CARDS O THANKS

imagine kneeling in public!

It's true. A lot of Episcopalians (not all) kneel during parts of the service.

They have a funny way of looking at worship. They don't attend church for the primary purpose of enjoying stirring sermons or beautiful hymns. "This is no spectator sport," they say.

Worship, to them, means offering a bit of themselves to God. Their first thought is one of giving . . . not receiving. Kneeling sometimes helps.

Sure! Episcopalians, too, have music and "messages from the pulpit." But if the choir is lousy - or the sermon something less than eloquent-the hour isn't really wasted. Every individual gives a bit of himself. And if kneeling seems to help, then God probably doesn't mind.

Maybe you wouldn't mind, either, if you learned the reasons behind some of the Episcopalian peculiarities: "formal" services, refraining from chit-chat, reading from a prayer book, and offering guidelines - not straight-jackets - for Christian living.

Your nearby Episcopal minister would be flattered to discuss them . . . without even "twisting your arm."

One of a series presented by "Those Crazy Episeopalians" in your area.
