Hedley-Lelia Lake Area Receives Good Rain Tuesday Night

The Hedley-Lelia Lake area received the greatest benefit from the storm clouds Tuesday night with measurements ranging from 1.35 to over 2 inches. 1.75 was reported south of Lelia Lake and 1.90 east of Lelia Lake. Only .10 was reported to the northwest of Lelia Lake in the Sunnyview Community area.
Here in the Clarendon area the official weather observer recorded .09 inch to give us a total of .32 for the month and 4.53 for the year.
Tuesday night, Ben Lovell reported .30 at his business east of Goodnight and the amount in between there and here ranged in the .10 to .20 range. The Ash-tola area received a total of around .70 in separate showers last week that got planting operations under way on dry farm land. Irrigated farms in that area and around Clarendon had most of their cotton acreage up but the strong wind and sand has knocked out numerous acres that had to be replanted.
More turbulent weather is still in the forecast and it is hoped that everyone will receive ample moisture before the rainy spell shuts off and the usual hot weather sets in.

Highlights and Sidelights From Your State Capitol By Vern Stanford

Legislature in regular session agreed to submit 14 more proposed constitutional amendments to voters in November, 1972.

Among major ones is HJR 61, which would authorize the 1973 Legislature to serve as a constitutional revision convention.

Two others (HJR 58 and HJR 95) would provide for raise in salaries of legislators (to $8,400) and lieutenant governor and House speaker (to $22,500).

Other amendments on the general election ballot in 1972 will be:

SJR 1 — Providing four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials now limited to two-year terms.

SJR 16 — Guaranteeing that no rights will be abridged because of sex, race, color, creed or national origin.

SJR 7 — Permitting local governments on popular vote to exempt $3,000 of assessed value of resident homesteads of persons 65 or older from all ad valorem taxes.

HJR 68 — Providing for advertising (twice) of proposed constitutional amendments in clear, concise language in all legal newspapers in Texas.

HJR 35 — Authorizing a tax exemption for disabled veterans and a partial exemption for partially-disabled veterans.

HJR 57 — Permitting county commissioners to reduce the county permanent school fund and provide for payment of money to independent and common school districts on a per-scholarship basis.

SJR 29 — Providing that state employees can serve on non-paying school boards and city governing bodies without forfeiting state pay.

SJR 20 — Exempting soil and water conservation district directors from dual office-holding prohibitions.

HJR 61 — Relating to rates of interest to be borne by bonds.

HJR 41 — Requiring that justices of the peace be compensated on salary basis.

HJR 31 — Abolishing Lamar County hospital district.

JOBLESS ROLL DROPS — Number of unemployed in the state decreased 6,000 during April to 181,000, Texas Employment Commission reports.

TEC said the jobless rate was only 3.8 per cent of the total labor force, thus the decline may signal a "possible end to the doldrums of the past year."

Mid-April figure was identical with December, 1970 and considered probably the lowest of the year.

Thirteen labor areas reported improvements. Austin enjoyed the lowest rate of unemployment in the state — 1.8 per cent of labor force.

APPOINTMENTS — State Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert named William Skelton of Lubbock as a member of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles. Senate confirmed the appointment.

Charles W. Horan Jr., Fort Worth, is the new chairman of Texas Tourist Development Board, succeeding John R. McCarty of Dallas. George Dillman of Dallas is vice-chairman.

Appointed branch pilots for Sabine Bar, Pass and Tributaries were Capt. James William Throgmorton of Groves and Capt. Daniel Joseph Bromley also of Groves. Gov. Preston Smith asked the Senate's approval of the nominations.

LIQUOR TAX PASSED — Tax on liquor-by-the-drink passed in the first days of the special legislative session.

Measure (HB 3) will place a 10 per cent gross receipts levy on sales and service of mixed drinks in bars and private clubs. Cities and counties each will get 15 per cent of the revenue collected within their boundaries.

Bill also boosted the tax on liquor from $1.68 to $2 a gallon and upped the wine gallonage tax depending on strength of the wine.

Beer tax on July 1 will go up from $4.30 to $5 a barrel. This rate supercedes the $6 a barrel ordered in the regular session omnibus tax bill (HB 730).

About $28 million in new revenue for the next two years is expected from the bill.

AG OPINIONS — A called session of the Legislature cannot pass a legislative redistricting bill, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said in a recent opinion. Martin held that unfinished Senatorial reapportionment must be accomplished by a five-member committee of state officials.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Taxing authority of a junior college district is specified by the Texas Education Code, regardless of whether the board of trustees of the district is also board of trustees of the independent school district. If a separate board of trustees is created for the junior college district, it would have control and management of all district property but only such control over school district property as the district board agrees to.

Alcoholic Beverage Commission has no authority or jurisdiction to regulate beer sales by vendors who sell from ship's chandelerage under U. S. Customs bond.

State Treasurer will receive fines collected in district court for violation of the Texas Motor Carrier Act, and neither district attorney nor district clerk may retain a percentage.

A bill providing for establishment of a schedule of abused drugs by rule of the State Board of Pharmacy and for dispensing of drugs is constitutional.

COURTS SPEAK — Clark's discount house in Abilene cannot legally arrange with an allied concern (Sundaco Inc.) to offer Sunday sales in its store. State Supreme Court ruled.

High Court also reversed and sent back for a new trial a Dallas auto accident case where the jury returned two different verdicts as to which driver failed to yield the right-of-way.

Court of Criminal Appeals, reversing a Galena Park robbery by assault conviction, held that jurors are not qualified without expert advice to decide whether signature of a defendant is the same as that on criminal records.

A San Antonio man's claim that removal of a bullet from his back was an illegal search because the surgeon turned the slug over to a policeman was overruled by Court of Criminal Appeals.

AIR PERMITS NECESSARY—A new law provides that any company planning to construct or modify a facility which may emit air contaminants must get a construction permit from the Air Control Board.

If a construction permit is granted, the facility must also have a permit to operate before going into actual operation.

Air Control Board will formulate procedures for implementation of the permit system.

Charter Year Camp Set At Camp Cibola

A well-rounded Established Camping program will be offered at Quivira Girl Scout Council's Camp Cibola north of Clarendon during the first summer of operation. There will be two sessions this summer, the first July 11-17 and the second July 18-24.

Established Camping offers a rich outdoor living experience in which girls learn and practice skills in living in harmony with nature. Swimming, crafts, badge work, an overnight hike, and outdoor cooking will be part of the program. Girls interested in tie-dyeing should bring a clean white T-Shirt to camp with them.

Badge work offers many opportunities for girls to increase their knowledge and skills during camp. There are a number of areas to choose from in the Badge field. Cadette Girl Scouts may choose from such badges as Camp Craft, Conservation, Explorer, First Aid and others.

Camp Cibola was purchased by the Girl Scouts of Quivira Council through Cookie Sale monies and was formerly the Old Clarendon Country Club. This site, though not nearly completed as an Established Camping facility, has undergone extensive work and remodeling to fit the needs of the Girl Scout program. The first Camp to be held there will be that scheduled July 11-17.

Roll Top Desks

The old-fashioned roll top desk isn't old any more.

Consumers are clamoring to buy modernized versions manufacturers are now producing, announces Jan Slabaugh, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist at Texas A&M University.

The "new" roll top desks have nylon tracks for slats to roll on, allowing for more dependable rolling action than the original roll tops. The desk rolls easily and stays neatly in its track.

Roll tops are scaled for smaller apartments. You can conveniently roll the top over work without putting it away, yet still hide the clutter.

Styles and prices of the roll tops range widely. Most designs, though, are small in scale and are quite dainty, the specialist adds.

Farm News

from County ASCS Com.

Guar On Set-Aside

The Secretary of Agriculture has announced that guar or other approved alternate crops may be planted on non-irrigated set-aside acres during 1971 without reduction in payment in the designated disaster counties. Donley County is a designated disaster county. This is applicable to non-irrigated land only.

Haying and Grazing Set-Aside has been extended to November 1, 1971. This extension will permit planting and harvesting a hay crop this year. If we are successful in getting haying and grazing CAP extended to November 1, 1971, haying and grazing either acreage will be free, otherwise a charge will be made beginning July 1, 1971.

Requirements For Set-Aside

Please Remember, set-aside acres must be at least equal to productivity as the average productivity of other cropland on the farm. If the productivity of set-aside acres is less than equal the payment for the farm will be reduced.

Certification

Early certification means early payments. Please certify your acreage of crops as soon as you have all crops planted and up and expect to leave the crops. We hope to make payments in July, however, payment cannot be scheduled before certification of acreage is received.

Change

No REAP cost-sharing is authorized for reorganizing an irrigation system that has not been installed for at least 24 months and which has not been used to irrigate at least two full annual crops.

Accent On Health

Salmonellosis is an illness which loves to go on picnics, to banquets and parties where foods are prepared well in advance, and even to family functions in homes.

Commonly called food poisoning, it may show up anywhere it receives an invitation. Sometimes it is credited by individuals with being a 24-hour virus.

The food infection symptoms may range from mild nausea and abdominal discomfort to a full-blown case which also involves fever, vomiting and diarrhea. When you get it, you're sick. And, it can be fatal, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Salmonellosis is used to refer to infections caused by any of the numerous members of the genus Salmonella. Some 900 varieties are known and they may inhabit most species of warm-blooded animals and many cold-blooded vertebrates. Major reservoirs of human salmonellosis are in domestic livestock, swine and poultry. Organisms may be transmitted to man either directly from animals or through contaminated products of animal origin. Humans also may spread the infection.

Recently, outbreaks of Salmonellosis were traced to pet turtles. And, the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta reports a case in a 19-month-old child caused by a parakeet.

The most dramatic and highly-publicized aspects of salmonellosis are the food-borne infections which occur in large groups of persons who have consumed a contaminated food. In this type of contamination, food is prepared and held in such a manner that the bacteria has an opportunity to multiply.

The State Health Department is so concerned with the problem of food-borne infections it is planning a special seminar for sanitarians in September. The tailor-made course will equip local sanitarians with the knowledge to teach classes in food-borne disease control to food handlers in their own communities.

In a way, food-borne illness is a matter of chance. Five factors must come into play to produce it. You must, of course, have bacteria present, and you need growth-supporting temperatures, suitable food, time and moisture. Improper sanitation or improper refrigeration are the main causes of food poisoning of humans. Almost without exception in food poisoning cases, the food was contaminated after having been cooked and was allowed to stand at temperatures which encouraged bacteria growth. Bacteria thrive at temperatures ranging from 45 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit. Keeping food just barely cool or warm doesn't help.

Time is important between fixing and eating picnic foods. The shorter period the better. And remember to keep foods hot, keep them cold, or don't keep them at all.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Row visited his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Ashcraft, and niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sasser and children of Tulsa, Okla. Thursday night.

Mrs. Faye Scoggins of Phoenix, Arizona arrived Saturday to visit in the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Estlack.

Ag Workers Minimum Wage Rate Same

The minimum wage rate for farm workers has remained at $1.30 per hour since it reached that level on February 1, 1969, according to James L. Mallett, farm management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Wage rates for many occupations increased on February 1, he notes, but new legislation will be needed before the legal minimum can be raised for agricultural workers. Competition with other industries tends to increase farm wage rates and most farm employers are paying well above the minimum wage rate, he adds.

Agricultural employers who hired more than 500 man days of farm labor during any calendar quarter in 1970, must pay at least the minimum wage rate during 1971. Farm employers who are paying more than the minimum wage should keep adequate employee records as specified by the minimum wage Law, points out Mallett.

The minimum wage Law also included child labor regulations which forbid the employment of children 16 years of age and under, except on their own farm during school hours. Children under 16 years of age may not be employed in agriculture in what is classed as hazardous work. However, children 14 to 16 years of age may acquire an exemption certificate which will permit them to be hired for hazardous work when they have been adequately trained and qualified to perform these jobs, notes the specialist.

Additional information may be obtained from county agricultural agents or the Regional Director, Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division, U. S. Department of Labor, 411 North Akard, Dallas, Texas 75201, Mallett said.

Feeding Suggestions For Drought Areas

When drought conditions cut grazing short, hay and a little protein supplement fed in a dry-lot program might offer the stockman an alternative that lets him maintain his livestock and conserve the animals' energy.

Hays can be used as the only feed, but without small amounts of legume hay, a protein supplement should be added to the ration, according to L. A. Maddox Jr., Extension beef cattle specialist.

Ranchers who feed as much as four pounds of alfalfa hay daily per head with sorghums, prairie or Johnsongrass may find that they can eliminate the protein supplement, he says. On the average four pounds of alfalfa hay supply as much protein as one pound of cottonseed meal.

Dry cows and cows with calves can be maintained in a dry-lot for several months on an all concentrate ration.

For dry cows to be properly maintained, they should be on a ration of eight to 10 pounds of an all concentrate feed with about seven percent of digestible protein properly fortified with minerals and vitamin A, Maddox adds.

Cows with calves, that are expected to remain reasonably healthy, should be on a daily ration of 14 to 16 pounds of all concentrate feed that contains eight to nine percent digestible protein.

Besides feeding cows in a dry-lot program, calves can be put in a creep feeding program to increase weight and insure better physical condition of the dams at weaning time.

Creeped calves tend to grow out uniformly and shrink little at weaning if placed on feed in a dry-lot. While concentrate feeds are ordinarily used in creep feeding, combinations of roughage and concentrates mixtures may be used, especially if pastures are short.

Farm grains such as oats, corn, wheat, and milo, along with pellets and cubes are good feeds for creep feeding, according to Maddox. Wheat and milo should be ground for feeding to calves, but shelled corn and oats may be fed unground.

Ground ear corn and home mixtures of ground ear corn (85-90 percent) and cottonseed meal (10-15 percent) can also be used.

Maddox reminds stockmen that self-feeding any of the concentrates in creeps is safe so long as the calf gets even a small amount of milk.

Social Security

by Howard L. Weatherly
Q—What is the least amount of work a person can have under social security for disability benefits?

A—A person who has worked as little as 1½ years under covered social security employment can be insured for disability benefits if he becomes disabled prior to age 24.

Q—Will a young person who becomes disabled get less per month than an older person who has worked longer under social security?

A—Not necessarily! In computing the monthly benefit for a young worker, the number of years we count is figured so as not to penalize the worker for becoming disabled at an early age before he has had an opportunity to work very long under social security.

C—I've heard a woman has to be 62 before she can draw benefits on her husband's record. Isn't there any way that a young wife can qualify if her husband becomes disabled before age 31 and she is under 62?

A—Yes, any wife can qualify for benefits on her husband's record before she's 62 if she has in her care a child of the husband. This child can be a natural child, a stepchild, or an adopted child, and must be entitled to benefits on the father's record. For more detailed information visit or call your nearest social security office.

Lack Of Nitrogen Or Iron Yellows Lawns

Texas homeowners who have St. Augustinegrass or Bermudagrass lawns which are turning yellow instead of growing thick and green should look for nitrogen and iron deficiencies in their soil.

The nitrogen deficiency causes a general yellowing of the lawn while the symptoms of iron deficiencies are yellow, bleached spots in the turf, according to Al Novosad, Extension pasture and turf specialist.

He notes that iron deficiencies develop mainly in alkaline soil and the upper Gulf Coast and parts of East Texas are usually the only regions in the state that don't lack iron.

For the most rapid and effective correction of iron deficiencies, Novosad recommends spray applications of iron chelates or iron sulfate. He points out that soil applications are also helpful, but warns that they may not correct severe iron deficiencies.

Fertilizer containing nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium should be applied in the early spring and again in the early fall to eliminate nitrogen deficiencies, he advises. In addition to this he recommends applications of nitrogen as ammonium nitrate or ammonium sulfate at 4-6 week intervals during the growing season.

The additional applications help to maintain vigor, color, and uniform growth of the grass, according to Novosad.

A soil test is extremely helpful in determining exact fertilizer needs, showing the need for lime, and indicating soil salinity problems, but there are some general guidelines to follow in fertilizing St. Augustinegrass or Bermudagrass.

Novosad advises that the applications of the complete fertilizers in early spring and fall should be made so that two pounds of nitrogen are applied per 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Examples of such applications would be 20 pounds of 10-5-5 or 17 pounds of 12-12-12 per 1,000 square feet.

The additional applications during the growing season should be made so that approximately one pound of nitrogen is applied per 1,000 square feet in each application, he added. Examples of proper application would be five pounds of ammonium sulfate (21%) or three pounds of ammonium nitrate (33%) per 1,000 square feet of lawn area.
