Environmental Assistance Program

A new program has been announced by Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford Hardin. This new program will be known as the Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP).

Announcement of the new program, formerly known as the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP), permits resumption of Federal cost-sharing of various beneficial conservation practices with farmers. The program will be more in line with modern day needs to better both the on and off-farm environment.

Emphasis on the farm side will be on those practices contributing the most to the improvement of conditions for both the general public and farmers. Major considerations in authorizing cost-sharing will be the resulting benefits such as pollution abatement, enduring soil and water conservation, recreation, wildlife, and open space.

Off-farm benefits will be promoted by concentrating funds to solve community environmental problems through special projects and pooling agreements.

Under the new program, the Federal government will pay about 50% of the cost of practices that achieve permanent benefits. Practices that are farming techniques that should be performed routinely and practices that are income-producing to the farmers will receive less emphasis than those having benefits for all citizens.

We expect to have more specific details of this program available in the very near future.

Out-of-County Cotton Allotment Transfers

The Donley County ASC Committee has agreed that out-of-county cotton allotment transfers will not be approved for 1971 except for landowners who wish to transfer cotton from this county to farms which they own in other counties. Allotments can still be transferred into Donley County from counties approving out-of-county transfers.

NEWS FROM Congressman Bob Price

18th District, Texas

The Department of Agriculture has advised Congressman Bob Price that they have modified their ruling which would have required that land diverted under the new set-aside program must have been harvested in at least one of the past three years.

Congressman Price told Secretary Clifford Hardin last week that this would mean the plowing up of thousands of acres of land that have been planted in grass to prevent soil erosion. As a result, the Department of Agriculture has agreed that this soil bank or ACP land can be used for set-aside in 1971.

"I am pleased that the Department has made this decision and am hopeful that during the next year we can convince them to allow this practice to continue after 1971," Price said.

The Agriculture Department advised the Panhandle Congressman last week that they will allow county ASCS committees to determine dates for grazing diverted acres as long as they are uniform within a specific area.

Department officials have refused, however, to designate barley as a feed grain for 1971; but will offer a price support loan of 81c per bushel on barley produced on allotted acres.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol By Vern Stanford

AUSTIN, Tex. — Legislators by the hundreds are assembling in Austin to tackle a mountain of inherited and new problems in a hastily - remodeled State Capitol.

Workmen barely completed their renovation of the new offices of Senators and Representatives before the occupants (for at least the next 140 days) moved in.

There is little indication, of course, where the 62nd Legislature is heading, but nearly everybody agrees it faces a major fiscal crisis. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes says the session may well be "the most difficult in Texas history."

Estimates of needed taxes range from $645 million to $850 million, and even higher in some cases. Barnes says he would be surprised if the sales tax rate and range were not both hiked.

James McGrew, head of Texas Research League and an outstanding tax authority, thinks that a state income tax may be necessary despite lawmakers' commitments to the contrary.

A welfare fund shortage may force a $5 million to $70 million tax bill early this year as an emergency measure.

Legislative and congressional redistricting, threatening an end to many political careers, may be necessary because of the new census. And this job could keep lawmakers overtime if the tax bill doesn't.

A federal court decision last week knocked out Texas' annual voter registration requirement and, as House Speaker Gus Mutscher commented, it "added urgency" to pressing election code reforms.

Liquor-by-the-drink legislation, environmental pollution, auto insurance, education, judicial reform, utilities legislation, and penal code revision are only a few of the issues which will be making headlines at the capitol during the next five months ... or more.

HOUSE CHANGES URGED — Speaker Mutscher applauded recommendations of his blue ribbon "Committee of 100" for House of Representatives reforms as offering national leadership in legislative modernization.

This committee concluded that lawmakers are underpaid (at $4,800 a year, plus $875 a month expense account for Representatives, $1,700 for Senators) and suggested the appointment of a six-member commission to set maximum salary levels.

Fearing for the safety of legislators in an era of demonstrations, the panel also suggested—while questioning the practicality of its own recommendation—the glassing in of the House galleries and use of metal detectors there to discover concealed weapons.

One of the Committee's top reform proposals called for a strict new code of ethics governing legislative conduct.

Other recommendations ranged over a wide field — from publicity services for House members to a suggested new $3.75 million underground addition to the capitol and a long-range capitol area parking plan.

PARKS HEAD QUILTS — In the middle of a boiling controversy over the proposal to buy Mustang Island park land, J. R. Singleton resigned his job as director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, effective March 5.

Singleton denied that Parks and Wildlife Commission Chairman Pearce Johnson is running him off. Harry Jersig of San Antonio and L. P. Gilvin of Amarillo, two of the three-man Commission, asked him to stay, said Singleton. Gilvin, however, is due to be replaced on the agency soon.

Employment with an "international conservation organization" lured him from the $25,000 a year state job, Singleton told newsmen.

He recommended that his deputy, Robert G. Mauermaier, be named to replace him.

Johnson, who opposed the other two commissioners' plan to buy Mustang Island land for $4.2 million, had no comment. Meanwhile, funds to buy the island — state and federal — reached the state treasury but were frozen there, pending a federal court case hearing.

COURTS SPEAK — A three-judge federal court in Houston knocked out Texas' annual registration for voting requirement but retained jurisdiction while awaiting the Legislature's response.

State Supreme Court declined a new hearing of its December decision where it held that a Derton land developer was entitled to $10,000 damages for libel because a newspaper erroneously stated he had filed bankruptcy proceedings.

Reversing lower courts, the Supreme Court concluded that a Houstonian who developed lung disease (silicosis) from breathing silica sand while on his job is entitled to workmen's compensation.

In another reversal, the High Court ruled that a worker from Houston and his widowed mother should draw workmen's compensation for a 1967 auto accident in which his father was killed.

AFL-CIO filed a district court suit here to set aside the State Board of Insurance order directing a 14 per cent increase in auto insurance rates.

AG OPINIONS — Six months' prohibition on remarriage after a divorce applies only to persons who secured divorces from Texas courts, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

Maximum compensation for chief sheriff's deputy and first assistant county attorney is $9,226; for other sheriff's deputies and assistants, $8,073.

In the absence of conferred authority from the President, state officers may not execute a federal search warrant under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse and Control Act.

Counseling service for debtors requiring disbursements from a bank account constitutes forbidden "debt pooling."

City of Pearland does not have authority to appoint auxiliary police.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q—I've taken a job after school Can I fill out a form to stop tax withholding as I did on my summer job?

A—Yes, if you still believe you will owe no tax this year.

Anyone who owed no tax last year and expects to owe none this year, can have his employer stop withholding Federal income tax by completing Form W-4E, Withholding Exemption Certificate. Present tax law allows a person to earn up to $1,725 before he has to pay any Federal income tax.

This provision of the law only covers Federal income tax. Social Security and any state and local taxes will continue to be withheld.

Q—I was asked for identification when I went in to buy some shotgun shells. Haven't the federal laws on ammunition been changed?

A—Yes, there was a change last year involving dealers records but it did not affect the conditions under which ammunition may be sold. Federal law prohibits the sale of handgun ammunition to anyone under 21 and the sale of rifle and shotgun ammunition to anyone under 18. Dealers must still require purchasers to identify themselves if there is doubt about age.

The change involving dealers removes the requirement that they keep records on the sale of ammunition suitable only for rifles or shotguns. Records must still be kept on sales of ammunition for handguns and for ammunition that can be used either in rifles or handguns.

Q—Can I treat the money I made on the sale of some dairy cows as a capital gain?

A—Yes, sales of livestock which have been held for breeding, dairy, draft or sporting purposes can qualify for capital gains treatment. Horses and cattle acquired after 1969 must be held two years to qualify. The holding period for other livestock is one year.

Q—What records should I have to claim an exemption for someone who doesn't live with me?

A—The key records you will need are those showing what the person's total support for the year amounted to and that you provided more than half of it. Included in support are such items as food, shelter, clothing, education and medical expenses.

Besides support, the other dependency tests must also be met. For more details, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for Publication 501 "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents," which covers dependents. This is free.

Q—Can I file my tax return now? I'm through working and back in school.

A—A tax return can only be filed after the end of the tax year, which is December 31 for most individuals.

Make sure you have the Form W-2 wage and earning statement your employer gave you after you stopped work. A copy of the W2 must be attached to your return when you file. If you did not receive it or lost it, contact your former employer and ask him to send you the W-2 or another copy.

Q—I retired early because of illness. Will my company pension be taxable?

A—It all depends on the kind of pension plan your company has, the amount of your pension, your age and the normal retirement age under the plan. Many disability pensions will qualify for treatment as sick pay until you reach normal retirement age. Up to $100 a week may ordinarily be excluded from income as sick pay.

After you reach normal retirement age the tax on your pension depends on how much you contributed to its cost. Further details may be found in Publication 522, "Adjustments to Income for Sick Pay," and Publication 524, "Retirement Income and Retirement Income Credit." Send a postcard to your IRS District Office for free copies.

Accent On Health

Computers will never replace the family physician or health professional, but the Texas State Department of Health is using the electronic marvel to simplify record keeping and to provide better services for its different divisions and the people of Texas.

One of the most obvious advantages of a computer is its space saving for records. Bulky paper or card files can be transformed into relatively small magnetic tapes or disks for simple filing and easy access for future recall of information.

Speed is a major factor involved in computer use. Searching of records, once reports have been designed, programmed and stored, can be accomplished quickly. After mounting the proper tape reel or disk pack on the computer, the information is researched in seconds and placed on paper by a high speed printer.

W. E. Barrington Jr., director of the office of Date Processing, is highly skilled in his job and is recognized throughout the profession. He is a former president of the Austin Chapter of Date Processing Management Association and has served as international director.

In the State Health Department's computer data bank are millions of bits of data on diseases, immunizations, vital statistics (births, deaths, marriages, divorces, etc.), venereal disease and tuberculosis cases, crippled children's program, cancer patients, accounting, budgets, personnel, migrant health, air and water pollutants and many more necessary areas.

Barrington says, "The storage capacity and speed of access to information is one of the big advantages of using computers, together with the flexibility of storage and the printed output potential." As an example, he said that a full year's birth records — more than 200,000 now in Texas — were put on one reel of magnetic tape.

Necessity for such service has paralleled the growth of the State Health Department and its extension of services to more and more people. The office of Date Processing, formerly Machine Tabulation, emerged after World War II and the first computer was obtained in 1965. Records and reports which formerly were put on punched cards were switched to the computers. Use of computerized information, and the need for such data, has grown tremendously, and will continue to expand. One of the first uses was to release the punch card accounting machine.

The Data Processing office has two components, systems and programming, and operations.

The most time-consuming part is in programming. "You can't just push a button and expect to get needed information," said Barrington. "You have to do a lot of planning and work to tell the computer how to handle the data once it is put into the machine." He said computer programming is a technical, highly-specialized field.

Kitchen Safety Tips

What room can be the most dangerous in the house? Research shows that it's the kitchen, but it does not have to be so, according to Jan Slabaugh, Extension specialist in housing and home furnishings.

The kitchen is a combination factory, bakery, cannery, butcher shop, restaurant, household workshop and children's playground. "Each family member should put into practice all he knows about safety in this busy place," Mrs. Slabaugh says.

Safety is an attitude of sincere concern for the well-being of oneself and others. Mrs. Slabaugh adds, "It is a willingness to accept rules and regulations and to apply them in all activities."

A safe kitchen starts with the development and practice of good habits in the selection, preparation, serving and storage of food. Safety continues its march to actuality as long as the family members observe strict rules designed to prevent fires and mishaps.

Keep matches in metal containers. Light gas burners by holding a lighted match to the burner before turning on the gas. Be careful not to place trays, pot holders, and plastic or wooden utensils on electric range bough.

SPRING FRESH—Orange walls and carpeting create the perfect backdrop for Desley-Edson's quilted cotton bedspread splashed with spring flowers. Matching draperies at the window and a covering for a small round table continue the theme. Making the most of limited space, the corner of the recessed bed area takes a handsome bamboo unit. Luxurious comfort for reading is provided by a well-proportioned chair covered in deep green velvet.

Children's Furniture

Children can now have a bed, rope ladder, swing, toy box and desk all in one piece of furniture, announces Cherie Jan Slabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

The furniture, which can be taken apart and re-arranged as the child's needs change, looks like and works on the same principle as a tinkertoy. Solid maple or birch dowels screw into blocks to form a box-like module about three feet square.

A series of panels or platforms rest on the dowels to form bases, sides and tops of different kinds of furniture. The 3-foot box can be made into a bed, climbing apparatus, rope ladder, swing and chinning bar. Optional additions include playhouse panels, panels to create toy boxes, desks and seats.

The furniture's concept is based on the needs and growth patterns of a child. It gives a child control over his own environment and serves as a learning tool.

NEW AND USED TYPEWRITERS & ADDERS AT THE LEADER

Protecting Hosiery

See how they run is the frustrating slogan for many panty hose wearers. But help may be on the way, announces Joanne Thurber, clothing consumer education specialist at Texas A&M University.

The major hose makers plan to adopt standardized charts this winter. Eventually, any woman who knows her correct weight and height can count on a proper fit.

Hose producers also speculate that uniform sizing will prevent runs that often result in ill-fitting hose.

Air pollution is another enemy of hose. In foggy or especially damp weather mixed with smog, women's hosiery develops excessive holes and runs.

To insure good performance for hosiery now on the market, proper care is important. Care begins with care of feet and legs. Rough heels or toe nails that are too long can snag or run your hose.

Launder hose often, using mild soap suds and rinsing well. Roll in a towel and gently squeeze to remove excess water. To dry, hang hose on a smooth rod or use clothespin-type hangers. Double back legs over the rods to prevent stretching from weight of the water.

To launder by machine, use the gentle or delicate wash cycle. It is wise to use a nylon mesh bag to hold panty hose. Never use chlorine bleach.

Computers For The Grocery Store

A computer for checkouts at the grocery store, which would mean speeding checkups and savings for the consumer, has been demonstrated for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, announces Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension specialist in consumer marketing.

The computerized checkout system was demonstrated by Virginia Knauer, Presidential Assistant for Consumer Affairs, at the Agricultural Research Service Office of the USDA. It is the first working trial model. The system consists of an electronic scanner, held over the product that reads the code label and records the price, name, amount and other identifying data about the item. The customer receives a detailed list of items purchased, prices, tax and number of stamps due. The computer records this information and maintains an inventory by name and automatic ordering information for shelf replacement. It does not, however, handle fresh produce — items such as lettuce or unpackaged carrots.

Both time in the checkout lines and consumer money can be saved by installing the computers. Also, the system will save clerks considerable time and may encourage lower food prices.

Few problems remain to be worked out, but the computerized checkout system offers possibilities, Mrs. Clyatt says.

Water Adds Cost To Food Items

"We're paying more and more at the supermarket just for the privilege of carrying home plain, ordinary water," reports Mrs. Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist.

Soup manufacturers have realized that consumers will pay a good price for water, so they're adding it at the plant, the specialist explains. By advertising an "honest, old-fashioned soup," they can get the public to pay two to three times the single serving price of condensed soups.

A recent survey taken in Washington, D. C. shows that soups with water added cost about 12.5 cents per serving, while condensed cost about 4.2 cents for the same serving.

There are other products in which we pay for water, Mrs. Myers adds. Some puddings and whipped toppings come ready-to-eat. Fruit drinks often containing only 6 percent actual fruit are made up mostly of water.

"Just think how much money we've spent on bottled drinks and the energy exerted lugging home all those bottles of water," she points out.

But convenience can't be ruled out. When we're in a hurry or unable to make the product ourselves, convenience food come in handy. Products such as ready-to-eat puddings and toppings save cooking and cleaning equipment. And some take the guesswork out of cooking.

Soups and soft drinks, however, are another story. A can of soup still needs to be opened and the contents heated in a pan. Do you consider it much work to add water?

The next time you feel the cost of living tugging at your pocketbook, stop and think. Is it worth the extra cost to have someone else turn on the faucet?

MOISTURE IS ENEMY OF MELTING CHOCOLATE

Chocolate will not melt properly if the slightest amount of moisture is introduced. Any moisture will make the chocolate bits tighten into a solid mass. The solid mass may also result when melting chocolate at too high a temperature. If chocolate does tighten, however, you may make it smooth again by heating it in a double boiler over hot but not boiling water, and then blending in up to 1 tablespoon of vegetable shortening.

APPOINTMENTS — Gov. Preston Smith named Dr. D. Clifford Burross of Wichita Falls to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

Sen. Lloyd Beatson named to his new Washington staff Ronald L. Katz of Houston, Denman Moody Jr. of Austin, George G. Lowrance of San Antonio, Timothy P. Furlong of Dallas, Charles Hodges of Dallas, Mrs. Ashton Gonella of Washington and Mrs. Sissy Schaeffer of Dallas.

INDUSTRY STILL EXPANDING — More industries located new plants in Texas last year than in 1966-68, in spite of the uncertain national economy.

Texas Industrial Commission reported 219 new industries were established here in 1970, second only to 1969.

Expansion of existing plants dropped off in the face of tight money — 367 last year as compared with 505 in 1969 and 444 in 1968.

Unemployment is up, but still below the national average. More layoffs are expected during the first quarter of 1971 due to continued expiration of government contracts.

MOVIE CURBS EYED — Senate committee, after hearing testimony that Texas is No. 1 in the number of theaters showing sex films, proposed the establishment of local motion picture licensing and review boards.

Committee promised additional recommendations. First proposal is aimed at making it possible to revoke licenses for theaters which show films unsuitable for minors.

Prosecutors, at the Austin hearing, claimed they are without adequate legal tools, as the result of court decisions, to make effective cases against distributors of "skin-flicks."

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. Preston Smith has called for re-evaluation of Texas' water planning and possible restructuring of the $9 billion statewide water plan proposed in 1968.

Smith told Chairman Marvin Shurbet of the Texas Water Development Board that he will block spending of all water study funds appropriated to WDB except those topographic mapping, water studies and investigations. About a third is obligated under contracts.

Governor Smith called attention to the fact that Texas voters rejected the $3.5 billion bond issue on August 5, 1969, that was designed to pay the state's share of the project's cost.

"In view of the critical shortage of state funds, additional expenditures for water studies and investigations would be inappropriate until we know that they would support whatever revised planning process we should decide to pursue," said Smith in a letter to Shurbet. "Accordingly it will be the policy of the governor's office to support continued outstanding efforts by the Board and its staff as we chart a new course in water resource planning."

One source said Smith feels that a long-range plan would get more support if citizens could see some concrete, short-term accomplishments in water development.

Smith reportedly may ask the Legislature to submit to the voters a bond program to finance aid to cities for sewage treatment.

Original study plan to bring surplus Mississippi River water to Texas was turned down by the voters. Consensus is that Texans as well as Mississippians look with disfavor on this idea. At the DeCordova Bend Reservoir dedication on June 19 Smith declared that Texas cannot postpone development of water resources on a big scale until all controversies about the long-range water plan are resolved.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court declined to hear arguments in a suit by several state employees, who hold minor elective offices, to get their November paychecks which have been held up by the Comptroller.

High Court stuck by its November 11 ruling which upheld the constitutionality of part of the state's anti-obscenity law, although it declined to rule on much of it in a Wichita Falls theater case.

In other action the Supreme Court:

Found Waco and the Waco Independent School District are authorized to levy taxes against Henry W. Stilwell Memorial Residence for retired school teachers in Waco. Home claimed exemption as purely public charity.

Held against an El Paso firm which wanted to sue a professional auditing concern which failed to discover that a woman employee had embezzled $40,000 during 1962-65.

BOUNDARY SUIT MOVES ON — Louisiana waited 92 years too long to claim its boundaries extend to the west bank of the Sabine River, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin argued in a hearing on the boundary dispute.

Martin and former Gov. Price Daniel, serving as special counsel, argued Texas' case before Special Master (Senior Federal Judge) Robert Van Pelt of Nebraska in Houston.

Ownership of hundreds of millions of dollars in oil and gas is at stake from wells in the Gulf of Mexico at the mouth of the Sabine River.

Former Gov. Sam Jones, first governor of Louisiana to stake claim to all of the river, argued as special counsel representing his state.

Texas claims its boundary extends to the middle of the Sabine River, including a disputed area of 36,000 acres on which $2.6 million has been collected from oil leases for the permanent school fund.

Congress and the Louisiana constitution agreed on the midpoint of the Sabine as the state boundary, Martin contended. However, Louisiana bases its claim on an 1819 treaty between the U. S. and Spain.

AG OPINIONS — Contract for a $1.3 million first phase construction of Mustang Island fish pass which was agreed to (but not signed) on August 28 with Brown and Root Inc. is valid and binding, Attorney General Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Insurance companies do not violate anti-trust laws by requiring political subdivisions to buy unneeded property damage liability coverage in order to get needed bodily-injury liability, under the Texas Tort Claims act.

Fact that ex-Governor Daniel's son serves in the Legislature does not bar the former chief executive from the State Supreme Court appointment under the antinepotism law. Governor Smith, who got an early look at the opinion, announced that Daniel will get the job on the High Court.

A law providing that the county judge fill vacancies on the county commissioners' court is constitutional, and there is no authority for calling special elections to replace commissioners. Registrations of commissioners become effective on acceptance by the judge, even though tendered for a future date.

Matagorda County school superintendent's office still exists.

Commissioners courts can refuse to furnish space to county and district attorneys on finding their private practice of law in such as to prevent use of the space for public purposes.

Department of Corrections can accept a contract to bind textbooks and periodicals for state agencies.

University of Houston is a "public school" in the sense that sale of alcoholic beverages can be prohibited within 300 feet of the campus.

The best way to control parasites is to break their life cycle. This may be done by preventing infection of the animal by the free-living forms of the parasite, through proper nutrition, pasture rotation, cleanliness, and good sanitation practices. In areas of intense livestock production, slatted floors for penned animals help prevent reinfection from contaminated wastes.

Most livestock need regular worming treatments to destroy internal parasites until the animal is old enough to establish immunity. Even afterwards, periodic worming may be helpful when combined with proper management, says the county agent.

External parasites are best controlled by the application of recommended sprays or dusts or systemic.

Serious parasite problems call for the advice and assistance of a veterinarian, concludes the county agent. But, he notes, that most livestock producers will find the information contained in Extension publication, MP-651, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry" valuable. Copies are available from his office, Gooch said.

Famous author O. Henry began writing short stories as a sideline while working in Austin, Texas, as a bank clerk. His one-time Austin home is now a museum featuring many of his personal effects.

Wesley Ashcraft and family of Lubbock visited Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ashcraft, and SSG E6 Jimmy Don Ashcraft and wife.

NEW ARRIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Henderson of Hereford announce the arrival of a son, Colley Todd, December 22. The young man weighed 6 lbs. 1 oz. Mrs. Henderson is the former Elaine Tolleson. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tolleson and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Henderson of Hereford.

Animal Parasites Are Costly To Livestock

Animal parasites, most of which could be controlled, cost livestock producers millions of dollars each year. Total losses are even higher, points out County Agent Ronald Gooch, where diseases to which parasite-weakened animals fall victim are included.

It is rather easy to note infestations of external parasites but much more difficult to know about those which work internally, explains the county agent. It is wise to consult a veterinarian when internal parasites are
