THE COST WE PAY MAY BE HIGH (AN EDITORIAL)

We understand that legal council has been engaged and proceedings are now under way to defend the interests of Clarendon Junior College and the majority of local citizens in the case contesting the Junior College Annexation Election which was filed here in district court January 18th.

The price of the prospective court battle will be high, and extremely so, if it should follow through all the court channels. The cost is estimated at ten to thirty thousand dollars. It would be wonderful if this amount could be contributed to the college to improve its educational facilities.

Your editor has no intention of bringing personalities into this disagreement through the Leader's editorial columns or allowing such in any other section of this publication. We believe in printing the facts and defending or promoting that which we feel is the desire of the majority of our citizens in editorial form. An answer to my editorial last week headed "The American Way of Life" may be found on page 7 of this issue of the Leader. I feel they had every right to do so even though I found disagreement with several statements included therein.

The price can be high in terms other than money. Love, friendship, neighborliness, community cooperation and business relations can all be affected unless we all stop just a few moments to evaluate our thoughts, actions and words. We all worship as we please; we can vote as we please, so why not disagree in the same manner.

"Hear-say" may be costly in the same sense. Words passed from one to another down a long list can have an altogether different meaning at the conclusion than first intended. In any type of controversy, it is always best to go to the proper source of data and information and be well informed before making a commitment.

College Library Announces New Hours

Daniel Nutter, Clarendon Junior College Librarian, has announced that the library will be open longer this semester than ever before.

The overall attendance in the library is up 12% over last year.

Mr. Nutter also states that a number of magazines are needed by the library. Carl W. Bennett has retired as Fire Chief of the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department after service in that organization for 30 years.

Bennett joined the department in 1933 and in 1934 was employed by the City to take over as its paid fireman and stay at the station. He served in this capacity for four years at which time he entered business here. He was elected Fire Chief in 1941. The first fire chief was its founder, James Trent, who organized the department in Clarendon in 1904 and served as chief until 1940.

During the 21 years that Bennett has served as Chief, he also served as president of the Panhandle Fireman's Association. At a meeting Tuesday night, Bennett was presented a gold badge by members of the department and a trophy by the Mayor and City Commissioners in recognition of his long number of years of service.

Donley County 4-H Club steers sold for good prices at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show last week and a lot of credit for this is due to Donley County ranchers and business firms who bid and bought some of the calves.

Flip Breedlove, County Agent, says that the Grand Champion Steer of Tracy Sanders of Hedley weighed 900 pounds and brought $2.50 per pound for a total of $2,250.00. He also got a gold watch for his calf being the best steer from the Panhandle area. He also received a beautiful sterling silver serving platter.

Other steers selling at the show were David Mooring at 40c per pound for his steer; Mike Martin, 50c per pound; Susan McAnear, 33c; Henry Hermesmeier, 32c; Susan McAnear, 33c; John Hermesmeier, 33c; Delores Sanders, 37c; Richard Thornberry, 35c; Henry Hermesmeier, 35c; and Sandy Thornberry, 35c.

The good price these youngsters received for their steers was brought about by local merchants and ranchers who boosted the bidding or purchased the steers. Bill Porter did the buying for the group and had Glover Packing Co. kill them and sell them through their regular channels and the local group made up the difference. Participating in the purchases were The Donley County State Bank, Farmers State Bank, Porter & Lowe, Head & Knorrp, Vera Lewis, L. T. Shelton and Son, Joe McMurtry and Alfred McMurtry.

Two steers were taken on to the Fort Worth Show and Henry Hermesmeier stood fourth with his Shorthorn steer and Gene Floyd stood twelfth with his Hereford steer. These steers will be sold this Saturday in Fort Worth. Flip Breedlove will leave for the Southwestern Livestock Show in El Paso this Friday morning with 4-H Club members and seven steers will be shown in this show.

One thing about writing a letter, you can say all that you have on your mind without the other fellow having a chance to put in his two-bits worth . . . The only thing folks might re-read your letter long after they had forgotten what you said and get mad all over again . . .

To find the right way to do one thing is better than to find a thousand things wrong with the world . . . It doesn't take a very close look to see some mistake the other fellow has made . . . It takes a lot of thought to keep from making one ourself . . .

Dwight L. Moody expressed the above thought in this way: "The best way to show that a stick is crooked is not to argue about it, or to spend time denouncing it, but to lay a straight stick alongside of it."

We could make no claim to being perfect just so long as there was one wrong in our life which we could make right, or as long as there lurked some evil which we needed to overcome . . . On top of all this we have an obligation to help our fellowman to reach greater heights.

Life for the most of us will never hold any important duties.

or any world records which we might beat. It will however be full of little things such as smiles, kindness, and many little every day obligations that we may pass along each day to make the world a better place for ourselves and for those about us . . .

One of the cleverest ad slogans seen lately is from a beauty shop; "If your hair isn't becoming to you . . . you should be coming to us."

It is hard to measure the worth of little things . . . Some time back we ran a three dollar ad in a certain magazine . . . From the ad we hoped to sell dozens of our books. It didn't happen exactly as we had supposed. From the ad directly we sold 3 books which didn't break even. At first we wrote the venture off as a loss.

However, one of the ladies who ordered one of the three came back time and time again for more to be used as gifts until she had purchased at least 3 dozen. Later she sent us a year's subscription to The Sunshine Magazine published at Litchfield, Illinois . . . We were so thrilled with the magazine that we in turn sent three subscriptions as gifts at Christmas-time. After having a response from the editor we sent him one of our books hoping for a mention in the magazine. We received the nicest little write-up ever in the next issue.

Then things really began to happen . . . At this writing some 15 days later we have not missed receiving at least one order for a book. On a few days the orders ran as high as five. To make the whole experience even more interesting is the fact that the orders came from almost as many states. And on top of that some of the first ones are re-ordering extra copies for gifts . . . It just goes to show that we can't measure the importance of the little things in life . . .

Anyway, the next time you run an ad with the editor don't give up if it doesn't pay off the very next day . . . Many of you our readers asked for this little book, a collection from this column over the years. If you wish a copy don't wait until this printing is gone, as we may not reprint. One dollar plus tax will bring you a copy, or three copies for $2.25 . . .

LIBRARY NOTES:

EDITH BARNES

Another memorial gift has been given to the library dedicated to the memory of Pat Heath.

The following is a quotation from the address delivered in Stockholm December 10, 1962, by John Steinbeck, when he accepted the Nobel Prize for literature: ". . . Faulkner more than most men, was aware of human strength as well as of human weakness. He knew that the understanding and the resolution of fear are a large part of the writer's reason for being.

"This is not new. The ancient commission of the writer has not changed. He is charged with exposing our many grievous faults and failures, with dredging up to the light our dark and dangerous dreams for the purpose of improvement."

It might be well for the folks who read or intend to frame that quotation so that they will remember that the good writer does write to bring a better understanding of our fears and a way to resolve those fears as well as correcting our faults and failures by bringing them out in the light.

Of course if we feel he is writing about every one else's shortcomings except ours then we are the big losers. No one can help the person who has no weaknesses.

On the subject of Prize Winners "To Kill A Mocking Bird" by Harper Lee is still one of the most checked out books in the library and it has been almost two years since it won the Pulitzer Prize.

It has been made into a movie and according to some of the critics will be a contender for the 1963 Academy Award as the best picture of the year. Maybe the reason for that is that it is supposed to faithfully follow the book. At least that is something new so often in the past a movie studio has paid a small fortune for a book and by the time they get through with it not even the author can recognize his brain-child.

Philosophical Reflections from T. V. Smith's Autobiography: on humor and piety, "Humor keeps piety from becoming sticky, and prevents humor from becoming cruel."

On punishment: "I am next to certain that every punishment I ever received, from whatever source and to whatever end, made me a worse child and a less amiable man."

Drivers Urged To Obey Winter Safety Rules

AUSTIN — During the past three weeks, hundreds of Texas drivers have been involved in needless accidents, the Texas Safety Association reported today.

J. O. Musick, General Manager of TSA, said accident experience during the recent bad weather shows drivers are getting into trouble mainly because they don't know, or ignore the basic rules of safe winter driving.

"Skidding, always a hazard on ice or snow if vehicles are not handled properly, is causing most of the trouble," he said.

The safety director cited improper stopping on ice and snow as the major driver error.

"One of the basic rules in stopping under these conditions is to keep wheels rolling in order to maintain steering control. The inexperienced driver slams on his brakes and locks his wheels. Then he starts skidding instead of rolling," Musick explained.

"When that happens, something else has got to stop him, and that is usually an accident."

He advised motorists to "pump" their brakes, lightly and quickly to let the front wheels roll naturally between brake applications.

"Skidding on slick snow and even glare ice can be prevented. Countless cars, buses and trucks travel annually over snow and ice-covered roads without experiencing too much difficulty or delay," he said.

"The average motorist can drive safely on ice or snow if he will learn to anticipate steering movements and slow down in advance of making them." Musick also gave motorists some suggestions on getting started on ice or snow.

"To start out feed the gas very gently, holding the accelerator steady just as soon as the car moves," he said. "Increase the gas only when it can be done without spinning the wheels."

"Keep the car pulling steadily because you need moderate power, not speed. Don't falter or hesitate because this may cause a stall or throw you into a skid," he added.

Among other specific causes of skidding listed by Musick were: 1) driving too fast on curves, 2) swerving suddenly, 3) applying brakes too suddenly or too hard, 4) accelerating or decelerating suddenly, 5) driving too fast on a bumpy road or when crossing railroad tracks or icy ruts, 6) changing to lower gear ratio on icy surfaces or at too fast a speed, 7) failing to anticipate ice patches and 8) failure to use reinforced tire chains when severe snow and ice conditions prevail.

In concluding, Musick reminded motorists that even if bad weather seems to be over, don't count on it and on your luck to keep you out of trouble.

"In Texas, it doesn't take a meteorologist to know there may still be wintery driving conditions giving us trouble for some weeks to come. — Any old timer can verify this."

The median money income of families in the United States was $5,700 in 1961, the last year for which the official figures are available. This marked a 2 per cent gain over the preceding year. That, however, was offset by a 1 per cent rise in consumer prices.

AUSTIN — Serving as Governor of Texas should be a snap for John Connally.

Any man who can wage a rigorous, 12 months campaign for Governor, such as he has done, reorganize the state government, plan and participate in all the ceremonies he has been through since his election and inauguration, and assume all the allied responsibilities related thereto . . . should find the task of being governor a cinch.

It seemed like half of Texas was in Austin to see the first mass turnover in state government since Jimmy Allred took over from "Ma" Ferguson in 1935.

Man of the hour was, of course, John Connally! Bus loads of people, both from his old hometown of Floresville and his latest hometown of Fort Worth, came to Austin for the festivities that surrounded his inauguration as governor.

Most of them were here by inauguration eve when nearly 5,000 people packed Austin's Municipal Auditorium for the Democrat's "Victory Dinner" rated as the biggest seated dinner in the state's history. It was sponsored by the State Democratic Executive Committee. At $25 a plate, it netted the party $100,000 and put it on its feet, well-heeled.

Inauguration Day led off with an interdenominational prayer breakfast and the dignity of the day carried over to the high-noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the State Capitol.

Some 5,000 people clustered on the capitol lawn as Governor Connally and Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith solemnly took their oaths of office from Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the State Supreme Court.

Both Connally and Smith expressed a sincerity of purpose and a real desire to work with the 58th Legislature in pushing progress for the state . . . while holding down spending.

Throughout Inaugural Day, Texas' two top men kept popping up in unexpected places — arriving early for ceremonies and dropping in at events related to the inauguration. They shook every extended hand and signed as many autographs as time allowed.

At seven in the evening they took their places, alongside their wives, in a Capitol rotunda receiving line and shook thousands more hands with unrelenting enthusiasm.

When Governor Connally presented his plan for progress to a joint meeting of Senate and House members, on the following day, he was met with applause that many legislators felt never had been equaled.

Majority of the legislators said that they felt they could support him "most of the way." All praised his "tremendous grasp of state government," and said if there were differences between the governor and the legislature, such differences could be worked out. Many were pleased to see Connally urge the strengthening of family sanctity laws. He recommended: An end to common-law marriages; a 90-day waiting period for divorcees, prohibiting remarriages until six months after a divorce; and requiring both parents to appear in court when a divorce involves children.

His views on upgrading higher education were approved almost unanimously. But there was quite a bit of disapproval of his proposal to combine the Game and Fish Commission and the State Parks Board. Opposition was based largely on the idea that the Game and Fish Commission would suffer.

EQUAL RIGHTS — The perennial battle for women's equal rights will hit the limelight in the Texas Senate early in the 58th Legislative session.

Senate constitutional amendments committee set public hearing for 7 p.m., January 30, on a proposal to give women equal legal rights. Proposed constitutional amendment was submitted by Sens. W. T. Moore of Bryan and Bill Patman of Ganado.

VOTE AGE TARGET — Rep. V. E. "Red" Berry of San Antonio wants the minimum voting age in Texas lowered to 15 years.

Berry has filed a bill which would propose a constitutional amendment allowing the Legislature to make the change.

Present law requires voters to be 21 years of age.

COST CUTTING BILL — A bill to create a commission to study ways to cut costs of Texas' government is on file in the House of Representatives.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria said his bill would create a "little Hoover" commission composed of 12 members. Three members would come from the House, three from the Senate, and six would be appointed by Governor Connally, who also has recommended formation of the commission.

Cory said his bill has been passed by the House on five different occasions but never passed the Senate.

STOCKMEN RAISING FUNDS — Texas Livestock Auction Association is sponsoring a drive to help raise the $1,000,000 still needed to meet the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation's $3,000,000 goal to stamp out the screwworm.

Texas' screwworm eradication program will come to a halt in March unless the million is raised.

Governor Connally recommended that the legislature quickly determine whether the screwworm eradication program is in trouble. Result was a hurriedly called hearing, attended by about 30 legislators and as many livestock producers and animal health officials.

Eradication supporters told legislators that the program reduced screwworms by 70 to 90 per cent its very first year, but the $5,000,000 spent to date will be wasted unless the job is finished. It is viewed as a three-year program.

Three-fifths of the money spent so far has come from federal funds, and two-fifths from the livestock producers.

The $12,000,000 program is a true, matching one: Uncle Sam will continue his payments toward the $6,000,000 he promised, so long as the producers and the state combined are matching his payments.

So far, the state has paid nothing into the program. But the Texas Animal Health Commission has urged an immediate appropriation of $1,400,000.

Governor Connally has stated that he would ask for such an emergency appropriation if the legislature learns that the program is in danger.

SMALL-TOWN BOOST PROPOSED — U. S. Congressman Wright Patman's worry that an "overwhelming percentage of the smaller towns and rural areas of East Texas are going downhill" is shared by at least two legislators.

Reps. Joe Cannon of Mexia and H. G. Wells of Tullia spread their concern over economic ills in East Texas to rural areas all over the state. And they have come up with a scheme to bolster the morale and economy of rural counties.

Under their plan, counties with less than 45,000 population would receive a two per cent refund of the sales tax collected by them. This money would go to county judges, who in turn would distribute it to city councils to be used to advertise for new industries and offer incentives to industry.

Wells estimated that 200 counties would be eligible to receive a sales tax rebate, and that $1,000,000 would be distributed the first year.

Main object, Wells said, would be to save counties which recently had some prosperous small towns but which have suffered from being by-passed by highways or from an exodus of citizens who have moved to metropolitan areas.

IMPACT IN SUPREME COURT — Waggoner Carr made his first appearance before the State Supreme Court as attorney general when the high court heard the case of the state versus the city of Impact. Impact is a satellite of "dry" Abilene which proposes to operate "wet."

Carr made a brief argument for the state, but turned the major presentation over to Tom Eplen of Abilene, and former State Senator Clint C. Small, who have worked on the case for about three years.

MARCH DRAFT 404 — Texas' March quota for draftees is 404 men.

"This is more than double the calls of recent months," says State Selective Service Director

Col. Morris S. Schwartz. February quota was 173 and the January call was for 163 men.

ASHTOLA NEWS
Mrs. Doyce Graham

Jimmy Graham left Friday to go to Madison, Wisconsin, to enter the university there to do graduate work. He will go by Lafayette, Ind., to visit his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Graham, Jr., who attend Purdue University.

Mrs. Harold Graham spent last week with her mother, Mrs. J. C. Sutton, and sons at Vernon. Harold went down Monday to spend a few days with them.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lane are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Durham, at Ida Bell, Okla.

Guests in the Hubert Rhoades home during the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green and daughters and Mrs. Austin Rhoades of Borger, John Butler of Claude, and Leon Butler of Amarillo. Mrs. Austin Rhoades remained to stay this week with Mrs. Horace Hill.

Mrs. D. W. Tomlinson and sons of Phillips visited Mr. and Mrs. Doyce Graham Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tolleson of Amarillo visited Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hill visited Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hill at Hedley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John White and Mrs. Hubert Rhoades shopped in Amarillo Friday.

Richard, Ronnie, and Donnie Naylor of Thalia spent the week end with Jerry Green.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brandon visited Mr. and Mrs. John White Sunday.

Leland Lewis has the flu, and several others in our community have sore throats and virus. The frozen water pipes and continued extreme cold weather make things more unpleasant. Most everyone has been staying in and doing no visiting.

Horace Green purchased one of the highest ranking registered Galloway bulls in the United States when he attended the Black Gold Sale at Denver. Hope the bull can stand this frigid season.

All of us would like to congratulate our county agent for having a 4-H boy show the champion steer at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show this year. Especially would we like to congratulate Tracy Sanders for exhibiting the top steer, and for his fine showmanship. Several from here attended the Fat Stock Show.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

PROPER RANGE USE
Proper range use consists of grazing rangeland in such a manner so as to not exceed approximately 50% of the current annual growth by weight of the key plants.

Plant physiology requires a maximum amount of green material to be left at the end of the growing season in order to allow the plant to build a sufficient food reserve. This food reserve will be maintained during the winter within the root system. The potential of the plant the following growing season will depend on the amount and depth of food reserve.

Close grazing just prior to frost will not allow the plant to develop a deep, durable root system and will usually result in winter killing. Therefore, under proper range use a more adequate grazing system can be maintained resulting in more grass. Proper range use for the taller grasses will leave about an 8-10 inch stubble. Shorter grasses need to be maintained at approximately 4-6 inches prior to frost.

This is one of the many practices recommended by the Soil Conservation Service. For additional information contact your local office.

CRITICAL AREA PLANTINGS
Critical area plantings are defined as stabilizing silt-producing and severely eroded areas by establishing vegetative cover. This includes woody plants, such as trees, shrubs, or vines, and adapted grasses or legumes established by seeding or sodding to provide long-term ground cover.

This purpose is to stabilize the area so as to reduce damages from sediment and runoff to downstream areas, and improve wildlife habitat.

This is applicable on highly eroded areas such as dams, dikes, levees, denuded areas where vegetation is difficult to establish with normal seeding methods, usually limited to 2 or 3 acres in size. Specifications for critical area plantings require treatment of dune and blowout areas resulting from abandoned sandy land fields, ridged or duned areas in sandyland fields, ridged or duned areas in sandyland fields be returned to grassland, and concentrated overuse of rangeland as around water facilities and headquarters (natural sand duned rangeland will not qualify).

A) Fence to protect affected areas, where applicable.

B) List and/or chisel intervening area between dunes.

C) Work dune areas to remove brush and loosen soil.

D) Repeat steps B & C above as often as needed to reduce dunes to workable size and condition.

E) A dead litter crop will be established, or mulch materials will be spread over the area in which to seed the grass, in accordance with S.C.S. specifications for mulching.

F) Drill to adapted perennial grasses at prescribed S.C.S. rates and dates.

For any additional information on Critical Area Planting, please feel free to check with your local Soil Conservation District headquarters.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

The United States could liquidate its $300 billion public debt by selling, if enough well-heeled buyers were found, the real and personal property of our government — lock, stock and barrel. No one, I'm sure, would advocate that we do this. No one would want to sell the White House or the Capitol or our nuclear submarines or our great national parks or even very many of the equestrian statues that dot Washington.

But I'm convinced that this government owns far more real estate . . . land and buildings . . . than we really need. A good round of auction sales, following a thorough audit and study, would help the nation's financial position. If the proceeds of these sales were properly applied, the national debt could be reduced.

I have introduced a resolution (House Resolution 68) in this new 88th Session of the Congress asking that a nine-member House committee be appointed to investigate the government's real property holdings and to prepare a complete inventory. The purpose would be to formulate recommendations as to which property we'd keep and which we'd sell. The committee also would establish property management policies after determining what policies are now in effect. Sales would follow.

We have built up in this nation a stockpile of land and buildings every bit as extravagant as that exposed in last year's Senate investigation into the stockpiling of strategic materials. We've accumulated heaps of unwanted chromite, tungsten, lead, nickel, feathers and other substances, all in the name of preparedness. President Kennedy is expected to ask soon for authority to sell surplus stockpile items. I believe we should carry this approach a step farther by investigating and arranging to dispose of part of our real estate stockpile.

This is the eight-year history of our mounting accumulation of real and personal property: 1955, $207.9 billion; 1956, $235.4 billion; 1957, $249.1 billion; 1958, $262 billion; 1959, $264.5 billion; 1960, $275.9 billion; 1961, $282.9 billion; 1962, $213.3 billion.

The House Committee on Government Operations has released its annual inventory report of government holdings, real and personal. It is an excellent report, but it does not constitute the item-by-item listing I'd like to see. Some agencies have provided better information than others; a committee staff member told me, "This year we have information from the Defense Department that never was available before." According to the committee, the Treasury Department was fully cooperative. I think, however, that because the job is so immense a special committee should be assigned to accomplish.

For the first time in recent history, this year's report shows the total value of government holdings to exceed the national debt total. Had we sold everything as of last July 1 for the listed value, the United States could have liquidated its real and personal holdings for a total of $299.4 billion. On that date the debt was $298.2 billion. We'd have been in the clear by $1.2 billion but we'd miss those B-52s and the Capitol.

The dollar values listed in the report are deceptively low. Much of the property was entered at acquisition cost. The 18 acres of land surrounding the White House are officially valued at only $1,000. The government's total real estate holdings of 772 million acres — an area four and a half times the size of Texas — are valued at only $86 billion. Although Amarillo Air Force Base is not specifically mentioned in the report, its land and buildings are valued by the Air Force at $74,851,048, a figure that might represent not more than half of the actual replacement cost.

The government buys and buys, and rarely sells. We have vast areas of land and military bases and warehouses and factories and waterfront property that private business could put to work. We don't know how much our government owns or how much it's worth. We should find out. We should begin to take steps to sell some of it.

OATH TAKEN — Crawford C. Martin of Hillsboro has been sworn in as Texas' Secretary of State.

Ceremonies were held in the Texas Senate where he served for 14 years.

He took the oath as the first constitutional state official appointed by Governor Connally.

Oath was administered by Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the Supreme Court.

Several hundred persons were present, including legislators, appellate judges and friends, with a delegation of more than 100 on hand from his home city and county.

WORM ERADICATION FUNDS SHORT — The Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program — which succeeded in cutting screwworm cases by 75 to 90 per cent in less than a year — will be halted March 31, unless livestock producers raise another $1,000,000 by that date.

Charlie Scruggs, president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, made that announcement on behalf of SWAHRF's board of trustees.

The three-year eradication program, initiated last January, cost an estimated $12,000,000. The federal government was to pay $6,000,000, the livestock producers, $3,000,000, and the State $3,000,000.

But so far the farmers and ranchers have donated only $2,000,000.

Scruggs said, "The plan was based on 100 per cent participation, and this has not been the case, although there have been commendable contributions in some counties."

TARGET FOR NEW AG — Texas' new attorney general has pledged a positive campaign against juvenile delinquency as one of his major projects.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr addressed an overflow crowd at his swearing-in ceremonies in the Courts Building.

He said that delinquency is neither normal nor universal among our juveniles, "On the contrary, a respect for the law is far more common among young people than is disrespect," Carr stated.

Carr also pledged to "continue vigorously" investigations begun by his predecessor, Will Wilson, into the East Texas slant-hole oil well scandal and the Billie Sol Estes case.

Although pledging no encroachment on local responsibility, Carr warned that in any instance where local officials "fail in their trust to this state," he will not hesitate to step in "to correct the situation within the boundaries of power and authority."

TAX TAKE GROWS — Receipts from sales of cigarette, liquor and wine stamp sales totaled $8,414,358 during December, State Treasurer Jesse James reports.

Receipts totaled $7,300,000 from cigarette stamp sales; $1,000,000 from liquor stamp sales; and $91,414 from wine stamp sales.

December, 1961, receipts totaled $7,925,997.

To all of you who remembered me with cards and were so kind to ask about me while I was in the hospital I would like to say "thank you." Your many kindnesses have meant so much to me. I sincerely appreciate your thoughtfulness.

"LIME FOR TEXAS SOILS"
COLLEGE STATION — The value of limestone in crop production has been known for many years. It can correct soil acidity, supply calcium, promote desirable bacterial activity, make other plant nutrients more available, and improve the effectiveness of fertilizers and manure.
And yet with all its value and effectiveness, farmers of Texas, and particularly those of the East Texas Timberlands and the Coastal Prairie, use only about one-twentieth the amount they should. This is according to a new bulletin published by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service entitled "Lime for Texas Soils."

The bulletin says that with proper management liming results in increased yields and better quality crops. The areas of the state that have acid soils are discussed in the bulletin and the affects of the pH of soils is explained. The different forms of lime that are available for liming soils are listed.
According to the bulletin, a soil test is the best means of determining if lime is needed on any soil. It warns that regular tests should be made because certain nitrogen fertilizers add to the acidity of soils.
Methods of applying lime are explained and it is pointed out that the lime should be worked into the soil where possible. Lime should be applied 3 to 6 months before planting time and the frequency of application depends on your soil, according to the publication. There is no need to worry about overliming on Texas soils, it says. Most of them need a lot and an excess has no ill effect on crops.

MINIATURE GIN AIDS RESEARCH

COLLEGE STATION — A miniature gin in the Agricultural Engineering Department of Texas A&M College is helping evaluate cotton mechanization research, says Beverly Reeves, extension cotton ginning and mechanization specialist.

The 20 saw gin plant was designed and constructed through the cooperative efforts of the cotton gin machinery manufacturers and suppliers, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Texas A&M College, according to Reeves. It has two-stage seed cotton cleaning, two-stage seed cotton extraction and two-stage lint cleaning. Though all machines in the gin are full size commercial machines, their width has been scaled down to 15 inches inside dimensions, he adds.

The ginned lint is baled with a special attachment to a standard forklift truck which was designed by engineers in the Agricultural Engineering Department. As many as 20 plot samples can be contained in one of the fifty pound, two feet by two feet bales, says the specialist. Seed cotton and trash are handled pneumatically and safety guards, ladders and catwalks have been installed for safe working conditions.

This facility, which was first operated in 1961, is used to gin cotton from cotton mechanization research plots of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Weslaco, Denton, El Paso and College Station. About 1,000 samples have been ginned during the 1962 season for researchers in the fields of entomology, agronomy, plant pathology and physiology, and cottonseed processing and agricultural chemistry. This is comparable to a 3,000 bale season for a commercial gin plant, says Reeves.

This unique plant makes possible more accurate evaluation of results from research projects and more efficient use of personnel time and facilities, Reeves explains.

"Stonewall" Jackson, the Confederate general was accidentally killed by his own men in the battle of Chancellorsville, in 1863.

TRACTOR TUNE-UPS INCREASE EFFICIENCY

COLLEGE STATION — Tuning-up your gasoline or liquified petroleum gas tractor can increase its power by 11 percent and fuel efficiency as much as 14 percent, says Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M College. And this increased power and economy can mean savings in time as well, he continues.

LP gas and gasoline engines usually require a tune-up every 250 hours of operation and if these adjustments are not made when needed the engine cannot deliver the power it was designed to give and fuel will be wasted. Improper timing and carburetor adjustment can seriously harm an engine because of over heating and oil dilution from unburned fuel, O'Neal says.

Some of these simple tune-up procedures can be performed by the farmer with only a little extra equipment and the hand tools he has available in his farm shop. This equipment, a flat feeler gage, a round spark plug gap gage, ignition file, and a timing light cost a total of about eight dollars, the engineer says.

According to O'Neal, the Operator's Manual which outlines the procedures and furnishes the proper specifications for the engine, is the best guide to use when performing the engine tune-up.

The American Way Of Life

In the interest of fairness, we believe it our responsibility and right to publicly express our views and some facts on Clarendon Junior College, as this issue concerns everyone in the community.

Evidently, the group of citizens who have secured the services of an Amarillo law firm must have had valid reasons for contesting the legality of the election. It seems irregular that the polling place for the extreme southern portion of the district should be placed in the northern portion of the district. Several patrons had to drive over eighty miles round trip in order to vote in the election. This is just one example of some of the irregularities which occurred during the election.

Tax support for Clarendon Junior College has not been entirely from the City of Clarendon, as was stated in a previous article in the Amarillo paper. One patron who lives outside the city limits of Clarendon has paid taxes on Clarendon Junior College for at least the past twelve years. Other ranchers, too, have paid Clarendon Junior College taxes. Clarendon Junior College has also been using funds from the public school system which everyone in the school district has been paying.

We are not against education and/or youth. We have the interests of our children and the children of the community at heart as much as anyone. But we do not feel that this community can financially afford to support both the public school system and the Clarendon Junior College and do justice by either. It seems to us that if one of the institutions is to be sacrificed, it should be Clarendon Junior College. The public school system serves every child in the community, while Clarendon Junior College serves only thirty-four local full time students. It seems to us that it would serve our children, education, and the community far better to devote all of our energies and resources to making the public school a "top notch" institution rather than to try to support both.

The public school is $60,000.00 in debt now, mainly because of Clarendon Junior College, as was stated in the Amarillo paper. Neither of the local banks saw fit to service this loan, and local private financing had to be arranged to pay teachers salaries and operating expenses last year. Yet, Clarendon Junior College pays for the gasoline used in the personal cars of students who live in outlying counties to transport these students from their homes to Clarendon Junior College and back. These students spend very little money in our city.

If we could be assured that this tax raise would be all of it, it would be a different story. But the school board has stated that we should have entirely separate institutions and facilities, which we very definitely should. Therefore, this means that the library, chemistry and physics laboratories, etc., of the high school must be split with the Clarendon Junior College, thereby leaving neither with complete facilities. Or, it means that Clarendon Junior College will have to supply its own library, laboratories, dormitories, gym, etc., as well as the teacher standard will have to be raised. Within the next two years, by state requirement, three new departments must be established with three separate department heads having a masters degree, at a minimum salary of $5,000.00 each. Where is this money going to come from? More bond issues and taxes will have to be raised. Our taxes will spiral. There will be no end to it. This community depends primarily on an agricultural economy; and as such, we do not feel that we can afford this. There would have to be many more tax raises in order to get Clarendon Junior College on the same level as the average junior college. The whole issue is just a matter of economics.

We are not depriving anyone of an education by doing away with Clarendon Junior College. In 1958, the federal government set up a loan fund whereby deserving students can get a loan up to $5,000.00, with ten years to repay. There are students in every college in the United States who are working their way through. Any student who wants an education badly enough and who is capable of college work CAN get an education outside of his community.

1963 Feed Grain Program

The sign-up for the 1963 Feed Grain Program will begin February 1 and extend through March 22. The program provides for payments on diverted acres, price support on your entire 1963 feed grain crop, and additional price support on normal production of acres planted — regardless of what happens to your crop. Farmers with a feed grain base will be eligible to participate in the program. The base includes corn, grain sorghum and barley.

The minimum diversion will be 20 percent of the total feed grain base. The maximum diversion for payment is the larger of 25 acres or 40 percent of the total feed grain base but in no case more than the total base. The acreage diverted from feed grains for payment is to be devoted to conservation uses, the same as in the past. The conservation use acres are to be in addition to the number of normal conserving acres on the farm.

The national price support rate for grain sorghums produced in 1963 will be $1.71 cwt. plus 29c cwt. payment in kind rate making a total support price of $2.00 cwt.

Advance payments will again be available at the time of sign-up. Final payments under the diversion program and price support payment will be made after compliance has been determined.

Change In Farm Operators

All producers are reminded to notify the ASCS Office of any change in farm owners and operators for 1963, if you have not already done so. We need this information so that we may change our records accordingly.

Release Cotton Allotment Now

Please remember that March 4 is the final date set for releasing the part or all of the 1963 cotton allotment you do not plan to use. The County Committee encourages all producers to release any or all of the cotton allotment you will not plant. In this way the cotton allotment for the state, county, and your farm will not be lost.

Remember that March 4 is also the last day to make application for any additional cotton which we may have to reappportion.

Premeasurement
Premeasurement of your intended '63 cotton acreage service will be offered again this year. The cost of the service must be borne by the farmer requesting the service. Request must be filed in the County Office no later than March 29.

Remember this is Your ASCS Office — If you have any questions, please always feel free to come in.

Former Resident Writes About Junior College

Editors note: The following letter was received by your editor this week from Mrs. Marguerite Goodner, former English Instructor in the Junior College. We thought it quite worthy of passing on to our readers.

TO THE EDITOR:

I should like to express my appreciation for your editorial in last week's paper in connection with the preservation of Clarendon Junior College. May I add to yours my personal plea for continuing this invaluable institution of learning which through many years has been the center of cultural and academic life in this entire community.

I am sure that the men who are throwing into litigation the recent elections, which were passed by a majority of the voters of this district, must realize that the few dollars they will have to pay in additional taxes can not in any way be compared to the inestimable good that will come to the children of our area by retaining the college.

I wish you could know the hundreds of students who, because they could secure the first two years of college at a nominal cost in Clarendon, were able to secure a degree from a senior college and later become an outstanding success in life.

After the war many veterans, returning home frustrated, discouraged, not knowing what to do next, started back to school and, being among friends and homefolks, found themselves and started on their way to a successful career. After two years in our college they were prepared to enter any senior college in the United States.

San Angelo Clips Bulldogs, 81-59

The nationally ranked San Angelo Rams defeated the Clarendon Junior College Bulldogs here last Saturday night by a score of 81 to 59. The Rams were ranked third among the nation's junior college basketball teams with a 17-2 season's record.

The Bulldogs played a spirited game the first half and were behind only two points, 40 to 38, as the first half ended. The outside shooting of Jimmy Boyd and Bill Bentley plus the rebounding of Max Courtney had kept the Bulldogs in the game the first half. The Rams, however, with the aid of Bulldog the Junior College System for several reasons. First, all senior colleges are over-crowded and can not provide the individual and constructive guidance that is necessary for freshman and sophomore students. Second, too many students of high intellectual ability are lost to higher education because their parents can not finance the first two years of college away from home. The cost of Junior College is very nominal. Last, but not least, the two years that a student spends at our college are his maturing years. His parents and his teachers can give him their personal guidance during these years. He is taught how to study, how to budget his time, and how to handle his money.

I love the children of Clarendon District, and I want them to continue to have the privilege of going to our own Clarendon Junior College. I have been a taxpayer in Donley County for many years, and I expect to be a taxpayer for the rest of my days. I will welcome any increase in taxes if it will help our boys and girls to obtain a college education.

Marguerite Cooke Goodner

fouling, pulled away in the second half for their decisive win.

The Bulldogs, playing perhaps their best game of the season, hit 27 field goals as compared to San Angelo's 31. However, the charity line spelled the difference as the Rams made 19 free throws to the Bulldogs' 5. It wasn't the fact that the Bulldogs couldn't hit their free throws, they just didn't get them. There were only nine fouls called on the Rams during the entire game.

Boyd led the Bulldog scorers with 16 points and was followed by Bentley and James Allen with 11 each and Alvin Scott with 8. Courtney, as usual, fouled out early in the second half, but he made 6 points and pulled down 17 rebounds during the time that he was in the game.
